country are in the same predic.

In recent years, science and of industry—working together—have developed a great variety of wash and wear fabrics. But the experiments with clothing materials boomeranged. Each new product came with its own special laundering instructions, making clothing care more complicated than ever before.

However, this fall, Arrow's new S.D.C. (spin-dry cotton) collection of dress shirts and undershorts will be introduced, living up to all the homemaker's easy care requirements.

easy care requirements.

Made of 100% cotton, which has been chemically modified inside the fiber to build in wash and wear, the new garments can be washed and dried anyway you like!

While all other cotton wash out of wash and wear.
