NEW BUILDINGS TO BE ERECTED SOON

WORK WILL START THIS MONTH ON SEVERAL STRUCTURES IN BUSINESS SECTION.

OTHERS BEING PLANNED

Building With 200-Foot Frontage At Ohio and Ninth Street is Contemplated.

Work is to be started during May on several new business buildings in this city. The contract for the Knight building at the corner of 9th street and Indiana avenue will be awarded shortly and work started about May 20. The plans for this building were drawn by an Ennis architect and call for a two-story structure, 50 by 100 feet, fronting on Indiana avenue. Two store rooms will occupy the lower floor, while the upper story will be used for offices. The building will cost about twenty thousand dollars.

The contract will be awarded tomorrow for the Henderson-Bacon building on the south side of Ohio avenue between 8th and 9th streets. This will also be a two-story building and will be occupied by a garage on the first floor and by offices upstairs.

Another contract to be awarded shortly is that of the Jackson-Hines building on 8th street, back of Millers' drug store. This will be a two or three story structure, with three rooms downstairs.

It is reported that plans are under way for a building at the corner of 9th street and Ohio avenue, on the lots owned by O. T. Bacon. The building will have a 200-foot frontage on Ohio avenue and will be at least two stories in height, possibly more. This building depends largely upon the settlement of the union depot question. Several local business men will join in putting up this structure.

The new commercial college has rented the upper story of the Friberg building, now under construction on Ohio between 8th and 9th streets. The lower floor of this building will be used by mercantile establishments.

Work on the clearing of the site for the 5-story office building at 8th and Ohio will commence this week.

RAILROADS NEGLECT SOUTH.

Comparison is Made With Energy of Canada.

"In your many commendable efforts to wake the sleeping southern railroads," writes T. Alreed Petersen of Nashville, Tenn., "you fail to stress one important fact: The almost superhuman efforts of the people and railroads of Canada are fast populating the waste places of that country with thrifty American settlers. Every moment of sloth on part of the southern railroads is being capitalized at those ends of dollars by the never-sleeping Canadian boosters. Why not jog them a little along this line.

We had not specifically emphasized the point mentioned by Mr. Petersen, for the reason that we assumed the southern people understood, with out explanation, the forces behind the 75,000 annual heira to the Dominion of Canada.

It cannot, however, be too persistently reiterated that, as our correspondent says, the railroads and people of Canada are both making "almost superhuman efforts" to build up their territories at the expense of Mexico.

It is also true that southern states offer opportunities, both industrial and agricultural, as rich and endless and varied as those held out by the Dominion.

In addition, the south offers a stable civilization, established industries, consanguinity of origin, as against the new government, shifting institutions and motley racial mixtures of the Dominion.

Upon every count in the indictment the supremacy of the south cannot be questioned.

Yet the southern railroads, whose interest would seem to lie in developing the south, let 75,000 dividend-makers annually cross the border into a strange country!

Mr. Petersen employs a happy phrase when he says that "every moment of southern sloth is being capitalized at thousands of dollars by the never sleeping Canadian boosters."

$40,000 CAPITAL STOCK

Will Employ Forty Men and Have Substantial Amount of Weekly Payroll.

Practically all of the stock in the furniture and mattress factory which is to be established here has been subscribed and little difficulty is anticipated in having the remainder taken up. M. H. Brin, who is promoting the new concern, will return here in July to make this city his residence and to actively take up his new work. He has contracts at present which will not terminate until July. It is probable that work will be put under way before he returns.

The new concern will really be three separate departments, including a retail furniture store, a furniture finishing and jobbing department and a mattress factory. The furniture-finishing department will import unfinished "knocked-down" chairs and tables from factories in North Carolina, which will be set up, finished and varnished in the local plant. The mattress factory will make mattresses of cotton and excelsior. The former will be purchased and cleaned locally, a special machine cutting out of cotton wood, which can also be obtained in this neighborhood.

The company will have a capital stock of forty thousand dollars and will employ about forty men, the payroll being from one to two thousand dollars per week. It will occupy a three-story building and is considered a valuable addition to Wichita Falls industries.

FARMERS' UNION IN SESSION TODAY

PRESIDENT BARRETT DELIVERS
OPENING ADDRESS AT CON-VENTION AT ST. LOUIS.

"FARMER IS WAKING UP"

Declares that Outlook for Continued
Betterment of Rural Conditions
is Good.

By Associated Press.
St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—President Barrett began his address by saying: "As the representative of 3,000,000 militant American farmers, whose organizer army are as one flank upon the Atlantic and the other upon the Pacific Ocean, I give to you a cordial greeting which shall know no boundaries of state or section, no narrowness or political partisanship or bigotry, but a tolerance as broad as justice and as wide as that sincerity that underlies our common heritage of American citizenship."

"For first we are Americans! After that, we are farmers! and it is as Americans that we greet you in good faith, bidding you rejoice with us in the dawning of that day when the most distinguished men of our nation pay homage to the might and the problems of the long-neglected farmers."

"Without let or hindrance, suppression or censorship, we shall discuss the problems that effect the feeders and clothers of the people—save only that in our deliberations we shall avoid those topics and refer to the hysteria or the passion of partisan politics. As the ultimate analysis, let us not forget that the partisan or personnel element in politics or statesmanship is transient and passing. That which abides always is principle. And it is lasting principles that we shall debate, free of the embarrassment of that acrimony invariably attending the complication of short lived political platforms or their authors."

Mr. Barrett said: "The American farmer of tradition has been the farmer of the more or less humorous cartoon or caricature, variously represented as fair prey to the green goods man or the gold brick artist."

"And, he continued, the farmer has been slow in awakening. His environment, in the first place, was against his awakening. The tardiness of facilities for communication, the infrequency with which newspapers penetrated to the far rural districts, and the natural suspicion which is a part of his temperament all militated to keep him in shackles as to his own power, and his duty of self government in the premises."

"The era of sleep is at an end; the era of wakefulness to self-duty, to the obligation of self help, to the obligation of duty to country is already dawning; I do not say that the farmer as a class, is roused to his national importance and to his national obligations. But I do assert, with all the emphasis at my command, and supported by all the experience of a life time, that the leaven or readjustment, of revolutionary change, is stirring throughout the mass of the American Farmer."

After stating that vandalism and graft are being eliminated from our political life, the speaker said: "We are standing more resolutely each day for a literal interpretation of the doctrine of the 'square-deal.' We are determined that the people and not the politicians shall rule."

"He said: 'The Farmers' Union is responsible both for the awakened farmer and the awakened nation, as regards the farmer.'

"Our principles and our way of applying them, must be sound, for we have increased from less than 50,000 membership six years ago to a membership today rising 3,000,000. Throughout the Southern States we are well organized. In the middle west we are formally organized and our numbers are rapidly growing. This year we have perfected organizations in several western and Pacific slope states, and we shall soon invade New England."

"In the South we have succeeded in obtaining for the farmer a reasonable price for his backbone staple, cotton. That means we have ministered to every phase of southern commerce, that we have laid every southerner under obligations to us, for cotton is the financial barometer of the southern states. In the middle west, we are recording headway in handling, in a scientific and equitable manner, wheat and corn. In the far west, we are accomplishing results in the systematizing of the fruit industry, and of general agricultural products."

"The financial success of our program is important, but it is exceeded by our moral and intellectual progress and evolution. Through our national state and local organizations we have been persistently preaching scientific agriculture, diversified agriculture, conservation of soil resources, rotation of crops."

"Our warehouse system in the south, our warehouse cooperative business enterprises throughout the middle and far west, are revolutionizing the viewpoint of the farmer."

Pleading for sincere, constructive leadership among the farmers, President Barrett said in the degree that this prevails, now and in the days to come, "we shall solve the agricultural problems perplexing the best and most consecrated thought of this country."

He said the selfish leadership is inevitable incendiary and destructive. "For its almost criminally-selfish aims, it is willing to turn the farmer against his neighbor, against the merchant, against the banker, against the resident of the city. It is leader-clip-for-revenue-only, without one redeeming aspiration.

"A distinct part of the rural problem is the cultivation of a better, and a more cooperative spirit between the city man and the countryman. After all, they have almost everything in common. We are both interested in the curbing and purging, not the destruction, of great agencies of civilization. We are both interested in building up a more staunch American citizenship, free of pollution from damaging alien strains, bred and brought up to fulfill the ideal of pure and militant Americanism. And unless we realize this close mutual relation, we shall both suffer."

Speaking of the campaign of the Farmer's Union for the enactment of certain national legislation, Mr. Barrett said: "Politicians in general have paid and are paying more attention to the farmer, and that is because the farmer is paying more attention to the politician. Once let the public officer conceive the idea that he is being watched continually by his constituent, and that the latter is carefully comparing promise with performance, and we shall elevate the standard of public service in this country. I have urged upon Farmers' Union members to refuse to let their attitude toward their congressmen be colored by any trivial gifts on the part of the congressman, the bribery of a petty office for a relative, or a cordial handshake from the great man himself. The test of worthiness of continued endorsement at the polls, is deeds, not flattery, and that man is a traitor to his country, and to his ideals who betrays his fellows by considering a public obligation cancelled by a private favor."

Continuing he said: "The farmer has gained but a small fraction of his share in the benefits of American development, because he deluded himself, or was deluded, into believing, he had no control."

"Today, in the might of his interest, and in the strength of his organization, irresistible in its increasing numbers, he is master of the situation."

"The farmer is no longer asleep!

"In his waking, he is invincible!"

"He demands to be treated, not as the easily deluded, the easily controlled or easily pacified farmer. He demands to be treated as an American citizen, like every other class of American citizens."

"He is no longer pleading. He is commanding. As an American citizen, the most important division of American citizens, he knows his rights! And knowing, the Lord God Almighty has given him the courage to maintain them."

Farmers Meet to Urge Legislation.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—The eyes of politicians throughout the country will turn this week towards St. Louis, where representatives of 10,000,000 farmers are to meet in convention to discuss "Needed State and National Legislation and to establish bureaus at different capitals to see that the demands of the farmer are heard and to devise means of making the farm more attractive so that the proposed solution of the economic problem—back to the farm—may be made possible."

The gathering, which will begin its sessions tomorrow, is to be held under the joint auspices of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America, which comprises twenty-nine compact state organizations with an aggregate membership of 3,500,000, and the American Society of Equity, with a membership of 2,500,000. Other farmers' organizations with memberships amounting to more than 3,000,000 have been invited to participate in the deliberations.

If for no other reason, the convention would attract wide attention because of the large number of eminent speakers that are to be heard. The list is headed by President Taft, who has accepted an invitation to address the convention Wednesday. Other men of national prominence who will be heard, are Senators Gore and Owen of Oklahoma, Governor Hadley of Missouri, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Col. John Temple Graves of New York, Thomas Watson of Georgia and Congressman Cantrill. The commissioners of agriculture of a number of the southern and western states will also be included among the speakers.

But the real importance of the convention is believed to lie in the fact that it will mark the debut of the American farmer as a politician. President Barrett of the Farmers' Union emphatically denies that his organization has any intention of joining the formation of a new political party. Notwithstanding this denial, it is recognized by all that the work of organizing the farmers, especially in the south and west, has made such strides in the last few years that the Farmers' Union is certain to be forced to the front politically, and that even if the union does not carry the primaries or elections and secure the offices, it will, nevertheless, be able to compel the politicians and officials to adopt its views on agricultural and economic questions.

History does not record a more phenomenal growth than that of the Farmers' Union. The organization was first formed in Texas in the early '90's and started its career with a membership of ten persons. Today it covers all of the states of the south, the southwest and a large section of the west and has millions of signed members. As an organization, it has, so far, managed to steer clear of political entanglements. The leaders still insist that politics be barred, but their statements are not reassuring to the leaders of the old political parties, who realize that the organization is similar in many respects to the old Farmers' Alliance, which swept Kansas and Nebraska out of the republican column, and which was the forerunner of the populist party. The politicians remember how the leaders of the Farmers' Alliance, twenty years ago, pledged the people that there would be no politics in the organization. Nor have they forgotten how Jerry Simpson, Senator Pfeiffer and others took advantage of the movement.

If the Farmers' Union goes into politics and wins—and many keen observers believe such will be the case—the country is likely to see far more radical legislation in the line of socialism than ever before, for the state credit of state money will be pledged to finance the cotton and other crops, to erect warehouses for their storage, and to control, if not operate, the mills and elevators. Legislation will be asked not only of the states, but of congress, also, to aid the farmers. The first of the laws that will be asked for will be a statute closing the cotton exchanges and boards of trade and making it a felony to speculate in cotton, wheat and similar products of the soil.

In addition to legislation abolishing speculation in farm products, the organization is working for the enactment of federal laws for the establishment of a parcels post and postal savings bank, stringent legislation along the lines of restricting foreign immigration, and more liberality in national and state appropriations toward agricultural projects. The union has also declared itself in opposition to the proposed establishment of a central bank.

A board may be half an inch wider or quarter of an inch thicker at one end than at the other, yet they can't see the difference. They discover the difference, however, when they come to use the lumber. Then they kick.

JOHNSON ON BAILEY.

In a speech delivered at McGregor recently, Cone Johnson, candidate for governor discussed his attitude toward Senator Bailey, and the attitude of the other candidates for governor, using the following language:
"I have no disposition to minimize my part of the Bailey fight," said Mr. Johnson in introducing that subject. "It stands for itself. I fought him honestly from the stump, and was ready to answer for all I said. I had the right to do that. I reserve to myself the inalienable right to take to task every public servant, high or low, from President to Constable, whose conduct doesn't measure up to the standard I think it ought to be, and I wouldn't give up that privilege to be Governor of Texas for life."
"I haven't asked a single friend of Senator Bailey's since the primary two years ago to apologize to me or to give me any explanation of his position, for every man who went into that primary was privileged to shape his course as he deemed wisest. As I have asked none of my friends who supported Senator Bailey to apologize to me, I think it is only right that they should not ask me to apologize for what I did, and they needn't ask me to, for I'm not 'gwine to do it." (Applause.)

"When I announced for Governor some people said that it was mighty close on the heels of the Joe Bailey fight of two years ago for Bailey's friends to take to me like ducks to water. But they forget the fact that every other candidate was also mixed up in that affair.

"Poindexter defended Bailey all over Texas and was considered by Bailey followers the most adroit defender of the Senator's conduct.

"Davidson dug up the snakes and brought on the fight, and the fact that he retired to his office and his cob pipe while the heat of battle raged ought not to give him any special advantage over one who assumed his share of the burden of the day.

"Colquitt has floundered around on both sides of the question and tried to curry favor at the last moment. So I decided that somebody who had been on one side of the question should be Governor, and I would run."

Wichita Falls needs and should by all means have at least one more first class hotel, and it will make but little difference in what particular portion of the business section of the city it shall be located. All of our present hotels are located near the railroad, and they are taxed to their capacity to take care of their guests. In fact, it is often the case that visitors cannot secure desirable accommodations and are therefore forced to go to some second class hotel or rooming house, and take what is offered, which, perhaps, is good enough for the price, but is not satisfactory by any means to a large per cent of the people who visit the city on business or for pleasure, and who have plenty of money and are willing to pay for first class accommodations, rather than put up with such accommodations usually afforded by hotels and rooming houses that make no pretensions to catering to the higher class of hotel trade. The main trouble apparently which confronts or is standing in the way of a modern up-to-date hotel building, is the fact that owners of suitable hotel sites seem to place values on them which are considered entirely out of reason by those who are expected to and who, actuated more through a spirit of enterprise rather than for investment purposes, are willing to subscribe for the stock. The hotels and waiting rooms at the railway stations in any thriving, growing city are to the travelling public the parlors of such cities, and on the conveniences and accommodations afforded by said places depends almost entirely the impressions the average visitor will carry away with him. If they are first class, it means a good advertisement for that town. If bad, the town, which might otherwise be of the live-wire class, is bound to suffer. It is therefore up to the people of Wichita Falls to provide more first class hotels. The $100,000 new union depot is assured. To be in line with this enterprise, it is now in order for Wichita Falls to have another first class hotel.

Commenting upon the speech of Senator Bailey in the senate recently, in which the senator took occasion to criticize the insurgents for their alleged unfaithfulness to the republican party, the Washington Times, the only newspaper in Washington to make editorial comment, said: "It was the sort of speech, coming from a high democratic source, as was deeply pleasing to the existing senate republican leadership. A fine democratic stump speech sentiment, eloquently expressed! No follower of the immortal Jefferson could have done better. But words are one thing and deeds are another."

After all, these commission forms of government are not such tame affairs. In the event the mayor, acting in an official capacity, tramps on the toes or offends any considerable number of his constituents, he is brought to time by the circulation of a petition asking him to resign his office, and as everyone will admit, it is much less difficult to secure signatures to a petition, (it matters little what its terms might be), than it is to get votes in the ballot box, the requisite number of signatures are soon obtained, and Mr. Mayor will have to step down and out, for the time being at least, and in order to vindicate his act, offer for re-election. That part of a commission form of government ought to furnish excitement in abundance, and from the experience of some cities which have adopted it, it begins to look as if a mayor's election can be pulled off every thirty days. Denison is now asking her mayor, elected April 6th, to resign before he had served a month, and Ardmore, Okla., has started a row of the same nature. It stands to reason that the mayors of both cities will stand for and be re-elected, but there is no limit to the number of times they will have to repeat performance before their term of office expires.

After the nomination of John W. Kern for United States senator by the democratic convention of Indiana, Tom Taggart, who was also a candidate, stated in retiring that he would rather see Kern in the senate than to be elected himself. There are mighty few men who would rather see some one else in the senate than to be there himself, and the general opinion is that Mr. Taggart is not one of the few. Mr. Kern was the nominee of the party for vice-president in 1908.

Commenting upon the fight for the location of the next Confederate reunion at Little Rock, the Arkansas Gazette says: "The vote was taken amid much confusion, due to the tense excitement that prevailed. But when Texas plumped her 427 votes into Little Rock's column the members of the Chattanooga crowd climbed off their stations on the circus seats at the end of the tent and melted away." Certainly. That's a way that Texas has of doing things.

The fight for the removal of the state capital of Oklahoma from Guthrie to Oklahoma City has reached that stage where some of the newspaper men are calling each other liars and other things, and the election is yet several weeks off.

W. J. Bryan predicts that Theodore Roosevelt, upon his return to the United States, will take up the fight of the insurgents against the administration. If that happens, good-bye administration.

Judge Poindexter declares that he will not submit to the alleged plan of the prohibitionists to get him out of the race for governor. He says he will remain in until the last vote is counted.

"THIS IS MY 65th BIRTHDAY."

Oscar W. Farenholt.
Rear Admiral Oscar W. Farenholt, U. S. N., retired, was born near San Antonio, Texas, May 2, 1845, and was educated in the public schools of San Antonio, New Orleans and Pittsburg. At the beginning of the Civil War he entered the navy as a seaman and participated in the battles at Fort Hatteras and Port Royal. In the engagement at Pocotaligo, S. C., he was severely wounded and in consequence received his discharge from the navy. Upon his recovery, however, he re-enlisted in time to take part in some of the stirring naval engagements on the Virginia and Carolina coasts near the close of the war. After the war he had the varied duties of a naval officer, at sea and ashore. In the war with Spain he commanded the gunboat Monocacy and later he was in command of the navy yard at Cavite. Since his retirement from the navy in 1901 Admiral Farenholt has resided in California.

HEINZ always has been the leader in his line of products and here is his latest lead:

He uses fresh apples as a filler in making both strawberry and blackberry preserves.

The combination is a delicious surprise.

This combination is not used so much to cheapen the product, as to get the combined flavor of both fruits and yet it does lower the cost, considerably, for Heinz strawberry and blackberry and cherry preserves—PURE—sell at 90c and $1.00 per crock, while the combination sells at 75c PER CROCK.

Don't fail to order a crock of this, as you are sure to like it immensely.

of the fine and ultra palatable in pickles is found in the Heinz Line. Heinz Pickles, whether in bulk or in bottles, are uniform in size and color and exactly right in flavor and quality. We call special attention to the bulk sweet mixed pickles. These are prepared from choice "Heinz-Grown" vegetables, preserved in a sweet, spicy liquor made of granulated sugar, old malt vinegar and pure spices. They are thoroughly sweet, but delightfully piquant—not insipid like ordinary sweet pickles.

It is safe to buy bulk pickles, if they are "HEINZ-MADE."

Planning Better Cities.
Rochester, N. Y., May 2.—The National Conference on City Planning opened here today for a three days'
session. At the opening session Mr.
Frederick Law Olmstead, the noted landscape architect of Brookline, Massachusetts, read a paper in which he explained the relations existing between the various subjects for discussion included in the program of the conference. "Congestion of population; its cause and prevention," was the general subject of the opening day of the conference and among the speakers who discussed the various phases and aspects of the subject were George E. Hooker, secretary of the City Club, Chicago; Benjamin C.
Marsh, secretary of committee on congestion of population in New York;
Edward T. Hartman, secretary Massachusetts Civic League, Boston; Grosvenor Atterbury, New York City; John P. Fox, New York City; Milton Dana
Morrill, Washington, D. C.; Warren H.
Manning, Boston; Robert A. Pope,
Roanoke, Va., and many other noted authorities.

In the course of the conference the circulation of passengers and freight and various problems of legal and administrative procedure affecting the city planning will also be discussed by eminent authorities.
In connection with the conference
there is an exhibit on city planning and congestion in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Tomorrow evening a banquet will be given, at which Dr. Rush Hhees, president of the University of Rochester, will preside.

Grand Opera in Atlanta.
Atlanta, Ga., May 2.—Music lovers
from many parts of Georgia and adjoining states have gathered in Atlanta to attend the season of Grand Opera by the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, which will open here tonight at the Auditorium Armory
with a performance of Wagner's "Lohengrin." The opera season which is given under the auspices of the Atlanta Music Festival Association, will include five performances. There will be no performance tomorrow, but on Wednesday afternoon "Tosca" will be given, with Geraldine Farrar, Richard Martin and Antonio Scotti in the cast.
The evening performance will be "Aida," with Caruso, Mme. Gádsaki and
Mme. Homer in the principal roles.
Friday night "Madame Butterfly" will be given and Saturday, the closing night of the season, a double bill,

and Amato in the cast.

Schoolmates Marry at 75.
Braintree, Mass., May 2.—In the presence of a large number of their friends—ex-Representative Fred Hanson of Brockton, Mass., and Mrs.
Emily J. Cole were married today at the home of the bride in this city by the Rev. Daniel W. Waldron, chaplain of the Massachusetts house of representatives. Both Mr. Hanson and his bride were born on May 2, 1835, and celebrated their birthday by becoming married. They had been schoolmates more than sixty years ago, when their families lived in Weymouth. Both are still healthy and vigorous. The marriage of today is Mr. Hanson's fourth and his bride's third. Both are prominent in Grand Army circles, Mr. Hanson having served in the Civil War,
and both his bride's former husbands
having been members of the Grand Army.

Roosevelts in Copenhagen.
Copenhagen, May 2.—There was a liberal display of the American colors to welcome the arrival of former President Roosevelt and his family in the Danish capital today. Much regret is expressed on all sides that the visit of the distinguished American cannot be prolonged several days.
This afternoon Colonel Roosevelt received the American colony members and other invited guests at the home of Minister Egan. A luncheon with the royal family at Christian VII. Palace and a municipal banquet at the city hall tonight are the chief events of the entertainment program. Elaborate arrangements have been made for the banquet, which will be attended by several hundred of the most prominent personages in Copenhagen.

Ready to Try Haskell.
Tulsa, Okla., May 2.—After delays and postponements extending over a period of many months, it now appears probable that the trial of Governor Haskell and his co-defendants, on the charges growing out of the alleged frauds in handling the Muskogee town lots, will be disposed of in the United States district court here this week.
Those to be tried in addition to the governor, are W. T. Hutchings, C. W.
Turner, Walter Eaton and A. Z. English, all of whom are residents of Muskogee.

Taft's Busy Day in Pittsburgh.
Pittsburg, Pa., May 2.—President
Taft began a busy day this morning
by attending the Founders' Day exercises at the Carnegie Institute. With the president were Secretary of State Knox and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador. At the conclusion of the exercises the distinguished visitors inspected the institute's annual international exhibition of paintings. This afternoon the president was scheduled to attend the National league baseball game and this evening he is to be the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the American club.
Immediately after the banquet the president and the German ambassador are to leave for Cincinnati, where they will attend the opening of the May Musical festival tomorrow evening.

Benefit for Young Corbett.
New York, May 2.—Followers of pugilism in the metropolis are looking forward to a gala night tonight when present-day champions and champions of a decade ago are to don the mitts at the Fairmount Athletic club in friendly bouts in aid of Young Corbett,
the former light-weight champion,
who, as the saying goes, is very much
"down on his luck." James J. Corbett, Tom Sharkey, Joe Gans, Terry McGovern and many other old-timers have volunteered their services. Many well-known theatrical stars are also helping to make the testimonial the biggest thing of its kind that has ever taken place in New York. The proceeds of the benefit are to be placed in trust to provide a weekly allowance for Young Corbett.

Alabama State Primary.
Montgomery, Ala., May 2.—The democratic state primary is being held throughout Alabama today on nominations for all important state offices from governor, down. The choice of a United States senator to succeed Senator Bankhead, who is a candidate for re-election, is also involved. Chief interest centers in the gubernatorial contest between Col. Hugh S. D. Mallory of Selma and Emmett O'Neal of Florence. The campaign has been one of the most exciting in the history of the state, many bitter words being passed on the stump.

M. E. CONFERENCE MEETS THIS WEEK

SIXTEENTH GENERAL MEETING TO BE HELD THIS WEEK AT ASHEVILLE, N. C.

PLANS ARE EXTENSIVE

Conference Will Continue in Session for About Three Weeks—Many Coming.

By Associated Press. Asheville, N. C., May 2.—Interest in Methodist church circles now centers in the sixteenth general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which convenes in this city next Wednesday, the first Wednesday in May as by law provided. This will be the largest denominational gathering to be held in the south this year. The conference will continue in session for at least three weeks.

The fact that the General Conference meets only quadrennially increases the interest attached to its sessions, and owing to the many questions of vital importance to the future of the church to come before the meeting for discussion, it will be more largely attended by non-delegates than any of its predecessors.

The membership of the General Conference will number a little more than three hundred, the delegates being composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen. Each annual conference in the church is entitled to one clerical and one lay delegate for every forty-eight ministers that compose the body.

Among the questions that are being discussed most in the conference organs, and in the general organ of the church, in anticipation of the General Conference are the episcopacy, the time limit of pastorates, lay representation of the women of the church, a change in the manner of appointing presiding elders, and the order of worship.

The Bishops in the M. E. church are elected for life, this having been the custom since the first bishops were elected in the early days of the church. The opinion now exists in the minds of some of the ministers and laymen of the church that from this time on the bishops should be elected for only a certain number of years, while others favor the abolition of the episcopacy in its present form.

There is also a strong sentiment of the passing of a law by the General Conference by which the presiding elders of the future shall be elected by the annual conferences, instead of being appointed by the bishop, as is now the case. It is not unlikely that the time limit of the pastorate will be abolished at the meeting. Should this be done, such action will not affect the meeting of the annual conferences and the appointment of the pastors; it is probable that they will continue to be appointed for one year at a time, but if the time limit should be removed, pastors will be compelled to move another pastorate at the end of four years.

A memorial from the Women's Board of Home Missions will be presented to the General Conference asking that the rights of the laity be granted to the women of the church. This will be the first time that such a request has been made to the conference, and there is a marked and very decided diversion of opinion among both the men and women of the church on this subject.

There are at present seven bishops in the active service of the church, and the opinion exists that six more will be elected at the General Conference. A number of prominent preachers of the church are already being spoken of for the episcopacy, and the election will be an event of far more than ordinary interest to the entire church.

The present order of worship does not, it is said, give general satisfaction to the church, and some changes in this direction will doubtless be recommended to the conference.

While the Conference is in session a plan will be presented for a great Chatsqua and assembly for Southern Methodism. Three sites in the western section of this state are being discussed.

Among other questions of extraordinary importance to be determined by the conference will be the ownership and control of the Vanderbilt University by the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The claim for the full and complete rights of the church in the University are being supported by Bishop R. E. Hoss, assisted by Dr. H. M. Du Bose. The opposing view is maintained by Dr. J. H. Kirkland and Dr. G. B. Winton, both of whom are members of the Vanderbilt board of trustees, the former being chancellor of the university.

Catarrh Can Quickly Be Cured.

A bottle of Hyomei, a hard rubber pocket inhaler, that will last a lifetime, and simple instructions for curing catarrh make a Hyomei outfit.

Into the inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-me).

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it over the germ infested membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomei is made of Australian eucalyptol combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe.

It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in a few minutes.

Sold by druggists everywhere, and by Week's Drug Co. A complete outfit $1.00. And remember that extra bottles if afterwards needed cost only 50 cents. Breathe it, that's all.

To break up a cold in head or chest in a few minutes, pour a teaspoonful of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.
