

ASSOCIATION WILL MEET ON TUESDAY

COMMERCIAL CLUBS OF THIS SECTION TO HOLD QUARTERLY SESSION HERE.

JAMES T. DENTON BUSY

Former Henrietta Secretary Has Plan to Take Headquarters From Wichita Falls.

The Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma Association of Commercial Clubs will hold its quarterly meeting in Wichita Falls on Tuesday of next week and preparations are being made to entertain a large number of visitors. Wichita Falls is the mother of this organization, it having been formed in this city about a year ago.

The meeting promises to be an unusually interesting one, from the fact that a determined effort will be made to wrest the headquarters of the organization from Wichita Falls. This movement will be led by James T. Denton, formerly secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Henrietta, but now located at Quanah.

Denton's plan, as outlined in the circulars with which he has been flooding the district, is to take the Association from a dues-paying basis and place it in the charge of one man, who is to devote his full time to the work. He proposes to recompense this secretary by publishing a magazine and he wants the members of the association to take three thousand copies of this magazine each month at 10 cents per copy. This would give him three hundred dollars monthly, sufficient to defray, he claims, the cost of publishing the magazine and running the office. His remuneration would, of course, come from the advertising he would secure.

Denton has picked Quanah as the headquarters for his magazine and he will doubtless make a strong effort to carry his point at Tuesday's meeting. There are only six towns in the association whose dues are paid up suffi-

SUCCESSFUL FLIGHTS IN AEROPLANES TODAY AT FORT SAM HOUSTON

Texas News Service Special. San Antonio, Tex., April 23.—Glenn H. Curtiss and Carl K. Hamilton made successful aeroplane flights here this morning. Curtiss ascended seven hundred feet, carrying Colonel Roy W. Hearne as a passenger. They traveled forty-five miles an hour. Hamilton went up to nine hundred feet, his rate of speed being from forty-five to fifty miles per hour. Both aeroplanes passed each other several times and dived under each other a number of times.

ON LABOR MEASURES.

All Candidates Will Be Asked to Declare Themselves.

Texas News Service Special. Austin, April 23.—Candidates for all state offices will be presented with questions in a few days as to their attitude on the legislation advocated by the legislative board of the Federation of Labor, according to the announcement of H. G. Wagner, secretary of the board. Candidates will be requested to give their stand on the full crew bill, "Spider Bill," the law requiring roads to maintain hospitals, the law requiring an expert test of air brakes and other laws.

FT. WORTH CONTRACTORS WILL ERECT THE CITY NATIONAL STRUCTURE

For a total cost of nearly one hundred and thirty thousand, the Texas Building Company, a Fort Worth concern, will erect the City National Bank building at the corner of 8th street and Ohio Ave., they being the successful bidders. The contract was awarded late yesterday afternoon. Work is to be started as soon as the site can be cleared and the material secured, which will probably be about the first of May.

ciently to give them a vote upon this question, and Quannah is among those who are in arrears.

An effort will be made to keep the association on its present basis, which has resulted in giving the organization many times as much publicity as it could possibly secure under Denton's plan. Just how much support Denton can secure for his proposed magazine is not known.

That it will not, in reality, lessen the outlay of the members of the association to any material extent, is learned from the fact that each town is expected to buy copies of his magazine at ten cents-per copy. Wichita Falls now pays $50 monthly to the association. He would expect this city to take 400 copies of his magazine, which would be $40 monthly, while the results would hardly be in proportion. It would cost the other towns from $2.50 to $30 per month.

Some entertainment will probably be provided for the visitors at the meeting Tuesday and all who attend will be well looked after by the Chamber of Commerce.

A strong gas well was brought in on the Landrum lease near Petrohia this week and the new gasser is considered one of the liveliest in the field.

CAR SERVICE TO LAKE IN AFTERNOONS TO BE IMPROVED BY COMPANY

Beginning tomorrow afternoon and continuing every day, every other car operated by the Traction Company will go through to Lake Wichita, instead of only one car per hour as at present. During the mornings, there will be but one car hourly, but after 1 o'clock, every other car will go through. All lake cars will bear appropriate signs. As a result of this change, the Lake service will be about twenty-four minutes.

LEGAL OBSTACLES TO NORTHWESTERN

CONSTRUCTION OF LAWTON EXTENSION IS BEING HELD UP TEMPORARILY.

AMENDMENT IS PENDING

Building of Lines Depends Upon Adoption of Change in State's Constitution.

Plans for the construction of the Devol-Lawton extension of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railway have been abandoned temporarily, legal obstacles having arisen, and in the event that the people of Oklahoma fail to adopt the amendment to Section Nine of the Constitution, it is possible that the extension will be given up permanently. Under the constitution, as it now stands, it will be unlawful for the Northwestern to carry out its plans and upon the advice of its attorneys the company has abandoned all work for the present.

The financing of this extension was effected recently by Mr. Kemp with little difficulty, it being upon the satisfactory adjustment of the legal details. The report of the attorneys has, therefore, made further operations inadvisable.

It was proposed to construct this extension under the name of the "Lawton & Wichita Falls Railway" and operate it as a part of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern. There is a constitutional inhibition against doing this in Oklahoma. The adoption of the proposed amendment, which will be voted upon on June 11, would change this condition and give it a tremendous impetus to railroad building in the new state.

In the opinion of J. A. Kemp, president of the Northwestern, the larger railroad companies in Oklahoma are indifferent as to the adoption or defeat of the proposed amendment, as under its existing conditions they have a monopoly on Oklahoma business, and are not planning any extensions or improvements. The Northwestern, however, is planning considerable improvements in addition to those now under way, and the adoption of the amendment will mean much to Wichita Falls.

Lawton has complied with the requirements of the Northwestern and surveying parties had also been at work when the legal obstacles were encountered. It is the hope of the Northwestern officials that the road will eventually be built.

ARRIVAL OF ROAD IS CELEBRATED

ARCHER CITY HOLDS BARBECUE PICNIC TODAY IN HONOR OF THE OCCASION.

MANY WICHITANS ATTEND

First Train Over Henrietta and Southwestern Reached Archer This Morning.

Archer City is today celebrating the arrival of the first train into that city over the Henrietta and Southwestern Railway, and the occasion is being elaborately observed. A large number of visitors are at Archer City from Henrietta, from Wichita Falls and from other towns in this section and the celebration is largely attended.

The celebration took the form of an old-fashioned barbecue and four beefs had been slaughtered to feed the crowd. The beef was served in approved style and was attended by the usual fixin's. Addresses were made this morning by Mayor Will Young of Archer City, who extended a welcome on behalf of Archer City and told of her joy at getting her second railroad; W. H. Featherstone of Henrietta, W. T. Allen of Henrietta and W. E. Forsy of Archer City, also spoke during the morning.

P. B. Martin and Judge Arnold, rival candidates for district judge, are expected to speak this afternoon. Music is a feature of the occasion and baseball games are also provided. The Wichita Falls delegation left this morning in automobiles for Archer City and will return late tonight. The party included W. A. Barrickman, C. W. Bean, J. B. Marlow, W. M. McGregor, J. C. Tandy, Alex. Kahn, O. T. Bacon, C. L. Fontaine, Ira Willis, P. H. Pennington, A. B. Potter, Otto Stehlik, J. C. O'Connor, M. J. Moran, J. H. Myrick and Ed Howard.

The Henrietta and Southwestern now extends from Henrietta to Archer City, a distance of something over thirty miles. This road was built largely by Henrietta capitalists, being first constructed to Scotland, eighteen miles from Henrietta, and extended this year to its present southern terminus. So far, the road has never been a paying proposition, but the recent extension may put it on a more profitable basis.

The attendance at Archer City is estimated at fifteen hundred. A number of candidates are in attendance and will speak this afternoon. These include the two aspirants for district judge, also W. A. Johnson of Memphis, candidate for state senator, who will speak this afternoon. John P. Slayton of Hereford, also a candidate for the state senatorship, is scheduled to speak, but had not arrived up to one o'clock.

Defrauded Liverpool Cotton Men Are Seeking Redress.

By Associated Press. Liverpool, April 23.—The creditors of the Alabama cotton firm of Knight, Yancey & Company are enlisting the aid of the Liverpool banks in obtaining redress from American banks because of losses sustained through what are alleged to have been unsatisfied bills of lading. The arrival of further consignments of cotton, presumably from the suspended American firm, indicates that more than was at first anticipated will be realized by the creditors of the firm.

SECOND VERNON GAME CAPTURED BY LOCALS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Wichita Falls 5, Vernon 4.

Yesterday's game was a much more pleasing exhibition than that of Thursday and the Vernon nine gave a much better account of itself. Wichita Falls made her scores in the first three innings, then stopped, while Vernon nearly tied the score in the sixth and eighth, making three runs in the latter inning. A pretty running catch by Hotchkiss, Wichita's center fielder, prevented Vernon's tying the score. The final game of the series will be played this afternoon.

The score: Vernon 900 001 030—4 6 5. Wichita Falls 302 000 005—5 6 5. Batteries—Barnett and Kellough; Gibson, Ward, Wilson and Speer.

GOOD ROAD TO LAKE IS BEING PLANNED

MOVEMENT IS UNDER WAY FOR MACADAM DRIVEWAY TO THE RESORT.

TO COST TEN THOUSAND

Plan to Raise Money-With Aid of City and County and By Subscription.

The success which has attended the efforts of the property owners on 10th street to have that thoroughfare paved, and the probability that this improvement will be made, led to the starting of a movement for an improved roadway all the way to Lake Wichita, as a continuation of 10th street. This matter will be brought up at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and it is believed that some plan can be formulated to accomplish this end. At present, the road to the lake is not in the best of condition and in bad weather its condition is very disagreeable.

To make the needed improvements, it is proposed to enlist the co-operation of the city and the Floral Heights Realty Company to the city limits and to use private contributions, assisted to some extent by the county between the city limits and the lake. Tenth street is to be paved as far as Brook street, and possibly further, and it is proposed to start the graded or macadam road where the paving stops. A total of about six and one-half miles of road is to be improved and it is believed that this could be placed in splendid condition for a total of ten thousand dollars.

Those interested in the plan will take it up with the county commissioners, the city council and the others upon whom they are counting for assistance and will use every means to carry out the scheme. The advantages of a continuous smooth drive way from the business section clear to the lake are very apparent and the move is looked upon with favor.

IN SOCIETY'S REALM

A BONNET SONG.

Bonnets big and bonnets small;
 Bonnets low and bonnets tall;
 Bonnets round and bonnets square—
 Bonnet gossip fills the air.
 Some go scooting to a point,
 And lop over out of joint;
 Some are scollopy and wide,
 And have dadas on the side;
 Some are loaded down with grass,
 Harness buckles, garden sass,
 Turkey feathers, roosters' tails,
 Big rosettes and freckled veils.
 Some have whiskers on the dome
 That you have to brush and comb;
 Some slope downward like a pan,
 And look fine on Mary Ann;
 Some are felt, devoid of frill—
 These a long-felt want to fill—
 Some like colanders are made,
 Decked with flowers of every shade—
 Roses green and roses blue,
 Violets of a pinkish hue;
 Some like mushrooms slope down much,
 Hiding switches, rats and such;
 Some are trimmed with fuzz and fur—
 Look so neat and warm on Her;
 Some are slim and some are fat,
 But she doesn't care for that.
 She'll bring home one high and nice
 High in shape, and also, price.

large number of guests from this and neighboring towns. The grand march was led by Newton Maer and Miss Sibyl Kemp at 9 o'clock, after which a program of twenty dances was carried out. Special cars conveyed the crowd to and from the lake and this ride was a very enjoyable feature, the young people enlivening the trip by singing and making merry in other ways. The affair was a thoroughly enjoyable one and sustained the reputation of Elkdom for hospitality.

Floral Club.

The Flora's celebrated their San Jacinto program with Mrs. Ed Orr at her home on 10th street on last Tuesday.

In response to roll-call each member gave a brief sketch from the life of her favorite Texas hero.

Mrs. Heredith read a splendid paper on "The Struggle of Texas for Her Independence and Development." General Sam Houston lived again in memory while Mrs. Orlopp described him from his early life to the close of his services for Texas.

Bowie and Crockett were then discussed with reverential feelings for the two bravest men that defended the Alamo.

Mrs. Harry Robertson then read the "Hymn of the Alamo" that aroused our patriotic blood to its full height. Mesdames Saunders, Kennedy and Harris then delighted us with several musical selections, after which we were thoroughly reviewed in parliamentary law.

There will be no meeting of the Floral Club next Tuesday. Several of the members will attend the annual convention at Big Springs.

We will meet again in regular session with Mrs. Harry Robertson, May 3rd.

The Young Ladies' Club was entertained very pleasantly on Saturday afternoon at Forty-two and Five-hundred by Miss Polly Sitton at her home, 907 Bluff street.

Senior Picnic.

Notwithstanding a violent wind the senior class and faculty of the high school celebrated the San Jacinto holiday by taking an outing at the lake. After arriving at this favorite resort each member of the class began an inspection tour of the fair grounds and its environs. By the time notes were compared and the extensive improvements approved, all were prepared to wend their way back to the pavilion where a most delightful lunch was spread, a lunch characterized by the usual senior style and flavor.

The afternoon was passed away by the class in indulging in various amusements. Perhaps the most thrilling experience some had was the boat ride late that afternoon. The "squalls" came up unexpectedly, but the boats were managed by competent oarsmen who encountered little difficulty in reaching the shore. All in all, it was a very pleasant day of frolic and freedom.

The death of Mark Twain comes as a personal loss to every one who has ever read any of his writings. He was blessed, not alone with a rare sense of humor and the ability to make a joke, but with an insight into human nature that made him a philosopher as well as a humorist. Enjoyable as are his humorous writings, it is in those passages where he sounds the depths of philosophy that one loves best to follow him. May every smile that he has brought to the faces of his readers reflect a benediction upon his soul.

An official of the treasury department at Washington has stated to a committee of the house that there is no law to punish an employe of the department of the treasury for appropriating any part of the government funds to his own use. It is also stated that no bonds are required of employes in that department.

James T. Denton's plan to take the headquarters of the Commercial Clubs Association away from Wichita Falls is a lovely one. The Times favors voting him a pewter medal for his ingenuity, resourcefulness and the other attributes that made him the greatest secretary Henrietta ever had.

Somewhere between the first verse of the first chapter of Genesis and the last verse of the last chapter of Revelations, there is a verse that "all things come to him who waits." It is comforting to know that the streets will eventually be paved.

Texas veterans attending the reunion at Mobile will no doubt favor the selection of Little Rock as the meeting place next year, that city offering a strong bid for the meeting.

Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas favors Harmon for president on the democratic ticket, with a strong man from the south for second place.

The sending of that fatal letter to the wrong Mr. Hopkins by Luther Nickels must make the latter feel like thirty cents.

Wall Street's View of It.
Wall Street Journal.
The election to congress of Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, in that rock-ribbed Massachusetts Republican stronghold, the Fourteenth congressional district, over William R. Buchanan, Republican, is the most important political event of the year, and it ought to be apparent that political developments will from now on until the fall election have a larger place in the consideration of Wall street than at any time since President Taft succeeded Mr. Roosevelt. To turn a Republican plurality of 14,250 into a Democratic plurality of 5,640, as Mr. Foss did, is not merely a big Democratic victory; it is a real revolution in the Republican party against Mr. Taft's leadership, his persistent defense of the Aldrich-Cannon machine. Only a few weeks ago an unknown Democrat was elected by a greatly increased plurality to the vacancy in the district of Missouri held by the late Congressman De Armond, and this defeat in Massachusetts is but additional handwriting on the wall.

How will Wall street interpret this plain verdict that the sun will surely set this year against the Republican party unless it mends its ways speedily and does something of real and lasting benefit to the nation? Some persons of narrow views may believe that the blow in Senator Lodge's state spells reaction and a disturbance to a continuation of our prosperity. Such a deduction is wholly unwarranted. The party dominated by Aldrich and Cannon had until the reverse came in Massachusetts become so thoroughly hardened and careless and so thoroughly wrapped up in the consciousness of its own power, that nothing short of the drastic drubbing in the old Bay state could awake it from its fool's paradise. The supposed menace of the reopening of the tariff question is no menace at all. It is plain now that we as a nation cannot much longer hold our prestige in the world of commerce if we are to be bound hand and foot by ruinous tariff laws, which have so strengthened competitive nations and fettered our own manufacturers. The hastening of the day when these barriers shall be broken through will mean not reaction and danger, but a release from fetters which our people would have better thrown off many years ago. There is nothing but hope and promise of better things in the smashing blow the Republicans have received in Massachusetts.

SENATOR BILBO IS DEFIANT.

He Declares He Will See Opponents in Hell Before He Resigns.
State Senator Theodore Bilbo, who figured conspicuously in the recent senatorial investigation at Jackson, Miss., has issued a statement which he declared would be his last statement. In it he says:

"The fight at Jackson was between the people and a clean government on one side and mercenary politicians and corporate influences on the other."
He said he stood with the former class. Senator Bilbo charged that the senatorial investigation was made with the avowed purpose of "white-washing the guilty parties, confusing the public as to real facts and expelling and condemning me."
He gives two reasons for refusing to resign: First, "Because I was elected and sworn to represent the people of the Fourth district of Mississippi, and secondly, because I would see those 28 senators in hell before I would gratify their desires."

Senator Bilbo refers to the senators who voted against him.

FADS AND FASHIONS.

New York, April 23.—There is no longer any doubt that the limp Directoire draperies have been completely driven from the field by the overskirts, tunics, double skirts and flounces. The new double skirt effects are undoubtedly youthful and charming and far more becoming than the clinging draperies of the winter season. The fashion pattern books abound with models of apron overskirts or tunics in pointed or rounded effects, and the style is so easy to make up satisfactorily and lends itself to such pretty trimming effects that we shall see many frocks of the apron tunic character this summer.

There are also other varieties of the double skirt, the Russian blouse, or smock, and the long crusader tunic, which falls almost to the ankles. The latter style is the dernier cri in Paris just now and most of the lately imported gowns show this long tunic rather than the abbreviated apron style of drapery.

The crusader tunic is fastened directly down the front or a little to one side of the front, and has the effect of a loose garment confined by a broad belt or girdle at the waist. This belt is worn rather loose, often, in the case of the leather belts, which are particularly fashionable, falling below the waist in front. Of course, this makes the figure more bulky than the snugly drawn belt, but the peasant style, that Paris is now affecting, does not encourage trim and snug figure lines. If one is slender enough to stand it one may be as loose and comfortable as one pleases in the baggy, belted peasant smocks and tunics which are just now the grande chic. Women of ample proportions, however, can make themselves presentable only in such dresses, if they wear suitable long corsets and the thinnest kind of undergarments.

A feature of the peasant blouse is its seamless shoulder, the sleeve being cut all in one with the body of the garment. Seams are run in beneath the sleeve and down the sides of the garment; and in the genuine peasant smock a square patch of the material is always set in at the joining of these under-arm and under-sleeve seams. This square patch is to be found in most of the French blouses imitating the peasant style, though amateur dressmakers are prone to omit this mark of genuineness in the blouse. The square patch gives freedom when the arm is raised and adds extra strength to the garment.

Sometimes the peasant snoulder is suggested by a trimming over the top of the bodice, the sleeve being cut and set into the garment in the ordinary manner. One of the fashionable shops displayed an extremely smart model, having a crusader tunic made of one of the new voile foulards which are almost transparent in weave, and this tunic was mounted over a skirt flounce of plain-colored satin. The tunic was in a pale amethyst tint with stripes of deep hyacinth on which were rows of white dots, and the satin flounce was in the hyacinth shades. The girdle was also made of hyacinth satin and white coloring. Across the shoulders and extending down over the sleeves was an emplacement of lighter amethyst satin embroidered in self color and white, and this satin emplacement covering shoulder and arm seams, gave the effect of a seamless peasant blouse.

Paris has taken up gingham for warm-winter costumes and has placed the stamp of its approval upon that once decidedly plebeian material. However, the gingham affected by the French women of fashion, bear but little resemblance to the old fashioned cotton material of that name. Some of the new gingham are quite as expensive as silk. Often, as far as the material goes, one may pay quite as much for one's Scotch gingham morning frock as for the afternoon costume of foulard; and the gingham frock may be quite as smart in its way as the more ambitious model of silk. The silk novelty gingham are particularly fine and light in texture and the colorings are very soft and beautiful.

Foulards, linens, batiste, chiffons and even the practical gingham, come with graceful border patterns along one edge, and these bordered materials make up splendidly into double-skirted effects. The long crusader tunic and the skirt beneath often show a border on each, and these skirts, when worn rather short, to show the wearer's foot and ankle, are exceedingly youthful and graceful in effect, provided the wearer has a slender figure. Bulky women look like a fright in such a costume, however.

Though not literally in double-skirt effect, the chiffon tunics over summer foulards are exceedingly dainty and charming. These tunics are usually in the crusader style, with a loose, belted blouse attached to a long skirt which hangs about the knee. A French tunic shown on some imported models, but not greatly favored in this country, is of two shades of chiffon, a darker yoke and hem being added to a tunic of light tint. The plain covered tunics, however, are prettiest over the patterned foulards, and some very charming effects are achieved by a harmonious blending of tints. For instance a wood brown chiffon tunic was hung over a green foulard, a smoke gray tunic over an old blue and white pattern; a light green tunic over a darker green silk, and so on. Rose colored foulards are usually draped with black chiffon, and one very smart model of this sort showed a red and white foulard in the broken sided square design called "rooster track," in accordance with the present Chantecler fad, over which was draped a black chiffon tunic. Hat and parasol were in the brilliant Chantecler, or cockscomb red.

It is reported from the Riviera that parasols in deep, positive tones are much in vogue and will undoubtedly be fashionable during the coming season. These solid one-color effects are in coaching style, usually with the elongated stick. This, however, is not so extreme as to be classified as Directoire, but is rather a compromise between the short English stick and the extremely long Directoire.

Bright royal blue is the favorite; next in order are the bronze greens. These parasols are chosen in harmony with some other accessory, such as the hat, the veil or the boiserie. In addition to the Chantecler handles for parasols there are also some exquisite new things in colored enamel on metal.

Surveying as Far West as New Mexico.

Special to The Times.
Quanah, April 23.—The directors and stockholders of the Q. A. & P. met in regular session Tuesday. A number of towns were represented, urging the railroad to extend from Paducah in the direction of the New Mexico border.

Whatever hesitancy the railroad officials may have felt in going to work on this extension, which embraces one piece of extensive railroad building, viz: Going upon the cap rock, it soon disappeared when they noticed the ardent spirit of the plains people, who, without exception pledged big bonuses and hearty support to the new railroad.

Surveyors will be sent into the field shortly to run a line as far west as New Mexico, as far as their present charter permits them to go.

The old officers for the Q. A. & P. were all re-elected, while the capital stock of the road was increased from $70,000 to $250,000, and a bond issue decided upon as high as $30,000 per mile.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., April 23.—President Taft and Andrew Carnegie will be the chief speakers Monday afternoon at the dedication of the Carnegie Library building at Howard University. The following day the president and Mr. Carnegie will also speak at the formal dedicatory exercises of the new home of the International Bureau of American Republics recently completed in the national capital. At the latter function the participants will also include the members of the cabinet and the diplomatic representatives of all of the South and Central American republics and Mexico.

Several important congressional hearings are scheduled for the week. A series of hearings on the proposal to establish a parcels post will begin Monday before the house committee on postoffices and post roads. On the same day the senate committee on manufactures will begin a hearing on Senator Lodge's bill prohibiting the cold storage for more than one year of foodstuffs which may pass into interstate commerce.

The political situation in Indiana will take on added interest Wednesday when the democrats will assemble in state convention in Indianapolis and respond by the nomination of a ticket and the adoption of a platform to the action recently taken by the republicans who adopted resolutions of a decidedly "insurgent" character. Another feature of the democratic convention that is awaited with interest is the action that will be taken in respect to the suggestion of Governor Marshall to endorse a candidate for the United States Senate.

Former President Roosevelt is scheduled to remain in Paris until the latter part of the week, when he will go to Brussels for a day's visit and thence on to the Hague for a stay of equally short duration.

Two much-discussed and oft-postponed court cases are to come up for trial Monday in widely separated parts of the country. In San Francisco the second trial for bribery of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United States Railroads, is scheduled to begin. In New York, in the United States Circuit Court, F. Augustus Heize, the "copper king" of Montana and New York, is to be placed on trial on charges of over-certification and misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank.

The important conventions of the week will include the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans in Mobile, the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in New York, the National Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution in Toledo, the meeting of the National Society of Colonial Dames in Washington and the meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers in Boston.

WITH THE FIGHTERS

Bill Papke's next fight will be with Frank Klaus in San Francisco. Ray Bronson denies the report that he is to quit the ring for two years.

Battling Nelson will spend several months on his ranch and then will be ready for Ad Wolgast.

In Australia they are betting 6 to 4 that Johnson will defeat Jeffries. We don't know whether this is money they are betting or not.

San Francisco promoters seem to be unable to decipher the harsh language used by Tommy Burns when he says, "25,000 won, lose or draw with Langford."

General Elections in France.

Paris, April 23.—Were it not for the multi-colored election posters with which all public buildings and bulletin boards in Paris and everywhere throughout France are plastered over, visiting strangers would scarcely suspect that France is on the very eve of a general election, to be held tomorrow, with second ballots, where necessary to be cast on May 8. So little that one might be led to believe that politics in France were in a state of profound apathy. That is not so, however.

It is quite true that the election to be held tomorrow promises to be extremely quiet and uneventful, but this should not be interpreted as an indication that the voters take no interest in the issues and the final result of the election contests. The apparent apathy, aside from certain instances in which local issues have caused a mild form of excitement, may be accounted for by the fact that there is no contention between great issues before the country at this time.

The great majority of voters are satisfied with the administration in power and do not wish a change. Premier Briand, as the successor of the able Clemenceau, has been at the helm of the government during a most trying period in the history of the republic. With admirable skill and infinite tact he avoided the dangerous rifts during the tempestuous agitation and with which the separation of the church and state was accompanied. With unimpeachable firmness, but, at the same time, avoiding all unnecessary friction, he carried out the policy of the government and thus won the respect even of those who opposed the principles of a separation.

M. Briand proved himself a man of exceptional ability, a statesman of shrewdness and perspicacity, a politician of tact and, above all, a most thorough, honest and fearless man and a staunch republican. His political and administrative record is clean and above reproach and even the extremists of the opposition, the extreme socialists and ultra conservatives have no fault to find with M. Briand as a citizen or official. Therein lies his strength. Even the disclosures of the malodorous Duez scandal, showing an almost incredible corruption in the administration of the church property expropriated by the state, did not weaken M. Briand's strength. Calmly he disarmed his enemies by pointing to the fact that it was he who, as Minister of Justice, had called attention to the corruption and had instituted a system of investigation, which led to the exposure of the frauds and defalcations. Thus the scandal itself and the severe punishment of the offenders, instead of weakening Briand's position, materially increased his prestige.

Although far from being an extremist, M. Briand originally came from the ranks of the socialists. This fact took the wind out of the sails of the extreme wing of the opposition and made effective parliamentary polemics between them and the government practically impossible. At the same time the moderation and conservatism manifested by the essentially bourgeois cabinet under M. Briand's leadership in carrying out its programs has disarmed the extreme Right, composed of the various Royalist elements.

M. Briand is a hard and conscientious worker and has surrounded himself with men equally capable and willing to work indefatigably. His ability and resourcefulness during the critical time of the disastrous floods won him general esteem and his strong endorsement of proportional representation, which may be considered the main issue at tomorrow's election, made his position practically impregnable. There is scarcely any doubt that tomorrow's election will result in a victory of the government.

Stirring Times 50 Years Ago Today.

Charleston, S. C., April 23.—Today marked the fiftieth anniversary of the assembling of the historic national democratic convention in Charleston, one of the stirring events which immediately preceded the war. The convention was symbolic of the times. No candidate was chosen, though the convention lasted many days, this because of a disagreement between the northern and southern sections of the party on the slavery question. The southern delegates bolted the convention. The anti-slavery delegates met at Baltimore in June and named Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois for president. About the same time the ultra-southernists met and nominated John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky for president and Joseph Lane of Oregon for vice president.

THE TYPEWRITER LEAGUE

After May 15 no major league club will be permitted to carry more than twenty-five men.

Collins, the new Dove outfielder, is having heaps of trouble in the sun garden in Boston.

"Nap" Lajole is playing first for Cleveland and playing it as it should be played.

The weather man certainly had a swell batting average the opening day in the big leagues.

"Hack" Spencer has gone into business in St. Paul, but will continue to catch for the Saints.

Columbia, S. C., has a player by the name of Schwietzka. Do as you like, take it or leave it.

It must be the most valuable billiard parlor in the world that Johnny Kling owns in Kansas City.

"Bud" Sharpe is holding down first base for the Pittsburgh champions and so far has shown the genuine brand.

The Cleveland fans feel awfully sorry when the Blues beat Detroit. They feel so sorry that they have to laugh out loud.

Del Mason, the old Brooklyn pitcher, will perhaps be given a trial by Manager Joe Kelley of the Toronto team.

With Walter Johnson pitching the Johnson teasers the Washington team looks good enough for select company.

"Bugs" Raymond narrowly escaped catching the hookworm while in the south. He was about to drink a glass of ginger ale when he discovered his mistake.

All the private boxes at the Polo Grounds have been sold for the season which means a revenue of $90,000 for the owners of the New York Nationals.

When the Giants are ahead Arlie Latham cuts up like the very mischief on the coaching lines, but when the Giants fall behind Arlie goes to the bench and wraps up his feet.

Opening of Brussels Exposition.

Brussels, April 23.—The Universal and International Exposition opened in Brussels today, to continue through the coming summer and fall. While there is no pretense that it is to be conducted on the vast cosmopolitan lines of Paris or St. Louis, the exposition is the greatest and most interesting scheme of the kind yet undertaken in Belgium. It is general in scope, and all the principal European countries are represented. One of the most attractive features is the international art salon containing the largest collection of paintings from all sources ever presented in Brussels.

Churches to Hold Tuberculosis Day.

New York, April 23.—Advises received by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis indicate that "Tuberculosis Sunday" will be widely observed tomorrow by the churches throughout the country. In the churches of nearly all denominations special sermons will be preached in favor of the anti-tuberculosis crusade and literature distributed to the members of the various congregations teaching that the disease is a dangerous one and that it can be prevented and cured by sufferers adhering to the directions issued by the local leagues and state boards.

Feast of the Passover.

New York, N. Y., April 23.—The celebration of the Jewish festival of "Pesach," or the Passover, begins at sunset this evening, and will continue with more or less formality in the Jewish community for the next eight days. It is the first festival of the Jewish ecclesiastical year and, according to tradition, it was instituted by Moses to commemorate the miraculous escape of the children of Israel from Egypt, where they had been held in bondage for upward of 400 years.

Hambleton-McAlpin Wedding.

New York, N. Y., April 23.—A wedding of interest to society today was that of Miss Adelaide McAlpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. McAlpin, and Thomas Edward Hambleton, son of the late Gen. Frank S. Hambleton of Baltimore. The ceremony took place this afternoon in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. Coffin officiating. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed.

University Cable Chess Match.

Princeton, N. J., April 23.—Play in the cable chess match between teams representing the British and American universities for the international challenge trophy presented by Isaac L. Rice began at ten o'clock this morning, the Americans playing in Alexander Hall of Princeton University, while the English players were quartered in the rooms of the Metropolitan Chess Club of London.

D. 1910, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 7th day of April, A. D. 1910, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 3917, wherein Emma P. Kemp is plaintiff and Cabel Hairston, Sr.; Willie Hairston, Anna Hairston, Nettie Hairston, Lula Hairston and Cabel Hairston, Jr., and the unknown heirs of P. H. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT THE SORBONNE

INDIVIDUAL CITIZENSHIP IS HIS SUBJECT IN ADDRESS OF THIS MORNING.

AVERAGE MUST BE GOOD

Standards of Citizenship Must be Kept High and That of Leaders Higher.

By Associated Press
Paris, April 23.—In his lecture today at the Sorbonne, Col. Theodore Roosevelt spoke on individual citizenship in the republics of France and the United States. In part he said: "With you here and with us in my own home, in the long run, success or failure will be conditioned upon the way in which the average man, the average woman, does his or her duty, first in the ordinary, every-day affairs of life, and next, in those great occasional crises which call for the heroic virtues. The average citizen must be a good citizen if our republics are to succeed. The stream will not permanently rise higher than the main source; and the main source of national power and national greatness is found in the average citizenship of the nation. Therefore it behooves us to do our best to see that the standard of the average citizen is kept high; and the average cannot be kept high unless the standard of the leaders is very much higher."

"It is well if a large proportion of the leaders in any republic, in any democracy, are, as a matter of course, drawn from the classes represented in this audience today; but only provided that those classes possess the gifts of sympathy with plain people and of devotion to great ideals. You and those like you have received special advantages; you have all of you had the opportunity for mental training; many of you have had leisure; most of you have had a chance for the enjoyment of life far greater than comes to the majority of your fellows. To you and your kind much has been given, and from you much should be expected."

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marked by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasm, the great devotion; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat. Shame on the man of cultivated taste who permits refinement to develop in a fastidiousness that unfits him for doing the rough work of a workaday world. Among the free people who govern themselves there is but a small field of usefulness open for the men of cloistered life who shrink from contact with their fellows. Still less room is there for those who deride or slight what is done by those who actually bear the brunt of the day; nor yet for those others who always profess that they would like to take action. If only the conditions of life were not what they actually are."

"I pay all homage to intellect; and yet, I know I shall have the assent of all you present when I add that more important still are the commonplace, every-day qualities and virtues."

"Such ordinary, every-day qualities include the will and the power to work, to fight at need, and to have plenty of healthy children. There are a few people in every country so born that they can lead lives of leisure. These fill a useful function if they make it evident that leisure does not mean idleness. But the average man must earn his own livelihood. He should be trained to feel that he occupies a contractor to feel that he occupies a contemptible position if he does not do so; that he is not an object of envy if he is idle, at which ever end of the social scale he stands, but an object of contempt, an object of derision."

"In the next place, the good man should be both a strong and a brave man; that is, he should be able to fight, he should be able to serve his country as a soldier if the need arises. There are well meaning philosophers who declaim against the unrighteousness of war. They are right only if they lay all their emphasis upon the unrighteousness. War is a dreadful thing, and unjust war is a crime against humanity. But it is such a crime because it is unjust, not because it is war. The choice must ever be in favor of righteousness, and this, whether the alternative be peace or whether the alternative be war. The question must not be mere, 'Is there to be peace or war?' The question must be, 'Is right to prevail?' Are the great laws of righteousness once more to be fulfilled? And the answer from a strong and virtile people must be, 'Yes.' Whatever the cost."

"Finally, even more important than ability to work, even more important than ability to fight at need, is it to remember that the chief of blessings for any nation is that it shall leave its seed to inherit the land. It was the crown of blessings in Biblical times; and it is the crown of blessings now. The greatest of all curses is the curse of sterility, and the severest of all condemnations should be that visited upon willing sterility. The first essential in any civilization is that the man and the woman shall be father and mother of healthy children, so that the race shall increase and not decrease. If this not so, if through no fault of the society there is failure to increase, it is a great misfortune. If the failure is due to deliberate and willful fault, then it is not merely a misfortune, it is not one of those crimes of ease and self-indulgence, of shrinking from pain and effort and risk, which in the long run Nature punishes more heavily than any other. If we of the great republics, if we, the free people who claim to have emancipated ourselves from the thralldom of wrong and error, bring down on our heads the curse that comes upon the willfully barren, then it will be an idle waste of breath to prattle of our achievements, to boast of all that we have done. No refinement of life, no delicacy of taste, no material progress, no sordid heaping up of riches, no sensuous developments of art and literature, can in any way compensate for the loss of these great fundamental virtues; and of these great fundamental virtues, the greatest is the race's power to perpetuate the race."

"In short, the good citizen in a republic must realize that he ought to possess two extra sets of qualities, and that neither avails without the other. He must have those qualities which make for efficiency; and he must also have those qualities which direct the efficiency into channels for the public good. He is useless if he is inefficient. There is nothing to be whom all that can be said is that he is harmless. Virtue which is dependent upon a sluggish circulation is not impressive. There is little place in active life for the timid good man. The man who is saved by weakness from robust wickedness is likewise rendered immune from the robust virtues. The good citizen in a republic must, first of all, be able to hold his own. He is no good citizen unless he has the ability which will make him work hard and which at need will make him fight hard. The good citizen is not a good citizen unless he is an efficient citizen."

"There are plenty of men calling themselves socialists with whom, up to a time point, it is quite possible to work. If the next step is one which both we and they wish to take, why, of course, take it, without any regard to the fact that our views as to the tenth step may differ. But, on the other hand, keep clearly in mind that, although it has been worth while to take one step, this does not in the least mean that it may not be highly disadvantageous to take the next."

"The good citizen will demand liberty for himself, and as a matter of pride he will see to it that others receive the liberty which he thus claims as his own. Probably the best of true love of liberty in any country is the way in which minorities are treated in that country. Not only should there be complete liberty in matters of religion and opinion, but complete liberty for each man to lead his life as he desires, provided only that in so doing he does not wrong his neighbor."
