CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY.

Catholic Honor Memory of First American Cardinal.

New York, March 15.—With many eminent prelates of the Roman Catholic Church in America as active participants or interested spectators in the impressive ceremonies of a solemn pontifical mass, of which Archbishop Farley was the celebrant, the ten days' observance of centennial anniversary of the birth of Cardinal McCloskey, the first American member of the Sacred College, was begun in St. Patrick's Cathedral this morning. The big cathedral, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion, was crowded when the services began. Archbishops, bishops and other dignitaries occupied seats in the sanctuary during the mass. Besides the church dignitaries there were also present many laymen of note.

The celebration of the centenary will continue over a period of ten days and will be participated in by more than one million Catholics of the archdiocese. In addition to the church services the numerous Catholics will hold memorial meetings at which addresses will be delivered by prominent speakers.

Cardinal McCloskey, in honor of whose memory the celebration is held, was born in Brooklyn, March 29th, 1816. It has been said that the history of his life is the history of the progress of the Roman Catholic Church in New York. He was the first American cardinal, and was invested with the insignia of that high office before the very altar at which he had been ordained a priest and consecrated a bishop.

When he was ten years old his father died. His mother was a woman of simple means and gave her son a good education. He was prepared for college in New York City, and then was graduated from St. Mary's, at Emmetsburg, Maryland. After completing his theological studies he was ordained a priest, January 9, 1834, in the old St. Patrick's Cathedral, in Mott street, this city. For three years thereafter he traveled in Europe. Returning to New York he was appointed president of St. John's College at Fordham. Three years later he was consecrated bishop and became coadjutor to Bishop Hughes, with the right of succession.

In 1847, when the sees of Albany and Buffalo were created, Bishop McCloskey was transferred to the former. He remained bishop of Albany for seventeen years, during which time the growth of the church in the new diocese was very rapid. He built the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Albany and founded the theological seminary at Troy.

When Archbishop Hughes died, Bishop McCloskey became archbishop of New York and was installed August 21, 1864. During the twenty years of his administration he introduced communities of various religious orders, built many fine churches, and such institutions as the founding asylum, the institute for deaf mutes at Fordham, homes for destitute girls and boys, and for aged men and women, and orphan asylums.

Archbishop McCloskey went abroad several times and was received with distinction in Rome. In 1879 he was created the first American cardinal and on April 27 of that year received the pallium from the hands of Archbishop Bayley of Baltimore. Five years before his death Cardinal McCloskey requested that Bishop Corrigan of Newark be appointed his coadjutor with the right of succession as archbishop, and Bishop Corrigan subsequently succeeded him.

Cardinal McCloskey was a profound scholar, and had a gift of eloquence. His health was always poor, but through immense sacrifice of comfort he was able to perform the most remarkable labor. His death occurred in this city, October 10, 1885.

TO BE AT UNVEILING.

Taft to Attend Monument Dedication at Princeton.

Boston, Mass., March 9.—Soon after he comes to New England for his vacation next summer President Taft will go to Provincetown to attend the dedication of the new Pilgrim Memorial. The exact date for the dedication will be made the occasion for notable ceremonies. The governors of many states are expected to attend, together with hundreds of members of patriotic societies throughout the country.

The memorial consists of a tower 245 feet in height and sixty feet square at the base. The tower was erected as a memorial to the Pilgrim Fathers. Congress appropriated $40,000, Massachusetts $25,000 and the rest was given by memorial societies the aggregate being $100,000. The tower is modeled after an ancient cathedral tower in Spain, with a platform near the top. It is surmounted by a lantern tower which is intended to serve as a beacon light for mariners along the coast of Cape Cod.

Several tiers of stones near the base of the tower are composed of "memorial stones," these having been given by various societies and having been taken from historical spots. Several were sent from Plymouth, England, and others from Holland to commemorate the residence of the Pilgrim Fathers in those countries before their departure for America on the Mayflower.

Dr. E. M. Wiggs, who has been attending the Chicago Veterinary college for the past six months, desires to announce that he will be back in Wichita Falls about the 30th of March and again engage in the practice of his profession. He will be located at 808 Lamar. 249-4t

AS TO INSURANCE REGULATIONS.

W. E. Frieze, one of our local insurance agents, says the Times was in error the other day when it printed the statement of another local insurance agent to the effect that the premiums on all fire insurance policies must be paid on or before the 15th of the month following date of issuance, otherwise they become void. He says the following notice is attached to each policy now issued:

"The premiums named herein must be paid in cash to the agent issuing this policy on or before the 15th day of the month succeeding that in which this policy is to become effective. Unless so paid at that time, this policy shall be null and void after such date."

The Times cannot figure out much difference between the two statements, except that the latter makes the demand for cash, by which we are to understand that not even checks are acceptable to the insurance companies. They seem to be able, under our state laws, to make any unreasonable demand they want to, and charge three or four times their former rate, with no excuse except the figures (as compiled by their agents) indicate that for a year or so they have been doing a losing business in Texas, and now want to make all their losses back in one year's time and have a good-sized surplus to carry over.

The key rate as fixed for Wichita Falls and other cities in Texas, amounts to nothing more than a simple hold-up, and until this law is repealed or amended, the people of Texas are absolutely at the mercy of the insurance companies.

So far as the Times has been able to learn, the rate of insurance has been lowered only on one business building in this city, and the agents will tell you of that instance every time the subject of insurance is mentioned.

The alleys and backyards of Wichita Falls present a clean and neater appearance today than they have in twenty years, and yet the insurance companies insist they must be cleaned and kept shining and galvanized in order to get lower rates.

When this city had no fire protection worth speaking of at all, the fire insurance rates on three-fourths of the business section was less than one-half what it is today.

The contract with the waterworks company with the city for water for fire protection, calls for certain sized water mains, and this contract has been complied with, and the insurance companies now insist that in order to get lower rates, these smaller mains shall be taken up and replaced with larger ones.

So far as the Times is aware, the city government is powerless to require the waterworks company to do something which their contract does not call for, and therefore, it seems that property holders in this city are doomed to pay out thousands of dollars each year in excessive insurance rates, just because the insurance companies have made an unreasonable demand, which they must have known would be impossible for the city to comply with.

PROPHECY COMES TRUE.

Candidates for mayor are as yet nowhere to be seen. This important office will be vacant after the April election and our citizens should get together and induce some worthy man to accept it. It is an unfortunate fact that the office carries with it practically no emoluments, but this makes it, none the less important, and we trust some patriotic citizen will come forward for the office.—Childress Post.

To be the mayor of a growing, flourishing, live-wire town like that of Childress needs no emoluments, other than the honor that goes with the office. Nobody wants to be mayor of a "dead town." Childress is not in that class by any means. The Times suspects that before the time required by law for candidates to file their petitions in order to have their name appear on the official ballot, there will be at least one, and perhaps two, ambitious and aspiring fellows who will conclude that they are willing to make a great sacrifice in order to preside at the head of the city government of Childress. It used to be that way in Wichita, but it is different now, and while the salary of the mayor is no more than equal to that of the janitor at the city hall, yet there are two enterprising, aspiring fellows, who, apparently are working just as hard and devoting just about as much energy to be elected to the office as if it carried with it honors and salary equal to that of a congressman. It will be that way in Childress before a great while. It is just as natural for a man to want to be mayor of a live-wire town as it is for water to run down hill.—Wichita Times.

Responding to the prediction made above, we are tempted to throw up our head gear and exclaim, "A Daniel come to judgment," for the prophetic words of our esteemed brother had scarcely been printed before his prediction came true. Already one worthy candidate has offered himself as a martyr for sacrifice upon the altar of his city's welfare and rumors are not lacking of one or two more who would as willingly make the sacrifice. Patriotism is one of the distinguishing characteristics of western towns and we trust the time will never come when good men cannot be found to accept arduous duties for the public good.—Childress Post.

The mob in Dallas last week was a protest not only against the awful crime of the brute the mob lynched, but it was a vigorous protest against the senseless technicality of the court house that so often enables guilty criminals to escape the punishment they so richly deserve. The technicalities discovered by judges that sent the Burrell Oates case back to the jury three times after thirty-six men had heard the evidence and declared him guilty of wilful murder, are but weighing more ropes for more mobs to use in the future. Honest men despise the frivolity of laws that defeat justice rather than insure it.—Bonham News.

POLITICAL HOT SHOT.

If Texas is to be run merely in the interest of Senator Bailey, we may as well go ahead and elect Poindexter governor and be done with it.—Yokum Herald.

The Houston Post goes to the extreme of supporting O. B. Colquitt for Governor of Texas, when the editor of that paper knows well that Davidson is the most suitable man for the exalted position.—Pleasanton Express.

An unsigned post card, addressed to the Headlight, asks who the paper is for for governor. If the sender had been reading the paper he would have known. The Headlight is for Davidson against the field.—Eagle Lake Headlight.

The political reports in every paper show that the state campaign is growing warmer as time passes. The hot months are coming and the blanket and rubbing bone will be brought into use, especially for those who are running extra swift.—Llano News.

Either Dr. Rankin or Rienzi Johnston is mistaken in regard to what Senator Bailey told them, or the senator has been talking both ways. As they are both friends and great admirers of the senator, we leave the matter to be settled between them.—Waxahachie Light.

The trouble appears to be that the papers that are insisting that the campaign in Texas should be fought out without reference to Bailey are the very papers that are doing most to keep the Bailey issue in the campaign. For that very reason it will not down.—Brownwood Bulletin.

There are a few Methodists (just like Methodists) who have no confidence in Cone Johnson, because he formerly occupied the opposing side of prohibition. We Baptists believe that Cone, like all converted sinners, will last 'till Poindexter blows off the dogs. "Turn, ye sinners, turn: the day of grace is at hand!"—Lorena Vidette.

Sterling P. Strong, while endeavoring to lecture in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League in Western Texas, is reported to have engaged on the side in raising private subscriptions to help pay campaign expenses for Cone Johnson. Cone's campaign is a weakly creature at best, and it will take more sterling that Strong can beg to keep the old thing a-wabbling.—Gainesville Register.

It has always seemed to the Herald that the prohibitionists show a decided weakness when they fail to stand up and fight for their side of the question in a logical manner. They invariably appeal to prejudice, draw pictures that bring tears to the eyes and then wind up by laying all the blame on the saloon. This leaves the inference in the minds of their hearers that abolishing the saloon is a sure way to drive out liquor and tears. Nothing was ever done further from the truth, even if the saloons were as guilty as charged. They don't refer to the bottle trade or the bootlegger. All they want to stop is the "open" sale. They are not interested in what is being done under cover.—Denison Herald.

Among the plays which Mme. Nazimova has in rehearsal is "The Sea Girl," a drama of Russian life by Anton Tchekhoff, in which she acted during her first engagement in this country, speaking the lines in Russian.

Miss Fernanda Eliecu and Margaret Drew in "The Third Degree."

"The Third Degree."
Few, if any, of the home-loving citizens of America really and truly understand, or, for that matter, have devoted any thought, to the method used by the police in some large cities in extorting confessions from supposed criminals. And, for that reason, if for no other, Charles Klein's latest dramatic success, "The Third Degree," which comes to the Wichita Theatre Thursday, March 17th, will prove a revelation, and, at the same time, a genuinely interesting evening's entertainment.

Mr. Klein's story is said to be intensely dramatic, beautifully human and relieved throughout by a subtle vein of brilliant and scintillating humor.

The author, Charles Klein, was on the dock as Marseilles, waiting to go aboard a steamer for Egypt. Picking up a New York Newspaper, he espied an article telling of the arrest on a murder charge of an innocent young man, the son of an old and respectable wealthy family, from whom the police had wrung a false confession, after subjecting him to hours of physical and mental torture, "the third degree," and thereby exhausting his energies to such an extent that he became temporarily an imbecile and repeated, parrot-like, the words put into his mouth by his persecutors. From this incident the playwright gained inspiration for his play, "The Third Degree," and, odd as it may seem, he was in Cairo, Egypt, at Sheppard's Hotel, where he executed his work that has already revolutionized the methods of over-zealous police officials of the United States.

The character of Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Jr. in "The Third Degree," is acknowledged to be one of those close touches of nature for which Mr. Klein is so justly noted. In this, his latest creation, however, he has outdone even himself, for every character in the play is a living, breathing prototype of the human being he or she represents here on the stage of the real life drama. The junior Mrs. Howard Jeffries, despised by her husband's rich family because she was not of his station in life before marriage, is deserted by her husband's father in her most trying hour, but heroically rises to the occasion, and, by her perseverance and determination, enlists the services of Richard Brewster, the most eminent lawyer in New York City, and thereby ultimately clears her husband of the charge of murder. Her devotion to her husband, her belief in his innocence despite his confession, wrung from him by the police through inquisitorial methods, and her soul-stirring efforts to save him from the electric chair, make her the most lovable of creatures, one of those truly human and sympathetic administering angels sometimes encountered in every-day life.

The tremendous scene at the beginning of the play, from which it derives its title, is a modernization of the terrifying ordeals and tortures to which innocent victims were subjected during the infamous Spanish inquisition.

Fernanda Eliecu, Paul, Everton, Malcolm Duncan, E. L. Eberle, H. H. Forseman, Alfred Moore, T. L. Coleman, A. H. Symmons, Ralph Ramsey and Margaret Drew constitute the presenting company of "The Third Degree."

BASEBALL NOTES.

"Mitty" Bransfield is the best golf player in the Philadelphia Nationals' squad. Manager Griffith of Cincinnati is trying to put over a trade with the Quakers for Johnny Bates. Pat Dougherty did not go to the coast with the White Sox. He is the only hold-out among the Sox regulars. Manager McAleer of Washington, is very anxious to trade Pitcher "Dolly" Gray for Willie Mitchell of Cleveland. Ed Smith, formerly of the St. Louis Americans, has been engaged to coach the Notre Dame nine this season.

Arthur Hostetter, of the Milwaukee team, who was injured last year, hopes to be able to start the season with the Brewers.

The Detroit management claims that the Tigers used 220 dozen baseballs at a cost of more than two thousand dollars last season.

Jack Dunn, owner of the Baltimore team, has quit the diamond as a player. He will direct the Orioles from the bench after this.

Hal Chase says that Harry Wolter is bound to make good with the Highlanders. Wolter is an old California pal of the first baseman.

After the close of the college season Walter Norton, captain of the Dartmouth nine, may become a member of Jesse Burkett's Worcester club.

It is said that the Pittsburgh club has not received the signed contracts of Hans Wagner, Howard Camnitz, Frank Dobson, Sam Leever and "Lefty" Liefield.

"Cy" Young is training for his twenty-first season in the major leagues. "Uncle" Cyrus says that he intends to stick an even twenty-five years in the big show.

The Cleveland team is doing strenuous work at Alexandria, La. The players tramp about eight miles each day in their trips to and from the ball grounds.

Pittsburg, Cincinnati, New York and the Boston National League clubs have arranged to close their season October 12, instead of October 15, the scheduled date.

Liehardt, Sutton, Upp, Winchell, Clarke, Congalton, Hinchman, Reilly, Rosman, Friel and Schrek, formerly with Cleveland, are now members of the Columbus American Association team.

With the Fighters.

Jack (Twin) Sullivan is trying for a fight with either Bill Lang or Tommy Burns.

It is said that Jim Driscoll is broke. Trying to beat the bookmakers cleaned the English featherweight.

Admirers of "Pal" Moore are willing to bet their shoes that he can beat Jimmy Walsh if the two boys meet at 116 rounds.

Eddie Nelson of Grand Rapids, the only man who ever knocked out Ad Wolgast, is seeking a return match with the lightweight champion.

Los Angeles business men have raised a pool of $150,000, which they will guarantee Rickard and Gleason if they stage the Jeffries-Johnson fight in the southern California city.

THE OUTLAYS OF CITIES.

Enormous Expenditures Shown By the Census Bureau's Report. Washington, D. C., March 9.—The United States Census Bureau's special annual report of the statistics of the 158 cities which had in 1907 a population of over 30,000 each is being printed.

It is explained in the report that payments for land, new buildings, new work on streets, and other additions and improvements are defined by the Bureau as "outlays." Such payments comprised a much larger percentage of the total payments of the governments of 148 of the 158 largest cities in 1907 than in 1902, being 34.3 per cent of such costs in the latter year as compared with 27.3 per cent in 1902.

In other words, payments for outlays increased 86.6 per cent in the interval, while payments for expenses and interest increased only 25.1 per cent. Receipts from revenues increased 35.5 per cent, so that in 1907 a much larger proportion of the outlays had to be paid from loans than in 1902.

Many of the western cities have unusually large outlay expenditures; more than 70 per cent of the payments for meeting governmental costs in Seattle falling in that classification.

Of the total outlays for the entire 158 cities in 1907, more than one-third were for highways and more than one-fourth for public service enterprises, chiefly water supply system, Philadelphia, $5,193,378; Chicago, $3,794,195; Pittsburg, $2,499,270, and New Orleans, $2,085,730.

The total payments for outlays in all the cities were $244,117,398 and the increase in net debt was $120,920,631. It will thus be seen that practically one-half of the outlays were paid for without increasing the net debt. This is in marked contrast to the practice in English cities.

The report states that in any consideration of the credit of cities the increase in the net debt should probably be reduced by a portion of this amount of outlays expended on public service enterprises, inasmuch as the revenues from such enterprises are, in general, sufficient to pay the interest incurred in outlays on their account. Thus, the increase in the net debt of New York City for the year 1907 was $66,238,799, while payments for outlays for public service enterprises amounted to $26,510,794. Hence, the increase in the net debt for general governmental purposes, with which the taxpayers are chiefly concerned, was less than $40,000,000.

Laymen's Meeting at Boise.

Boise, Idaho, March 10.—A big convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement opened in Boise today and will continue over tomorrow. The speakers include a number of evangelists and other religious workers of national prominence. A men's chorus of 100 voices has been organized to furnish the musical features of the program.

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES

In regard to the new union station to be constructed at once, and which is to cost $100,000, Mr. Kell, General Manager of the Kemp and Kell roads, said that while the union station would be located on Eighth street, the car sheds would extend for 780 feet, or from the North side of 9th street to the South side of 7th street, as was stated in yesterday's paper, and in his judgment all Southbound passenger trains would discharge at the 7th street end of the car shed, while the Northbound trains would discharge at 8th street, and that being the case, both 7th and 8th streets will continue to be the main thoroughfares, used by the traveling public in going to and from the station.

R. P. Webb says he is in favor of civic improvement, but thinks it rather a difficult matter for him to produce nice flowers and shrubbery while chickens are allowed to run at large. He has no chickens of his own, but discovered a nest containing 21 eggs in the stable yesterday. He appropriated the eggs, and says he expects to make use of the chickens, and the owners are hereby extended an invitation to come to his home and help enjoy the feast, when the chicken killing business starts.

The grocery store of Thos Arnett, located at 806 10th street was robbed last night of a small quantity of cigars, tobacco, etc. The guilty parties (supposed to be small boys) made their entrance to the store through a glass door in the rear. This door has in it four 10x12 window lights, and one of these was removed and through the small hole the little thieves crawled through. Arnett has no clue as to who the guilty party or parties are.

Two white men were fined fifty dollars each in the county court this morning for intoxication. Last night, while confined in the city jail, they broke out a large number of window lights and created considerable disturbance.

Wichita Falls is not represented at the Northwest League meeting at Quannah today and it has been practically decided not to become a member of that circuit.

A norther last night brought the thermometer decidedly downward this morning and the weather has been much less mild today.

Some nice cakes in bulks, just received.
