MARY URE

Shows Today and Wednesday at the Majestic in Eastland
Described in the British press as "the finest young Shakespearean actress in England," pale, slender, "moonlight blonde" Mary Ure (pronounced Your) is coming into her own as a film star after an imposing list of stage successes. She is starred in the film version of D. H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers," starring Dean Stockwell, Wendy Hiller, Heather Sears and Trevor Howard, a Jerry Wald Production for Twentieth Century-Fox release.
Miss Ure's screen personality suggests enigma and is uniquely her own. Casting about for a comparison it might be necessary to go back to Garbo and even then similarities would probably be forced. On-screen she gives the impression of hidden thoughts and perhaps hidden powers, although, in person, she is simple, direct and approachable. In either case, though, she gives the impression of being something more, or at least something different, from what appears on the surface—to be somehow withholding something of herself.

"GORG0" On Ranger Drive In Screen

Two fishermen cannot believe their eyes when the claw of a giant pre-historic undersea monster emerges from the surface of the water in one of the shocking scenes of "Gorgo." The picture tells the story of this monster which virtually destroys the city of London in its search for its offspring, which has been captured for exhibition. Bill Travers, William Sylvester and young Academy Award-winner Vincent Winter head the cast of the King Brothers Production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, filmed in Automation and color. Playing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Ranger Drive In Theatre.

Sometimes you can put out a fire, but you can't put out a hurricane.

The only thing to do is to be sure you have plenty of wind-storm insurance. Then just wait the thing out and don't worry.

Hurricanes, cyclones and tornadoes used to confine themselves to certain areas. But now they roam anywhere, and one may blow your property to toothpicks or smash it in with a big tree in 15 minutes.

An Extended Coverage endorsement added to your Fire policies will insure you against loss by windstorm and six other perils as well.

Property Should Be Rendered To Tax Authorities

April 1 will be the deadline for most Texans to render their property to certain taxing agencies. State laws require all real and personal property to be rendered for taxes on or before prescribed dates. Those who fail to comply can blame only themselves for the money loss they may consequently suffer.

Some Texas cities set their own tax deadlines. These are the cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statute. All other cities are governed by the general laws of Texas.

In towns operating under the general laws property must be rendered for taxes between Jan. 1 and April 1 each year. A number of home rule cities set up the same requirements in their ordinances, while others prescribe different periods.

For state and county tax purposes, property must be rendered to the County Tax Assessor by April 30, and homestead exemptions must be claimed by the same time.

In some localities a third taxing unit is involved — the independent school district. In other places school taxes are collected by the county. In addition, some localities have water, irrigation, or levee districts which assess and collect taxes. Make inquiry as to where these various taxes are assessed, and as to applicable deadlines for rendition.

What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to all taxing units nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs. An exception is the constitutional exemption of $250 worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries its requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor when rendering your property whether specific types of property are ordinarily rendered in that locality. Some cities and counties collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, television sets and other personal items, while others ignore practically all personal property. Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

If property is not rendered by the tax payer, it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair. One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then, if the county or city decides a higher valuation is in order, you will be given a opportunity to appear before a board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes. Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others. If you do not render, the valuation set by the taxing agency is final. Remember these facts: You may need to render your property at three or more different tax offices. Ask each tax assessor if in doubt concerning the deadline or the rendering of specific personal items.
