Lake Sheldon Fishermen Take Fish Per Hour

The average fisherman on Lake Sheldon, near Houston, caught an average of almost a fish per hour of fishing, during the last season. This is revealed in a Game and Fish Commission report of Billy Cooper, fishery biologist who ran a check on the lake during the fishing period between April and October.

According to his report, the average fisherman spent 2.51 hours to catch 2.39 fish. The total per acre yield taken in all the public fishing amounted to 86 fish weighing 22 pounds. The total catch was estimated at 74,735 fish

Winds Affect Texas Waters

High winds have continued to harass fishermen on Texas waters, despite the fact that fish are ready to bite. Reports reaching the Game and Fish Commission from all parts of the state indicate lakes, streams and even coastal waters have been buffeted by the winds to such a degree that on most days fishing has been practically impossible.

"On the few days fishermen have been able to get out, they have come in with good strings," H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary, said. "The mackerel run already has begun on the coast. A few tarpon have been reported and trout and red fish have been hitting good when fishermen have been able to get on the water."

So far, there has been no heavy-draw-down on principal lakes of Texas, according to the monthly report of the U. S. Army Engineer Corps. The lakes have been holding their level very well for the past month. The Whitney water level was raised slightly, but others have remained practically unchanged.

Heavy rains could affect this situation almost overnight, however. West Texas lakes are down below their requirements right now, and heavy rains with considerable runoff are needed in such lakes as Lake Sweetwater, Lake J. B. Thomas at Snyder, and Champion Creek Lake at Colorado City.

weighing 10,453 pounds.

Sunfish were the most frequently caught species, making up 86 percent of the total catch. Large-mouth bass made up 8.57 percent with an estimated 7,379 fish weighing 9,346 or slightly over one pound each. There were 1,875 crappie taken. They weighed 765 pounds, or approximately one-half pound each.

Commission personnel interviewed 6,923 fishermen and checked 15,139 fish.

Lake Sheldon was first opened to public fishing four years ago, after it had been developed as a wildlife management project. A total kill removed rough fish from the lake and it was restocked with game fish. Fishing is permitted only from April to October each year. The remainder of the season, the area is a refuge for waterfowl.

Mrs. Robert Jackson spent two days last week in Abilene with her sister, Miss Thelma Smith, who had broken her arm.

Mrs. J. R. Rogers of Breckenridge visited her sister, Mrs. J. T. Garrell, Thursday

The Community Club met Thursday afternoon. Mrs. A. O. Templeton presided over the business meeting. The secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Joe Jackson, discussed our winning third place in the district in the achievement contest. Since this was the first try, the members thought more could be done another year and a vote was made to enter again. Projects to be undertaken will be further improvement of the yards of the club house, the church, and both cemeteries; more range improvement; and the building of a community playground. Friday night, May 12, which is the regular night for a Forty-Two Party at the Community Center, Fred Cross, County Agricultural Agent, will show a film on Civil Defense. Since this is a neglected subject, all should come. The cemetery working at Macedonia was well attended and much work was done, even though it came a heavy shower and hailed. Some of those attending from distant points were Mr. and Mrs. Austin Guess from Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bratton and John Bratton from Abilene, Tommy Guess and family from Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Templeton visited his brother and family, Vnn Templeton, at Quannah, Tuesday. Remember cemetery working at Mt. Zion next Saturday, May 13.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A pesky little insect, capable of going for months without food, is a sour note in the otherwise sweet sympathy of a Texas Spring. It's a soft-shelled tick, known scientifically as Ornithodoros turicata, transmitter of relapsing fever. This time of year they'll be out in force over most of Texas—at the very season when the natural human inclination is toward picnics and exploratory sojourns into the Great Outdoors. State Health Department entomologists say the pernicious, fever-laden parasites can bite, feed, release their hold and drop to the ground without their human victims ever knowing they have provided them with a blood meal. Many cases of relapsing fever undoubtedly occur in Texas without ever coming to official attention. Ticks pick up the germ while feeding on infected wild rodents, become infected themselves and then pass it on to humans during a feeding process. Soft-shelled ticks are close relatives of the hard-shelled ticks which spread spotted fever, tularemia, a type of encephalitis and other miseries. Public health workers handle ticks with great caution to avoid being bitten and exposed to the fever they might be carrying. Specimens are kept in a specially constructed tincture where, if one escapes, it will fall into an oil bath and be killed. State Health Department laboratory technicians over the years have added many refinements to diagnostic techniques relating to relapsing fever. The strange disease occurs all over the world, despite its being classified as a "tropical" disease. The onset of relapsing fever is characterized by chills and fever lasting for 24 to 36 hours. Then, just as the victim begins feeling better, he'll be stricken again. Recurring attacks might persist for weeks, each one leaving the patient weak and wrungout. Once successfully diagnosed, relapsing fever readily responds to modern treatment by a private physician. Soft-shelled ticks usually inhabit caves and old buildings, while their hard-shelled counterparts stick to woods and fields. Both types are actually occupational hazards for ranchers and foresters and people in similar lines of work. Soft-shelled ticks have been known to survive for seven months without food, so long vacancy of a vacation cottage is not insurance of freedom from ticks. So go ahead, have fun outdoors this Spring. But use plenty of insect repellent on exposed skin and on clothing. (A weekly feature from the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

Mother's Day At First Baptist Service Planned

Throughout the entire Sunday School at First Baptist Church there will be special recognition of the day set aside and known as "Mother's Day." Each department will likewise recognize those present and devotionals will be heard in many departments. The "Lord's Day and Mother's Day" are two significant days and should be recognized as a day of special worship. The pastor will bring a message using the theme, "A Special Day of Memories." Special music will be presented at the morning worship hour. The evening service will find the Rev. K. C. Edmonds bringing the message. The pastor will begin a revival in the Central Baptist Church in Brownwood and will return to the pulpit on May 21 for the evening service. Lee Russell, minister of music will give direction to the entire music program. A special invitation is extended to visitors a diocese who may be coming to our city for this special Mother's Day. The nursery will be open for the small children.

Vermeil is destined for a great future since Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy used nothing else on her table when she recently entertained over 200 "news hens" at a White House press luncheon.

What is Vermeil?

Vermeil (pronounced ver-may), is gold on top of sterling silver and it reached the peak of its popularity in the eighteenth century in France. Tiffany revived it four years ago and sophisticated hostesses have turned to it with enthusiasm.

Around the Campus

Freedom is a concept that Americans more or less take for granted, and very few people ever stop to ask themselves what freedom really means to them. Does it mean simply the privilege of not having to worry about being under a dictator's rule, or does it signify more than that?

Freedom, taken apart letter by letter, could well mean the following in our daily lives, according to Ranger Junior College Journalism students:

- F could mean the franchise, or the privilege of voting for whom we please without anyone's putting pressure on us.
- R stands for republic, which provides for religious freedom, for representation in making laws, and for rights, grants given to us as individual citizens.
- E could mean education, for in the United States opportunity for an education in the field of one's choice is unlimited. It also means exercising the privileges of citizenship, such as that guaranteed under the system of free enterprise which allows us to make as much money as we are able to make.
- E could also stand for the economies of government as well as of industry.
- D symbolizes democracy. People often do not realize the importance of a democracy until they live under a dictatorship. We American people live under a democratic way of life enjoy the freedoms of press, speech, religion, and enterprise, whereas people in Communist countries do not have the privilege of such freedoms.

O stands for opportunity, for in a democracy one has unlimited opportunity to choose his own occupation, religion, party-affiliation, and friends—in other words, the pursuit of happiness. It could be for morality, the moral ideals for which we stand, and for the morale offered by the democratic way of life.

Take freedom apart letter by letter and see what freedom means to you.

YOUR Independent AGENT
"SERVES YOU FIRST"

A good policy to follow!

Walking to my office the other day I passed by the stores and offices of the people in this community with whom I do business. I could not help but think how fortunate it is to have, so conveniently available, most of the services and help needed in our daily existence and provided by those whom we know and trust as friends and neighbors.

It made me feel good to realize that in my job as an insurance man I too contribute to the convenience and welfare of the members of this community.

I realize that in doing business with people who are close to you and whom you know, there is that personal touch and interest which cannot be obtained from distantly located strangers. For that reason and the fact that it will increase the prosperity of our community and ourselves, I believe in the policy of buying from your neighbors.
