Efficiency Is Important Factor In Beef Production

We need to improve the quality of beef, and to be able to produce it at less cost.

This was the theme of the main speaker's address at the annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in 1958, the first time Fort Worth was host of the group of men who six years earlier had joined forces to "work together for the good and common interests of all stock raisers."

When TSCRA members meet in Fort Worth March 20-22 for their 84th annual convention, hotel lobbies once again will resound with talk about methods of increasing the efficiency of beef production, but the solutions will be based on circumstances far different from those of 1953.

Those were the days of the free range . . . but it was the closing days. In a special meeting in late 1953, the Cattle Raisers Association president, C. L. Carter told the group, "A change in the free range system is inevitable, and the people must accept and content themselves with these natural and necessary changes."

Resolutions passed at the meeting indicate there was considerable agreement. They asked that a law be passed to protect all property rights either in fences, grasses or houses; declared that all property taxed by the Government is entitled to the same protection, no matter to whom belonging, or to what lawful use the citizen may appropriate it, whether for agricultural or grazing purposes; and voted that "each member of this Association is hereby required to establish gates at all places and points where neighborhood roads pass through their pastures and that any member of this Association so refusing to establish gates on such roads shall be subject to suspension from this Association."

In the upcoming convention, the talk will be on such topics as the proposed new beef grading system, a new meat tenderizing process, and a modern beef improvement program . . . factors which could possibly have as great an impact on the present beef cattle

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Fun-To-Make Table Decorations

From now on, many parties will be the order of the day as the winter season draws to a close. At this time of year there is always a stepped up interest in social activities. To help the hostess who likes to make her table decorations something new and colorful, here are some ideas. Pictured here are charming hats which may be used as table favors or place cards.

First, draw a scalloped circle on a piece of heavy cardboard, using a scalloped cookie cutter if you wish. Then draw and cut as many of these circles as you need, using pastel paper. The crowns of the hats are made of one and one-half inch balls of white plastic foam, cut in two with a sharp knife. Fasten these to the exact center of the colored circles with plastic glue or adhesive. Trimmings can be made with ribbon, bits of veiling or net. For the floral trimming, wrap small decorative candles in transparent saran and fasten with nylon thread. The several of these together with ribbon and fasten on the hat.

The making of these attractive hats may be a project for a young girl's party. Supply the makings of patterns, paper, scissors, plastic foam balls, saran, hard candies and trimming materials. Let each girl create a hat design, then award a prize for the one showing greatest creativeness.

The miniature hats also make a wonderful touch on a hospital food tray for a special day.

Egg Shells Make Decorations for Easter Season

As cheerful as springtime itself—and just as welcome—are the gaily decorated eggs that appear each Easter season. But no longer is the embellishing confined to hardcooked eggs. A new and interesting trend in Easter egg decorating is evident in the many different things that are being done with just the shells.

A basket filled with bright egg-shell flowers, pussy willows and an egghead fan doll will be a conversation piece wherever it is displayed. And, what's more, it can be carefully packed away for another year.

For the flowers you will need to "blow" about nine eggs, that is, make a hole the size of a small pea in each end of an egg and blow the contents into a bowl. Plan to save the shells beforehand when making scrambled eggs or other egg dishes and store shells in an egg carton until ready to decorate.

Then twist two pipe cleaners together and glue into the hole in the rounded end of the egg using clear household cement. Put aside until thoroughly dry. Dye the eggs with Easter Egg Colors, holding them by the stems and dipping the eggs into the dye bath. Drain well. Glue a large sequin to the top of the egg to cover the hole and wrap the pipe cleaner stem with floral tape or narrow strips of green crepe paper. Add in long, slender, green leaves at the bottom. Anchor in a pin-type flower holder or in a base of modeling clay and arrange with pussy willows in a basket or other container.

For the doll, glue an egg onto two pipe cleaners (same manner as for the flowers) and dye light orange or pale pink. Fasten to a thin dowel stick or piece of heavy wire about 15" long, by wrapping all together with a narrow strip of crepe paper to match the dress, or with floral tape. Decorate face with fancy sequins for eyes and mouth and strips of narrow, curled, crepe paper for hair.

The dress is made of shelf, gift wrapping or light construction paper cut 7" by 16" and pleated in 1/2" pleats. Tape loosely to stick about 2" down for the waist. Tie ribbon at waist (to cover tape) with bow at back. Cut one long strip for arms, pasting ends in back and pinching center front together to shape hands. Add to basket arrangement.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Should the United States take any drastic action toward Cuba, it is extremely doubtful that a single Latin American country from Mexico to Argentina would support us.

When Castro first came to power, the policy was to "wait and see." One of two things or both was hoped for. The first was that after Castro proved himself to be a dictator of the same type or worse than those preceding him, that the people would throw him out. The second hope was that if the people did not throw him out that the initiative would be taken by certain leaders in Latin America to do so without the United States being in the forefront. The first of these propositions is not in sight, and the second one is far from a reality.

Some Leaders in Latin America would like to see the United States take action to oust Castro, but as politicians, many of them know it would be their own death knell to openly support us in such a venture.

There has just been concluded in Mexico City a Communist meeting which had its principal theme the abuse, denunciation and outright "insults" towards this Nation.

forts have been made towards friendly relations.

The essence of good government is the ability to foresee. Hindsight is usually pretty good, but it does not promote economic development, national security or establish peace.

No rational person believes that the United States can afford to build a fence around our Country and live in splendid isolation. The fact remains that after spending approximately $70 billion since 1945, there is greater nationalism around the world than ever before in history. These expenditures and our help to other nations was supposed to have made us cooperate friends who would stand with us against the expansion and avowed domination by the Soviet Union. Such has not been the case, but seemingly our Government refuses to recognize the fact.

The fact is that we have deluded ourselves into believing that we can treat other nations as children, which has led them to believe that our resources are endless.

During the last session of congress the sum of $500,000,000 was authorized to be spent in Latin America. No comprehensive plan or blueprint was furnished—just a half billion dollars to help the economy and improve the standard of living. Our State Department officials are now coming before the Appropriations Committee for this sum. In response to the question as to whether additional funds will be requested, our State Department people assume that more money would be needed after this year.

They now indicate that the money will go for education, housing, well drilling and water supply, sanitation and numerous other projects. Presumably it will be done on a government basis, which means that the recipient government will actually spend the money. It is doubtful whether the people who supposedly benefit will know who their benefactor really is.

As has been pointed out in other statements, we propose to export a brand of Socialism to other countries which, by lip service, at least, is repugnant to our own system of government.

It seems to me that it is time we:

- (1) Put our own financial house in order; balance our budget; eliminate waste; stop inflation.
- (2) Insist that other nations who have had their economies restored assume their proportionate responsibility.
- (3) Reevaluate and revise our Reciprocal Trade Program.
- (4) Adopt tax reforms and other incentives to reduce the outflow of American business capital.

To sum up the situation, we should say that we are willing to be a friend and a partner, but that we will no longer be dupes.

REUNION IN A MANHOLE—Mrs. Carl Crive of Miami, Fla., throws her arms around her collie, Sherry. The dog was lost in the city sewers for almost a day.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Accidents rank third among the leading causes of death, but numerically claim far fewer lives than the two leading causes. About 92,000 persons died from accidents in the United States during 1960. In Texas last year, there were 5,430 accidental deaths, third only to heart diseases and cancer, based on 1960 provisional estimates compiled by the Records and Statistics Section of the State Health Department.

Texas' death rate from accidents was 56.4 per 100,000 population during 1960 compared to a 52.2 national accidental-death rate. However, 1960's rate was down from 57.9 the year before.

The lion's share of accidental deaths involve motor vehicle accidents. In Texas, last year about 2,240 persons were killed in automobile accidents.

Nationwide, there were 38,000 motor vehicle accident deaths in 1960—a few hundred more than in 1959.

The national rise reflects the increase in the amount of automobile travel. The motor vehicle accident death rate per 100 million miles of travel in 1960 may set an alltime low of approximately 5.3 nationwide — Texas' rate for 1958 and 1959.

In Texas, deaths from motor accidents actually dropped by about 190, with a corresponding drop in the rate from 26.9 per 100,000 population in 1959 to 24.5 for 1960. Accidents in and about the home took 26,500 lives in 1960, or an increase of approximately 500 for the entire nation.

Again the leading cause of home accidents was falls—most were same-level falls involving people in the older age groups.

Also of interest from the 1960 provisional death rate estimates is that suicides accounted for 820 Texas deaths for a rate of 8.5, the same as 1959.

Suicides cause more Texas deaths for a rate of 8.5, the same as 1959.

1960. The bill provides a priority. There is no question but what for use of a greater portion of the money in areas of greatest need that are least able to finance needed improvements.

The need for improving our public schools in Texas and across the nation is so great that we must have action at the local, state and national levels of government acting alone is likely to be able to meet the requirements, and all acting together are not likely to do too much.

Suicides cause more Texas deaths each year — during the last few years — than tuberculosis or influenza, both former leading causes 30 years ago.

Homicides claimed 695 deaths in Texas during 1960, slightly less than the year before. Accidents, suicides and homicides, while claiming too many Texas lives, still rank far down the list compared to "natural" causes numerically. Ralph Yarborough Report

Dear Fellow Texans: If the Congress passes President Kennedy's School Assistance Act of 1961, which I am co-sponsoring, our Texas schools boards will have an option to use $36,236,000 to strengthen schools for Texas boys and girls by:

- (1) constructing 979 new classrooms, or
- (2) increasing teacher and other instructional staff salaries by $412 per year, or
- (3) employing 7,768 additional teachers, or use portions of the funds for any of the purposes.

public schools in every state in the union will substantially strengthened and improved. The proposal specifically safeguards local control of schools. Under this bill, public schools in Texas would receive in the 1961-62 school year, funds totaling approximately $40,262,000. Of this amount, 10 percent would be used for educational research projects for either gifted students or handicapped pupils. The other $36,236,000 would be utilized in whatever manner the state and local school boards decided was the case of greatest need—for classroom construction, employment of additional teachers and other instructional staff members, or for both purposes. In the case of Texas, based on current construction costs and average teachers salaries, here is what the various school boards could do with the $36,236,000 at their discretion. If all this money were used for classroom construction, 979 new school rooms could be built. Our state currently has a shortage of 4,400 classrooms. If all the money were utilized to increase teachers' salaries (and teacher pay raises for teachers in Texas are long overdue) it would mean an increase in pay for teachers and other instructional staff members such as librarians and others of $412 a year. Thoughtful Texans, who believe Texas boys and girls should have schools attend to none, are not proud that Texas ranks in 43rd place in average salaries paid classroom teachers and ranks in 50th place in percent of salary increase provided teachers since

Plan Income Tax Dinner For Family

Economy is the keynote around April 15th, income tax day.

For the most part, homemakers are aware of this special day and try to plan easy-on-the-budget meals . . . ones low in dollar and cents but still high in nutritive value.

Meat, of course, is one of the most important items in the menu. There are many thrifty meat cuts which provide economical meals.
Reba Staggs, well versed in the field of meat and meat cookery, suggests just a few economy headliners . . . special dollar-saving meals for the days preceding April 15th.

Strips of salt pork can join lima beans in a baked casserole dish. It's a special treat when accompanied by brown bread and a vegetable salad.

Another delightful and easily-prepared pork dinner is Sausage Shortenke. To make this shortcake, two layers of corn bread are put together with hot pork sausage links between the layers and on top. This dish is served with a cream gravy. The sausages are precooked on top of the range or in the oven.

There are many beef cuts that may serve you, such as braised arm or blade steaks and cream gravy served with baked potatoes.

Ground beef is always a choice selection . . . for spaghetti dishes, hamburgers or as a stuffing for green peppers and other vegetables.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Club Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the short loin and is the smallest steak in that section. The tenderloin has practically disappeared. It contains the feather bone and may or may not contain part of the rib bone.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. It is usually broiled or pan-broiled. Club steaks cut 1 inch thick require 8 to 10 minutes per side for rare steak; 10 to 15 minutes per side for medium done steak. Steaks cut 1 inch thick are placed 2 inches from the heat and steaks cut 2 inches thick are placed 3 inches from the source of the heat.

Soil Testing Time Is Now

If your tractor engine began to fail, would you buy new spark plugs, points, a battery and a coil? You might, and it is possible that these new parts would remedy the situation. But suppose you bought all of these and were then told by a mechanic that all you needed was a new set of points.

The same situation exists with cropland for spring seeded crops. You're certain the soil needs fertilizer and lime, but you're not sure how much and what grades. Are you going to guess and take a chance on wasting money, or are you going to make a soil test and be sure?

W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, recommends that you make a soil test, and do it early. He said it is important to eliminate as much of the guesswork as possible, and soil testing will certainly help establish the amount and kind of fertilizer to use.

A sample may be taken any time soil moisture conditions permit, Bennett explains. By sending the samples to the laboratory now, farmers will avoid the last minute rush and be ready to seed their crops when the weather permits. They will also have the reassurance of knowing their crops have the necessary nutrients for maximum growth.
"Remember," concludes Bennett "Don't guess—Soil test."

Children Are Waterproof; But Their Clothes Are Not

BY EDNA MILES

Spring brings warm days, flowers, green grass and lots of rain. This means it's up to mom to keep the children warm and dry since they certainly won't think of it themselves.

In the interest of preventing colds as well as saving on clothes cleaning bills, equip each child with really adequate rainwear. This should include raincoat and matching bonnet as well as umbrella. All three come in those clear versions that are inexpensive but sturdy and practical. They do a really first-rate job of warding off showers.

To this trio, add a pair of rubbers, the new lightweight kind that eliminate weight and bulkiness. This new rubber is washable and dries instantly. All mom need do is hold it under the kitchen tap, then dry it with a paper towel. Further, it stretches to fit several shoe sizes so that she need not forever be buying new rubbers.

One other added advantage: a nonslip outsole to keep children safe on wet, slippery streets.

This child is ready for a rainy spring day in lightweight raincoat, bonnet and new, nonslip rubbers.
