TALKS WATERWAYS AT NEW ORLEANS

BETTER NAVIGATION IS BURDEN OF PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS THIS AFTERNOON.

VERY CORDIAL WELCOME

Fourteen Feet Through the Valley, Is Slogan of Waterways Delegates There.

By Associated Press. New Orleans, Oct. 30.—President Taft and his party were received at this port with enthusiastic cheers, screaming whistles and booming cannon. The firing of salutes to the approaching flotilla began with early dawn and was repeated at the towns and villages for miles above the city. The committee of reception gathered at the head of Canal street early in the morning and the sailors and marines from the battleships and the other bodies to participate in the parade also massed at that point. The city is decorated with flags and bunting, with the slogans "Dig her deep through Dixie," and "Fourteen feet through the valley" appearing everywhere.

The early trains continued to increase the arrival of waterways convention delegates and it is believed the attendance at the opening session will be large.

Immediately after the arrival of President Taft the parade started. When the St. Charles hotel was reached, the president left the procession and reviewed it from the balcony. After the parade a reception of the officials was held by the president and he then retired to get a rest. The president took luncheon with Archbishop Blenke and later addressed the waterways convention.

It was nearly noon before the Waterways convention was called to order. Mayor Behrman welcomed the delegates and President Kavanaugh of the Waterways Association delivered his annual address. Following this address came the appointment of committees and the address of Secretary Saunders and the introduction of resolutions. This was followed by adjournment until this afternoon, when President Taft is expected to address the convention. The building is crowded to its capacity.

YOUNG LADIES HURT.

Carriage Overturns and They Are Dragged 200 Feet.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 30.—Miss Dearnie Holden, aged 22, and Miss Gordie Thomason, aged 21, of Missouri Avenue, this city, were seriously injured and Miss Tallie Jones of Crowley Tex., was bruised last night when their carriage was overturned and a frightened horse dragged them two hundred feet. Miss Holden sustained a broken shoulder and severe head bruises. Miss Thomason suffered four broken toes and a broken ankle and Miss Jones escaped with less serious bruises, about her head.

The horse, driven by Miss Holden, took fright when a negro drayman passing cracked his whip. Miss Holden bravely held to the reins until the horse was stopped.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

McKinney, Tex., Oct. 30.—E. B. Alken was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to three year in the penitentiary for the death of Palo Clancy, by a verdict rendered by the district court jury here this morning. Alken was charged with murder in this county several months ago.

FOURTEEN-SIXTY PAID IN COTTON MARKET HERE

Local cotton prices reached another high water mark this morning, when 14.60 was paid for middling cotton by local buyers. Several bales changed hands at this figure.

This high price coupled with the telegraphic announcement from New York that the fifteen cent mark has been reached, indicates that the highest prices since the civil war will prevail before very long. Fifteen cent cotton locally is only about forty points above the highest price paid today.

TWENTY-TWO INDICTED.

Hunt County Grand Jury Returns Mob Indictments.

Greenville, Tex., Oct. 30.—The grand jury this afternoon returned indictments against twenty-two persons alleged to have incited the mob which broke into the county jail recently and seized three negroes suspected of assault on Mrs. Will Lloyd.

There are separate counts against each on a charge of defacing public property. Service has only been made against J. H. Barlow of Wolfe City, and he was unable to make bond. He has been placed in jail. The other names are withheld until the papers are served.

Waldo is Promoted.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 30.—Gentry Waldo, for four years general agent of the Southern Pacific railroad and the Morgan Steamship Lines, today was made general agent of the steamship company alone, owing to the increasing traffic. No successor has been announced as agent of the Southern Pacific as yet.

PROFESSOR FAIRCHILD HEADS COUNTY SCHOOLS

At the last term of the commissioners' court it was decided that the great increase of the scholastic population of Wichita county justified, and, in fact, under the law required, the appointment of a county school superintendent, and, acting under that law, Prof. H. A. Fairchild, who, for three years was principal of the high school of this city, and who resigned that position in July in order to attend the state university at Austin, was appointed, but, not knowing whether or not Prof. Fairchild would accept, the appointment was kept secret.

Prof. Fairchild has notified Judge Yeager that he will accept the position and will qualify on November 8th, at which time the resignation of Judge Yeager, who is ex-officio superintendent of the public schools, which was tendered sometime ago, will be accepted.

The salary of this office is based upon the number of pupils within the scholastic age in the county, and at presents amounts to $1300 a year.

Death of Mrs. Keene.

Mrs. Anna E. Keene, mother of Mrs. Geo. Hunt of this city died at Fort Worth yesterday aged about 50 years. Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence, 705 Lamar avenue, by Rev. R. E. Farley, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and interment will be made at Riverside cemetery.

GAME BIRD SEASON TO OPEN ON NEXT MONDAY

Monday marks the beginning of the dove and quail season in Texas and local hunters are preparing for the sport. The Times is requested to call attention to the following features of the state's game laws:

The season ends on the first of February; no hunter is allowed to kill more than twenty-five doves or quail in a day; no birds are to be killed save for one's individual use and must not be sold or shipped, except in transporting them home.

A license fee of $1.75, instead of $5.00 as erroneously reported in the Times yesterday, is required for those who wish to hunt outside of their home counties. This does not apply, however, to the counties immediately adjoining. No license is required for Wichitans who wish to hunt in Wichita county, or in Hardeman, Archer or Clay counties.

FAILED TO MAKE GOOD.

Fort Bliss Officer Could Not Ride 90 Miles in 3 Days.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 30.—Colonel Joseph F. Huston of the nineteenth infantry at Fort Bliss, did not finish the Rooseveltian ride of ninety miles required by the war department. He fell out at the half-way station, and will probably go before the retiring board. All the other officers who undertook the horseback ride of ninety miles or a walk of fifty miles, in three days, completed the physical test.

HIGH SCHOOL 6, TOWN ELEVEN 0

WICHITA TEAM AGAIN LOSES TO SCHOOL ELEVEN BY SAME SCORE AS BEFORE.

FUMBLE PROVED FATAL

High School Scored When Wichita Player Fumbled the Ball—Hard Fought Game.

High School 6, Wichita Falls 0. Inability to hold on to the ball again resulted in defeat of the town eleven at the hands of the high school team yesterday afternoon. The game was similar in many respects to that of last Tuesday, a fatal fumble near its own goal line resulting in the town team's defeat. Murphy of the high school secured the fumbled ball and went easily across the line.

The town eleven was handicapped by the absence of four of its regular lineup and the new men were not familiar with the signal code, which resulted in some confusion. Caskey at left guard held that position handsomely, while Capt. Huff's playing was also a feature. For the high school Murphy and Barnett starred. The forward pass was used with but moderate success by each side. Both teams were lucky with it to some extent, but numerous penalties were inflicted.

There was no scoring during the second half, which was given over to an almost continual interchange of punts. The game was played hard by both sides and every inch gained was contested. Line gains were few and far between, the ball being advanced almost altogether by end runs and trick plays.

Mr. Searight officiated as referee and Prof. Craig umpired. Another game between these teams is being planned for one day week after next.

It's impossible for greedy people to be grateful.

HOME INDUSTRY CONTEST IS OVER

MRS. J. M. YOUNG WINS FIRST PRIZE FOR BEST ARTICLE SUBMITTED ON SUBJECT.

MANY SPLENDID PAPERS

Mrs. C. S. Campbell Wins Second Prize and Mrs. Alice Brown Yeager is Awarded Third.

First prize, Mrs. J. M. Young, $15. Second prize, Mrs. C. S. Campbell, $10. Third prize, Mrs. Alice Brown Yeager, $5. Fourth prize, Mrs. E. D. Kelley, $2.50. Fifth prize, Mrs. Simeon C. Cook, $2.50. Additional prizes—Mrs. Ralph Robertson, Mrs. John R. Fisk, Mrs. J. G. Fels, Mrs. W. J. Bullock, Mrs. Alice Cannon, $1 each.

Above are the awards in the "Home Industry" contest of the Merchants' Association, the prizes being offered for the best article by housekeepers on the subject of "Home Industry." A large number of excellent articles were received and the judges were hard put to decide which was the most satisfactory. Mrs. J. M. Young was finally decided upon, her article being an excellent one in every respect. The Times will publish one of these articles daily.

It is believed that this will serve to remind those citizens who inadvertently send their money away from home of the benefits that will accrue if the same money is spent in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Young's article will appear in Monday's Times.

MISS MAYFIELD ROBBED.

Daughter of Railroad Commissioner Loses Satchel at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 30.—While waiting for a train in the Katy station here Thursday night, Miss Mayfield, daughter of Texas Railroad Commissioner Allison Mayfield of Sherman, lost her satchel containing jewelry and apparel valued at five hundred dollars. The officers today are unable to trace the grip. A thief took the satchel while Miss Mayfield's attention was occupied by friends.

SMOTHERED IN SEED.

Employee of Vernon Cotton Oil Company Meets Death.

Vernon, Tex., Oct. 30.—J. M. Catron was smothered in the seed room of the Vernon Cotton Oil Company's plant, when several tons of cotton seed fell over him. His lifeless body was recovered as the other employees cleared away the seed. Catron was missed several hours before he was found. He was an old employee. He has a family surviving him.

LEGISLATOR INDICTED ON SWINDLING CHARGE

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 30.—The grand jury this morning returned an indictment charging T. Adams, a member of the legislature from this county, with swindling. V. M. Clark, an attorney of Aransas Pass, and a former resident of this city, was also indicted for swindling.

REVOLUTION OVER.

Greeks' Little Fiasco Soon Stopped.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 30.—The Tibalidos miniature rebellion has been suppressed, according to an announcement given out by the government. Tibalidos is still at large, but three revolutioners were killed and several wounded when a shell from the government's battery struck the mutinous torpedo boat during the engagement yesterday.

FIFTEEN CENTS IS PAID FOR COTTON

SCENES OF EXCITEMENT

May and December Futures Far in Advance of Fifteen Cents—Spots at 15.05.

New York, Oct. 30.—The long-predicted fifteen-cent mark for cotton was reached here in the market this morning, when that price was paid for spot cotton. The closing price was five points above the fifteen-cent mark.

May delivery cotton here today sold at 15.01 at the opening and December at fifteen to sixteen points higher. Big gains in Liverpool and bullish visible supply figures caused the advance. The market presented a wild scene up to closing time at noon. Spot cotton was quiet and closed with middling at fifteen-five.

Mabledean Notes.

Mabledean, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Brackey opened the Talbot school last Monday with a good attendance.

Mr. Robt. Clark motorman on one of the street cars at Wichita was visiting friends between trains last Monday.

Misses Leola Sherrill and Kathryn Clark visited Wichita last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Luther Leisler and Miss Mary Preston were united in marriage last Wednesday at 1 o'clock, Rev. R. E. Farley officiating. On Thursday evening at the home of the grooms parents a large wedding reception was given, inviting most of the Mabledean people. Delicious refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cakes and fruit salad, was served, at a late hour cmtwpy was served. At a late hour the guests departed, wishing the bride and groom a prosperous and happy journey through life.

Mr. Graves who has been sick for the past month is improving rapidly.

ALCO CAR VICTORIOUS IN VANDERBILT RACE

Minneapolis, L. I., Oct. 30.—The fifth Vanderbilt cup auto race started here at 9 o'clock today, with ideal weather conditions, bringing out a crowd estimated at a quarter of a million. The Wheatley Hill sweepstakes and the Massapequa stakes were run in conjunction with the Vanderbilt event. There are fifteen contestants in the Vanderbilt cup race.

The Vanderbilt cup race of two hundred and seventy-eight miles was won by Grant in an Alco car. His time was four hours, twenty-five minutes and forty-two seconds.

TROUBLE IN KENTUCKY.

Ballot Stealing Charges May Precipitate Serious Fight.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 30.—A dispatch from Jackson says that the democrats, or the "Callahan Red Wine" faction is in possession of the court house there.

A number of armed men were seen during the morning going into the Crawford and Harjo building nearby.

Trouble is feared on election day, as charges of ballot stealing at Jackson were made yesterday.

CAPTAIN ROSS LEAVES AMARILLO—CHANGE MADE

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 30.—As a result of an investigation by Adjutant General Newton of the recent conflict between the Texas Rangers and the citizens of Amarillo, Captain Tom Ross and Company B have been ordered from Amarillo to Yeleta, near El Paso, for their permanent headquarters. Captain Hughes and Company D will go from Yeleta to Amarillo. This follows an announcement from Austin, Ross seeking the change.

PLUCKING APPLES—A HALLOWE'EN DIVERSION.

Plucking apples suspended from a twig or a string is a Halloween game that is quite as much fun and not nearly so strenuous as ducking for them. The old game was to float the apples in a tub or barrel and pick them up with the teeth, which is by no means an easy feat to perform. For the plucking game the apple is suspended from the ceiling or a doorway at such a height that the young woman who would try her fortune must stand on tiptoe to get a bite of the fruit. When the apple has been fairly plucked it is peeled and the peeling thrown over the left shoulder. The letter it forms as it lies on the floor will be the first letter of the first name of the future husband of the inquisitive miss, so the legend runs.

A HALLOWE'EN CHARM.

If you'll go to the pasture pool tonight And bide there quietly out of sight, Till the clock strikes twelve, you will see, I ween, As pretty a sight as was ever seen; For tonight, you know, is Hallowe'en.

There's a little maiden across the way, Who believe it true what the legends say, That at twelve this night, if one gaze alone, In a moonlit pool, beside her own, The image of one her heart holds dear She will see and wed him within a year.

She told me today of one she knew, Who had seen with joy the sign come true, And I know she will steal to the pool alone To look for a face beside her own; For her innocent faith in signs is strong, And the moon is bright the whole night long.

The face that her fancy paints will be The very one that she hopes to see; Then back to her home she will slip away To dream sweet dreams till the dawn of day, And my wish is this for the little lass, That her dearest dream may come to pass.

HALLOWE'EN.

The elves are getting ready now to take their yearly ride Upon the backs of squirrels; my! you ought to see them slide Straight down a moonbeam some bright night; and when they reach the ground, The squirrels scamper off to where the finest nuts are found. Some elves besides, make Jack-o-lanterns, the funniest ever seen. Because, in Elfland, to you know, 'twill soon be Hallowe'en! —S Virginia Lewis. In October St. Nicholas.

The Unity Club met in regular session October 9, with Miss Sibyl Kemp, only one member absent. The house was tastefully decorated in anticipation of Hallowe'en. Mrs. Greenwood's violin solo was rendered in a very tender and impressive manner; and it is needless to say was fully appreciated. The "Southern Day" program was both interesting and instructive and we were pleased to have as guests Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Bertha Anderson. In conclusion the club joined in singing the soul stirring "Dixie," and the refreshments were good to eat as well as beautiful to look at. Next meeting with Mrs. J. C. Hunt.

The club will meet next week with Mrs. Lon Mathis.

Roll Call: "Beautiful Thoughts."

Reunion of L. O. T. M.

The ladies of the Maccabees entertained visiting ladies at their annual reunion, Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5.

The purpose of the meeting was to have the entire membership out, to entitle each member of the Hive, to the Ladies' Review for the ensuing year.

A short program was prepared, opened by an address of welcome by Mrs. Stroh, Lady Commander.

All the papers were from the different copies of the Review.

Mrs. Hinckley and Miss James sang as a duet, the "Maccabees A Hummin'."

The feature of the afternoon was a reading by Mrs. Boyd, "The Usual way." She responded to the encore with "Mr. Brown's Son."

Refreshments were served by several of the ladies, when the visitors left deploring the fact they were not Lady Bees, but promising to be in the near future.

Visitors from hives at Gainesville, Teague, Texas and Fort Smith, Arkansas, besides the local hive, with friends numbered about seventy-five.
M. DELLIS, R. K.

The Young Ladies Social Club.

Mrs. W. H. Walker entertained the young ladies club Saturday afternoon with a pre-nuptial affair in honor of one of the members, Miss Dot Walker.

The Walker home was beautifully decorated. Cupid hearts and darts predominating. The hour was spent playing "500" and "42" and at the close of the games the hostess served a delicious luncheon. Dainty napkins were distributed to each guest, in the folds of which were deposited the wedding announcement, written on the reverse side of a piece of paper which, when folded, is heart-shaped, but when unfolded disclose three hearts joined together. The announcement is in rhyme and is as follows:

Young ladies a tale to you I will unfold
Of a romance which Cupid
Hath ere long foretold
This dear little fellow
Has worked hard and true
To capture the victim
So well known to you.
The maiden a little bit of a tot
Is none other, my sisters,
Than dear little Dot,
Who trusting to Cupid's wise judgment and choice,
Behold a good "Shepherd" and heeding his voice
Entrusted her heart
To his keeping and care;
And now to the club girls, doth mildly declare;
"A happier maiden doth no where abide.
Go thou and do likewise
And now to the bride
We wish her all happiness,
Long life and health
Great burdens of pleasures, prosperity and wealth.
On the front or address side of the announcement are ow hearts of a smaller size with cupids arrow piercing both. In the upper left corner is written the names of the prospective bride and groom, and in the lower right corner the date upon which the wedding is to occur.

If changing grocers remember we will appreciate your account. Phone 432 and 232.

TWO SUCKERS STRUNG.

A tent show in Abilene advertises a baby to be given to the holder of the lucky coupon issued by the tent show. It is a raffle—nothing more, nothing less; a raffle is a game of chance, under whatsoever cover, is gambling. A number of the best citizens of Abilene have protested against the unnatural drawing and have offered to take the babe out of the hands of those who would traffic in human flesh and procure the innocent victim a good home. The people of Abilene who would maintain the good name of their city should rise en masse against this relic of barbarism.—San Angelo Standard.

Surely this relates to an advertising dodge, rather than a genuine case of cold-blooded inhumanity. As an advertisement such a scheme could be little less than disreputable as a real raffle, with a real baby at the stake, it would be only a breach of decency, but a crime against the law.—Dallas News.

The Angelo and Ballinger papers took the cork under. There was no protest or excitement in Abilene, nor did any one offer to take "the baby" out of the hands of the show company. The facts are as follows: A traveling show company advertised that it would give away a "live baby" on a certain night to a holder of a lucky ticket. Of course there was some speculation as to what kind of a baby it was, but not even the most unsophisticated thought it a human baby. After the performance the drawing took place on the "baby"—a pig—was awarded the lucky person, amid considerable laughter.—Abilene News.

'GRAUSTARK.'

Clean and Wholesome Production Feature at Wichita Last Night.

A charmingly impossible play was "Graustark," presented to a large audience at the Wichita last night, and the production pleased in full measure. The play is fanciful in the extreme, as is usually the case with these plays based on the theory that love will find a way. The one criticism that might of it is that it is monotonous in spots, although the action, what there was of it, was lively enough.

Maurice Brierre, Jr., as "Grenfell Larry," the hero of the plot, handled that part artistically. His good looks won the female contingent of the audience at the very start and he fitted his part well. Clyde McCabe, as "Harry Anguish," broke several tense situations with his happy humor and he also won much favor. James Lewis, as "Baron Dangles," portrayed the gruff, lovable German excellently, and William DeLong, as "Prince Gabriel," made a villain that one couldn't help hating. The other male characters all seemed to constitute an exceptionally strong supporting cast.

Isabel MacGregor, as "Yette," was a dainty thing, whose face and smile enabled one to overlook the undoubtedly weak points in her acting. Ethel Gray as "Countess Dagnas," was a jolly bit of femininity who handled her part well.

"Graustark" was a happy relief from some of the plays that have appeared here during the present season, and it was viewed with much favor by its Wichita audience.

Quality Clothes and Our Guarantee

"GUARANTEE" is a fine, strong word often misused. When we use it here we mean everything the word means, and that means your protection. When we sell you a suit or overcoat from The House of Kuppenheimer we not only do all in our power to aid you in selecting a garment that will be 100 per cent right in every point of style, of wear, fit and tailoring—we do more:

We take all the risk of your dissatisfaction on ourselves—we leave ourselves no loopholes—we give our word with no string attached. We say every Kuppenheimer garment you buy from us must prove right in every vital point—in every single detail. And we are here to make good that guarantee—in any way you like. Back of our guarantee stands another—it's our strength—our surety—the maker's guarantee that their garments must satisfy you who wear them. That's our faith—it's a well-founded faith—for it's based on quality. We illustrate two good models, the Derby and Warwick. There's plenty of style and snap to them combined with gentlemanly good taste.

Will Prohibition Kill Wichita Falls, and Will Prohibition Hurt Business?

The only argument of the anti-prohibitionists is that prohibition will hurt business and kill the town. To prove the absurdity of this claim we offer the evidence of some of the best business men in some of the best towns in Texas. There can be no question but what prohibition helps all lines of business except the saloon business. These men are bankers, merchants, members of commercial clubs, public officials, professional men and leaders in their lines of business. Write or wire them or look them up in the commercial reports.

Abilene, Texas, Sept. 6, 1909. Prohibition in force here seven years. Population tribbled. Absolutely enforced. Not a hop ale joint in the city. Not a vacant business house in the city. After consulting representative business men and property owners at highest estimate only five to ten per cent would favor return of saloons.

C. W. Bacon.

Endorsed by twenty-five thousand club in session; Morgan Weaver, president; O. P. Thomas, secretary.

Kaufman, Texas, Sept. 4, 1909.

Our total sales for six years prior to prohibition were $500,000.00 against $700,000.00 for six years since prohibition went into effect. As a business proposition we prefer to cast our lot in a prohibition town.

SPIKES & NASH CO.

Amarillo, Texas, Oct. 7, 1909.

The population of Amarillo for the year 1907 was about 7000 or 8000 and for the year 1909 about 12000 to 15000 and if you should find some doubting Thomas who thinks that prohibition kills a town, just refer them to our little city of the plans and they would find the liveliest dead town they ever saw. The one-story office building that I am in was offered for sale in 1907 for $13,500 and the latter part of that year or the first part of 1908 the owners refused to take that price, then in the latter part of 1908 they turned down an offer of $16,000, then in the early part of '09 they refused $20,000 and later they refused $25,000 and later they refused $25,000. The building is good income property at that price.

RIVER PROBLEM IS PINCHOT'S SUBJECT

TELLS OF DEPARTMENT'S WORK AND DEFENDS SELF AGAINST RECENT ATTACKS.

NO FORESTS, NO RIVERS

Says That Water Power Must Be Protected From Corporate Greed at Any Cost.

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, La., Oct. 30.—Mr. Pinchot said:

The connection between forests and rivers is like that between father and son. No forests, no rivers. So a forester may not be wholly beyond his depth when he talks about streams. The conquest of our rivers is one of the largest commercial questions now before us.

The commercial consequences of river development are incalculable. Its results cannot be measured by the yard stick of present commercial needs. River improvement means better conditions of transportation than we have now, but it means development, too. We cannot see this problem clearly and see it whole in the light of the past alone.

The actual problems of river development are not less worthy of our best attention than their commercial results. Every river is a unit from its source to its mouth. If it is to be given its highest usefulness to all the people, and serve them for all the uses they can make of it, it must be developed with that idea clearly in mind. To develop a river for navigation alone, or power alone, or irrigation alone, is often like using a sheep for mutton, or a steer for beef, and throwing away the leather and the wool. A river is a unit, but its uses are many and with our present knowledge there can be no excuse for sacrificing one use to another if both can be subserved.

A progressive plan for the development of our waterways is essential. Pending the completion of that plan, which should neither be weakened by excessive haste nor drowned in excessive deliberation, work should proceed at once on some of the greater projects which we know already will be essential under any plan that may be devised. First and foremost of these by unanimous consent is the improvement of the Mississippi River.

A comprehensive and progressive plan of the kind we need can be made in one way only, and that is by a commission of the best men in the United States appointed directly by the president of the United States.

Such a plan must consider every use to which our rivers can be put, and every means available for their control. It must deal with such great questions as the relation of the states and the nation in the construction and control of the work, and the co-ordination of rail and river transportation. The engineering difficulties may be larger than we have yet solved. The adjustment of opposite demands between conflicting interests and localities, and other questions of large reach, and often of great legal complexity, will tax the powers of the best men we have. No part of the work will require greater temperance, wisdom and foresight than certain questions of policy and law.

I have observed in the course of some experience that difficulties originating with the law are peculiarly apt to foster misconceptions. It happens that the service with which I have the honor to be connected supplies just now a typical example.

Certain newspapers have said of late that the forest service has gone beyond the law in carrying out its work. This assertion has been repeated so persistently that there is danger that it may be believed. The friends of conservation must not be led to think that before the forest service can proceed legally with its present work all the hazards and compromises of new legislation must be faced.

Fortunately, the charge of illegal action is absolutely false. The forest service has had ample legal authority for everything it has done. Not once since it was created has any charge of illegality, despite the most searching investigation and the bitterest attack, ever led to reversal or reproof by either the house of congress or by any congressional committee. Since the creation of the forest service the expenditure of more than $11,000,000 has passed successfully the scrutiny of the treasury of the United States. Most significant of all, not once has the forest service been defeated as to any vital legal principle underlying its work in any court or administrative tribunal of last resort. Thus those who interpret it seem to agree that our work has been legal.

But it is not enough to say that the forest service has kept within the law. Other qualifications go to make efficiency in a government bureau. A bureau may keep within the law and yet fall to get results.

When action is needed for the public good there are two opposite points of view regarding the duty of an administrative officer in enforcing the law. One point of view asks, 'Is there any express and specific law authorizing or directing such action?' and having thus sought and found a legal justification, what the public good demands is done. I hold it to be the first duty of a public officer to be zealous in the public service. That is why the public service is worth while. To every public officer the law should be, not a goad to drive him to his duty, but a tool to help him in his work. And I maintain that it is likewise his right and duty to seek by every proper means from the legal authorities set over him such interpretations of the law as will best help him to serve his country.

Let the public officer take every lawful chance to use the law for public good. The better use he makes of it the better public servant he becomes. One man with a jack-knife will build a ladder. Another with a full tool chest cannot make a footstool. The man with the jack-knife will often reach the higher level. I am for the man with the jack-knife. I believe in the man who goes all he can, and the best he can, with the means at his command. That is precisely what the forest service has been trying to do with the money and the law congress has placed in its hands.

President Taft's recent utterances in favor of conservation have gone far to increase the public appreciation of its national importance. Every public officer responsible for any part of the conservation of natural resources is a

MALARIAL DISEASES.

How to Avoid Them and the Serious Consequences of Neglect.

"Fix me up something to knock the malaria, doctor," remarked a sallow-faced, sickly looking man, entering a prominent physician's office the other day.

The doctor stepped to his medicine case, took down a couple of bottles, mixed a preparation which he handed to the patient with the customary advice to 'shake well and follow directions,' and resumed his seat.

"Such cases are frequent," replied the doctor in answer to a question. "The warm days and damp, chilly nights are certain malaria breeders and are most serious in those who have neglected to keep their stomachs, liver and bowels in good condition. Such persons are full of the impurities on which the malarial germ thrives, and it is from this class that typhoid fever, pneumonia, Bright's Disease, small pox and yellow fever claim most of their victims whenever these diseases are prevalent.

The proper way to guard against the malarial germ and the serious diseases which follow it is to get into good condition by taking a reliable remedy that will keep the bowels clear and the liver healthy, and to continue with it at frequent intervals during the sickly season. A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters three or four times a week will do all of this, besides stimulating the digestion, improving the appetite and keeping the bodily energy at the highest pitch.

Prickly Ash Bitters is known everywhere as a system tonic and bowel regulator. It not only removes all traces of malarial poison from the system, but tones up the vital organs, gives new strength and vigor, makes the body strong and the brain active.

"Prickly Ash Bitters is the best all-around medicine for the family I ever used. During the past ten years I have always kept it in my house. Whenever any of my family show signs of malaria, kidney trouble, indigestion or constipation a few doses in all that is needed to make them well and hearty again.—W. H. McWILLIAMS, Fickering, Ia.

Let Us Give You a Pointer

RIGHT NOW is the time to build that new house that you've been figuring on. We are overstocked on just the material you'll need, so are in position to quote you very favorable prices. As a matter of fact, we have large stocks and a good assortment of lumber, sash, doors, mouldings, and building materials of all kinds. And while 'quality' is our long suit, still we will not allow ourselves to be undersold. If our price is not always lower than you can get elsewhere, it is at least as low. Anyway, it will pay you to get our figures.

You'd be surprised if we'd tell you the number of men in this city who come to us, quite worried because of the fear that they can not obtain a suit of exceptional attractiveness, and one not having that flippant "air" which characterizes so many makes of clothes. We quiet their fears in a moment and do it very easily, too. In our long experience we have found that freakishness is not style, nor are the clamorous patterns. Acting upon our real knowledge of a gentleman's needs we are always prepared to exhibit rare styles and fascinating patterns; BUT NOT boisterous clothes. The Seabright Sack, made by Alfred Benjamin & Co., in New York, is a remarkable style, which is so "up-to-the-minute" that it fairly sparkles. The fabrics are soft and rich; the tailoring is of the kind which only expert workers can give. It is a clean, good, "Made in New York" style which men of taste desire.

HOLDS UP SCHOOL

Bad Indian Makes Trouble at Sleeper, Oklahoma.

Sleeper, Okla., Oct. 30.—For an hour before the little building was riddled with bullets by a posse, pupils in the county school house near Sleeper had for their schoolmaster yesterday Jack Willis, a swaggering Cherokee Indian desperado. From the teacher's desk the outlaw took charge of the class, compelling frightened pupils to recite lessons and making them sing their school songs for his amusement, while the regular teacher, Mrs. Anna Snyder, whom he had threatened with death, stood helplessly by.

The Cherokee's tutelage ended with the arrival of Constable U. G. Wilson and a posse, which engaged Willis in a battle, in which the Indian was killed, and Tuck Ketcher, a deputy, was severely wounded.

Willis had been a fugitive for four months. When he appeared at the schoolhouse in the morning, frightening the children, Mrs. Snyder ordered him to leave, but he laughed and displayed his weapons, threatening to kill her if she did not remain quiet.

Taking his place at the teacher's desk, Willis put the pupils through mock exercises, laughing uproariously at their terror. Beating time with his fist on the desk, he had the class sing. The children's voices quavered with fear as they sang the songs the teacher had taught them.

The Indian's diversions were interrupted by the noise of approaching horses. He went to the door of the schoolhouse and looked out. He slammed it quickly and pushed a table against it when he saw constable Wilson and four others riding toward the building.

Crouching beneath a window, the Cherokee opened fire. At the first shot Ketcher fell with a bullet in his hip. Members of the posse then rode around the schoolhouse firing at every side as Willis darted from window to window.

Their bullets tore through the thin walls of the schoolhouse in which the terrified children were huddled and endangered their lives. Mrs. Snyder led them into the cloak room in a rear part of the building and opening a window ordered them to climb out and run.

When the children came tumbling from the window, the posse ceased firing until the last had escaped. Mrs. Snyder remained and helped the smaller children through the window. The firing was resumed while Wilson, under cover of his companions' steady fusillade, crept toward the building, located the Indian's position and fired through the wall killing him instantly.

FLORAL HEIGHTS

Wake Up and Buy Some Lots In Floral Heights

Can't you see that delay means a loss to you. Don't you know that lots in Floral heights will soon be higher? Why not? They are certainly the cheapest and best located lots in and about Wichita Falls. They have the highest elevation, the purest atmosphere, the most picturesque view. They have the city water, graded streets, five cent car fare and, in fact, will soon have every modern convenience out to the bend of the car line. Wide concrete sidewalks are now being put down and several nice residences are under construction.

This is the only way the town can grow and the only way we will have street car service for several years. The Floral Heights addition is not a real estate man's proposition, but is an addition backed by over fifty of the leading citizens of Wichita County, who have the interest of Wichita Falls at heart and who are determined to make Floral Heights the swellest residence section of the city. Floral Heights is spending more money to boost Wichita Falls than all the concerns in the city put together, with the exception of the Chamber of Commerce.

Any agent in the city will be glad to give you prices and assist you in selecting your lots. Make your purchase today before the good lots are all sold. Cars leave the corner of 8th St. and Indiana Avenue every ten minutes for Floral Heights. Lots are sold on terms of one-third cash, balance in one and two years, 8 per cent interest.

If you have friends and acquaintances who would like to know more about Wichita Falls, call at our office, 617 8th Street, for nice literature to mail them.

A Gold Mine to All

The following is an analysis of water taken from a well on my farm two miles southwest of town, on the road to Lake Wichita; was made by G. S. Fraps, Ph. D., State Chemist, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, on Oct. 13th, 1909.

This sample of water has the following composition, expressed in grains, per U. S. Gallon:

Carbonate of Lime.....	7.53
Sulphate of Lime.....	23.33
Calcium Chloride.....	15.68
Magnesium Chloride.....	22.19
Sodium Chloride.....	135.41

This water is classed as a mineral saline water. These waters stimulate the secretion of the stomach. Increase digestion and favor a more complete absorption of the food. This water should have a laxative action, taken in small doses, and a purgative action taken in larger doses, on account of the magnesium which it contains.

Yours truly,
G. S. FRAPS.

This water will be delivered to any part of the city at 10c per gallon.

The Possibilities of an Acre.

I know a man who is making money on three acres of land.

This was his share of the old home place. When the land was turned over to him he had only the one small field with no buildings.

The first year he planted most of the ground to garden truck. One-half of an acre was planted in small fruits and strawberries. From this first year's crop money was secured to make the first improvements.

He built a storehouse for keeping his products in winter and used all spare time and money in enriching the soil.

Manure was bought at the stables in nearby towns and in three years the entire three acres had been covered with plenty of stable manure with but a small outlay of money.

Now, he is growing fine crops of potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbage and beans, besides other garden crops. He has built a house and other buildings, has a small green house, several stands of bees, a few chickens, fruit and shade trees—in fact, a beautiful, well-kept home which is his own.

He gives all of his time to this small farm and is making money and a good living. The same can be done in almost any county or state, but it takes study and industry.

In almost every state land can be had in small lots at low prices. These lands are broken too much for grain farming and usually can be purchased for from $8 to $15 per acre, and there is no place more suited to the building of beautiful country homes than these hill lands, and the man with $300 or $400 could soon have a home to be proud of.

As much of this land still has some timber left, true it would be a backwoods life for a few years, but the time is not very far distant when the change will come.

Much of this hill land belongs to people who give it no care. They came there to work in the timber for the railroads; they bought the land for the timber, worked it up and are now glad to part with it at almost any price, as they are not suited to farm life.

A man does not have to work a large farm to make a success of farming. The middle west is fast becoming a truck growing country and the small farm of from three to twenty acres is more often found than larger ones, and crops of this kind are bringing higher cash prices each year.—Thomas M. Ciesel.

trustee of the public property. If conversation is vital to the welfare of this nation now and hereafter, as the president has so wisely declared, then few positions of public trust are so important, and few opportunities for constructive work so large. Such officers are concerned with the greatest issues which have come up before this nation since the civil war. They may hope to serve the nation as few men ever can. Their care for our forests, waters, and minerals is as often the only thing that stands between the public good and the something-for-nothing men, who, like the daughters of the horse leech, are forever crying, Give! Give! The intelligence, initiative, and steadfastness that can withstand the unremitting pressure of the special interests are worth having, and I am proud to belong to a service which has given proof of all three. But we need the counter pressure from the people in their own interest far more than we get it.

The public welfare cannot be subserved merely by walking blindly in the old ruts. Times change, and the public needs change with them. The man who would serve the public to the level of its needs must look ahead, and one of his most difficult problems will be to make old tools answer new uses—uses some of which at least were never imagined when the tools were made. That is one reason why constructive foresight is one of the great constant needs of every growing nation.

The forest service proposes to use the tools—obey the law—made by the representatives of our people. But the law cannot give specific directions in advance to meet every need and detail of administration. The law cannot make brains nor supply conscience. Therefore, the forest service proposes also to serve the people by the intelligent and purposeful use of the law and every lawful means at its command for the public good. And for that intention it makes no apology.

Fortunately for the forest service, the point of view which it worked out for itself under the pressure of its responsibilities was found to be that of the supreme court.

In the case of the United States vs. Macdaniel (7 Pet., 13-14), involving the administrative powers of the head of a department, the supreme court of the United States said:

"He is limited in the exercise of his powers by the law; but it does not follow that he must show statutory provision for everything he does. No government could be administered on such principles. To attempt to regulate, by law, the minute movements of every part of the complicated machinery of government would evince a most unpardonable ignorance on the subject. Whilst the great outlines of its movements may be marked out, and limitations imposed on the exercise of its powers, there are numberless things which must be done, than can neither be anticipated nor defined, and which are essential to the proper action of the government."

Congress has given to the secretary of agriculture, acting through the forest service, the specific task of administering the national forests, with full power to perform it, and has provided that he "may make rules and regulations and establish such service as will insure the objects of said reservations, namely, to regulate their occupancy and use and to preserve the forests thereon from destruction." Every exercise of the powers granted to the secretary of agriculture by statute has been in accordance with the principles laid down by Chief Justice Marshall ninety years ago in the case of McCulloch vs. Maryland (4 Wheat., 421), when he said as to powers delegated by the federal constitution to congress:

"Let the end be legitimate, let it be within the scope of the constitution, and all means which are appropriate, which are plainly adapted to that end, which are not prohibited, but consist with the letter and spirit of the constitution, are constitutional."

After the transfer of the national forests from the interior department to the forest service in 1905, some things were done that had never been done before, such as initiating government control over water power monopoly in the national forests, giving preference to the public over commercial corporations in the use of the forests, and trying to help the small man make a living rather than the big man to make a profit (but always with the effort to be just to both). Always and everywhere we have set the public welfare above the advantage of the special interests.

Because it did these things, the forest service has made enemies, of some of whom it is justly proud. It has been easy for these enemies to raise the cry of illegality, novelty and excess of zeal. But in every instance the service is fortified either by express statutes or by decisions of the supreme court and other courts, of the secretary of the interior, of the comptroller, or of the attorney-general, or by general principles of law which are beyond dispute. If there is novelty, it consists simply in the way these statutes, decisions and principles have been used to protect the public. The law officers of the forest service have the nation for their client, and they are proud to work as zealously for the public as they would in private practice for a fee.

So, I think the ghost of illegality in the forest service may fairly be laid at rest. But it is not the only one which is clouding the issues of conservation in the public mind. Another misconception is that the friends of conservation are trying to prevent the development of water power by private capital. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The friends of conservation were the first to call public attention to the enormous saving to the nation which follows the substitution of the power of falling water, which is constantly renewed, for our coal, which can never be renewed. They favor development by private capital and not by the government, but they also favor attaching such reasonable conditions to the right to develop as will protect the public and control water power monopoly in the public interest, while at the same time giving to enterprising capital its just and full reward. They believe that to grant rights to water power in perpetuity is a wrongful mortgage of the welfare of our descendants, and to grant them without insisting on some return for value received is to rob ourselves.

I believe in dividends for the people as well as taxes. Fifty years is long enough for the certainty of profitable investment in water power, and to fix on the amount of return that will be fair to the public and the corporation is not impossible. What city does not regret some ill-considered franchise? And why should not the nation profit by the experience of its citizens?

There is no reason why the water power interests should be given the people's property freely and forever except that they would like to have it that way. I suspect that the mere wishes of the special interests, although they have been the mainspring of much public action for many years, have begun to lose their compelling power. A good way to begin to regulate corporations would be to stop them from regulating us.

The sober fact is that here is the imminent battle ground in the endless contest for the rights of the people. Nothing that can be said or done that will suffice to postpone longer the active phase of this fight; and that is why I attach so great importance to the attitude of the administrative officers in protecting the public welfare in the enforcement of the laws.

From time to time, a few strong leaders have tried to unite the people in the fight of the many for the equal opportunities to which they are entitled. But the people have only just begun to take this fight in earnest. They have not realized until recently the vital importance and far-reaching consequences of their own passive position.

Now that the fight is passing into an acute stage it is easily seen that the special interests have used the period of public indifference to maneuver themselves into a position of exceeding strength. In the first place, the constitutional position of property in the United States is stronger than in any other nation. In the second place, it is well understood that the influence of the corporations in our law making bodies is usually excessive, not seldom to the point of defeating the will of the people steadily and with ease. In the third place, cases are not unknown in which the special interests not satisfied with making the laws, have assumed also to interpret them, through that worst of evils in the body politic, an unjust judge.

When an interest or an enemy is entrenched in a position rendered impregnable against an expected mode of attack, there is but one remedy, to shift the ground and follow lines against which no preparation has been made.

Fortunately for us, the special interests, with a blindness which naturally follows from their wholly commercialized point of view, have failed to see the essential fact in this great conflict. They do not understand that this is far more than an economic question, that in its essence and in every essential characteristic it is a moral question.

The present economic order, with its face turned away from equality of opportunity, involves a bitter moral wrong, which must be corrected for moral reasons and along moral lines. It must be corrected with justice and firmness, but not bitterly, for that would be to lower the nation to the moral level of the evil which we have set ourselves to fight.

This is the doctrine of the Square Deal. It contains the germ of industrial liberty. Its partisans are the many, its opponents are the few, I am firm in the faith that the great majority of our people are Square Dealers.

Fine Seed Corn.
A Smash, of Maise, Kansas, who formerly resided in Wichita county, writes the Times that he has a drouth proof corn which yields five times more per acre than the native Kansas corn. He also encloses a sample of the corn and requests that the Times keep it on exhibition for the benefit of those who wish to improve their corn seed. He says his corn has taken five premiums. Those who wish to learn more in regard to the character and quality of Mr. Smaah's corn can address a letter to him at Maise, Kansas, R. F. D. No. 1.
