Judging from the way so many counties in Texas are going dry now, it may not be so very long before the effort being made to have the whole state go dry will succeed.—Laredo Times.

Fort Moultrie Cunyus says the $2, 000,000 taken from the Waters-Pierce Company is "blood money." Fort Moultrie is a Georgia peach, but he is somewhat "mixed." It is oil money, and it runs the machinery of the car
of state.—Dallas Times-Herald.

According to his home paper, Candidate Cunyus "is making from one to three speeches daily." That's "par-amounting" some! Indeed, Mr. Cunyus couldn't work harder if his task was that of introducing a new baking powder to the trade.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Some voters object to Poindexter changing his views without notice so frequently. One day he advises the people if they can't vote for him to vote for Cone Johnson; two days later, he tells them to stay at home rather than vote for Cone Johnson.—Yokum Herald.

Campbell may be able to build up a political machine in Texas as to further his own interests, but if he succeeds in organizing one which will do better work than the one which has been operating in Texas for several years, he is certainly entitled to be called a "Jim Dandy."—Waxahachie Light.

Governor Campbell is very much inclined to take the stump, it is said, against Candidate O. B. Colquitt for governor, and if he does there will be some racy campaign proceedings. Colquitt will not hesitate to give the governor a Roland for his every Oliver.—
Weatherford Herald.

Col. Riensl M. Johnston, editor of the Houston Post, supporter of the machine candidate for governor and would-be keeper of the democratic book at the beautiful bayou, is at it again. But the colonel has a say coming, as the Hon. Mr. Colquitt is gradually slipping—s-l-i-p-p-i-n-g—backward
—Nacooches Sentinel.

"Many of these friends of Senator Bailey are up in arms about it." So James Fitzgerald informs the Houston Post. Up in arms about what? Why, that Poindexter should have advised prohibitionists to vote for Johnson in the event they couldn't vote for him (Poindexter). And yet Uncle Reinzl tells us that the Bailey question should not figure in this campaign—Uncle Reinzl, who is a Bailey supporter day in and day out.—Waco Times-Herald.

When Judge William Poindexter told those democrats who could not vote for him to do the next best thing, in his judgment, and vote for Cone Johnson, the judge was, no doubt, sincere in his advice, but the slam was so sudden and hard on the Bailey friends of Poindexter that the wool has not stopped flying yet. The judge later retracted his good advice, but the mischief had been done, and many of the Bailey friends are looking to other candidates for a safe and sane deliverance. It was, in truth, a bad break for Colonel William.—Palestine Herald.

The "leading" politicians are having trouble getting the boys lined up.
A great many of the boys refuse to prohibition or anti-prohibition band wagons. Texas voters are doing a little thinking for themselves this year, and would like to hear some live issues discussed. They are tired of electing officers on personal grounds or fanatical lines. All the talking that could be done before the primaries by all the candidates for governor would not change the views of half a dozen men on either side of the prohibition question. Get on some live issues, gentlemen, and give us a rest on frenzied, frazzled-out questions.—Garland News.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

Fannin county farmers are feeling pretty good these days. They have their land in fine shape, oats sowed and up, corn nearly all planted and an excellent season in the soil. Prospects were never brighter for a good crop than they are at this time.—Honey Grove Citizen.

If Governor Campbell has a notion that he can appropriate to his own use the senatorial toga of Charles A. Culberson he is going to find that he has been harboring a great delusion. Culberson will remain in the United States Senate just as long as he desires to serve.—Weatherford Herald.

The local newspaper should be found in every home. No child will grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is the stepping stone to intelligence in all those matters not to be learned in books. Give your children a foreign paper which contains not one word about any person, place or thing which they ever saw, or perhaps ever heard of, and how can you expect them to be interested? But let them have the home paper and read of persons whom they meet, and places with which they are familiar, and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every daily arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed, and those children will read the papers all their lives and become intelligent men and women, a credit to their ancestors, strong in their knowledge of the world as it is today.—Hamilton Rustler.

$2,000,000 AT STAKE.

Important Suit Is Filed in Court At Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., Mar. 22.—Back of an action filed in the Spokane county superior court by James M. Head, formerly general manager and stockholder in the concern, against the Couer d'Alene Trustee company and E. R. Michaels, treasurer, is a factional fight in which bankers, land operators, former Indian officials and squawmen are involved in a scheme to gain possession of valuable allotments to redman on the Couer d'Alene reservation near Rockford and Tekoa, Wash., 50 miles South of Spokane.

Sixty-six allotments of 160 acres each, including some of the richest agricultural land in the Pacific Northwest estimated to be worth between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, are at stake, and owing to the close relations with Indian affairs, it is likely that the suit which is merely to gain admission to the corporation's books, will precipitate an investigation by the government department, not only of the company but of Indian affairs in general. The state law of Washington requires a corporation to open its books on demand of a stockholder, the penalty for infraction being $1,000.

Head, whose wife is of Couer d'Alene Indian blood, alleges in the complaint that he was recently denied the privilege as a stockholder to examine the books and documents of the corporation, organized with a capitalization of $500,000 to acquire Indian lands under recently enacted legislation, which makes it impossible for competent Indians to obtain patent in fee simple. This legislative measure, now a federal law, it is cited by a confidential prospectus issued by the company to stockholders only, was drafted by A. G. Elston of Spokane legal advisor of the corporation, "who," to quote from the prospectus, "was for years employed by the government in the department of Indian affairs and will handle all matters between this company and Washington."

It is also alleged by Head, who organized the concern, that seven Indians came into the company on its organization and received $100,000 in stock for their allotments, which became the first assets of the corporation. Now, he charges, A. D. McDougal, who is of White Earth Indian blood and is vice president of the company, and Attorney Elston, seek to oust him and the Indians from control for the express purpose of taking in new eastern capital.

Head charges that McDougal seeks to get M. J. Kolb, head of the M. J. Kolb company of Bagley, Minn., into the company and close up contracts with the remainder of the 66 Indians before any one else can get to them. Meanwhile, it is set out in the complaint, another syndicate of land operators, headed by Charles O. Worley, formerly agent on the Couer d'Alene, and including Collins & Coey, bankers at Rockford, Wash., is making every effort to gain possession of the 59 allotments on which the government is ready to issue patents to Indians upon proper showing.

The complaint also alleges that McDougal is not in sympathy with the interests of the Couer d'Alene tribe, which Head declares he is seeking to defend in the action against the company and in proof of this he claims to have documentary evidence to substantiate his contentions that the first named is using his office to oust the complainant and the seven Indian members of the concern.

Attorney Elston said in an interview when asked for the company's version of the fight, that there is no foundation for the allegations made by Head, but further than that he declined to talk. None of the other officers of the company could be reached today to get their side of the controversy.

A Good Salad

Is always appreciated. It is not only an appetizer, but a substantial and attractive dish. It gives variety to the ordinary meal and meets the demands of the full-course dinner; it solves the problem of 'something for supper.'

Try salmon in your next salad. This is one of the most nutritious and delicious of fish foods. It is said to possess greater food value than either fruits or vegetables. We have salmon in several grades and varieties, but for making salads, we call your attention to ARGO BRAND at 17¢ per can and CLUB HOUSE Fancy Red Salmon, at 25 cents per can.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity,
—Tonight and Wednesday, increasing cloudiness.

The Times solicits and accepts advertising for its columns under a positive guarantee that it has a greater number of subscribers than any other publication in Wichita Falls. Its subscription books and press room records are open for inspection to those who have a right to such information, and who want evidence of the above statement.

THE TIMES PUBLISHING CO.,
—259-4tc ED HOWARD, Manager.

A man, statistically inclined, has figured it out that the census of 1940 will show Texas to be the empire state of the Union. That will be thirty years hence, and it is in line for some one now to figure in the same manner, what the population of Wichita Falls will be at that time.

The monkey, Consul, that died a few days ago and whose owner shipped the remains back to England for interment, was valued at $50,000. What a pity that the same value, or something like it, could not be commanded by some men who can act so much like monkeys.

Dispatches state that Mr. and Mrs. Cudshy are going to try to forget the little incident and be reconciled. It's a pretty safe bet, however, that Lillis won't forget it.

While the state gubernatorial campaign is getting warm and the prognosticators are prognosticating, what has become of Fort Moultrie Cunyus of McKinney?

While the insurgents didn't get entirely rid of Uncle Joe, they at least made him look around and ask: "Who threw that brick?"

Our observation is that nothing in the world can be quite so cranky as a cranky Mergenthaler.

The quintuple murder which was recently pulled off at Houston will hold the state record for some time to come.

Not until the primaries, to be held in July, will it be known for sure which one of the four democratic candidates for governor will secure the nomination. It is, however, almost a sure shot that the lucky fellow will not be either Johnson or Poindexter. Johnson, being an anti-Balley man, can be expected to poll the greater majority of the state-wide prohibition element who were against Balley and Balleyism, while Poindexter will get the majority of the Balley men, who favor state-wide prohibition, although Colquitt seems to be gaining favor with the Balley forces, who may conclude that as Poindexter has little or no chance of election, they will vote for Colquitt in order to prevent the election of either Johnson or Davidson. The latter has a strong following with the element in the state who have concluded to ignore both the Balley issue and the prohibition question, and at this time, the fellow who can make a guess which is the strongest of the two candidates—Colquitt or Davidson, will be a good one. Davidson is strong with the "wool hat" boys and with the boys at the forks of the creek, and the further up the creek he goes, the stronger he gets. Colquitt has the solid backing of the anti-forces in the anti strongholds and in the event the anti state leaders can control their forces, and with the prohibition vote divided between Johnson and Poindexter, the race seems to be between Colquitt and Davidson, with the chances slightly in favor of Colquitt, from the fact that he will get a large per centage of the admirers of Senator Balley who would vote for Poindexter if they could be made to believe that the Cleburne man had a reasonable chance of election. However, in the event that the state-widiers can get their forces together and pull down either Poindexter or Johnson, it would make matters look a great deal brighter for the state-widiers than now. In fact, it is almost certain that the combined strength of the state-widiers could put either Johnson or Poindexter in the governor's chair. Divided, as they are, neither can hope to secure the nomination.

Thoroughly as we admire the democrats in the house and proud as we are of them, it is to the insurgent republicans of that body that we take off our hats.

Now that we've got the auto fire engine, let's have some paved streets for it to run on. One good turn deserves another.

Don't Do as This Man.

Colorado Record.
A carpenter in New York City last week sawed off a beam on the end of which he was sitting and fell six stories to the pavement below. He will live to regret his foolish act and profit by his experience.

Don't laugh at him too soon. There are multitudes just like him; a few in every town, and Colorado is no exception. People who live in a town and own property in it, having their money invested in it and make a living off the citizens of the town, do the same foolish act when they talk against the progress of the town, abuse its civic administration, discourage every effort to stimulate the growth and progress, and continually depreciating the town and predicting failure. They are but digging under their own foundations, sawing off the end of the log on which they are sitting. It isn't necessary that they contribute money to every movement started to help the town. While money is the prime factor in doing anything in a material line there is much besides that is vital to the success of every enterprise. Hearty and confident co-operation with sympathetic encouragement have often brought to pass what money alone fails to accomplish.

Whenever tempted to ridicule and discourage any effort your neighbors make to benefit the town and help the general good as well as private interests, think of that carpenter who performed the brilliant stunt of sawing off the log that held him six stories above the ground. There are sawyers as well as knockers.

A Good Sermon.

In an able article on slander and the ruin it has wrought the Richmond, (Va.), Times-Dispatch preaches an eloquent sermon on the power of the human tongue for good or evil, for blessings of cursings. After speaking of the power of the orator and enthusiast which in all ages has incited men to deeds of wondrous daring and heroism, and the tongue of the fiery marplots and demagogues that has led to the most disastrous upheavals in the world's history, the writer continues:

Man has succeeded in taming all sorts of beasts and birds, but there is one little force which still remains untamed and unsubdued—the venomous tongue, a restless evil, full of deadly poison. In the matter of libel, as in most other things, destruction is easier than construction. It is far easier to pull down and destroy a reputation than it is to build it up again. And yet build it up again the destroyer must, if he would square himself with justice. There is no alternative. No amount of money will compensate for the loss of one's good name. Nothing short of complete vindication will suffice to right the wrong, and clear the defamer in the high court of justice.

STOMACHS REPAIRED.

Relieves Distress in Five Minutes.
Let Mrs. Griffith tell you about Mi-o-na, the greatest prescription for stomach troubles ever written:
"For years I have doctored for acute gastritis, but only received slight benefit, and had to be careful what I ate. But thanks to Mi-o-na stomach tablets, I can now eat anything. Last Christmas, after partaking of a hearty turkey dinner, I was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, and the doctor worked over me for hours before I got relief. He paid me eight visits before I could say I was well enough to sit up. But since then I have taken Mi-o-na tablets, and I have not been troubled since. Before using Mi-o-na I had attacks about every three months."

tacks about every month."—Mrs Ida Griffith, 1213 C. St., Washington, D. C., July 5, 1909.
Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and at Week's Drug Co's for 50c a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion, sour stomach, belching gas, dizziness, biliousness, heaviness, or any stomach ailment.

Rival Clubs.

The man who had been keeping his seat in the underground, spoke at last to the woman hanging on a strap, who had been eyeing him intently for some time.

"I know I ought to get up and let you have my seat, madam," he said, "but I'm pledged against that sort of thing. I have just joined the Sit Still Club."

"That's all right, sir," replied the woman. "You mustn't mind me staring at you so hard; I am a member of the Stand and Stare Club."

After which she continued to stand and stare at him in such a fierce manner that he finally got up, waved her into his seat and said: "I think I'll resign from my club and join yours, ma'am." —Tit-Bits.

The Best Sweet Corn That Grows

It grows in the eastern states, the most of it in Maine. It is sweeter, creamier and more tender and delicious than any other corn known. Just why this is we cannot say, unless it is the peculiar soil, climate and care it receives—at any rate, it is true, and our PET Brand is packed from this rich eastern corn. It costs 12 1/2 cents per can and is really worth at least twice as much as any 10 cent corn you can buy. Let us send you a trial can of this, for we are sure you will always want it after one trial. Ask for special price in dozen lots.

BLOODLESS SURGERY

WILL BE DEMONSTRATED TO THE PEOPLE OF WICHITA FALLS BY DR. J. LAFAYETTE BERRY.

An Electric Lighted Platform Has Been Erected Near the Postoffice For That Purpose.

From an electric lighted platform near the postoffice tonight, a free lecture and vaudeville entertainment will be given to the people of this city.

The object is to commence the demonstrations in bloodless surgery and explain to the people how to avoid the knife. For several years Dr. Berry has had his headquarters at Houston, where people visit him from all over the south to get cured without the knife. Hundreds who had given up all hope of getting well, have been restored to their former health by bloodless surgery, the syringill and other up-to-date and perfected methods employed by Dr. Berry.

Thousands of people in this city will witness for the first time tumors removed without knife, blood or pain. Many of these operations will be performed in full view of the vast audiences that will assemble nightly to hear the lectures and entertainment.

Cancers, tumors, appendicitis, gallstones, chronic female troubles, sciatic rheumatism and many other chronic troubles can now be cured without the knife, blood, and practically without pain.

Dr. Berry can be consulted in private at the Brown Palace Hotel, from 10 to 12 and 2 to 4, week days.

Texas and the Presidency. From the Chattanooga Times.

Let's dream a little and just suppose a Texan, Senator Culberson, for instance, should be elected to the presidency, how in the world could the country change and the swelling pride of the Houston Post? It would bestride the narrow journalistic world like a mighty colossus and we petty scribblers would have to walk under its huge legs and peep about to find ourselves dishonorable graves.

Not only this, but the elevation of a Texan to the presidency would mark an epoch, not only in our national life and aspiration, but would affect the whole social order. Styles at the White House and throughout the country would change and the period would go down in history as the Texas age. As the Teddy Bear has given place to the Billy Possum, so would the Charles Cowboy be the plaything of the nursery. There would be a sartorial revolution and the attire of men, women and children would be of the western flavor, that is if clothes have flavors, which sometimes they do.

Even the correct Senator Lodge would wear a sombrero and flowing sheepskin trousers would be the proper thing for afternoon wear. The Lone Star would be the national emblem and not only would it be the official decoration but citizens of both sexes would not dare venture upon the streets without ornamenting themselves with the insignia of the ascendant and transcendent state of Grand old Texas.

In feeble limitation of those Titan-haired relics of departed Benedicts, the women of the country would madly strike for Cartesque locks until a ball room would take on the red glow of the setting sun. The summer capital would simmer in the hot plains, but the devotees of the court would care not.

With Senator Bailey as attorney general and prosecutor of the trusts there would be a period of business quiet and unhaggled prosperity that would give the nation full time for appreciation of the glorious regime then in progress, and with Editor Bailey as court jester the serious business of the administration would be lighted to a trivial task by his merry quips. Here's to Culberson and Texas; may they come into their own, even if it isn't the presidency and the guiding star of the republic.

Culberson for President.

From the Corpus Christi Herald.
The movement to start a presidential boom for United States Senator Charles A. Culberson will find a responsive chord, not only in Texas, but in many sections of the north, the east and the far west, as well.
The fact that Mr. Culberson comes from the south will not have that influence in prejudicing the northern mind it once had. In fact, in the northern and eastern men a presidential nominee from the south would be an innovation they would gladly welcome, and who, of all southern men, is regarded more highly in the north and east than Charles A. Culberson, the senior senator from Texas? Regarding this feeling of the north toward the south we want no better authority than J. T. Murphy, editor and proprietor of the Superior (Wis.) Telegram, perhaps the most influential journal in that state, while Mr. Murphy himself is an important factor in the politics of that state. Mr. Murphy is now in Corpus Christi, and in conversation with the editor of the Herald, he authorized the following: "The feeling engendered by the Civil War no longer exists in the north. We of the north regard the south as a part of the nation and the southern people as our people. Nor will the question of mere location any longer influence the people of the north in casting their votes for a candidate for the presidency."

Mr. Murphy is a republican and as such he expressed himself on the feeling entertained by the people of the north toward those of the south. And what he said will find an echo, speaking in a general sense, throughout all sections of the Union.

So far as Mr. Culberson is concerned, he has long been regarded by the north and east as a safe, conservative man; a man of great ability, a distinguished democratic statesman, and, above all, an ideal American citizen. Although a southerner, and a descendant of one of the south's oldest and most illustrious families, yet Senator Culberson is essentially an American and in that name he takes a becoming pride. We believe his nomination will mean his election, but his nomination must not come from the south alone—he must be the nominee of the democrats of the north, the east the south, the west—the nominee of the democratic party of the United States.

The first office Mr. Culberson ever held was that of attorney-general of Texas. From the attorney general's office he went to that of chief executive and from the governor's chair he went to the United States Senate. As attorney general, he filled the office with great credit; as governor, he made a national reputation, and as United States Senator, his fame is world-wide. He is today one of the nation's greatest men and posterity will class him with Webster, Calhoun and Clay. He possesses the clear statesmanship of Calhoun, the fervor of Webster and the chivalry of the Harry of the west.

Had he been reared in England and lived in the time of Fox, Pitt and Burke, he would have been "the mighty rival of the Wondrous Three." Many long years have passed since a president has come from the south—a section which gave to the United States its first president and others who succeeded him in that high office with great distinction. And we believe the time has now come when another son of the south will be equally as acceptable to the country, nor is there a man in the United States who would fill the office of president with more credit and distinction than Charles A. Culberson.

A HUMAN ENIGMA.

Without good fuel the 20th Century Limited would travel little faster than a common yard engine. It takes good fuel to develop power, endurance and speed. Every ambitious man is anxious to push forward, to get ahead, yet many are "scaling up" on food prepared with hard, regardless of the fact that hard is indigestible and really clogs up the system, just as poor coal clogs the grates with clinkers. Don't eat hard-soaked food; eat food prepared with COTTOLENE, a vegetable oil cooking fat, so pure, wholesome and easily digested that physicians recommend it even for invalids. "COTTOLENE shortens your food, lengthens your life" and you will travel farther, swifter and easier on it than on food prepared from the fat of the hog.

A South Carolina View of Cone. From the Columbia State.
Responding to a paragraphic supplication of the State, some members of one of the State's ten legions of Texas readers has sent up a four-page folder charged with the printed sentiments of a candidate for governor of Texas as decorated in front with his portrait, the same being Cone Johnson, whom the Houston Post spitefully uses. It becomes us to tell the readers of the State in South Carolina something of this persecuted institution, wrongfully and recklessly trespassed against by the Post.

The language of Cone Johnson in the circular letter is that of a moderate, chastened and circumspect near-statesman on a lukewarm trail. Each word has been carefully trimmed, sterilized and weighed and the thoughts are of a certain average lightness. State-wide prohibition appeals to Mr. Johnson as a good thing, but his appeal for it lacks the hot, dry, blasting fury and passion of our South Carolina simoons when they blow across the desert about the same subject. Take them altogether, the sentiments of Cone Johnson are cooling; they are calculated to allay fever and slacken the pulse. Consequently, we should think Cone Johnson of some excellent palliative effect in Texas.

The portrait of Cone Johnson is that of a plain, blunt man, one of the plainest and bluntest we have seen, and a man accustomed to economize a limited capacity for guile. The face is hairless, but the head is well forested. It is neither a low brow nor a high brow. The cheek seems mighty, or, in other words, the jaw is potentially puissant. The lips the uncured. The absence of horns, basely and incessantly insinuated by the Houston Post, is conspicuous. The face horizontally is broad and it is also broad longitudinally. There are fires in the eyes, but they are banked. The expression is a happy blending of capitulation and invitation, and that of a politician born who has diligently and conscientiously striven to train and develop his talents.

Speaking from the point of view of an analyst, we are sure that the Houston Post's contemplation of Cone Johnson as a looming shadow and lowering cloud athwart the Texas heavens had its origin in "the chancery of dreams." Cone Johnson is no peril. We take him to be a good man and a good provider. His visage as explained in half-tone cuts is an exposure of the empty malignancy of the Houston Post and thereby it contributes to the general uplift.

We have several clients wanting city property and we have nothing to suit them. List your property with us and we will sell it at once if it is a bargain. We have sold nearly everything listed with us in the last ninety days that was anywhere near worth the money. MARLOW & STONE. —263-12tc

The city government of Fort Worth will plant and cultivate a nursery of shade and ornamental trees and shrubbery and will give trees to the citizens free of charge on condition that each recipient obligates himself to plant and care for those he gets. This is a novel way to promote civic improvement and it is likely to prove effective and popular.—Bryan Eagle.
