The Cold Water Cure.
If you feel a cold coming on, drink a glass of cold water, not iced, and repeat at half hour intervals until relief is felt. If hot water is easier to take, it can be substituted for the cold, particularly in the morning and at night. Taking an abundance of liquid matters more than its temperature. It is there where the patients fall short. They will drink a glass or two of water, then declare they can take no more and, ceasing, decide water cannot drive out a cold. This water cure is not so modern as the most of us think it. In an old prescription book of a famous physician of more than a hundred years ago this curious remedy for a cold is found: "Let ye patient who feels a cold coming on eat of a fine, big salt herring just before going to bed. This will make ye patient drink plenty of water." If you have not strength of purpose to drink freely of water for the cold's sake, make yourself thirsty as best you can—only take all the water possible.—Philadelphia Press.

Hanged For Violating Smoke Law.
Curious and little known facts about the house fire were mentioned by E. H. Blake, addressing the surveyors' institution on warming and ventilation. Fires were at one time a great luxury, he said, and even the right to use the fire had been bequeathed. Thus the will of one Richard Byrnhett (1516) read:

"I will yt sayd Neil my wyfe shal have ye chamber she lyes in and lyberte at ye fyre in the house; all yese thyngs shal she have so long as she ys wido."

Coal, continued Mr. Blake, was first imported into London at the end of the thirteenth century, but the smoke produced by burning it in improperly constructed grates caused such a prejudice against it that in 1306, a law was passed making it a capital offense to burn coal in the city. The Tower records give details of a man's trial and execution for the offense.—London Graphic.

Not the Kind He Wanted.
Professed politicians who have reduced public office to an exact science find the independent voter a sad stumbling block, a fact which is amusingly disclosed by a story found in the life of the late George Monro Grant, the eminent Canadian educator and clergyman.

Toward the end of Sir John Macdonald's life he and Principal Grant, then the head of Queen's college, met at a dinner at the house of the premier's brother-in-law, Professor Williamson.

"How I wish," the premier said to the principal, "that you would be a steady friend of mine."

"My dear Sir John," the principal replied, "I have always supported you when you were right."

The premier's eyes twinkled, and he laid his hand upon the shoulder of the principal.

"My dear man," said he, "I have no use for that species of friendship!"

Greatness Not Free From Shame.
The transcendent power and fame with which great genius has at different periods endowed various men do not always insure them from after misery and shame. This was strikingly exemplified in the cases of the four greatest of military conquerors—Alexander, Hannibal, Caesar and Napoleon. The general judgment of mankind has conceded them the first place in the lines of action for which they were severally distinguished. Yet they all met with melancholy deaths. Two of them suffered for years the keenest humiliations which a total destruction of their hopes could bring. Two perished at the zenith of their power, just as they might have expected a long enjoyment of the fruits of their tremendous achievements.—Exchange.

The Greatest Wealth.
Is there any compensation in money for a starved, stunted, dwarfed mind? Can lands and houses, stocks and bonds, pay a man for living a narrow, ratty, sordid life? How much money would match the wealth of a trained mind, of unfolded possibilities? Is the capacity for the appreciation of the meaning of life, of the lessons of civilization, worth no more than one's bread and butter and roof? Can any one conceive of greater possessions than an intellect well trained and disciplined, than a broad, deep, full orbed mind responsive to all beauty, all good?—Orison Sweet Marden in Success Magazine.

Optimistic.
"My wife is a very optimistic woman."
"Indeed she is."
"Noticed it, have you?"
"Yes; when I was talking with her yesterday she said that if you ever died she would marry again because she felt sure that she could do better next time."—Houston Post.

Triumphs of Travel.
"Now he's bragging about how he did Venice."
"What do you mean?"
"Most tourists spend a week in Venice. He did it in a day."—Kansas City Journal.

No Excuse.
"Is that horse you bought a kicker?"
"A kicker?" answered Mr. Sirtus Barker. "I am the fellow who paid twice his value and who is buying the feed. What has the horse got to kick about?"—Washington Star.

His Misfortune.
The Poet—Poets are born, not made. The Girl—I know. I wasn't blaming you.—Boston Transcript.

There are certain flowers the perfume of which, it is said, is produced by microbes.

"Spend Wichita Falls money in Wichita Falls."
"Money spent away from home helps to build another city instead of your own."
"Why not help build your home city with home money?"

GOOD CIGARS.
Within certain limits, there is a chance for a difference of opinion as to whether cigars are good or not. No one brand is sure to suit everybody, but there are certain brands which come pretty near it and this is the kind we endeavor to keep. In our opinion, at least, we have the best assortment of cigars in the city and shall be glad at any time to have the opinion of smokers who are not already familiar with our line.

One thing is certain, that we always pay enough to get good brands and are quite sure that we get what we pay for. Yours for good smokes,

Worse Than His Own.
 A gentleman who owns one of the finest estates in the north of England while in his gardens one morning noticed one of the laborers very badly clad and asked him:
 "Have you no better clothes than those, Mat?"
 "No, in troth, yer honor, worse luck," replied Mat.
 "Well, call at the house this evening on your way home," said the gentleman. "I'll leave an old suit of mine with the butler for you."
 A few days later when showing a party of visitors through the gardens he was much annoyed to see Mat looking if possible more a scarecrow than ever.
 "Why are you still wearing those old clothes, Mat?" he asked.
 "Sure, yer honor, they're the best I have," replied Mat.
 "But did you not get the suit I left for you the other day?" asked the gentleman.
 "Indeed, an' I did, thank yer honor kindly," replied Mat; "but, sure, I had to leave them at home to be mended."—London Tatler.

When Baseball Was an Infant Industry.
 It was a crude game, but merry. In theory the pitcher was there only to give the boys a chance to "soak the ball." "First bound" was still out. The unfortunate catcher, handling a heavy, lively ball without mask, glove or protector, stood up near the bat when men were on bases if he had the skill and courage. The early guides recommended him to do so when he could. Had not the pitcher been restricted to an artificial throw scarce a catcher would have lived to tell the tale. Many catchers took everything "on first bounce" and managed at that to prevent much base stealing. Base running also was in its infancy. "Smith," says the Spirit of the Times, "caught a remarkable game, having but five passed balls scored against him." Here and there we get a glimpse which shows how crude it all was, what a matter of hit and miss natural force. In the fifties Dicky Pearce shone without a peer as an infelder. He used to stop grounders with his hand and foot!—Will Irwin in Collier's.

She Did So.
 "Always," said papa as he drank his coffee and enjoyed his morning beefsteak—"always, children, change the subject when anything unpleasant has been said. It is both wise and polite."
 That evening on his return from business he found several of his flower beds despoiled and the tiny imprint of slippers feet silently bearing witness to the small thief.
 "Mabel," he said to her, "did you pick my flowers?"
 "Papa," said Mabel, "did you see a monkey in the city today? We had a—"
 "Never mind that. Did you pick my flowers, Mabel?"
 "Papa, what did grandma send me?"
 "Mabel, what do you mean? Did you pick my flowers? Answer me, yes or no."
 "Yes, papa, I did, but I thought I would change the subject."—London Tit-Bits.

Look After Your Property.
 It is a safe rule in this world to look carefully after the details of your own property. Be sure your title deeds are recorded, that your insurance is kept up, that you alone have the key to your strong box in the safety vault. Do not leave your securities with your broker. If he is doing a conservative business he has no need of them. If he isn't you don't want him to handle your property. The wonder is that with all the confidence reposed in financial matters there are so few defractions. There is no use in making it easy for some one to get your property. In this world it is hard for most persons to acquire anything, and they should be careful to the last degree in seeing that they are fully protected in it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Britain's Greatest Precipice.
 Writing to the Newcastle Journal in regard to the drowning of three bird catchers at St. Kilda, a correspondent says the wild fowls of St. Kilda find nesting places that enable them to bid defiance to the sportsman and to the most daring of bird catchers. There is, for example, the precipice called Conagher, the same being far and away the greatest precipice in the British Isles, the deepest perpendicular precipice. It rises from the sea level to a clear height of 1,220 feet. Consider that a man might jump from the top of Conagher into the sea without getting a scratch by the way.

Breaking the News.
 Marion, who had been taught to report her misdeeds promptly, came to her mother one day, sobbing penitently.
 "Mother, I—I broke a brick in the fireplace."
 "Well, that is not very hard to remedy. But how on earth did you do it, child?"
 "I pounded it with father's watch."—Success Magazine.

Accessories.
 "I'm going in for poetry," blipped the sweet young thing.
 "Real, heartfelt poetry?" thundered the man of letters, "is it written in a garret."
 "Yes; I've heard that. So I've fitted up a beautiful Turkish den in ours."—Washington Herald.

Quite Warm.
 "I understand there was a hot time in the Bar's household the other day."
 "Yes. When he went home he found his wife simply boiling, and she gave him a roast."—Baltimore American.
 Praise a fine day at night.—Irish Proverb.

The Swine or the Flower?
 Ah me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty, Wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred,
 Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
 Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of lard!"
 I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
 With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
 And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight, The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene,
 Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

THIS IS MY 46TH BIRTHDAY.
 Reginald McKenna.
 Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty in the British cabinet, who has been prominent in the public eye recently because of the unprecedented severity of the naval panic in England, was born in London, July 6, 1863. His education was received at the King's College, London, and Trinity Hall, Cambridge. At Cambridge he was very prominent in athletics. His public career dates from 1895, in which year he was elected to the House of Commons. He achieved a reputation in parliament and was rewarded with a place in the cabinet when the present administration came into power. As first lord of the admiralty Mr. McKenna called a halt in the British programme of big battleship building—a halt which as many persons declare, has enabled Germany to make a stride forward that badly jeopardizes Great Britain's supremacy on the sea.

CONSERVATION MOVEMENT BEGUN BY SCANDINAVIANS
 Spokane, Wash., July 6.—Fifty-thousand Danes, Norwegians and Swedes in Eastern Washington and Oregon, north and central Idaho, western Montana and southeastern British Columbia are backing a movement, launched in Spokane, to urge upon the mother countries the importance and necessity of forming a pan-Scandinavian alliance to preserve the territorial integrity of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. It is proposed to enlist the support of the Scandinavians and their church societies and lodges all over America in the plan.
 Harold S. Swanson of Spokane, editor and publisher of the American Scandinavian, official organ of the Scandinavian Brotherhood of America, says among other things of the movement:
 "Sons of Scandinavians in America do not presume to share the political destinies of the mother countries any more than they attempt to fix the public policy of the United States after forms and features of government of the countries from which they came, but they assume to offer advice to the reigning monarchs, their official representatives and the resident citizens of the three sister kingdoms. It is a matter in which they are still jointly interested and we believe that its advocacy will gather support from Scandinavians all over the world.
 "The loss of the provinces of Schleswig and Holstein is still fresh in the Danish mind, and Sweden has ever been suspicious that the Russian bear had designs upon her territory. For each of these little nations to build 'Dreadnaughts' and effectively protect themselves against the greater powers is out of the question. To rely upon the policy of universal peace does not appear altogether safe in the face of the fact that nations are bending every energy and resource for warships and arming with might and main. What means this aggressiveness in sea armament?"

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 6th, 1909.

ABILENE AND THE SANTA FE CUT-OFF.

Whether Abilene succeeds in stopping the building of the Santa Fe cut-off or not, she is certainly coming in for a large amount of publicity, and some people, including Governor Campbell, are learning some things about Abilene and her leading promoters and financiers, which heretofore have been kept in the background. This controversy between the Santa Fe officials and the citizens of Abilene, and the governor of Texas, is most thoroughly explained in an open letter to the governor from Dan H. Biggars, a citizen of Lubbock, and who is secretary of Lubbock's Commercial Club. Mr. Biggar's letter appeared in yesterday's Fort Worth Record, and he shows himself to be well posted and handles his subject in a masterly way.

Among other points made by Mr. Biggars in his open letter to Governor Campbell is the following:

Suppose that with your assistance, the people of Abilene persist and succeed in preventing the construction of the cut-off as it is now proposed, you might protect the Snyder, Roscoe and Pacific Railroad to the amount of $250,000, considering its total value, and might add half a hundred thousand dollars value to property in the three towns specified. Let us agree that we have here a total benefit of $300,000. But is it not fair to presume that damages will result to either of the towns mentioned, or that the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific railroad would be a total wreck. Its revenues would doubtless be reduced, but that is a matter of no concern to the public, for it is the property of a foreign corporation owned in Abilene. Now let us arrive at an approximate and reasonable cost of this $300,000 benefit.

EMBRACE THE OPPORTUNITY!

Wouldn't you if you got a chance? Well, here's a chance to buy choice lots, houses and farms such as was never offered to you before. Come in and see my list. The opportunity of your life is lost if you don't.

Wichita Falls, Texas

Sweetwater is one of the best county seat towns in western Texas, and a railroad center of very considerable importance. To deprive it of the road would mean a property loss of not less than $1,000,000 and more, probably $2,000,000. Snyder, another one of the big county seat towns of the west, would suffer almost as severely. Post City, another county seat town, one of the greatest industrial propositions in this country has ever known, and a proposition which holds out to the poor man great opportunities, and which in a great measure a philanthropic enterprise, would suffer correspondingly. And Lubbock would suffer to the extent of $2,000,000.

Easily $5,000,000 damage would be done to protect $300,000 worth of vested rights benefits, five-sixths of this owned by a foreign corporation residing in Abilene.

No cause of Complaint. I submit that not a single town in this part of the country has cause to complain in so far as the conduct of the Santa Fe cut-off proposition is concerned. It has asked no bonus other than the right of way, has not missed a single town it could reasonably reach, and has never signified any intention of establishing competing towns or to build up towns to its own benefit.

It is destined to be one of the greatest developing agencies this part of the state has ever possessed, and if there is a part of the state that has faithfully paid taxes, deserved much, got little and never complained, it is this part of Texas, and there is a town that has grabbed at everything from state institutions to public offices and howled when it didn't get it, that town is Abilene.

Without a special act of the legislature the Santa Fe could not take over the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific, nor the road from Abilene to Ballinger, and in view of your well-known attitude on railroad consolidation you certainly would not approve such legislation. No matter how good the rule or sound the policy, there must be exceptions in all instances, but this is one instance in which the exception in no sense applies. As a business proposition the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific would be useless and practically worthless to the Santa Fe, and as a mere matter of justice, or in deference to public interest, it is certainly under no obligations in the premises. The cut-off will be especially constructed for the heaviest traffic. The rails will be of the heaviest weight and the rolling stock of the heaviest make. To use either of the Abilene owned roads the Santa Fe would have to practically rebuild the line. It would have to regrade the roadbed, replace the steel and perhaps the ties, and the light rolling stock would be of no benefit or value. Short lines designed to be absorbed should be built with a view to heavy traffic, lasting service and commercial value.

When the census enumerators are appointed, Southerners will know how much sincerity there was behind Taft's claims of friendship for the South. Negro census takers would be no plus ultra, if you know what that means.

In the home of the "comparatively few," who were killed this Fourth, it must be very consoling to know that the celebration was saner than usual.

The announcement of a street car strike at Beaumont will be the first intimation many people have that there are street cars there at all.

"Star" is proved to be the oldest word in the English language, but there are some English jokes that must date even further back.

The meeting of the Texas Bar Association at Austin today must not be confounded with the kind of meetings usually held at bars.

Ceremonies at Plattsburg
Plattsburg, N. Y. July 6.—President Taft, accompanied by the British and French ambassadors, the Governor of New York, and other dignitaries, reached Ticonderoga today in time to participate in some of the events making up the program of the second day of the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration. The distinguished guests witnessed a presentation of the Indian drama of "Hiawatha," and later made an inspection of the ruins of Fort Ticonderoga, which is now being restored as it was in revolutionary days.

Tomorrow the presidential party will come to Plattsburg for what promises to be the biggest day of the entire celebration. Three nations will be officially represented. Troops of the United States and Canada will fraternize in the events of the day and the National Guard of New York and Vermont likewise will take part. The principal oration will be delivered by United States Senator Elihu Root.

Meet to Discuss Child Welfare.

Worcester, Mass., July 6.—A conference on "Child Welfare," with some of the leading men and women of the country who are interested in this question on the program, began at the Clark University today and will continue till the end of the week. Among those taking part are Mrs. Frederick Shroff, president of the National Congress of Mothers; Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, dean of Simmons College; Prof. Henry W. Holmes of Harvard University, Anthony Comstock, secretary of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice; Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University; Dr. William B. Forbush of Detroit; Miss Julia Lathrop of Chicago and Dr. Henry S. Curtis of the Playground Association of the United States.

For cigars, fancy stationery, etc., go to Miller's drug store.

ST. PAUL IS MECCA OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORS.

St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—By tens and hundreds the enthusiastic young delegates are pouring into St. Paul for the twenty-fourth International Christian Endeavor convention, which is to be formally opened in this city tomorrow. It is expected that by tomorrow at noon twenty thousand visitors will be here to attend the proceedings of the convention.

They come from all parts of the United States and from Canada, with smaller delegations from other lands in which the Christian Endeavor movement has gained a foothold.

When the international officers reached the city and opened their headquarters at the Hotel Ryan they found the local arrangements for the entertainment of the convention to be of the most perfect and elaborate character. For several months the St. Paul and Minneapolis committees have been diligently preparing for the gathering. They announce that comfortable accommodations have been prepared for all visitors. Public buildings, hotels and many business houses have been decorated in honor of the occasion.

The sessions of the convention will be held in the Auditorium, which has a seating capacity of over 15,000, while auxiliary meetings will be held in the Central Presbyterian Church, the Metropolitan opera house and in several smaller halls. The armory will also be used for convention purposes. Here there has been installed an exposition of missionary work all over the world. There are exhibits of all the books, tracts and lectures written upon missionary work, and displays of the civil, moral and religious progress made within the last ten years.

This is to be the "Singing Convention." Not only delegates will sing, but they will go from place to place in the streets singing their Endeavor hymns. Dr. Clark, the founder of the society, has sent word all over the world that this convention is to be the greatest singing convention in the history of the organization. There will be many praise services, and a great patriotic service Thursday afternoon on the steps of the Capitol led by E. O. Excell of Chicago; Percy S. Foster of Washington and F. H. Jacobs of New York. Saturday evening Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "The Elijah," will be sung in the auditorium with a large chorus and eminent soloists.

There will be little routine business to transact during the convention. The only actual business meeting will be held tomorrow morning in the hotel Ryan, when the annual business meeting of the United Society of the Christian Endeavor Corporation will take place. At this meeting the officers of the United Society for the ensuing year will be elected and the annual reports of the officers and business agents will be presented. One of the matters to be discussed is the project for the erection of a great international headquarters building in Boston.

The regular opening of the convention will take place in the Auditorium tomorrow evening, with the Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, president of the United Society, presiding. Addresses of welcome to the delegates will be made by Governor Johnson, representing the State of Minnesota; Mayor Lawler, representing St. Paul; the Rev. H. C. Swearingen, representing the churches of St. Paul, and J. Powell Moore on behalf of the committee.

One of the notable features of the entertainment program will be a car ride given 20,000 delegates from St. Paul to Minneapolis and return. In Minneapolis there will be a huge May party at Plymouth church, with a Maypole 30 feet high, when the streamers will be wound by hundreds of delegates singing their convention hymn.

Meeting of Hardware Men.

Ashville, N. C. July 6.—The Retail Hardware Association of the Carolinas met in Ashville today for its fifth annual convention. President E. W. Duvall of Cheraw, S. C., called the gathering to order in the Auditorium this morning. The sessions will continue three days and will be devoted to the discussion of numerous questions relating to the retail hardware business. Charleston is endeavoring to secure next year's convention of the association.

YOUR COFFEE TASTE CAN BE EXACTLY SUITED

We have learned from quite an experience that about 95 per cent of all coffee tastes can be suited to a "T" with either our Revere Brand Coffee or with our Concord Brand Coffee

The Revere Brand is, so far as we have been able to find, the finest coffee that is produced at any price. It has that rich, smooth and mellow flavor that makes a person feel like smacking their lips and calling for the second cup.

It is 40c, 75c and $1.10 in 1-2 3 lb tins.

The Concord Brand is a close second to the Revere Brand, containing only a little less of the rich flavor, and at that not so much less as its price, 25c would indicate.

We believe that one of these two coffees will just suit you, but, if by any chance they don't, we want to tell you about two or three others that we have.

SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE BARRED FROM WASHINGTON.

Spokane, Wash., July 6.—Soldiers of fortune and speculators will get short shift if they register for any of the Indian lands in Western Montana, Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington, where 750,000 acres will be thrown open on August 9. Those who register simply to try their luck, when they have neither the money with which to make the first payment nor the inclination to cultivate the land, and others who seek land only to sell their relinquishment or hold it as an investment without making permanent homes are barred. They can and may register, but in doing so they must perjure themselves if any cases are brought to the attention of the government and proof accompanies the charge of perjury, the offenders will face the courts. The government desires tillers of the soil, who actually need homes and will farm the lands. James W. Witten, superintendent in charge of the opening, has sent an appeal to the registry points in Spokane, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho and Kallispell and Missoula, Mont., urging residents to see that justice is done to those who are seeking the land for actual settlement and that all others are to be weeded out.

Brief Notes of the Day's News.

New York, July 6.—Oscar Straus, who was recently appointed American ambassador to Turkey, sailed today for his new post at Constantinople.

Greenville, S. C., July 6.—Members of the South Carolina Press Association are assembled here for their annual meeting, which opens this evening and will remain in session until Thursday.

Toledo, Iowa, July 6.—Play in the annual Central Iowa Championship lawn tennis tournament began today on the courts of the Toledo Lawn Tennis Association. The tournament will last five days.

Birmingham, Ala., July 6.—The 25th Biennial convention of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, which opened today, has attracted to Birmingham several hundred delegates representing many of the prominent colleges and universities of the country.

Denver, Colo., July 6.—A court martial convened here today for the trial of Lieut. Clarence S. Nettles, U. S. A., retired, on charges of financial irregularities preferred by Gen. Thomas, commanding the Department of Colorado.

Ottumwa, Ia., July 6.—Druggists from all parts of the State were in attendance today at the opening of the hirtleth annual meeting of the Iowa Pharmaceutical Association. Preliminary business occupied the initial session. Tonight President Edwin Franken of Sigourney delivers his annual address.

How to Prevent and How to Cure Consumption, Or Tuberculosis

TUBERCULOSIS is a COMMUNICABLE disease.

TUBERCULOSIS is a PREVENTABLE disease.

TUBERCULOSIS is a CURABLE disease.

If you have a steady cough, go to a doctor. Don't waste your money on reputed cures.

Don't give consumption to others.

Don't let others give Consumption to you.

Don't spit on sidewalks; it spreads disease.

Don't spit on the floor of your shop.

When you spit, spit in the gutters, or into a spittoon.

Have your own spittoons half full of water and clean them out at least once a day with hot water.

Don't cough without holding a handkerchief or your hand over your mouth.

Don't live in rooms where there is no fresh air.

*Health
Rules
Given by the National Association for the Prevention and Cure
of Tuberculosis*

Don't work in rooms where there is no fresh air.

Keep at least one window open in your bedroom day and night.

Fresh air helps to kill the Consumption germ.

Fresh air helps to keep you strong and healthy.

Don't eat with soiled hands; wash them first.

Don't drink intoxicating drinks; they will do you no good, but will make it harder for you to get well.

Don't sleep in the same bed with anyone else and, if possible, not in the same room.

Good food, fresh air and rest are the best cures. Keep in the sunshine as much as possible and keep your windows open, winter and summer, night and day. Fresh air night and day is good for you.

Go to a hospital while you can and before it is too late. There you can get the best treatment, all the rest, all the fresh air and all the food you need.

NOTE—Readers of this notice are requested by the Times to cut out and post conspicuously in order that people may be reminded daily of these simple rules of health. You may save other lives—you may save your own

IT IS UP TO STATE NORMALS TO SOLVE PROBLEM.

Denver, Col., July 6.—The greatest problem in education today is the industrial training of the common people so as to enable them individually to give more productive service," said Homer H. Seerley, president of the Iowa State Normal School, Cedar Falls, Iowa, in his address before the Department of Rural and Agricultural Education, which held a meeting today in connection with the National Educational Association. "All other education can be conducted in groups, but this must be personal and individual. All others are somewhat similar, but this must be adapted to each individual and calls for a slightly different solution. Improvement in the mechanical lines of education is comparatively easy because it deals with the populous and wealthy community and does not call for extravagant expenditures per capita; but agricultural education must be taught in a sparsely settled community and at great expense per capita. Agriculture is not one occupation or branch, but many occupations and branches. It depends not upon a single science, but many sciences. It represents in results not a single kind of skill, but many kinds of capabilities.

"The nation and the state ought to be interested in this agricultural problem, because if these classes of our workers do not prosper, all other classes fall. The country schools are thus the most important of all schools that are maintained, because those educated therein become the foundation of all business prosperity for all other vocations. The work of conducting such training is too expensive to rely upon the country school districts alone and the rest of the state must help. Nothing of larger importance will be able to be shown in progress along these lines until large amounts of money are invested in both state and nation so that teachers can be retained and salaries sufficient for their support can be paid. Then the agricultural education must depend upon men teachers and not women teachers, and this situation will require one man teacher at least for every twenty or thirty country schools, whose work will be supervisory and special, and who will give constant attention to the industrial part of the instruction. For these reasons, efforts have been put forth for several years to interest both state legislatures and the National Congress in this need, so that financial support for such an endeavor may be given. Progress has been made but thus far limited results have been obtained.

"The State Normal Schools are the proper agency to use in this endeavor. They are numerous; they are now popular teacher-training schools; they are conducted economically; they know how to train efficient teachers for the public schools, and they should be required by the several states to devote much more attention to this kind of special education. The students who attend these teacher schools would cheerfully go into this field of labor if the opportunity to make a creditable living were possible, and only by state and national aid can such an endeavor be accomplished and the benefits fully realized."

Public Demonstration.

Do not fail to see demonstration of the famous Kinney Steam Cooker at E. C. Hardy's grocery store, showing an entire dinner cooked over the half of one gas jet, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, July 6th, 7th and 8th, from 2:30 to 6 o'clock only.

It saves Time, Labor, Fuel, Food, Money and requires no watching.

Cuts your gas bills in half. Cuts your kitchen work in half. Saves its cost every 60 days in saving of food alone. Saves 100 days of time each year out of the kitchen. Solves the servant problem. No intermingling of flavors. No odors in house. Gives you the richest, healthiest and most palatable foods. District agents wanted. 45-2tp

Quick, Cheap and Easy Gas Cooking

You can't appreciate the saving in time, temper, and money effected by a FAVORITE GAS STOVE until you have used one. It is as great an improvement on a coal stove as the latter is on the old fashioned fire place. At the touch of a match it gives an intense heat just when you want it. Instantly controllable. No smoke, no smell, no coal to bring up, no ashes to carry out, no uneven temperature, no fallen cakes or pies, no delayed meal. Not necessary to change your nice dress; everything clean and tidy. We sometimes take in your old stove as part payment.
