

ROAMING THRU RANGER WITH RON...

By Ronald Waters
PROGRESSIVE RANGERITES are soon to be recognized in the Ranger Times in new series starting this week. The column will give a brief profile-type of feature story on civic, industrial and professional leaders of Ranger.

Any outstanding man or woman living in this area — although they may be outside the city limits — will be considered for inclusion in the series.

LOOK FOR better college football next fall. It seems that Ranger College is shaping up what promises to be one of the best teams in years. And they may even win the Texas Conference.

Coach David Slaughter has been busy recruiting some good players for the Rangers. Jerry Blabey, Bill Phillips and Charles Duggan look like the outstanding stars. Look for Kenneth Hart to make a name for himself, as well.

THIS DOG is a snob with a pedigree a mile long. A snob is a person who cares too much for rank, wealth or position and too little for real merit.

Fortunately Ranger is virtually free from all snobs. That's one thing we can be thankful for.

HERE'S the next-to-the-last essay, in the series, to appear here — written by a Ranger High School student.

Flight of Fancy
By Johnny Pirkle
There I was, the first human to enter space! The ship drifted upward. The altimeter registered seventy-five thousand, then eighty thousand feet. Inside, all was quiet; everything worked perfectly! Upward, still upward, toward the region on the fringe of the earth's atmosphere above the gleaming white ship. The altimeter indicator hovered on two thousand miles an hour! Faster than any human had travelled before!

I was suddenly jolted out of my thoughts by the realization that it was time to nose the ship over and attempt the glide back to earth. Swiftly, I nosed the ship over to begin the glide back to Terra Firma.

Then it happened! Just as I nosed the ship over, the warning indicator flashed and began to ring loudly. Ring, loudly! I awoke, startled to discover that the "danger" was the bell announcing the end of second period. Thus ended my flight of fancy.

WE SEEM to be the "clearing house" for the Internal Revenue Service of the U. S. Treasury Dept. At the present time we have 13 press releases regarding taxes, most of them concerned with income tax.

As you know, April 15 is the deadline for filing your income tax. And if you're lucky—you'll get a return.

From now until then — you'll get choice bits of tax info in this column. This is the first:

You can use Form 1040-A if your income is less than $10,000 per year and you do not desire to itemize your deductions.

Exemptions are allowed for:

- (1) Your children, including stepchildren and those legally adopted, who are under 19 years of age or, if over 19, is a student on a full time basis for at least 5 months of the year, even though the child may have income in excess of $600.
- (2) Children over 19 whose gross income is less than $600.00.
- (3) Married children who did not file a joint return with husband or wife.
- (4) Other individuals related to you or your wife or husband. (For list, see instructions with Form 1040.)
- (5) A person unrelated to you who lived in your home and was a member of your household for the entire taxable year.

Internal Revenue Service program in '59 to improve your morale. We all know, how it could be improved!

Directors Endorse 40th Anniversary

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce endorsed the 40th Anniversary Edition of the Ranger Times, to be printed in June, in their regular monthly meeting Monday night. Joe Dennis, publisher, appeared before the directors to tell the group about plans for the special edition, marking the 40th anniversary of the Times, City of Ranger and Chamber of Commerce. The matter was turned over to the publicity and public relations committee, headed by Charles Miliken. Presiding over the session was Morris George, president. Regular meeting night of the group was changed from the first Tuesday of every month to the

Bill Bullock To Direct Music For Revival Here

Bill Bullock, minister of music for the First Baptist Church in Carlsbad, N. M., will direct the music during the April revival in the First Baptist Church of Ranger. He served as music and educational director in Ranger from 1951-1953.

"Bullock is truly a great congregational leader and has attained an enviable record as an evangelistic singer," said Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor. "He has a beautiful baritone voice and has dedicated his all to the Lord in spiritual singing. He has a great following in this area as one who has enlisted many in the Lord's work," Rev. Perkins added.

The revival begins Sunday, April 12-19. Dr. C. B. Jackson will do the preaching.

T. J. Anderson In Good Condition

T. J. Anderson, who is staying in Scott and White Hospital in Temple, is reported "doing nicely and responding to treatment." He hopes to return home soon.

Mrs. Anderson, who returned to Ranger Sunday night after visiting with her husband, made the report.

Fall Football Schedule Given For Rangers

Head Coach David Slaughter has announced the Fall football schedule for the Ranger College Rangers. The Rangers will play six non-conference games, four games in the Texas Conference and another game to be scheduled on either Oct. 11 or 18. Both coaches have been recruiting players for next season, and a strong team is likely to take shape.

Local Coaches Attend Dallas Football Clinic

Coaches David Slaughter, Jim Puryear and Harold Barrett attended the Coach of the Year Clinic held last week in Dallas. The clinic, which opened Thursday and closed Saturday, featured such well-known coaches as Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma University, who spoke on "Changing the 5-4 Defense"; Eddie Erdelatz, Navy, "Jitterbug Defense"; Paul Dietzel, LSU, "Team Organization"; Abe Martin, TCU, "Pass Offense"; and Forrest Evashevski, who spoke on the Wing-T offense.

Jay Williams of Ranger, former football coach at Cisco High School, also attended the clinic. A record number of 1,800 coaches attended the fourth clinic of its type to be held in the nation. The event, sponsored by the Kellogg Co., was held in the Municipal Auditorium.

Jr. High Band Will Present Music Program

In connection with Public Schools Week the Junior High School Band of 59 members will present an assembly program in the school's auditorium this Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

The public is invited to attend the program which will contain a variety of musical numbers.

Dan Whitaker will direct the group playing "Medallion Overture" and "Snow White Medley." The band will perform "Two Little Pieces for Band," "Three Little Pigs" a humorous number with Janice Smith serving as narrator, and "North Woods," a march.

The concert will mark the first public appearance of the band, made up of seventh and eighth graders, this year.

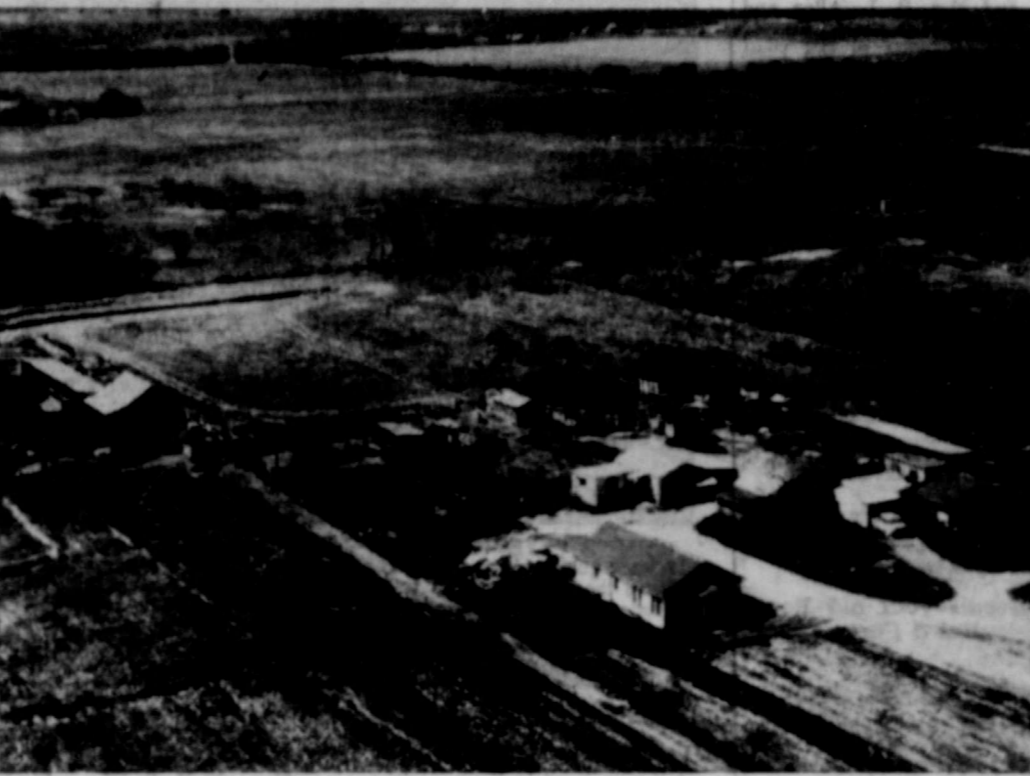

February Rain Below Average Records Show

February rainfall was 56 below normal in Ranger, official U. S. Weather Bureau figures show. Only .82 of an inch of rain fell during the past month and the average rainfall for February is 1.38 inches. For the year the rainfall here totals just .88.

March is usually one of the better rain months here, and hopes are high that moisture during the month will be above average.

Covered Sugar

By Mrs. Cuban Perry

While looking through a book (or rather what's left of it since our pup got hold of it and thought it was the best enigma bone she ever had) of quotations on what the male thinks of the female of the species, thought I would jot them down for you.

Now, these are from the great and near-great and have stood the test of time, since the beginning: Moses: Genesis 2:22—And the rib which the Lord God had taken from man, made her a woman, and brought her unto man.

Adam: Genesis 3:12—And the man said, the woman whom thou gavest to be with me, she gave me of the tree, and I did eat. (I bet she twisted his arm with a paper napkin and male has been passing the buck ever since).

Mark 16:9—Now when Jesus was risen after the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils.

Barrett:—Woman, last at the cross, and earliest at the grave.

Confucius:—Woman is the masterpiece.

Terence:—I know the nature of women. When you will, they will not; when you will not, they come of their own accord.

Diderot:—To describe woman, the pen should be dipped in the humid colors of the rainbow, and the paper dried with the dust gathered from the wings of a butterfly.

Bailey:—Her step is music, and her voice, its step.

Charles T. Dean Funeral Service Set Wednesday

Funeral services for Charles T. Dean will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Hammer Funeral Home Chapel in Eastland.

Mr. Dean, formerly of Ranger, died Monday morning in Henderson Memorial Hospital in Athens. He was a division superintendent for Lone Star Gas Co. in Athens.

Funeral services will be held in Athens Tuesday at 3 p.m. and the body will be sent to Eastland for burial in Eastland Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, the former Elizabeth Day of Eastland; one son, Mike, a student at Texas Tech; one daughter, Melinda, of Athens; and one sister, Mrs. Bob Wenzel of Gladewater.

Four Residents File For Ballot In Trustee Race

Four men have filed their applications for places on the ballot in which three members of the Ranger Independent School District Board of Trustees will be selected on Saturday, April 4. The election was called by the School Board during their regular February meeting. Polls will be located in the School Tax Office in the Recreation Building. Two incumbents — Dr. W. P. Watkins and Morris George — are seeking re-election. Dr. A. W. Brazda said that he would not file. He is serving his first term which expires in April.

John C. Swinney, crew clerk with Service Pipe Line Co., has filed for his first term as a trustee in the school district. David B. Allison, Dean of Men at Ranger College, has also filed for election.

The four men filed with Gaston Dixon, secretary of the board. Deadline for filing is Thursday, March 5. Dr. W. P. Watkins is seeking his third term on the school board. A graduate of Lott High School in 1935, he received his B. A. degree from Baylor University in Waco in 1938 and his M. D. from Baylor University in Dallas in 1942.

A Ranger resident for 12 years, Dr. Watkins previously lived in Eastland. He is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, co-chairman of the Civic Improvement committee and a member of the finance committee. He is a member of the First Baptist Church and Lions Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Watkins are parents of four children, all in school. Morris George, currently filling out the unexpired term of J. A. Bates, who resigned earlier, is seeking his first full term as trustee. President of the Chamber of Commerce, George is also vice-president of the Highway 80 Association, Central Division. He is a member of the Church of Christ, Lions Club and hospital board (for five years).

A graduate of Ranger High School in 1944 and Abilene Christian College in 1949, George has lived in Ranger all his life. For the past nine years he has been distributor for Gulf Oil Corp. and for the past three years, butane gas.

He is the father of two children, one now in school. Swinney is a graduate of Godley High School (1931) who has been associated with the Service Pipe Line Co. for 19 years. He also took business training at a business school.

GIANT'S "EYE" GLASSES—Man, lower center, is dwarfed by insignificance by the world's largest glass fiber radome. The huge shelter for a radar antenna is 68 feet in diameter and more than seven stories tall. Laminated plastic panels bolted together in a few basic panel groups can be erected or disassembled in about 80 hours by a six-man crew. The unit, shown in a hanger in Akron, Ohio, weighs some 30,000 pounds, all told. It takes up shipping space the equivalent of eight boxcars, but units are so light that they can be airlifted. The forerunner of radomes well over 100 feet in diameter, it was built for the Air Force.

By BOYCE HOUSE

Gerald W. Johnson, noted historian, said, "When scholars write a man voluminously, he may be pronounced, as a rule, very thoroughly dead. Not science or philosophy, but art alone can bring a man of the past back to life."

Simeon Strunsky speaks of the commentators on this generation as "having forgotten how much the meaning of life lies on the surface of life and is to be apprehended by the innocent eye and the simple heart."

The brilliant critics and the wise scientists know all the answers. But John Burroughs, who spent a long life in the study of nature, wrote, "A flock of snow-bunting will perform their aerial evolutions with a precision that the best trained soldierly can not equal. Have the birds an extra sense which we have not? A brood of young partridges in the woods will start up like an explosion, every brown particle and fragment hurled into the air at the same instant. Without word or signal, how is it done?"

Irwin Edman, writing of leisure, says, "We flee to society, call though it be, through the fear of the greater dullness of being alone." He speaks of "the joy of conversation, a light and easy play of minds and tempers over common themes," and adds, "We have grown a little weary of talk that is all smart and burnished; we have grown tired, too, of talk that sounds like the overflow program of a literary club." And, finally, Edman declares, "Spontaneity, which is of the essence of any truly spiritual life, flies out of the conversation and out of the window, when 'culture' becomes deliberate."

Quoting Gerald W. Johnson again, he said of Woodrow Wilson, "He was afflicted with the typical ignorance of the scholarly; he knew books better than men, but that was only a part of it; it is probable that he also adopted, perhaps subconsciously, the heresy that it is virtuous to divorce reason from emotion . . . The truth is that men, while they may sometimes be reasoning beings, are always emotional beings."

I just wanted to prove to Lon Tinkle and Ronnie Dugger that I occasionally read something serious.

Deviled Ham Twirls Add A Festive Air To Holiday Parties

Have a whirl with these deviled ham twirls that are as festive as this holiday season. Fix them hours, or even days ahead, store in the refrigerator until it's party time and then just pop them into a hot oven for a few minutes before serving. Your guests will enjoy the zippy deviled ham flavor served in these bite size twirls that are toasty brown, hot and crunchy. For 50 deviled ham twirls you'll need:

- 1 Family Size (4 1/2 oz.) can deviled ham
 - 6 slices fresh white bread
 - Melted butter
- Trim crusts from bread. Spread with deviled ham. Roll up tightly and wrap in wax paper. Chill at least an hour. Brush lightly with melted butter and bake at 400° for 10 minutes. Cut into 1/2 inch slices. (Slicing is easier if before toasting, rolls are sliced about half-way through.)

TYPICAL UNIT of civil defense stockpiled engineering equipment showing the pumps, generators, water purifiers, and some of the miles of flexible-coupled pipe which could be used after an attack to provide a stricken community with pure water. Some of this "hardware," grouped in "Ten-Mile Units" to service ten miles of pipe each, already has been used in natural disasters to pump out flooded areas, and to bring in and purify water for towns with dry reservoirs. Saddles Are Moving East, Wards Reports

CHICAGO — Saddles, long a symbol of the Old West, are moving East.

Montgomery Ward finds that fully half of the customers ordering saddles from the company's farm catalog live east of the Mississippi.

The 1959 edition of the farm book, mailed this week to 1,200,000 Wards customers, lists twenty saddles for riding, roping, and general ranch work at prices ranging from $39.00 for a boy's black leather outfit to $197.50 for the deluxe "E. Worth." Prices on the catalog's 5,000 farm and countryside merchandise items are about the same as last year, according to Henry F. Carroll, manager of Wards farm equipment division. Redesigning and increased production have cut prices on some items, but higher labor and steel costs have resulted in some increases on others.

Italian queen bees, described as "young and easy to handle," are available now for $1.65. There is a dime discount on each if you want ten. Wards found these bees an unusually popular item in the 1958 farm book.

Wards reports increased sales of Rock Cornish chicks, indicating that the game hens are becoming a familiar main course. Supermarkets now sell them, and restaurants are coming to offer them as a staple, rather than as a rarity for gourmets. The day-old chicks offered in the farm book at $16.95 per 100 reach the first of three marketing sizes in about five weeks.

Only pigs with a past have been picked to appear in the catalog. The Hampshire, Duroc, and Yorkshire breeding stock offered for sale in the catalog are first and second generation offspring of such noted sires as Certified Meat Sires West Point and Big Red No. 1. Bred especially for lean meat production, these pigs may be used to start a herd or to introduce lean meat tendencies into average farm herds.

A one-man bale loader listed in 1958 at $156.95 has been reduced through larger production to $125.00. A broadcast sprayer priced at $92.50 in 1958 was redesigned to sell for $20 less in the 1959 book, but performs the same job as its more expensive predecessor.

Cattle water themselves with a new pump priced in the catalog at $59.50. When the animal comes to drink, it creates a "suction" in the waterline by pushing a pendulum suspended over the water trough. The pump draws water from a distance of 60 ft., or from a depth of 20 ft.

A gas burner that throws a flame from 15 in. to 5 ft. for wood control, thawing, disinfecting, melting tar, and other jobs requiring direct heat or flame is also offered in the farm book. A portable cart carries the burner and a 10-gal. liquid petroleum tank. Price of the flame thrower unit is $83.00.

Among the new items in the catalog is a gas engine-powered portable drill that can cut through 19 inches of ice in 20 seconds. It drills earth for postholes, tree stumps for dynamiting, and performs other farm operations where drilling is required. The drill weighs 38 pounds and is offered in the catalog for $129.50.

Farmers and suburban grounds keepers can cut brush wherever they can walk or reach with a lightweight gas-powered cutter. The brush cutter is supported by a shoulder sling. Handlebar grips and a 52-in. aluminum shaft enable the operator to swing the cutter in under trees, over ditches, or turn it sideways on grades. The cutter is listed at $129.50. A 7-HP riding tractor that tills, mows, hauls, and moves earth and now, fills the need for a heavy-duty tractor in between the walk-behind model and a large riding tractor. The estate tractor has foot brake and clutch pedals, and three speed ranges. Its compact size, power, and versatility recommend it for use on suburban and countryside farms, or on estates and country clubs.

The full-line of attachments available for the tractor includes rotary mowers and tillers, a dump cart, and a 42-in. bulldozer blade. Price of the tractor alone is $524.50.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

"CONFLICTING INTERESTS"

Bill Jones had been in an automobile accident and felt that he should be able to recover damages from the driver of the other car. He went to see Lawyer Smith, and, in the course of telling Smith his story, it developed that the driver of the other car was insured by a company represented by Smith.

As soon as Smith learned this fact he stopped Bill from telling him any more about the case and explained that he could not represent him. Smith pointed out that the "conflicting interest" resulting from his representation of the insurance company prevented him from representing Marvin. He said he owed it to Bill not to hear anything from him which he might use against him if the matter were taken to court.

The situation outlined above illustrates one of the basic principles in the ethics of a lawyer, namely, that he cannot represent "conflicting interests." Basically, this is but the lawyer's way of phrasing the old axiom that a man cannot serve two masters. A lawyer's duty is to give his full and complete efforts to his client and he cannot do that if there is a conflict between the interests of two of them. The reasoning behind this rule is that a lawyer should not appear in court representing both sides of a controversy.

If both Bill and the insurance company are regular clients of Smith, then it is Smith's duty to refuse to represent either of them in a case of alteration between the two.

If attorney Smith is one of a group of lawyers practicing together as a partnership, then he must be careful not only of avoiding a conflict of interest between the clients he is personally serving, but between his clients and other clients of the partnership as well.

As far as Smith is concerned in determining whether there is a conflict of interests, any client of his partners is his client and vice versa.

There are, of course, cases where a lawyer may represent more than one of the parties to the same transaction without violating the rule of professional conduct against serving interests which develop where two old clients of the same lawyer were purchasing and selling a piece of property. If both clients so desired and understood, the lawyer might, with complete propriety look after the interests of both in such a transaction.

Generally, however, the lawyer will be very careful to scrutinize such situations. Therefore, if a lawyer should tell you that he cannot represent you because he already represents "conflicting interests," remember that he is only seeking to protect your interests. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

The Hole in the Doughnut—

... may serve no useful purpose yet it is always there as is the parasite on the tree or the thorn on the rose. The person investing in real estate may act quickly, oftentimes unwisely, hereby overlooking the hole in the deal which in this case is a bad title. By spending a few dollars for an abstract at the right time who buy real estate may save your lifetime earnings as well as much trouble and expense later on.
