LAFAYETTE BERRY IS UNDER ARREST

CHARGED WITH PRACTICING MEDICINE HERE WITHOUT A LICENSE.

PHYSICIANS ARE ACTIVE

Judge Wilkinson of Fort Worth, Has Been Retained to Prosecute the Case.

J. Lafayette Berry, who has been in this city for several weeks, engaged in medical work, was arrested yesterday afternoon upon a complaint sworn out by Judge Wilkinson of Fort Worth, who is acting as attorney for the Northwest Texas Medical Association. This arrest follows the action of the association against so-called "fakers" in the medical line, as reported in the Times recently.

Berry was able to make bond in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance on April 18. C. M. Brown, proprietor of a local hotel, and J. R. McRae, one of Berry's associates, signed his bond.

Judge Wilkinson has been retained by the Northwest Texas Medical Association to prosecute this case and he will give it his personal attention. The charge is based upon the allegation that Berry has no license to practice medicine and that in his practice here he is violating the Texas statutes covering such cases. He had a license, but it was revoked in the district court at San Antonio last month. Berry claims that the case is now on appeal to the supreme court and that he is entitled to practice until it is finally disposed of. This is denied by Judge Wilkinson, who says that until the lower court's judgment is reversed Berry has no license and has, therefore, no right to practice. The physicians are determined to push the matter to a finish and the case will be watched with considerable interest.

Berry's home is in Spokane, Washington. He has been traveling for over twenty years, having visited practically every section of the country during that time.

NASHVILLE IS EXCITED OVER COOPER'S PARDON; GOVERNOR WON'T TALK

Nashville, Tenn., April 14.—Nashville has quieted down today after yesterday's excitement attending the Supreme Court's action and the Governor's subsequent pardon in the case of Col. Duncan B. Cooper, who was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary for the murder of Senator Carmack, but the case continues to be sole topic of conversation, and at no time has there been any indication of disorder. Both principals have thus far failed to make any public statement. Governor Patterson made no comment on his action, and denied himself to interviewers. The case of Robin Cooper, who is at liberty on a twenty-five thousand dollar bond will be taken up at the May term of court according to an announcement by Attorney General McCarr.

BILBO IS WITNESS IN INVESTIGATION

ENTERS SWEEPING DENIAL TO ALL CHARGES THAT HAVE BEEN MADE.

HE MAY BE EXPELLED

Resolution to That Effect is to Be Introduced in the Senate This Week.

Jackson, April 14.—Senator Bilbo went on the stand in rebuttal when the senate resumed its investigation of the bribery charges here today. He made a sweeping denial of each and every one of the charges preferred against him and flatly contradicted the senate's witnesses. He declared none of the witnesses from Poplarville were his personal friends and that some were his bitter enemies. He emphatically denied he had accepted or offered to accept money for legislation through the senate.

Something of a surprise was created yesterday afternoon when it was announced that the conclusion of the investigation a resolution would be introduced expelling Bilbo from the Senate. The announcement was made for Bilbo's benefit, by Senator Anderson, who said:

"To relieve the mind of counsel on the other side, I will say that we will surely introduce a resolution as soon as the investigation is over expelling Senator Bilbo from membership in this body."

"Senator Bilbo has had the charges all along. He made a charge that his vote had been given by L. C. Dulaney for $645. He courted a full investigation and the burden of proof rested upon him. We all know what the result has been. Therefore, the Senate will be asked to consider and pass the following resolution."

TIFT SATISFIED.

Congressional Investigation of Sugar Trust is Obstructed.

Washington, April 13.—A conference at the White House late today developed to the evident satisfaction of President Taft that sufficiently rapid headway is being made with the prosecution against the so-called sugar trust for customs frauds and that there is little likelihood of a congressional investigation at this time.

It is presumed at any rate, that the administration influence will be used against an inquiry and without the consent of the president there is practically no way in which congress can get the information which is being used by the department of justice in present and future announced prosecutions.

TRADE TERRITORY TO BE ENLARGED

PLANS FOR TRADES DAY HERE NEXT MONTH ARE WELL UNDER WAY.

REFUND RAILROAD FARE

Special Inducements Will Be Offered to All Who Come to This City to Buy.

The trade territory of Wichita Falls, already as large in area as that of any city of this size in Texas, is to be considerably extended, if the plans of the Retail Merchants Association can be put into operation. The "Trades Day" which is to be held next month will be one feature looking to this end. The committee having this affair in charge reports that it is meeting with a great deal of encouragement and that there is every reason to believe that success will attend its efforts.

As an additional inducement to those who come here from other points to make their purchases, it has been decided to refund the railroad fare of all who buy as much as fifty dollars worth of goods while in the city on Trades Day. This applies to all who come from a distance of not greater than fifty miles.

Prizes will be offered to the largest family, the family coming the longest distance, the fattest man, the thinnest man and to the others who usually receive prizes on such occasions. Prizes are also to be offered for various kinds of farm products and also for products of the kitchen and the needle.

In general, it is planned to extend the trade territory of Wichita Falls through the counties of Wichita, Yarbarger, Baylor, Archer, Young, and Clay, in Texas, and through a considerable part of Southwestern Oklahoma. The occasion will be advertised in the papers in this territory and no pains will be spared to make Wichita Falls the trade center of a larger territory.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
 Tonight is the Anniversary of Lincoln's Assassination.
 Washington, D. C., April 14.—Forty-five years ago tonight, the country, rejoicing over the conclusion of the Civil War, was thrown into the darkest gloom by the news of the assassination of President Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth. The president was shot while witnessing a performance of "Our American Cousin" in Ford's Theatre in this city. There are still living in Washington several persons who were eye witnesses of the assassination.
 Mortally wounded, the president was carried from the theatre amid a scene of indescribable excitement. He was taken to a house across the street, occupied by a tailor named Patterson, and there he died the next morning, surrounded by the members of his family and the officers of his cabinet. The last survivor of those who were present at Lincoln's death was the late Secretary John Hay. Mr. Hay was given the ring worn by the president at the time of his death. He had it made over with a crystal setting containing a lock of Lincoln's hair. It was this ring which President Roosevelt wore at his first inauguration at the request of Mr. Hay.

The Petrolithic Paving.

The residents of 10th street have again displayed their enterprise by circulating a petition to pave their street, almost every resident of this street having signed this petition. This is a remarkable fact and shows that these people are wide awake, and we believe that this is the quickest way to realize on the possibilities of Wichita Falls.

The petition recommends to the city council the consideration of Petrolithic pavement and in view of this fact the Times is publishing the report made to the city council of Santa Barbara, California.

The Morning Press of Santa Barbara, under date of March 4, 1909, publishes a report made by a committee of eleven to which had been referred the subject of a street paving in that city. The report covers about eight columns in the Press, and is a strong endorsement of the Petrolithic process. It recommends that about forty miles of streets be improved in this way. The report is full of the salient features of the report as taken from the Press:

"Santa Barbara can today digest the findings and recommendations of the Committee of Eleven which at a meeting of the City Council last night, filed its report which required many weeks to prepare. This report, printed in full, in the Press, is based upon research in pavement building in other cities in Southern California. Frankly the committee avows itself in favor of the Petrolithic method.

"The report discusses the methods of pavement, the various methods that might be used in paving for it, and gives a long list of streets with recommendation that they be paved, designating the method to be used. The report of the committee follows:

"To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council of the City of Santa Barbara:

"Realizing from the first that our report might possibly have some considerable influence for good, or for ill to our city, we have endeavored to be careful in determining which streets, and highways ought to be improved with the least possibly delay and how they shall be improved. While fully realizing the importance to the welfare of the city of improving the condition of all its streets, as rapidly as it is practicable to do so, it has seemed to your committee that a beginning should be made with improvements which concern not only, or chiefly, those who happen to live or do business upon certain streets, but which affect, in even greater degree, the general welfare and convenience, as well as the business prosperity, of the whole community. Such your committee conceives to be the completion of improvements urgently required in order to provide for easy and safe travel throughout the business section of the city.

"There will probably be little difference of opinion as to the importance of caring for the business streets of the city, in the most substantial way possible, and indeed we believe substantial agreement has already been reached as to what should be done in this section.

"Your committee, in its study of the general situation has been forced to the conclusion that an even more pressing necessity, at the present time, is the provision of avenues of approach which shall be at all times safe and comfortable for travel and beyond the reach of any possible circumstances of season or weather.

"Your committee believes the time has come when all of the principal residence streets of the city should be put in a condition, alike safe and convenient for our own people, and creditable to the city in the eyes of visitors and possible future residents, who may thereby be encouraged to cast in their lot with us.

"In accordance with the above general considerations, your committee would respectfully recommend their improvement in the manner specified, where such improvement has not already been made, to wit:

The Committee then gives a long list of heavy traffic and residence streets which it urgently recommends be improved by the Petrolithic process or paving.

The report then continues:

"Realizing further that the success of the proposed scheme of improvement would be dependent upon finding the best and most economical means of carrying it out, we have been equally careful and thorough in our examination of materials used, and methods adopted, for street construction, in other cities in Southern California.

"In the latter part of December last a sub-committee consisting of Messrs. W. R. H. Weldon, D. O. Kelly, and A. B. Stevens, accompanied by Mr. Barry, the city engineer, visited Los Angeles, Pasadena, Riverside, Santa Monica, Glendale and Ventura; and early in February, Messrs. W. R. H. Weldon and John Diehl and the chairman of this general committee, visited Ventura to see what effect the exceptionally heavy rains of the previous month had produced on the finished Petrolithic roads.

"In the course of these visits a thorough study was made of comparatively recent methods of road building, which are giving excellent satisfaction in the cities where they are in use, and appear to offer solutions, at once effective and economical, of the problem of adapting our roads to the conditions of present and prospective travel.

"Of the methods most commonly in use in the past, surface oiling has not proven sufficiently lasting in its effect; macadamizing, besides being expensive, especially where, as here, suitable rock must be brought from a considerable distance, has also proved very short-lived under the new conditions of wear due to automobile traffic; asphalt paving, for any but a limited class of streets, is too expensive to lay down and to maintain.

"The same end is obtained more cheaply, and in a manner apparently better adapted to our local conditions, by what is known as the Petrolithic pavement.

"Where the best methods of construction have been used, we saw streets that had stood two or three years, under heavy traffic, in practically perfect condition. In fact, most of the authorities consulted maintain that properly constructed Petrolithic pavement improves under traffic for several years.

"An example of good results under heavy traffic and not the best conditions, is North Grand avenue, Pasadena. There the street is on a 10 to 12 per cent grade and was constructed on the natural soil, which had a large percentage of gravel, without the addition of crushed rock. Crushed rock and gravel are heaped over this road continuously. It has been laid two years, and is in excellent condition. Our judgment is that, given a properly drained and compacted sub-base, a well laid Petrolithic pavement should last indefinitely, under any ordinary traffic, with only the slight inexpensive repair of breaks in the wearing surface at intervals of five or six years, or possibly longer, at a cost of two to four hundred dollars per mile.

"Great emphasis is laid by all officials consulted upon the necessity of using the oil from the Sunset oil district, which all agreed is absolutely the best for the purpose. This oil as it flows from the wells contains from 70 per cent to 85 per cent D grade asphaltum and has shown great life and wearing quality wherever used.

"Based on the foregoing investigation we would recommend for residence streets the Petrolithic pavement with two inches of crushed rock base. For main thoroughfares or heavy traffic streets we would recommend Petrolithic pavement with four inches of crushed rock base.

"Repairs to the surface of either the Petrolithic or the protected macadam are inexpensively made by painting the surface of the break with asphaltic oil and then throwing in a mixture of oil and fine crushed rock. Traffic alone combines this with the surrounding surface so that in a few days the patch cannot be detected. A supply of this mixture is prepared with the concrete mixer, in the corporation yard in the proportion of one part asphaltic oil to seven parts fine crushed rock, and stored for use as needed for two or three months at a time. With this prepared patching material one man and team repair breaks in a large mileage of streets, probably not less than ten miles.

"This matter of current repairs of small surface breaks has impressed your committee as of great importance in order to secure commercial maintenance of any form of asphaltic pavement, or indeed of any road whatever. Any hollow place in the surface capable of holding water is a starting point for rapid softening and consequent breaking up of the pavement. The filling of this hollow, when it first occurs, is a small matter, and one man can keep miles of road in perfect condition, if constantly attending to it, but if neglected, the small hollow filled with water rapidly becomes a big hole. Then the road is never perfect again until large and costly repairs are made, or perhaps the road has to be entirely rebuilt, after half the time only which should have passed before a new surface would have been required if repairs had been kept up.

"Careful consideration of the various methods of road making available has led your committee to the conclusion that for all the central business streets the Petrolithic pavement offers by far the most economical solution of our problem, and at the same time promises a very durable, and easily and cheaply maintained form of roadway."

The foregoing report is signed by the following members of the committee of eleven:

Joseph J. Perkins, John M. Williamson, W. F. Butcher, John F. Diehl, W. R. H. Weldon, A. B. Stevens, D. O. Kelly, G. W. McComber, Theodore R. Hawley, George A. Black and G. F. Trevelick.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity
 —Tonight and Friday, unsettled weather; showers tonight or
 Friday; colder.

Representative Sheppard of Texas recently appeared before the sub-committee on judiciary and made an argument in favor of his bill to "put the Deity in the Constitution." He contends that the Constitution of the United States is the only important American State document that does not mention the Deity. His bill ought to be passed.

Candidate Poindexter has challenged the other candidates to a joint canvass of the state. Mr. Cunyus has done the same thing; if the other candidates are opposed to a joint canvass, what's the matter with these two getting up one of their own? That might induce the others to join.

An expert has figured out that a woman "may" dress on $275 a year. Who ever heard of a woman asking "permission" to live on that amount or any other?

The more one reads up on the gubernatorial situation the more that person is forced to conclude that the anti-statewider who falls to cast his vote for Colquitt and the statewider who falls to stay with Johnson are simply throwing their votes away. The race is between those two from present indications, and this view of the situation is gaining in strength as the campaign progresses. Both Poindexter and Davidson have lost ground for the past two or three weeks, and if either one of them expect to be in the running they will have to do something or say something bearing on their candidacy which they have not done or said. As for the fifth candidate, Mr. Cunyus, or, whatever-might-be-his-name, little is said, and his vote, if he runs through, will in all probability be found in the "scattering" column. Statewide prohibition is the paramount issue, and from the way things are now shaping themselves, the two candidates whose views on this question are the easiest understood will get the main body of the vote to be polled at the July primaries.

The Times, in reply to some unjust censure which it has come in for during the past few days, because it refused to accept for publication an article which might be, under the law, construed as libelous in character, believes that it can better afford to stand for this censure rather than involve itself in a nasty suit. Again the Times is not going to permit itself to be used as a medium through which to pull chestnuts from the fire that may not be quite ripe for the pulling. It often sees things going on which look suspicious and which it would like to denounce through its columns as pure "fakes," "frauds," or "rum games," but under the libel law of Texas, reputable newspapers will not indulge in such pastime, unless it knows beyond any question of doubt that what it prints and puts into circulation are facts. With all due respect to its learned critics, it begs to say that while it may have "cold feet," it also believes it has a cool head.

It is announced that Sterling P. Strong, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas, will go on the stump in advocacy of the nomination of Cone Johnson for governor. Mr. Strong says: "It is the plan of the league to ask the legislature to pass a law giving us statewide prohibition. This can be done by a majority of the members. Three of the candidates for governor say they would veto such a law, if elected. These are Colquitt, Davidson and Poindexter. Johnson says he would approve such a law and see that it is enforced in every part of the state. For this reason I am supporting Cone Johnson for governor. I expect to be active in his behalf and hope every prohibitionist in Texas who cares more for our cause than individuals will help to elect Johnson."

The Austin Statesman calls attention to the fact that while Texas cannot boast that both her United States senators were born on her soil, she can take consolation in the fact that neither Aldrich nor Cannon is a native of the state.

Republican leaders are pleased over the prospect of Roosevelt making some speeches in doubtful districts in the approaching campaign. If he visits all of the doubtful districts his time will be taken up.

And Speaker Cannon dares the insurgents to vote with the democrats to unseat him. Whatever else may be said of the speaker, he is a game old fighter.

The Times is pleased to note that Texas is not attempting to rival Mississippi and Pennsylvania in graft revelations.

IBSEN IN JAPANESE.

First Presentation is Landmark in History of Culture.

The first presentation of an Ibsen play in Nippon denotes a landmark in the history of culture. If we consider how long it has taken us to appreciate the genius of the world's greatest psychological playwright, the performance of "John Gabriel Borkman," in Japan is indeed an event of stupendous significance and importance. Asia is indeed awakening from her slumber. Modern Japan, despite its ready adaptation of Western manners, dwells theatrically still in the feudal ages. Interminable sanguinary dramas with fiery dragons and hideously masked warriors, written centuries ago, are still the chief attraction of the theatres of the Flowery Kingdom. Of late, however, Yone Noguchi, a young Japanese poet, tells us in the Theatre Magazine an attempt has been made to modernize the Japanese stage. Sado Yacco, a Japanese actress, well known in this country, has attempted to interpret Shakespeare to her oriental compatriots. But if it is a far cry from Shakespeare to Ibsen, from an international classic to the head of a movement that still retains its revolutionary character even in Europe, Kaoru Osonal, a distinguished Japanese novelist, is the father of the reform movement and the manager of a new "Liberty Theatre." "Forget," he fiercely exclaims, "your old art and your old stage tricks. Make a fresh start. The new art is not mending the old, but building anew. The ground has to be leveled, leaving not one trace of the old art. Entirely new plans have to be drawn; every timber must be new. Are the carpenters ready?"

What he suggests, comments Mr. Noguchi, is a revolution. "It was for the first time in the long history of Japanese theatrical art that we had seen on the stage such somber colors, such cruel self-analysis, such intensity of emotions. We were ready to cry with Erhart that the air was stifling; we could hardly bear the new strange yoke we were most unexpectedly brought under." As a protest against old methods the writer goes on to say the production of "John Gabriel Borkman" was certainly a success. It is almost impossible for the occidental mind to appreciate the tremendous difficulties and prejudices that had to be overcome.—Current Literature for April.

WEEKS-AVIS.

Well Known Young People United in Marriage Today.

W. Frederick Weeks and Miss Katie Lou Avis were united in marriage today at the First Presbyterian Church, at 1 o'clock, in the presence of a large number of friends.

The church was simply decorated for the occasion, there being an array of palms at the altar, with a few white flowers in evidence. Just before the arrival of the wedding party, Mrs. Wade Walker sang Bartley's tender love song in a manner that lent a sweet impressiveness to the occasion.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of gray, with hat to match and was attended by Miss Cleo Allison as maid of honor and Misses Lena Matlock and Lillian Avis, who were in white. The groom was attended by his brother, Harry Weeks, as best man, and Messrs. F. Piner Avis and William Francis. Rev. J. L. McKee pronounced the words of the beautiful ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Weeks left over the Denver this afternoon for San Antonio on their wedding tour. They will return next Monday.

The groom is a young attorney and business man of this city and he enjoys the friendship and esteem of a large circle. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and of Yale University. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Avis. She was reared in this city, which numbers among its daughters none more fair or lovable. The heartiest and most sincere good wishes of their many friends accompany Mr. and Mrs. Weeks in their new estate.

Louisiana Land Offices Have Acreage of Legal Requirements.

Washington, April 13.—The land offices of Louisiana will not be consolidated at this time. The question of amalgamating the offices at New Orleans and Natchitoches has been under consideration for some time by the interior department and it has been decided to make no change in their boundaries.

The law provides that when a land office contains less than 100,000 acres of public lands within its jurisdiction it shall be consolidated with another district. As it was found that each district contains more than the lawful requirement, no action will be taken by the department.

COTTON BELT BUYS RAILROAD.
Texas Line Controlled by St. Louis Capitalists, is Purchased.

St. Louis—It is stated here that the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad had closed the deal for the purchase of the Stephensville, North and South Texas railway, 35 miles long, running from Stephensville to Hamilton. The property has been controlled by St. Louis capitalists, headed by the Commonwealth Trust Company of this city. General Manager Britton of the Cotton Belt, while in Fort Worth, closed the details of the purchase.

The Cotton Belt will immediately begin the construction of an extension, 15 miles long, from Gatesville to connect with the southern terminus of the Stephensville line at Hamilton. A survey for this extension was made several years ago by the Cotton Belt, but General Manager Britton does not know whether this route will be followed. It is rumored that the road is to be extended north from Stephensville to the Thurber coal fields.

GENTLE ART OF MAKING UP.

Modish Parisienne Colors Lips and Lobes of Ears.
If the veil goes—except for automobile wear—what will take the place of it? If the "bald face" is to shine forth, then Parisiennes must take a different way of putting powder on the skin. It has not been modish for years to apply coloring except to the lips, yet the latter is most vulgarly done. It appears difficult to invent a wax the color of the human lips. Pencils are of vermilion or an intense red.

French women smear their mouths with these preparations, seemingly without thinking of the effect. As a matter of course, a half blind man could detect the fraud at a glance, and yet we see instances of it continually. It is a common thing after taking tea at any of the resorts, to see a woman take out her baton des levres and anoint her face before the others. And it is such a common sight that no one comments. French women often put pink on the lobes of the ears, their idea being that a waxen ear, no matter how pretty in shape, looks dead and ghostly.

Yet, with all the secrets of the French art of making up, they do not appear to stop and think of a practical mode to anoint are face powder. The woman who knows, no matter of what nationality, has found that powder, to have a softening effect, must be applied lightly to the skin after the face has been smeared with cold cream. A puff must be called into service for this, and a light rice powder employed. After applying one should well search the features in a glass placed where the strongest light in the room falls upon it.

When you put on over a cream the powder in a measure does not touch the skin, and the pores are nourished by the small amount of pure grease a good cream is supposed to contain. Brunettes are advised to use a powder that has a faint rose tint through it and blondes to employ white powder. However, there is no strong and fast rule, for I believe that any skin—except the decidedly florid—would be improved by a thin application of pink. White powder always gives a faded, ghostly veil to the features and makes them look unnatural. —New York Evening Sun.

The Money Craze.
By Winifred Black.

A man pretended to be crazy the other day out in Missouri, and they sent him to the insane asylum. When he arrived there one of the doctors recognized him as the man who had pretended to be crazy once before so as to be locked up in an asylum in Illinois. The man confessed.

"No," he said, "I am not crazy, but board is so high now I thought this was a good way of getting a good living cheap."

Not crazy! Why, he was crazier than any poor maniac in any asylum in the world.

Crazy about money—for it seems he had money. So crazy that he would rather live in the horrors of an insane asylum than spend his money for a quiet life somewhere else. He isn't the only person that's crazy about money.

I know a woman who will go without food so long that she gets a terrible headache—just to save money. She has money. Not plenty of it, but enough to buy food and shelter and clothes for three women let alone one. But she feels poorer than any beggar in the streets, so her money doesn't do her a particle of good.

"Money," cried a man I knew the other day. "I never was so poor in my life as I have been since I've had a thousand dollars in the bank. I have to calculate and add and subtract every time I want to buy a friend a bunch of violets. I can't ask a woman out to dinner without getting off in a corner somewhere and counting up to see if I have money enough to pay the bills and have some left for my weekly deposit.

"I wish somebody would come and borrow the measly thousand and get rid of it for me, and then I could spend my money as it comes in and feel rich again."

I was out with a rich woman the other day and it began to rain. And I called a taxi to get home. The rich woman was so busy scheming how to get out of paying her share of the taxi bill that she couldn't speak a word all the way home.

And now every time she sees me she feels mean. And she looks it. I wonder if it's worth while to care so much about money as all that.

Crazy! Why, half the people in the world are crazy about money. But nobody locks them up in the asylums.

LAND VALUES ARE AFFECTED.

Higher Cost of Farm Products Makes Farms Valuable.

It follows, as a matter of course, that if the products of the farm are high and give fair promise of continuing to be high, the value of the farm must also increase. And even in the remote and sparsely settled districts good farm land is no longer given away or to be had for a song. The prices that Illinois lands are bringing—and Illinois land, though among the most fertile, is not now the best land in the country—is surprising even the Middle Western farmers, themselves.

In the first three days of the month just closed the transfer of farm lands in McLean County, Illinois, represented in money approximately $2,000,000, and the Topeka (Kan.) Capital commenting upon this matter, very properly points out is the most interesting feature of these transfers the fact that the average price per acre of the land which changed hands was $240, or $80 per acre above the average in the same county a year ago. This is equal to an advance of 55 per cent in the values of McLean county farm lands. The gain in a single year, indeed—$86 per acre—is more than good farm land is selling for in the vicinity of Abilene, Kan., and the value of the lands in the neighborhood of Abilene which could be had for little or nothing a few years ago, has recently been going up at a marvelous rate.

It is not so very long ago since $240 would buy not only four but forty acres in Illinois; it will not be so very long until one acre of first class farm land in Kansas will be as valuable as an acre of farm land anywhere. McLean County Ill.; it is true, contains the populous and prosperous city of Bloomington and other market towns and enjoys the privilege of being within a short distance of Chicago; but at the present rate of progress the West beyond the Missouri will soon be able to confer similar advantages upon its farms.—Christian Science Monitor.

"THIS IS MY 64th BIRTHDAY."

Amory H. Bradford.

The Rev. Amory H. Bradford, president of the American Missionary Association, was born in Oswego County, New York, April 14, 1846. After graduating from Hamilton College in 1867 and from the Andover Theological Seminary in 1870, he finished his studies at Oxford University, England. Upon his return to the United States he became pastor of the First Congregational Church in Montclair, N. J. Subsequently he became associate editor of "The Outlook" and later served as president of the American Institute of Christian Philosophy and as lecturer at Andover Theological Seminary. In 1895 he was a member of a deputation sent by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions to inspect the missions in Japan. Dr. Bradford was elected moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches in 1901 and three years later he became president of the American Missionary Association.

New Skyscraper Hotel in Chicago.

Chicago, April 14.—Chicago's latest modern hotel, the Blackstone, located on Michigan avenue, facing the lake front, was opened to the public today. The structure cost more than $3,000,000 and is one of the most unique hotels in the world, being only 10 feet in width, 173 feet long and twenty-four stories high, containing 450 rooms and having an aviation station on the roof—the first droming station to be erected on any hotel or other building in the world.

Foss in Another Campaign.

Rochester, N. Y., April 14.—Representative Eugene N. Foss, recently elected from the Fourteenth Massachusetts district, is coming to Rochester tomorrow to speak in behalf of James S. Haven, the Democratic nominee for the seat of the late Representative James B. Perkins. The campaign here is being conducted on the same issue on which Mr. Foss overturned the Massachusetts district—the high cost of living, due to the Aldrich-Payne tariff.

Paula Edwards, one of the popular stars of musical comedy, is to return to the stage in vaudeville.

Lulu McConnell and Grant Simpson have a vaudeville play entitled "The O. K. Girl," by Will M. Cressy.

Anna Marble Pollock, the talented playwright-wife of Channing Pollock, wrote "When Pat Was King," Tom Nawn's vaudeville skit.

Louis N. Parker has been engaged by Charles Frohman to make the English translation of "Chanticleer," which Maude Adams will play.

Graham Browne, who played the principal role in "Israel," is to play the role of Sam Gerridge in the coming revival of "Caste" in New York.

Fanny Ward has a vaudeville playlet called "An Unlucky Star," in which one of the characters carries on the action of the piece from the audience.

Lawrence Irving has a play of American life called "The Eternal Instant," by Harrison Rhodes, one of the authors of "A Gentleman from Mississippi."

Earl Browne, an actor in the cast of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," has written a play which will be produced by the Liebler company, with Milton Lackaye in the leading role.

"Molly May," by Julian Edwards and Walter Browne, with Grace La Rue as the star, is shortly to be produced in New York. James E. Sullivan is one of the members of the company.

Forbes Robertson ended his New York season in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" at Maxine Elliott's Theatre last week. He will play several weeks in Canada, sailing for England about May 11.

Ada Dwyer, Ernest C. Joy and Roy Fairchild will sail for London to prepare for Gertrude Elliott's company in the Liebler production in the English capital of "The Dawn of Tomorrow." The rest of the company will be engaged in London.

The leading juvenile role in "The Skylark," now being played in New York under the management of Henry B. Harris, is given by Leslie Gaze, a well-known English player who has appeared in many of the musical comedies produced in London by George Edwardes.

George Ade, Henry Blossom and Leslie Carter will be jointly responsible for Elsie Janis' new comic opera, "The Slim Princess." Charles Dillingham obtained the rights to Mr. Ade's novel of the same name, and the others are adapting it to music. It will be produced in October.

Frederick Thompson has engaged Edmund Breece for the leading part in Porter Emerson Browne's new play "The Spendthrift," which followed William Collier at the Hudson Theatre, New York, this week. Mr. Breece will take the part originated by William B. Mack earlier in the season.

This is William H. Crane's forty-seventh season on the stage. He made his debut in Utica, New York, July 13, 1843, in "The Daughter of the Regiment." Ever since he became a star, thirty-two years ago, William H. Crane has kept a diary, giving the cities, theatres, receipts, weather conditions, etc., of all his engagements.

EVILS OF THE STRIKE.

Philadelphia Affair is Wasteful and Miserable Exhibition.

This great strike in Philadelphia has been so wasteful and miserable an affair from many standpoints that it ought to stimulate thoughtful people in every state of the Union to make advance provision against similar failures of civilization in their own cities. The public authorities of Pennsylvania have been at fault in not making better provision for the solution of labor difficulties. They have had so much misery in that state from industrial warfare in years past that they ought to have learned peaceful ways to adjust labor disputes. Both state and city have had heavy bills to pay in their attempts to protect life and property. The street railroad company will have lost much more than it can ever have gained through its failure to deal with its own men in such a way as to keep their loyalty. But trade unionism, on the other hand, will also have lost a great deal through its reckless resort to the sympathetic strike. The attempt to punish everybody, in a great variety of different ways, as a means of bringing the street railway company to terms is not merely reckless, but it is stupid. It must turn many a friend of organized labor into an implacable enemy. In Philadelphia two unions were involved and the traction companies tried to play one off against the other. In the negotiations for a settlement of the strike the companies' recognition of the Keystone Association of employes, whose members did not strike, was one of the chief stumbling blocks. The dominance of politics when Senator Penrose actively intervened and forced from the street car managers large concessions to the strikers; yet even these concessions were insufficient to bring about a settlement.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review for April.

IN UNMARKED GRAVE.

Distinguished Arkansan Sleeps in Texas With No Stone Above Him.

Lipan, Texas.—In an unmarked grave in the Baptist Cemetery, one mile from this town, lies the body of former Governor Drew of Arkansas. At one time he was the most prominent man in the grand old state of Arkansas, as was proven by his being called out from among his fellow men to fill the highest office within the gift of the people.

His public career ended, his declining days were passing rapidly and he lay down to die. After he withdrew in silence from the living, not a friend seemed to take notice of his departure. He has fallen heir to six feet of sod and his beloved state has not marked the spot where he lies.

It is believed that if the people of Arkansas had known this fact, a memorial monument would have been erected long ago.

There are a thousand people in this section from Arkansas and many of them knew Gov. Drew personally and they think it would certainly be in harmony with the patriotic spirit of Arkansas to erect this monument and they pledge themselves that if such a monument be erected to care for it and preserve it.

Noted Philanthropist 80 Years Old.

Chicago, April 14.—Still strong and vigorous physically and mentally in spite of his age Dr. Daniel M. Pearsons, the noted philanthropist, celebrated his nineteenth birthday today at his charming home at Hinsdale. He had been invited to spend his birthday at Berea College, Kentucky, one of the small colleges of the West that have received substantial gifts from his munificence, but he preferred to spend the day at home, reading the numerous letters and telegrams of congratulation from private individuals and various colleges and other institutions he has helped in the past.

Dr. Daniel M. Pearsons occupies a rather singular position among the philanthropic millionaires of the United States. Other multi millionaires have given away for philanthropic or educational purposes more millions in a single year than Dr. Pearsons' entire wealth amounted to, yet in proportion Dr. Pearsons gave a much larger share of his wealth than they. The wealth of other millionaires was never materially diminished by their gifts, in fact, represented only a fraction of their annual income, while Dr. Pearsons' whose total wealth was estimated at about $7,000,000, gave away more than five sevenths of his fortune during the last twenty or twenty-five years and, in accordance with his avowed intention will complete the distribution of his entire remaining fortune during his life time, reserving merely enough to assure himself a comfortable old age.

Dr. Pearsons was born in Bradford, Vt., April 14, 1820, and grew up among the granite hills in poverty. He became a school-teacher and then a physician, but not being able to make money rapidly in the East, he moved to Ogles County, Ill., where he engaged in farming. In 1860, at the age of 40, he came to Chicago with his wife, who was Miss Marietta Chapin of Massachusetts. He had $5,000 in cash and began business as a real estate dealer. His honesty and reliability soon won him many friends and his business rapidly increased. Living economically he soon amassed a fortune, which he increased still further by judicious investments.

Dr. Pearson and his wife had neither children nor near relatives and the constantly increasing wealth did not appeal to their frugal habits. Mrs. Pearsons had established a college in Turkey and became interested in missions and Dr. Pearsons had given to the deserving poor in an unostentatious way, before they decided to get rid of their wealth by distributing it among small colleges in poor or sparsely settled localities. They decided not to give money to the large and already liberally endowed colleges and other institutions, but to confine their gifts to such institutions as were of the greatest benefit to the poor.

At the age of seventy Dr. Pearsons retired from business and since then he has devoted practically all his time and energy to the welfare of the deserving poor. During the last twenty or twenty-five years Dr. Pearsons distributed fully five sevenths of his entire wealth among forty-seven colleges and other institutions located in twenty-four States. He made a careful study of the situation and the conditions surrounding each college he intended to help and selected those institutions which in his opinion were of the greatest benefit to the poor. Most of the colleges which Dr. Pearsons selected for his gifts are located in the poorer or less populous sections of the West and South.

Among the numerous colleges and other institutions to which Dr. Pearsons made gifts ranging from $2,000 to $58,000, are Beloit College, Chicago Theological Seminary, Whitman College, Colorado College, Berea College, Kentucky; Mount Holyoke College, Lake Forest College, Knox College, Drury College, Yankton College, Carlton College, Fargo College, Pomona College, Fairmount College, Wichita, Kas.; McCormick Theological Seminary; Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore.; Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill.; Olivet College, Michigan; Marietta College, Sheridan College, Wyoming; McKendree College, California; Anatolia College, Turkey; Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; Montpelier Seminary, Vermont; Guilford College, Greensboro, N. C.; Piedmont College, Washington College Tennessee; Grand University, Chattanooga; West Virginia Seminary, Morgantown, W. Va.; and Parkville College, Parkville, Mo. Dr. Pearson, whose wife died three years ago, is fully determined to be his own executor and distribute the rest of his wealth before he joins the silent majority.

Troubles of London Shopkeepers.

London, April 14.—London shopkeepers held a mass meeting today for the express purpose of telling their troubles to the police. The particular trouble of which the shopkeepers complain seems strange to say, from their enterprise. At present if a merchant makes his window particularly attractive the police disperse the crowds because they interfere with traffic. If this does not restore order the shopkeeper is summoned and fined for creating an obstruction. Today the merchants met to put their views to regulate the crowds as is done in American cities.

In Memory of Justin S. Morrill.
Burlington, Vt., April 14.—The memory of Justin S. Morrill, who represented Vermont in the United States senate for more than forty years, was honored throughout the State today on the occasion of the one hundredth anniversary of Mr. Morrill's birth. After serving ten years in the lower branch of Congress, Mr. Morrill was sent to the senate in 1867 to succeed Senator Luke L. Poland. He remained in the senate until his death in 1898.

RICE TO THE RESCUE.

Here is a Food for the Entire Earth's Population.

We are getting much valuable public instruction in these days of the high prices of food, as to proper kinds of food and the proper way to prepare food and save waste. Now, why not a more general use of rice? It is an American product—if that be an inducement. But the great inducement is the value of the article itself, its easy and economical preparation, its great nutritive qualities. Dr. J. H. Kellogg, in a recent magazine, called it a world food, and says truly that to lack for it one year would mean starvation in a great part of Asia and serious misfortune everywhere. It takes but one hour for boiled rice to assimilate, while it takes three and one-half hours for roast beef or boiled cabbage. Prof. Bunge, who is an authority on the chemistry of foodstuffs, says that rice has a minimum of alkaline salts, which in excess are disastrous to the kidneys.

And it is so easy to prepare boiled rice! It means simply a thorough washing in cold water, and then boiling it hard twelve minutes, or until the grains are soft; then draining it and setting the pan on the back of the stove for the rice to dry, and you have a flaky mass of the most nutritious and digestible food. And it can be eaten any way—with gravy or meat juice, with butter, salt and pepper, or with milk and sugar. It contains very little water, whereas, potatoes contain three-fourths water, so that a pound of rice has three times the nutrient strength it gives as a chief or only food. In the recent Russo-Japanese war the Japs performed prodigies of endurance on a pocket full of rice. We all remember too, the story of Clive's conquest of India, when the native troops gave rice to the British and lived on the rice water.

Yet in this country, when meat is so high in price, we pass over one of our own crops, which is better for food than beef, cabbage and potatoes. In spite of heavy exports last year the rice growers of Texas have a large part of their crop in storage because they cannot get living prices for it—so small is the proportion of our population that uses rice. There was a great educational effort at the St. Louis exposition concerning rice, and an association has now been formed to teach the value of this food. It has hopeful prospects which ought to meet success. For the larger use of rice would save our pocketbooks and increase our strength and health.—Indianapolis News.

Dandruff, Falling Hair and Itching Scalp Cured, or Money Back.

"I used one bottle of Parisian Sage, and it did all you claim it would do. My hair is fluffy and clean from dandruff since I used the Sage, and I am going to keep it constantly on my dressing table for toilet use."—Mrs. M. Griffin, 326 W. 9th St., Davenport, Ia.

"Parisian Sage is certainly a wonderful hair restorer. My husband and I both have used it, and find it to be just as advertised."—Mrs D. Chorling 220 Wascon St., Toledo, O., Oct. 23, 1909.

Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere, and by Week's Drug Co., for 50 cents a large bottle, and is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It makes hair grow soft, lustrous and luxuriant, and is not sticky or greasy. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

New Bishop of Burlington.

Burlington, Vt., April 14.—With imposing ceremonies Rev. Father J. Rice formerly of Northbridge, Mass., was this morning consecrated as bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Burlington. The ceremony took place in the Burlington Cathedral, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Bishop Beaven of Springfield was the consecrating prelate and Bishop Feehan of Fall River preached the sermon.

The new bishop is thirty-nine years old and a native of Leicester, Mass. He was educated at Holy Cross College and at the Grand Seminary of Theology in Montreal. Later he took a post-graduate course in theology at the American College in Rome. After his ordination he returned to the United States and has since filled the pulpits of Catholic churches in Portland, Fitchburg and other cities of New England.

Opening in Southern League.

Atlanta, Ga., April 14.—The regular championship season of the Southern league starts today with Nashville playing in Memphis, Montgomery in Birmingham, Mobile in New Orleans and Chattanooga in Atlanta. The in-line game in New Orleans was played yesterday, the schedule having been advanced one day as a concession to the Mystic Shriners in session in the Crescent City. Since the close of last season the weaker clubs of the league have been strengthened and all indications point to an interesting pennant race this year. The season will continue until Sept. 17.

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES

Burning gas caused a fire alarm to be turned in this morning for the Vreeland building, at 8th and Indiana. The fire was between the first and second floors and was extinguished with some difficulty by the use of the chemical tank. The fire started in the store of H. D. Kirsch, ladies' outfitter and milliner, and was caused by workmen in taking out the gas lighting fixtures and substituting for them electric light fixtures, and who had failed to cut off the gas at the meter before starting the work. By some means unexplainable, the escaping gas from one of the pipes was ignited. Some damage by smoke and water was sustained to the stock of goods which was fully covered by insurance.

It is announced that a total of eight thousand feet of paving on Tenth street has been signed up for by property owners on that thoroughfare and the outlook is considered good.

Elberry, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Graham, was successfully operated upon this morning for appendicitis at the Wichita Falls Sanitarium.

Will McAbee was the lowest bidding contractor on the Times Publishing Company's building and the contract will probably be closed with him tomorrow.

As far as can be learned, the hail which accompanied the rain last night did no damage in this vicinity. It lasted but a few moments.

RAID WHITE SLAVERS.

Brooklyn Police Begin Energetic Campaign.

New York, April 14.—With the arraignment of six men in the Brooklyn police court yesterday and the announcement that warrants are out for twenty others, the Brooklyn police declare there is in progress one of the biggest raids ever made in New York on dealers in white slaves. Eight girls were in court to testify against the prisoners. One of the girls was only 15. They all told the same story, that they had been lured to a moving picture show, where candy and other cheap presents were given them and then they were taken to some house maintained as a resort of activities of the band of slavers.
