as above. This total is for both real and personal property, the separate figures being not yet available. The total is somewhat above the estimates by those in a position to increase would be between five and six hundred thousand and that the totals would not exceed the three and a half million mark. With a tax rate of sixty-five cents on each one hundred dollars of valuation, the city's income for next year will be $23,521. In addition to the ad valorem tax of 65 cents on the $100 valuation, each owner of a house (business or residence) will be required to pay sewer rental of $6 per year; each male citizen between 21 and 45 years will be required to pay a street tax of $3.00 per year. This revenue, together with the licenses, occupation taxes and fines collected will give to the city in the neighborhood of $35 000 annually. Out of this $35,000 salaries must be paid, street improvements made, interest on bonds met and a sinking fund created. In the matter of fines, the Times learns that the poice department is more than self-

For Engineers' Auxiliary LADIES of B. of L. E.

Tuesday, Wednesday & Thursday July 20, 21 THE MAJESTIC

There has been a special program arranged for these three days, in life motion pictures; also our vaudeville will be the best and most refined on the great Swor & Frankel Circuit.

We wish to call especial attention of our patrons that we have arranged for these evenings a series of views from the ruins of the dreadful Zephyr cyclone. These are not drawn from imagination, but are actual photographs. These pictures are being shown throughout the large cities and are creating a great deal of favorable comment. Come one, come all, and assist in this cause. Don't say 'No' to the young ladies when they come to sell you tickets, for they are working for a prize which will be given the one selling the most tickets.

Every effort will be made to keep our patrons cool and comfortable. The Majestic is practically an airdome, and with a number of electric fans we assure you comfort. As many shows will be run as needed to accommodate the crowds.

Each show will consist of 2000 feet of the best pictures, two beautiful illustrated songs by Mr. Moore of Fort Worth, and thirty minutes of refined vaudeville. Get the habit and go with the crowd. Admission-Adults, 15c; children, 10c.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

On Tuesday, August 3rd, an election for the adoption or rejection of three proposed amendments to the State Constitution are to be voted on throughout the State. The people of the State, as a rule, do not seem much interested in the matter of amending the Constitution, and when that is the case a light vote is polled and defeat for the amendments the most probable

The aim of these proposed amendments to the State Constitution is for the perfection of our public school system. The first on the ticket to be voted is: 'For the Amendment to the Constitution Validating School Districts and School District Bonds.'' It will be remembered that a decision rendered by the higher courts of the State last fall held unconstitutional the formation of various independent school districts throughout Texas, and the bonds issued by these districts, a greater portion of which were purchased by the State, were issued illegally, and unless this proposed amendment is acted upon favorably by the people they will not be paid and the State and other purchasers will be the losres.

For the Amendment to Article 11, Sections 4 and 5 of the Constitution' is the second proposition on the ticket to be voted on August 3rd, and relates to cities and towns and independent school districts. Section 4 gives the right to cities and towns of 5000 population and less a right to be charem tax to defray the expenses of their to the warm weather. local government, but such tax shall never exceed for any one year onefourth of one per cent, and shall be biennial revolutionary scare. It is By the year (mail or carrier) $5.00 entirely a local question, and if conditions as they exist today warrant the building of a new fail, there is not the least doubt but that the taxpayers will vote for the bonds. It will be remembered that an election on this same proposition was held some time since and carried, but owing to a flaw found by the attorney general in the wording of the election notice, he would not approve the bonds, hence this second election:

> The Times has been asked by a patron of the baseball games to call the attention of our county officers to the fact that the law against gambling is violated openly at every game. As to whether there is any truth in this assertion or not, the writer, of himself, cannot say. Among those on the national committee ready to direct the work of saving the infants are Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, Dr. Charles R. Henderson, professor of sociology of the University of Chicago, and others prominent in social and medical circles and work in this country.

FORM A LOBBY.

Rome's Beggars Continue, as Inhabi tated Nuisanec.

Rome, July 20.-The Corriere de la Sera, one of the leading daily papers, is asking for law to suppress public begging in Italy. Those who know how numerous beggars are here will easily realize what a fight is being made against the paper. The beggars are rich enough to make their influence felt with some papers. The Corriere, however, continues the fight for the law. The paper says the country is disgraced by these professional alms seekers. Only a few weeks ago $20,000 in cash and bonds were found in the possession of a beggar arrested in the Italian capital. This is rather a large sum for any one in Italy and certainly too large for a beggar, who sits day after day in front of a church 'begging for bread.' The paper demanding a law against begging says that his case is not exceptional in Italy, and it is this conviction that moves the paper to insist upon the passage of the law.

Tourists are interested in this demand, since they suffer greatly from these public beggars, who pester them everywhere.

The king is not going into this venhis country the largest Chinese museum outside of China. It is his opinion that enough money can be made in the restaurant business in a few months to establish the museum. The building for the restaurant will be the secured co-operation of some prominent Chinese, who will help him select objects of art for the museum.

He favors this method of raising funds as an easier method than that of securing subscriptions. He intimates that persons who have money part with it more easily for food delicacies than for art treasures.

To Discuss Municipal Problems.

Marinette, Wis., July 21.-The eleventh annual conference of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities opened here today with a large and representative attendance. The ocnference is a notable gathering of mayors and other officials who share a common desire to secure honest and economical administration of affairs in their respective cities.

An address of welcome by Mayor Fisher of Marinette opened the gathering this afternoon. Mayor Horlick of Racine responded for the visitors and ex-Mayor Bolens of Port Washington presented his annual address as esident of the association. This was followed by the report of the secretary, W. G. Kirchhoffer of Madison. Several papers on roads and pavements were presented and the session was brought to a close with a discussion of the advisability of changing the date for the payment of taxes from January to July. Numerous other questions of public interest are scheduled for con-

Wake Up! You're Losing Money

Every day that you put off building sheds for that idle machinery and leave it standing around in the field to rust and rot in the rain and sun, you're losing money. Good, hard plunks, that's what you're losing.

And when it costs so little for lumber to build good sheds, and when you can build them yourself, you simply can't afford to leave a single machine or tool unprotected from the elements, What's the use of putting it off? You know you've got to have 'em. So make up your mind and come in and see us about It the next time you're in town. After the job is done you'll be glad you did it. A Line-Up on Some of Next Season

Plays.

When, in the autumn, Charles Frohman produces Thompson Buchanan's comedy of "A Woman's Way" in London, Miss Grace George's role of the resourceful young wife will be acted by Miss Marie Tempest. When, a year from next September, Miss George goes to London for a season, her play will be from the pen of Miss Tempest's husband, Cosmo Gordon-Lennox. The story of this deal not only is interesting of itself, but would seem to illustrate a point well scored for a young American playwright with one production to his credit to date, in Mr. Buchanan, against a young English playwright, with at least three sound hits to his credit, in W. Somerset Maugham.

Miss Tempest has been acting in Maugham's ''Penelope'' for a long time in London. Returning travelers assured Miss George that the play would be ideal for her purposes in this country. So, when she and her husband-manager, William A. Brady, went abroad last month they made direct for Miss Tempest's theater, the Comedy, to see "Penelope." Neither cared enough for the Maugham play to make an offer for it; and Miss George explained to Miss Tempest that she regarded ''A Woman's Way'' as the better play of the two. Miss Tempest's curiosity was aroused, she asked to be allowed to read the Buchanan piece, did so, and then made an offer for it. Miss George naturally argued that the comedy would keep until next year, when she, herself, would play it in Christina ruled the country as queen London. 'Twas then the offer was regent until he atained his majority. made for the forthcoming Gordon-Lennox play for the Buchanan piece. Miss George pointed out that, while the of her adopted country, have made her deal would give her a play to use after extremely popular among all classes in 'A Woman's Way'' in this country, t would leave her without a fresh vehicle for her London engagement in appears in public the people often 1910, as it was Miss Tempest's plan press forward to kiss the hem of her to appear there in her husband's work. So, to get ''A Woman's W,ay'' Miss Tempest surrendered both the Amercan and English rights of the new Gordon-Lennox piece. Although O. Henry's short story called 'He Also Serves' was selected by Harry Askin as the basis of 'Lo.' the narrative of Hunky McGee and his Central American adventures, are becoming a mere background for the romance devised by Henry, himself (he s Sydney Porter when he signs his hecks) and his co-worker, Franklin P. Adams. Hunky is become John O'Day devoted worker for Tammany Hall, some of whose braves have fooled with stock-jobbing on the ice supply so boldly that only by getting the books they hope to escape a scorching in a legislative investigation that is threatened. However, he is less interested in the scientific outcome of the trip than in pushing through certain vague claims he possesses on lands in Yucatan, owng to data that the tribe from which he springs is in direct descent from the Aztecs that formerly inhabited that country. A hot-headed Spanish noblewoman, bent on fomenting a revolution, and her fealous, suspicious husband, a former actor, are other members of the expedition.

The party finds the fertile, worthwhile part of Yucatan in virtual possession of an English adventurer named Bing, who is exploiting the natives and resources of the land to the last penny. The Minister of War, on whom he countess has been depending for aid in the revolution, sells out to Bing, who, with law and order on his side, is in position to give firm opposition to Whitefeather, whose ambition to rule the land speedily becomes known. A native Yucatan girl, who holds the tribal legends in her possession, becomes smitten with the educated Whitefeather, and makes a trade with O'Day whereby the latter is to use his influence to win Whitefeather for her in exchange for the information that will defeat Bing. As in the original "He Also Serves,' 'the Indian and the Yucatan maid go off into the forest, but only to follow a path that takes them in safety to the cruiser that has brought the party from New York; and the marines of the cruiser are dispatched to escort O'Day and his party to security, after Bing has been compelled to turn over all his wealth to Whitefeather, in exchange for the right to earn another fortune in exploiting until you have used one. It is as great an improvement on a coal stove as the latter is on the old fashioned fire place. At the touch of a match it gives an intense heat just when you want it. Instantly controlable. No smoke, no smell. no coal to bring up, no ashes to carry out, no uneven temperature, no fallen cakes or pies, no delayed meal. Not necessary to change your nice dress; everything clean and tidy. We sometimes take in your old stove as part payment.

Quick, Cheap and Easy Gas Cooking

You can't appreciate the saving in time, temper, and money effected by a

FAVORITE GAS STOVE
