TEN MILLION WAS SAVED TO FARMERS

TEXAS COTTON GROWERS HEID THEIR SECOND SEED THIS YEAR WITH SUCCESS.

NOW AT $35 PER TON

Price When Holding Began Was Only Ten Dollars A Ton—Saving is Large.

Texas News Service Special. Austin, Tex., Nov. 8.—The farmers of Texas have enriched themselves by ten million dollars this year by holding their cotton seed for an advantageous price, according to advices received here today from officials of the Texas Farmers' Union.

Through the union's system of holding, the price for seed was advanced from seven dollars per ton at the opening of the season to thirty-five dollars per ton, which is the ruling price today.

When it is remembered that the total yield for the state this year will reach one million tons, the saving to the farmers on each ton held for higher prices will run well into the millions and the officials of the union are elated at the good results of their plan.

RAIN VISITS THIS CITY; HEAVY AT SOME POINTS

A light and unsteady rain fell in Wichita Falls yesterday, there being several showers during the earlier morning hours and another heavier one last night. The sky was cloudy throughout the day and looked very threatening at sundown. The rain did little more than lay the dust and was not heavy enough to either hurt cotton or benefit wheat growers to any extent. The rain was followed by a fall in the temperature and the weather is materially cooler today.

Rain fell yesterday at a number of other West Texas points, but was rather light everywhere, except at Childress, Sanker, Springtown, Electra, Iowa Park, Vernon, Weatherford, Abilene, Decatur and Chillicothe.

NEW ROAD PROJECTED TO PASS THROUGH HERE

The below dispatch, which appeared in some of the newspapers yesterday tells of a projected railroad from Winnipeg, Canada, to the Gulf, passing through this city. Nothing is known of the plans in local railroad circles, but favorable action would probably be taken on any such proposition. The dispatch follows:

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—Plans for the organization of companies to build and operate an intercontinental railroad, north and south, through the heart of the United States, were announced today by F. H. Taylor and G. E. Graves. The railroad will be known as the Winnipeg, Salina, and Gulf, and it will cover a distance of 1,500 miles, from Winnipeg, Canada to the Mexican boundary. J. W. Wagner, formerly of the Milwaukee Southern, and Messrs. Taylor and Graves said, is at the head of the project.

Messrs Taylor and Graves will open offices in St. Louis and also at Kansas City, Mo., and Salina, Kan. Mr. Taylor was formerly connected with transportation enterprises in the Northeast, while Mr. Graves was affiliated for seven years with a Philadelphia trust corporation. They said that a British syndicate had endorsed the undertaking and assurances have been received that $6,000,000 of the necessary funds will be available at any time. They added that Milwaukee interests have guaranteed all requisite preliminary expenses.

The section of the road which will be constructed first will extend from Superior, Wis., to Wichita Falls, Tex., through Beloit, Wis., Great Bend, Kan. and Weatherford, Tex., with an extension to Oklahoma City. Until the line is completed connections will be made with the Canadian Pacific at Superior.

COTTON REPORT SHOWS LESS THAN LAST YEAR

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—The census bureau today reported that seven million, twelve thousand, three hundred and seventeen bales of cotton, counting round bales as half bales, were ginned from the growth of 1909 up to November 1st, as compared with eight million, one hundred and fifty-seven bales for 1908.

By Associated Press. Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—Little Rock will, in all probability, be dropped out of the Southern League and Chattanooga will likely succeed it. While this is not officially announced by the directors of the Southern League, which held an executive session here today, it is definitely understood that such action will be taken.

ENFORCEMENT OF CITY ORDINANCES

SEVERAL WHICH HAVE BEEN ALLOWED TO BECOME DEAD WILL BE RESUSCITATED.

MUST HITCH ALL TEAMS

Anti-Expectation Ordinance Also to be Enforced By Authorities, They Announce.

Beginning tomorrow, the city authorities are going to see to the strict enforcement of several of the city's ordinances, which, although they have been on the books for some time, have practically become dead letters through lax enforcement.

The spitting ordinance will receive attention and the officers will be instructed to proceed vigorously against any offender who expectorates in places forbidden by the ordinance. There is more or less need for some attention to this matter on the part of the authorities, as the ordinance has been loosely enforced.

The hitching ordinance is also to be enforced more strictly, and hereafter any driver who leaves his horse untied even for a moment, may expect to find himself in the clutches of the law when he returns. Since the street cars started to running the danger from runaways has been sufficiently increased from that source without making it any worse by leaving horses untied.

Other ordinances of this kind, which are on the statute books but which are violated more or less generally, will receive the attention of the police force and will be enforced.

It is up to the average citizen to walk lightly in the straight and narrow path, for unto him that strayeth shall be meted out to the tune of thirteen-eighths in the bold gray dawn of the morning after.

Texas News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 8.—District Judge Tom Simmons this afternoon decided that the case of Frank McCue, charged with the murder of Earl Mabry two years ago near Dallas, will not be changed to another county, but will remain in his court. W. C. T. U. LECTURE BY A PROMINENT SPEAKER

Mrs. L. E. Bailey of New York City, National lecturer for the W. C. T. U., gave a lecture yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church. A fair sized audience greeted this talented speaker, more men than women being present, which the speaker said was unusual. Mrs. Bailey has been thirty-six years constantly upon the public platform during which she has toured every state in the union, and some of them many times. Her large experience makes her a speaker of ability above the average.

Her theme was 'The Remedy,' and during her talk, responses came often from the 'Amen corner' showing her lecture was appreciated and approved. Before she closes a tour of the state and returns east the W. C. T. U. hopes to have her again, which if brought about, Mrs. Bailey proposes to speak in the nearby towns, and country churches.

TRACK FACILITIES ARE AT A PREMIUM

RAILROADS HERE MAY SOON FIND THEMSELVES SERIOUSLY HAMPERED.

MORE ROOM IS NEEDED

Suggestion of Use of Old Lake Bed For Trackage May Be Adopted By Roads.

The need of more extensive trackage facilities is being felt by the railroads entering this city at present and if the growth of the city continues as it has for the past two years, this problem will soon assume rather serious proportions. The present facilities are the same as they were when Wichita Falls was less than half as large as it is at present and the roads have, without exception, outgrown them. There are, however very few opportunities for any extensions, as all the available land near the tracks is occupied by warehouses or factories that will not permit of extensions.

Both the Denver and the Katy have made efforts recently to secure land to extend their facilities in the way of more trackage, but neither met with any success.

A suggestion which was made recently may seem impracticable at first, but which was offered in all seriousness, was for the use of the old lake bed for track purposes. Since the lake across the tracks was drained it has filled up with weeds, and for many reasons it is hardly suitable for residence purposes and he idea of building railroad tracks there may not be such a bad one. Certain it is that something of this kind must be done if the railroads are to conserve the best interests of the local shippers and consignees.

DEFEATED MAN FIGHTS.

By Associated Press. Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—On the application of J. J. Williams, a temporary injunction was granted today, restraining the election commission from issuing certification of election to Edward Crump, who received a plurality of seventy-nine votes in the election for mayor on last Thursday. The case will be argued at a later date. Williams charges that the votes of the recently incorporated town of Lenox are illegal.

ALCOHOL CONGRESS AND ITS RESULTS

REPORT OF MEETING'S LABORS IS GIVEN OUT BY STATE DEPARTMENT AT WASHINGTON.

REGULATE AND EDUCATE

These Two Suggestions Are Principal Features of the Work of the Meeting.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Alcohol and alcoholism are two of the real and substantial enemies of moral, artistic and commercial progress of the human race, according to the report of the United States delegates to the Twelfth International Congress on Alcoholism, made public by the state department today. The delegates were appointed by Secretary Knox as one of his first official acts. The congress was held last July in London, and twenty-five governments were represented, the delegates of each concurring in the general finding that alcohol was not only unnecessary to human life and comfort, but inimical to both.

Three departments of the United States government were represented by delegates, the state, navy and treasury. Twelve representatives went abroad, and all of them unanimously signed the report made public today, the finding of which is to condemn the drinking habit as dangerous to public health and morals and subversive of national, moral commercial and military greatness.

According to the report, the interest showing in the congress was greater than was ever shown before. Because of the information evolved at the congress, the delegates accepted the invitation of the Queen of Holland to hold their next meeting, two years hence, at the Hague, in connection with the conference of the committee that is working for international peace.

While the congress urged the necessity of imposing the most vigorous restrictions on the sale and traffic in alcoholic liquors, it regarded as equally important the need of educating the younger generation to a true knowledge of what alcohol is and what its effects are upon the human system. The delegation believes that the numerous recent discoveries as to the harmfulness of drunkenness and even of "moderate" drinking, also, should be set before children in order that they may see the danger of the practice. The American delegates sum up this phase of their report by saying:

"Increased teaching as to its character and influence should be provided, to conserve industrial efficiency in the commercial competition of nations, as well as to promote two of the chief objections of government, the public health and morals."

The value of this method of abating the growth of the liquor habit was emphasized in the report. While acknowledgement is made that the organization of associations of juvenile abstainers is useful, it is declared the chief reliance should be placed on scientific temperance education in the public schools as a means of ridding the public mind of errors about the effects of alcohol and substituting the facts that science is declared to have evolved about the use of the beverage, even when taken in small doses.

In furtherance of this plan, Mrs. Edith Smith Davis of Milwaukee, Wis., superintendent of the World's and National Temperance Union, and one of the American delegates, urged the necessity of getting to the root of the matter by compelling the curriculum of normal schools and universities to include such education. In this way, Mrs. Davis contended, the younger generation would be assured of proper instruction on the subject.

Miss Cora F. Stoddard of Boston, another American delegate and secretary of the Scientific Temperance Federation, also devoted to the same subject, her address which was the first paper of the congress. In it she dwelt upon the important relations at such instruction in the schools to national progress. She put forward the benefits derived by a number of countries through the adoption of such a plan as proof that it should become universal.

The United States, according to the report, made an unusually good showing in its exhibits. Germany also was to the fore with a particularly fine collection of colored charts showing the effect of alcohol on the body, the family and upon society. Especially effective it is said were the stereoptican slides of the National Temperance League of Great Britain.

These stereoptican pictures, the report goes on to show, were largely reproductions of municipal posters that are being issued by the city councils of about 100 British boroughs. The posters deal in a popular way with the deleterious effects of alcohol on the human system, and are posted by order of the regular officials or towns in which the sale of intoxicants is licensed. This fact, however, does not prevent the officials from warning the public against the use of alcohol.

Following the example of Great Britain, the city and district officials of both France and Australia likewise have adopted the "public warning" method of advising the people against indulgence. The report deplors the fact that the same method has not yet found a foothold in the United States, although such a plan has been noted in certain cities, where posters inveighing against the use of alcohol have been issued by authority of the mayors.

The relations of drunkenness to crime was a subject that received much attention at the Congress. The Chief Justice of England, Lord Alverstone, announced that in his belief 99 per cent of the crimes passing under his observation were due to drink.

Judge W. F. Pollard, of St. Louis, who presides at the Second District Police Court in that city, declared that of the cases passed upon by him fully 85 per cent of those convicted could charge their degradation to the use of alcohol. Lieut. Col. McHardy, of Edinburg, Scotland, coincided with Judge Pollard as to the percentage of crimes occurring in the former Scotch capital.

Judge Pollard won the support of the delegates from twenty-three countries for the adoption of his plan to suspend sentence in the case of every first offender who he brought into court charged with drunkenness. This involves such first offenders signing a pledge to abstain for one year. If the probationers fail to live up to their pledge they may be arrested and summarily sentenced. The knowledge that one drink may mean a prison sentence, Judge Pollard argued, kept many a man straight until he had time to collect himself. The penalty for failure to keep faith with the court was not settled, several of the delegates arguing in favor of various degrees of punishment. The principle however, was regarded as admirable, and 400 delegates urged its adoption by the various governments of the world.

There was considerable debate on the effects of the use of small quantities of alcohol. Certain of the delegates, according to the report, insisted that the use of alcohol, in whatever quantity, was of the greatest danger to the human. Others contended that experiments showed conclusively no harm resulted. No conclusion was reached, the latter cases maintaining that further experimentation should be undertaken before any decision was reached.

While the Congress took no action looking to international organization for work, the meeting resulted in the organization of two new auxiliaries. One is the International Prohibition Federation, which proposes to wage an educational campaign among adults and the International Abstaining Teachers' Union, a society composed of teachers in the public schools and universities who will pledge themselves to promote the temperance education of youth.

The United States delegates signing the report to Secretary of State Knox are Rev. Wilbur Fj Crafts, Washington, Superintendent of the International Reform Bureau; Cora Frances Scientific Temperance Federation; Martha M. Allen, Marcellus, N. Y. Superintendent Medical Temperance Department of the W. C. T. U.; Marion C. Brohm, lecturer for permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian Church of the United States; George F. Cotterill, Seattle, Washington, National Grand Chief of the Good Templars; Dr. T. D. Crothers, Hartford, Conn., secretary, Society for the Study of Alcohol and Narcotics; Edith Smith Davis, Milwaukee, Superintendent Scientific Temperance Instruction Society of W. C. T. U.; Dr. Reid Hunt, of the United States Marine Hospital and Public Health Service; G. Rowland Munroe, Newark, N. J. of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League; Surgeon F. L. Pleadwell, U. S. N.; Judge W. F. Pollard of St. Louis, Mo.; Charles Scanlon, Pittsburgh, secretary Permanent Committee on Temperance of the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

WEATHER FORECAST.
For Wichita Falls and vicinity.
Tonight, partly cloudy, colder and frost. Tuesday, fair and warmer.

The fact that Wichita county has a substantial peanut crop this year is attracting some attention from our exchanges. Next year the farmers of this county will give 'em something to talk about in that line, sure enough.

A newspaper man has been appointed governor of Alaska and another is suggested for governor of New Mexico. Eventually, perhaps, some pencil pusher will be elected to office, instead of being appointed.

If Rockefeller really wants to give a million to fight the hook worm, the Times finds itself unable to join the ranks of those who are objecting. Some people are never satisfied.

The Times, on behalf of Wichita Falls, hereby extends the Winnipeg, Salina and Gulf railroad full and unconditional permission to build its line from Wisconsin to this city.

In order to get up a little controversy about this business, won't somebody please give one measly little reason why Wichitians should not patronize home industries?

An Irishman with whom Jack Johnson had gotten fresh, knocked the negro down, and he took the count. If something like that would only happen in the ring.

A Christian Scientist in New York allowed a street car to hit him in order to prove that it would not hurt. He will be out of the hospital in a few weeks.

The Houston Post did a surprising thing Sunday. It issued a 108-page edition and nearly half of the space was taken up by reading matter.

And now Bascom Thomas has definitely announced for governor. We suppose that up to now he has been running just to get up a sweat.

Of course, we are all glad the bonds for the new jail are to be sold at last, but we would like it a lot better if it were the paving bonds, instead.

It is immaterial to the Times who builds that road from here to Lawton. Anybody from Bascom Thomas on up will do, just so it's built.

Last Friday a good many people arrived at the conclusion that Roosevelt wasn't such a bad sort, after all.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that Tammany may get over it, but she'll never look the same.

◆ 'Why not help build your home city with home money?'

STILL MORE REASONS FOR HOME PATRONAGE

The Times this evening prints the "Home Industry" reasons submitted in the recent contest by Mrs. J. G. Fain:

We are here as citizens of Wichita. Think what that means. A true and honorable citizen not only looks for protection for himself and family, but is ever ready to protect and further the interests of his city. Our merchants have spent their time energy and money in building and improving their store rooms, and increasing and bettering their stocks and trying at all times to be in keeping with and beneficial to our city, and just here (I can say from experience) that we have as liberal and loyal a set of merchants (take them as a whole) as can be found anywhere. They are always ready to help any worthy cause or any thing that has a tendency to the up-building of our city. And another thing; they are the first to be called on. Their places of business are always open and convenient. So, consequently, when we have a church to build or improvements of any kind; a friend who is stranded and in need, the merchant is the man who is first to put his name on the list. So now, taking all these things at their real worth, knowing we are all anxious to see our town grow and property increase, why not spend our money with Wichita merchants, too, and keep it at home? Go to your merchant, tell him what you want, give him your idea—give him your business, and you will find that you can get just what you want. When you go into his store, don't go looking for something to criticize; but go looking for something that will please you—just knowing that you are getting the right thing, having that confidence that you feel when you enter the large department stores in larger cities, and you can surely find something that will please you, and too, besides, have the satisfaction of knowing you bought it at home of your home merchant, who has an interest in you and really and truly appreciates your business. We should be united in our efforts to help our merchants attain the highest standard possible. We should be proud to say, "There are no better merchants than Wichita's."

This is our home, the sacred refuge of our life. Should we not rather build than destroy that place which should be the most hallowed on earth; a type of that Heavenly home which we all hope some day to attain? Now, this home is in the city of Wichita Falls. Naturally we should desire that our city become one of the most beautiful in the land. We can accomplish this only by hearty co-operation. Spending every dollar with our merchants we possibly can, for every dollar we keep here helps to build and beautify our city and encourage our merchants to greater efforts. Do not send your money away to beautify and enrich other towns, but keep improving home and home industry, and help our city to become one in which we can justly be proud.
MRS. J. G. FAIN.

UNITED STATES MONEY

There Are Ten Kinds on Uncle Sam's Official List.

ALL ARE NOT LEGAL TENDER.

Some of the Most Imposing of the Paper Currency May Be Lawfully Refused When Offered in Payment of an Obligation of Any Kind.

Officially there are just ten kinds of money in circulation in the United States. Could you name them all off-hand? Do you know which of those besides gold coin are legal tender and in what amount? It may be that "all money looks alike to you," but there's a difference, and below is the list: Gold coins, standard silver dollars, subsidiary silver, gold certificates, silver certificates, treasury notes (1900), United States notes (greenbacks), national bank notes, nickel coins and bronze coins.

Looking upon this formidable classification of United States money as made by the treasury department, it becomes more formidable when it is considered from the highly technical point of view as a legal tender. Some of the most imposing of the paper currency is not a legal tender at all, while, as to the minor coins, they are legal tender in such small amounts as to startle the average layman. It may be well to recall to this layman that the term "legal tender" owes its significance to the fact that in payment of debt or obligation of any kind it can be forced upon the creditor "in full of all demands."

Gold certificates, silver certificates and national bank notes, of which such enormous numbers circulate everywhere, are not legal tender. If you have plenty of money and if you have forced Jones to sue you in order to get judgment, Jones can turn down every one of these bills tendered in payment and force you to dig up something better.

Should Jones do such a thing you might conceive the idea of fixing him by unloading a whole lot of silver coins upon him. But you want to know what you're doing there, too, for he'll take only $10 worth of halves, quarters and dimes, while of nickels and copper cents only 25 cents value is legal tender.

But as to the standard silver dollar, there's no limit upon your shoveling them out to Jones. This old "dollar of our dad's" still is the real thing in all business transactions unless some clause in a contract has provided otherwise. Jones may refuse the silver certificate, but when you dig up the metal dollar they go unquestioned at their face value. And 1,000 of them weigh 68.92 pounds.

Treasury notes of the act of 1890 are legal tender to their face value in payment of all debts, public and private, unless expressly stipulated in the contract.

Strictly speaking, the United States notes or greenbacks are legal tender, with the exception of duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Practically, however, since the resumption of specie payment in 1879, greenbacks have been received freely and without question by the government, though the law respecting them hasn't been changed.

While the gold and silver certificates are not legal tender as between individuals, both issues are receivable for all government dues of whatever kind, in this respect legally more acceptable than is the greenback.

National bank notes, while not legal tender and not receivable for duties on imports, still may be paid by the government for salaries and all debts of the government except interest dues and in redemption of national currency.

By especial enactment no foreign coin of any kind or denomination shall be a legal tender in the United States, so that if some time the street car conductor does balk at the chance Canadian dime fished from your pocket keep cool and dig for something that is United States. It's your move.—Chicago Tribune.

A Gold Mine to All

The following is an analysis of water taken from a well on my farm two miles southwest of town, on the road to Lake Wichita; was made by G. S. Fraps, Ph. D., State Chemist, at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, on Oct. 18th, 1909.

This sample of water has the following composition, expressed in grains, per U. S. Gallon:
Carbonate of Lime.....	7.53
Sulphate of Lime.....	23.33
Calcium Chloride.....	15.68
Magnesium Chloride.....	32.19
Sodium Chloride.....	135.41

This water is classed as a mineral saline water. These waters stimulate the secretion of the stomach, increase digestion and favor a more complete absorption of the food. This water should have a laxative action, taken in small doses, and a purgative action taken in larger doses, on account of the magnesium which it contains.

Yours truly,
G. S. FRAPS.

This water will be delivered to any part of the city at 10c per gallon.

Will Prohibition Hurt Wichita Fall's Children? Tex., Oct. 25, 1909.

We the undersigned business men of Childress wish to state that since we have had prohibition in effect here business has materially increased in volume and collections have been better. People who formerly spent their money in the saloons have bought and paid out nice homes. Crime has been greatly reduced and the general moral tone of our citizenship is much improved. It is our belief that no town need fear any injury to business conditions by voting the saloons out.

John D. Rockefeller recently gave a fund of $1,000,000 to be used by a commission in fighting the hook worm disease and he anticipated the co-operation of every local medical society in the south. Amid the lace bargains in one of the large department stores the other day a shopper engrossed in thought set her little Japanese spaniel on the counter. One of the salesgirls, not seeing the little dog, threw a remnant of reduced lace over him and entirely submerged him. When the woman went to look for her pet he was not to be found, but several shrill yelps, accompanied by an upheaval of the lace, betrayed his presence. He was quickly rescued from his predicament, and the woman, showering kisses upon his moist, upturned nose, said, "Did they cover mamma's precious with cheap fifty cent lace?" The salesgirl, who evidently had cultivated diplomacy, assured the dog's mistress that the lace had been reduced from $1 to 50 cents, and the woman took her pet away mollified.—Philadelphia Record

THE DARK OF THE MOON.

A Result That is Produced by the Light From the Earth. Many people have wondered why the part of the moon that receives no sunlight is often visible to us, the term being the "old moon in the young moon's arms." The dark part is easily seen as a copper colored globe reposing in the bright crescent. This that we see is nothing more or less than the earth shine on the moon. We appear the same way to the moon when we are in that phase, and our dark part is where the moonshine appears and the bright part of the sunshine. The reason the copper color appears is because light has to traverse the atmosphere of the earth three times—once on coming from the sun to the earth, once when reflected to the moon and again on being reflected back to us. Our atmosphere possesses the peculiar property of absorbing the blue rays of this white light and allowing only the red and orange to go through, thus causing the appearance of copper color by the triple absorption.

An odd thing connected with this phenomenon, though having nothing to do with it, is this: That part of the moon which appears dark to us is the same part of the earth that appears light to the moon at any specified time and that part of the moon which appears bright to us corresponds to the same portion of the earth appearing dark to the moon. Of course it is well known that the moon gives out no light whatever itself, the moonshine being merely the light of the sun on the moon reflected to us. The same applies with the earth in its shine on the moon, save that we do give out glows, no doubt, around great cities at night, on account of the enormous number of lights. One thing, however, in which moonshine excels the earth shine is its constant character. Where the earth possesses varying clouds the old moon never has any at all.—St. Louis Public.

A PUNJAB CIRCUS.

Program, in "Punch and Jab" English as Good as the Show. The sun never sets on the Empire. This overdose of sunbathing sometimes warps it out of shape. In the Malays it becomes "pigeon," in the south seas it is either "sandalwood" or "bebe de mer," and among the erudite along the water front at Yokohama it is "banzal." Here is a sample of a brand sometimes called "punch and jab" English. It was captured alive by a Calcutta exchange editor armed with his scissors in the jungle of advertising literature that threw its shadow ahead of a native Punjab circus:

Lost Temper. "Lost temper does great harm," said a politician. "I once knew a man who held thirteen trumps at whist, and on account of his partner's temper he took only one trick with that ideal hand." "Impossible!" sneered a reporter who conducted a weekly bridge column. "Impossible? Not at all," was the politician's reply. "You see, as soon as this man trumped his partner's ace on the first play his partner in a rage jumped up and kicked him out of the room."

Accounting For Patrick Henry. It is related that Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase on stopping at the birthplace of Patrick Henry in Virginia exclaimed: "What an atmosphere! What a view! What glorious mountains! No wonder that Patrick Henry grew here!" Whereupon an honest native dryly remarked that the atmosphere, the view and the mountains had been there for ages, but that only one Patrick Henry had been produced.—Macon Telegraph.

LINCOLN TRIED IT.

And That Ended the Naval Sweatbox Punishment.

On one of Mr. Lincoln's excursions to Fortress Monroe on the steamer Hartford in 1863 his attention was directed to a narrow door bound with iron, the use of which he was anxious to learn.

"What is this?" he asked.
"Oh, that is the sweatbox," was the reply. "It is used for refractory and insubordinate seamen. A man in there is subjected to steam heat and has very little ventilation. It generally brings him to terms very quickly."

President Lincoln's curiosity was aroused. "This," he said to himself, "is treatment to which thousands of American seamen are probably subjected every year. Let me try it for myself and see what it really is."

Taking off his hat, for he was several inches over six feet in height, he entered the inclosure, which he found to be little more than three feet in length or width. He gave orders that a signal from himself the door should be immediately opened. It was then closed and the steam turned on.

He had been inside hardly three minutes before the signal was given. President Lincoln had experienced enough of what was then regarded as necessary punishment for American seamen. There was very little ventilation, and the short exposure to the hot and humid air had almost suffocated him.

Turning to Secretary Welles of the navy department, the president ordered that no such inclosure as the sweatbox should ever after be allowed on any vessel flying the American flag.

It was not an hour after this order had been given before every sailor on every ship in Hampton Roads had heard of it. The effect was most remarkable on the older sailors, many of whom had themselves experienced the punishment of the sweatbox. Some of them wept from joy.

But the good results of this act of President Lincoln were not confined to the American navy. Great Britain, France, Germany and other European countries heard that the sweatbox had been abolished in America as inhuman. One and all of these nations in turn fell into line, and today the sweatbox is not to be found on any vessel flying the flag of a civilized nation throughout the world.

RAN THE BLOCKADE.

Putting Through a Risky Piece of Business at Santiago.

Some naval officers at a dinner party the other evening were discussing the efficacy of the Cuban blockade in 1896. That many vessels ran the blockade at Havana, Cienfuegos and elsewhere was admitted.

"But only one vessel ever ran the Santiago blockade," said one of the speakers, "and that was one of our own vessels, the little Gloucester."

He then described how the Gloucester ran the blockade, while commanded by Dick Wainwright, then a lieutenant commander, who had previously been executive officer of the Maine when it blew up.

"We had been sent down to Asseraderos to communicate with the insurgents," said the raconteur, who was on the Gloucester at the time. "Upon our return it was quite dark, and we were proceeding slowly to our station on the inside line of the blockade when the electric signaling apparatus broke down. We could not give a signal, particularly the private identification signal of the night. Had we been discovered by one of the blockading vessels it would at once have flashed the signal, and if we did not immediately respond it would have promptly opened fire. We would have been blown to pieces in a minute."

"It was a risky piece of business, but Dick Wainwright was perfectly cool, and the Gloucester actually picked its way without being discovered through the whole blockading fleet, took up its station on the inside line, under the Morro, and as soon as the signaling apparatus was repaired reported its arrival. It was a clear case of blockade running, but it was mighty ticklish while it lasted."—San Francisco Call.

An Intelligent Cow.

A few nights ago a citizen went home and found a cow in his yard. He drove her out. He then went into the house and later heard the animal in the yard again. He drove her out the second and third times. The citizen's son came home later and found the animal in the yard and drove her out. The citizen then made an investigation and found the cow got in by wading around the fence on the river side. He hung up a lantern to deceive the cow as she came in, and the next morning, so he says, he found the cow in the yard with the lantern hung on her horns, using the same to hunt out the best grapefruit in his grove. Say what you please, but that was an intelligent cow. And the story is true—of course it is.—Fort Myer Press.

Swell Stock.

"Could I sell you an imported Persian cat for $1,000?" ventured the cat and dog fancier.

"What?" exclaimed the multimillionaire in surprise. "Why, I just bought a $5,000 bulldog from you the other day."

"Yes, but I thought you'd want a $1,000 cat for that swell bulldog to chase. You surely wouldn't allow a $5,000 bulldog to chase a common cat, would you?"—Pittsburg Press.

An Important Advantage.

"Do you think a college education affords a man an important advantage?"

"Oh, yes! One has to have it in order to get into a university club."—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE VICIOUS PECCARY

A Fierce Creature Is the South

HE IS SMALL, BUT FEARLESS

Will Attack Man or Any Animal in Existence on the Slightest Provocation and Will Fight to the Death—A Battle With a Jaguar.

During one of his journeys into Mexico Edward W. Walton, a mining expert, had a close call from being allied to a herd by the fierce little South American pigs known as peccaries. He told the story of his escape to a Denver Post reporter.

"I wished to secure some plumes from a number of the beautifully plumaged birds," said Mr. Walton. "I went into the jungle and came to a small opening in which there were dry leaves, probably a foot in depth, covering the ground, and hundreds of beautifully colored tropical birds in the air and in the trees. I fired at one of the birds in flight, when it seemed to me the whole area of these dead leaves arose in front of and all around me. Being a stranger, naturally I was much frightened, especially when I saw the animals which raised up the leaves apparently ready for an attack. The older animals opened and closed their mouths, showing their big, sharp tusks, formed much like a dirk knife, and some of them started toward me. Impulsively I commenced firing my gun in the air and turned around, which seemed to stop most of them momentarily, and as I had lots of cartridges I kept up the shooting, and they turned and ran away. I found afterward that I had saved my life by so doing and by not shooting any of the animals.

"These animals proved to be peccaries. They are most ferocious and will attack any animal in existence on the slightest provocation. When I got back to headquarters and told my companions my experience I was informed that had I shot one of the animals and made him squeal the whole bunch would have been on me and would have torn me to pieces quickly. They have been known to kill bears, jaguars, cattle, horses and any number of dogs. Although in the fight scores of their number might be killed, they seem to have no fear when once aroused.

"I was told the peccaries burrow under the dry leaves to protect themselves from mosquitoes and other winged pests of that hot country. My friends had many exciting experiences to tell in regard to these ferocious little animals. One of this party, while traveling with a companion in a wagon, stopped for lunch under some trees and turned their horses out to graze. While at lunch a large bunch of peccaries appeared, and they thought it would be nice to shoot among them and get one or two for meat, so they fired into them, wounding several, which commenced to squeal. Then the whole bunch made an attack. The men climbed quickly into the wagon and kept on shooting so long as the ammunition which they had in their pockets lasted. As they were opening their bags to get out more ammunition the peccaries climbed up the tongue of the wagon and jumped into it, and the men saved themselves only by jumping on to the seat and then on to limbs of the trees, the peccaries taking possession of the wagon and tearing things to pieces. They remained in possession for hours, the men watching them from safety in the trees."

The peccary, or South American wild boar, is the smallest of his species, averaging about three feet long, nor is the animal possessed of any unusual degree of strength. To make up for the natural individual deficiencies in combat with the more powerful animals of the jungle the peccaries always travel in large herds. When once attacked by a herd of peccaries the outcome is nearly always death to their enemy. The little pigs are armed with short sharp tusks, and no matter how great the slaughter of their own number during the melee the herd stay on the job until the work is finished.

Travelers in tropical and South American countries tell of fierce encounters between the peccaries and the jaguar, the monster cat which is lord of the forest. The jaguar has a fondness for a dinner of pork, but a wholesome respect for the power of a herd of wild pigs. When he wants to satisfy his cravings for a pork diet he drops from a limb of a tree on to the back of a straggler in the peccary herd. The jaguar slays his victim and then retreats hastily to his tree before the herd can get at him. When the herd grows tired of waiting for him to come down and moves along the jaguar descends and enjoys his meal at leisure. Frederick Selous in his romance of the animal world has an interesting account of a fight between a jaguar and a herd of peccaries. The peccaries had the jaguar treed on the limb of a tree from which the bark had rotted away. He was only a few feet above them and by harassing and jumping at their enemy finally succeeded in bringing the conflict to the ground. After the fight was over there were eleven killed and wounded peccaries, but the jaguar was literally torn to pieces.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx
Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats

What we have to say here concerns you lovers of exclusiveness in dress among our higher priced lines—those at $22.50, $25.00, $30.00 and $35.00.—You will find materials and patterns confined to us alone in Wichita Falls by Hart, Schaffner & Marx. But very few suits of each material came to us and, considering the enormous size of our stock, we can surely say that nowhere in Wichita can you find so wide, so varied assortment of splendid garments. These are beautifully made, cleverly styled clothes, luxurious to the last degree: mere words are inadequate to describe them justly—come and see for yourself. Woolens have advanced and clothiers generally are putting up their prices—some more, some less; according to the skill and manner of their buying. There is nothing extraordinary interesting in that statement but read what follows. Hart, Schaffner & Marx are the greatest manufacturers of clothing in the country. The amount of woolen clothes they buy each season may be measured in leagues. Their buyers are most skillful and experienced. And here is the interesting point: On account of their buying skill, on account of their enormous quantity of their purchases, Hart, Schaffner & Marx have been enabled to give us better fabrics at each price than any other make can afford. That is why Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes of ours are better value than any you can find elsewhere in Wichita today.

Other suits $10.00 to $20.00; Overcoats $12.50 to $20.00
