QUIET PREVAILS IN WASHINGTON TODAY

SCARCELY AN ECHO OF LAST WEEK'S FIGHT IS IN EVIDENCE TODAY.

ALL READY FOR TROUBLE

If Anybody Had Started Something This Morning There Were Plenty To Take Part.

By Associated Press. Washington, Mar. 21.—While there was scarcely an echo of the troublous times of last week when the House convened this morning, there was a general tense feeling prevailing among the members and it was felt that but little was required to cause excitement rivaling that of last week.

All sides, however, were in a cheerful mood prior to the convening of the house and there was apparently little disposition by anybody to reopen hostilities unless some one else started something. If anyone showed a disposition to continue the strife of last week, it was very evident that there would be no lack of volunteers to respond to the call.

The only echo of last week's strife was from Representative Burleson of Texas, who declared that the report that he offered the resolution making the speaker's chair vacant to trick the insurgents and with an understanding with Cannon, as absolutely false. He said he drew up the resolution without consulting anyone except Champ Clark minority leader.

Representative Wisch of Pennsylvania, a democrat, introduced a resolution today authorizing the new house committee on rules to revise, amend, simplify and codify the rules of the house.

ARREST MADE IN RIGNY MURDER CASE—NEGRO IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Mar. 21.—The grand jury in the forty-eighth district court is today investigating the complaint against the negro Tom Pinkston, arrested in connection with the murder of Will Rigny, the sixteen year old white boy on March 12. Rigny was killed in a most brutal manner and the crime caused much indignation. A witness says he saw Pinkston, Rigny and a negro in a dispute at the scene of the murder shortly before the crime was committed. Chief Polk still believes the boy was killed by an automobile.

NEGRO WOMAN STABBED NUMBER OF TIMES BY HUSBAND—WILL LIVE

As a result of the incompatibility of temperament between Charles Henderson and his wife, of the Ethiopian persuasion, the former is now languishing in durance vile while the latter is at her home, more or less thoroughly perforated by eight knife wounds that were inflicted upon her frame by her husband. The trouble began with the house-rent, assisted by the grocery bill. Both were past due and Charles, having expended all his available funds for more thereof matters than house rent and bacon, called on his wife to produce sufficient of the wherewithal to liquidate the indebtedness. The lady had her own peculiar notions about the matter and expressed them in language both eloquent and forcible. After the manner of Cnna at the death of Caesar, who found that he could express himself more aptly with his hands than with his mouth, Charles did not reply, in kind, but drew a long-bladed knife and proceeded to his carving. When he got through, the wife of his bosom was in a rather dilapidated condition and considerably the worse for wear. Charles surrendered to the county officers. Physicians state that the woman will probably survive.

FORTY MAY BE KILLED IN WRECK TODAY NEAR MARSHALLTOWN, IOWA

Des Moines, Iowa, Mar. 21.—F. W. Cherry of Princeton, Iowa, a passenger on a Rock Island train which was wrecked near Green Mountain this morning, has telephoned here that the total number of dead is forty-two. Cherry said he helped to remove thirty-seven dead bodies from the wreck. The wreck occurred when a St. Paul and Waterloo passenger train on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, detouring on the Chicago and Great Western went into the ditch near Green Mountain. According to the first reports from the Rock Island people, five or six were killed, while other reports give the number of dead between fourteen and twenty-five.

The official report received at the headquarters of the Chicago and Great Western at Chicago gives the number of dead in the derailment accident at Glad Brook, Iowa, at fourteen. Twenty-five were injured. The wreckage did not catch fire.

AT ST. JOSEPH.

Leather Workers There Join in General Strike Movement.

By Associated Press. St. Joseph, Mo., March 21.—More than 200 union leather workers employed in harness and horse goods factories here, went on strike today. The men demand the ten-hour wage scale for the eight-hour working day.

AUTO FIRE ENGINE IS HERE AT LAST

ARRIVED LAST NIGHT AND WILL BE PUBLICLY TESTED TOMORROW MORNING.

IS POWERFUL MACHINE

Will Give Wichita Falls the Most Efficient Fire Apparatus in the State.

The automobile fire engine which is to become a part of the fire equipment of Wichita Falls, arrived over the Katy from St. Louis last night and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock it will be publicly tested. The machine was unloaded this afternoon.

One has to see the engine to appreciate its appearance. From the driver's seat back it is to be similar to an ordinary hose cart. In front of the driver's seat is the hood over the engine, while a large brass bell is suspended immediately in front. The engine is a six-cylinder machine, ninety horse power and is capable of throwing four heavy streams at once.

The test will be made tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, probably near the city hall, where the water-throwing abilities of the machine will be thoroughly tried. Driver McClure of the present hose cart will be instructed in the manipulation of the new engine and it will probably be placed in his care. The engine is painted a bright red, and has the name "Victor" on the name plate, it having been christened in honor of the present fire chief.

The engine is about four months behind time, the manufacturers having experienced many delays in its manufacture. W. M. Robinson, representing the manufacturers, is here to see that the test of the engine is satisfactory.

BLUES IN LEAD IN MEMBERSHIP RACE

WERE NINETY POINTS AHEAD OF RED CONTINGENT UP TO NOON HOUR TODAY.

TWO HUNDRED MEMBERS

Desired Number is Already in Sight and Total of Five Hundred is Expected.

Blues 945; Reds 855. At noon today, the above was the standing in the contest between the two Young Men's Christian Association membership teams, the Blue faction being ninety points in the lead. The total of eighteen hundred points on both sides represents about two hundred members and there is little doubt that before today is over, the desired total of two hundred will be left far behind. Neither team will stop with that number, however, and it is believed that a total of five hundred members will have been secured before the contest ends, on April 9.

Some slight opposition to the organization has been manifested because of a misunderstanding as to the control of the gymnasium and other properties. The fact that the gymnasium and rooms would be located in the First Methodist Church caused some to believe that the exclusive management of the Association would be vested in that church, which is a very erroneous impression. Representatives of each denomination in the city will be on the board of directors and no one denomination will have any more of a voice in the management of the organization than any other. It is felt that, even if such were the case, the movement will be sufficiently beneficial to the young men of the city to merit the support and encouragement of all broad-minded people and it is believed that in the end all denominations will recognize the value of the Association and be glad to see it made a success.

There are few Associations that are able to start out with as good prospects as the one being organized. A gymnasium and swimming pool is already provided, sufficient to accommodate all the members and the organization starts out well equipped.

The totals of each side will be published in the Times up to noon each day until the contest ends on April 9. Despite the fact that they start out in the rear, the Reds are hard at work and promise that the order will be reversed before the contest is ended.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
Present Row in House of Representatives is Not All on the Surface.
In the contest between the insurgents and the regulars, or the Cannon regime, in the National House of Representatives there is more at stake, perhaps, than the mere matter of the rules of procedure. The minority chafed under the autocratic rule of the speaker until open rebellion has brought about an unprecedented situation in the house.

The democrats and insurgents had asked for an amendment of the rules which would practically eliminate the speaker as a controlling force, and to prevent the adoption of this amendment the curious spectacle of the organization filibustering against what has heretofore been regarded as the minority was presented.

The minority—composed of democrats and republican insurgents—were temporarily in control, numerically, and overruled every decision of the speaker, but was still unable to force a vote upon the resolution offered during an all-night session. Many of the representatives allied with the organization party were absent from the chamber, and it was sought to have them brought in by the sergeant-at-arms. Curiously enough, the demand for the arrest of the republican absentees and for their enforced attendance upon the session was made by a democrat and practically opposed by the speaker, who was accused of disregarding the orders of the house because he refused to sign the warrants, and who defiantly declared that he would do nothing demanded by less than a quorum of the house.

It is a fight on the rules in the house with an intimated purpose on the part of some of the members, at least, to depose the present speaker, but this is not all there is to the insurrection. If it were there would be no insurgent movement in the senate, no determined opposition to the policies of the administration, led by a seemingly well-organized faction who are known as the republican insurgents and aided to the fullest by the democratic membership.

What it all means may develop in the campaign for election of members of the next congress, if not in the session which is now in progress. The insurgent republicans and the democratic members of congress appear to be very much of the same mind as to the tariff, the interstate commerce court, the income tax and some other public policies, and those who think alike are very apt to vote alike.

Party alignments are at present more or less illogical in many cases, and there may be some changes of party label in the near future as the result of changed or changing conditions.—Exchange.

BANISH CATARRH.
Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes and Stuffed Up Head Will Vanish.
If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time breathe Hyomei (pronounce it Hy-o-me.)

It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyomei will cure a cold in one day, it will relieve you of disgusting sniffles, hawking, spitting and offensive breath in a week.

Hyomei is made chiefly from eucalyptol, a soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia where catarrh, asthma and consumption were never known to exist.

Hyomei is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed and cure is almost certain.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00 at druggists everywhere and at Weeks Drug Co. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomei at druggists for only 50c. Mar. 21

THE TREASURY BALANCE.

Government Carries Entry of 2-3 of a Cent on Bond.
United States Treasurer Lee McClung has given former United States Treasurer Charles H. Treat, a receipt for $1,260,134,946.68 2-3, the amount of money that belongs to the Government and which changed custodians. What is the two-thirds of a cent for, and how did it get there?

It isn't to be found among the coins and bills. But under the heading of "bonds and other securities held in trust" the two-thirds of a cent bobs up, for there it is in the total, $735,625,032.92 2-3. Going into the items of this particular account, it is again to be found among the State bonds in which the Government many years ago invested Indian trust funds. Proceeding further, it is learned that the bonds of the State of Tennessee, acquired from these funds, aggregate $335,666.66 2-3. The bookkeeping entries go no further in the process of elimination but the vaults that hold the bonds in question carry the reader to the last chapter. For one of these Tennessee bonds is of the amount of $1666.66 2-3.

"Why there should be any fraction of a cent in this connection," said Treasurer McClung, "I do not know, unless for some reason it was necessary to make out the bond for two-thirds of two thousand exactly, which would account for it." Although these Indian trust funds are carried in the bookkeeping accounts at their face value, Treasurer McClung would probably listen attentively to any one who wanted to make a bona fide offer for them. Way back in the thirties, when Uncle Sam held a good deal of money in trust for certain Indian tribes, he invested the money. Large sums were advanced to a number of States which issued their bonds for the amounts.

But they did not settle with the Government, it being considered good form in those days for a State to beat the Government if it could. The Government's faith was pledged to the Indians and the score with the Indians has been settled long ago. But as far as several of the States are concerned the Government is still holding the bag to the extent of $335,666.66 2-3 in the case of Tennessee. There has been some talk of a compromise, however, and the Legislature of the Volunteer State may take steps to liquidate the old indebtedness.—Washington Letter to Cincinnati Times-Star.

Death and Funeral of A. A. Bentley.
Ashley A. Bentley, an aged and highly esteemed citizen of this city, died at his home in this city, 804 Travis avenue, March 19th at 9:10 p. m., as the result of an attack of pneumonia, aged 78 years and 10 days.

Deceased was a native of the State of Illinois, coming to this city with his family from El Paso, Texas, in the year 1892, for the purpose of settling down and making it his permanent home.

In his younger days he followed the business of railroad construction work, which necessarily made it impossible for him to reside at any one place for a great length of time.

He leaves surviving him a devoted wife, three sons, and two daughters. Only the devoted wife, and the youngest son, Orr Bentley, were at his bedside at the time of his death. All the absent ones were notified by wire of the death of their father, and W. D. Bentley, who resides in Oklahoma, arrived here last night and Mrs. Murphy, one of the daughters, whose home is in San Antonio, arrived today. Eldred Bentley whose home is in Chicago, wired that it would be impossible for him to get here in time for the funeral.

The funeral was conducted from the family residence by Rev. W. T. Morrow, pastor of the First Methodist Church, South, at 3:00 p. m. this afternoon, which was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends and neighbors.

Interment took place at Riverside Cemetery.

For a Doctor's Residence.

Design A, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

This house is especially suited to meet the needs of a physician or dentist who requires a small office at his home. The arrangement of each floor is practical and convenient, and the house is one easily taken care of. The exterior of the first story is built of split face bowlders, blending harmoniously with the stained shingles, a kind of rustic arrangement. Size 30 by 30 over the main part. First story finished in either red oak or Washington fir, with birch floors. Birch floors are also used in the second story, where the finish is white enameled pine casings and laminated panel birch doors finished in tobacco brown. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $4,000.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of Design A for $30.

THE TIMES PUBLISHING CO.,
—253-tfc ED HOWARD, Manager.

It is reported that a little girl in Del Rio sold a litter of pups for two bits and gave the money toward a railroad bonus. And yet, even in Wichita Falls, there are some specimens of humanity who can be coaxed to dig up for a similar cause only with the aid of dynamite and a stomach pump.

Judge William Poindexter will make three speeches in Parker county, and will receive respectful consideration at each of his appointments, but he is going to find the Davidson sentiment very strong among the boys at the forks of the creek.—Weatherford Herald.

That suggestion to make Jawn W. Gates governor of Texas on the republican ticket isn't such a bad one. Without calling any names, we know of several democrats who would be worse.

This is the season of the year when the average Wichitan looks with suspicion on every vagrant cloud and gets ready to break for the storm house at the first puff of wind.

It rained last week; Uncle Joe Cannon got it in the neck; Roosevelt is still in Africa; the baseball season is about to open, and spring has come—come to Wichita.

And yet there are some people who are forgetful enough and forgiving enough to actually feel sorry for Uncle Joe in his present predicament.

CANNON AT BAY.

The spectacle of Speaker Cannon at bay is an interesting one. Two defeats astonished the regulars and encouraged the insurgents to make a direct attack in force. Mr. Norris of Nebraska offered an excellent resolution amending the despotic rules of the house. Speaker Cannon did not dare to let it come to a vote. His myrmidons raised a point of order, and he wanted to examine precedents, and being driven to filibuster until the absent republican members' trains brought them back to Washington in response to his calls.

Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin, in a set speech arraigned the speaker, pronouncing a regular philippic, in which he recited the instances in which he declared members of the house had been punished by the speaker by being refused important committee assignments; he called upon his colleagues, naming them in a personal appeal, to testify to the ill treatment that had been meted out to them by the speaker. Mr. Cannon is reported to have left the speaker's chair and stood on the raised dais at the clerk's desk, regarding the Wisconsin congressman with a "serious face." "If the speaker had not sufficient information to rule upon by this time," observed Champ Clark, the democratic leader, "you certainly have acquired a vast deal of other information."

It must be remembered in Speaker Cannon's case that, great as has been the evil done the house by the despotic rules which have turned it from the constitutional popular assembly of national legislators into a party machine, and great as has been the harm done the country by his reactionary statesmanship, he has been made a scapegoat. The Reed rules were bad enough before Cannon rules were framed; "Czar Reed" was the common designation of the statesman from Maine. Cannon has been no worse than his party; that would be impossible.

In the beginning because of its morbid enthusiasm as to the slavery question, and later because of its patriotic nationalism, the republican party appealed to men of conscience and love of country. We in the South, although we took a different view of the constitution, insisted on states' rights, and fought for civil liberty, can yet recognize this. But the time has come when the most dyed-in-the-wool republican, if uninfluenced by interest, unbiased by office-holding and unclouded by partisanship, must recognize that the republican party is today not a party of morals, but of money; not a party of patriotism, but of plutocracy.

To make the charge good, consider the tariff, which we were promised by Taft would be revised downward, and which was, nevertheless, revised upward, made higher instead of lower, he himself signing the bill, although he had been elected on the faith of his pledges of a good bill. What made him do it? The interests. The wool trust was one of his principal bosses, as he himself declared, frankly confessing his weakness. Consider the other trusts which the Sherman anti-trust law would, if enforced, put out of business in short order. But the law is not enforced. Under a republican administration it never has been enforced and never will be. And there is a reason. The trusts contribute to the campaign funds of the republican party.

If trusts help the development of the country, if monopolies are right, then the Sherman anti-trust law ought to be repealed. But if the combinations in restraint of trade to make extortionate profits are wrong, then the law against such combinations ought to be enforced. Certainly all laws ought to be enforced or repealed. For a party to profit by the non-enforcement of a law, thereby gaining power and extending campaign contributions, is the height of corruption.

Now the people are becoming aware of this corruption. The great American people are a moral people. Whenever a moral question has been fairly presented to them they have decided in favor of the right. They are becoming indignant against the republicans. The insurgent leaders have been making a vain effort to save the party. This is the eleventh hour repentance of a minority of the majority. While the republican party is much to blame, Cannon must not be made the scapegoat. He should be shorn of his absolute power—the Norris way of prohibiting his being a member of the committee on rules is one means—but the party should be relegated to the position of the party of opposition in punishment for its political sins against heaven and the people of the United States.

Grayson County held her local option election last Saturday and the result is that Grayson County will remain in the dry column for at least two years more. The majority—about 500—was not large, considering the great number of votes polled, but it is sufficient, and if the right sort of men are elected, the local option law in that county will be enforced just as other laws are.

Try a want ad for quick results.

It now begins to look as if the various cities affected by the recent fire insurance raises were going to get some relief from the state fire rating board. That body has at last, it seems, awakened to the fact that those who are being requested to pay according to the keystone method of fire insurance, are being held up by the fire insurance companies, and if the state fire rating board carries out the resolution passed by that body at a meeting held last Saturday night, the fire insurance companies will be required to discharge at least a portion of the extortionate fire insurance rates which they are now collecting.

Dr. J. LaFAYETTE BERRY

THE CHAMPION OF BLOODLESS SURGERY TO VISIT AND GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS IN THIS CITY.

The Doctor Has Been in Houston for Several Years, Where He Maintains His Headquarters.

Wonderful Work Has Been Done for Many of Our Best Known People in Curing Them of Cancers, Tumors, Gallstones, Appendicitis and Other Chronic Diseases.

For several years Dr. Berry has performed numerous remarkable cures of many of our best known people. Since the visit of the great Lorenz to this country, bloodless surgery has made remarkable progress. Dr. Berry, seeing the possibilities of bloodless surgery, has devoted great thought to it with the result that the knife has been displaced in hundreds of instances. The Hon. Mayor James B. Bolaf of Waco, suffered from cancer of the face and had visited the noted specialists of the north and east and spent a fortune trying to get cured, but failed and returned home to die. He learned of the cure of Col J. L. S. Travis, editorial writer on the Austin Statesman, of a severe cancer of the eye and the cure of several other well known people and at once applied to Dr. Berry, with the result that Mayor Bolaf got well, and says: 'Dr. Berry saved my life; he did for me in three or four hours what all the great cancer specialists of the east failed to do; he cured me and I cannot say too much in his praise. Since being cured I know of many remarkable cures he has made of cancer, tumors, gallstones, appendicitis, and many other chronic diseases, which he does without the knife and with but very little or no pain.'

Among other well known people, may be found the names of Mr. Lamb, president of the Lamb-Funchess Press and Book Binding Company of Beaumont, of a monster cancer on his neck; Mr. J. C. Reeves of Beaumont, of a cancer that was invading his eye; Mr. Walter Conklin of China, Texas, of a cancer of the face; Hon. E. A. Chestam, district attorney at Orange, of several cancers that had brought him close to death, and many other people who are known well throughout the state.

The Rev. J. L. Carnes, a Christian preacher of Stockdale, Texas, says:

'Dr. Berry saved my life. I had a cancer on my face and suffered from a severe kidney trouble, causing dizziness so I could scarcely walk, but the doctor cured me quickly.'

The doctor comes here highly recommended as the foremost champion of bloodless surgery. His work in Texas has caused him to be looked upon as a public benefactor. His headquarters have been in Houston for several years, but he has given demonstrations in bloodless surgery in the principal cities of the state. His attention has been given to curing diseases and displacing the knife by bloodless surgery. To learn of this medical expert one need only to write to the Honorable James B. Bolaf, mayor of Waco; Hon. Emmett Fletcher, mayor of Beaumont, or any banker, lawyer or other business man in Beaumont, to the Honorable Mayor Lusk of Brenham, Texas, or to the Hon. J. M. Mathis, the able attorney of Brenham, who has a brother practicing law in this city, or to Judge J. B. Brockman, Austin's greatest criminal attorney.

Dr. J. LaFayette Berry has come to Wichita Falls to give demonstrations in bloodless surgery, the removal of cancers, tumors, gallstones, appendicitis, chronic female and nervous troubles, sciatic rheumatism, etc., with knife, blood and with little, if any, pain. There is to be a platform-erected near the postoffice, where from time to time he will make public demonstrations in bloodless surgery.

His office will be at the Brown Palace Hotel, while in this city. Hours—10 to 12 a. m., and 2 to 4 p. m., week days only.

OUT AT HOUSTON.

Eighty Leather Workers' There Join Strike Movement. Texas News Service Special. Houston, Tex., March 21.—Eighty leather workers of this city struck today responding to the call of the national president of the union. The men demand an eight-hour day and a fifteen per cent increase in piece work, the same as elsewhere. The wholesalers and manufacturers declare they will not grant the demands.

DISSOLVE PACKING TRUST.

Indictments Are Returned Against National Packing Company. By Associated Press. Chicago, Mar. 21.—Simultaneously with the return of indictments today against the National Packing Co., and ten subsidiary companies charging violation of the anti-trust law, United States District Attorney Sims filed a bill in equity for dissolution of the alleged trust.

The way may look hard and the path rocky for us common people at times, but we come into our own in the end.

Cheese vs. Pork

Most of us can't even look at pork now—$11.00 for his majesty, King Pork! Whew! Well, what of that? Cheese hasn't gone up and when you figure it out, a pound of cheese is worth just about four times as much as a pound of pork, in any form, and costs only a few pennies more per pound than even the cheaper cuts of pork.

Our Burnham Cream Cheese is rich, mild and ripe; very appetizing, very wholesome and very satisfying. No waste; you eat it all; requires no cooking (unless you wish to combine with it something else) and contains more condensed goodness per pound than any other meat substitute known.

Eat more cheese at 25c per pound—that's the best solution to the high meat problem.

CARE OF PENNED POULTRY.

[Dr. E. P. Stiles in Texas Farm and Fireside.]

I suppose some farmers who read Texas Farm and Fireside will have their chickens shut up about this time to keep them out of mischief. It may interest them to know how best to manage the fowls while confined to a small pen. The farmer, it is supposed, does not propose to keep the chickens permanently enclosed, therefore, it will not be necessary to allow them as much space as would otherwise be necessary. Nevertheless, each fowl should be allowed twenty-five or thirty square feet within the enclosure. A flock of fifty fowls should have a space of thirty-five or forty feet square. It is a good plan to dig up with fork and spade a little of the yard every day or so, so that the whole surface may be turned over about once a month. It is an advantage, also, to scatter grain on the part to be forked and dig it in for the chickens to dig out.

The yard should have some shade in addition to that supplied by the hen house. If there are no trees in the yard, an arbor of some sort should be constructed.

If eggs are to be used for hatching, partition fences will have to be made so as to provide a separate pen for each rooster and his flock, otherwise the cocks will injure or kill themselves fighting. It may even be necessary to hang a strip of bagging along the bottom of the partition to prevent fighting through the wires. The strip should be of such a width that the cocks can not see each other over it. If the eggs are not wanted for setting it will be better to take the roosters out of the yard and coop them. The hens will continue to lay just the same and the eggs will keep fresh longer.

The penned chickens should not be fed too much. They should never be fed to repletion unless it be at night. Hens shut up closely and forced to idleness fatten easily and will stop laying. They should be compelled to take exercise by making them scratch in the litter for their feed. The yard should be littered a couple of inches deep with pine needles or prairie hay or something of the kind and the grain feed scattered in it. Fed this way they will never gorge themselves.

The morning feed may consist of a mash, if you please. A good mash may be made by mixing twenty pounds of corn meal and twenty pounds of wheat bran, five pounds of cotton seed meal and three pounds of dried beef scraps. If dried beef scraps cannot be had, fifteen pounds of alfalfa meal or fine broken trash may be substituted. Mix this thoroughly while dry. Take as much of it as may be required for each morning's feed and moisten it enough to make it adhere loosely. It should not be very wet nor too dry.

Personally, I do not believe in feeding mashes. I much prefer the natural dry food, except that the fresh beef scrap is a good substitute for worms, bugs, etc. But they must be fresh. Tainted meat begins to be dangerous when it begins to smell bad. Decaying meat is the cause of the disease called limberneck.

Of the mash feed the chickens what they will eat readily in ten or fifteen minutes, then take out the feed troughs and clean them with water.

The grain feed may be scattered in the litter after the troughs are removed. Enough should be given to keep them supplied until the afternoon. Between 4 and 5 o'clock, the last feed may be given in the same way. Never give more than the poultry will work out clean.

The freshly dug ground should not be covered with litter but remain exposed to the sunshine and for the use of the fowls in dusting themselves. The litter should be cleaned out whenever it becomes soiled.

The chickens must be provided all the time with an abundance of pure water. The fountain should be placed where the water will keep cool and where the chickens can not scratch trash in the water.

If there is little or no gravel in the soil of the chicken yard the fowls must be supplied with grit of some kind. If it is necessary to supply grit, pounded oyster shells are an excellent thing. It is hard enough to grind the food and soft enough to be itself ground and so furnish the lime which all hens must have.

Mr. Bell, of the National department of agriculture, says:

'The conditions of the droppings furnish a good indication of the hen's health. They should be of sufficient consistency to hold their shape, but should not be too solid. In color they should be dark, tapering off to a grayish white. If the droppings are soft or pasty and of a yellowish or brownish color, it indicates much carbohydrates or a lack of meat. If, on the other hand, the droppings are watery and dark with red splashes of mucus in them, it indicates too much meat. A greenish, watery diarrhea usually indicates insanitary conditions, either in the surroundings, the feed or the water.'

He means by carbohydrates that the fowls are getting too much corn or rice or similar starchy foods and not enough protein which is that food element furnished by meat, cotton seed meal, alfalfa, wheat bran, etc.

It is better to watch this matter and the behavior of the poultry and try to anticipate and ward off sickness and disease than to cure it. It hardly pays to doctor poultry.

HARD WORK.

Sam's Desperate Effort at Composing a Love Letter.

To one old southern negro in New York the difficulties of letter composition seemed well high insurmountable. The old fellow, as a writer in the Atlanta Constitution relates, asked his "boss," Colonel Yerger, to write a letter for him to his sweetheart.

"All right, Sam, I'll do it," agreed the colonel.

"Has yer got de paper and de ink and de pen ready, sah?"

"Yes, Sam. Go ahead."

"Write Thompson street, New York."

"All right."

"Has yer got hit written?"

"Yes."

"All ob hit?"

"Certainly."

"What has yer got written? Read it to me, boss."

"Thompson street, New York."

"Dat's right. Now write May de fourteenf."

"Yes."

"Has yer got hit down, boss, already?"

"Yes."

"G'way, boss, you're jokin'! Read it to me."

"May 14."

"Mah goodness! You has got hit down all right. Now, boss, read hit all over from de berry beginning."

"Thompson street, New York, May 14."

"Dat's right. Whew! Say, boss, let's res' awhile; I's tired. My head aches like hit was gwineeter split."

HE REFORMED.

A Flash of Lightning Made Him See His Evil Ways.

A group of men sitting on the dry goods boxes in front of a country store were discussing big storms.

"There's no use in talking," remarked one of them. "We are all badly scared in a thunderstorm."

"I remember one time when I was, sure enough," said another. "It was about a year after I was married, and I was on my way home from town. It began to thunder and lighten when I was about halfway there, and the rain fell in sheets. I stopped under a big tree. I knew that wasn't safe, but I thought I'd risk it."

"In a few minutes the lightning struck a tree about a hundred feet away, and I fell down, either from the shock or from fright. I don't know which to this day. But I got up again, and my hair rose on end when I remembered that I had a plug of tobacco in my pocket."

"What had that to do with it?"

"Nothing but this: My wife didn't know I chewed tobacco. She bated the weed like poison. 'What if I had been killed and that plug of tobacco found in my pocket?' I thought, 'I think I had the worst fright right then that I ever had in my life.'"

"Well?"

"Well, before the next flash came I took that plug out of my pocket and threw it as far as I could send it, and I have never chewed tobacco since."

Didn't Teach Him That Trick.

"That's a werry knowing animal o' yours," said a cockney gentleman to the keeper of an elephant.

"Very," was the cool rejoinder.

"He performs strange tricks and hantics, doe he?" inquired the cockney, eying the animal through his glass.

"Surprised?" retorted the keeper. "We've learned him to put money in that box you see up there. Try him with half a crown."

The cockney handed the elephant half a crown, and, sure enough, he took it in his trunk and placed it in a box high up out of reach.

"Well, that is verry extraordinary—bostonishng, truly!" said the green one, opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out and 'nd it back."

"We never learned him that trick," retorted the keeper and then turned away to stir up the monkeys and punch the hyenas.—London Tit-Bits.

Rearranging the Basis.

"You are charging me $7 a week for board and lodging, Mrs. Irons," said the gray haired person of the name of Harris. "May I ask how you would itemize it? What part of it is for board?"

"Five dollars," replied the landlady.

"And $2 for my room?"

"Yes."

"Well, if you don't mind, Mrs. Irons," he said, proceeding to square up for another week, "we'll consider hereafter that I'm paying you $3 for lodging and $2 for board. It will seem more as if I were getting the worth of my money."—Chicago Tribune.

The Fortune Tellers.

Lady—Poor man! So you are just out of jail? Tramp—Yes, mum. I was a victim of fortune tellers ten years ago. Lady—Indeed? Tramp—Yes, mum. The district attorney told me where I'd ever been and what I'd ever done during my whole life, and the judge predicted where I would be for the next ten years.—Puck.

What We're Coming to.
Senator Depew, at the recent bachelor's cotillion in Washington, praised the growth of advertisement, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
'Advertisement,' he said, 'has made many a man, many a book, many a commodity. But how much farther will it go?'

'Verily,' said Senator Depew, 'I can imagine a stormy night in the near future, with March winds blowing across foaming seas, and with the captain of a hard-pressed ship shouting to his mate from the bridge: "Is that Pank's Pills?'

'Aye, aye, sir, with Gibraltar Pants shing to le'ward," the master will reply.

'We'll weather Peerless Typewriter Rock, then, after all,' the captain cries.

'That we will, sir, heaven be praised,' says the mate cheerily, 'for already Cann's Cod Liver Oil Lights is beginning to show up on our lee.'

Good Farm Buildings

Have you ever figured out what needed improvements would cost? Probably not, and if you haven't, your imagination has probably set a figure away above what the actual cost would be. Of course you'd hardly be expected to make every needed improvement at once. But that is no reason why you shouldn't begin.

Say a new house, or barn, or a granary. Just for your own satisfaction, why not come in and let us make you an estimate on the material you'll need to build with.

A Plain, Substantial Colonial.

Design C, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

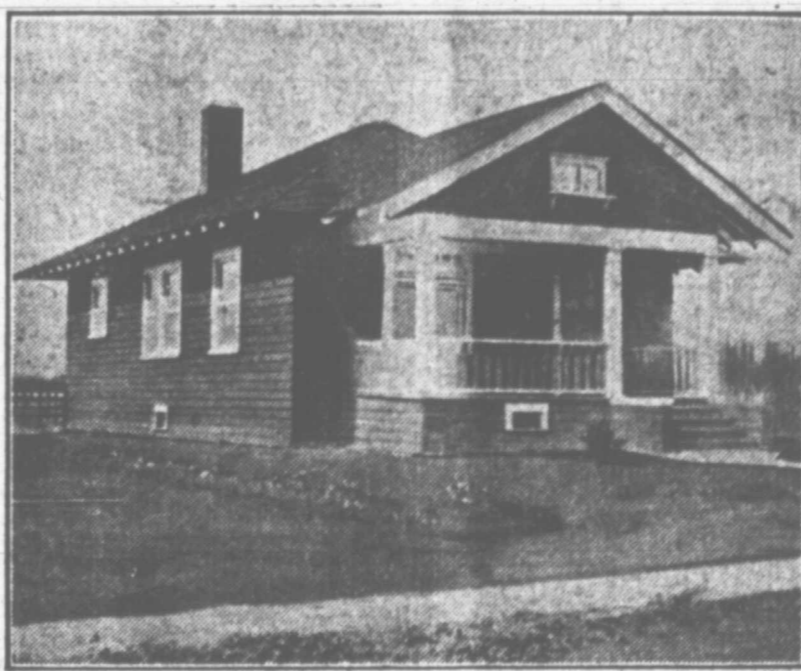

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

The illustration is that of a house built in Sterling, Colo., after one of my stock plans. This plain, substantial colonial home has been duplicated many times. The arrangement of the stories is compact and complete, and a study of the two simple floor plans here illustrated will make it plainer to any prospective builder than any word picture. There is a full basement seven feet high. The first story is nine feet and the second story eight feet six inches. There is space in the third story for three rooms if desired. Birch floors throughout both stories. First story finished in a choice of red oak, birch or Washington fir and second story finished in pine for white enamel. Size thirty feet wide and thirty-four feet deep over the main part. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $4,200.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish a complete set of plans and specifications of Design C for $30.

Small One Story Bungalow.

Design 636, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FLOOR PLAN.

One feature in favor of the bungalow is that all rooms are on one floor, thus making it easier to take care of the house. This design has a large vestibule and coat closet. The reception room connects with the living room by a cased opening. It is really like one large room across the entire front. There are two bedrooms and ample closet space, also a large dining room and a well arranged kitchen having built in cupboards. There is a small basement under rear portion of house. Birch floors throughout. Washington fir or Georgia pine finish for entire house. Size twenty-six feet wide and forty-three feet six inches deep. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $1,700.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of Design No. 636 for $13.

Men Named for New Customs Court; World's First Regular "Air Liner"

William H. Hunt, one of the men nominated by President Taft for the new customs court, was formerly governor of Porto Rico and has been judge of the federal district court in Montana since 1904. James F. Smith, another of the men named, was a brigadier general of volunteers in the Philippine war and filled various offices before becoming governor-general of the islands. He retired from that office several months ago.

Plans have been made for the inauguration on May 15 of the first regular air navigation service in the world. The "line" is from Munich, Bavaria, alternately to Starnberg and Oberammergau. The latter is the scene of the famous Passion play. A balloon of the Parseval type, accommodating twelve passengers, besides the crew, will be used.

ANOTHER PACKERY.

El Reno Closes Deal for a Million Dollar Concern.

El Reno, Mar. 19.—A deal has been closed whereby a second packing plant has been secured for El Reno and the actual work of construction will be begun within thirty days. The Industrial company yesterday evening entered into a contract with the Amer Packing company of Indianapolis, whereby the packing company will build a million dollar plant here. The present plant, which is rapidly nearing completion, will begin killing at a date not later than May 1, and will run full force from and after that date. Stock yards are now being built and a number of farmers adjacent to this city are feeding some choice yearling steers for the first run.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE PROBLEMS.

Is the Man Who Makes Love Easily as Much in Earnest as the Bashful Lover?

Men who sometimes make confession on the subject have said that when a man is genuinely in love he is so desperately earnest about it that he can not stop to think of pretty speeches. They have been known to declare, furthermore, that the man who can reel off poetry and romantic talk at such a time is an old hand at the business or else doesn't feel very deeply.

Whether this is a case of sour grapes or not, is rather a difficult question to decide.

The American man doesn't play the lover easily. When it comes to doing the things that prove his love, he is a blue ribbon winner. But when it comes to telling about it in poetical English, his efforts are not worth even consolation prize.

The more dead in earnest he is, the more apt he is to stammer and stumble and blurt out something very much to the point, but brutally frank and not at all flowery. There is no galsaying that the average lover is very apt to be of this order. When he is accepted, if he has got his breath and his heart is beating normal, he may be able to say some of the things a romantic girl is aching to hear.

The glib lover, on the other hand, does arouse one's suspicions to some extent, to say the least. When he is perfectly composed about his love-making and swears all kinds of vows and estacies without the flutter of an eyelash, a girl is apt to come out of her trance long enough to wonder how many times he has done this before. "Practice makes perfect," flits through her mind, and, while her romantic sense may enjoy this sort of lovemaking the most, her practical mind is wondering a bit just how he has become so proficient.

Men there are, to be sure, who are composed under nearly all circumstances, who have a good grip on their nerves, who are fluent talkers. They can make love easily, delightfully, and be in earnest about it. But, as a rule, it is safe to count that the fellow who stutters and stumbles is in earnest; that it is his first experience, or near it; that the man who tells of his adoration easily and glibly is somewhat practiced in the art, and, perchance, may be telling someone else the same story a few months hence.—Barbara Boyd in the Washington Herald.

'OLD MASTERS' IN JUNK HEAP.

Detroit Dealer Finds Portraits Which May Be Valuable Originals.

Two 'old masters' found in a Detroit junk shop are now under examination at the Detroit Museum of Art. The junk dealer thinks one may be a Van Dyke and worth half a million. Director Griffith is inclined to doubt its being such, also its being worth so much, but he does pronounce it a beautiful portrait, undoubtedly of high value.

The other picture is a landscape and bears many of the distinguished marks of a Claude Lorraine.

Both paintings were sent to the museum by Frank Armen, who picked them up in a Michigan avenue second hand store.

Director Griffith says:

"Even if the pictures were originals they have been badly used and their value, even to a collector is doubtful. One of the pictures went through a fire and is so badly blistered that I would not undertake to clean it. The other picture was treated to a coating of furniture varnish at some time and the varnish then ruined about ten inches of the picture by trying to rub the varnish off."

This is the reputed history of the two paintings: They are said to have been found in the basement of a house that stood on the present post-office site. One of the pictures, which is thought by the owner to be Van Dyke, portrays a lady seated before a Latin volume which rests upon another printed in Greek. She holds an oval mirror in her right hand, but she is looking out of the canvas and not into the mirror. One of the fingers of her left hand rests on a portion of the Latin text. The other picture, a very large canvas, is a landscape scene, very creditably done.

"It is very possible that the pictures were brought over from France by some of the early French settlers of Detroit," said Professor Griffith. "Once in a great while we pick up a rich find in just this way, but 'those precious discoveries are very, very rare, indeed.'"—Detroit Journal.

MEANS MUCH TO THE ORIENT.

This Road Will Be Great When Canal is Opened.

With the opening of the Panama Canal, which will probably occur about 1915, the coast traffic from the canal northward and also the ocean traffic from the canal to oriental points will be enormously increased. The western terminus of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient will be in direct line of all the steamship routes heading from the canal region to the oriental countries, and would seem that the new road will have great strategical advantages for ocean traffic which the northern lines can not possibly enjoy.

While it must be some years before the new system is entirely completed and before it finally demonstrates its value, the circumstances surrounding the entire enterprise indicate that with sound financial and operating management a railroad system can here be built up which will be equal in every practical respect to the much older lines which have now for many years enjoyed a monopoly of the traffic across the continent. Because of its far shorter mileage business can be done naturally at lower cost and better time can be made in the transportation of freight. It is the ultimate intention without doubt to develop a trans-Pacific steamship service in connection with the railroad system, and also develop trade with the countries on the South American coast. Apparently if during the next generation the enormous development of business on the west South American coast, which is anticipated as a result of the opening of the Panama Canal, becomes a reality, practically all of the business which arises from the central section of the United States will be transported over the lines of this system rather than be shipped first to the Atlantic coast and then transferred to vessels which will take the route through the canal.—John Moody in Moody's Magazine.

We have several clients wanting city property and we have nothing to suit them. List your property with us and we will sell it at once if it is a bargain. We have sold nearly everything listed with us in the last ninety days that was anywhere near worth the money.

Fairbanks' Homecoming; Taking Bodies From Big Wreck; Two Warriors Against White Plague

The home-coming of ex-Vice President Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks from their trip around the world has attracted less attention than the return of Mr. Fairbanks' former superior in office, but the friends of the ex-vice president and his wife, nevertheless, prepared a warm welcome for them.

SPECULATING ON MARGIN.

American and English Ways of Doing It Are Very Different.

In America a speculator's capital (with an exception to be noted below) is necessarily at least the size of his margin in his broker's hands, though it is to be feared that in only too many instances it is just this and nothing more.

On the London Stock Exchange another method prevails which, says Moody's Magazine, it is probable has done more in the long ago past to give stock speculation its bad name than all the episodes of an unsavory nature which have ever occurred on American exchanges. In London after the inevitable introduction to a broker the new customer gives his order, but makes no deposit at all.

The broker is supposed to learn something of his new client's means and how far he should be allowed to commit himself. Twice a month the English have what they call their settlement days. A customer long of a stock whose commitment has gone somewhat against him is then required to pay the differences, as they are called, between his purchase price and the current quotation.

He must also pay a charge called a contango for holding the settlement over into the next fortnightly period if he does not wish to close the commitment. As a consequence of this way of doing business a speculator may be trading on a few points margin in reality or, in fact, on no margin at all. He may be utterly penniless without the broker knowing it.

That this method works out with fewer losses in England than it would do here is due to the fact that the social and economic strata to which an Englishman belongs are much easier to determine than the corresponding facts among us, and also that an introduction means more there than here, as the introducer is regarded as to a certain extent responsible morally for the business department of his friend.

It is worth while observing (and this is the exception referred to above) that in certain instances the methods pursued in American stock exchange houses are the same as those obtaining in London. Little as the fact is known, it is not an un-frequent custom for very wealthy speculators to have no fixed margin or even no margin at all with their brokers.

If a man of this sort loses on a commitment he sends his broker a check for the loss. If he wins his brokers remit to him for his gains. The broker dislikes to offend a very powerful client by troubling him for funds, and hence takes risks with his account which he would not dream of taking with the account of smaller men. Instances of this sort sometimes become public in cases where the broker is forced into bankruptcy, whether owing to this cause or not.
