ELKS QUARTERS ARE INSPECTED

ROOMS THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AND VISITED BY MANY.

EQUIPMENT IS SUPERB

Quarters Furnished Handsomely and Completely—Members Proud of Their Work.

The new home of the Wichita Falls lodge of Elks No. 1105, was thrown open to the inspection of the public yesterday afternoon and many Wichitans availed themselves of the opportunity to look the lodge's quarters over. All were surprised and delighted at the completeness of the equipment and the beauty of the furnishings.

The rooms are situated over the new Anderson building between Indiana and Ohio avenues on Eighth street. At the foot of the steps near the entrance is a large elk's head, done in mosaic tiling.

The rooms are furnished throughout in mission style, stained dark, giving the apartments a quaint but attractive air. In the south end of the floor is the reading room. Here are writing desks, reading tables with the latest periodicals, lounges and everything calculated to contribute to the comfort of the members. The walls are adorned with pictures, few, but carefully selected.

At the other end of the floor is the lodge hall, a large and airy room, with an extra high roof. Around the walls are arranged the chairs with elevated seats for the officers of the order. The floor is waxed and is as smooth as glass. Between the two large rooms are the billiard and pool rooms, toilet and dressing rooms and the hall. All are furnished handsomely and completely and nothing seems to be lacking. The rooms are well lighted and provisions are made for heating them in cold weather.

In fitting their rooms, the members of the lodge seem to have done things in the true Wichita Way and their efforts need no further commendation.

NEGRO TRIES TO CONDUCT HIS OWN CASE IN COURT.

Paul Bogan, the negro who was convicted of assault to murder yesterday and given five years, refused to employ an attorney, choosing to conduct his own case. Paul didn't do much as a lawyer, but he kept the court room crowd amused. When on the stand, District Attorney Martin forced him to admit that he was an ex-convict.

"What were you sent up for?" he was asked.

"For getting cattle under false pretenses," was the reply.

District Attorney Martin did not make a speech allowing the case to go on the facts. Paul also declined, saying he didn't believe he was any more of a speech maker than the district attorney was.

FAKE LOAN AGENT IS MISSING FROM HOUSTON

Texas News Service Special. Houston, Tex., July 2.—With the postal authorities holding up his mail and hundreds of investors and applicants for loans anxious about his whereabouts, J. J. Jones, who represented himself as the agent of the Prudential Investment Company of San Antonio, has disappeared. Several weeks ago he rented an office here and advertised in the country papers throughout the State to loan money on low rates. Applications for a loan however, must be accompanied by thirteen dollars, an additional thirteen dollars to be paid when the loan was completed. It cannot be learned that Jones made a single loan. He has been missing since Friday, when he drew his money from the bank and left the city. The San Antonio offices of the company declare that Jones was not their agent.

OFFICIALS REFUSE TO DISCUSS KING

INDICTED BRANCH BANK OFFICIAL HAD NOT LEFT CITY AND WAS QUICKLY FOUND.

FIVE THOUSAND BOND

Detective Atch Corwin of Austin is Believed to Have Unraveled the Mystery.

Texas News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., July 2.—The officials of the Waggoner Bank and Trust Company this morning declined to make any statement relative to the indictment of Walter King, formerly cashier of the branch bank which is alleged to have been robbed by a lone bandit last week. They would say nothing further than that King's accounts balanced perfectly.

Shortly after the warrants were issued for him yesterday, King appeared at the court house, where his bond was fixed at five thousand dollars. This was furnished at once, with John P. King, Brown Harwood, E. L. Rodgers and W. A. Hanger as securities.

King's indictment is understood to have been brought about by Atch Corwin of Austin, detective for the Texas Bankers' Association, who told the local detectives before leaving the city that the missing money was in the safe and that it was useless to send out any more circulars or telegrams.

It was reported yesterday that King had disappeared, but this was found erroneous. His indictment did not cause as much surprise as might have been expected, as there had been rumors of it.

On motion of the defendant's attorneys this morning, the case of Walter King was transferred from the Forty-eighth to the Seventeenth district court, the latter's docket being less crowded. It is believed that the defendant's attorneys will make an effort for an early trial and he is confident of acquittal.

LEON LING'S BODY IS BELIEVED FOUND

CORPSE FOUND FLOATING IN THE HUDSON PRACTICALLY IDENTIFIED AS CHINAMAN'S.

MYSTERY SEEMS SOLVED

Police Now at Work on Theory That Both Leon and Giori Died From Poison.

By Associated Press. New York, July 2.—The body of a Chinaman, now believed to be Leon Ling, was found in the Hudson river last night, having evidently been dead a week. There were evidences of poisoning.

Newspaper reporters who viewed the body today were positive in their identification and further efforts will be made to establish the identity of the corpse.

In height, weight, complexion and physical peculiarities, the body conforms to those attributed to the alleged murderer of Elsie Siegel and there is not much room for doubt that the bloody mystery is nearing its solution.

The body was found floating near the Riverdale dock by a young man and woman in a motor boat. They immediately notified the police. The theory is now advanced that Elsie Siegel was poisoned before being strangled and it is possible that her remains will be exhumed to permit an investigation of this hypothesis.

Late this afternoon the hopes of the police were considerably dampened by the statement of a physician that the body was that of a sixteen-year-old boy, discolored by long immersion in the water.

GOVERNOR IS CONDEMNED FOR HIS BUTT-IN STUNT.

Austin, Tex., July 2.—Severe condemnation is being heard from railroad people and others of what is termed the governor's unwarranted interference in the plans of the Santa Fe in building the Coleman extension. On the other hand, there are some who contend that the governor had a perfect right to interfere if he believes that an attempt was made to kill established towns in the interest of new localities to be built up by the railroads, they thereby profiting by the sale of the lands.

The governor has been invited to make a trip over the proposed route and may accept.

At the Indian office, the murder of Wylie is held to be purely political and there are known to be many Indian students who are members of societies conducting a campaign of sedition and anarchy in India.

The killing was done with a six-shooter and the two men were shot down without warning as they sat in the Institute listening to the program.

JAIL BONDS ARE TO BE VOTED ON AGAIN

ISSUE DISAPPROVED BY ATTORNEY GENERAL ON ACCOUNT OF WORD 'EQUIP.'

ELECTION NEXT MONTH

Twenty Thousand Dollar Issue is to Be Voted on August 3rd—No Opposition Expected.

Because the election notice stated that the bonds would be used to 'erect and equip' a new county jail, the jail bonds voted not long ago by Wichita county have been disapproved by the attorney general and another election must be held. County Judge Yeager posted notices this morning, and the election will be held next month, on the same day that the constitutional amendments are voted on.

The attorney general, in disapproving the bonds, states that there is nothing in the statutes authorizing the issuance of bonds to equip jails and the putting of the word 'equip' in the election notice was a fatal error.

Fifteen thousand dollars in bonds was voted at the previous election, but an issue of twenty thousand will be voted next month, the additional five thousand being deemed necessary for the proper kind of building.

The disapproval of the bonds upon such a technicality may seem to indicate a hypercritical attitude on the part of the attorney general's department, but it must be remembered that the responsibilities of the department are great in these matters.

It is not believed that there will be any marked opposition to the new bond issue and the county authorities hope to see it go through without any trouble. The election will be held on August 3.

Wichita county values for 1909 will be close to the eleven million mark, according to present indications, being less than a million increase over last year. The exact figures will not be available until after the county commissioners have again sat as a board of equalization and heard the complaints of those whose valuations were increased. It is believed, however, that the totals will be close to the eleven million mark.

THINKS OKLAHOMA CLUBS WILL STAY

SEC'Y GOHLKE TAKES STEPS TO PREVENT DISORGANIZATION OF ASSOCIATION.

LAWTON MAN IS ACTIVE

Is Trying to Organize Oklahoma Clubs Separately, But Efforts Are Not Being Encouraged.

The letter below is being sent out to the Oklahoma members of the Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma Association of Commercial Clubs, following the effort of the Lawton secretary to organize an association of his own. Secretary Gohlke does not fancy seeing his labors in this connection go for naught and in the following letter says several things:

"Dear Sir—By separate mail I am sending you a copy of constitution and by-laws and other details which are self-explanatory.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that a newspaper item emanating from Lawton, Oklahoma, states that the Lawton representative at the Mangum meeting returned home and recommended that Lawton should not affiliate with the Texas-Oklahoma federation of clubs on the grounds that the small towns would receive proportionately more value than Lawton would for the money expended; also that Lawton should authorize him to form a federation of Southwest Oklahoma clubs said towns to withdraw from the Texas-Oklahoma federation. A meeting, the article states, is called for July 12th at Lawton.

"In answer to this I have to say that Wichita Falls is willing to pay $50 monthly and that it is willing to accept as little space in the booklet as the least; that the undersigned is capable of managing a district association having given five years of exclusive time to exploitation and organization work and that my salary is double that of the aforesaid secretary at Lawton which I submit as one evidence of ability. Further, it is my judgment that a federation of States gives more prestige than that of a section in one State, and last, but not least, is the fact that the gentleman from Lawton, by his own statement in a newspaper, admits in substance that while an invited guest at Mangum and endorsing the federation that he busied himself on the quiet with lining up opposition to this association by conferring with other Oklahoma representatives, and he certainly did not extend the courtesy to the organization that would seem proper under the circumstances. However, this is a business proposition and not one of sentiment, and if, in your judgment, your club thinks it advisable to withdraw from the Texas-Oklahoma organization, I shall gracefully defer to the judgment of the majority. Kindly give me your frank views in the matter, although I will believe, until otherwise notified, that the opposition will not be entertained for a moment by your club. As evidence of this, I have forwarded advertising to middle State newspapers, specifying that thirty towns in Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma would furnish the homeseeker the opportunity to fit his requirements. Sincerely, F. H. GOHLKE, Sec'y.

In 1900 he declined a nomination for the legislature and a short time afterward removed to Savannah. In 1906 he was sent to congress by the democrats of the First district and two years later he was re-elected by an overwhelming majority. When he first took his seat in the National house of representatives he had the distinction of being one of the youngest members of that body.

Georgia's State Chemist Praaises Cottolene.

Mr. J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering gave emphatic testimony to the high quality of Cottolene. He said:

"The sale of this product, and the proclamation that it is made from cotton seed oil, have done more to bring cotton seed oil truthfully and favorably before the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out why a pure refined vegetable oil base, such as is used in Cottolene, is the only assurance a woman has of a clean, digestible cooking product.

Patronize Home Industry. Wichita Falls, Tex., July 1.—Mr. Editor: Please give us a little space in your excellent paper, the Daily Times. 'Reason No. 1' dropped into our hands yesterday, and we want to say 'Amen and Amen.'

No use to argue the value of organized and united effort, nor of home patronage. We wish every business and laboring man could set aside his own selfishness a little while and ponder the stupendous effects of organized action, in helping his fellow men in all lines of business.

We are proud of the fact that a large per cent of our people have big, open hearts—believers in organized effort and co-operative action for benefit. The Chamber of Commerce is pulling for the upbuilding of our splendid town and for fostering its worthy institutions, while the Merchants' Association is for bettering the commercial interests. The labor unions, about which we want to speak more extensively, are and have been for years using their best efforts to elevate their trades and better the conditions of their members—improving the quality and increasing the quantity per diem of the work of their members. The Pastors' Association is a potent factor in providing sobriety, morality and truth among us. It would certainly appear cruel and base for any citizen or set of men to be found trying to impede the progress of these several organizations or wreck and destroy the good work already accomplished. The big-hearted feel proud of the splendid improvements wrought in our city through the Chamber of Commerce, of the good work of the merchants' and pastors' associations, and of the vast improvements in the moral and financial conditions as well as the efficiency of the work of the members of the labor unions; having secured fewer hours for work, they have more time to read and otherwise enlighten their minds, cultivating their taste and improving their morals and sociality. By reason of securing better wages, many of them are buying homes and becoming permanent citizens, able to neatly attire their children to attend church and school. We desire and expect each industry of our city to make a good profit on the commodities they raise, manufacture or sell, and we advocate good prices in all lines. We want to spend our earnings at home, help bear the burden of taxation and support our public institutions.

But how can we gratify our wishes and perform our purposes if our officials and citizens here at home refuse to patronize home labor—send abroad for architectural work for their buildings, and letting the erection of them to contractors of other towns who will most likely bring their own men to do the most important work, while our home contractors and workmen perhaps will go idle or seek employment out of town. Again, we find men employed in the city doing our work and receiving encouragement who have not nor ever will contribute to the advancement of labor—will not co-operate with any organization, but at every opportunity endeavor to tear down the good work that the unions have inaugurated and secured, although they themselves are enjoying the benefits thereof. They are from choice non-union men: But unfortunately, there is still a lower class employed here, who have taken a solemn pledge to the unions and have wilfully violated it, and are also trying to destroy the work they obligated themselves to assist in. They are denominated in New York and a few other towns as 'scabs.' Will the good people of Wichita Falls furnish these destroyers of virtue with employment to the detriment of those who are trying to better their fellow workers?

We want to say a word about our union contractors, or rather, those who employ union men. Let any unbiased man go over this town and compare the work of union contractors with that done by non-union contractors. The work and material is far superior. Will the good people of Wichita Falls refuse to co-operate with our unions, and thus retard their good work by encouraging selfish visitors to take our work from us and carry the money away when they go? A large per cent of the new comers, I am proud to say, who want to follow the trades, hunt up the unions they wish to affiliate with, deposit their cards, pay dues or initiation fee and go to work fair. These are generally good substantial men, and we love to see them get work.

We will now conclude by saying that if the good people of this city will patronize the co-operative elements of the town and the home contractors, very few men will get away with hard cash to the serious loss of owners.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS TO BE IN SESSION AT SEATTLE.

Seattle, Wash., July 2.—Seattle is preparing to entertain an enormous crowd of visitors next week on the occasion of the Eighth International Convention of the Epworth League. The league is the largest denominational society of young people in the world and its conventions attract thousands of delegates and visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada and from foreign countries as well. The convention will have its formal opening next Thursday. The official program covers four days of song and service meetings, but the diversions and instructions will be extended several days longer. An attendance of from ten to fifteen thousand is expected. Special trains for the visitors will be run through from Boston, New York, San Francisco and other points. Elaborate plans are being made for the entertainment of the visitors. Never before have the Methodists of the northwest taken such interest in a religious event.

The president of the league is, Bishop W. A. Quayle of Oklahoma City, who will preside at the main sessions of the convention. A number of other bishops of the M. E. Church will take part, among them Bishop E. R. Hendrix of Kansas City, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco, Bishop W. H. Warren of Denver and Bishop William F. Anderson of Chattanooga.

The list of lay speakers is headed by Senator H. L. Bristow of Kansas, who will speak on the subject, 'Christ Enthroned in the Political Life of the Nation.' Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington will be another prominent speaker.

The convention will have more than the usual number of musical features. These will include two public performances of the oratorio 'Elijah,' to be given at the opening and closing nights of the convention.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
—Tonight and Saturday, partly cloudy weather.

Patterson's shipments of eggs continue to average about a car a day. A car of eggs is worth about $2,000, so the value of his shipments of eggs alone amounts to something like $50,000 a month.—Greenville Herald.

This is a big sum to come into one town a month for this popular product of the helpful hen and it is worth much to a town to have such a hustling firm. The poultry business looks like an insignificant one, so insignificant that some grown men think it beneath their dignity to engage in it, but will work like a slave for ten months in the year to produce one bale of cotton, the value of which has been spent before the cotton is marketed. The lay of the hen is a wonderful song and needs to be heard by more people.—Wills Point Chronicle.

The same concern has a house in this city and to this is attributed the high price of poultry and eggs in this country. It used to be that twenty cents would buy a nice fryer, but now if one secures three for a dollar he is lucky. This firm ships poultry yard products in carload lots directly to New York and other large cities.

The people of Abilene have gone to work on the railroad situation in a way that is making us stand up in admiration. The Santa Fe cut-off has missed our neighbor, a great misfortune. But instead of sinking down and giving up, those folks have been aroused in a way that is going to result in something. A railroad mass meeting was attended by nearly everybody in town and all business houses closed. A company with a capital of $500,000 will be formed stock to be taken by citizens. Then short roads will be built out into tributary territory, much as Wichita Falls has done. Nothing like enterprise.—Baylor County Banner.

Wichita Falls didn't build her roads because she had a grouch, but because she wanted the roads and was willing to put up the money to get them. That is the Wichita Way.

Don't worry. George Clark has been in politics too long to run for Governor next year.

Home industry clubs and labor unions cannot very well work in harmony together so long as the latter insist upon having the union label upon all their supplies. It is often the case that concerns which make a business of turning out the identical goods needed and which are used by labor unions and employ union men to do their work, but because these concerns have not a sufficient amount of work to give employment to the requisite number of men to form a union and hold a charter, the labor organizations refuse to patronize them. By pursuing this course, labor organizations are contributing their mite to build up the larger concerns in the larger cities to the detriment of the smaller concerns in smaller towns which in some instances, at least, give employment to union labor.

Paris is indeed fortunate. The Southwestern Telephone Company has reduced the rentals on residence phones from $2 to $1.50 per month. Just recently the same company raised the rate in Wichita Falls on the same class of phones from $1.50 to $2 per month. The dispatch did not say why the reduction was made.

According to a statement recently made by the State receiver for the Walters-Pierce oil company, it will require at least ten months to get an inventory of the company's property. Wonder if that $1000 per month salary is the cause for taking ten months to do a job which under ordinary circumstances could be done in one month?

There is nothing new under the sun. That St. Louis flat that will admit no families without children is some years behind the Wichita Falls man who erected a row of rent houses with the same rule.

We can see some reason in the demand for simpler court procedure when a man convicted for murder on his sixth trial, moved for a new trial and again appeals to the higher court.

The chances are that if Peary ever discovers the north pole he will find a sign board nailed up on it telling him to be sure and buy one of those dollar ninety-eight straw hats at Bunkum's.

The mosquito which was reported to be at large in Wichita Falls several days ago has disappeared and is presumed to have gone back to its South Texas haunts.

No one realizes the truth of the saying, "in poverty there is happiness" until the first of the month when the bill collectors begin to drop in.

The Austin prize fight investigation cost $250; the Tyler lynching cost probably twice as much. Results none. The people pay.

Too bad the Wright boys couldn't fly, but they have one consolation. They can still come to Wichita and ride on our car line.

Leon Ling was civilized, but he followed the advice of the famous old Chin—'No pushee, no pullee, allee samee runee like hellee.'

We had forgotten it but it's a fact that there are some other towns in West Texas besides Abilene.

It's all right to swat the fly, but it wouldn't hurt to swat the tax dodger a few at this time of the year.

Cheaper gas means more factories in Wichita. Let's get it.

The Art of Keeping Well

We never fully appreciate health until we lose it and then we think what we would not do if we were well again.

Why not think of that before we get sick and do a little preventative work, especially at this season of the year, when it is so easy to fall a victim of our own stomach.

A glass of diluted grape juice taken several times a day will do a great deal towards warding off blood troubles and stomach disorders. We are sure you would rather pay a small grape juice bill than a big doctor's bill.

We sell Welch's Grape Juice at 25c, 50c and 90c per bottle. We recommend and you will appreciate the 90c bottle.

Are You a Lard Eater?

Half the time when a person feels blue and out of sorts you may take it for granted that he is a victim of the "lard habit." Lard-cooked food and good stomachs are never friends for long. Lard food is not healthful food and no ordinary stomach can thoroughly digest it.

Lard comes from the pig-sty; Cottolene from the cotton fields of the Sunny South. Lard is greasy, indigestible, and sometimes absolutely harmful; Cottolene makes food digestible, nutritious, delicious. Cottolene is the perfect shortening and frying medium. It is pure and healthful. It contains not an ounce of hog-fat.

Cottolene is today in use by thousands of housewives who would no more think of going back to lard than they would of reverting to tallow dips for lighting their homes.

Cottolene is one of the products which pure food advocates always endorse.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

WOMAN'S WOES

A Certain Cure for Female Trouble and That Tired, Nervous, Depressed Feeling That Makes Household Work a Dreary Burden.

Work, work; Nothing but work; Tiresome drudgery! Work used to be a pleasure, but now a few minutes effort leaves you weak, discouraged and irritable with a feeling that everything has gone wrong.

The liver and bowels are responsible for this.

The symptoms are, heart palpitation, faintness, suppressed, excessive or irregular periods, bad digestion, bearing down pains in the side and back, nervous weakness, poor appetite, costiveness.

Prickly Ash Bitters sweeps away these troubles like magic, because it strikes at the root of the disease—the stomach, liver and bowels.

Women who take medicine for female troubles that does not benefit these organs are wasting money and valuable time. The liver is diseased because the stomach is unhealthy, and both have produced a constipated habit. This stoppage of healthy action in the liver and bowels has filled the system with impurities which have brought on irregularity in the female organs; it follows therefore, that a medicine which will correct the liver, strengthen the stomach and promote healthy bowel operations is the remedy for menstrual difficulties.

The poor, tired, discouraged woman who has suffered silently and so long with the ailments of her sex soon feels the strengthening and exhilarating influence of Prickly Ash Bitters. It does its work thoroughly, beginning with the stomach and extending its purifying and stimulating influence to the liver and bowels. When the stomach, liver and bowels are active and working in harmony, there must be health and regularity in the female organs. As a result of this improved condition the patient takes a renewed interest in her household duties. Appetite and strength return, the eyes are brighter, the complexion clears, and before long she is transformed into a bright, happy woman with rosy cheeks and cheerful spirits.

"I suffered much from indigestion and constipation. I had a drowsy tired feeling and nervous headaches all the time. I began taking Prickly Ash Bitters and it has helped me wonderfully. I now have a good appetite, sleep well and can do a greater amount of work than ever before."

The precinct is in the heart of Louisville's most fashionable section and at present there is not a saloon in its boundaries. SPANISH PRETENDER IS NEAR DEATH IN ITALY.

Madrid, Spain, July 2.—The news that Don Carlos, the pretender to the throne of Spain, is incurably ill in Italy has been received with much interest here. The pretender has been in poor health for a long time, but not until this week did it become publicly known that he is suffering from cerebral paralysis and that his death may come at any moment.

Don Carlos has been heard of but little of late years, but the time was when he was one of the most prominent figures in European politics, and his possible influence has never been lost sight of in any Spanish situation.

The career of Don Carlos has been filled with vicissitudes. At times he has had untold wealth at his command and at other times he has felt the bitter sting of poverty. At one time he seemed very close to realizing his ambition to become king of Spain. Following the example of his grandfather, Charles VI, who fought for what they considered their rights for years, Don Carlos took up arms in 1872 and, as Charles VII, reigned over the greater portion of northern Spain till 1876, when being nearly surrounded by the forces of Alfonso XII., who recently had been proclaimed king in Madrid, he retired into France.

Don Carlos has been married twice. His first wife was a great lady of France, the Princess de Bourbon and daughter of the Count de Chambord. They were married in 1867, and for many years after that they were very poor. In order to buy bread Don Carlos was once obliged to sell the badge of the Order of the Golden Fleece that had decorated the person of his illustrious ancestor, Emperor Charles V.

But a change of fortune came when the Chambords died and left the bulk of their immense fortune to the wife of the pretender. For a few years Don Carlos was enabled to live a life of ease and luxury. Then his wife, the duchess, died, and Carlos was again cut off from comfort. In 1894 he married the Princess Marie Berthe de Rohan, who belonged to one of the oldest and wealthiest families of France.

Of late years Don Carlos has displayed a waning enthusiasm over the claims put forth in his behalf to the throne of Spain. His eldest son, Don Jaime, is an officer in the Russian army and has never actively interested himself in the Carlist cause. In the event of the death of the pretender it seems probable that his followers will recognize King Alfonso, at the same time maintaining an organized party for political purposes.

Started the Tailor.
A London tailor was once measuring Dr. Parker, who had a quaint sense of humor, for an overcoat, when suddenly the doctor broke forth in his most sepulchral voice:
"Can you measure the ineffable?"
The assistant looked up and saw that the doctor was extremely grave. He said:
"I beg your pardon, sir."
The doctor raised both his hands with a grand upward sweep and said:
"Can you measure the ineffable? Can you comprehend the infinite?"
"We'll make you a nice coat, sir," returned the puzzled assistant. Tapping the doctor's shin, he said:
"That's about the length, sir?"
"Longer!" ejaculated the doctor in determined tones.
"There, sir?"
"Longer!" thundered the great man. The tailor remonstrated. As a technical professional he could give points on tailoring to any preacher that ever wore a head.
"If you have it any longer, you won't be able to walk," he remarked conclusively.
The doctor looked on him compassionately and, once more extending his arms toward the skies, said confidentially:
"I don't want to walk; I want to soar!"

Lundyfoot and His Snuff.
The shop of a Dublin tobacconist named Lundyfoot was destroyed by fire. While he was gazing dolefully into the smoldering ruins he noticed that his poorer neighbors were gathering the snuff from the canister. He tested the snuff for himself and discovered that the fire had largely improved its pungency and aroma. This was a hint worth profitting by. He secured another shop, built a lot of ovens, subjected the snuff to a heating process, gave the brand a name and in a few years became rich through an accident which he at first thought had ruined him. It was Lundyfoot, to whom the great orator and wit, John Philip Curran, suggested the celebrated motto to the coat of arms emblazoned by the successful tobacconist upon the panels of his carriage, a motto which had its meaning in Latin and English—and was significant in both. "Quid Rides" (who laughs). "Quid," it may be mentioned, was a nickname bestowed on tobacconists at the time, owing to a prominent article in their stock of trade.

The King of Instruments.
Restricted as is its range of dynamics, the violin has had for its votaries men of such widely differing temperaments as Paganini and Spohr, Wilhelmj and Sarasate, Joachim and Ysaye. Its literature does not compare with that of the piano, for which Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Chopin and Brahms have written their choicest music, yet the intimate nature of the violin, its capacity for passionate emotion, crowns it—and not the organ with its mechanical tonal effects—as the king of instruments. Nor does the voice make the peculiarly poignant appeal of the violin. Its lowest note is the G below the treble clef and its top note a mere squeak, but it seems in a few octaves to have imprisoned within its wooden walls a miniature world of feeling. Even in the hands of a clumsy amateur it has the formidable power of giving pain, while in the grasp of a master it is capable of rousing the soul.—James Humecker in Everybody's.

The Use of Iron.
Iron has been known to men for a very long time. In the time of the Assyrians it was extensively used, iron saws, knives and other tools having been found by Layard at Nineveh. Homer refers to the forging of iron, while the hardening and tempering of steel appear to have been operations in common use among the early Greeks. The employment of a kind of bellows for the forging of tools, presumably of iron, figures in Egyptian sculpture of 1500 B. C. Cast iron appears to have been discovered about 350 B. C. Through the agency of the Romans the manufacture of iron was introduced all over the then known world and into those regions where it had not been previously known.—New York American.

Chinese Filial Piety.
The following Chinese story illustrates the national regard for filial piety: A man and his wife maltreated the husband's mother. As a punishment the scene of the act was openly cursed, the active agents were put to death, and the mother of the wife was bamboozled, branded and exiled for her daughter's crime. The house in which the offenders lived was dug up from the foundations. Moreover, the scholars of the district were precluded from attending public examinations, and even the magistrates were deprived of their offices. These drastic measures were designed to render the empire filial.

Opposites.
Uppardon—Isn't a lawsuit over a patent right about the dullest thing you ever saw?
Atom—Not always. I attended a trial of that kind—once that was too funny for anything. A tall lawyer named Short was reading a 6,000 word document he called a brief.—Chicago Tribune.

Spelling.
On a member of parliament being accused of bad spelling Disraeli humorously defended him by declaring that "a man must be a idiot who could not spell a word more ways than one."

Among all other vices there is none I hate more than cruelty, the extreme of all vices.—Montaigne.

The Proof of Our Fidelity.
This is an age in which every phase of commercial activity is progressing.
Yet each day we are reminded most forcibly of our transitory relation with it, and our life compared with the ages past, and no doubt with those to come is only ephemeral. The recent meeting of the old Confederate Veterans at Memphis is a strong reminder that we as a whole Nation are fast falling out of ranks; each day death claims some one that is near and dear to our hearts.
Our daily and weekly papers and magazines tell often of the erasing of some beautiful monument to perpetuate the memory of some ennobling character, or some notable event. Its common proof of our fidelity to our countrymen, our history, our friends, and to our God.

Monuments are erected to our national heroes, our private citizens, our Union soldiers, and to our Confederate dead, for time with its onward flight claims all from the greatest to the least. We go East, North or South, across the rugged mountains beyond the sea and still we see the same in-exorable law, the strong reminders on every hand, in every country on this rolling sphere we see cemeteries,
some of them dilapidated, neglected,
and seemingly forgotten, others beautiful, artistic, and grandly imposing with their marble and granite monuments engravings with tender expressions of love and affection, of hope and remembrance. What man or woman so paganistic, so dwarfed by worldly and ambitious frailty, that will not bow in reverence before these sacred memorials of a mother's love, a father's devotion, a wife and children's silent supplication to the all-wise God that the interred may rest in peace.

Who is so void of sympathy that they fail to feel some little emotion when viewing such sacred spots? Who so thoughtless and hard hearted that they can pass a neglected grave, a forgotten mound, without shedding a tear of sympathy for the poor form that in life was perhaps as good as circumstances and environments would permit? Who is it that cannot forget the faults and say that they were a loving companion, a heart to heart friend, and who is it that is not forgiving enough, that death and the silent shroud does not cover even the faults of our enemies with a mantle of sweet charity?

Have you heretofore been careless and negligent concerning your duty towards your loved ones? Do you realize that the public eyes in your community city or hamlet in which you live are watching you and your attitude towards those that in life were near and dear and perhaps made many sacrifices for you? And do you know that this attitude of yours is determining your character in the minds of your friends,
your relatives, and the public at large?

We beg of you to relieve yourself of this last sad duty (but not the least), you owe to your loved ones. Call or phone us, we will be glad to assist you in any way possible. We are in our new location now across the tracks
from the Denver passenger station, and are in a better position to serve you. All our work is guaranteed to be as good as the best and at prices that speak for themselves.

One of Shaw's Criticisms.
"Before fame came to him," said a playwright, "that great rival of mine, George Bernard Shaw, wrote theatrical criticisms for the London Saturday Review. Now, those were criticisms indeed. Nobody could praise a good play so beautifully as this critic.
Nobody could roast a bad play so tellingly. Listen. Here is a sample."

And the playwright read:
"I am in a somewhat foolish position concerning a play at the Opera Comique, whether I was hidden this day week. For some reason I was not supplied with a program, so that I never learned the name of the play. At the end of the second act the play had advanced about as far as an ordinary dramatist would have brought it five minutes after the first rising of the curtain, or, say, as far as Ibsen would have brought it ten years before that event. Taking advantage of the second interval to stroll out into the Strand for a little exercise, I unfortunately forgot all about my business and actually reached home before it occurred to me that I had not seen the end of the play. Under these circumstances it would ill become me to dogmatize on the merits of the work or its performance. I can only offer the management my apologies."

What the Jury Found.
Some years ago the body of a well dressed man was found in a field on the outskirts of an English town.
There were no marks of violence, and it was doubtful whether death had occurred from natural causes or if the individual had committed suicide. In due course the body was identified, and a gentleman who had been acquainted with the deceased was called upon to give evidence at the inquest.
Among other things, he stated that he had always considered him to be a man of marked idiosyncrasies, and his brain was continually excited by his irresistible fondness for chimeras of various kinds. The jury was evidently satisfied with his statement and immediately brought in a verdict that "death was caused by idiosyncrasies forming on the brain in consequence of excessive indulgence in chimeras," adding a rider that "it should be a warning to people to refrain from that and other intoxicating beverages."

An Indignant Beggar.
Flashing a roll of bills in the face of a haughty individual who had refused to give him alms and who had added further insults to this injury by heaping ridicule upon him, a very typical beggar at Coyocness pulled off a stunt that brought down jaws upon the uncharitable young man. This beggar would have walked unarmed at midnight through a wilderness infested with thieves without his poverty once being questioned. There was not a whole thread in the warp and woof of his shirt that extended from seam to seam, and only an expert sartorial artist could have detected which openings were those originally made in the garment for putting it on and off.
Just what portion of those rags was solid and strong enough to retain the roll of bills is a marvelous enigma.—
Mexican Herald.

A Test of Friendship.
Just before Artemus Ward's death
Robertson poured out some medicine and offered it to the sick man, who said, "My dear Tom, I won't take any more of that horrible stuff."
Robertson urged him to swallow the mixture, saying: "Do, now—there's a dear fellow—for my sake. You know I would do anything for you."
"Would you?" said Ward feebly, grasping his friend's hand for the last time.

"I would indeed," said Robertson.
"Then you take it."
Ward passed away a few hours afterward.—"Recollections of the Ban-crofts."

A Great Career Ahead.
"Are you the professor?"
"Yes, sir. What can I do for you?"
"I have a daughter and I'd like to know what it will cost me to have her taught to sing. I think she will become a great operatic star if her voice is properly trained."
"Does she seem to have extraordinary gifts as a vocalist?"
"Well, no; we haven't noticed that her vocal gifts are out of the ordinary,
but nobody seems to be able to manage her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

MENS' AND BOY'S OUTFITTERS

Amos' Anodyne.
 "We always wondered a little how Amos Dore and his wife got along—really." Aunt Em Macomber said frankly. "Some in the neighborhood said they'd never overheard a single loud or cross word on either side, but Lije Daniels always stuck to it that Amos was as mis'able at home as a man could be."
 "He never spoke right out till Amos died and Mis' Dore went back up country to her folks. Then he let out."
 "What?" queried Aunt Em's visitor.
 "Well, Amos worked logging along-side of Lije every winter, and summers they hayed together—most always, and it seems," said Aunt Em impressively, "that Amos complained of his shoes hurting him about all the time. Finally Lije asked why he wore tight shoes."
 "Why don't you get a pair big enough?" says Lije one day.
 "Well, I'll tell you," Amos says. "When I wear tight shoes I forget all my other troubles."—Youth's Companion.

Polishing a Diamond.
 The polishing of a diamond is a very slow process, because of the great hardness of the material; besides this, the work—must be frequently interrupted to allow the disk to cool out after it has become overheated by friction. Each time a new facet is to be cut the diamond must be removed from the dop and reset at another angle, and the diamond cutter trusts to his eye alone to guide him in this delicate adjustment, although in the case of very small diamonds a magnifying glass is necessary. The skill shown in placing the stone in the heated metal, sometimes with the bare hand, is surprising. The regular brilliant has fifty-six facets, besides the table and the collet—thirty-two above the girdle and twenty-four below—but as eight facets are first formed, both above and below, each of these being recut into three or four smaller ones, there are considerably more than fifty-six separate surfaces to be cut.—Dr. George F. Kuntz in Century.

Qualities of the Topaz.
 The name of the precious stone inserted in the ring of Gyges has not been handed down to us, but it is probable that it was the topaz, whose wonders Philostratus recounts in the life of Apollonius. An attribute of the sun and of fire, the ancients called it the gold magnet, as it was credited with the power of attracting that metal, indicating its veins and discovering the treasures. Heliodorus in his story of Theagenes and Charicles says that the topaz saves from fire all those who wear it and that Charicles was preserved by a topaz from the fiery vengeance of Arsaces, queen of Ethiopia. This stone was one of the first talismans that Theagenes possessed in Egypt. The topaz at present symbolizes Christian virtues—faith, justice, temperance, gentleness, clemency.—Paris Figaro.

Called His Papa Down.
 Little Willy is a bright boy and a saucy boy. His apt answers have often turned away wrath and often turned it upon him strongly. The other day his father was reprimanding him for some misdeed, and Willy was answering very saucily. The father became very angry and, seizing the youngster by the collar, said: "See here, young man, you must not talk like that to me. I never gave my father impudence when I was a boy." Willy was not fazed at all. With a cherubic smile he looked into papa's eyes and said, "But, papa, maybe your father didn't need it?" 'Twas all off. Willy escaped punishment, while papa retired to another room.

This Vale of Tears.
 The news that science had at length discovered the means of destroying the germ of the last ill which flesh was heir to called forth rapturous rejoicings throughout the world.
 "Henceforth perfect health will reign universally," people everywhere exclaimed and gave themselves up to congratulations.
 But that was not to be. In the very next day's paper was the account of somebody having invented a microscope so powerful as to reveal a lot more germs, which meant, of course, that it would be no time at all until everybody was sick again.—Puck.

Chocolate.
 Although the "drink" called chocolate did not appear in England until 1607 its restorative properties soon became generally known. Thus, on May 24, 1661, after an evening of carousing, Pepys "worked in the morning with my head in a sad taking through the last night's drink, which I am very sorry for; so rose and went out with Mr. Creed to drink our morning draft, which he did give me in chocolate to settle my stomach."

On the Mend.
 Bronson—I noticed your wife sitting by the window sewing this morning. I thought you told me yesterday she was ill. Woodson—So she was, but today she's on the mend.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Going Out.
 Mr. B.—There, I've let my cigar go out. Do you know that it spoils a cigar, no matter how good it is, if you allow it to go out? Mrs. B.—Yes; a cigar is a good deal like a man in that respect.

His Start.
 The World—Want a job, eh? What's your recommendation? Graduate—My A. B. The World—Sit right down, and I'll teach you the rest of the alphabet.—New York Life.
