NUMBER 294

BOYS' CORN CLUBS BEING ORGANIZED

FOUR HAVE BEEN FORMED IN THIS DISTRICT WITH ONE HUNDRED MEMBERS.

USE IMPROVED METHODS

Boys Are Greatly Interested and Enter into Movement With Enthusiasm.

Boys' corn clubs are now a considerable factor in the agricultural development of this section and no organizations of this kind are now working to make a good crop this year. These clubs were organized during the winter, and all have enthusiastic memberships and active workers.

Iowa Park, Kemp, Bowman and Barnes have so far organized these clubs in this district of the Department of Agriculture. The Wichita Falls district includes all of Wichita county the northern part of Archer county and the western part of Clay county.
The total membership in the four clubs is close to the one-hundred mark and is composed of boys from ten to eighteen years of age. J. L. McConkey, the agent of the Department of Agriculture for this district, was active in organizing these clubs and in keeping the interest high.

The boys each have one acre for corn planting. In preparing the soil and in seed selection they use the methods recommended, exercising the greatest care possible. It is not at all unusual for a boy to raise on his one acre as much as his father, without the improved methods, raises on three acres. The state fair is encouraging these boys in every possible way and has made a large appropriation for premiums. It is probable that the interstate fair to be held in this county will also take steps to encourage the boys in this work. The greatest advantage to be derived from this movement is that these boys, as they grow older and become farmers themselves, will continue to use the improved methods that are now being instilled into them.

Efforts are being made to have the government make a soil survey of this district and if this can be done much more light will be shed on the possibilities of improved methods.

The M. E. Church, South, of this city, will receive a loan of three thousand dollars from the Board of Church Extension of that church, which has just been in session at Louisville.
This loan was obtained by Rev. W. T.

on the corner of Ohio avenue and

TEXAS GREATEST STATE FOR MULES.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Time was when Missouri claimed to have more mules than any other state or country in the world. But Missouri has been forced by Texas into a bad second place. Of the 7,500,000 mules in the world almost one-tenth are in Texas, the Lone Star State, having 702,000, valued at $99 each. The total value of the state's mules was $69,498,000.

Apparently the mule is specially adapted to the Southern climate for most of the four-footed kickers are to be found south of the Ohio river. The Missouri mule is worth more than his Texas brother, $20 more. The 244,000 mules in Missouri are valued at $119 each, or $40,936,000 for all of them.

Georgia, which has 328,936,000 worth of mules is third on the list. Tennessee is fourth, with $35,670,000; Mississippi, is fifth with $32,770,000; Alabama is sixth with $30,866,000 worth; North Carolina is seventh with $24,797,000, but is closely pressed by Kentucky which has mules valued at $24,426,000. Arkansas is ninth with $23,435,000; South Carolina is tenth with $22,752,000, and Louisiana is eleventh, with $20,648,000.

Then the mule belt jumps over into Oklahoma, which new state has $20,065,000 worth of the animals. Another skip is taken to Illinois, which is thirteenth, with a total of 152,000 mules, worth $19,912,000, or $131 each. Kansas, fourteenth on the list, is the only other state which passes the $15,000,000 mark. The Sunflower State has 154,000 mules, 2,000 more than Illinois, but they are valued at only $116 each, being a total value of $17,854,000.

The mule crop in the leading livestock states is rather small, with the exception of Texas, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Illinois and Kansas.

Indiana which is the eighth livestock state, is fifteenth on the mule list, with $11,844,000. California whose rank in the general table is seventeenth, holds sixteenth place in the mule list, with $10,126,000 worth. Nebraska, the sixth livestock state, is the seventeenth mule state, with $8,562,000. Pennsylvania drops from twelfth place in the general list to eighteenth in mules, with $6,325,000.

Iowa tops the list of livestock states but it falls to nineteenth position in mules, with a total of only $5,781,000—a small item in its $398,381,000 worth of livestock. Ohio holds seventh place in the general livestock ranking, but drops to twentieth in mules, with a total of but $2,750,000.

New York has $189,716,000 worth of livestock, occupying the ninth place in the list but the Empire state has only $575,000 worth of mules, and is the twenty-fifth mule state.

There are 4,123,000 mules in the United States—more than half the world's stock—of the average value of $119.84, and with a total value of $494,095,000. There are 70,000 more than last year, and they are worth $12 more each. Mules cost most in South Carolina, where they are valued at $157 each, and least in Nevada and New Mexico, where they are worth only $70.

The Life of Mark Twain

Samuel L. Clemens, better known throughout the world under his literary pseudonym of "Mark Twain," was born in Florida, Mo., November 30, 1835. Soon after his birth his parents moved to Hannibal, Mo., where Samuel and his brothers were brought up and where they received a grammar school education. The town, situated on the banks of the Mississippi river, brought Samuel in close and constant touch with the great river and the varied and fascinating life upon it and developed in him a great love for nature and adventure.

At the age of thirteen Samuel learned typesetting and for three years he followed that occupation, wandering about from place to place, as was the custom then among the printers. St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New York were among the cities he visited in his wanderings. In 1851 his love of home and the river drew him westward again and he became a pilot on the Mississippi, although only sixteen years old at that time. He followed that vocation for ten years, during that time accumulating material which he was eventually to turn to literary account. The pen name that he selected at the beginning of his literary career, is a reminder of his pilot days. Many a time, the sounding, came to Samuel's ear, while he stood at his post in the little pilot house. That call, often repeated in the course of his countless trips, meant that the sounding had shown a depth of twelve feet, a safe depth for the shallow river steamers.

The outbreak of the war in 1861 destroyed the river business and Samuel Clemens found himself practically without occupation. In the spring of that year the young pilot joined a Confederate volunteer squad, but he was not destined to win laurels upon the battlefield. In fact, he never saw active service. As his occupation was gone, he decided to go to Nevada, then a territory, of which his brother Orion was secretary, under appointment by President Lincoln. Samuel became the clerk of his brother, but soon drifted into newspaper work. For a short time he was city editor of the Virginia City Enterprise, in which paper his first sketches appeared. Afterward he went to San Francisco, where he worked as a reporter on the Morning Call. After a short time he tried placer mining for gold in Calaveras county, picking up a great deal of valuable experience, but little gold. Clemens returned to newspaper work and, in the spring of 1865 became interested with Bret Harte in the conduct of the Alta Californian. It was about that time that he wrote his first humorous sketches and became locally known as a humorist.

In 1866 Clemens sailed for Honolulu and wrote descriptions of the life and conditions there for the Sacramento Union. On his return he traveled through the west, giving humorous lectures on his experiences in Nevada and Honolulu. In March, 1867, he published in New York his first book, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County and Other Sketches." The success of this book encouraged the editor of the Alta Californian to send Clemens out as a newspaper reporter with a steamship excursion to Southern Europe and the Orient. His letters dealing with the journey and his various experiences on the trip, made quite a hit and in 1869 Clemens revised his letters and published them in book form, under the title of "The Innocents Abroad, or the New Pilgrim's Progress." This book, which was afterward translated into nearly every European language, established "Mark Twain's" international reputation as a humorist. In 1872 he collected his reminiscences of Far Westren life into a book, entitled "Roughing It." In the following year he collaborated with Charles Dudley Warner in a novel, entitled "The Gilded Age," which was afterward successfully dramatized.

In 1876 he published "the Adventures of Tom Sawyer," in which he portrayed the irresponsible American boy with remarkable insight and humor. A second trip to Europe, in 1879 furnished him with material for the book "A Tramp Abroad," which was published in 1880. His next book, "The Prince and the Pauper," which was Mark Twain's first attempt at historical fiction, was published in 1882. The following year he published "Life on the Mississippi River," based on his experiences as a river pilot, which by many is considered his best book.

In 1884 he engaged in the publishing enterprise of Chas. L. Webster & Co., the failure of which swallowed his entire fortune and compelled him to make a lecture tour around the world, to recover his fortune. In 1885 he published "Huckleberry Finn," four years later his "Yankee at the Court of King Arthur," in 1894 his "Pudd'nhead Wilson" and "Following the Equator," "The Man Who Corrupted Hadleyville" and "A Double-Barrelled Detective Story."

Opening of Shakespeare Festival.

London, April 22.—Stratford-on-Avon is crowded with visitors from all parts of England and the continent and a considerable number of Americans, who have gathered there to attend the four weeks Shakespeare festival which opened there today. The dramatic arrangements for the festival are in the hands of R. F. Benson, who has been in charge of these Shakespearean festivals for more than twenty years. The first organized celebration of the kind was held in 1769, when David Garrick was responsible for the initial festival. In 1827 a regular theatre was opened in Stratford, but the present building used for the Shakespearean performances during the festivals was not built until 1878. The first performance in that theatre was given on April 23, 1878, Shakespeare's birthday.

The program for this year's festival includes the performance of sixteen plays of Shakespeare by the most distinguished actors and actresses of Great Britain. Tomorrow, in honor of Shakespeare's birthday, a special performance of "The Two Gentlemen of Verona" will be given, with Miss Nora Lancaster as Silvia. In addition to the Shakespearean plays Beaumont and Fletcher's "Knight of the Burning Pestle," Sheridan's "School for Scandal," and the prize play written by Mrs. Lionel S. Marks of Cambridge, Mass., will be given.

"I shall not support Mr. Davidson for governor now, believing that since what has passed it would be a sacrifice of self-respect on my part," is the way Hon. George Warwick Clark of Waco winds up his letter to the Dallas News. Because of this, however, Mr. Davidson need not despair. So long as Judge Clark lives, there are people who will not forget the campaign he made against James S. Hogg, and the manner in which it was conducted, and for that reason, any man whose cause he champions will suffer at the ballot box. This, perhaps, is not as it should be, but it is, nevertheless, and therefore, Davidson's chances of landing in the gubernatorial chair have not lessened since Judge Clark has given it out that he would not support him.

The Houston Post says that if that city were not the most beautiful and delightful city on earth, probably there would not be so many loafers and bums infesting the community all the time. The Post says, however, that it "would be willing to have the number deducted from the census count to be rid of them." The poor old bum is not wanted anywhere, not even in Houston.

It is said that the city election in Wichita Falls was made in part upon the prohibition issue. The successful candidate for mayor is a strict prohibitionist while his opponent was an anti. The prohibitionist was elected by over two hundred majority. It is claimed by many that Wichita county would go pro if a vote should be taken soon.—Childress Index.

Senator Bilbo, who accepted a bribe, was permitted to remain in the Mississippi senate and Dulaney, who is charged with giving the bribe, is to be tried in June, the penalty being a term in the penitentiary. The bribe-giver and the bribe-taker should be given the same treatment. Without one the other could not exist.

The Sleep of Hibernation.

The sleep of hibernation is a very different matter from the sleep of repose. If it be complete, respiration can no longer be detected. A torpid bat when disturbed will leave a sigh or two, and being left alone, again to all appearances, ceases to breathe.

Submerged in water of a temperature slightly higher than his own, the hedgehog not only continues to live, but appears to suffer neither inconvenience nor harm. Inclosed in an airtight receptacle his atmosphere undergoes a change so slight that it affects him slightly, if at all.

But circulation does not cease. As respiration diminishes, the irritability of the muscles of the heart increases; and thus, without the stimulation of oxygen, although much more slowly, the heart continues to beat. In the absence of the fresh air, drawn into the lungs in times of activity, uncleaned and unrevigorated and venous blood passes on to fill the whole system of circulation.

A profound lethargy ensues, distinguishable from death only by the slight beating of the heart. The waste is very small. The fat accumulated during the plenty of summer and autumn supplies all expenditure until the coming of spring, when earlier or later the hibernating animal, having no capital in reserve, begins to suffer the pangs of hunger. In response to the demand respiration very slowly increases. His oxidized blood flows more quickly and his energy returns.

Then the bat flies forth once more from the hollow tree in the woods to find the warm dust teeming with insect life, and the hedgehog comes, it may be, from the cavity under the gnarled roots below, to find beetles, worms and slugs once more among the spring grass.

Hibernation has saved both from death by starvation, but if their nooks had not been snug and wisely chosen, they would not have been preserved from death by frost.

The hiding place also must be secret and free from intrusion, for the hibernating animal cannot bear to be suddenly aroused. Even the little dormouse, which comes out at intervals to feed, when the deep sleep must be carried indoors to the warmer temperature of a room or revived by the heat of the hand passing through the nest. He then wakes refreshed and full of activity. But he does not survive too hastily an awakening.—Harper's Weekly.

JEFF GETTING CONFIDENT

Seems Sure That He Will Beat Negro in July

Ben Lomond, April 22.—Jeffries stated today with regard to his forthcoming battle with Jack Johnson, "I am going to be faster in this fight than in any other I ever had in the ring." He seems so confident of his ability to whip Johnson that his trainers are trying to disabuse him of any low estimate he may entertain of the black man's pugilistic prowess. Jeffries says Johnson's golden smile won't bother him.

Dying to Order.

Dying to order is one of the most sacred customs of the American Indian. Thirty years ago Standing Elk the author of "My Friend the Indian," said, "Father, my wife will die today and she wants a coffin from you."

The major asked him what the ailment was and he replied:

"Just nothing but that she heard the ghosts calling and must go."

Somebody had told her, it turned out, that she was sick, so she had "painted for death," and all her relatives had gathered about to bemoan her—and incidentally divided her property as soon as she was dead. There was no use in the major's arguing about it, so he had the coffin made.

In many cases those "painted for death" are actually bullied into dying but Mrs. Standing Elk was still too vigorous. Finally in despair she carried the coffin into the house on her own shoulders and several years later the major saw it still standing on end in her house. Shelves had been fitted into it, and it was doing duty as a cupboard.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Dispatch.

Chinatown to Welcome War Lord.
San Francisco, Calif., April 22.—The Chinese quarter of this city is gorgeously decorated in the brightest oriental colors in honor of Prince Toa Poy Lac, uncle to the emperor of China, brother to the prince regent and war minister of the Chinese empire, who is due to arrive here today on the liner Tenyo Maru. Never before have the members of the Chinese colony been in such a fever of excitement and never has Chinatown been so elaborately and magnificently decorated. Electric lights have been strung to the tops of the pagodas and Chinese flags are waving from the topmasts. Huge Chinese lanterns have been placed on both sides of the streets of Chinatown and at both ends of Grand avenue, which runs through the quarter, is spanned by magnificent triumphal arches. All the larger stores of the quarter are brilliantly decorated and the streets present a perfect riot of gold and colors.

Prince Toa Poy Lac is coming to America with a large staff of officers to study the American army methods. During his sojourn in the United States he will be the guest of the United States army and will be shown military courtesy. The prince will remain in San Francisco until next Monday, when he will start on his over-land journey. The Chinese Six Companies have made the most elaborate preparations for the reception and entertainment of the distinguished visitor. The tug Golden Gate is ready to take the reception party out to meet the incoming liner. The party will include Chang Yin Tang, the Chinese minister to Washington, many distinguished army and navy officers, state and city officials and the reception committee of the Six Companies.

The Prince and his escort will land at the transport dock and will be escorted through the city by federal troops, Chinese boys in uniform and the Columbia Park boys' band. The procession will march through Chinatown, which will turn out to the last man, woman and child. Tomorrow evening the Prince will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the Six Companies, which will also be attended by Gen. Barry, U. S. A., Admirals Osterhaus, Phelps and Milton and other officers and officials.

Johnson Off For Training Camp.

Chicago, April 22.—There is at least one negro in the land in whose breast there lurks no fear of the popular Friday superstition. That negro is Jack Johnson, who selected Friday of all the days in the week on which to begin his journey westward to the scene of his coming battle with Jim Jeffries for the world's championship. Accompanied by a bevy of trainers and camp followers and also by his beloved automobile, the source of many tribulations and trials, the big negro pugilist leaves Chicago this evening en route for California where he will immediately begin active training for the coming fight. On his journey to the West he will make several stops to pick up a few stray dollars by giving exhibitions of scenes in a training camp. His first stand will be Omaha, where he is booked to show tomorrow night. Monday he will appear in Salt Lake City and Thursday of next week he will fill a date in Los Angeles. From the latter place he will turn toward San Francisco and within a week he expects to be following the routine of the training camp at Ocean Beach.

Johnson's party comprises his wife, Manager Sig Hart, and wife, Marty, Cutler, Joe Rodgers, "Kid" Cotton and Barney Furey. "Gunboat" Smith, the Pacific coast heavyweight, and several other pugilists and trainers have been notified to join the party at Ocean Beach. According to present arrangements Johnson will start daily boxing and other training stunts as soon as he arrives at Ocean Beach and will follow the routine faithfully until the day before the big battle in the Golden Gate City.

Boston Latin School Jubilee.

Boston, Mass., April 22.—The Boston Latin School, the oldest and most famous school of its kind in the United States, which can boast of a continuance existence of 275 years, celebrated its 275th birthday today in an impressive manner. In 1635, only a few years after the founding of Boston, the school was established and for many generations thousands of boys studied the Classics at that institution, preparing them for a higher university of college education. Many of the most famous men of the country whose names are written upon the pages of America's glorious history, received their education at the Boston Latin School. Among them were men like John Hancock, Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams, William Hooper, Robert Treat Paine, Boston Mather, Judge Hutchinson, Governor Leverett, William Stoughton, chief justice of Massachusetts, James Bowdoin, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Wendell Phillips, Rufus Chateau, Philippe Brooks, Wm. M. Evans, Edward Everett Hale, Robert C. Winthrop, William Everett, James Freeman Clarke and many others of great distinction.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Georgia's State Chemist Praises "Nature's Gift from the Sunny South"

J. H. McCandless, State Chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering of Cotton Seed men, gave emphatic praise to the high quality of Cottolene. He said:

"The sale of this product and the realization that it is made of cotton seed oil have done more to bring cotton seed oil truthfully and favorably before the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out that a pure, refined, vegetable-oil product such as Cottolene is the only assurance a woman has of a clean, digestible, cooking fat.

It seems a positive wonder in the light of all that has lately been said and written, and of what is known of lard, where it comes from, of what it may be made, that anyone will continue its use, when pure, sweet and healthful Cottolene can be so easily obtained.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

Opening Day in Western League.

Topeka, Kas., April 22.—All indications point to an aggressive and well-contested campaign of the Western League, the opening games of which are played today. The circuit remains the same as last year with the exception of St. Joseph, which took over the Pueblo franchise. From Des Moines and Sioux City, the principals in last season's neck-and-neck race for the pennant, down to Lincoln, which finished next to the tail-end Pueblos, all the teams have apparently been materially strengthened.

In the opening game today Lincoln plays at Denver, Omaha at Wichita, Des Moines at St. Joseph and Sioux City at Topeka. The season will consist of 165 games, with Oct. 3 as the closing date.

The Best Way.

"I am going to elevate the stage."
"Ah, indeed! Have you written a play, or will you enact the leading role in another man's drama?"
"Neither. I have decided on using dynamite."

Birthday of Texas Governor.

Austin, Texas, April 22.—Many messages of congratulation were received at the capitol today to remind Governor Campbell of his fifty-fourth birthday. The Governor is a native Texan, having been born in the town of Rusk, April 22, 1856. He was elected governor in 1907 and begins his term of office this year. He declined to become a candidate for re-election, a fact that has led many of the politicians to believe that he intends to try for the senate seat now held by Senator Culberson.

A Puzzle.

An Irishman visited a tuberculosis exhibit, where lungs in both healthy and diseased conditions were displayed preserved in glass jars. After carefully studying one marked "cured tuberculosis lung," he turned to the physician and said:
"Perhaps it's because of'm Irish, but if ye cured th' patient, how could ye have his lung in a bottle?"—Lippincott's.

General Bliss in Command.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Not in several years has there been such a general shifting about of the high officers of the army as resulted today from the retirement of Maj.-General Franklin Bell from the office of chief of staff, which is regarded as the most important office in the army. The changes extend from New York and Washington to San Francisco and the Philippines and include a number of department commanders and many officers of lower grade.

General Bell, who has filled out his term as chief of staff, will go to the Philippines to assume command of the forces there as soon as he is fully recovered from the injuries he received recently in an automobile accident here. As chief of staff he is to be succeeded by Major-General Leonard Wood, who is now on his way to Buenos Ayres as a special envoy to convey the congratulations of the United States to the Argentine Republic upon the occasion of the centenary celebration of the birth of the republic.

From the present Brigadier-General Tasker H. Bliss is to act as chief of staff until the arrival of duty of Major-General W. H. Carter, who has been ordered to Washington to assume the duties of assistant chief of staff. On General Wood's return from South America, General Bliss will go to San Francisco and take command of the department of California from Major-General Thomas H. Barry who, in August, will become Superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point. Major-General Frederick D. Grant, who preceded General Wood in command of the Department of the East, returned to that command today.

Brigadier-General Charles L. Hodges succeeds General Grant in command at Chicago, while Brigadier-General Walter Howe, who has been acting commander of the Department of the East, goes West to assume command of the Department of the Dakota. Brigadier-General Ralph W. Hoyt goes to Fort Russell, Wyoming, to succeed Brigadier-General A. F. Smith, transferred to the command of the Department of Missouri, a position recently vacated by the retirement of Brigadier-General Morton.

"THIS IS MY 50th BIRTHDAY."

Grand Duke of Luxemburg. William, the reigning Grand Duke of Luxemburg, was born April 22, 1852 and succeeded to the throne on the death of his father, the late Grand Duke Adolf, November 19, 1905. In 1893 he was married to Marie Ann, daughter of Miguel, Duke of Braganza. The ducal pair have six children, of whom the eldest is Princess Marie, now in her seventh year. Owing to its location on the borders of France and Germany the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg enjoys an importance out of proportion to its size. It has an area of less than 1,000 square miles and its total population is exceeded by that of numerous cities in America. From 1815 to 1890 the Grand Duchy was included in the dissolved Germanic Confederation. By the treaty of London, 1867 it was declared neutral territory.

VERNON TEAM IS EASY PICKING FOR WICHITA; FOURTEEN TO NOTHING

Wichita Falls 14, Vernon 0.

The Vernon baseball team proved easy picking for the local nine yesterday afternoon, the Wichita team being victorious by a score of fourteen to nothing. The locals hit Rice, the Vernon pitcher, heavily, securing eight hits which coupled with Vernon's numerous errors allowed the score to total up heavily. The fielding game of the locals showed decided improvement.

A feature of the game was the umpiring of Ed Stanley and his work kept the spectators well entertained. He has a foghorn voice and varies the monotony of calls by comments on each play, to the edification of the grand stand. The score: Vernon.....000 000 000—0 4 10
Wichita Falls...300 360 02x—14 8 4
Batteries—Rice and Kellogg; Hancock, Pottsworth and Speer.
