Times Are Changing Fast—
... and so are governments, economic conditions, ways of life and even human nature itself. Likewise revolutionary changes have taken place in the field of land titles. Not so long ago title chains were short and simple but today the records in this county are voluminous and the changing times have wrought havoc to many titles. The abstract is about the only answer. (Continued From Page One) lost their jobs, McKay said that in practically every case the training and experience they gained during their employment with Farmers Home Administration enabled them to step into jobs with banks, PCA's and other private and cooperative credit institutions—many of them at salaries better than they had with the government.

In connection with the services available to farm families, there will be no change according to McKay. He said that during the past three years more than 12,000 farmers and ranchers paid their loans in full to Farmers Home Administration, and for the most part had reached or regained a position where private and cooperative sources can now handle their credit needs. Farmers Home Administration will continue to make loans to eligible applicants for farm and home operating expenses; for the purchase of livestock and equipment needed to put their farm programs on a sound basis and to finance farm real estate and improvements.

People who know say a single rat can waste through $2 worth of dry corn without any trouble whatever, and despoil another $20 worth in the process.

They're mighty expensive critters to tolerate in town or country, both by virtue of the food they eat and the some 27 diseases—including typhus fever and bubonic plague—they are known to spread.

This time of year rats will be in field burrows. Soon though, with rural harvest well underway and cooler weather coming, they'll move into grain bins and feed stacks and buildings where food is stored.

If you're interested in keeping them out of your place, now's the time to formulate a plan to deprive them of food and shelter this winter and avoid a repetition of last year's record-breaking infestation.

Start by burning or piling scrap lumber at least two feet off the ground. Scatter feed stack chaff and manure piles over fields. And keep the inevitable weeds and grass around outbuildings cut so as not to attract rats.

Rats breed so rapidly that mere killing campaigns without accompanying sanitation are worthless. On the other hand, striking reductions in rat populations have been made by rat proofing without killing procedures.

Farm buildings in good repair are seldom infested with rats, so it follows that's the way to keep them. Check to make sure walls are tight and that floors and foundations are crack-less. A strip of galvanized metal three feet or so high, placed around the base of a building will keep rats out—provided they can't get through the floors.

By and large, rats as a group probably prefer grain to any other type food. Which is a good argument in favor of building new granaries tight and off the ground.

All known rat runs ought to be baited with poison. In one closely supervised campaign, almost 12,000 rats were killed at a cost of about 4 cents per rat. Warfarin bait was used, and the amount required to kill a rat averaged

THE BIG, BIG, BIG, BIG ONE—Boston University's freshman wonder, John Thomas, 17, betters any human being in recorded sports history at the high jump as he clears the bar at seven feet, one-and-one-quarter inches. That took place during the national AAU championships in New York City.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. Ward Necomb, a Nebraska dentist, has successfully fitted cows with steel false teeth.

After some period of experimentation, it is found that the cow with good teeth will live longer and produce more.

Breeding cows beyond eight or nine years of age usually become unproductive. After their teeth are worn down to the gumby constant cropping of tough grass, they find it hard to live and do well. This is the case in the Western Plains Area.

In easier, more lush areas of the East cows live longer and produce calves up to the end of their life.

Dr. Necomb devised a set of false teeth with crowns of stainless steel that can be lined with cement and crimped down around a cow's old teeth.

Since cows grazed on more plentiful and more lush grass are known to live and produce up to sixteen to twenty years of age, possibly the productive life of those in the arid areas can be prolonged.

A proposal has been made by Senator Johnson of Mississippi for the creation of a twelve-man Agriculture Policy Commission to make a thorough study of farm legislation.

Ordinarily, a commission or a committee is a place to bury problems, but certainly in this instance something is needed.

The congress, the administration, and farm organizations have floundered through months of futile squabbling over farm problems, chiefly because there is no well-defined policy for guidance.

Senator Stennis says he is convinced that, if we do not come up with a more realistic program, which would meet certain objectives and at less cost to the taxpayers, our agriculture program, as we know it today, is doomed to greater criticism and eventually, complete collapse.

A new and powerful "United States of Europe" is taking shape and is already having noticeable impact on the economy of America.

The United States is still tied to domestic and foreign economic policies that are based on the worn-out idea of a weak Western Europe that can not survive in freedom without the aid of American dollars.

France, Germany, Belgium, and Holland have formed a solid industrial power that is already beating the United States, not only in foreign markets but right here at home.

England has also bolstered up her economy, by American gifts, grants and loans, and at the same time giving American producers a tough time at home and abroad.

Japan is doing the same. The result is that the United States is heading toward economic decline while nations we are aiding are following policies leading to greater solvency and renewed world power.

This stepped-up competition is causing the outflow of American gold to other countries. The value of the American dollar has not only shrunk at home, but also abroad. Even the Russians want to get on the gravy train.

From all indications, other countries in Europe will in the near future band together in an economic alliance as a part of the United States of Europe. Italy, and probably Spain and Portugal, will be added to the Western European economic alliance.

The advance of such an economic bloc in Europe is not entirely tied to cooperation between these nations. Lower labor cost is a big factor in producing cheap goods to compete with the United States.

Our "Higher Standard of Living" is pricing us out of the world market. Too long we have thought of ourselves as being dominant and indispensable to the rest of the world.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

The Travelers' Hotel in Cutulla set a good table and so the traveling salesman who made the territory regularly would arrive in time for supper, spend the day calling on their customers in the area and get back for another supper.

Among the regular patrons of the dining room was a rancher of about my age. He was nice-looking and a pleasant smile. He was busy with his cattle—riding, roping, branding, driving them in to market.

Had one been a "bookie", if asked to quote the odds on which would live longer, the stalwart rancher or the frail newspaperman, the bookmaker would have set the figure at 50-to-1 in favor of the rancher. Yet such is the uncertainty of life, the rancher died, years ago.

Back to the traveling men—When they found that the new quest was a newcomer to Texas and therefore had not heard the Texas stories, they proceeded to enlighten and educate me.

The very first story, or saying, was General Sheridan's remark, "If I owned Texas and hell, I'd rent out Texas and live in hell." Then someone quoted Senator "Pitchfork" Tillman's utterance, "Texas has more trees and less water, more cows and less milk and you can see further and see less—than any durned country in the world."

Someone quoted the saying, "Nobody but fools and newcomers predict the weather in Texas" and that evoked the story of the farmer who set out for town in a wagon drawn by a yoke of oxen; on the way, one froze to death and, while the owner was skinning the animal, the other one died of sunstroke!

The someone chimed in with the saying that there is nothing between Amarillo and the North Pole except a barbed wire fence—and that when Admiral Peary reached the North Pole, he exclaimed, "Gee I'll bet it's cold in Amarillo today!"

These and many more were told and the youthful newspaperman stored them in his mind; later added to them as a hobby, and one day had the idea, "I know enough Texas jokes to write a book."

"I Give You Texas" was the result—and it began with those after-supper sessions in the Cutulla Hotel lobby.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

SPECIAL LEGAL REMEDIES

Sometimes you see newspaper stories telling how various courts have issued "injunctions" to protect the owner of a patent from infringement, to stop someone from putting up a building which would be a hazard to the neighborhood, or to prevent some other type of activity which might harm one or more persons. Occasionally you read where a "writ of mandamus" has been directed against some public official. This column will briefly explain both of these extraordinary legal remedies.

The injunction got its name because in the old days the English King commanded ("enjoined") special action when an ordinary court action could not solve a problem at hand. Today it is an order requiring a person (or corporation) to refrain from doing a particular act.

As a rule, one would first get a "Temporary Restraining Order" which would stop someone from doing something harmful—like polluting a stream or annoying the peace of your home. By granting it the judge preserves the status quo until a hearing has been held to hear both sides of the controversy. Usually, if you want an injunction, your lawyer will take sworn statements into court to show that your grievance is one which could be taken care of only by an injunction.

Often you must put up a bond to make up for any damage you do the other side if the court doesn't see things your way.

After you've made your request, the court arranges to hear the other side. They must "show cause" why the injunction should not be issued. Because most injunctions deal with immediate problems, the court hears the merits of such a case in a very short time.

After the temporary injunction is issued, a "permanent" injunction may be obtained or either party may start a lawsuit to settle the problems which the temporary injunction has cleared up for the moment.

If the court grants an injunction,

QUICK WAY TO PLANT A FOREST—Loblolly pine seed is loaded in hopper of a specially equipped helicopter at Alexandria, La., prior to a large-scale forestry direct-seeding project. One copter seeded almost 8,000 acres in three days' work with the aid of a ground crew to mark out 90-foot swaths covered by distributor shown beneath helicopter's framework. Because the copter could land anywhere a supply truck could go, turnaround for fuel and seed was reduced to a minimum. The project is billed as the world's biggest pine forest direct-seeding operation.

tion, it must be served on the defendant to be effective. Then if he disobeys the order, he is disobeying the court and is subject to a fine or a jail term for "contempt of court."

"Mandamus" is a special remedy used to right wrongs or enforce proper action by a public officer.

When we elect public officers to work for us, we place a great deal of authority in their hands. Sometimes they fail to do their lawful duty. One way to make a government official do his job is to ask the court for a writ of mandamus.

Suppose you have applied for a permit to build a house under a city building code. You submit your plans which meet all the requirements of the code but the proper official won't give you the permit and you can't get one elsewhere. You can then ask the court for a writ of mandamus and if you were right and the building official had no grounds for refusal, the court will order him to issue the permit.

Before the court will issue such a strong command as this, the officer must have refused to do his clear cut legal duty — not something that he may or may not have to do as part of his job.

smoothest ride!

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A. show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR® Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—A new N.A.D.A. Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?
