IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

LAWYERS OF THE SEA

Sea law is one of the oldest branches of law. Venturing seamen have needed recorded rules to govern their affairs. For it's lonely out at sea with no one around to hear your complaints. This law became "admiralty" law, and it goes back to about 900 B. C. One of the early rules of the sea — dealing with jettison — is still part of today's laws: If one needs to save a ship in a storm by casting your cargo overboard, the ship and the remaining cargo owners all must chip in to pay the loss incurred for the common safety. Nations needed uniformity in sea law since commerce is international. Seamen's customers from all the nations became written into laws. Nations have agreed to make the laws largely uniform. Only the federal courts can hear admiralty cases. Many American court decisions refer to sea law as the law of all nations. In this admiralty differs from the land-lubber laws. For example: When two ships collide, both owners could be negligent and, if so, the damages will be apportioned depending on the degree of blame. But not on land. Here if you are even slightly negligent you lose your right to damages.

On the high seas seamen have long been subject to strict powers by the captain. An employer on land has far less power over his workers. In the early days employers often abused seamen until special federal laws were passed to protect seamen's wages, a set standards for their employment, and to pay them if they were injured at sea.

Admiralty law also gives the ship its own personality. It becomes a legal entity something like incorporation.

A ship has rights. It takes with it the law of the flag it sails under.

Persons who go out to save a ship from peril are entitled to a "salvage" award for their efforts. A special federal court sits for admiralty cases and has power over civil and criminal cases arising out of activities connected with the high seas. An admiralty court settles the disputes over contracts as well as personal injury cases that arise on the high seas, and on navigable inland waters, lakes and rivers, if connected with navigation.

(This new feature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Dividers Helpful In Freezer Storage

Whether you can or freeze fruits, vegetables and other foods, there's a space-saving, work-saving device that will be a real boon. The low cost item, available at lumber yards or in the stockpile of the farm workshop, is Masonite 1/8" Tempered Hardboard.

Because neither extreme heat nor sub-zero cold will affect it, this hardboard has some excellent uses at harvest time. Its smooth, splinter-free surface is kind to homemaker's hands, too, and its durability is unquestioned. Being thin, the hardboard takes up scarcely any room, either.

In the home freezer, use this 1/8" hardboard as vertical dividers or as pull-out shelves or trays in either upright or chest models. Just round the corners and edges slightly with a sand-block or file, and bore a hole near the front edge for a finger pull. When used as trays, handholds cut out with a jigsaw or Keyhole saw will make their handling easy.

You can really organize your freezer's contents with a series of trays made of Masonite hardboard and staked, with their contents, one atop another. In this way, the homemaker readily can segregate packages of peas and beans for example. On the surface of the tray, near the exposed edge, use chalk to mark the contents, so they can be determined at a glance.

An added advantage of the dividers and portable shelves is that frost will settle on them, and it's a simple matter to defrost them.

The home canner will find the Masonite tempered hardboard useful in several ways. It's ideal for cooling jars, for example. The same board then can be used for carrying the jars to the pantry or fruit cellar; in fact, it can be used for a portable shelf, so that like products will be stored together, one trayload resting on the jars below.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Thomas Jefferson said, "Every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle." In this thought lies the strength of our great Democracy which rests on the basic concept of freedom of religion, of speech and of the public press.

Our Nation was founded on this concept, and particularly since Jefferson's time, our Nation has advanced under it.

Labels have always been popular in identifying philosophies to which individuals and groups subscribe. Eugene Lyons in his recent book attempted a definition of a "conservative." "A conservative," he said, "is one who seeks to conserve the true and tried values of his particular society. He has a wholesome respect for tradition as the repository of the people's experience. He regards change as in the nature of life itself and for that reason wants it slow, systematic, and natural. The life of mankind," he recognizes, "is an ordered growth, not a series of wild, explosive jumps. The fact that conservatism is so often confused with 'reaction' is merely a triumph of dogmatic propaganda. Because the whole tradition of America is liberal, an American conservative is in the final analysis the guardian of genuine liberalism."

There was a time in our system of government, as there was with the British, when the term "conservative" and "liberal" meant about the opposite of what it does today. Out of the British system came the Labor Party and the Conservative Parties. Although the definition of the attitudes prevalent in this country have been somewhat reversed from its original meaning, it still depends on what part of the country one comes from and how the terms are interpreted.

A Conservative in Jefferson's day wished to conserve power to a central government. A liberal in the sense used at that time, was a States' rights. The liberal believed that power should not be concentrated in the Federal Government, but reposed in the people it represented.

The paradoxes in the Congress have never been in more evidence than at the present time. The extremes are found in both Parties. Not all Republicans are conservative, and all Democrats are not liberal, and vice versa.

As labels are applied, the Republican Senators from New York and New Jersey are seemingly as "liberal" as any in the entire Congress. Varying in degree, the record of those Senators from Kentucky, who are Republicans, are liberal in comparison to their neighbors. The contrast is political philosophies is to be found in the crossing of State lines in many places. Arizona and New Mexico compare favorably in Party numbers, but evidently Arizona is considerably more conservative than New Mexico.

The point is that labels do not always fit, and it depends on who is making the definition, and to whom and in what area it is applied.

Gorman Gatherings

Hankings Homecoming Held
The Hankings Normal College Ex-Students Association met June 4 in the Gorman High School auditorium for their annual homecoming.

President Alvin Crowley, wife, and Roscoe Reeves greeted guests for the day. Registration began at 8:30 a.m. with Mrs. Clara Townsen Cockrill and Mrs. Florence Summitt Underwood ready with identification tags for every-

After an hour and half of visiting, the house was called to order by the president after which the audience sang "America, the Beautiful" led by Trimble Sprattling and accompanied by Mrs. Pearl Duncan at the piano.

Rev. Frank Phillips of Sinton gave the invocation followed by the welcome address given by John S. Kimble. Clyde Speer of Breckenridge gave the response.

The program of business followed. Committees were appointed and the minutes read and approved. Mrs. E. E. Boucher gave the treasurer's report on the Memorial Marker: $482.12 had been given and all expenses paid on the erection of the marker. An additional expense for moving an electric light pole and water piped to the lot for care of the evergreens. A free will offering brought more than enough to cover everything with the exception of the water piping which was $35. Gaylord and Weldon Hankins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hankins, donated this amount. The gift was appreciated by all. Water will be piped in as soon as the city can get the time to put it in.

Approximately 100 students and some 20 or more visitors attended the homecoming.

"What A Friend We Have In Jesus" was led by Trimble Sprattling of Smithville accompanied by Mrs. Duncan, who then gave a reading from Kipling.

FOUR ARMY CHAPLAINS who sacrificed their lives when they gave their life jackets to other servicemen aboard the sinking troop transport DORCHESTER during World War II, are the subject of a permanent life-sized display at the Wax Museum in Washington, D. C. This realistic scene completed in March 1959, occupies a prominent section of the museum. Portrayed are, left to right: a serviceman leaving the ship; Rabbi Alexander D. Goode, York, Pa.; Reverend George L. Fox, Filman, Va.; Reverend Clark V. Poling, Shenectady, N. Y. and Father John P. Washington, Arlington, N. J. A special Medal for Heroism was posthumously awarded the chaplains by the Army in January of this year.

Gaylord and Weldon Hankins unveiled the monument and Plessie Kilgore of Bloomfield, N. M. and Susan Hite of San Antonio placed the basket of white and orchid asters on the marker.

Mrs. Rosa Boucher presented the marker to President Crowley who in turn presented it to Rev. Lightfoot. The memorial was dedicated to the memory of the founders of the college, J. F. and J. H. Hankins.

Following the dedication, Rev. Henry Littleton dismissed the audience with prayer.

National Farm Safety Week July 23-29

The period from July 23-29 has been designated as National Farm Safety Week by a proclamation released by President Kennedy.

The President called attention to the fact that more than a million farm residents are injured and thousands are killed each year in accidents and that these accidents bring suffering and sorrow to our farm families and inflict heavy economic losses upon both the farm community and nation. The safety of these people, he continued, who produce our food is of vital concern to all our citizens.

President Kennedy is urging all persons and organizations interested in the safety of farm people to support and participate in this special endeavor to help reduce the number of farm accidents. He asked farm residents to remember that "Safety is a Family Affair."

In Texas, plans are going forward for the observance of the Week, reports the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. In many counties extensive programs will be carried out, emphasizing that safety is a family affair. County extension agents, 4-H Club members and their leaders, farm and community organization leaders and others with a deep interest in the promotion will contribute to the overall plans.

The Councilmen said that in many counties a different phase of farm and home safety would be emphasized each day during the week: Sunday, reverence for life; Monday, safety begins at home; Tuesday, Agricultural Chemicals; Wednesday, prevent falls; Thursday, highway safety; Friday, farm machinery and Saturday, recreation safety.

The failure of rural people to observe safety in their daily living is a chief contributor to their safety. The Council said this record includes a disabling injury accident every 32 seconds and a death every 45 minutes to farm residents of the nation. The Council concludes it is time to stop this needless waste from accidents since most could be prevented.

All Day Singing

There will be an all day singing at Gorman June 18 with lunch on the ground at 12:30.

H. A. Tyrone urged all singers to attend the singing. He said several quartets and song directors will be present.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

AUSTIN—When little Johnny swallows a tack and cheerfully burps, "All gone," the thing for Mother to remember is this: Don't urge your doctor to operate if he thinks it is unnecessary.

According to the late Dr. J. Edward Johnson of Austin, hardware of this kind that gets to the stomach usually will pass without harm. The Texas Medical Association's publication, The Texas State Journal of Medicine, published Dr. Johnson's article in its May issue.

Dr. Johnson had good reasons for his "wait and see" policy toward small patients who accidentally ate sharp shiny things. He spent some years at the Terrell State Hospital, where as director of the x-ray department he made fluoroscopic studies of patients who had swallowed an array of more than 100 straight pins, several quarts and even a large nail. No treatment was given, but the patients' stools were strained. Nurses recovered as many as 90 pins from one patient in one 24 hour period. No bleeding or pain occurred.

For years, Dr. Johnson kept these x-ray to show to frightened mothers whose children had swallowed pennies, buttons, tacks, and pins. One woman, whose son had swallowed a chicken wire staple, reported recovery of the object about three days later. The child showed signs of discomfort.

"The esophagus undoubtedly is the most dangerous area," wrote Dr. Johnson. "Fortunately, if an object lodges there symptoms will indicate danger, and removal by instruments usually (make surgery unnecessary)."

Look At it This Way-

If the Seller says he has a good title and furnishing an abstract is not necessary, he is wrong, of course. But if he were not, then the Buyer is entitled to a reduction in the sales price for a sum equal to the cost of an abstract. The abstract is considered as much a part of the assets of sale as the land and improvements. And every buyer of real estate is entitled to an abstract or its equivalent in cash.

Sweet sauces add zip to the simple ice-cream desserts of summer. Here is a brand-new quick method to make them, right in front of guests, if you like.

Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce, for instance, derives from semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the same famous nuggets that go into Toll House Cookies. Because of their diminutive size, the semi-sweet chocolate morsels melt in a jiffy, and can be used in a variety of baked goods, confections, and frostings.

The new method for making dessert sauces calls for an electric buffet fry pan. The electric fry pan is preheated to 300°F, then the temperature control is turned to "off" to make the sauce.

Once the sauce is made, you'll find many imaginative uses for it. Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce adds its luscious, delectable flavor, for instance, to sundaees. They can be topped with whipped cream, mint bonbons, a dollop of marshmallow, or a maraschino cherry, to name a few variations. The sauce goes equally well on sponge-cake angel cake, or any other plain cake. It also glamorizes vanilla, tapioca and chocolate puddings.

During the hot weather, when the living is easy, dessert sauces made in the electric buffet fry pan are simple, convenient... and delicious.

Speedy Chocolate-Nut Sauce
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels 1/2 cup butter or margarine 1 cup coarsely chopped nuts

Preheat electric fry pan to 300°F. Turn temperature control to OFF. Melt butter in fry pan. Add chocolate morsels and nuts; stir until chocolate is melted. Serve warm over ice cream or cake. Yield: 1 1/4 cups.

The waistline dropped to a point in the front. Her waist length veil was held by a crown of seeded pearls and sequines and was bordered with a wide band of matching organza lace.

For the ceremony Mrs. Savage, mother of the bride, wore an Ecru nylon lace dress with white carnations. Mrs. Chaney wore a beige lace dress with white carnations.
