Giants and Braves Take League Wins

The Little League Giants came back after a week of rest with the same old power, to down the Yankees 12 to 0 and move one more game closer to the league championship, and the Strawn Braves slugged it out with the Dodgers and took a close 10 to 9 win to remain in second place.

In the first game Larry Blackwell won his fifth game by allowing only two runners to reach base safely. Blackwell pitched three innings for the Giants, giving up one hit and one base on balls. Johnny McGee came into the

New Law Aids Dependents of Disabled Vets

A new law providing for additional compensation to veterans with severe service-connected disabilities who have more than three children has been signed by President Eisenhower.

The prior law did not authorize payment for more than three children. The additional compensation will range from $12 monthly for each child after the first three where the veteran's service-connected disability is evaluated at 100 percent down to $6 monthly where the veteran's disability is evaluated at 50 percent.

Up until now, a veteran with a service-connected disability of 50 percent or greater could get additional compensation payments for a wife, dependent parents and a child, up to a total of three children. The new law, P. L. 86-499 adds the above payments for additional children.

Veterans with less than 50 percent of rated disability receive no additional compensation for a wife, parents nor children.

The term "children" includes all sons and daughters, real or legally adopted, under age 18 and unmarried. Children who become incapable of self-support through mental or physical causes before reaching the age of 18 will still be considered children under provisions of this law until they marry, the VA said.

Ranger Auto Parts Gives Film Clinic

Fifty-two local mechanics and service station men from the Ranger area attended a film clinic on automobile ignition system servicing sponsored by Ranger Auto Parts Thursday night.

The films shown were produced by Standard Motor Products, Inc. of Long Island City, New York, manufacturers of automotive electrical parts. One, entitled "Sherlock McKanek's Crime Lab", showed the mechanics how to solve some of the mysteries of the ignition system and also gave them a demonstration of tune-up procedure. The other film, which starred TV's weatherman, Tex Antoine, took the viewers behind the scenes at Standard's factory to explain how modern manufacturing methods provide increased performance in heavy duty ignition parts.

THE TORTOISE, THE HARE AND TEX—Tex Antoine, famous TV weatherman, uses his popular blackboard technique to demonstrate the features of heavy duty ignition parts in the film "Behind the Scenes", produced by Standard Motor Products, Inc. An audience of 52 local automotive mechanics and servicemen saw the film on Thursday at a special showing sponsored by Ranger Auto Parts.

Bradshaw Wins Championship Consolation

Byrd Defeats Wilson For Lakeside Crown

Eugene Byrd, who came within one stroke of winning the Lakeside Country Club tournament a year ago, wouldn't say "uncle" Sunday afternoon, and it took that kind of determination for him to beat out another youngster, Don Wilson, 1-up in 20 holes.

Wilson couldn't find the range with his short iron. The Wilson made the turn clinging to a one-up lead.

Both players got pars on the next three holes. Byrd won No. 13 when Wilson chipped over the green with Byrd up close for a gimme birdie.

The match didn't stay even long, however. Byrd took the lead for the first time on No. 14 getting a birdie. Then he went two-up as Wilson collected a buzzard on No. 15.

Don showed how he got to the finish line. He calmly sank a seven foot putt on No. 16 to win with a birdie, then he collected another birdie on No. 17 to square things up.

Both players got pars on No. 18, long on his approach and went over the green. Then on the first extra hole both again had pars.

Lakeside's fame big pecan tree on No. 2 was Wilson's downfall. He drove almost 350 yards on the 20th, but ended up behind the big tree and had to try to roll it on.

He went to the froghair on the backside of the green, then chipped and putt and two putted. Byrd putted for his par and it was all over.

Ranger's Gary Bradshaw won consolation honors in the championship flight by beating out George Powell of Weatherford two and one.

Other winners by flights were: FIRST FLIGHT—Billy Wages of Denton defeated Ralph Glenn of Cisco four and two for the championship. Jack Collins of Abilene won consolation honors with a one-up victory over Jackie Hawkins.

SECOND FLIGHT—Don Doyle of Eastland defeated Jack Harris of Olney three and one to win the flight. Everett Plozman, also of Eastland, won consolation honors with a one-up win over Ronny Ross.

Each player got pars on three and four, and both picked birdies on No. 5. Wilson picked up No. 6 with a birdie and then ran in a long putt on No. 7 to halve.

Then Don missed that important putt which seemed to take away much of his confidence. The missed four-footer gave Byrd the hole with a birdie. Gene came through with a winning par on No. 9 as

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

William Jennings Bryan, in his presidential race of 1896, was denounced for his advocacy of "free silver" but, oddly enough, his position was little different from that which his successful opponent, William McKinley, had held not long before.

McKinley's reversal is amusingly depicted in Oscar Ameringer's "If You Don't Weaken" (Henry Holt and Company). As a member of the band which welcomed the delegations who came to Canton, Ohio, to pledge their support to the Republican candidate, Ameringer heard the speeches which McKinley made in his "front porch" campaign.

On each occasion, the advocate of the gold standard would produce a silver dollar from his Prince Albert coat and say, "My fellow citizens, the opposition will tell you that this silver dollar represents 100 cents of American currency. Yet the same amount of silver contained in this dollar I hold in my hand will only purchase fifty-three cents' worth of merchandise in our sister republic across the Rio Grande."

The observer said that he knew that silver dollar well, because, a few years before, he had seen McKinley produce it, or one just like it, during a speech on the courthouse steps in Circleville. At that time, the speaker was running for governor and his declaration then was, "The opposition will tell you that the silver I am holding in my hand is worth only fifty-three cents. But I challenge any of my intelligent audience to walk into any store in the city and convince himself that his silver dollar will purchase one cent less than 100 cents' worth of goods."

McKinley's switch was even more amusingly brought out in a story in Louis Brownlow's "A Passion for Politics" (University of Chicago Press). The author, himself a Democrat, had a cousin, Walter Brownlow, who was named as Tennessee's representative on the Republican National Committee in 1896. Someone protested to Mark Hanna, McKinley's campaign manager, that Brownlow was not for the gold standard but, on the contrary, had won the Republican Congressional nomination that very year on a free silver platform, and therefore should be removed from the national committee.

Hanna wrote to Brownlow, inquiring about the matter. Here is his reply, in dialect which would have done credit to the pen of Artemus Ward or Petroleum V. Nauchy.

"Dear Mr. Hanna, I done got your letter. It is so that I made some speeches only this here past spring when I was a-runnin' for the Republican nomination for Congress. I hadn't never run for no office before, and I hadn't never made no speech. I knowed I didn't have sense enough to git me up a speech so I just thought I'd git a speech some other feller had made and git it by heart and just say it."

"I happened to pick up a speech made by a feller by the name of McKinley to the Stark County, Ohio, Farmers' Alliance a couple of years or so back."

"I aim to be mighty busy in this here campaign, but if Me flops agin, just wire me. Yours truly, Walter Preston Brownlow."

COLLEGES RECEIVE $7,000—S. L. Nevins, center, Vice President of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, hands a check for $3,500 to Dr. Joseph R. Griggs, right, Executive Director of the Texas Foundation of Voluntarily Supported Colleges and Universities. At left is George Kelt, Southwestern Sales Manager for Olin Mathieson. This grant will be matched with an additional $3,500 from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and will be applied to higher education. Dr. Griggs represents 22 church related colleges and universities throughout Texas with more than 45,000 students enrolled. In its seventh year, the Foundation has distributed more than $1,000,000 for advanced studies.

Who Discovers the Discoverers?

"A professor can never better distinguish himself in his work than by encouraging a clever pupil, for the true discoverers are among them, as comets amongst the stars."
CARL LINNAEUS

Somewhere in this mighty land of ours, a gifted youth is learning to see the light of tomorrow. Somewhere, in a college classroom or laboratory, a dedicated teacher is gently leading genius toward goals of lofty attainment. Somewhere the mind of a future discoverer—in science, engineering, government, or the arts—is being trained to greatness.

Our nation has been richly rewarded by the quality of thought nurtured in our colleges and universities. The caliber of learning generated there has been responsible in no small part for our American way of life. To our college teachers, the selfless men and women who inspire our priceless human resources, we owe more than we will ever be able to repay.

Yet how are we actually treating these dedicated people?

Today low salaries are not only driving gifted teachers into other fields, but are steadily reducing the number of qualified people who choose college teaching as a career. At the same time, classrooms are beginning to get overcrowded. In the face of this, college applications are expected to double by 1967, if not sooner.

This is a severe threat to our system of education, to our way of life, even to our very existence as a nation. Our colleges need help—and they need it now!

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, and what you can do to help, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 26, New York.

No Invitation From His Parents
Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend is stationed in an army camp quite a distance from here. Since his induction into the army six months ago I have not seen him, although he writes to me several times a week. Recently he wrote to me saying that his parents are planning to drive down to visit him soon and asked me if I would like to accompany them. I wrote back and said that I would like to very much. However, so far I have had no word from his parents and wonder if they could be waiting to hear from me. Would it be proper for me to get in touch with them and ask when they intend to leave?
Answer: Write to your boy friend and explain that you have not heard from his parents, who may not realize that they must invite you, and that you really cannot invite yourself to go with them.

When Wedding Has Been Called Off
Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know what is expected of a bride-to-be when her wedding has been called off and the bridesmaid's dresses have been bought. Should she offer to reimburse the bridesmaid's for this expense? Just what is her obligation in this situation?
Answer: If they can make use of the dresses, it is not necessary to do anything. But if they were made specially for the wedding and the girls will have no future use for them, she should, if she possibly can, reimburse them for the expense they were put to.

A "Personal" Bridal Shower
Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a personal shower for a bride-to-be and there seems to be a difference of opinion among some of those invited as to what gifts are appropriate to take to this type of shower. Can you enlighten us?
Answer: When the invitation stipulates "personal shower" it means that guests are expected to bring items for the bride's personal trousseau, such as slips, gloves, nightgowns, handkerchiefs, stockings, etc.
Wishes To Pay Her Share
Dear Mrs. Post: I am a single woman with many married friends. They often include me in their parties and ask me to dinner and then to a movie. I can do nothing much in return as I have just a very small place. I feel that I don't want to be a drain on these friends, most of them are struggling to get along. Therefore when we go to the movies I think the least I can do is pay my own way. My offer is always rejected and I don't like to make a scene about it. Many women like myself must be up against this problem. What can I do?

Answer: On occasion buy tickets in advance and invite these friends to go with you.
A Broken Engagement
Dear Mrs. Post: During the two years my son was engaged, he gave his fiancée many presents in addition to the ring. For her hope chest he bought silver and electrical appliances. He also gave her expensive personal gifts such as costume jewelry which she wanted, luggage, etc. She has returned the ring with the explanation that she no longer loves him. What about all the other gifts? Shouldn't they be returned too?
Answer: The silver and electrical appliances for the home-to-be should be returned. The personal items which he gave her for birthdays, Christmas, etc., which she undoubtedly has been using, she may properly keep.
After The Wedding Reception
Dear Mrs. Post: We are the parents of the bridegroom-to-be. The wedding is to be in church with a simple reception following at a nearby hotel. My husband and I would like to ask our relatives and some of our friends to come back to our house after the reception. Would this be proper, and if so must the bride's family be asked too?
Answer: It would be entirely proper after the reception is over to ask only your own family and a few intimate friends to go back to your house.
Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-3, entitled "The Clothes of the Bridal Party," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of (this newspaper), P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Answer: Where the card is too small to permit the general public to be invited, an admission card about the size of a man's visiting card reading, "Please present this card at St. John's Church on Tuesday, June 1st," may be enclosed with each invitation. Then at the church entrance all who do not show this card are told, "We are very sorry, but the church is so small that only those with cards can be admitted."
May Girl Visit Man Friend?
Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be correct for a girl in her mid-twenties to visit a man who is a good friend but to whom she is not engaged? Due to his work he cannot make the trip home for a vacation.
Answer: Definitely, no, unless she is going to stay with friends of hers or possibly with friends of his who have invited her. But to go alone and stay in a hotel where she is unknown to the proprietors and therefore completely unchaperoned, would not do at all.
A Coat Of Arms
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is permissible to use a coat of arms belonging to the bridegroom's family on wedding invitations that are being sent out by the bride's family?
Answer: No. If the bride's family have no coat of arms of their own, the invitations are engraved on plain paper with no device of any kind.

Refusing Poor Dancer
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever permissible for a girl to refuse to dance with a boy who is a terrible dancer, and if so, how can she do this in a tactful manner?
Answer: The classic answer is, "Oh, I've danced so much! Let's sit this one out."
Church Admission Cards
Dear Mrs. Post: Our church has a limited number of seats. Our guest list is long. Naturally we would like to seat a majority of the invited guests. But as a rule, interested neighbors and acquaintances will come to the church even though not invited, and slip into back seats. At my wedding even the back seats will be needed for our invited guests. Therefore, can some sort of card be enclosed with invitations which people can present to an usher to insure them a seat? Even so, how can an usher, without discourtesy, prevent an acquaintance from going in and sitting in a back seat?

Refusing Poor Dancer
Dear Mrs. Post: I am a bachelor and am often invited to dinner at the houses of my married friends. Again, the other evening I was asked to dine with friends and when I arrived there was a young woman (an unmarried friend of the hostess) also present. After dinner we played cards and we left about eleven o'clock. I walked the young woman to the bus and waited until she got on, and then left to go home. Several days later when talking with my friend on the telephone, he said he was surprised to hear that I had not taken Mary home. He said had he known I wasn't going to take her home he would have done so himself. Needless to say he made me feel like a "heel." I would like to know if I was wrong not to have seen her home. Had she been my date I would have taken her home but as I met her at the house of friends, I thought taking her to the bus was sufficient.
Answer: You should have offered to take her home, although as your hostess did not ask you to do so, you had some reason for thinking she was accustomed to going home alone.
Dressing for Captain's Dinner
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are taking a boat trip the last week of June and the first week of July. He has a new navy blue suit. Will that be all right for the captain's dinner? If so, what kind of tie should be worn, bow or four-in-hand?
Answer: It will be wise to ask if on the boat trip you plan, there will be any dinner or gala evening which will require that the men wear tuxedos. If not, the blue suit with whatever tie your husband prefers will be correct.

Barbara Lynn Nichols, Dale McPherson Exchange Vows

Miss Barbara Lynn Nichols became the bride of Howard Dale McPherson, Sunday, June 19, at 3 p.m., in the First Baptist Church,

Ranger. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nichols of Ranger, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McPherson of Lipan.

Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Ranger, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The vows were read before a background of green foliage and baskets of white gladioli and beauty asters, flanked with white tapers. White satin bows and fern marked the pews.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Ann Robinson, organist, Ablesse, and Miss Sue Watson, vocalist, Brownwood, Miss Robinson accompanied Miss Watson as she sang "Because", "Always", and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Paula Brock of Fort Worth was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Billy Mac Nichols of Ranger and Mrs. Charles Yarbrough of Baird.

They wore identical dresses of blue organza over cotton with white accessories. They carried colonial bouquets of blue french-carnation.

Harold Wheeler of Fort Worth was best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Wharton and Billy Joe Ferris, both of Fort Worth. Ushers and candlelighters were Tommy Todd of Bryan and Wayne Wade of Kermit, cousin of the bride.

Mr. Nichols gave his daughter in marriage. Her formal gown of silk organza and imported chantilly lace was fashioned with a fitted bodice and short sleeves. The Sabrina neckline was re-embroidered with bridal beads and sequins. The bodice was closed at the back with small covered buttons. Lace appliques enhanced the bouffant skirt which extended to a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a crown of bridal beads. She carried a cascading bouquet of shaded mums centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace with matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nichols wore a mauve pink dress with pink and white accessories. Mrs. McPherson, mother of the groom, wore a blue linen dress and white accessories. They both wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the basement of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a white madina bride's bouquet. The three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. Roddy Carter. Mrs. Bobby Ballard of Brownwood ladled the punch.

Miss Mary Lou Wright of Fort Worth presided at the registry table which was laid with a white madina cloth and centered with the attendant's bouquet.

Other members of the house party were Miss Linda Landtroop and Miss Twana Nichols of Ranger, Miss Loney Nichols of Huntsville and Miss Janet Wade of Abilene, cousin of the bride.

After a short wedding trip to the Ozarks in Arkansas, the couple will make their home in Fort Worth, where both are employed. The bride is in the accounting department of Mid-Continent Supply Company, and the groom is an IBM operator for Conivar.

Out of town guests were Mary Lou Wright, Janice Martin, Jerry Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ferris, Linda Wheeler, Tom Lang, Leo Long, Dick Ivy, Mr. and Mrs.

Somewhere Down the Line—

... the person who buys real estate without an abstract will find out about his mistake. When he goes to sell or mortgage, it is almost certain that an abstract will be required. Then the owner will have to furnish one at his own expense. Suppose the abstract shows the title to be faulty. Then the owner is in for trouble he never expected. Money can and will be saved by getting the title proved first and buy later.
