JONES WILL SUBMIT PROPOSITION SOON

WRITES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO THAT EFFECT—HAS PUT MATTER UP TO LAWTON.

POLITICS TO PLAY PART

Proposed New Country to Be Set Off, Comanche May Have Bearing on the Question.

The Chamber of Commerce has a letter from C. G. Jones of Oklahoma City in which he refers to the proposed railroad from Lawton to Wichita Falls, in which he uses the following language:

"I believe I will be able to construct the road provided I can make proper arrangements in the way of the people at Lawton, Wichita Falls and other places giving reasonable bonus to aid the construction of this road. I understand that Messrs. Kemp and Kell of your city have been to Lawton and submitted a proposition to build a road from Lawton to the line known as the Wichita Falls and Northwestern to Lawton.

"I have this day submitted to the people of Lawton a written proposition and if they accept it I will then be in shape to submit to four people a proposition to build a line from Lawton direct to Wichita Falls, making no connection with any other line along the route.

"If the good people of Wichita Falls are still of the same opinion as when I was there and want to encourage the building of the railway from Wichita Falls to Lawton I think I will be ready in a few days to submit you a written proposition."

It is not known definitely here what the proposition to Lawton is. One gentleman stated over the telephone that he thought it was 30 miles of right of way, $50,000 in cash and $10,000 in property.

Mr. Jones in his letter does not indicate what he will ask of Wichita Falls. The Chamber of Commerce will assure him that the people of Wichita Falls are always ready to encourage any railroad enterprise and invite his proposition as soon as he gets in shape to make it.

Nothing has been heard from Lawton as to what reply will be given upon the proposition made by Mr. Kell, nor what they will do with the proposition made by Mr. Jones.

It is understood, however, that Lawton is very anxious to secure a railroad through the south end of Comanche county, in order to head off the creation of a new county, also that Walters is very anxious to secure a new railroad, so as to help her get the proposed new county and cut loose from Comanche.

CHILD DISAPPEARS RATHER QUEERLY

OFFICERS INVESTIGATING CASE OF YOUNG INFANT THAT WAS TAKEN FROM HOME.

AFFAIR IS MYSTERIOUS

It Presents Several Decidedly Peculiar Phases That Have Aroused Interest.

Local police circles are stirred up today over the disappearance of a little three-weeks old child, and the aspect of the case presents a side that cause a very searching investigation to be made. The child was taken from a boarding house near Ohio and 11th street late yesterday afternoon, by a man who is supposed to be his father and by its supposed mother.

An effort had been made to secure the adoption of the infant by some family, but when they took the child from the house yesterday afternoon, the couple stated that they were going to turn it over to the Salvation Army, which had applied for it. They returned in about half an hour without the child, and said that they had given it to the Army people here. They did not do so, however, as was learned from Sergeant Gassaway this morning.

Several different stories were told as to the parentage of the child. The man told some that the woman was the child's mother and that he was its father; to others he said that the woman was his sister and had been married. The woman told her landlady that the child was not hers, and just who its parents are cannot be learned. There is little doubt, however, that the woman is the mother of the child. Several local families, volunteered to adopt the infant but the man refused to turn it over to any of them.

Shortly before taking the child from the house, the supposed mother went to her landlady with a box of some sort of powder in her hand and requested her to measure out a dose of calomel. This the landlady refused to do, as her suspicions had been aroused by that time. She was unable to state this morning whether the box actually contained calomel. When the couple returned without the child, at the end of half an hour, the landlady's feelings had been so worked up over the matter she refused to admit them again, ordering them away. At that time she supposed the child had been given to the Salvation Army, as the man had promised.

It is possible, of course, that the man after taking the child from the house, decided to give it to one of the families, applying for it, but his frequent contradictions of himself and his actions in general have caused the officers to make a thorough investigation and unless the missing infant is found very shortly, arrests may be made in connection with the case.

BOILER EXPLOSION ON DENVER ENGINE

ENGINEER NASH AND FIREMAN FERGUSON BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT NEAR CHILDRESS.

ARE SCALDED BY STEAM

Both Jumped From Cab After Setting the Throttle—Injuries May Be Serious.

News was received here this morning of a serious accident on the Fort Worth and Denver near Childress, resulting in the serious injury of Engineer Jack Nash and Fireman Bob Ferguson. The blower pipe was blown out of the boiler of the engine by an explosion in the boiler and a full force of steam and water struck Engineer Nash, knocking him from his cab. The blowout did not strike Fireman Ferguson, but he was compelled to pass through a cloud of escaping steam to make his way to the window, from where he jumped to the ground. Before doing so he had sufficient presence of mind to set the throttle and the train gradually came to a standstill. Passengers had seen the men jump and after the train stopped rushed back to their aid. Both were found to be painfully hurt and were taken to the hospital at Childress, where it is believed they will recover.

Both Nash and Ferguson are well known here, although their homes are in Fort Worth. Nash is one of the wealthiest engineers on the road, having considerable real estate interests. The accident occurred on the through train which passes through this city at 2 o'clock. It was going about twenty-five miles an hour at the time of the accident. A freight engine pulled the train into Childress where a new engineer and fireman were obtained.

Floral Heights--1911

Come go with me and see the sights,
Where once was naught but grass,
Come take a look at Floral Heights
And see what's come to pass.
See what a few short years have done,
See how the place has grown;
How fair and square the praises won
Where e'er the Heights is known.

It is the pride of Wichita,
This suburb fine and neat,
It is no longer new and raw
For everything's complete.
Queen Flora waved her magic wand
Above the Heights and lo,
Dame Nature did at once respond
And things began to grow.

So now you see the sycamore,
The walnut and the elm;
Right gracefully their shadows they pour
On all within their realm.
Here flowers, rich and rare and sweet,
Perfume the atmosphere;
Making of life a joy complete
To all who came a-near.

The handsome homes of those who thought
The Heights were bound to be
The dearest dirt that could be bought,
Before us now you see,
And yonder are our public schools,
Which prove a thing or two;
The Heights' promoters were not fools,
They read the future true.

A college there a college here,
Is satisfying most;
And more will come year after year,
We know whereof we boast.
Out yonder in the distance lies
The oil and gas fields where Prosperity points to the skies
With derricks high in air.

Lake Wichita a suburb now
Of Floral Heights you see;
This fulfilling of a vow
Of things that had to be,
We prophesied and lo, behold,
A city great has come;
'Tis true we know that we were bold,
But isn't this "going some?"

Written for the Floral Heights Realty Company by Mrs. M. F. Yeager, Wichita Falls, Texas.

About Floral Heights.

More than $125,000 worth of lots have been disposed of in Floral Heights since January 1st of this year, and by this time next year it is the firm belief of some of our most conservative citizens the new addition to Wichita Falls will have a population of at least 1000 people.

Already about one mile of 5-foot cement sidewalks has been put down, and today contractor S. H. Roberts began work on another contract of two miles of the same kind of work.

The school board of the Independent School district has already become thoroughly convinced that a substantial brick school house will have to be constructed in Floral Heights by the time the next school term opens, and a new issue of school bonds to the amount of about $40,000 will soon be voted. A greater portion of the money realized from the sale of these bonds will be expended for the construction of the new Floral Heights school building which it is now thought will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

The electric company has also extended its service to Floral Heights and upon the end of the year, the new addition will have all the conveniences

PICKED RIPE, CANNED RIGHT

These are two reasons for the delicious flavor of Hawaiian pineapple. Another reason is; the fruit is naturally better. All fruit reaches a higher state of development in some one place than in other parts of the world; and Hawaii is the spot most favorable to the growth of a perfect pineapple. In that soil and climate the fruit grows larger and more luscious, its color is richer and its meat more tender.

Sliced, grated or crushed, the Hawaiian product is so superior to ordinary pineapple, fresh or canned, that you can close your eyes and tell the difference. We have this pineapple in the Club House brand.

Before deciding on the wire fencing most suitable to our particular trade, we investigated all the leading makes. Our object was to get the strongest fencing; fencing that would stretch up the easiest; would not sag when run over uneven ground; was animal proof and so constructed as to best withstand the ravages of time.

The fencing that we found to most nearly combine all these desirable qualities was the Pittsburg Perfect Welded Wire Fencing. So this is the fence we not only offer you, but advise you to take. It costs no more than other fencing of inferior quality.

Herbert Knox Smith Makes His Annual Report

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Following is the annual report of Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, for the year 1909.

Department of Commerce and Labor, Bureau of Corporations, Washington, Jan. 31, 1910.

Sir:—The deepest interest of this generation lies in the control of its dominant commercial forces. The issue is moral, involving deeply our American ideal of equal opportunity under the law. It is financial, and on its outcome depends the ultimate stability of our business system.

The corporation has become the accepted machinery for handling these forces. It is the artificial creature of the community. We have given it great powers and exemptions not permitted to the individual. We have made it effective. We have likewise made it capable of sinister misuse.

The corporation has concentrated enormous commercial power in the hands of a few men. At the same time it has lessened their personal responsibility for the proper use of that power. Sense of personal obligation to the community becomes submerged in vast corporate entities. The resulting abuses call for some restraint that shall take the place of the old personal obligation. Government supervision and publicity of corporations must be made that substitute.

The issue is national; action by the federal government is imperative under its unquestioned power and duty to regulate interstate commerce. The federal government is the only adequate authority; one of the primary motives for its creation was for a national control of national business.

Those directing our great corporations have deliberately nationalized them in size and scope; they can not now be heard to object to a centralized control which they themselves have made necessary. They have made their business truly governmental in their effect on the people. They can not now deny that the government is concerned therein.

As guardian of the nation's welfare, the government must see to it that the ordinary standards of right and fairness, which restrain our individual citizens, shall also be applied to our great modern business. It must make sure that the business machinery of the country shall be reserved from such misuse as would ultimately destroy it.

Conditions confront us which are now determining the country's future.

A significant process of evolution is going on within our commercial organization. Two types of corporate managers are struggling for its control. The one (like most business men) bases his success upon increasing the efficiency of his organization; he acquires and holds his business by giving better service or lower prices. The public thus shares the benefits of his efficiency. He builds up our industrial strength.

The other succeeds, not by his own merits, but by crippling the efficiency of competitors; by railway debates, by unfair competition, by commercial oppression, by public rights monopolized for private gain; not by giving better service, but by unfairly preventing others from giving any service. If this process continues, it will surrender the control of our commercial forces to the commercial pirate, to the injury of the nation and the unfair ruin of individuals.

Through the Bureau of Corporations, the federal government has deliberately taken the side of the fair user of our commercial forces. The instrument of the bureau in its work has been "efficient publicity." It has relied on the moral sense of the American people, and its compelling force when concentrated intelligently on a business wrong. It has reported to the country, clearly and accurately, the operations of great industries. Business facts and their meaning have been set forth in such brief and plain shape as to be available through the press for the average citizen. It has thus evoked that intelligent public opinion that will protect honest business and condemn unfair practices.

It has been pioneer work on a vast subject, but the results have shown what can be done and how to do it. A great awakening has taken place in recent years as to our business methods. The Bureau does not assert that it has done anything more than aid in this process. But it does contend that the principles which it has used are the same ones which have brought about this advance and will continue it. The Bureau has proved by results that its methods are fit for broad application. Under the public condemnation thus made possible by facts plainly stated, great corporate abuses have been abandoned. A sweeping system of railroad rate discriminations has been voluntarily canceled by the railroads involved, and numerous forms of commercial oppression have disappeared. Corporate managers themselves are frankly advocating more open accounting. One by one the great silent corporations are seeking public confidence by adopting a new policy of publicity.

The situation is thus ready for a complete system where (1) all important interstate commerce corporations shall regularly make reports to a federal agency; where (2) that agency shall have the further right to verify and extend the facts presented; where (3) business transactions of public interest shall be made public, safeguarding at the same time all proper business secrets; where (4) there will be a permanent meeting ground for co-operation and adjustment between the government and the business interests; and (5) whereby those corporations that deal fairly and openly shall correspondingly acquire public confidence and support.

The exact form of this system is of little importance. The information must be had for the primary purposes of the government and the citizen. Co-operation also must be had; publicity should as far as possible be voluntary. Corporate managers are recognizing the value of government publicity. To profit by this new spirit, the system of supervision must provide for co-operation. Prosecution is indeed necessary to destroy unfair methods, but it should be reserved as the last resort rather than used as the normal instrument.

The Bureau has provided the practical value of co-operation. In 1908 it pointed out certain defects in the methods of the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges. Each exchange at once offered to confer with the commissioner. As a result of such conference, the New Orleans exchange adopted, by practically unanimous vote the entire recommendations of the Bureau. This far-reaching improvement, affecting beneficially the various interests in that great staple, was secured simply by publicity and voluntary co-operation.

In short, our great interstate industries must come under permanent national supervision. The Bureau has proved that this can be secured in a national and effective way. A system of practical publicity with co-operation, will obtain that requisite for all wise measures, reliable information. It will involve no drastic action. It will, indeed forestall such action. It will bring together the government and the corporate manager in conference and co-operation, which will direct against business evils the overwhelming force of public opinion. It will be backed by, and made effective, penal law where prosecution is necessary. Such publicity will broadly prevent wrong beforehand instead of punishing isolated cases afterwards. It will remove unjust prejudice; it will improve the standing of our corporate securities, both at home and abroad; it will tend toward more open and more uniform corporate accounting. Finally, it will help to give our business machinery that foundation of fairness and openness and public confidence which it must have if it is to be a permanent factor in our national advance.

The total appropriations of the Bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, were $247,720. The number of employes on that date was 111.

On December 14, 1908, at the request of the chairman of the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives and under the instruction of the president, the Bureau furnished that committee, in connection with its impending hearings on the proposed tariff bill, with a statement as to the costs, prices and profits connected with the production of standard rails for the years 1902 to 1908, inclusive. On December 17, 1908, the Bureau, in response to a similar request, furnished to the chairman of the said committee a statement as to the costs and profits in connection with the production of steel billets, both Bessemer and open earth basic. The information in both of these statements was part of the data secured by the Bureau in the course of its investigation of the iron and steel industry, and, while brief in form, was unique in its accuracy and scope. The data as to rails covered by companies producing more than 95 per cent of all the rails manufactured in the United States during the period covered. The information as to billets covered practically the entire Bessemer ingot production of the country, and more than 75 per cent of the open hearth production, for the period covered. The detailed facts upon which the statements were based were taken directly from the books of the companies producing the rails and the steel.

On February 25, 1909, the Bureau published Part I of its Report on the Tobacco Industry. This dealt with the position of the "Tobacco Combination" in the industry, and resulted from a thorough examination of the organization and development of the American Tobacco Company and its subsidiary concerns. The American Tobacco Co. gave the Bureau practically free access to all its very extensive and voluminous records, so that the Bureau was able to present an unusually complete and satisfactory history of the organization of one of the great interstate corporations of the country. Additional parts are now in course of preparation.

On May 17, 1909, the Bureau published Part I of its Report on the Taxation of Corporations. This concerned the system of taxation manufacturing, mercantile, transportation, and transmission corporations in the six New England States. The uniform presentation of these systems allowed of comparison, and the purpose of the report was to make the general principles and practices of taxation in these States available in concise and untechnical shape for the average reader. Financial results of each system for the latest fiscal year were given. In each case the principal state officials were consulted at length as to methods and practical enforcement. No taxation system can be properly understood from a mere examination of statutes, or without adding thereto a knowledge of the method and practical results of its enforcement. Similar reports as to other sections of the country are in course of preparation. The subject is of such great current importance, and involves such remarkable differences in theory and practice, that it is believed that such presentation will have very considerable value.

On June 4, 1909, the Bureau prepared for the President a report on the prices of tobacco and operations of corporations and others dealing therein, in response to a Senate resolution adopted May 14, 1909. The President transmitted the same to the state, where it was largely consulted in connection with certain proposed changes in the internal-revenue tax on tobacco products.

On June 30, 1909, the Bureau had on hand as current work investigations into the lumber and steel industries, the International Harvester Company, the concentration of water-power ownership, and transportation by water in the United States; and also was continuing its investigations into the tobacco industry, the operators of cotton exchanges, and state systems of corporate taxation.

It is one of the fundamental purposes of the Bureau to make available for the average citizen, through the daily press, the information thus collected as to great interstate businesses. Accordingly, each of its published reports, many of which were several hundred pages in length, has been accompanied with a summary, usually from 20 to 50 pages long, and again with a still more compact digest in the shape of a letter of transmittal to the President, usually from 5 to 8 pages. This letter of transmittal states very briefly the important facts and conclusions as to permanent and significant conditions and tendencies in the industry under investigation, and has been the real medium of general publicity. It has been especially framed in each case with a view to the needs of the press, and as a rule these letters have been published by the newspapers over the whole country in full.

We term this work "efficient publicity." It obviously requires an organization especially adapted thereto. Under the immediate supervision of the Commissioner, each investigation is usually in charge of one man, who, by reason of his economic training, technical knowledge, business experience, and executive ability, is able to organize the collection and digesting of the vast mass of information needed, and to draw reliable conclusions as to the important facts and tendencies therein shown. There is assigned to each investigation a proper number of economists, accountants, and field agents, so that the force in each case constitutes practically working unit, except that the clerical and administrative work is, in the main, done by general divisions for the entire Bureau.

Very respectfully,
HERBERT KNOX SMITH,
Commissioner of Corporations.

To Hon. Charles Nagel,
Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity.
Tonight, unsettled weather and warmer. Friday, generally cloudy weather and colder.

MR. DENTON'S FEARFUL PREDICAMENT.

It seems that Wichita Falls is making a noble effort to secure the services of Secretary James T. Denton, of the Henrietta Commercial Club. Of course, the rivalry existing between Wichita Falls and Henrietta makes it a little embarrassing for Mr. Denton, so the Times-Post would kindly suggest that the business people of Nocona proceed to organize a Commercial Club, then offer Mr. Denton the secretaryship, which would relieve the very peculiar situation that he is resting under at present, and also be the means of making Nocona the greatest business point on the Wichita Falls branch of the Katy railroad. How does that strike the ambitious little daily of Henrietta?—Nocona Times-Post.

The Times-Post is correct. A live commercial organization would be of inestimable value to Nocona, and the city would do exceedingly well to secure the services of a man like Secretary Denton, but Mr. Denton is too busy just now closing up contracts for a new creamery, new planing mill, etc., to give the matter serious thought.—Henrietta Searchlight.

Whatever reasons Governor Campbell may have had for refusing ex-Convict Lovell his citizenship, in the light of circumstances, his action is, to say the least, peculiar. There are several rather pointed questions that the people would like to have answered.

While Wichita Falls has her preference as to who shall build the road to Lawton, the main thing desired is that somebody shall build it. It doesn't matter a great deal who does it.

The Egyptian hosts of the republican party are getting it from every side now. All that is needed is a Moses to lead the children of Israel to the democracy of the Promised Land.

There is one good thing about such outbreaks as that made by Senator Heyburn in the senate recently—there are enough real men there to hand it to him good and hard.

A Frisco man fired eleven bullets into his brain and then had to hang himself to complete the suicide. No one would have thought it was that hard to die in Frisco.

It served Senator Gore right to get caught without his wallet in St. Louis. A common United States Senator has no business with two pairs of pants.

WILL LAY CORNER STONE.

Masons to Officiate at Church Affair at Bowie.

Special to The Times.
Bowie, Feb. 10.—The corner stone laying of the First Baptist church building of Bowie, Texas, to be held Friday, February 18th, 1916, at 2:00 o'clock will be conducted under the auspices of Bowie Lodge No. 578 A. F. & A. M., Deputy Grand Master Walter Acker of Waxahachie presiding.

All the officers officiating on the occasion will be the representatives of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Invitations have been sent by the Bowie Lodge to the members of all lodges in the district and a large attendance of Masons is expected. All visiting Masons are requested to call immediately on arrival in the city at the lodge room, where they will be met by the committee.

The Fort Worth and Denver railroad has granted a rate of one and one-half fare for the round trip from Decatur to Wichita Falls inclusive, and the Rock Island the same rate from Ringgold to Bridgeport inclusive.

Bankrupt Sale.

I will sell as trustee, at 11 o'clock a. m., February 14th, at Wichita Falls, Texas, the Wilson Hardware Company stock of hardware, vehicles, implements and repairs, estimated at $25,000.00. This stock of goods will be sold for cash to the highest bidder.

I will also sell lot 6, in block 139, in Wichita Falls, with warehouse on same, and on same terms.

And on the 15th of February I will sell the stock of hardware, vehicles and repairs of the same firm at Byers, Texas, and the lease on building. This sale to be at Byers on same terms.

Bidder to whom stock is sold will have to put up 20 per cent of bid to await approval of referee.

The Exchange Table

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram says: "When you see a small town in Texas which is not growing rapidly, you will usually find that it is partly due to the town faction. This harmful division of interest seldom appears publicly, but is a constant menace to the growth of the town." It has been writ that a house divided against itself cannot stand. It may be said with equal force that a town divided into factions, or cliques pulling against each other instead of harmonizing and co-operating, is in a bad way. Not only are growth and development retarded, but bad feeling is generated and the citizenship is likely to be separated into hostile camps. That is about the worst thing that could happen to any community.—San Antonio Express.

The newspapers of Dallas, Houston and elsewhere are still greatly aroused over the cost of living and continue to occupy themselves by lambasting the trusts and the republican party which they hold responsible. Pahaw! a little thing like that is just a circumstance with us. We are too busy building up our town and boosting the surrounding country to take time to bother ourselves with such things. If the beef trust alips one over us we just cuss them silently and busy ourselves with the work of development. Let those long-suffering editors come to West Texas and see the paradise of the Lord and they will forget their troubles.—San Angelo Standard.

"All-New England is imbued with the anti-Cannon sentiment." This is like New England; after the battle has been won she dances out on the field and clashes her cymbals as if she had been there for ages.—St. Louis Republic. That's right! She could always give more moral support after the battle is won, and less real help during the struggle than any people on earth.—Austin Statesman.

President Taft is going to have an opportunity to appoint a Texan to succeed Judge Bryant, in the person of Samuel Bronson Cooper of Beaumont, who is an avowed candidate for the position. But the probabilities are the honors will go to some hungry republican.—Weatherford Herald.

It is reported—that bootleggers of Tulsa bury their wet goods in a cemetery near that city in order to hide it from the vigilant eyes of the authorities. Must we infer that John Barleycorn is a dead one in Oklahoma?—Amarillo News.

The congressman who cannot live on $7,500 per year, would no doubt find it a difficult job trying to save the country on a $20,000 salary.—Bouham Favorite.

Now that you have your poll tax, resolve to vote for men who believe in turning Texas loose. Let Texas continue to prosper.—Henrietta Searchlight.

FIFTEEN AUTOS COMING.

Ira Wills Explains About Automobile Deliveries Here.

To those of our customers who have orders placed for Buick, Maxwell and Studebaker automobiles, we wish to say we are doing everything in our power to get deliveries on these cars, and assure you that we are proud of the fact that we are representing manufacturers who make a car that the demand is so great that they are unable to supply their customers for immediate delivery.

If they did not have the best for the money they could not meet with the success they have. We now have in our files orders for fifteen automobiles that are undelivered and such is the case with all representatives of the above manufacturers; some of them have as many as fifty cars sold, undelivered. You can fool a person once in a while in a car, but you can't fool thousands of customers year after year, and if the cars they make were not better than their competition, why would they get the business they do? The factories have promised us cars this month and we will use every effort to rush them up on these cars.

Now, to those who are going to buy cars in the spring, we would suggest that they call and let us show them the cars we represent and let us book their orders for spring delivery and in that way you can get your car about when you wanted it, anyway. Remember the cars we represent. The manufacturers stand behind first, last and all the time, so you take no chance whatever when you buy one of them. Was Wounded in the Battle.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 9.—The Daughters of the Confederacy and Confederate Veterans have completed the fund here which will be used to purchase a monument to be erected to the memory of the Confederate soldiers killed in the battle of Perryville.

The above dispatch which appeared in yesterday's Times attracted the attention of Dr. S. A. Waits of this city, who was in that famous fight and was wounded during its progress. The fight took place on October 8th, 1862, and there were thirty-three of the company to which he belonged killed on the battle-field. "There are only a very few of us left, and I don't know of anyone other than myself who was in the battle who resides in this part of Texas," said Dr. Waits to a Times reporter this morning.

In a dish of genuine Sockeye Salmon. This fish is bright red in color, is full of rich red, deliciously flavored oil. The meat is firm and very rich and sweet. Serve it just as it comes out of the can, or, if you wish to cut the taste of the oil a little, serve it with good vinegar, catsup or other relish. Makes a beautiful appearance on the table when garnished with either parsley or lettuce leaves. Our Monarch brand of Sockeye Salmon, in 1-pound cans, is 25 cents.

BORAH FAVORS THE
INCOME AMENDMENT

SENATOR FROM IDAHO TAKES OC-CASION TO PUT IN SOME AR-GUMENTS FOR IT.

TAKES SHOT AT HUGHES

Accuses Him of Double-Dealing on This Question. Says Public is in Unhappy Frame.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Senator
William E. Borah of Idaho, took occasion in the senate today to attack the position of those who oppose acceptance by the several states of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States which would permit the levying of a tax on incomes without apportionment between the states.

Incidentally, the senator paid his respects to Governor Hughes of New York, including him by inference among those who profess to be in favor of an income tax but oppose practical measures which would permit its enforcement. His allusion was, of course to Governor Hughes' annual message to the New York state legislature, urging defeat of the proposed amendment on the ground that its language might be construed as to authorize congress to tax incomes derived from states and municipal bonds.
Senator Borah pictured the mind
of the public as in a state of suspicion
and discontent toward the government, and declared that the people could not much longer be withheld from radical action if taxations were continued in protection of wealth and in exemption of "incomes which sustain luxury and breed idleness and idocy."

The senator said, in substance:
"The history of the income tax since 1894 has not been one which any citizen can recite with pride. For a hundred years a rule of construction
as established by the men who helped to write the constitution had received the approval of an undivided court time and time again. During this period there sat upon the bench of the supreme court some of the greatest lawyers of that or any other period of this or any other country. During this period the wealth of this country had not become so domineering, so powerful, so determined to have its own way. During this period, therefore, we had under the constitution
the right to impose a part of the tax upon wealth and a part upon consumption, and we did so.

"In 1894 and 1895 these precedents
were overturned, this constitution received an interpretation unknown to its makers. In the face of two most powerful dissenting opinions to which two other judges assented, the humiliating and astounding doctrine was announced that the makers of the republic had hedged wealth about so that the taxing powers of the government could not reach it even in time of war; that the founders of a government based upon equality and justice had made it impossible to divide the burdens of government between consumption and a large class of gathered wealth. Last session of this body we were called upon to ratify and declare by expressed act our assent to that interpretation. Under the rule of the majority we did so. We submitted this proposed amendment to remedy this supposed hideous defect in the fundamental law."

"Now the scheme and plan is to defeat the amendment. Having as a law making body solemnly accepted
this constitution, thereby making it impracticable again to appeal to the court, if this amendment can be defeated this, the government of the people, for the people and by the people, will stand alone among all the civilized nations of the earth shorn of the power to tax that form of wealth best able to bear the burdens of the government."

"That is the scheme and plan, and such men as the great governor of New York is giving them great aid and comfort. Men say, with great fervor of patriotism, 'I am in favor of this power being given to the government to be used at least in time of war,'
and straightway proceed to help defeat the amendment. If those who are the real enemies of this measure would come into the open its friends could deal with them far more successfully."

"Mr. President, no one ever saw this country in just the condition it is today. Never since this government was launched has there been such a restless spirit among the great mass
of the people, such ugly questioning, such persistent inquiry. No part of the government seems to escape chalenge or criticism, and it is fast becoming popular to seek at the constitution itself. An unquiet, dissatisfied, suspicious public mind is the public mind of today."

"You can defeat this amendment.
In view of the class of men who are joining the crusade against it, I think you will defeat it. The forces which propose to encompass its defeat will not stop on the other side of the most reputable methods to accomplish their purpose. But when the people learn what they have really done,

the manner in which this has been manipulated, it will go far toward exciting to renewed force that feeling of wrath, of class hatred already too strong among us. It will do much to foster disrespect for and breed disloyalty to the government. When those who are ill able to meet the burdens of government sees its enormous expenditures continue to increase, larger armies and larger navies, increased burdens everywhere, and learn furthermore that all this must be met by a tax on consumption while incomes which sustain luxury and breed idleness and idocy go untaxed, they will have little mercy with you in the hour in which you must plead with them against radical changes in the government. I do not know how long we can deal with a patient people in this way. But I venture to prophesy not much longer.

"I hope, therefore, the governors and legislatures of this country will be brave enough to do their duty in this matter. It is time the people in this broad land bestir themselves up on this vital question before it is too late to do so. It would be nothing less than a catastrophe if this amendment should be defeated, if we are going alone to be cut off from an appeal to the court. This is, in every sense,

the people's fight."

Senator Borah outlined his conclusions as follows:

1. That the proposed amendment adds nothing to the taxing power of the national government. This power was complete, unfettered, plenary, before. It can be more than that should the proposed amendment be adopted.
2. The proposed amendment does not deal or propose to deal with the question of power which is already complete, but simply with the manner and method of its exercise and use of that power.

3. No one has ever questioned the power of the national government to lay an income tax, for, as said by Justice White, the question has always been "Whether an unlimited unlimited power to tax has been used according to the instruction as to method,"
and it was to remedy the method alone
that the amendment was submitted.

4. The words "from whatever source" add nothing to the force of the amendment. It would, in constitutional parlance, be just the same if it said "to lay and collect taxes on incomes without apportionment," for who could then say that you would not have the right to lay taxes upon all incomes? The present taxing power would not be a particle stronger if it said to lay and collect taxes upon all property from whatever source.

5. To construe the proposed amendment so as to enable us to tax the instrumentalities of the state would do violence to the rules laid down by the supreme court for a hundred years,

wrench the whole institution from its harmonious proportions and destroy the object and purpose of which the whole instrument was framed.

6. To construe it to cover these incomes from sources within the jurisdiction and control of the sovereignty laying the tax is to construe it in harmony with the principles given us
by Marshall and followed from that hour to this.

THREE TWINS A SUCCESS

ON PAR WITH COHAN COMEDIES. BETTER CAST THAN THE ORIGINALS.

The Daily Oklahoman comments on "Three Twins," to be at the Wichita Theatre tonight, as follows:

"Age does not wither nor custom stale its excellence," might be a well deserved application of a paraphrase in describing the altogether noteworthy and thoroughly enjoyable presentation of "Three Twins" at the Overholser Sunday night by a company that is superior to the original producing company in many degrees and which lends a new zest and sprightliness to several popular airs which have preceded the "Three Twins" in their visit to Oklahoma City and to every other city in the country by at least a year. Who doesn't know "Cuddle a Little Closer, Lovey Mine," "Goodnight, Sweetheart," and "The Yama Yama Man?" And who, having seen the "Three Twins" once would fall to get up from a sick bed to see it again?

Frankly, Mr. Gaites' clever adaptation of Mrs. Pacheco's farce, with its infinite nicety in stage effects, its freshness, its action, its cleanly humor, its perfectly drawn characters and a surprisingly good chorus action, is to our way of thinking on a rank with the Cohan musical comedies, although along slightly different lines. And when you have applied "Cohanesque" to a musical play you have given it the highest meed of praise.

Best of all, "Three Twins" has been constantly improved. Instead of deteriorating after long runs in larger cities, instead of the principals losing interest and resorting to the mechanical work that too often marks the provincial tours, it is a better play now than when it was given in the east or in Chicago and St. Paul. And every substitution for principals has not in the least hurt, but rather enhanced its change and its ensemble. Miss Clifford is as good as Bessie McCoy and Miss Allen handles the part of Kate Armitage exceptionally. She is a petite and effective actress, has an unusually sweet and well trained voice and its real good to see and hear her. Miss Clifford responded to countless encores last night on "The Yama Yama Man," and Miss Allen's song

Scene From the "THREE TWINS," Wichita Theatre Tonight.

"Good By, Sweetheart," with Mr. Morley was one of the most thoroughly appreciated and artistic numbers. Mr. Morley grows more convincing as a comedian with each year and has interpolated some mighty funny stuff in his monologue in the second act. Another excellent number is the duet, "Little Miss Up to Date," by Miss Gifford and Mr. Livingston. Miss Gifford is a graceful and accomplished dancer and one wishes that she might be more in evidence throughout the production. And then, too, like every other member of the cast, from principals to chorus girls, she knows how to wear clothes and that's quite an accomplishment in this age of new fangled gowns.

And now for the chorus. Oklahoma City has never before heard a chorus each of whose members was far above the average in voice and stage presence. That chorus is worth the price of admission alone. It doesn't gallop like the Cohan choruses, or grin-fatuously like the Daniels' and the De Wolf Hopper choruses, but it sings and sings every number so that you can actually hear the words—think of it!

Everyone who has or hasn't heard the "Three Twins" ought to take advantage of tonight's opportunity to see it or see it again.

"The Shepherd King"

It is the belief of Wright Lorimer who is billed to appear at the Wichita Theatre, Tuesday, Feb. 15, that romantic drama is coming back in demand again. That the mass of people who patronize the theatres throughout the country want romance, that each individual prizes the little of it that has entered into his or her life, and that in these days of materialism, when the man is ready to sell his wife, and the wife her husband for dollars, that it is a fine thing to have a bit of romance in one's soul. Mr. Lorimer is the author and the star of the "Shepherd King," touring again this year under the able wing of William A. Brady.
