WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 18, 1909

NUMBER 110

Y. M. C. A. WORK IS MOVING STEADILY

GOOD ATTENDANCE AND MUCH INTEREST IN YESTERDAY'S MEETING.

COULTER OUTLINES PLAN

Question of Finances is First—Organization to Take Place in October.

The question of the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association in this city was discussed at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon, when about twenty citizens gathered to talk the matter over with State Secretary L. A. Coulter of Dallas. Mr. Coulter will return the latter part of October when it is expected to perfect the organization.

Mr. Coulter said that the building now nearing completion was a suitable structure for the organization and that with proper cooperation there would be little difficulty in getting under way. He outlined what the needs in the way of finances would be and explained the organization process in detail.

Plans which have not been divulged are under way for the organization and extensions are contemplated in several ways.

Secretary Coulter said that four things were essential—favorable public sentiment, good equipment, good directors, and a good secretary. He outlined the possibilities of an up to date Y. M. C. A. in the way of physical, mental and moral development and interested his hearers very much in the general plans.

The question of finances is first and by the time Mr. Coulter returns the necessary steps will have been taken. Considerable interest was manifested at yesterday's meeting and there is little doubt that enthusiastic support will be a valuable. Among those present were Rev. Farley, Rev. Morrow, Messrs Toland, Bullock, Gohlke, Gibson, Pennington, Hunt, Pyle, Smoot, Dr. Walker, Collier, Sims and others.

NEW ENGINE FOR MILL USING GAS FOR FUEL

The Wichita Mill and Elevator Co. has completed the installation of its new engine and it was given a trial yesterday. The new engine is worthy of notice from the fact that natural gas is used for fuel. The mill is now probably the largest manufacturing concern in the Southwest to depend upon gas for its fuel. The trial of the engine was made empty but the load will be put on during the next day or two and a more severe test made. If the trial proves satisfactory, other concerns will probably follow suit.

Motor-boating promises to become one of the leading diversions of Wichitans during the next few months and the completion of the street car line to the lake places a convenient body of water at the disposal of town people, only a short ride from the city. Several motor boats have already been ordered to add to the "fleet" now at the lake and others will probably be added during the fall. In addition, quite a few row boats and sail boats will be purchased. To accommodate the boatmen, the amusement company is planning to build a harbor of piling, at some point

TAFT SQUARELY FOR PAYNE BILL IN SPEECHES—THE PERSON-EQUATION.

IS IN MINNESOTA TODAY

Gov. Johnson Sends Message of Greeting From Sick Bed—Visits Twin Cities.

By Associated Press. Winona, Sept. 18.—The indirect declaration that he put party above principle; the covert criticism of those who allow personal convictions to guide them in legislative matters, and the taking of an emphatic stand in defense of the Payne tariff bill, were the features of Taft's speech here last night. In discussing the tariff, which constituted the burden of his speech, he said that the tariff on hides was taken off because it was not necessary.

The crowd was with him, largely on account of Representative Tawney's personal influence. Tawney has been in hot water himself for supporting the Payne bill so blindly and the President's attitude sent his stock up flying.

The President spoke here last night after an eventful day, leaving for Minneapolis and St. Paul this morning.

By Associated Press. Minneapolis, Sept. 18.—Flags and other patriotic declarations flying in the breeze wafted a silent welcome to President Taft, while an immense crowd at the depot gave him a noisy welcome, as he stepped from his private car early today.

The President went in an auto to the Minneapolis Club, where breakfast was tendered him. A visit to Fort Snelling followed, after which the party left for St. Paul in automobiles.

By Associated Press. St. Paul, Sept. 18.—The city is brilliantly decorated in honor of President Taft and the streets are thronged with victors and citizens who greeted the Executive vociferously. Luncheon was tendered the distinguished visitor in the auditorium, where there were seats for two thousand people. Gov. Johnson was absent on account of illness.

By Associated Press. Rochester, Minn., Sept. 18.—Notwithstanding his suffering, Governor Johnson forgot his own condition this morning to dictate the telegram of welcome to Minnesota to President Taft. The message reads as follows:

"A hearty and sincere welcome to the State of Minnesota. I greatly regret that illness prevents my presence at your reception."

President Taft immediately wired the Governor the following:

"I am greatly distressed at your illness. I miss your smiling and courteous greeting and thank you from the bottom of my heart for the message of welcome sent by you when you were on a bed of pain. I fervently hope and pray your wonderful strength and fortitude will make your recovery speedy."

(Signed) Wm. H. TAFT.
At 10 o'clock Governor Johnson is reported resting easier.

Prominent Chicago Politicians.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Sept. 18.—Bench warrants were issued today for Jesse A. Baldwin, secretary of the Cook County Jury Commission; N. A. Martin, secretary of the first ward; Alderman Kenna and W. J. Rayburn, a real estate man, charging conspiracy to draw the names of the grand jury illegally. The warrants caused a great sensation.

WAYS OF THE ORIENT.

Queer Ideas About Alleviating Bodily Suffering.

MAGIC CURES OF THE TURKS.

The Treatment to Which Crippled Children Are Subjected—Bunches of Garlic and Strings of Blue Beads as Panaceas Against All Kinds of Ills.

A stone strikes some part of the body of an oriental and inflicts a wound. The train of ideas that this accident would produce in his mind would run something like this: The stone is the cause of pain, the cause of the wound. It is the principal origin of the trouble. But the essence of every origin is hidden, secret and therefore sacred. The stone becomes an awe inspiring fetich. The wound is neglected. The fetich has to be propitiated. This simple illustration is borne out and supported by everyday experience which medical men encounter in the east.

Another instance may be derived from among the lower classes of the Greek population of Constantinople. A child falls and cuts his head. The first thought of the parent is to be sure not to wash and to bind up the wound, still less to call medical assistance, however grave the cut may turn out to be. This is always an afterthought, which very often comes so late that the help of a surgeon can prove of no use.

The first thing the father or mother of the injured child thinks of doing is to pour over the shoulder upon the place of the accident a libation of wine or sugared water and to whisper in performing this some mysterious formula supposed to possess supernatural efficacy against every form of evil.

The Moslems are addicted to the queerest practices for purposes of healing or alleviating bodily pain. A Turk, for instance, in distress or suffering from some disease, however severe, knows of no better remedy than to fix a piece of his dress, torn off with true oriental equanimity, to an iron bar of some saint's tomb or to drink water from a rumbler into which he has previously put a sheet of paper with writings from the Koran. Sometimes he will take a jar, the interior of which has been written all over with strange formulae and signs. He will then fill it with water, wait till these formulae and signs have been thoroughly dissolved and drink the singular solution with an absolute faith in its wonder working efficacy.

Sheltered by the somber cypresses of the great Mohammedan cemetery at Scutari (the ancient Chrysopolis on the Asiatic coast of the Bosphorus) there stands in picturesque solitude the tomb of a horse. Every Friday afternoon Turkish mothers carry to that tomb their crippled children to be submitted by a select "Khadja" (priest) to an extraordinary course of treatment. These children are dragged, with their diseased limbs dangling over the hillock, from one end of the tomb to the other and then back again in the same fashion. The occult influence emanating from this hillock is supposed to be an all efficient panacea.

It is not difficult to trace in this case the crude, imperfect association of ideas. The horse has long been considered an emblem of vigor, typifying, as Ruskin says, "the flow and force of life." Hence the belief of the oriental, inherited, no doubt, from the Greeks, in the all connecting vital and influence of occult and mysterious entities which are supposed to emanate constantly from a horse's tomb.

The wearing of a necklace of blue beads or of garlic as a potent means of keeping away disease or of warding off the evil eye is quite a universal matter of sincere belief in the whole of Turkey. This superstition is shared, as is well known, by the lower classes of many a country in civilized eastern Europe. There, however, it is not so universal and rampant as in the orient.

There is scarcely a house in the Moslem, Greek and Armenian districts of the population of Constantinople which has not hanging above its entrance door a collection of garlic and scarcely a beast of toll which has not attached to some part of it a string of blue beads. Among the uneducated it is impossible to find an individual who does not pin absolute faith to the all healing power of such charms, especially of blue beads, which are supposed to be an unfailing panacea against every possible ill.

Less general is the belief in the east in the baleful influence of the planets Saturn and Mars upon the constitution of the human body, upon its four cardinal humors—blood, phlegm, yellow bile and black bile. These planets are considered by some orientals, especially in the far south, as the unmistakable causes of all sorts of ailments. Wee unto him who begins any work when Saturn or Mars is in the ascendant.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In Society

YONDER.

Lord, take me yonder—There! In this world, do I find Your children still unkind. And, Father, everywhere The rich seem not to care That faints the hunted hind Or bleats the hunted deer. The poor seem dead in mind, And hopeless in despair; They seem to have no care Of whether blows the wind; They do not seem to mind If it be storm or fair. To death they seem resigned.

Your smiling sky I see, Your evening airs I feel; And, from the storm, I steal My favorite melody, From your artillery; For when the heavens reel My soul rests peacefully, My craft's of even keel, My chant is fair in rhyme, Its music, all the time Hath sung the woe and weal His master's soul doth feel; His weariness with clime And emptiness of zeal.

—John A. Moroso.

The next few days will see a number of Wichita's young ladies leaving to spend the winter at school. The Misses Kell leave on Sept. 21, for Austin to reenter the State University. Miss Vivian Mathis leaves next Saturday for Sherman, to resume her studies at Kidd-Key. Miss Flora Kemp will shortly return to Dallas and St. Mary's.

Street car rides have been a popular diversion among the younger set during the past week and every night large numbers of them take advantage of the opportunity for a ride to the hill or to the lake.

Quite a few box parties have been gotten up for the opening of the Wichita Theatre and Wichita society will be well represented among those who watch the opening performance, 'The Alaskan.'

Mrs. O. E. Maer entertained a large number of friends with a 'Forty-two' party at her home yesterday afternoon, where a very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Miss Blanche Slager of Fort Worth has returned home after a pleasant visit to Mrs. Cobb of this city.

A number of young people are planning a picnic on Lake Wichita for tomorrow night.

GASOLINE STOVE EXPLODED.

Girl Dead and Mother Badly Burned at Sulphur, La.
Sulphur, La.—Francis Keat, aged 20, a pretty Greek girl, is dying tonight and her mother, Mrs. Cetemine Keat, is seriously burned about the neck and arms as a result of a GASOLINE STOVE EXPLOSION. The girl's clothes caught, and her mother, in trying to save her, was also badly burned.

Cockades and Buttons.
The cockade originated simply in the knot of ribbons or strings by which the broad flaps of the seventeenth century round hat were "cocked" or drawn up to the brim in fine weather, and thus originated the three cornered hat as well as the cocked hat of later times. There was nothing specially military about the usage, as the ignorant assert. The same strings survive in the loops of the hats of bishops and other ecclesiastical dignitaries in Great Britain. In the strings of the hats worn by French curies and Spanish and Italian padres and in the cords which are still seen on the hats of some livery servants.

It naturally became the custom for military men to "cock" their hats with the livery color of the prince they served, and as the Hanoverian color was the convenient one of black the "black cockade" became associated in the minds of the people with military uniform. In an old Scotch song of Shirramuir, citing "Woodward's Heraldry," we read of "the red coat lads with black cockades," and a knot of white ribbons was naturally chosen as the badge of their opponents. When the old use of the strings was forgotten the knot, in the form of a rosette of ribbon, survived, just as did the buttons on the backs of our coats, which were intended to fasten back the flaps in riding or marching.—"Justice of the Peace."

Striking a Comet.
If we ask the effect of a comet's striking the earth we will readily see that if the head of the comet were composed of bowlders a collision would have disastrous consequences. A rain of millions of great meteoric stones would, of course, bring catastrophe. If, however, it were merely a rain of small particles or dust we might never become conscious of it, for the particles would never reach us. They would be fused into gas through friction with our atmosphere many miles before reaching the surface. If the gases liberated by friction were in excessive volume we might suffer discomfort or even disaster. It is estimated that hundreds of millions of meteoric particles strike our atmosphere every day. This would be a serious matter if we were not protected by our great sheltering envelope of air. Occasionally a meteoric bowlder is large enough to resist the heat generated by this friction and reaches the surface. This we call a meteorite. The now established connection between comets and meteorites is a matter of great interest.—Ralph B. Larkin in North American Review.

"Choir."
Churchgoers who follow the service in their prayer books would certainly miss the "dear old phrase" concerning "quires and places where they sing," and in time the old fashioned "quires" may be made new fashioned again by the coming of rationalized spelling. "Choir" was a most unnecessary outrage upon the language. The old English "quer" or "quere" became quite naturally "quyer" or "quiere," and so it remained until the end of the seventeenth century, when somebody seems to have introduced "choir" because it looked more like the French "choeur," as if that were a valid reason. There could have been no danger of confusing a church "quiere" and a "quiere" of paper, which is a different word, the French "casher," probably from Latin "quaternarium," a collection of four leaves.—London Standard.

Locked Shah in House of Commons.
A shah of Persia, who made a state visit to England in 1873, had a curious experience in the distinguished strangers' gallery of the house of commons. He soon got tired of watching the legislators at work, but when he made a move to go he was told he could not leave the gallery. It happened at that moment that a division was called, and in accordance with the practice which then prevailed all the doors of the house were locked until the vote was taken. Mr. Gladstone made an interesting comment on the incident. "It is," he wrote in his journal, "probably, or possibly, the first time for more than 500 years that a foreign sovereign has been under personal restraint of any kind in England."—Westminster Gazette.

The Entire Trouble.
"Don't take it so hard," said the sympathizing friend. "Remember that though your daughter is married you have not lost her."
"I know," sobbed the bride's mother. "That's the trouble. Julia and her husband have already picked out the best room in the house for theirs."
—Chicago Record-Herald.

In Perfect Innocence.
The Beauty (turning from a long gaze in the mirror)—I do envy you! The Friend (pleased, but incredulous)—You envy me, my dear! I wonder why.
The Beauty—Because you can see the real me. I can never see anything but the mere reflection.—London Punch.

No Bones Broken.
"It seems his uncle fell out of a hotel window."
"Gracious! Any bones broken?"
"Not one."
"No."
"No. He was merely drowned. It happened in Venice."

Her Reason.
"It is awfully good of you to let me have a dance," a young man remarked gushingly to his partner. "I can't think what made you so kind."
"No?" the girl rejoined. "Why, don't you know that it's a charity ball?"

He gives twice who gives quickly.
for he is sure to be asked again.—London Punch.

WEATHER FORECAST.
For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
Tonight and Sunday, generally fair. Cooler Sunday.

Our friend Bill Edwards of the Henrietta Review, is still not satisfied. Listen to this:

"It wasn't Henrietta's fault. One of our merchants has a business letter from Weatherford which concludes thus: 'I see you people in Henrietta are not satisfied with a good town but prefer to live in a dead one, judging from the vote on prohibition. Weatherford is a dry town, and the deadest one in the world; and the pros are all leaving here now and going to the wet Wichita Falls. That looks funny don't it.'"

And also this:
"The anti announce definitely their intention to contest the local option election held in this county on the 4th inst; and without information as to specific charges, we are told that there are ample grounds in numerous irregularities. They have 30 days time in which to act, and promise to be heard from with no uncertain noise before the time expires."

"I have just as much respect for the manufacturer who wants to put his hands in other peoples pockets as I have for the wool-grower or lumberman who wants to do the same thing." Bryan.

That is rank heresy. Texas raises more wool and produces lumber for export as well as domestic uses. We must protect the interests of these few if we do have to tax many to dot it.—Bonham News.

Albus is getting acquainted with the Wichita Way of doing things. Concerning the arrival of the first Northwestern train, the Democrat says:

"The building of this road has been a marvel of rapidity. When the Wichita Falls gentlemen first made their proposition to the city, and were willing to guarantee the completion of the road by the first of January, many of our people were skeptical. They had seen other roads building to the town, that required more time. But the road is completed to the city three and a half months ahead of schedule time."

The following from the Electra News about the street carline, is heartily appreciated:

A trip over the system was given some of the most prominent citizens to show them they were actually living in a metropolitan city.

The line will be in regular service hereafter and we can again boast of Wichita county and Wichita Falls having the best of everything.

One cannot sympathize with the Philadelphia fans for wanting to lynch Ty Cobb for spiking one of their players. Since the passage of the tariff bill there has been too great a demand for lynching ability to waste any of it on a baseball player.

A Chicago Chinaman offered his umbrella to a lady during a rain, and was fined fifty dollars for his politeness. Such courtesy in Chicago can be combated only by penal methods. They aren't used to it.

A Belgium scientist says that Cook is right and Peary wrong. Thank goodness, the matter is settled now.

The Alamo school has the right idea. Organize a few more Mother's Clubs and in a year or so, prettier school grounds, more sanitary surroundings and other improvements will have become evident.

"The average laborer of today is living better than Queen Elizabeth did in her time," says Secretary Wilson. It is to be hoped that, incidentally, he is behaving himself better also.

PATRONAGE STILL GOOD.

Street Cars Well Crowded With Passengers Yesterday.
There seems to be no abatement of the street car patronage and every evening ends the cars crowded almost to the limit. Street car riding is a very popular and inexpensive diversion and the young people have not been slow to take advantage of it.

The business men were very quick to get into the habit of using the cars in going to and from their offices and this goes to substantially increase the patronage.

VALUE OF THE SOUL.

Heart-Searching Sermon at Methodist Revival Last Night.

Rev Parrish's sermon at the tabernacle revival last night on "The Value of a Soul," was a heart-searching discourse and was appreciated by a large audience. There were several penitents at the altar following the sermon.

There will be no service this afternoon, but the usual sermon tonight at 8 o'clock.

Thanked His Stars.

When the French revolution broke out a number of scientists lost their lives, but Lalande, the astronomer, only paid the more attention to the skies and its constellations. When he found, after the reign of terror, that he had escaped the fury of the mob he exclaimed gratefully, "I may thank my stars for it." Would any apparent jest possess more genuine truth?

Allison tells how during Napoleon's Egyptian campaign no sooner were the mamelukes observed at a distance than the word was given, "Form square; artillery to the angles; asses and savans to the center." The command afforded no little merriment to the soldiers even at such an exciting moment and made them call the asses demisavans.

A Wayside Philosopher.

"How'd you like to be a senator?" inquired the first wanderer.

For Your Health's Sake Use More Cocoa

There are people who can and do work hard from six in the morning to noon on no other breakfast than a cup of strong cocoa.

Now you know that cocoa must be a strong food to make that possible.

The only difference between chocolate and cocoa is that a part of the rich heavy oil is taken out in making the cocoa so that children can drink it and thrive on it.

Iced cocoa is a delicious drink if you boil it a trifle and then do not put in the cream until you are ready to drink it when a dash of whipped cream makes it delicious.

In making the hot drink add a sprinkling of powdered cinnamon to give it a little extra zest.

The Peary-Cook Controversy. Atlanta Constitution.

Issue has been joined between the rival North Pole explorers and claimants, and the courts are now awaiting the evidence.

Peary's charge that Cook is a fakir and has sold the world 'a gold brick' has hurt rather than helped his cause; it has made friends for Cook.

Nevertheless, the public is interested in the evidence rather than the quarrel between the rival pole hunters, for it is upon that it will base its judgment.

Comparing the statements of the two explorers, so far as they have been made public to date, and admitting that Peary reached the pole, there is nothing in them to disprove Cook's claim.

What Cook said about the condition of the ice and the atmosphere as the pole was approached is borne out by Peary's statement of his experiences.

The only material differences in them relate to the temperature and the announcement by Cook of the discovery of a body of land.

It can not be credited that Dr. Cook would have made a false statement as to the discovery of new land, knowing that subsequent exploration would determine the truth or error of his announcement; that if his statement were proven false, the whole fabric of his story would crumble.

Peary's lowest temperature reported was 59 degrees below zero, fahrenheit; Cook's was 83 below.

The anti-Cookites are making much of this difference, yet it appears wholly within reason that Cook should have found the temperature stated. There is an inhabited town in Siberia which holds a record 9 degrees lower than that; one winter at Verkhoyansk, in the province of Yakutsk, it went down as low as 92 degrees below zero, and the average daily temperature of this place, at some distance from the pole, during the cold months is reported as little more than 53 degrees below zero.

There is yet to be produced, as a matter of fact, more conclusive evidence as to the claims of both. Neither was accompanied to the pole by white witnesses; the impressions and general observations of both on arrival at the top of the world are striking in their similarity.

The public, therefore, will eagerly await the evidence which is to come, and upon that will base its verdict.

Peary's rather unsportsmanlike conduct will add somewhat to the hope that Cook may be well able to substantiate his claim.

TWO OIL TANKS EXPLODE.

Man Blown Twenty Feet in Air in Frederick, Oklahoma.

Frederick, Okla., Sept. 17.—Last night at 9:39 while pumping oil from a car into a tank, the oil was ignited and exploded, resulting in Mr. McFall getting very painfully burned and Mr. Williams suffering a sprained ankle.

Williams & McFall, the owners were pumping oil from a car into a tank when McFall raised the tank lid to see how much oil was in the tank thus igniting the oil and causing the explosion with a lantern which he held in his hand. He was blown twenty feet in the air and burned painfully about the head and arms, his clothing being burned very badly before the fire could be extinguished, while Williams suffered a sprained ankle in jumping from the tank.

Williams & McFall, the owners of the oil, estimate the damages at $800.

The timely arrival of a W. F. & N. W. freight train saved two cars of oil, which was near by, by pushing the cars into safety.

Roofs Will Leak--In Time

Then, of course, it means a new roof, or patch up the old one, in either case it will take shingles. If it's your roof, then of course you want only the best shingles.
There is no question about Washington Red Cedar Shingles being the best shingles; and we don't think there's any question about this being the best place to buy them. But that's up to you to prove to your own satisfaction. If you'll come in, we will take pleasure in showing you our stock and quoting you lowest prices.

A Constant Stream of New Things—Charming, Every One of Them

We Started this Fall with an Even More Extensive Showing than Ever Before

As you glance over hundreds of styles you will quickly see that there is a decided tendency toward closer fitting garments and coat dress effects, also that the dominant feature in everything is the Moyer-Age Effect, the Newest, oddest, most attractive style introduced in years.

Colors were never prettier—and there are enough fashionable shades for everyone to find a becoming one. There seems to be almost a passion for all tones of violet, from the deepest purple to the softest and palest shades of lavender; Raisin is good. Catawba, Taupe and slightly deeper tones of Blue, Brown and gray. These models are made expressly for us and are characteristic Bishop garments. This means more than usual care in tailoring and a positive genius in selecting fabrics, trimmings, buttons, etc. This is so important this fall as strong contrasts are extremely fashionable. You couldn't find more attractive garments than these Bishop models—you couldn't find greater values; better clothes can't be had

Come In Now and You Can Find Many Simple, Moderate Prices Styles That are Exceedingly Charming
