THEY WEREN'T KIDDING—The sign by this canal bridge in Apeldoorn, Holland, gave a maximum weight of one ton. The driver of this trailer truck loaded with 12 tons of iron pipe perhaps thought—like motorists everywhere—that sign makers are just alarmists. But they weren't kidding.

Covered Sugar

By Mrs. Cubian Perry

Do you know? Here are a few household hints that I have tried and, would you believe it, they really work!

Salt and lemon juice and a sprinkle of sunshine will take rust out of most any material.

A cloth dipped in melted paraffin cleans windows and windshield glasses perfectly, and adds to the lustre. Then use soft tissue or toilet tissue for a lintless polish.

In mending China or glass, melt some powdered alum in an old spoon; then quickly rub the melted alum over the edges of the pieces to be glued; press together and set aside to dry.

To whiten piano keys, rub keys occasionally with cloth dipped in alcohol; then dry with soft clean cloth. Do not get the alcohol on any wood or varnish.

Before putting soil into window box, whitewash the inside. This not only helps preserve the wood, but keeps out insects.

A little denature alcohol on a brush removes tobacco stains from copper or brass ash trays.

Brighten copper or brass by using vinegar and salt in the water when washing.

Kerosene cleans and polishes tin. It will also remove the ring left on the bath tub.

Remove tar or black car grease from ordinary materials with sweet oil or lard. Use alcohol for removing tar from silks or worsteds.

Dipping brooms in hot soapy water makes them last longer and keeps shape better.

Plain table salt removes egg stains from silverware.

Sprinkle dry baking soda in scorched pots or pans and allow them to stand for awhile. They can be readily and quickly cleaned.

A little turpentine poured into the corners of wardrobes, dressers, trunks, and etc., will keep moths away from the articles stored therein.

A piece of ice, held firmly against a chewing gum spot, causes the gum to harden so that it can be brushed off easily.

To clean white felt hats a mixture of a pint of corn meal and a half-cupful each of salt and flour should be rubbed well into felt. Let stand overnight, then brush out.

Sprinkle salt in the oven under baking tins, and the cakes or other contents will not scorch on the bottom.

In cooking fresh peas, wash the pods very thoroughly and throw them into a kettle of boiling water. When done, the pods rise to the surface and the peas stay at the bottom—they have a fine flavor when cooked this way.

A few cloves (not garlic) added to vegetable soup will give it a delicious flavor. Then too, a few cloves dropped into the deep fat fryer, when cooking doughnuts, gives them a spiciness taste.

In jelly making, the surest method of testing use a silver fork and when jelly is done it will web between the prongs of the fork when lifted out of the boiling jelly.

Soap: Make a small cheesecloth bag four by six inches. Into it place all pieces of hand soap too small to use, and hang bag in bath tub—good for cleaning the tub.

To give a beautiful lustre to an unfinished table top or bar use paraffin and linned oil melted together and brushed onto the surface; then wipe and rub to take (Continued on page three)

Big Feet Pay Off For Deb's Sock Hop

The Sock Hop and Cake Walk sponsored by the Debs, girls' social club of Ranger College, January 23 netted $20.40 for the March of Dimes. The Debs measured the feet of each student and faculty member as he entered the Student Union Building and assessed him one cent per inch of foot length. Additional money was raised by a cake walk.

A large group of high school and college students attended the benefit affair.

The Debs wish to express their appreciation to the Teddy Bears for providing music for entertainment and for dancing.

Trappers Group Is Promised County Aid

Members of the Eastland County Trappers Association appeared before the County Commissioners Court Monday to request more aid in fighting predatory animals and received a sympathetic hearing.

Commissioners, who have been paying $135 a month on the salary of one trapper for the county, agreed to pay an additional $100 a month on the salary of a second trapper. They also voted to pay $500 to help pay off the Association's back debt, which has been incurred since August when the second trapper was hired.

Some 20 ranchers appeared before the commission. They stated that there is more wildlife now in the county than there has been in the past 10 years.

Ranchers told commissioners that their losses of sheep, goats and cattle during the past few years has been "tremendous." Rancher after rancher stood up to tell of his losses.

Homer Boyd, who ranches north of Cisco, told of losing 85 kids this year and 160 last year. He also lost 75 lambs and 50 goats. He estimated that his loss alone would total several thousand dollars.

Since August the two trappers at work in the county have killed 38 wolves and a number of bobcats. In addition, several ranchers have killed several bobcats and wolves.

The county, in addition to paying $235 a month to the Trappers Association, will continue to pay a bounty of $5 a head for wolves and $3 a head for bobcats. The two county trappers are not eligible to receive the bounty, however.

The $235 the county will contribute monthly will leave $115 for the Trappers Association to pay. The Association raises money through voluntary contributions. The rest of the cost is paid for with state and federal money. The county will continue to pay the $235 until June 1, when another meeting with the Association is scheduled.

Ranchers estimated that wool and mohair business in Eastland County brings in from half to three-quarters of a million dollars annually. They estimated that the figures could be doubled if kids could be raised without great losses from wolves and bobcats.

How many wolves and bobcats are in the county? Ranchers say that's anyone's guess, but Oscar Schaefer's experience should be some mirror. He said 60 bobcats have been killed on his place in the past five years.

Glenn Justice Is Named to State FB Post

Glenn Justice, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau, Route 2, Gorman, has been named to serve on the 1960 State Commodity Advisory Committee, according to a statement released this week by the office secretary, Mrs. Ruby Tucker White. The appointment was made following the annual Texas Farm Bureau convention in November.

Purpose of the committee, composed of representatives of the various commodities over the state, is to act in an advisory capacity to the state FB Board of Directors in developing recommendations for carrying through on the 1960 program of work as outlined by the voting delegates at the annual convention.

Justice invites farmers and ranchers to express their wishes and offer any suggestions on commodity problems which come under the consideration of the committee. "It is the thinking of the farmers and ranchers that puts 'The Voice of Agriculture' on the march for a better economy and a better way of life for the rural people."

Successful Road Block Held In Dimes Campaign

Ranger College and Ranger High School students united Saturday to make the road block for the annual March of Dimes campaign a successful one. A total of $159.38 was collected by the students.

Road blocks on both sides of the traffic light on Highway 80 proved very successful. As a whole, traffic in transit was very cooperative, for most truck and bus drivers and the general public willingly stopped to give; but, according to Bill Tallian, one of the college boys who helped with the collection, ironically it was many of the people passing through in Cadillacs and luxurious limousines that refused to stop.

Students wish to thank Calvin Brown of Ranger Lumber and Supply for making and donating the signs used for the road block.

Five Place On All-District Stage Band

Five members of the Ranger High School band placed on the four bands selected for the All-District Stage Band contest held at Brownwood Saturday.

There were four 16-member bands selected for the all-district area. Jay Dell Baker placed in the trombone section of the second band. Baker is originally a baritone player and this was the first time for him to play a trombone.

Bobby Owens and Dale Penney won third band honors. Owens on the cornet and Penney with the bass.

Sandra Allsup and Butch Owens won fourth band honors. Sandra with the baritone saxophone and Owens with the tenor saxophone.

There was a stage band concert held Saturday at 7 p.m. following a practice session of the four bands. Each band had a part in the concert. The performance was recorded and will be rebroadcast over the Brownwood radio station.

OSCAR M. WHITE candidate for sheriff

Oscar M. White Is Candidate for Sheriff's Office

Oscar M. (Hop) White, Jr., native resident of the county, has authorized this newspaper to announce that he will be a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Eastland County in the Democratic Party election this year. He is a resident of Cisco.

White, who is 36 years old, has been a driller for the Low Drilling Company of Cisco for the past six years. He was born and raised at Rising Star where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar White, Sr., still live. White is married, and they have two sons, ages 6 and 11. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, and Mrs. White is a member of the Church of Christ.

At Rising Star High School, White was an outstanding athlete, starring in football, basketball and track. He attended Allen Academy one year before entering Texas A&M College where he won the heavy-weight boxing championship and lettered three years in football, basketball and track. He made the second all-conference basketball quintet.

An Associated Press story was released about White as follows: "Oscar White of Rising Star is a neat approach to the immortal Bill Henderson in Texas A&M College athletics. Henderson, who wound up his string several years ago, lettered in any sport he attempted and was hailed as the nation's most versatile college athlete. While the other might win the heavyweight boxing title of this 4,600-man school. He already had two letters each in football and basketball and one in track. In the latter sport he is on the way to still another numeral. White is an end in football, forward in basketball and a huerder in track."

White said he planned to see as many of the voters as possible before the May 7th first primary.

"I will appreciate the consideration of every voter," he said. "Everyone is invited to examine my record in all respects. If elected, I will make every effort to handle the duties of sheriff in an efficient manner."

I GIVE YOU TEXAS by BOYCE HOUSE

We should be freer in the expression of our appreciation of others. Back in the 1920's when I was a visitor in Mineral Wells, an acquaintance called my attention to a tall man wearing a dark overcoat in a hotel lobby, with the remark, "He wrote 'The Slow Train through Arkansas'." Thomas W. Jackson! I remembered the name well, for as a small boy had I not read his book while actually traveling on a slow train in that very State? The jokes were new to me; and how I chuckled over them and re-told them. My first impulse was to go over and tell him how much his books for he wrote several others, including "Through Missouri on a trolley I thought, 'He wouldn't be interested in meeting me,'" so I didn't. Now, years and years later having written some books myself, I know that a writer is always glad for anyone to tell him that his writings have given pleasure.

When I was a little boy, our family lived in Benton, Ark. Our physician was Dr. Gann. He wore a silk hat—maybe it was just once, no some special occasion, but the circumstance so impressed my

Texas Rural Heroism Award Announced

The first Texas Rural Heroism Award will be presented this spring by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council to a person who during the past year has exhibited exceptional bravery at the time of a crisis or disaster in his or her local community. The award will be made annually by the Council.

To be eligible for the award, according to the Council, a person must live in a rural area of the State or in a community of less than 2,500 population. The award may go to a person credited with removing another person from a burning building or to one who has saved another from drowning or has rescued someone involved in a machine or tractor accident. A person who has rendered exceptional service in the case of a tornado, flood or other disasters, or accidents should make a most worthy nomination for the award.

The award, an engraved plaque, will be presented as a feature of the annual meeting in March of the Texas Safety Association. The award winner will be chosen on a nomination basis. The material which must accompany the nomination includes a narrative giving full details of the incident along with full names of all people involved and with news clippings and pictures, if available. The winner will be chosen by a panel of judges, based on evidence submitted on the nominee.

All nominations should be submitted to Calvin Pigg, chairman, Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, 3900 Barnett Street, Fort Worth, Texas, by February 15, 1960. Local county agents or any member of the Council can supply full details on the award and on submitting nominations.

By recognizing heroic rural service in this manner, the award will serve to stress the continuing need for improved safety conditions in rural areas—at work, in the home or at play, says the Council.

By BOYCE HOUSE

We should be freer in the expression of our appreciation of others. Back in the 1920's when I was a visitor in Mineral Wells, an acquaintance called my attention to a tall man wearing a dark overcoat in a hotel lobby, with the remark, "He wrote 'The Slow Train Through Arkansas'." Thomas W. Jackson! I remembered the name well, for as a small boy had I not read his book while actually traveling on a slow train in that very State? The jokes were new to me; and how I chuckled over them and re-told them. My first impulse was to go over and tell him how much his books for he wrote several others, including "Through Missouri on a thimble I thought, "He wouldn't be interested in meeting me," so I didn't. Now, years and years later having written some books myself, I know that a writer is always glad for anyone to tell him that his writings have given pleasure.

When I was a little boy, our family lived in Benton, Ark. Our physician was Dr. Gann. He wore a silk hat—maybe it was just once, no some special occasion, but the circumstance so impressed my

Texas Rural Heroism Award Announced

The first Texas Rural Heroism Award will be presented this spring by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council to a person who during the past year has exhibited exceptional bravery at the time of a crisis or disaster in his or her local community. The award will be made annually by the Council.

To be eligible for the award, according to the Council, a person must live in a rural area of the State or in a community of less than 2,500 population. The award may go to a person credited with removing another person from a burning building or to one who has saved another from drowning or has rescued someone involved in a machine or tractor accident. A person who has rendered exceptional service in the case of a tornado, flood or other disasters or accidents should make a most worthy nomination for the award.

The award, an engraved plaque, will be presented as a feature of the annual meeting in March of the Texas Safety Association. The award winner will be chosen on a nomination basis. The material which must accompany the nomination includes a narrative giving full details of the incident along with full names of all people involved and with news clippings and pictures, if available. The winner will be chosen by a panel of judges, based on evidence submitted on the nominee.

All nominations should be submitted to Calvin Pigg, chairman, Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, 3900 Barnett Street, Fort Worth, Texas, by February 15, 1960. Local county agents or any member of the Council can supply full details on the award and on submitting nominations.

By recognizing heroic rural service in this manner, the award will serve to stress the continuing need for improved safety conditions in rural areas—at work, in the home or at play, says the Council.

off all surface mixture. Later it will take a waxing like any other piece of furniture.

When baking potatoes a thirty penny spike driven into the center will speed up the baking time. Putting them on to boil until hot all the way through will also save baking time.

Before heating milk in a sauce pan, rinse the pan with water and it will not scorch so easily.

Well! Are you game to try these out?

Good Taste

Their Evening Was Spoiled

Dear Mrs. Post: Last Saturday my husband and I and two other couples went out to dinner. It was Dutch treat. While we were seated at table and looking over the menu, another couple whom we were all acquainted with but not overly fond of, came by and stopped to chat. After a while one of the women in our party asked them if they would like to join us, which they did. Their presence cast a pall over the group, and instead of spending a pleasant evening, it was strained and stiff. I thought this friend was very wrong in taking it upon herself to ask them to join our party. She claims it was the only polite thing to do.

Answer: It was not at all necessary to ask this extra couple to join your party and knowing how the group felt toward them, I agree with you that she was wrong to have asked them to do so.

Politeness To An Older Generation

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and I went to visit an aunt and uncle the other evening. While we were there an elderly man came to call. When he said good-night my brother shook hands with him and said he was delighted to meet him, while I stayed in my chair and merely said good-night. Later my brother told me that I should have gotten up and shaken hands, but I don't believe this formality is expected of a young woman.

Answer: Because you are young you should have stood up to say goodnight. Had he been a younger man, or you nearer his age, you would have remained seated since you were not in your own house.

When She Is Engaged

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is engaged to a man who is going to be best man at a wedding. Is she supposed to be included in dinner and other parties given for the bride party? I think she should be just the same as a wife always is. But there seems to be some difference of opinion.

Answer: You are right. If your daughter's engagement has been announced, she should be invited to all dinners and parties at which her fiancé is to be present.

A Novel Suggestion

Dear Mrs. Post: The man I'm marrying is a stranger to practically all of my best friends back home. We are marrying in a distant city, having met only a few months ago here where I've come

These Are Our Sentiments—

... that whatever happened in '59, any repeats in '60 will be bigger, including the National Debt. Politicians will be much bigger, so will their promises. In the air, we are witnessing speeds up to 600 m.p.h. but we will be doing 1500 by the end of '60. Abstracts will be bigger, too, and may cost more, as "creeping" inflation continues to soar to spectacular heights. Whether are we drifting? No one can guess, but we all know we are on our way—somewhere—destination unknown.

The church auditorium was decorated in the G. A. colors, white, green and gold. A white styrofoam Bible with three white candles on a table covered with green and white was the centerpiece for the occasion. Floral decorations included greenery on the platform and a yellow potted mum on the piano. Spotlights in the background made the theme in gold letters and a large G. A. emblem.

The program opened with the singing of "Love Divine" followed by the invocation and reading of the scriptures. Miss Lynn Mitchell then sang "The Love of God."

The G. A.'s working toward maidens and ladies-in-waiting were challenged by the Counselor, Mrs. Florence Ransy. Special numbers were rendered by the girls. Mary Carol Mitchell and Sarah Robertson sang "I Love to Tell the Story" and Peggy Leonard and Charlotte Boone sang "My Jesus, I Love Thee."

After Miss Mitchell sang, "The Light of the World," the three queens were presented. The queens Nancy Vesie, Frances Vesie and Ann Ransy, were dressed in pastel evening dresses and carried yellow gladiolus bouquets. The crown bearers for the queens were Roy Allen Leonard, Steve Leonard and Mike Robertson. The queens were questioned by Assistant Counselor, Mrs. Mary Vesie, and crowned by Mrs. Vera Gray, former WMU President.

The final charge was given by the pastor, and the program was concluded with the singing of the G. A. Hymn, "We've a Story to Tell."

There was a reception immediately following the service, honoring the G. A.'s. The table was covered with a lace cloth over green and gold candles in crystal candleholders. Refreshments of punch and cake squares decorated in the G. A. colors were served by Miss Suzanne Mitchell.

Thanking Daughter's Boy Friend For Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week my daughter invited a young man to our house for the weekend. I went all out to make this weekend a pleasant one for him. When he returned home he sent me a small gift with his bread-and-butter note. My daughter insists that I write a thank-you note for the gift. I don't believe it is necessary as it was sent in payment, so to speak, for hospitality shown to him.

Answer: The gift was the result of an impulse of friendship and in no way a sense of obligation, and therefore—you should certainly write thank you for it.

Should He Sit Between Them?

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man goes to the theater or to a concert with two women, would it not be better if he sat between them?

Answer: It is always best that the women enter the row of seats ahead of the man who then takes the aisle (or last) seat. To sit between two women is not only a mistake of good form, but of convenience, since he cannot avoid turning his head away from one when talking with the other. Sitting at the end he faces both. Moreover, the woman at the other end can easily lean across the first woman if she especially wants to hear, whereas she cannot lean across the man.
