CITY TO PURCHASE AUTO FIRE ENGINE

MODERN FIRE APPARATUS WILL BE MADE A PART OF THE EQUIPMENT HERE.

SOME MONEY IS NEEDED

Will Cost Five Thousand and Chamber of Commerce May Pay Half of This Amount.

If the amount needed, twenty-five hundred dollars, is forthcoming from the citizens, Wichita Falls will soon be the first city of its size in the United States to have an automobile fire engine for its department. The city council this morning decided that if the Chamber of Commerce would pay half of the amount needed, the council would appropriate the other half and purchase a modern, up-to-date fire engine for this city's department.

The engine will cost in the neighborhood of five thousand dollars. Of this amount the council is prepared to appropriate twenty-five hundred, provided the Chamber of Commerce will do likewise.

No organized effort to raise this amount has been made, but several hundred dollars is practically pledged already. The matter will come up at the directors' meeting Thursday morning.

The fire engine it is planned to buy is of the latest type of automobile engine. It can be started on a second's notice, no cranking being necessary and can make runs to fires with express train speed. At present no Texas cities have progressed this far with their fire equipment, but Fort Worth and Galveston will soon be using them, having placed orders.

There is little doubt that the Chamber of Commerce will accede to the proposition and that the required funds will be forthcoming.

A Splendid Affair.

W. P. Towery returned Sunday from Childress, where he had been to attend the Childress County Fair, held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. He says that the average daily attendance was about 3,000, and that it was a very orderly crowd, not a man being arrested during the three days of the fair and not a drunk man on the grounds. Mr. Towery was there as an officer for the Denver road, and was therefore in a good position to find out these things.

He says the barbecue and races were splendid affairs. J. S. Beard, a Wichita man, carried off the first prize in the 2-year-old harness pacing race.

LESS STRINGENT QUARANTINE.

State Health Officer Says Cuba is Now Comparatively Clean.

New Orleans, La., July 19.—That Galveston, New Orleans and other Gulf ports should modify their quarantine regulations against Cuba, Central American and Mexican ports, is the opinion of Dr. Brumby, state health officer of Texas, who has just returned from a tour. "Sanitary conditions in many cities I visited were relatively better than in most cities of the Southern States," said Dr. Brumby.

ANOTHER "HIATUS."

Those Indicted Under the New Liquor Law are Released.

Austin, Tex., July 19.—The law enacted by the Thirty-first legislature making it a felony to sell liquor in local option districts was passed without an emergency clause and consequently did not become effective until July 11. Indictments returned prior to that date must be dismissed.

ATTEMPT TO CROSS CHANNEL IS FAILURE

By Associated Press. Calais, France, July 19.—Herbert Latham tried to cross the English channel in an aeroplane from this city today, but dropped into the sea after disappearing from view from the land. He was brought back by a torpedo boat destroyer, apparently unhurt and a tug towed the aeroplane in.

Latham had covered sixteen miles when the motor failed and the machine fell. When picked up, Latham was calmly sitting on the floating airship smoking a cigarette.

MRS. HAYES IS DEAD.

Last Surviving Daughter of Jefferson Davis Passes Away.

By Associated Press. Colorado Springs, Colo., July 19.—Mrs. Margaret Hayes, daughter of Jefferson Davis, will be buried in the family lot at Richmond. According to present plans the funeral will be held here Wednesday morning. The body will be taken to the receiving vault in the Evergreen cemetery here to remain until the fall, when it will be removed to Richmond and special services held at St. Paul's church. Memorial services will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Hayes was a member, and at Grace Episcopal church, on Sunday. Southerners in the city will take part.

Later—Colorado Springs, Colo., July 19.—The body of Mrs. Hayes was cremated at Riverside Cemetery, Denver, this afternoon. The cremation was private and an effort was made to keep it secret.

MANY GAMES SCHEDULED.

Ryan Here This Week and Henrietta Next Sunday.

Following is the baseball schedule for this week:

Monday and Tuesday—Armour's Lone Stars from Fort Worth. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Ryan. Sunday—Henrietta.

Next Sunday an excursion will be run here from Henrietta and the fans from the latter town hope to see their boys repeat the stunt of yesterday a week ago.

The local management has so far managed to give the local fans a larger percentage of at home games than almost any other team in the State.

WICHITA FALLS TEAM IS GOING SOME NOW

That Wichita Falls team gave the knackers another jolt yesterday and Saturday, when they won two games, defeating Chillicothe Saturday and the Armour team yesterday. Yesterday was a sad day for a number of patriots who wagered their shekels on the Fort Worth boys. They got the usual dose meted out to those who think the home team can't win.

Wichita Falls has now won twenty out of an even thirty games played this season, giving her an average of .666, quite a creditable showing. Games are to be played every day this week and the locals are expected to win at least five out of the seven.

It is pleasing to note that as the team continues to win, the ranks of the knackers are diminishing and he boys are being given good support.

Wichita Falls, 7; Chillicothe, 0. Wichita made it two straight at Chillicothe, Yates' pitching being responsible for Saturday's victory. The tall, lanky boy yielded but one hit and fanned eleven. Webber featured the hitting with a home run for Wichita Falls and altogether the victory was an easy one.

Wichita Falls, 2; Armour, 1.

In what is conceded to have been the prettiest game of the season, Wichita Falls defeated the Armour team from Fort Worth yesterday afternoon. Hits were scarce and errors still scarcer, two by the visitors being the only ones. Collier pitched for the locals and allowed six well scattered hits, no two coming in the same inning. Herit was strong, save in the sixth, when two two-baggers by Webber and Moore, followed by an error, brought in two scores. In the ninth, a walk, a passed ball and an out put men on second and third for Fort Worth and a hit brought in one score. Things looked ripe for more, but two pop-ups ended things. The score: Armour, 000 000 001—1 6 2 Wichita Falls, 000 002 00x—2 4 0 L. Helrt and Rogers; Collier and Law.

PRESIDENT BROWN COMING THURSDAY

HEAD OF CLAYCO COMPANY TO CONFER WITH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS.

OUTLOOK MORE HOPEFUL

Belief is That Some Favorable Agreement Between the Parties Can Be Reached.

E. R. Brown of Corsicana, president of the Clayco Oil and Gas Company, has accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce for a conference on the cheaper gas question and a conference will be held on Thursday morning with the directors.

For the present, Wichita Falls' hope of securing cheaper gas are centered upon the Clayco Company, which being already in the local field, is naturally looked to first. The matter was taken up some time ago and four cents a thousand made the objective figure. President Brown has said that his company can not meet that price, but a different aspect may be put on the matter after Thursday's conference.

Four-cent gas assures this city of an enormous brick plant using about a million cubic feet a day and there is not the slightest doubt that other new industries would quickly follow, as the fuel question is the most important one.

The failure of the Clayco Company to "come across" entails Wichita's adoption of one of the following plans: The exploiting of the Wichita field by a local company; the organizing of a local company to pipe gas from the proven field at Petrolia; the acceptance of the proposition made by the Texas Company some time ago or of a similar proposition by some other responsible company.

MAKING FIREWORKS.

Some Pyrotechnic Products Must
Dry in the Open Air.

TRYING FOR NEW DESIGNS.

Staffs of Artists Continually Devising
Color Schemes to Be Worked Out in Fire—The Construction of the Set
Pieces—Work of the Chemists.

The first step in manufacturing fireworks is the making of the cases, or shells, as the cylinders or other receptacles in which the explosives and the chemicals are placed are called. Practically all of these are made of innumerable sheets of tissue paper pasted and rolled together until the thickness required is attained. Most of these cases are made by machinery and are delivered as wanted to the places where they are to be filled or charged with the materials that have been prepared. All the charging is done by machinery except in the big shells that throw forth sets of stars of varying colors. In these each "star" has to be placed in a certain position so as to explode in just the right way at the proper instant.

Out of doors in pleasant weather the long lines of fuse—"quick match" they are called—are made. These are wound on reels six or seven feet across. Their basis is loose cotton cord covered with various highly inflammable chemicals. "Quick match," roman candles and a number of other pyrotechnic products cannot be dried by artificial heat. They must lie in the open air until the moisture used in mixing the chemicals evaporates.

All the year around the artists on the staff of the pyrotechnic manufacturers are taxing their brains designing color schemes to be worked out in fire. Outside of the big set pieces, which are much in vogue, a great deal of attention is given to rockets, bombs and rocket bombs, of which there are innumerable kinds. When the artist has evolved some striking color effect he turns over his painting to the chemists, whose task it is to combine various combustible ingredients so as to reproduce what the painter has put on his canvas. The race between the art department and the staff chemists is unending. It is the boast of the chemists that they can duplicate in their burning colors any combination of paints that can be presented to them.

These colors are imparted by the heated vapors of certain metals. Sodium, for instance, gives a yellow light, calcium red, strontium crimson and barium green. The number of chemicals, common and rare, employed in the manufacture of fireworks is prodigious. Take blue stars, for instance. These are commonly produced by a combination of chlorate of potash, calomel, sulphuret of copper, oxychloride of copper, dextrin, stearin, black oxide of copper, copper filings and sal ammoniac.

Every firework manufacturer has his carefully guarded trade secrets. Pyrotechnics in its various branches and as a whole is taught in no university, and there is little printed literature on the subject.

The construction of the set pieces, especially if they are large, is a huge task. First the artist draws the picture. It is complete in every detail of outline and shade of color. This is marked off into equal squares, each of which represents a square foot in the actual reproduction in fire. Sections of light boards, say, 20 by 25 feet are built and laid flat on the ground, and rectangles a foot square are marked thereon. On the section is outlined the picture that the artist has made. With the different colors indicated in their proper groupings. Loose over this is built a checkerboard framework of light lathe. Then come men with strips of rattan. They tack these to the framework, following exactly every line that has been indicated on the boards below, leaving practically a huge line drawing in rattan.

Then come men with thousands of big pins—ordinary pins, but about an inch long. These are set in the rattan an inch apart. These are followed by other men, who cut the heads off the pins. After this comes a gang of men with bundles of little fireworks, two inches long by one-quarter to three-quarter inches in diameter, in varying colors or combinations of color to correspond with the original drawing. These are called "gerbes." When ignited they emit sheaves of fire. These are stuck on the pins and glued, each shade of color in its proper place along the framework.

After this has been done another gang comes with hundreds of feet of "quick match" and connects all these thousands of "gerbes" together. Loose ends are left here and there for firing when the piece is in place ready to be set off. Then these sections are hoisted into their proper positions, and after infinite labor everything is ready for the wonderful delight to the eye, which may last between one and four minutes. So swiftly does the fire run from "gerbe" to "gerbe" through this "quick match" that the biggest "picture" that is usually shown will be aflame in every part in three seconds.

There is said to be little or no danger about firing these set pieces or even in setting off the bombs that explode with such fearsome noise. The ends of the "quick match," where the "port fire" is applied by the men who do the igniting, are carefully timed so that they have plenty of chance to get out of the way.—New York Press.

A TRAGIC EXPERIENCE.

The Climax of a Woman's Return Trip to Her Home.

A New York woman had a curious and tragic experience, one that seems more like a gruesome page from French fiction than the plain recital of fact.

This woman started out with her husband to accompany him part way on a business trip he was taking to a southern city. It was arranged that she should stop to visit some friends at a point about halfway on the journey and after a two days' stay should proceed and rejoin her husband at his destination and return with him. She made her visit and when she reached the town where she had expected to meet her husband found that he was not at the hotel where he had been stopping, but had left hurriedly for New York the day before. She waited long enough to send telegrams to her husband's office and to their house in New York asking if he had arrived and to receive a negative answer from each place.

Concluding that he had been unable to reach her by telegraph while she was on the road, she decided to return home. She was disappointed, but not at all perturbed, as she journeyed northward. She had to change cars twice on the way. Each change involved a wait of ten or fifteen minutes at a small junction town. As she was pacing up and down the station platform at each of these places she saw a big, pine covered coffin box unloaded from the express car and put aboard the northbound train. At Jersey City the same box was being unloaded, and it crossed the ferry with her in a hearse. She noted idly that one of the hearse horses was white and the other black. She went first to her husband's office, but the hour was late in the afternoon, and it was closed. Then she went uptown to her home.

As she was about to enter the apartment house a hearse drawn by a white horse and a black one drove up, and the undertaker climbed down and pressed the button below her name on the row of call bells at the entrance. She asked him what it meant. Thinking she was some inquiring stranger, the undertaker told her that he was bringing home the body of a man who had died on a train near the city whence she had just come and that the undertaker who had taken charge of the body had forwarded it in compliance with the dying man's request. In a daze the woman asked the dead man's name. Then she fell fainting to the floor. It was her husband.—New York Press.

JUSTICE IN HAITI.

Why a Trader Was Consigned to Jail by a Magistrate.

In most lands that maintain a court of justice the institution commands the respect of the public. It has in its hands the means of securing an outward show of respect under any circumstances. In Haiti this power appears to be made a source of revenue, according to a story told by H. Frichard in "Where Black Rules White."

A Haitian owed a trader $28. A judgment requiring the Haitian to pay $4 a week into court was given, and the trader agreed to send a messenger to the magistrate every week for the money.

In due time he sent for the first installment and was informed that the Haitian had not paid up, but that he should be put in prison for his failure. Three weeks passed with the same result. One morning the Haitian went to the trader's store. What good, he asked, would come to the trader if he, poor man, were thrown into prison? Let the trader forgive him his debt and earn thereby untold rewards in a future state.

After some talk the trader gave him a letter of remission, which he went off to present to the magistrate. The affair was settled, but the Haitian was struck by the bad grace with which the magistrate dismissed him.

He forthwith returned to the trader and asked him if he had received the $8 already paid into court. The trader looked surprised and said that he had received nothing.

"Then, since you have remitted the debt, that $8 is mine," said the Haitian. Accordingly he went to the court to present his claim. The magistrate at once committed him to prison. A consul who had heard the story asked the magistrate what the man was sent to prison for.

"For contempt of court," was the reply.

Where Tipping is Tabooed.

It may be interesting to mention that it is neither customary nor advisable to give tips anywhere west of the Sierra Madres. I did it on two occasions and in both cases learned to my regret that the waiters became so familiar with the guests and slack in their services both to myself and others that they were discharged from their employment by the Mexican proprietor, whose watchful eye discovered the lax attention pretty quickly and without complaint from the visitors. I felt very uncomfortable about it, for my intended kindness was in both instances the root of the trouble.—Outing Magazine.

What It Looks Like.

Little Elsie, aged three, who was walking in the garden with her nurse one evening, caught sight of the thin crescent of the new moon hanging low in the west and exclaimed in great excitement: "Oh, look, look, nurse! The moon's all gone away and there isn't anything left but just its skin!"—Delinquent.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
—Tonight and Tuesday, partly cloudy weather.

A Tennessee man who was ordered to make a test of "nearbeer" quit after the fifth glass and began picking large red bandanas out of his hair, which shows that it was considerably nearer than the real article.

One English nobleman has a controlling interest in a restaurant and another has added to his earthly store by a millinery shop. Before long it will be actually respectable to be a merchant in England.

The cheerful news comes from Washington that the republican conferees made great concessions to the democrats; the latter were allowed to cross four or five "T's" and dot several "I's."

The court of the King of Serbia is sneered at because it resembled a comic opera. That's far ahead of some of the other European courts, which resemble tragedies of the darkest hue.

The question of whether a man can prevent aeronauts from trespassing upon the air above his land is being broached. Before long we will see balloon signs, "Keep Off the Air. No Trespassing."

A dry town in Michigan confiscated four hundred barrels of beer and used them for sprinkling the streets. The aroma that goes up probably makes up for the absence of the saloons.

President Taft had to interview himself in order to give the public his views on the tariff question. The inference is that nobody else cares a darn what he thinks about it.

We are informed by a returning militiaman that in spite of the rigorous anti-liquor laws at the encampment, blind-tigering was a very popular diversion.

That Texas man who gave out an interview favoring the division of Texas while in Baltimore had better stay there. Baltimore is welcome to him.

Superintendent Herring's statement that the penitentiary intends to reform the convict is little short of startling.

A Tramp's Good Luck.
That's the comedy act tonight at the Auditorium, presented by Harris and Vernon, the team that took Oklahoma City by storm, playing two return dates. 57-1t

Second Trial of Patrick Calhoun.

San Francisco, Cal., July 19.—With but a few weeks intermission since the end of his first trial, which was one of the longest trials on record in the criminal courts in this country, Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railways and a man of national prominence as a capitalist and promoter, faces the prospect of spending the remainder of July and August in the court room undergoing the grueling cross-examination of Prosecutor Heney. Calhoun's case was called in court today and the indications are that the trial will proceed without delay. He is to be tried on charges of having offered to bribe a supervisor to vote for an overhead trolley permit in 1906. This is the second trial on the same charge. The first trial resulted in a hung jury.

A Correction.
Wichita Falls, Tex., July 19.—Editor Times: Dear Sir—In Saturday's issue of the Times, under the heading, "Will meet August 9th," you have an interview from me, and in the closing part of that interview you make me say:

"Governor Campbell will not attend this meeting, but will send a representative. The latter has not been named, but will probably be either Private Secretary Gus Barton or C. E. Evans of Abilene, secretary for the Educational Conference."

This last clause is evidently a mistake on the part of the reporter. Governor Campbell did not intimate to me that he would appoint either of the gentlemen named in this article nor was their names mentioned by Governor Campbell. Nor did I mention either of their names in my interview.

Please kindly publish this correction and oblige, yours truly,
EDGAR SCURRY.

Referring to the above, will say that Judge Scurry is in no way responsible for the paragraph quoted.

New York Bankers Ask for Wichita Advertising Matter.

Megargel & Company, bankers of New York city, this morning applied to Secretary Gohlke of the Chamber of Commerce for a large amount of advertising matter to assist them in the sale of the bonds of the Wichita Falls and Southern Railway. The letter says, "We feel this would be the means of bringing to your town a most desirable class of people."

THE IMPOSSIBLE.

It Lies Just Beyond the Limit of Our Own Understanding.

Here is a striking parable by Miss E. Fox Howard, which we take from the "Friends' Fellowship Papers."

"A dog tried to open a door. He scratched it, threw himself against it, struggled to get his nose under it and burrow his way out, but at last he decided that the door would not open and never could open, so he lay down before it and went to sleep.

"A child was watching the dog, and he laughed and turned the handle with his small fingers, and the door was open. Then he took a book, and, sitting on the floor, he turned over the leaves one by one and gazed at the queer black marks upon them without knowing what they meant, for he was a very little child and he could not read. As there were no pictures to be found he tossed it away.

"But a boy picked up the book and laughed and read page after page of a wonderful fairy tale. Then he went to school and puzzled his head over a sum which had to be brought to the class that morning. Try as he might the sum would not prove, and the boy said: 'I can't do it. I'm sure it can't be done. There must be a mistake in the book.'

"But the pupil's teacher laughed, and, taking the blotted exercise book from the boy, he quickly worked out and proved the sum. Then he turned to his own studies and went into the laboratory, for he was learning chemistry. All the morning he labored among the gases and the acids, but he could not get the right combinations and only succeeded in making a loud explosion. 'It's all rubbish to say that potash and carbon form potassium!' he said. 'They simply explode, and I defy any one to say they don't!'

"But the master, who had heard the noise, came and took it into his own hands, and soon the metal was dropping from the condenser. After school was over the master, who was getting an old man, sat in his study reading a paper on modern scientific thought. As he read his brow darkened, and at last he flung it down and said: 'It is a monstrous idea. How can the creation of the world have taken millions of years? The good old Bible account of the six days of creation is good enough for me.' And he wrote an angry letter of remonstrance to the great professor who had sent him the paper.

"But the professor only smiled, for he was a geologist and had read the message of the rocks. He himself, one of the deepest thinkers of the day, sat late into the night among his books, trying to fit some newly discovered laws of physics into his schemes of things and to bring his mind nearer to a solution of the great why of the universe. At last he bowed his head and said: 'It is impossible. Facts are too conflicting. I cannot explain them, and I doubt if there is any explanation.'

"Just beyond the limit of our own understanding lies the impossible."

Death of Jerome Bentley.

The following from the Monterey (Mexico) News of July 16th, tells of the death of Jerome Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bentley, formerly of this city:

Jerome O. Bentley, agent of the North American Accident Insurance Co., with headquarters in the City of Mexico, died last evening at 7:40 at the Mercy Hospital in this city of typhoid fever complicated with pneumonia.

Mr. Bentley arrived in Monterey a little over two weeks ago and had already been suffering from fever for about ten days. On consulting a physician he was sent to the Hospital, where, in spite of every attention, he gradually became worse and it was thought advisable to notify his relatives in Oklahoma. His father left immediately for Monterey, arriving here last Tuesday. W. S. Jones, general agent for Mexico of the Company, which the late Mr. Bentley was representing, was also present.

Mr. Bentley Sr. is a prominent Mason in Oklahoma. Members of the local lodge will please take notice. Funeral will be held this morning from the hospital, interment being in Carmen cemetery.

Mr. Bentley, at his death, was 23 years, 6 months and 21 days of age. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bentley of this city. He was a model young man and was liked and very popular with his school-mates and the younger set, and his death comes as a shock to them.

Thorberry Budget.

Thorberry, Tex., July 19.—The ladies of the Methodist church will give an ice cream social at the church Wednesday night. They will begin to serve at 6 o'clock. The community and surrounding communities are invited to come and enjoy the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Reed went to Fort Worth yesterday to visit Mr. Reed's father and mother.

Rev. Wisdom went to Dallas today to accompany his wife and children home in a few days. His oldest son has been quite sick since they have been visiting in Dallas, but he is some better, the doctor thinking he will be able to come home in a few days.

The many friends of Dr. G. R. Yantis, many of whom are former patrons, will be indeed glad to learn of the removal of his offices and laboratories from Bowie, Texas, to Wichita Falls. Dr. Yantis is one of the best known and most successful gynecologist, obstetrician, pedologist and general practitioners in Northwest Texas, and formerly owned and operated the Susie Sanitarium at Bowie. His offices in the City National Bank Building are certainly elegant and expensive; and are claimed to be the most modern and complete in the State.

Duke of Saxe-Coburg is 25.

Berlin, July 19.—A dispatch from Coburg says that elaborate festivities were held there today in celebration of the twenty-fifth birthday of Charles Edward, the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. The young ruler is exceedingly popular among his subjects and, although of English birth, he is also a particular favorite of Emperor William. The emperor, in fact, superintended the completion of the young duke's education after he had been called to the throne of Saxe-Coburg.

New Photo Studio.

Mr. B. F. Reese, formerly of Princeton, Indiana, is in the city today and has come here to locate permanently. He is arranging to establish a ground floor studio in Wichita Falls and expects to make it as fine a studio as can be found in the State. He has been in the photograph business all his life and comes here highly recommended as a photographer.

Convention of Miners.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 19.—The annual convention of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America, assembled in Wilkesbarre today with an attendance of between 400 and 500 delegates. The sessions are expected to continue a week or ten days. So far as is known, nothing out of the ordinary routine of business is to come before the convention.

Wake Up! You're Losing Money

Every day that you put off building sheds for that idle machinery and leave it standing around in the field to rust and rot in the rain and sun, you're losing money. Good, hard plunks, that's what you're losing. And when it costs so little for lumber to build good sheds, and when you can build them yourself, you simply can't afford to leave a single machine or tool unprotected from the elements. What's the use of putting it off? You know you've got to have 'em. So make up your mind and come in and see us about it the next time you're in town. After the job is done you'll be glad you did it. You'll save something by getting busy right quick.

It All Depends on What Goods Cost

NOT WHAT YOU SELL THEM FOR

A suit of clothes we buy for $15 might cost another firm $17.50 or even $20. This you must consider. When we sell goods for 25 per ct. discount you must take into consideration how much cheaper we buy goods than some firms. THAT'S WHY we claim our 25 per cent discount is equal to some stores 50 and 75 per cent. We have sales but twice a year, but when we do have one it is the kind that counts. Remember we give 25 per cent discount and more on some goods.

America Represented at Bath Pageant
London, July 19.—Not even in the days of Beau Nash did ever a gayer or more brilliant crowd assemble at Bath than that which gathered at the historic watering place today for the opening of the week's historical pageant. Not the least interesting feature of the attendance was the presence of a bevy of pretty American matrons and maids representing the cities or towns of Bath in Maine, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and other States of the American commonwealth. These fair visitors were present at the invitation of the corporation of Bath and are to be entertained during the week as the guests of the city after which their home towns were named.

Minstrels Made Hit.

Allen's Mammoth Pavilion Negro Minstrels were here Wednesday and Thursday, April 15th and 16th, inst., and gave four performances under their canvas theater, which is equipped with all the scenic and stage effects and conveniences as used in regular theaters. The minstrels were indeed a success from start to finish. These minstrels have one of the largest, strongest and best constellations of negro performers, including vocalists and comedians, before the public today. The Allen's Minstrels have the reputation of being one of the finest Negro Minstrels on record and produce a show that will make you laugh. Their street parade is something great. The performers wear white silk hats and snow white duck suits, with fans and umbrellas. The parade here was headed by Prof. McCammon's superb brass band, and other features making it one of the most novel parades ever seen. The jokes were something great. Special mention must be made of the interlocutor, Mr. LaRue, a graduate of Tuskegee, Ala., who is very intelligent and has a deep bass voice. "The Funny Burnt Cork Gentry," Messrs. W. M. Holback and "Kid" Robinson in his "This Ain't Like Home," "Jimmy Wise," etc., were pretty good. Miss Lawrence has a clear, sweet voice.—Daily Messenger, Charleston, S. C.

A MEAL WITH A MOOR

The Repast Began With Green Tea Served In Glasses.

FOOD EATEN WITH FINGERS.

Table Manners in a Moorish Gentleman's House—A Particular Mark of Favor by the Host to His Guests That is Not Always Appreciated.

During my stay in Fez I took every opportunity of gaining a closer insight into the domestic life of the inhabitants, and for that reason, writes Lawrence Harris in the London Graphic, I heartily accepted an invitation to dine with Abdullah el Fasi, the minister for foreign affairs.

On arriving at his home I was ushered into a large room in which were seated five or six guests of high rank. Abdullah took me by the hand and gravely introduced me to the company. A silken cushion was placed on the divan, upon which I seated myself.

The repast commenced with green tea served in small glasses. The custom of preparing this is peculiar to the country. To the principal native guest is given the honor of making the tea. In this case it was Raisul, who, being under British protection, had been invited to dinner in my honor. He accepted the invitation to do the honors of the evening and ordered the negress to place the native brass tray in front of where he sat cross legged on the divan. The methods of proceeding are not such as would recommend themselves to an English tea party.

Measuring out the tea in his hand, he dropped it in the pot. The negress slave then poured boiling water over it. This was swilled around and the water poured off. The pot was then filled with huge lumps of loaf sugar, broken roughly from a sugar loaf, and a little mint was added. A small quantity of the concoction was poured into a glass, sipped and poured back again into the pot. This process was continued until the required delicacy of flavor was reached.

The company then drank the customary three glasses of this strupy mixture, drawing it through their teeth with a sound like a horse drinking. As each glass was finished and replaced in the tray it was refilled and handed back by the "keeper of the pot," who was supposed to remember to whom each glass belonged. At a sign from the host the tray was removed, and another slave approached each person with a brass bowl, soap and towel and a bronze kettle of warm water. The guests washed their right hands preparatory to the dinner.

We all sat around a small table about six inches high, upon which was placed the dish. The courses were many and varied. As says the Hadith, "The blessing of God rests on the food taken with the fingers," so all good Mohammedans follow the words of their prophet. No knife must be used on bread, and the small round loaves are broken up and handed around. The tajin, or stew, is not difficult to manipulate, although the olives floating in argon oil slip through your fingers. Miniature tugs of war occur with your vis-a-vis in the effort to dismember a fowl—divide tough meat.

As a particular mark of favor the host will from time to time place before you a little titbit which he has torn off with his greasy fingers. However your stomach rebels against it, you have to swallow the morsel. During the meal the national dish of couscous is invariably served. This dish is made from broken grains of wheat specially prepared by the women. It is served piled up like a huge cone, with the meat on top. Each person scoops out his own little hole in the side and must not trespass on his neighbor's portion.

To the inexperienced it is difficult to manage the couscous without making an awful mess of it. The small grain must be judiciously compressed into a loose ball and then shot into the mouth with the back of the thumb. The Moors take extreme delight in watching the ineffectual efforts of Europeans who are in difficulties with their couscous. Moors are very great eaters, and little conversation is carried on during the meal. A bowl of water is passed from hand to hand for those who require drink. The last course finished, the bowl and water are once more requisitioned and the hands and mouth washed.

The Poor Man's Gym.
"Would you mind telling me," asked Mrs. Bourdalo, glancing admiringly at the athletic shoulders of the prospective boarder, "how do you keep in such splendid physical condition?"
"I go through a few gymnastic exercises every morning," confessed this young man, flushing.
"Well, I'm sorry, but we can't board you. I've had the bathroom monopolized that way before."—Kansas City Times.

His Criticism.
Mrs. Gollightly (to eminent musical critic)—What do you think of the new opera, Mr. Crochet? Eminent Musical Critic—Well, it wouldn't be bad if somebody would set it to music.—London Pick-Me-Up.

His Definition.
Teacher—Wilfred, a bee is something we get wax from. Now, tell me, what is a bee? Wilfred—Our teacher is a bee because he's something we get whacks from.—London Telegraph.

One "Take this" is better than ten "God bless you's."—German Proverb.

Quick, Cheap and Easy Gas Cooking

You can't appreciate the saving in time, temper, and money effected by a

until you have used one. It is as great an improvement on a coal stove as the latter is on the old fashioned fire place. At the touch of a match it gives an intense heat just when you want it. Instantly controllable. No smoke, no smell, no coal to bring up, no ashes to carry out, no uneven temperature, no fallen cakes or pies, no delayed meal. Not necessary to change your nice dress; everything clean and tidy. We sometimes take in your old stove as part payment.

That it Costs the Manufacturer of Roasted Coffees from 3 to 10c lb. to Market their Products

This includes advertising, salaries and expenses of salesmen, office and collection expenses, bad accounts, etc. Green coffees have a fixed market value, as cotton, corn, wheat, etc., and can be bought by everyone at the same price. That's one reason why we roast our coffees. Another one is that green coffees enhance in value with age, while the roasted product deteriorates. We are roasting a line of Rios, Santos, Pea-berries, Maracaibos, Bogotas, Kroe and Interior Old Government Javas and Arabian Mochas. These are all fine old coffees, the very best of the World's production and are roasted fresh all the while. We are roasting straight, and blend to suit all coffee tastes, we can suit yours. We care not what coffee you are using, we know we can give you a better value than you are getting. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." Give us at least a trial. Tell us what price you are paying, and the kind of coffee you like, and leave the rest to us—
