Annual County Show Stated for Weekend

Parade Will Kick Off Show Activities

The annual Eastland County Livestock Show, sponsored by the Sheriff's posse, will officially get under way at Eastland Friday afternoon.

The parade will begin at 2 p.m. Several bands and numerous floats and riding groups are to participate. The parade will take the usual route from the front of the county jail on North Lamar.

All persons planning to participate in the parade were asked to be at the starting place early so that the parade can be started on time.

Four bands, four riding groups and numerous floats have been entered in this year's parade.

Action of the boys and girls prize winning fat steers, lambs and pigs that were exhibited at the show March 25 will be held on the last day at the Eastland auction barn just west of that city, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

An invitation is being extended, by George Steele, Ring Star, president of the Eastland County Livestock Raisers Association and sponsor of the show, to all who want to fill their deep freezers with top quality meat to come out and purchase one or more of the animals.

A total of 19 fat steers, 129 fat lambs, and 125 fat pigs will be auctioned off. A price ceiling is put on each animal except the grand and reserve champions. The price ceiling depends upon the animal's prime, choice or good grade.

College Initiates Intramural Soft Ball Program

An intramural softball program for boys has been instituted at Ranger College, and four teams have been organized: the Barnyard Boys, the Ragknats, the Sheep Herders, and the Trunk Twisters.

The first games were played March 22, on the college practice field beginning at 1:30 p.m. The Barnyard Boys beat the Ragknats 17 to 4.

Home runs for the day were made by Stanley Reed of the Barnyard Boys and Danny Waisworth of the Sheep Herders.

The roster is as follows: Barnyard Boys: Philip Reed, Glenn Hodges, Stanley Reed, Bill Bol'n, Glen Clark, Hoyt Krause, Charles Pelote, Larry Dannon, W. A. McKeever, and Charlie Gilead.

Trunk Twisters: Butch Scott, Currell Richardson, Kenneth Hart, Morris Light, Gene Babb, Jim Hamilton, Bobby Ned Landersmilk, Pat Blakely, Arno Hall, and Oscar Gollner.

All animals in the show must be entered and in their places by 12 o'clock on Friday, March 25. This rule has been rigidly enforced the past two years.

Angora goats, dairy cattle and the breeding classes of sheep are to be judged on the first afternoon of the show. All other classes will be judged the second day.

Animals will be fitted as they come in—by a qualified man from another county. Animals deemed to be poorly finished or of a quality not a credit to the show will be sifted out and returned home.

Judges have been selected for the large number of entries of cattle, sheep, goats and hogs expected at the annual county livestock show at Eastland Friday and Saturday, it was announced today by show officials.

Garland Coody, Breckenridge rancher and breeder of registered Angora goats, will judge the animals in this division to begin the show at 1 p.m. Friday. Also to be judged that afternoon will be the sheep in the breeding classes and the dairy animals. Judge for this will be Ralph Moser, vocational agriculture teacher, Stephenville.

Dr. K. M. Anderson of Ft. Worth, one of the outstanding swine judges of the state, will judge hogs including the fat pigs on Saturday morning. Jack Hancock of Abilene and Tuscola will place the fat lambs. Both men were on the 1959 roster of judges.

The new hog barn on the north side of the main barn will be in use for the first time on Friday and Saturday.

The Warden brothers, Jim Tom of Abilene and Guy Sweetwater, will judge all beef cattle entries including fat steers. Both men are natives of Eastland County. It will be the first time for Guy to judge in his home town. Jim Tom was one of the judges last year.

Present indications are that the 1960 show will be the largest ever held in the county. Show officials say that the show continues to grow every year.

Profit On Home Sale Is Subject To Income Tax

If you sold or bought a home during 1959, you will be interested in what A. E. Fogle, Jr., of Internal Revenue Service, Abilene, Texas, has to say.

"Profit on a home sale is the difference between what you paid for the home—plus your expense on it for permanent improvements—and your sale price.

"However," Fogle added, "if you use up the profit in buying another home within a year, or building a new home, occupied within 18 months after you sold the old one, your profit is NOT taxable."

Read the Label And Follow Rules With Insecticides

College Station, March—One way to safeguard against excessive insecticide residues on harvested crops and protect those who handle the materials is to follow the recommendations of the manufacturer.

C. F. Garner, associate extension entomologist, says the labeling of all insecticides intrate must be registered with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. All applications for registration or labeling are thoroughly examined to remove or modify any directions for use on particular crops which do not seem to meet the requirements of the law. Among other things, the USDA determine whether any treatment is likely to leave excessive chemical residues on the harvested raw agricultural commodities.

Garner suggests that the following rules be closely followed: Use an insecticide only on the crops for which it is recommended and in the amounts specified on the label. Applications of the insecticide should also be made in accordance with the label directions.

If a crop is not named on the label of a particular insecticide, it may seem that no residue of that pesticide is permitted on that crop, and hence the treated crop could not be shipped if it contains a residue of that chemical.

Growers who follow the recommended time and rate of application can be assured the insecticide will not contaminate the edible part of fruit or vegetable, or will have been removed or decreased enough by weather, decomposition, or other process so that the residue will not be excessive at harvest time.

If custom applicators, including those using airplanes, are employed, be sure they too follow the rules or directions listed by the manufacturer of the insecticide used, emphasizes Garner.

A Borrowed Dress

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what to do in this very unfortunate situation: I borrowed an evening dress from a friend as I did not have one of my own and did not feel like going to the expense of buying one for this one special occasion. Before returning the dress to her I had it cleaned, and to my horror it shrank. In fact it shrank so badly that I don't think she will be able to wear it again. Am I obliged to pay her for it. I'm sick over it.

Answer: I think the very first thing to do is to go to the cleaners and tell them that the dress shrank and ask if it can be stretched—some materials can be stretched and let us hope this is one of them. If it cannot be stretched and it is much too small for her, the only thing to do is to tell her the truth and offer to buy her a new dress. If she herself is well off, she will probably refuse to take anything and accept her losses with grace.

Toasting The Bride And Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to be the best man at a friend's wedding and have been told that it is up to me to propose the toast to the bride and groom. Will you please tell me when it is proposed and also an appropriate toast.

Answer: At the reception, as soon as the champagne (or whatever its substitute) is poured into the glasses, you raise and say, "To the bride and groom, and may their life together be one of unbroken happiness."

Answering An Answer

Dear Mrs. Post: When a person asks a question point blank, which you do not wish to answer, what can one say without being rude?

Answer: Pay no attention to the question and try to change the subject by calling the questioner's attention to someone else or someone who is persistent, simply answer, "I'm sorry, but that is something I would rather not answer."

Explaining Eleventh Hour Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: The invitations to my wedding have already been sent out. I had planned on having about 75 guests at the reception and in order to keep to this number I had to omit my neighbors. Now it seems that several of the guests cannot come to the wedding and I would like to invite some of my neighbors to come in their place. Would it be proper to

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service bureau of the State Bar of Texas

UNANIMOUS
Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have. In a criminal case twelve jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The twelve jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake. Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends—the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fair-mindedness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement. In short jury duty demands a "decent respect to the opinions" of others.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors. Time was in Texas when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states. A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law—the legislature does; and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt,"—not imaginary or far-fetched—acquit the accused. Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should every apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Six Changes In Insect Control Is Announced

At least six major changes have been made in the recommendations covering the control of cotton insects for 1960. C. F. Garner, associate extension entomologist, says these changes have been called to attention of all county agricultural agents in Texas and suggests that cotton producers ask the agents about them when picking up a copy of the new guide.

The guide, L-218, is now available from the office of the local county agent or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Garner points out that all recommendations in the guide are based upon results of experiments conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Entomology Research Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

As has been the case for several years, the control program for 1960 includes early and late season control phases and suggestions for an early stalk destruction and farm cleanup, a very important part of the cotton insect control program.

Garner suggests that cotton growers pick up a copy of the guide at the first opportunity so plans can be made for carrying out a complete insect control program.

The entomologist has this final word of caution. All insecticides are poison and precautions given on the labels of containers should be followed to the letter. Special care should be taken in handling parathion, methyl parathion, demeton, guthion and phorate (Thimet) to avoid prolonged contact with the skin or breathing the vapors or drift from either spray or dust.

SIX-PASSENGER CAR OR STATION SEDAN ...CORVAIR IS BOTH!

A wonderfully useful folding seat makes every Corvair two cars in one. Just one quick flip and you increase the luggage and parcel space to 25.5 cubic feet. And just as simply, you're back to comfortable six-passenger capacity. It's standard equipment ... and extraordinarily practical.

Corvair does car-pool duty with the biggest and best of them. Going to work or school or out for the evening, you've got a genuine six-wheeler. As for carting around piles of stuff instead of people, just look at Corvair's station-sedan load space with the rear seat folded. And when that's full you can start on the trunk.

 Corvair, you see, is no ordinary compact car. No others are so versatile, so ingeniously engineered—with independent suspension at all four wheels, an air-cooled rear engine that never needs water or antifreeze. You just can't compare anything else coming out these days with a Corvair. Drive one ... soon.
