CLUB MEETING TO BE AT HENRIETTA

DISTRICT ASSOCIATION TO HOLD QUARTERLY SESSION THERE NEXT WEEK.

PROGRAM IS PLANNED

Several Prominent Speakers to be Heard and Many Matters to Receive Attention.

The Third Quarterly session of the District Association of Commercial Clubs will be held on next Thursday and Friday at Henrietta and preparations are being made for a large delegation from this city. Several matters of particular interest are to come up for attention. The following program has been arranged:

First Day.
10:30 a. m.—Preliminary session, officers and delegates. Automobile drive over the city. Visitors not directly interested in the work of the association will be shown the points of interest in Henrietta and vicinity, including gas well drilling.
1:20 p. m.—Regular session.

The regular session will comprise all the business of the association, as well as the addresses of the specially invited guests.

4:00 p. m.—Prize Colt Show.

All the fine colts in Clay county will be exhibited on the public square. Two classes—one and two year olds—will be shown and three valuable prizes for each class will be awarded by expert judges.

Unfinished business of the association.

Officers and delegates choosing to remain in the convention hall to further discuss the association's affairs will be at liberty to do so.

5:00 p. m.—Automobile drive over the city. Those who do not go on the morning drive will have the opportunity to do so at this hour.

8:30 p. m.—Entertainment at Granger's opera house—Musical Comedy.

11:30 p. m.—Luncheon and cigars to delegates.

Second Day.

8:00 a. m.—Automobile drive to the Henrietta oil and gas fields. It will require several hours to make this trip properly, therefore it can not be included in the first day's program.

Invitations to address the association have been accepted by the following prominent people:

Address of welcome—Hon. H. A. Allen, vice president Henrietta Board of Trade.

Response—Hon. A. H. Carrigan, of Wichita Falls, judge of the 30th judicial district.

Mr. H. G. Salding, of Ardmore, Okla., president Oklahoma Federation of Commercial and Industrial organizations.

Mr. A. A. Glisson, of Fort Worth, general passenger agent Fort Worth and Denver City railroad.

Mr. Homer D. Wade, of Stamford, chairman executive committee Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association; Hon. Louis J. Wortham, of Fort Worth, editor in chief of Star-Telegram; Mr. J. A. Arnold of Fort Worth, president Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association, have accepted invitations conditionally and will be present if possible.

A party of eighty representative business men of Dallas, headed by Capt. B. B. Paddock, of Fort Worth, is expected to arrive in Henrietta the morning of the 16th, on an automobile endurance run of 700 miles, and will mingle with the people here for some time. Captain Paddock and some of the others in the party will make public addresses on timely subjects.

Patronize Pond's Up-to-Date Laundry. It sews your buttons on. 155.

ORDS BROKEN IN HIGH HOG PRICES

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 9.—Hogs today broke all records in the local livestock market, when two sales were made at eight thirty-five.

This is ten cents higher than yesterday's price.

A carload of rice fed hogs from Beaumont were received today and sold at eight ten per hundred pounds. This is the first lot of strictly rice fed hogs received here.

KILLED UNDER ENGINE.

Engineer Started Up While Fireman Was at Work.

Texas News Service Special. Denison, Tex., Dec. 9.—R. Nemic, a fireman on a southbound freight train of the M. K. & T., late last night near Whitesboro, was fatally injured beneath the engine, when Engineer T. J. Cox started the locomotive. In the absence of Cox, Nemic crawled under the engine to clean the ash pan. The engineer returned and started to move the train onto a switch. Nemic was dragged through the hot cinders and crushed. A brother lives at Hillsboro.

COLD IN FORT WORTH.

Temperature There is Eighteen Degrees Above Today.

Texas News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 9.—The temperature here this morning registered eighteen degrees above zero, three degrees lower than yesterday. This is the coldest of the season. Fair conditions continue.

FREIGHTER BURNED.

Two Members of Crew Perished—Others Adrift.

By Associated Press. Cleveland, O., Dec. 9.—Information was received here today that the freighter Clarion, was burned in Lake Erie last night. The first mate and one of the crew perished, while the captain and eleven of the crew are adrift on the lake in a life boat.

CONGRESSMAN AT WORK FOR ADDITIONAL MONEY

Congressman Stephens of this district will introduce a bill increasing the appropriation for the Wichita Falls postoffice from fifty thousand to one hundred thousand, according to private advices received from him here recently. The sum of fifty thousand dollars is available for the work already, but it is felt that twice that sum is needed to erect a building compatible with the needs of the city. The Chamber of Commerce has long been at work for the increased appropriation and both the Senators from this state are lined up for it. The introduction of the bill is the first move and it is possible that it will go through this session.

POWDER EXPLOSION.

Lighted Pipe Believed Caused of Fatal Accident.

By Associated Press. Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 9.—By an explosion in a dynamite and powder magazine at Bulls Gap, Tenn., today, Isaac Buchanan was killed and two others were probably fatally injured. It is claimed that Buchanan entered the magazine with a lighted pipe.

COPENHAGEN'S FAITH IN COOK IS STRENGTHENED

By Associated Press. Copenhagen, Dec. 9.—A summary of the affidavits of persons claiming to have aided Dr. Cook in the preparation of his polar data published in London and New York, was read here with amazement. Scientific circles are inclined to be incredulous regarding the charges and consider them so improbable that the effect is to strengthen confidence in Cook.

MORE RECORDS BROKEN.

Wonderful Showing Being Made in Six-Day Bicycle Event.

Texas News Service Special. New York, Dec. 9.—Records continue to be broken in the six-day bicycle race here today. At the end of the seventy-eighth hour, seven of the thirteen surviving teams had covered fifteen hundred and forty-three miles, which is fifteen miles ahead of the record.

FIVE ARE DROWNED.

Crew of Sinking Freighter Went Down With Her.

By Associated Press. Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 9.—The steel freighter Richardson sank early today five miles up the lake from here, and five members of the crew went down with the ship. The life-saving crew saved the other members of the crew, who jumped into the water.

Is Cold at Galveston.

Texas News Service Special. Galveston, Tex., Dec. 9.—The temperature here this morning registered thirty-five degrees, the coldest of the season.

LARGER ACREAGE PLANTED IN WHEAT

BELIEVED TO BE FULLY TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT MORE THAN FOR SEASON 1908.

OUTLOOK IS EXCELLENT

Fall Rains Have Already Materially Benefitted the Crop—Other Crops Smaller.

While it is rather early to make any sort of accurate forecast of the '10 wheat crop in this county, present indications point to one of the best wheat years this section has experienced in some years. The fall rains are believed to have proven immensely beneficial and the prospects for further wet weather are considered good.

Last season the wheat acreage in this county was approximately seventy-five thousand acres, the smallest since the country began to be developed. To judge from estimates from various parts of the county, the acreage planted for 1910 is fully twenty-five per cent larger and will doubtless easily reach the one hundred thousand mark. The good prices paid for wheat last season are believed to be responsible for the increase in acreage.

Yesterday's snow is thought to have been very helpful to the wheat crop, as the moisture soaks in and is absorbed more thoroughly than when it rains. While the snow was a light one, it was heavy enough and general enough to help the wheat crop materially.

The acreage in other small grain crops is believed to be less than last year. The local oat crop was not very successful last season and very few farmers will try it again this year. The corn acreage will be somewhat larger, according to estimates.

IN SEARCH OF 'JIMMY.'

Another Tug Starts Out to Find Missing Boat.

Texas News Service Special. Galveston, Tex., Dec. 9.—The Tug Zoe, with Robert P. Clark, one of the owners of the Tug Jimmy on board, cleared at 11 o'clock this morning to search for the missing craft.

DENVER SEEKING OUTLET AT GULF

OFFICIALS OF COLORADO AND SOUTHERN VISIT GALVESTON WITH THAT INTENTION.

MAY PURCHASE T. & B. V.

Severance of Rock Island and Frisco Systems May be Followed By This Development.

Galveston, Tex., Dec. 9.—It is believed in railroad circles here that the visit of W. A. Webb, assistant to the vice president of the Colorado Southern; J. D. Welsh, general superintendent, and other Colorado and Southern officials here Tuesday was of much significance. The gist of the matter is there is reason to believe that these officials came here and looked over the Trinity and Brazos Valley terminals, in connection with a proposition which if consummated, will give the Colorado and Southern control of the Trinity and Brazos Valley.

With the severance of the Frisco and Rock Island systems it is believed that the Colorado and Southern plans to secure the Rock Island, Trinity and Brazos Valley. Galveston terminals and that the Rock Island figures upon getting a Gulf outlet by the Galveston, Houston and Henderson Railroad tracks here. If these beliefs are well-founded, it remains to be seen what Mr. Yoakum and the Frisco will do.

It is said that Mr. Yoakum holds terminal property both in the east and west ends of Galveston. This can not be stated as a fact, but railroad men say that Mr. Yoakum can build all the terminals he wants at Galveston any time he desires, so far as the land is concerned. Accordingly, it is figured that Mr. Yoakum, if he can secure a Gulf outlet no other way, will build his own terminals here.

Rumors of all kinds are in the air these days regarding the Trinity and Brazos Valley and nothing really authoritative will be stated by any railroad man directly interested; perhaps for the very simple reason that none of them know which way the cat will jump.

On the occasion of the trip of the Colorado and Southern officials Tuesday nothing whatever would be said for publication and to questions regarding the real import of the trip the officials were silent.

IS STILL MISSING.

No News Heard Yet of Tug Jimmy at Galveston.

Texas News Service Special. Galveston, Tex., Dec. 9.—The tug Jimmy, due here last Saturday night from Sabine, is still missing today and marine men fear the craft was driven on the rocks and sunk during Saturday's storm.

The crew was composed of Captain Allen, W. E. Nelson, engineer; G. E. Townsley, steward; John Olsen, fireman; John Whalen and one other, an unknown deck hand. The 'Jimmy' was seaworthy.

RAILROADERS FIGHT.

Round House Employee Fatally Stabbed at Fort Worth.

Texas News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 9.—Lewis Young, aged 27, employed at the M. K. & T. round house here this afternoon was stabbed to death in an altercation with Frank Clark, a brakeman on the train bound for Hillsboro. Clark attempted to eject Young from the train and it is alleged drew a knife, which Young resented. Young was unarmed. He was going to Hillsboro to visit his mother.

MEETING TO PLAN FOR MEMBERSHIP SESSION

There is to be a very important meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, December 14th, for the purpose of making arrangements for the holding of the annual membership meeting in January 1910.

At the January meeting, as is the usual custom, the work for the New Year will be mapped out, and the election of a new board of directors, whose duty it will be to select a Secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Gohlke.

For this reason, every member should be present.

At the meeting of the directors on Tuesday, the 14th, it is likely that the annual banquet will be arranged for.

DEMAND IS ISSUED FOR RESIGNATION

UNITED STATES HAS NOTIFIED ZELAYA HE MUST STEP DOWN AND OUT.

STILL VERY VINDICTIVE

Zelaya Said to Have Ordered That All American Prisoners Be Executed at Once.

By Associated Press. London, Dec. 9.—The United States has formally demanded the resignation of President Zelaya, according to a cablegram from Nicaragua received by a business house here today.

The message adds that this information was communicated by President Zelaya himself who said that his resignation from the Presidency would probably take effect late in December.

Texas News Service Special. New Orleans, Dec. 9.—A cablegram from Panama says:

'Death to all Americans' is the order issued to the Army of the Government by Zelaya. Some of Zelaya's officers protested and warned him that trouble with the United States would result. 'To hell with the gringos' Zelaya is said to have replied, 'shoot every one you capture.'

There are now four American warships in the Corinto harbor.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—The statement telegraphed from London to the effect that the United States has demanded the resignation of Zelaya and that he indicated his purpose to retire by the end of the present month, is declared at the state department to be without foundation.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—The report in circulation today that the United States Government has demanded the resignation of Zelaya, president of Nicaragua, is unfounded, according to officials of the state department. A special message from the president dealing with the Nicaraguan situation is looked for tomorrow when congress reconvenes.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—President Zelaya of Nicaragua, has ordered his troops to shoot every American fighting with Estrada's revolutionists and to kill immediately every American captured, according to advices received early today by the state department from Panama. Decisive action by the State Department is expected hourly in view of the arrival yesterday of additional American battleships in Nicaraguan waters.

WATERWAYS CONGRESS.

Stirring Speeches Are Being Heard at Today's Session.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Words that rang true to the cause of waterway improvements and that came from speakers representing every section of the United States, stirred up enthusiasm in the National Rivers and Harbors Congress today.

That there is no reason for delay in formulating a policy making effective for navigation the water courses of the nation, is the opinion of many delegates.

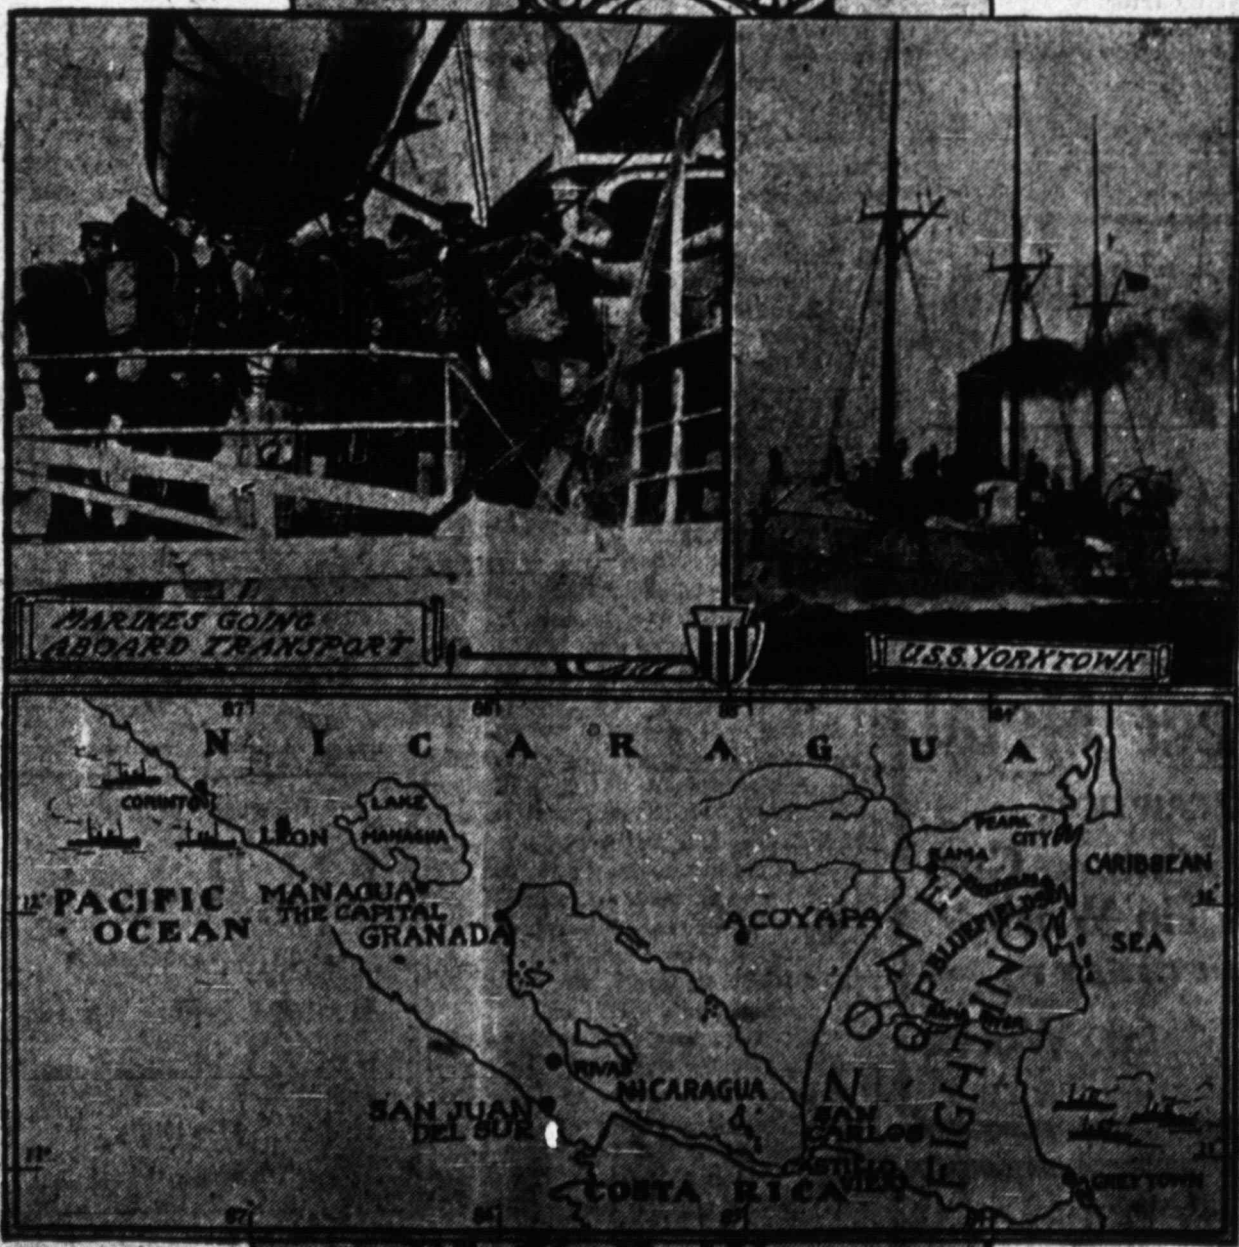

Among the speakers were Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel and Frank Gates Allen.

Money to Succeed Culberson.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—In their caucus this afternoon the democrats elected Senator Money of Mississippi, as minority leader in the senate to succeed Senator Chan. A. Culberson of Texas, whose resignation was presented today. Culberson resigned on account of ill health.

DISASTROUS FIRE LAST NIGHT AT KALAMAZOO

By Associated Press. Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 9.—One life was probably lost, many firemen overcome by smoke, three hundred guests driven scantly clad into the icy streets and property valued at approximately a million dollars, was destroyed by fire, which started last night at 10 o'clock and was only extinguished after an all night struggle by the combined fire fighting forces of Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids.

Coincident with Secretary Knox's action in handing to the Nicaraguan minister his passports the war department made preparations to assemble a force of 6,000 marines and bluejackets within striking distance of Managua, the seat of the Zelayan government. With the war vessels already in the Caribbean sea and those ready to hurry there at a moment's notice the department announced its ability to cope with the situation in the most summary manner. There is to be no temporizing with Zelaya. He has long been regarded as the one disturbing element in Central America, and the Washington authorities are determined to restore order in his domain without any delay. Rear Admiral W. W. Kimball was ordered to take charge of the naval operations at the scene of trouble and has in his command several light draft vessels, such as the Yorktown and Des Moines, together with several transports carrying marines and full quartermaster and subsistence stores. The transport Prairie alone had 600 marines on board when she left Philadelphia.

Wouldn't Some Pure Maple Syrup Taste Good Right Now?

How often do you wish you had some of the real article for your cakes in the morning or for flavoring of puddings and cakes?

Why don't you get some?

Our Monarch Maple Syrup comes from the Vermont "sugar bushes," the state that has the pure syrup reputation.

The way they make the syrup is to take about 32 gallons of pure sap as it comes from the trees and boil it down to a rich thick syrup.

Nothing is put into it and nothing taken out but the water and at 60c per quart or $1.00 per half gallon you can afford to have it on hand all the time.

DICKINSON TALKS TO SOUTHERNERS

MAKES INTERESTING AND ENTERTAINING ADDRESS BEFORE SOCIETY IN NEW YORK.

ATTITUDE OF THE SOUTH

Subject is "The Invasion of the North By the South."—Tells of the Common Heritage.

By Associated Press.
 New York, Dec. 2.—Rising to the toast, "The invasion of the North by the South," at the banquet of the New York Southern Society last night, the secretary prefaced his remarks with a protest against the custom of Southerners in the north, affirming in public gatherings their loyalty to the United States.

"The time has come," said the secretary, "when there is not only no good ground for, but conclusive reason against, giving especial emphasis, as Southerners to such declaration. By implication they suggest a doubt where none should exist. They do not reflect a true appreciation of the spirit of the day. We do not need them to convince ourselves that the south with practical unanimity will sustain our country in any time of storm or stress. If there are any Southern men who feel otherwise, they are too inconsequential to exert any appreciable influence."

Proceeding to his topic, Secretary Dickinson said, in part:

"I have in mind an invasion entirely peaceable and conquests that are civic. When the canny Scot was incorporated into the Kingdom of Great Britain against his will, he got his ining by moving into the enemy's country and accommodating himself to the new and inevitable order of things.

There was never a deeper hate than that which the Scots cherished for England, but in time they became a bulwark of strength to Great Britain and achieved and maintained a leadership which has been one of the main sources of her greatness."

Using that as a parallel, the speaker dwelt upon the impoverished condition of the South immediately following the war and then proceeded to trace the invasion of northern fields by southern men and women.

"The tide once set in did not subside when the causes that first gave it impulse ceased to act," the speaker continued. "In all the large progressive cities of the north, southern men are a forceful part of the business, professional and social life and this is especially true of the bounding commercial centers of the middle and extreme west. Their names are not obscure. The reputation of many is international."

"I have sometimes thought that the men of the south wronged her by leaving her in her poverty, and seeking new and happier surroundings and greater opportunities, and that in this the south suffered a great loss. But there is a wider vision that shows there was compensation. The achievements of southern men in the north, while rebounding to the happiness of the successful individuals have wrought in a far more significant way for the welfare of the country."

"It is generally accepted that the Civil war was a contest between people of the northern blood on one side, and the people of southern blood on the other. This is a great error. We are slow to look beyond generalities to the essential truth. The Civil War was a war between the states, but as to the participants, it was purely a local question. There were seventeen brigadier generals, four major generals and one lieutenant general in the southern army who were born in the northern states. Of those, seven were born in the state of New York. Of the first five, who were full generals of the confederate army, Cooper, who was the ranking officer, was born in New York, and Albert Sidney Johnston was of a Connecticut father and a Massachusetts mother. Kirby Smith, the last general who surrendered, was of New England parentage. Eighty of the graduates of West Point, who entered the Confederate army, were born in the non-seceding states."

"But there was reciprocity on our part. Kentucky brought forth the central figure of the epoch, Abraham Lincoln. Virginia gave birth to Thomas, the rock of Chickamauga, and Tennessee produced Farragut, the great. Early in the war the commanding officers of twelve of Farragut's twenty-two ships at the battle of New Orleans were born in the slave-holding states. Early in the war the commanding officer of the northern army was a Virginian and the ranking officer of the Southern army was a New Yorker. Southern people when the review of this list and see how much they are indebted should at least pause before making generalizations. We are even under obligations to the north for the cornerstone of the confederacy, the doctrine of secession.

"Today we are the most homogeneous people of any of the greater powers of the world. We have our local differences and variances in ideals and subordinate principles of government. May they continue to flourish in full vigor. Out of their development will be evolved a healthier, more intelligent and enduring national life. The stimulus of rivalry will rebound to the general good."

"Americans have a common and equal heritage. The various sections can best show forth their worth and sustain a patent to superior citizenship, not by vauntings nor by reproaches as to the past, but by excelling in generous rivalry in serving our country, striving to secure and perpetuate personal freedom—not the freedom of license, but freedom of thought, opinion and action regulated by general law; maintain justice through courts with impartial judges and juries open to all alike, where weakness and poverty are as potent as power and wealth, and keeping our republic in a career that will conserve for the longest time the rich blessings which it is now showering upon humanity."

How to Send Your Christmas Gifts

With the advent of Christmas and its millions of pounds of gift packages, postal authorities and express officials are issuing the customary cautionary advice regarding the labeling, addressing and sending of packages.

Thousands of Christmas packages are delayed every year in both express and postoffice because of improper addressing, wrapping or postage. A great many more are delayed because of the heavy rush at Yuletide. The first advice issued by the postal and express authorities, and one that should be followed, is to make all shipments early and avoid the rush. The postal department is explicit in giving directions toward the proper addressing, wrapping and applying postage to fourth class matter, under which general merchandise comes and in which the majority of the Christmas packages are inclosed.

All packages under this class must be unsealed and the limit of weight of a single package is four pounds, except in the case of a single book. For packages of this kind a charge of one cent for each ounce or fraction will be made. Especial attention is called to the fact that no writing is allowed in the packages sent except the name of the sender and the mere expression of good wishes on Christmas greeting, the last being an especial concession for this time of the year. Other writing than this will not be permitted and is punishable by a fine, formerly $10 for each offense, but increased lately to figures many times that amount.

On the outside of the package may be written, besides the address, the name of the sender, with street or business address. It must be borne in mind that all packages sent at this rate must be tied in such a manner as to be easily opened and their contents examined by the postal clerks. If they are sealed in any way, the full charge of two cents for each ounce or fraction will be charged. During the past two years the authorities have had some trouble with the Christmas or charity stamps. People have affixed them to the edges of wrapping paper, joining them together and effectually sealing the package. This requires the additional charge to be collected when delivered. The postal authorities also lay stress upon the fact that packages bearing Christmas and charity stamps must be accompanied by full United States postage.

All Christmas packages must be fully prepaid by postage, otherwise they will not be sent to destination, but some time after the holidays, when the big rush is over, they will be notified that such and such a package awaits so much postage before it will be forwarded.

On November 1 the rate for registering packages and letters was advanced from eight to ten cents, another little item to be borne in mind when standing in front of the postal clerk's window.

There are other kinds of Christmas presents that will come under other rates and classes, but an overwhelming majority will be included in the fourth class. Postmaster Bacon wishes it impressed upon the people to mail their presents early, before December 18, if possible, relieving the postoffice of a great amount of hurried work and insuring the prompt delivery of the packages.

At the same time the express companies have come out with a lot of instructions. Like the postal authorities the express officials request that all packages be sent before December 18, each express company will affix to the package, upon request, a small label reading "Don't open until Christmas."

The sending on the early date will insure the package reaching its destination before Christmas, giving the recipient additional pleasure in having the gift Christmas morning.

All glass or fragile articles should be packed in wooden boxes and should be well protected against breakage. The cost will be a trifle more, but the danger of loss or damage is greatly reduced. All express companies stand good for damaged and broken packages but friends will not benefit by claims collected a month or so after the holidays.

Addresses should be written plainly, with state, county, city, street and number, with name of sender in large letters on the package. If the package should contain anything perishable, the word "perishable" should be written in a conspicuous place.

These suggestions by both postal and express officials are intended to assist in the prompt and safe delivery of all packages and if religiously followed, will insure yourself and friends of a Merry Christmas.

HIGH RENTS IN AMARILLO.

The following editorial taken from Amarillo Daily Panhandle, gives a tolerably clear idea of the rent situation in that city.

"The Daily Panhandle has from time to time touched upon the question of usurious rent rates in Amarillo, showing where such condition is holding back this city from going forward as fast it would were conditions different. Many worthy men with families refuse to come in as citizens when they investigate and others leave Amarillo after a period of sacrifice of this nature.

There is another phase of the matter that has developed a serious situation. A citizen elected to fill one of the official positions of the recently created United Charities Association of Amarillo spoke as follows this morning to the Daily Panhandle:

"Amarillo is decidedly one of the worst places on earth for the indigent. Rents, exorbitant and out of proportion with expenditures, of investment represented, are the hardest items to meet. There are poor families living in miserable shacks, the rents on which are higher than charged for first class cottages in good neighborhoods in other cities of similar size. By the time the good people of the city have generously donated food and clothing they feel that they have gone to such limit that they ought not to be expected to pay big rents, and that too, to persons who are living in ease and wrapped in furs.

"Fifteen to twenty-five dollars each month is rather strong for three and four room shacks, for many of them are little more. It is rare that one may find anything in the guise of a house or hut that may be had for ten dollars a month. This being true, and it is true, it is apparent that once here, persons are compelled to take whatever falls within their hands—rent these places regardless of the price, and hope and pray and work with a desire to in some way make enough to keep the wolf from the door and pay the rents. In many cases neither food nor rent are kept up, and an appeal, often with shamefacedness, is made to some neighbor, or to some one known to be interested in such work.

"It is apparent that this endless chain, this reaching and struggling for the impossible, makes a crushing burden. Food, clothing and medicine are commodities that the people will always supply, but that rent, big and out of proportion for the service received looms as a nightmare before those who have to confront the problem of alleviating the suffering of the unfortunate within the city's gates. This item in its present form is one that causes hesitancy, and will doubtless continue to do so, until a rate more equitable and just shall have been established."

The foregoing is expressive in words too conservative to suit the condition. Yet "what are you going to do about it?" will be the insolent reply of the smug individual in furs, as so aptly expressed by the Amarillo citizen. Nothing, it seems, can be done about it but to leave the question to the conscience of the individual who will rob the poor, yet no one has ever yet heard of a wolf relenting when he had a victim run thru with his fangs.

At the Presbyterian Church.
The services at the First Presbyterian church last night did not draw out a very large crowd, from the fact that the weather was cold on the outside, and even in the church it was not overly comfortable, from the fact that the sexton preferred to remain by his own fireside and allow those who were first to reach the church to light up and build the fires.

Notwithstanding these inconveniences, however, the small audience felt well repaid for having attended and listening to the very able discourse of Dr. Caldwell, who selected his text from the 25th chapter of Matthew, reading from the 14th to 30th verses, where it is related how the Lord disposed of the talents, giving to one man five, to another two and to the third only one, and the final disposition they made of them.

Tonight, after the usual services, a church reception is to be held, the object being to extend a welcome to all new members who have come into the church since the time Dr. J. L. McKee was selected as pastor.

On tomorrow night the installation of Dr. McKee as pastor will take place.

Candidate for District Attorney.

S. M. Foster of this city has determined to be a candidate for district attorney for this, the 30th judicial district, to succeed District Attorney P. A. Martin, who has announced as a candidate for district judge to succeed Judge A. H. Carriago, who has determined to retire at the end of his present term. Mr. Foster is a brilliant lawyer, and if elected, will prove a worthy successor to District Attorney Martin, who has so well and ably filled that important office during the past seven years. Mr. Foster is strongly endorsed for the office by the local bar, and also that of Young and Archer county, and in all probability will be endorsed by the Clay county bar in the event that that county does not have one of her own favorite sons to aspire to the position.

THE ALARMING INCREASE OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

"He died of Bright's Disease." Hardly a week passes that this statement is not made in reference to some prominent citizen.

The increasing prevalence of this disease makes the present time seem most opportune for discussion in the hope that some who are unconsciously afflicted with this dreaded disease may receive timely warning.

A prominent citizen residing in a nearby town informs us that he suffered for nearly a year from Bright's Disease, but that he recently affected a complete cure.

"What seemed to be the first indications of the trouble," was asked.

"They seemed hardly worth noticing. My digestion bothered me at times, my stomach seemed out of order, and I had occasional backaches, but I thought it was due to too much work."

"Did you take anything?"
"I did not. Later, my strength failed me, I had severe pains in the back and noticed some irregularities of the urine, I couldn't sleep well at night. I then used some simple remedies, but without benefit."

"Did you realize that your trouble was Bright's Disease?"

"I never thought of such a thing. Finally, my condition became serious. My back ached all the time, I had shooting pains in my joints and a weak tired feeling at the knees, a little work played me out completely. I then began doctoring for kidney trouble but did not improve very much."

"Did you have any trouble with your heart?"

"Yes. I had spells of heart throbbing and a nervous faint feeling. I thought I had heart disease and treated awhile for that. Nothing seemed to help me. I had to give up trying to work."

"How did you affect a cure?"

"A friend of mine persuaded me to try Prickly Ash Bitters. I bought a bottle of my druggist. After taking it a week I began to feel some better, my urine became more natural and there was a gradual lessening of my misery. I kept on taking Prickly Ash Bitters for several weeks and I could feel my strength returning—slowly at first—but increasing daily. I am now entirely cured of my trouble and able to do a full day's work without the least fatigue. I consider Prickly Ash Bitters the grandest kidney medicine in the world."

Thousands of people attest in like manner to the wonderful benefit derived from Prickly Ash Bitters. It is a time tried and successful remedy for Bright's Disease or any disorder of the kidneys.

Prickly Ash Bitters is in every sense a system tonic and regulator. It possesses important properties for curing ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels in addition to its great power in the kidneys. It is a valuable article to keep at home where a dose or two can be taken when ever needed. When used for any disorder in the kidneys, stomach, liver or bowels it is the right medicine in the right place.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Meeting Called for Friday, Dec. 10th, at Chamber of Commerce Rooms.

The Associated Charities are now fully organized and doing splendid service for the relief of the poor during this cold weather, but are in need of fuller membership and additional funds. To this end the following finance committee has been appointed: G. W. Filgo, G. E. Friberg, W. H. H. Thatcher, Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, Mrs. M. S. Skinner, J. B. Marlow, C. W. Bean and Miles O'Reilly. The general committee consists of Mrs. J. W. Clabey, G. W. Filgo, J. C. Hunt, Mrs. M. S. Skinner, S. E. Friberg, Mrs. A. Ingalls, Mrs. E. B. Gorsline, R. M. Moore, Mrs. L. C. Tyson and W. H. H. Thatcher.

The auditing committee consists of B. J. Bean, Edgar Scurry and W. C. Sherrod.

The executive committee are Revs. W. T. Morrow, J. L. McKee, R. E. Hamlin, J. P. Boone, R. E. Farley, H. A. Able and Rev. Joseph.

All the above committees, together with all citizens who are interested in this cause, are requested to meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at the city hall, Friday afternoon, at 2 p. m., Dec. 10th, for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the organization.

The following is the constitution adopted at the mass meeting Thanksgiving Day:

ART. I.—Name.

The name of this organization shall be "The Associated Charities of Wichita Falls."

ART. II.—Object.

The object of this organization shall be to provide relief for any worthy individual in the city.

ART. III.—Membership.

The membership shall be composed of all persons who will contribute to the fund of the organization.

ART. IV.—Officers.

Section 1:

The officers shall consist of president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, their duties to be such as are generally assigned to such officers.

Sec. 2.—General Committee:

The general committee shall be composed of the ministers of the various churches of the city, together with two representatives—a man and a woman—from each congregation.

Sec. 3.—Executive Committee:

The executive committee shall be composed of the president of the association, together with the ministers in charge of the various congregations.

ART. V.—Meetings.

The general committee shall meet at the call of the president. The executive committee shall meet every Monday at 10 a. m.

ART. VI.—Finances.

The charity fund shall be secured by an annual offering, together with private solicitations, under the direction of the general committee.

ART. VII.—Disbursements.

The fund shall be distributed by the executive committee; every case of help rendered to be reported to said committee. No cash contributions shall be made. The relief rendered shall be paid for by checks only.

ART. IX.—Auditing.

An auditing committee of three shall be appointed at each annual meeting to audit all accounts quarterly and report same to the annual meeting.

ART. X.—By-Laws.

By-laws shall be made by the general committee, as occasion may require.

ART. XI.—Amendments.

This constitution shall not be amended, except upon recommendation of the general committee, which recommendation shall be approved by a majority vote at the annual meeting.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

If You Have It, Read This Letter. Mater-Walker Guarantees Mi-o-na.

"I was taken last August with a severe stomach trouble. The doctor said it was nervous dyspepsia. He gave me medicine for that. I took his treatment four weeks, didn't feel any better at the end of four weeks than I did when I commenced taking his medicine. I took everything I heard of. The first day of December, 1908, I got a box of Mi-o-na. I took them that afternoon and the next day and haven't had one bit of pain in my stomach since the 2nd day of December. I took five boxes. Feel well now, sleep good—that is something I haven't done in a number of years." Mrs. M. E. Maxfield, R.F.D. 2, Avoca, N. Y., June 9, 1909.

Mi-o-na in the form of a tablet is the best prescription for indigestion ever written.

When Fall Plowing is Done

Don't do the same as you did last fall and let that expensive plow stand at the end of the last furrow turned. And don't drag it into the barn yard and let it stand there in the winter's storms. Get it under cover. A good shed will cost less than the damage done to the machinery, tools and vehicles left exposed to the elements. Rust and rot will put any machine out of business faster than legitimate use will.

We have just the material needed for sheds, and it is very inexpensive, too.

Don't put it off. See us about quality and cost the next time you're in town.

BRILLIANT ORATION.

GERMAN MAKES SPEECH

Ambassador Von Bernstorff Gives
Some Tentative Views on the Harbor Question.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Conspicuous in the display of oratory which attended the opening day's session of the Rivers and Harbors Congress were the addresses of President J. E.
Randell and that of Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.

Outlining the work before the convention, President Randell spoke in part as follows:

"We must let the people who elect the congressmen and the state legislators understand that water transportation is much cheaper than rail for heavy, low class, bulky articles. We must make them understand that a well improved system of canals and rivers with standard depths along our seaboard and interior would furnish admirable facilities for moving freight and prevent the congestion which caused such heavy losses three years ago and threatens to recur. We must teach them that most of the terminals on the water courses are owned by one or more railroads and used for selfish interests with scant regard for the public welfare.

"This situation will be changed as soon as the people demand it. It is the duty of the friends of waterways to see that the demand is made immediately and strongly. We must insure a comprehensive policy of improvement of the nation's waterways by an annual appropriation of $50,- 000,000, secured by an authorized bond issue of $50,000,000 a year to be used only when the current revenues are not available. This is a financial program fully warranted by the magnitude of the interests involved.

"Let us protect our water courses from improper rail competition, with state and national laws to the end that this great natural resource may be used to assist in solving our transportation problems, the simplifying of which means increased growth and prosperity to every community in the nation. These are the tasks before us."

President Randell declared that the railroad interests of the nation have treated the improvement of waterways with indifference and silence and he said he feared their position would strengthen the advocates of government ownership of the railways, although he said he wished to go on record against government ownership of rail lines.

"As a good friend of the railways, which I consider the most marvelous agents of civilization and progress on earth," he said, "I sound this note of warning and insist that the strongest weapon of defense against this menace of government ownership, is the best possible transportation system for the entire nation, of combined, related, interdependent and friendly railways and waterways co-operation and not competition. I urge the friends of these two great agencies to unite their forces and secure in the near future this end so devoutly wished by every lover of the republic."

The German ambassador's address was largely an exhaustive resume of the development and maintenance of inland waterways of the German Empire under the direction of the minister of public works. The count told the congress that he could not attempt to draw any lessons for the United States, because of the wide variance of conditions existing in the two nations.

Count Von Bernstorff sketched the building of the early canals by the Prussian prince and took up his subject at the middle of the past century when the railways of the empire began to show a considerable development and the waterways seemed to lose some of their importance, but, eventually, the condition turned and in the seventh decade of the last century the railways, in spite of their advantages were unable to meet all the demands upon them, especially for lowering their tariffs for the transportation of goods carried in great masses, and the interest for water communication was revived.

About that time, 1875, the total length of the navigable waterways of the empire was estimated at little more than 12,000 kilometers, or in round figures, about 9,000 miles. Then during the years from 1875 to 1900 the greater part of the waterways were reorganized and the German rivers were systematically improved. The greater streams were so much deepened by correcting the mean and water levels that at mean water capacities ships were allowed safe passage and

Benjamin Clothes

After all, it's really the tailor who makes a suit a success or a failure.
The most fascinating style would be a fiasco if there were not careful needle work underneath.

The most phenomenal designer on earth could not make a garment a success without the co-operation of the tailor. It is he who, by the diligent plying of his needle, gives shape and style and ensures service.

The world's most excellent tailors are congregated in New York on account of its being the greatest clothes manufacturing center in the world.
They have more work and are better paid there.

Could there be a better explanation of why "Benjamin Clothes," Made in New York, are the most stylish and the most perfectly made of any on earth. Won't you make it your particular business to see these wonderful "Benjamin Clothes."

that even at low water navigation was still profitable. All improvements aimed at creating waterways which would assure the passage east of Berlin of vessels of 400 tons capacity, and west of Berlin of vessels of at least 600 tons, though not at low water times. Where a suitable correction was not possible, the rivers were converted into use as canals and provided with locks of large dimensions. These canals then in use were replaced by more efficient ones and several new canals were built where there had been none.

The length of German inland waterways during the last 25 years has only been about 300 kilometers (100 miles), said Count Von Bernstorff, but the improvement has not been in length, but in efficiency. Of the total 10,000 kilometers, which are of actual importance for inland navigation, the length has remained nearly unchanged.

The count then proceeded to tell of the capacity of the waterways. While ships of more than 2,000 tons may travel upon the Rhine, the Oberland canal of East Prussia can only bear barges of 50 tons.

In the work of correction of the greater streams, several general schemes were settled. Stages and parallel works narrowed the channel and in consequence a greater depth of water was obtained. By making the banks firm, changes in the course were made unnecessary. When steamboats began to use the waterways, it became necessary to protect the banks by strong dykes of stone and cement. The bridges are generally of fixed construction at such a height and they do not hinder traffic. The bulk of the traffic is concentrated in a great number of harbors specially built—partly by the state corporations or private owners.

It is interesting to point to the fact, declared the count, that the number of vessels for inland navigation exceeded the seagoing German vessels sixfold and that their net tonnage is one and one-half times greater and amounts to one-third of the net tonnage of all the British seagoing ships registered by Lloyds in 1902.

Comparing the effect of the development of the inland waterways on the traffic of the railways, the count said notwithstanding the constant increase of the railways, the short waterways have had a traffic equal to nearly one-third of the aggregate of that of the railways. The transport by water being cheaper than by rail, the further improvement of German inland waterways promises to be useful to the German industrial life.

When one considers that the railways, in spite of the active inland navigation, have attained a favorable development and that they are the most profitable in Prussia, where inland navigation is best developed, it is evident for the very simple reason that the officials know which way the cat will jump.

On the occasion of the trip of the Colorado and Southern officials Tuesday nothing whatever would be said for publication and to questions regarding the real import of the trip the officials were silent.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 6.—It was stated last night that John R. Walsh, former millionaire, but now a prisoner of the federal court, in special custody of two United States deputy marshals, is breaking down under the strain of being constantly shadowed by the federal officials.

For each man, and still, suppose that so many plays lack atmosphere. The trees, the Indian summer moon, the wolves, all make a setting that combines beauty with grandeur.

Andrew Robson as Jules Beaubien was the leader of a most excellent caste. He articulated the musical French-Canadian dialect in a way that excels even his similar work in "The Right of Way" last year, and his acting was free and unstrained. He won the audience from the very start. Ben Lamar as MacTavish handled that part well, being very much at home with the Scotch dialect. Alfred Swenson as MacDonald portrayed the villain's part very creditably, while Louis Haynes as the young engineer gave the play a wholesome touch of comedy. Conrad Cantson as Batiste and Miss Palmer as Hilda executed difficult parts very artistically and the entire caste was one of surpassing merit.

The one objection to plays like "The Wolf" is that there are not enough of them.
