IRRIGATION WORK NOW COMPLETED

SYSTEM BETWEEN CITY AND LAKE SOON TO BE READY FOR TRUCK FARMS.

SUPPLIES 2000 ACRES

Water Was Turned into Larger Channels of System During This Week.

The irrigation between this city and Lake Wichita is practically completed and water has been turned into the larger ditches. It is probable that some of the land reached by the ditches will be planted in garden truck at once, though the general use of the irrigated section will not begin until next fall.

A total of about two thousand acres is placed under irrigation by means of this system and it is planned to divide this into five and ten-acre tracts, to be used for truck farms.

The main ditch of the new system is about one mile in length and is a gravity ditch, being ten feet higher than the ditch used by the water company. Three smaller ditches branch out from the main channel and these in turn subdivide into smaller ditches. A total of about twelve miles of ditches is included in the system.

The system is supplied from Lake Wichita, the main channel connecting with the lake at the point where the water company's ditch enters. The system was installed at a cost of about fifty thousand dollars.

By Associated Press. Asheville, N. C., May 5.—With the usual devotional exercises the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, opened the second day's session this morning. A large amount of routine business was transacted, and greetings from fraternal organizations allied to the church were received and the official roll of committees called. The Episcopal address was referred to various standing committees, and these committees reported on the organization and offered the order of business which was adopted.

On motion of Dr. Mann of Kentucky, the word "temperance," which had been stricken from the committee on moral and social questions was restored and this committee will be known hereafter as the Committee on Temperance and Moral and Social Questions. Mann said the Methodist Church, South could not afford to go on record as striking the temperance committee from its list.

The greater portion of the session was devoted to reception, petitions and memorials. The conference adjourned at 10 o'clock for the day.

WICHITA BREAKS EVEN ON HENRIETTA SERIES; PLAY FOUR GAMES HERE

Wichita Falls broke even with Henrietta on the first four games of the season, winning yesterday's game at Henrietta by a score of ten to three. Hoskies pitched and held the home team down well, while the Wichitans landed often and hard. Hoskies is a brother of "Peaceful Henry," who pitched for Wichita Falls last season.

Henrietta and Wichita Falls play here this afternoon, also tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. So far each team has won two games and the supremacy is yet to be decided. Wichita Falls hopes to take at least three of the four remaining games. The local lineup has undergone several changes recently and is now as follows:

Speer, catcher; Hancock, Gibson and Smith, pitchers; McLarry, first base; Dodd, second base; McDonald, third base; Humphrey, short stop; Webber, left field, Hoskies, center field; Baker, right field, Lusk utility. The management is figuring with Ed Stanley to remain here as umpire for the season. Stanley has umpired extensively in New Mexico and made quite a hit with local fans in one of the games here at which he officiated. An effort is being made to sign Watson, the star twirler for the Houston league team.

PARKER ESTATE IS INVOLVED IN SUIT

FIRST WIFE OF WALTER PARKER FILES SUIT AGAINST IOWA PARK LADY.

ESTATE WORTH $250,000 IS RECEIVED CORDIALLY

First Wife Claims That She Was Never Legally Divorced From Her Husband.

An estate consisting mostly of lands in the western part of this county, valued at about a quarter of a million, is involved in a suit which comes up tomorrow in Judge Meek's federal court at Dallas. The suit is that of Mrs. Barbara Parker of California against Mrs. Mattie Parker and children of this county and it also involves the validity of the divorce granted the husband of the plaintiff thirty years ago.

The estate is that of Walter Parker, who died at Iowa Park over a year ago. He obtained a divorce from his first wife, the plaintiff in the suit in Missouri about thirty years ago, service being had upon her by publication. His first wife now claims to have known nothing of the divorce proceedings. In his will, Mr. Parker left the child of his first wife practically nothing.

The lands are valued in the plaintiff's petition at half a million dollars, but are hardly worth that much. The greater part of the estate is in Wichita and Wilbarger counties, and some property in Palo Pinto county is also involved. The plaintiff's petition sets up that she was never legally divorced from Walter Park and that she was his lawful wife at the time of his death and therefore entitled to his property. The defendants in the suit now reside at Iowa Park.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON NOBEL PRIZE

DELIVERS ADDRESS ON INTERNATIONAL PEACE BEFORE COMMITTEE TODAY.

ENDORSEMENT TO BRING ABOUT UNIVERSAL AND LASTING PEACE FOR WORLD.

By Associated Press. Christiania, May 5.—Former President Roosevelt today discussed "International Peace," before the Nobel Prize Committee. Col. Roosevelt's discourse was made in the National Theatre in the presence of King Haakon, Queen Maud, members of the cabinet and parliament and hundreds of the most progressive and influential personalities in the kingdom. The address was received cordially.

It is with peculiar pleasure that I stand here today to express the deep appreciation I feel of the high honor conferred upon me by the presentation of the Nobel Peace Prize. The gold medal which formed part of the prize I shall always keep, and I shall hand it on to my children as a precious heirloom. The sum of money provided as part of the prize by the wise generosity of the illustrious founder of this world-famous prize system, I did not, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, feel at liberty to keep. I think it eminently just and proper that in most cases the recipient of the prize should keep for his own use the prize in its entirety. But in this case, while I did not see officially as President of the United States, it was nevertheless only because I was President that I was enabled to act at all; and I felt that the money must be considered as having been given me in trust for the United States. I therefore used it as a nucleus for a foundation to forward the cause of industrial peace, as being well within the general purpose of your committee; for in our complex industrial civilization of today the peace of righteousness and justice, the only kind of peace worth having, is at least as necessary in the industrial world as it is among nations. There is at least as much need to curb the cruel greed and arrogance of part of the world of capital, to curb the cruel greed and violence of part of the world of labor, as to check a cruel and unhealthy militarism in international relationships.

We must ever bear in mind that the great end in view is righteousness, justice as between man and man, nation and nation, the chance to lead our lives on a somewhat higher level, with a broader spirit of brotherly good will one for another. Peace is generally good in itself, but it is never the highest good unless it comes as the handmaid of righteousness; and it becomes a very evil thing if it serves merely as a mask for cowardice and sloth, or as an instrument to further the ends of despotism or anarchy. We despise and abhor the bully, the brawler, the oppressor, whether in private or public life; but we despise no less the coward and the voluptuary. No man is worth calling a man who will not fight rather than submit to infernal lines. First of all there can be Hulsey, the bank is reported to have filed a damage suit at New Boston in the Bowie county district court, and citations were made here today.

Commissioner Hawkins, under whose orders Hulsey proceeded, is cited, as well as his bond holders, in $10,000 actual damages. Hawkins and Hulsey are cited to plead to the petition for additional explanation of damages for $10,000. The closing of the bank at DeKalb is said to be from reports that that institution had no depositors and was not conducted according to the laws and rules of the banking department.

OUTLOOK FOR CORN CONSIDERED GOOD

RECENT WET WEATHER HAS DONE MUCH TOWARD MAKING THIS CROP.

COTTON ALSO BENEFITED

Outlook for Wheat and Oat Crops is Less Pleasing—More Rain is Promised.

Report received from over Wichita county today indicates that crop conditions are greatly improved as a result of the recent wet weather. The showers which have fallen have not been heavy enough to do a great deal of good, yet they are a decided relief from the hot sunshine which preceded them.

Corn prospects have been greatly improved as a result of the recent showers and the outlook is for an excellent crop of this grain. Cotton farmers consider that the rain was a very timely one for them and, while it is too early to say what the crop will do, the outlook is considered good.

Wheat and oats will not make as good crops as had been hoped. In some parts of the county they are being plowed up and cotton planted in their stead. Some farmers believe they will make as good as fifteen or twenty bushels to the acre, though in general, the outlook for the success of wheat is not considered good.

Showers continue to fall lightly and intermittently today and the sky has been overcast with clouds since Tuesday, giving promise of continued damp weather. Unsettled weather is the prediction by the weather bureau for tonight.

A riot is threatened. Many families in the district are said to be starving because of the shut down in the mines and the situation is declared desperate. # OLD MEXICO

The Coming Great Mining District of this Continent

It is known that for centuries before the advent of the white man into Mexico, the natives gathered from the surface or gleaned from the river beds, great quantities of the precious metals, which they cast into bars or skillfully wrought into useful and ornamental forms.

Their conquerors found walks paved with silver; temples lined with gold, and gold and silver articles of great variety and beauty for personal adornment and other purposes, but the treasures which they received as gifts or took by force, gave them only a hint of the marvelous mineral wealth of the country they had captured. However, the passion for gold has been ever strong in the human race, and the adventurous prospector and industrious miner were soon abroad seeking the hidden source of Mother Earth from which the filmy flakes, and tiny grains and shining nuggets of the Aztecs had come.

They found them, too, and since the day when Montezuma, under stress of circumstances, surrendered up the golden treasures of his people in the tribute of the invaders, the Empire over which he ruled has yielded many billion dollars worth of new mineral wealth, and Mexico now stands as the greatest producer of silver, the second greatest producer of copper, and one of the leading producers of gold in the world.

Mining goes steadily on and the industry is in a more active and flourishing condition in Mexico than it ever was before. The mineral production of the country now amounts to many million dollars per month in value. The government is doing every thing it can to popularize the mining business and as a result, signs of substantial progress are to be found on every side.

It is evident that an era of great prosperity and wide-spread development of the rich mineral resources of the country is now starting on its way. Extensive mineral grants, long inactively held, and rich old mines, heretofore unpurchasable at any price, and for generations worked merely enough to meet family expenses, are opening to persistent efforts of foreign capital, courage and energy, for commercial operation.

Mining

Progressing

Modern methods are superceding the crude and primitive ones that have prevailed for hundreds of years. Machinery is supplanting and supplementing human muscle and animal power, and science is solving difficult problems in the treatment of ores. Mills and smelters are getting more numerous and are affording greater accommodations and conveniences than have heretofore existed.

Native mining labor is cheap and plentiful, mining supplies are conveniently obtainable, and the laws, have been liberalized so as to foster and protect the mining business, means of transportation and communication are being constantly extended; money has been placed on a gold basis, exchange is stable and commercial facilities with other countries are good.

With this great record of the past with thousands of tons of ore cropping out in its mineral sections everywhere and with its large area of virgin mineral ground still remaining untouched, and unexplored, Mexico today, offers opportunities for successful mining ventures not surpassed in any country in the world.

Investment

Investments are as safe as in any of the mining sections of this country, and already immense amounts of American and European capital are going into every line of business there.

The Rothschilds, and other leading bankers of Paris, Berlin and London, the Guggenheims, Green, Lewisohns, Schwab, Hearst, and others of New York. M. W. Gates and associates of Chicago, Lawson and others of Boston, and many prominent people of Philadelphia and elsewhere are some of the well known capitalists who are largely interested in mining enterprises there.

The Mining Industry of Mexico

The first mining boom to affect this continent concerned the deposits of Mexico, and although mining has been carried on actively for nearly four centuries, and the production of silver exceeds that of the United States, it is believed that the development of the mineral resources of the republic has been only begun.

The extension of railroad lines throughout the republic is certain to prove a great stimulus to mining in the territory affected. The development of water power also promises to be a great benefit to the industry. Movements are on foot to supply several of the historic camps with electric current from power stations upon neighboring streams.

Mexico deserves all the attention which it is receiving from mining men, and will continue to be of especial interest for years to come.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

MAKING CLEAN MONEY

Rev. Robert McIntyre, a noted divine, in a sermon some few years ago, said "I admire a miner's wealth. It is clean. There is neither blood nor tears on it. It is acquired away from the cut throat competition that characterizes ordinary ventures, nobody has been pinched; nobody has been wronged. The miner who digs a fortune out of the ground has the satisfaction of knowing that he hasn't robbed a soul, even though he becomes a thousand times a millionaire. The man who makes a fortune on the Board of Trade or the Stock Exchange, or in building up a gigantic business house, adds nothing to the world's store of available wealth, in other words, the world is no richer because he is richer, but he is richer rather because someone is poorer. The miner, whether he digs out $10 or $10,000, adds that much to the world's wealth and with the added wealth he contributes just that much to the possible amount of the world's comforts and pleasures. The miner is today the king of wealth producers of the country, and I honor him above all others. It needs no apology to emulate his example or assist him in his efforts.

Mining Investments Pay Largely.

able fact that the most influential business men of the world have turned their attention to mining, the source of nearly all wealth; for persons who have been enslaved to the idea that the only safe proposition was a five per cent, or six per cent security, now realize that many millions of interest have been lost to them through heeding the advice of those interested in cheap par value being $1.00. The money derived from the sale of the first 100,000 shares is to be used for immediate development. This is all that will be placed on the market at this price.

money, and that among the banking institutions of the west, eight and twenty per cent per annum is not considered a hazardous western profit or excessive dividend on the great majority of our guilt-edged mining securities, and further, the richest men in the world are mining kings, many of whom have grown powerful enough through the proper application of originally a moderate capital and it is proven that while millions of dollars have been lost in railroads, farm mortgages, eastern industrial and building associations, the mining industry steadily advances, making enormous profits for its supporters, building great states and cities, and points with pride to the American possession of 253 mines that have paid dividends over $625,000,000.

U. S. Government reports show that the mines of the United States produced $1,092,224,380 in 1901, which exceeds the total combined value of the wheat and cotton crops.

The mineral resources of the United States show a greater ratio of increase than any other industry.

The annual dividends of the mines are greater than those paid by all the railroad interests in the country.

The profits of the mines exceed the profit of all the banks of the country.

Mining is one of the most certain and profitable of all pursuits, and when conducted under proper conditions may be considered as safe as the most conservatively managed manufacturing business.

The products of the mines represent the basis of all prosperity and wealth. The miner is in reality the only permanent wealth producer. Wealth taken from the ground is new wealth that is actually created, and no one is wronged or made poorer through its creation. It belonged to no other man, and it does not lessen the value of the property that any man possesses.

PROFIT IN MINING

Comstock sold one-quarter interest in his mine for $6000. The mine produced afterwards $600,000,000 and shares sold at $1875 each. Calumet and Hecla paid its early investors $1500 on each $1 invested, and shares went from $1 to $340 each. United Verde sold for 50 cents a share and is now paying $700 per cent. dividends at that price. This mine went begging for $30,000 fifteen years ago, until it was purchased by Senator Clark, who recently refused a $100,000,000 offer for it made by a Belgian syndicate. The Le Roy mine was sold entire in 1890 for $12.50. Its market value is now $10,000,000, and its stock has gone from 2 cents a share to $50 a share, and paid 6000 per cent. on first cost. One hundred dollars invested a few years ago in it is now worth $250,000 and has paid $35,000 in dividends. Gold coin sold at 1 cent a share, is now worth $5.50 and has paid 4800 per cent. on first cost. One hundred dollars invested in it in 1896 is now worth $55,000, and has paid over $11,000 in dividends. Home Mining Company stock advanced in seven months from 30 cents to $25 per share. Granite Mountain advanced in two years from 10 cents to $75 per share. The Copper Queen was once offered for $2000 and refused. It pays now millions every year. The Bonanza Mine, of Eastern Oregon was offered for $500 in 1896, with no takers. It is now producing $1,000,000 a year. The Independence Mine, at Cripple Creek, was located as a prospect. A few years later it was sold to an English syndicate, for $10,000,000. Two hundred and fifty dollars invested in Silver King in 1893 is now worth $9000, and paid over $4000 in dividends. Ten dollars invested in Swansen in 1895 is now worth $4500, and has paid $3100 in dividends. The Homestead Mine, in Dakota has paid $12,000,000 in dividends, and its stock advanced 5000 per cent. Alaska Treadwell has paid $5,000,000 in dividends, and its stock has advanced 3200 per cent. Anaconda has paid $22,000,000 in dividends and was recently sold to Rothschild for $40,000,000.

Boston & Montana has paid $26,000,000 in dividends. Quincy has paid $12,000,000 in dividends. United Verde has paid $17,000,000 in dividends. Calumet & Hecla has paid $80,000,000 in dividends. Ontario has paid $14,000,000 in dividends. Con. Cal. & Virginia has paid $77,500,000 in dividends. Homestake has paid $12,000,000 in dividends. Granite Mountain has paid $12,120,000 in dividends. St. John del Rey has paid $13,736,000 in dividends. Tamarack has paid $8,590,000 in dividends. Parrot has paid $5,750,000 in dividends.

Fifty other mines have paid from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 in dividends. No commercial business can begin to compare with mining as a profitable pursuit.

That carefully selected mining investments are safer, more permanent and more profitable than any other, there can be no question.

The comstock Lode of Virginia City, Nevada, has produced in twenty years the enormous sum of $316,680,486, while it is estimated that there is yet $35,000,000 in the tailings; and the output of the Witwatersrand district in South Africa for ten years previous to the Boer war was more than $400,000,000. And mining is yet in its infancy.

Anaconda paid a dividend of $6,000,000 in 1901; Calumet and Hecla has paid $88,000,000 in dividends; Crown Point stock advanced from $274 to $1825 in one year; Consolidated Virginia stock sold 1885 at 11 cents a share, in 1896 at $65; Best & Belcher advanced from 60 cents to $22.50 in one year; Belcher sold at $8.50 per share in 1871 and $1550 in 1872, and the mine has paid $15,379,200 in dividends; the Idaho Gold Mining Company has paid its stockholders in dividends seventeen and one-half times more than its entire capital stock, 1750 per cent profit.

We cannot impress too strongly upon those desirous of taking advantage of the opportunities offered for large returns upon investments, that it is at the initial stage—when most investments are timid—that decision and action should be made.

In all the millions made out of mining—and they are larger than all other business of a commercial character combined—by far the greater part has been made by early and decisive action. Hundreds of cases can be cited where the investor looked in to the prospects of large returns with the same care as he would in any other investment—and every investor should exercise this caution—and considering the well-known fact that over 50 per cent of mining businesses are large successes, as against 5 per cent in ordinary businesses—was rewarded with returns that no other business could possibly yield.

In a report made on these properties, the Santa Rosa, Roberts and Nevada Mines, the firm of Place Elton, Mining Engineers of Oaxaca, say: "The three properties together form a good basis for a strong mining company and the very fact that they have been chosen from among the best available properties in each district of the gold belt makes failure impossible, provided the mines are developed in a rational and scientific way and by men competent to handle them. By having sufficient capital ready to gain each point of the development scheme in turn, and using everything to best advantage, there is no failure possible, and it can be expected that the three mines will in time become one of the largest gold producers in Oaxaca and the world.

CENTER OF POPULATION

Not Expected to Move Far as Result of the Present Census.

The center of population of the Continental United States, which at the time of the first census was twenty-three miles east of Baltimore, has been traveling westward with each decade. In 1900 it was located near Columbus, Ind., about forty miles south of Indianapolis. In 1890 it was twenty-six miles farther east and in the two previous decades it kept rather near to Cincinnati. With each decade it has moved a little farther west, but has continued to keep very close to the thirty-ninth parallel, the latitude, approximately, of Baltimore and Cincinnati.

With the development and spread of population in the west the wonder is that the center of population keeps so disproportionately far to the east of the center area. It now stops at about one-fourth of the entire distance from coast to coast. The present census will doubtless carry it a little to the south, because of the new population in Oklahoma. Other western and southwestern states have made large additions to their population, but they have lost much by migration to Canada and latterly to Mexico.

It is not likely, therefore, that the center of population will move out of Indiana, or, indeed, get very far from its last stopping place. While the west is growing the east is not standing still. The great cities particularly are growing at a rapid rate, which shows no sign of abating. Of the twelve largest cities in the United States, by the census of 1900, eight were east of the center of population. The prodigious growth of New York City alone will almost balance the development and settlement of new areas in the west. Therefore, while the west booms along at a gait that promises to put everything behind it, the center of population insists on staying at each decade just a few miles farther west of its camping ground ten years before, showing that while the whole country is growing, the old east increases in population almost as rapidly as the new west.—Philadelphia Press.

Style of Hats.

The following is perpetrated by a boy who gives his age as only twelve years—just the right size to receive a good spanking, and when his mother reads the following lines, that is just about what he will get, unless his father comes to his rescue, and, in that event, there is likely to be more trouble:

The style of hats are very grand,
Some are like big dishpans;
Some are red, some are green,
Some are awful to be seen.

Some are big, some are little,
Some are in the shape of a kettle;
Some are like big balls, others small,
Some are low, others tall.

Did you ever see such hats?
Some won't hide a woman's rats;
Some women put on their little girls
The finest dresses in the world;
Then in their hair goes a rat,
Then comes next a great big hat.

Some women are like a wild cat,
Fuss at their husbands for a $15 hat,
Then, the next day, with a frown,
She gets in the buggy and goes to town.

With a thought in her mind,
In a millinery shop is where she shines;
"Please, some of your hats let me see,
Some of the finest that can be."

And when she starts back home,
She is skittish as a cat;
She is afraid her husband will see
Her fifteen dollar hat.

And when she gets home,
She puts it in a box,
And says to her husband:
"That's a lot of socks."

Plays and Players.

A new play called "Her Son" is to be produced in Brooklyn shortly. John Drew says he will play "Inconstant George" all next season. John Mason is rehearsing a new play which will be produced shortly. Henri Bernstein is at work on a new play which is said to resemble "The Thief" in its general lines. John Galsworthy's play, "Justice," which will be given next season in New York, is an attack on the English prison system. A new comedy by Anthony Hope and Cosmo Gordon Lennox is called "Helen's Path," and is a story of English country life. Bertha Kalich has three new plays, one by a German author, another by a Russian and the third by an American. All of these plays have for their subject modern conditions of life. W. J. Ferguson is the only surviving actor in active service who was in the company presenting "Our American Cousin" at Ford's Theatre on the night that President Lincoln was assassinated. Hattie Williams is said to display unexpected emotional ability in Alfred Sturro's "A Maker of Men," which she is using as a curtain raiser with her new farce, "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind." William A. Brady, incorporated, has acquired from Frank Curson of London the American rights to "The Naked Truth," a comedy which has just been produced at Wyndham's Theatre, London, by Charles Hawtrey. Miss Amy Lesser, who for four years was Miss Rose Stahy's understudy in "The Chorus Lady," and never had a chance to play the part, is now playing an important role in the new Forbes comedy, "The Commuters." That the members of the "Dollar Princess" company may have a rest Mr. Frohman has decided that the musical comedy shall end its long run at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, May 14, and reopen the house in August. Mr. Belasco has decided upon changing the name of his two theatres in New York. The Stayveant will be renamed the Belasco and will be used by Belasco for his own plays. The present Belasco will return to the former name, the Republic. On October 23, 1910, Sarah Bernhardt will reach her sixty-sixth year. On October 31, 1910, she will begin her seventh tour of the United States, which, she says will be her last. Her repertoire during her American tour will include fifteen plays. Gladys Moore, the toe dancer in "The Midnight Sons," who imitates Genee, used to be a chorus girl in various musical comedies. One night, while playing in Philadelphia, she was called upon to do a solo dance and ever since she has been drawing big salaries.

RELIEF FOR OLD HORSES.

Increasing Tendency to Make the Old Age Easier.

One of the apparent signs of the times is the growing disposition, manifested in many quarters and through many agencies, to remember the ancient proverb, that "a merciful man will be merciful to his beast."

In its efforts to bring about the humane disposal of old or worn-out horses the Boston work horse parade association is meeting with encouraging success, and it believes that the conviction is rapidly spreading that disabled or superannuated horses, especially such as are owned by large concerns and city governments, ought not to be sold.

Many of the larger corporations never sell an old or worn-out horse; others see that they fall into good hands when they dispose of them, and still others graduate their horses to lighter work as equine old age comes on.

There is no old age pension scheme for horses in this country. In several European countries the problem is solved by setting the horse a more compassionate method of treating him than keeping him at work until he drops in his tracks. "I that am cruel am yet merciful," said the Moor of Venice.—Boston Globe.

BIG RANCH SOLD.

Is Disposed of at Sheriff's Sale for Twenty Thousand.

San Angelo, Tex., May 5.—The Scuddy ranch in Sterling county, seven thousand acres of grazing land, has been sold at Sterling City by Sheriff Brown, at public auction, to E. E. Willoughby of Brady, for about $20,000.

FLY TIME COMING.

Here is a reasonable suggestion for the inhabitants of every nook and corner of Texas, by the Beaumont Enterprise:

"The approach of another fly-time warrants us at the risk of repetition to send out a few words regarding this dangerous pest. It was not very many years ago that the common house fly, like the mosquito, although considered an irritating nuisance, was thought to be otherwise harmless. Even now, when it is recognized by sanitary authorities as a dangerous disease carrier, comparatively few people consider it as such.

"The manner in which the pest spreads disease is well understood. The fly swarms over dead fecal matter and other filth. Perhaps the next move of the fly is to feed upon food which has been placed upon the family table, depositing there the germ of typhoid fever, dysentery or tuberculosis. These facts call for better sanitation and the destruction of breeding places, especially in the spring of the year, when they commence to breed from the few flies or eggs which have survived the winter. Each female lays about 150 eggs, which hatch in about eight hours' time. They then pass through the stages of maggots and pupae, becoming adult flies in about 10 days, ready to breed again, so that it can readily be seen that it is of the greatest importance that the breeding places be destroyed. At the same time, it affords an excellent illustration of the rapidity with which flies multiply.

"The following rules have been laid down for dealing with the nuisance:

"Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.

"All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding, straw, paper, waste, and vegetable matter, should be disposed of or covered with lime. Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with lime.

"Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime.

"See that your sewerage system is in good order; that it does not leak, is up-to-date and not exposed to flies.

"Pour kerosene into the drains. Burn or bury all table refuse.

"Screen all food whether in the house or exposed for sale.

"Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. Its body is covered with disease germs.

"While it may be impossible to exterminate all flies, yet the danger and trouble may be greatly lessened by a proper use of screens for doors and windows.

"These are very good rules to bear in mind and their general adoption would soon reduce to a minimum the terrible effects of the annual fly nuisance."

The population of Wichita Falls, as fixed by the 1910 census, now being compiled, will stand before the world for ten years. It therefore behooves every citizen who is now a resident of this city to see that he is counted.

The enumerators, it matters not how careful they perform their work, will overlook many, and those who are missed should not hesitate to call at the Chamber of Commerce and the mistakes will be rectified.

LONDON GIRLS LIKE TO SMOKE.

After Long Day at Factory or Store They Enjoy Whiff or Two.

The girl typist and stenographers of London don't think it at all wrong for a business girl to take the relaxation of a cigarette or two after the day's work is done. In fact, they consider it restful and soothing. Such, at least, was the radical sentiment expressed at a recent meeting of the English Association of Shorthand Writers and Typists, held at Allan's tea room, Oxford street, London. All the members of the association agreed that relaxation was imperative for a girl typist after the strain and drudgery of the day.

"Do what you feel like doing," said one girl, "whether it's going to the theatre or reading an interesting book and smoking a cigarette in your room. And the other girls clapped."

Miss Gordon Holmes said she was glad to perceive that office women were getting to disregard the old doctrine of self-sacrifice that had always been preached to women.

"When a girl goes home from the office," she said, "there's apt to be that feminine problem confronting her—shall she help with the housework, or rest and enjoy life? Unless it's a case of being heartless to a sick mother, I say throw the dish-cloth out of the window and have a good time."

ties of arbitration. There are, of course, states so backward that a civilized community ought to enter into an arbitration treaty with them at least until we have gone much further than at present in securing some kind of international police action. But all really civilized communities should have effective arbitration treaties among themselves. I believe that these treaties can cover almost all questions liable to arise between such nations, if they are drawn with the explicit agreement that each contracting party will respect the other's territory and its absolute sovereignty within that territory, and the equally explicit agreement that (aside from the very rare cases where the nation's honor is vitally concerned) all other possible subjects of controversy will be submitted to arbitration. Such a treaty would insure peace unless one party deliberately violated it. Of course, as yet there is no adequate safeguard against such deliberate violation, but the establishment of a sufficient number of these treaties would go a long way towards creating a world opinion which would finally find expression in the provision of methods to forbid or punish any such violation.

Secondly, there is the further development of the Hague Tribunal, of the work of the conferences and courts at The Hague. It has been well said at the first Hague Conference framed a Magna Charta for the nations; it set before us an ideal that has already to some extent been realized, and towards the full realization of which we can steadily strive. The second Conference made further progress; the third should do yet more. Meanwhile the American Government has more than once tentatively suggested methods for completing the Court of Arbitral Justice, constituted at the second Hague Conference, and for rendering it effective. It is earnestly to be hoped that the various Governments of Europe, working with those of America and of Asia, shall set themselves seriously to the task of devising some method which shall accomplish this result. If I may venture the suggestion, it would be well for the statesmen of the world in planning for the erection of this world court to study what has been done in the United States by the Supreme Court. I cannot help thinking that the Constitution of the United States, notably in the establishment of the Supreme Court and in the methods adopted for securing peace and good relations among and between the different states, offers certain valuable analogies to what should be striven for in order to secure, through the Hague courts and conferences, a species of world federation for international peace and justice.

There are, of course, fundamental differences between what the United States Constitution does and what we should even attempt at this time to secure at The Hague; but the methods adopted in the American Constitution to prevent hostilities between the States, and to secure the supremacy of the Federal Court in certain classes of cases, are well worth the study of those who seek at The Hague to obtain the same results on a world scale.

In the third place, something should be done as soon as possible to check the growth of armaments, especially naval armaments, by international agreement. No one power could or should act by itself; for it is eminently undesirable, from the standpoint of the peace of righteousness, that a power which really does believe in peace should place itself at the mercy of some rival which may at bottom have no such belief and no intention of acting on it. But granted sincerity of purpose, the great powers of the world should find no insurmountable difficulty in reaching an agreement which would put an end to the present costly and growing extravagance of expenditure on naval armaments. An agreement merely to limit the size of ships would have been very useful a few years ago, and would still be of use; but the agreement should go much further.

Finally, it would be a master stroke if those great powers honestly bent on peace would form a League of Peace, not only to keep the peace among themselves, but to prevent, by force if necessary, its being broken by others. The supreme difficulty in connection with developing the peace work of The Hague arises from the lack of any executive power of any police power to enforce the decrees of the court. In any community of any size the authority of the courts rests upon actual or potential force; on the existence of a police, or on the knowledge that the able-bodied men of the country are both ready and willing to see that the decrees of judicial and legislative bodies are put into effect. In new and wild communities where there is violence, an honest man must protect himself and until other means of securing his safety are devised, it is both foolish and wicked to persuade him to surrender his arms while the men who are dangerous to the community retain theirs. He should not renounce the right to protect himself by his own efforts until the community is so organized that it can effectively relieve the individual of the duty of putting down violence. So it is with nations. Each nation must keep well prepared to defend itself until the establishment of some form of international police power, competent and willing to prevent violence as between nations. As things are now, such power to command peace throughout the world could best be assured by some combination between those great nations which sincerely desire peace and have no thought themselves of committing aggression. The combination might at first be only to secure peace within certain definite limits and certain definite conditions; but the ruler or statesman who should bring about such a combination would have earned his place in history for all time and his title to the gratitude of all mankind.

Calumet is the only high grade baking powder sold at moderate cost. $1,000 is offered to any one finding the least trace of impurity in the baking caused by Calumet and this guarantee alone is enough to eliminate from the minds of the housewife whether Calumet is pure or not. If this guarantee was not so, we would soon be put out of business. This $1,000 guarantee has stood back of every can for 20 years, and never has been challenged. Why? Because Calumet is just what it is, the purest and the best baking powder made. Every first class grocer will have Calumet Baking Powder, for any merchant always wants to sell the best to his trade. Now, to show the faith we have in the merchants and his customers we are not going to ask the merchant to deliver to you this cook book and 10c can of Calumet Baking powder without us paying the merchant's friend, and we are paying your merchant 10c in cash for every free package they deliver to you and this again should prove to you our sincerity in the quality of Calumet. Our representatives will call on you and take your name and address and the name of your grocer and at the same time explain to you about the quality of Calumet and let you know about how long it will be before you will get your free package. Now if Calumet was not first class in every respect we certainly would not go to the time and expense to see that you got this free package, but we take this method of advertising, so that each family in Wichita Falls will get a chance to give Calumet a personal trial. So do not forget to have your grocer to see that you get your trial can and our beautiful illustrated cook book in high art colors. We also put a coupon in each can that will get you a beautiful calendar in very high art colors. So give your name when our representative calls and you are then sure of this free offer that we want you to have. Notice the bill boards for our future ADS. Yours truly, CALUMET BAKING POWDER CO. 306-1tc Chicago, Ill.

SCHOOL FOR HOTEL MANAGERS.

Paris Plans to Train Young Men for the Business. Paris.—A school for hotel managers at which young men will receive a thorough grounding in everything that goes to make up the perfect modern hotel manager, will be opened in Paris in the autumn.

The idea has sprung from the general syndicate of the hotel industry, the members of which have rightly recognized that nowadays the hotel manager must not only thoroughly understand the economy of the kitchen, the wine cellar, and the bookkeeping department, but must be a polyglot and must have a smattering of architecture, electricity and sanitary engineering as well. There will be a two years' course, the first year being spent at a school and the second being spent in some leading hotel affiliated to the syndicate. The manager of this hotel will have to report at the close of the second year on the aptitude of the pupil. The school will arrange competitions among the pupils and issue diplomas.—Daily Mail.

of the fine and ultra palatable in pickles is found in the Heinz Line. Heinz Pickles, whether in bulk or in bottles, are uniform in size and color and an exactly right in flavor and quality. We call special attention to the bulk sweet mixed pickles. These are prepared from choice "Heinz-Grown" vegetables, preserved in a sweet, spicy liquor made of granulated sugar, old malt vinegar and pure spices. They are thoroughly sweet, but delightfully piquant—not insipid like ordinary sweet pickles.

It is safe to buy bulk pickles, if they are "HEINZ-MADE."

What Are You Willing to Pay for Coffee

20, 25, 35, 40c per lb.—you, of course, don't want anything cheaper than 20c and in the range quoted we have the very best coffee that can be produced for the price.

Continental at 20c and Concord at 25c are, of course, the most popular, because of the price.

"Lexington" is a new grade we have just added; it is 35c, while "Revere" is the top notch of coffee perfection, at 40c.

Now let us give you a coffee secret:

When you pay 25, 35 or 40c per lb. for either Concord, Lexington or Revere you are not extravagant in the least, for you get enough additional strength for each 5c extra that you pay to make that many more cups of better coffee in each case for each step up in price you naturally get better flavor and more of it.

Give Lexington or Revere a try out on our recommendation.

The Coming Great Mining District of this Continent

It is known that for centuries before the advent of the white man into Mexico, the natives gathered from the surface or gleaned from the river beds, great quantities of the precious metals, which they cast into bars or skillfully wrought into useful and ornamental forms.

Their conquerors found walks paved with silver; temples lined with gold, and gold and silver articles of great variety and beauty for personal adornment and other purposes, but the treasures which they received as gifts or took by force, gave them only a hint of the marvelous mineral wealth of the country they had captured. However, the passion for gold has been ever strong in the human race, and the adventurous prospector and industrious miner were soon abroad seeking the hidden source of Mother Earth from which the filmy flakes, and tiny grains and shining nuggets of the Aztecs had come.

They found them, too, and since the day when Montezuma, under stress of circumstances, surrendered up the golden treasures of his people in the tribute of the invaders, the Empire over which he ruled has yielded many billion dollars worth of new mineral wealth, and Mexico now stands as the greatest producer of silver, the second greatest producer of copper, and one of the leading producers of gold in the world.

Mining goes steadily on and the industry is in a more active and flourishing condition in Mexico than it ever was before. The mineral production of the country now amounts to many million dollars per month in value. The government is doing every thing it can to popularize the mining business and as a result, signs of substantial progress are to be found on every side.

Mining Progressing

It is evident that an era of great prosperity and wide-spread development of the rich mineral resources of the country is now starting on its way. Extensive mineral grants, long inactively held, and rich old mines, heretofore unpurchasable at any price, and for generations worked merely enough to meet family expenses, are opening to persistent efforts of foreign capital, courage and energy, for commercial operation.

Modern methods are superseding the crude and primitive ones that have prevailed for hundreds of years. Machinery is supplanting and supplementing human muscle and animal power, and science is solving difficult problems in the treatment of ores. Mills and smelters are getting more numerous and are affording greater accommodations and conveniences than have heretofore existed.

Native mining labor is cheap and plentiful, mining supplies are conveniently obtainable, and the laws, have been liberalized so as to foster and protect the mining business, means of transportation and communication are being constantly extended; money has been placed on a gold basis, exchange is stable and commercial facilities with other countries are good.

With this great record of the past with thousands of tons of ore cropping out in its mineral sections everywhere and with its large area of virgin mineral ground still remaining untouched, and unexplored, Mexico today, offers opportunities for successful mining ventures not surpassed in any country in the world.

Investment

Investments are as safe as in any of the mining sections of this country, and already immense amounts of American and European capital are going into every line of business there.

The Rothschilds, and other leading bankers of Paris, Berlin and London, the Guggenheims, Green, Lewisohns, Schwab, Hearst, and others of New York. M. W. Gates and associates of Chicago, Lawson and others of Boston, and many prominent people of Philadelphia and elsewhere are some of the well known capitalists who are largely interested in mining enterprises there.

The Mining Industry of Mexico

The first mining boom to affect this continent concerned the deposits of Mexico, and although mining has been carried on actively for nearly four centuries, and the production of silver exceeds that of the United States, it is believed that the development of the mineral resources of the republic has been only begun.

The extension of railroad lines throughout the republic is certain to prove a great stimulus to mining in the territory affected. The development of water power also promises to be a great benefit to the industry. Movements are on foot to supply several of the historic camps with electric current from power stations upon neighboring streams.

Mexico deserves all the attention which it is receiving from mining men, and will continue to be of especial interest for years to come.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

MAKING CLEAN MONEY

Rev. Robert McIntyre, a noted divine, in a sermon some few years ago, said "I admire a miner's wealth. It is clean. There is neither blood nor tears on it. It is acquired away from the cut throat competition that characterizes ordinary ventures, nobody has been pinched; nobody has been wronged. The miner who digs a fortune out of the ground has the satisfaction of knowing that he hasn't robbed a soul, even though he becomes a thousand times a millionaire. The man who makes a fortune on the Board of Trade or the Stock Exchange, or in building up a gigantic business house, adds nothing to the world's store of available wealth, in other words, the world is no richer because he is richer, but he is richer rather because someone is poorer. The miner, whether he digs out $10 or $10,000, adds that much to the world's wealth and with the added wealth he contributes just that much to the possible amount of the world's comforts and pleasures. The miner is today the king of wealth producers of the country, and I honor him above all others. It needs no apology to emulate his example or assist him in his efforts.

Mining Investments Pay Largely.

The Daily Mining Record says: It is an undeni-

able fact that the most influential business men of the world have turned their attention to mining, the source of nearly all wealth; for persons who have been enslaved to the idea that the only safe proposition was a five per cent, or six per cent security, now realize that many millions of interest have been lost to them through heeding the advice of those interested in cheap

The Board of Directors of this company decided at their meeting yesterday to place 100,000 shares only of this stock on the market at the price of money, and that among the banking institutions of the west, eight and twenty per cent per annum is not considered a hazardous western profit or excessive dividend on the great majority of our guilt-edged mining securities, and further, the richest men in the world are mining kings, many of whom have grown powerful enough through the proper application of originally a moderate capital and it is proven that while millions of dollars have been lost in railroads, farm mortgages, eastern industrial and building associations, the mining industry steadily advances, making enormous profits for its supporters, building great states and cities, and points with pride to the American possession of 253 mines that have paid dividends over $625,000,000.

U. S. Government reports show that the mines of the United States produced $1,092,224,380 in 1901, which exceeds the total combined value of the wheat and cotton crops.

The mineral resources of the United States show a greater ratio of increase than any other industry.

The annual dividends of the mines are greater than those paid by all the railroad interests in the country.

The profits of the mines exceed the profit of all the banks of the country.

Mining is one of the most certain and profitable of all pursuits, and when conducted under proper conditions may be considered as safe as the most conservatively managed manufacturing business.

The products of the mines represent the basis of all prosperity and wealth. The miner is in reality the only permanent wealth producer. Wealth taken from the ground is new wealth that is actually created, and no one is wronged or made poorer through its creation. It belonged to no other man, and it does not lessen the value of the property that any man possesses.

PROFIT IN MINING

Comstock sold one-quarter interest in his mine for $6000. The mine produced afterwards $600,000,000 and shares sold at $1 875 each. Calumet and Hecla paid its early investors $1500 on each $1 invested, and shares went from $1 to $840 each. United Verde sold for 50 cents a share and is now paying $700 per cent. dividends at that price. This mine went begging for $30,000 fifteen years ago, until it was purchased by Senator Clark, who recently refused a $100,000,000 offer for it made by a Belgian syndicate. The Le Roy mine was sold entire in 1890 for $12,600.

Its market value is now $10,000,000, and its stock has gone from 2 cents a share to $50 a share, and paid 6000 per cent. on first cost. One hundred dollars invested a few years ago in it is now worth $250,000 and has paid $35,000 in dividends. Gold coin sold at 1 cent a share, is now worth $5.50 and has paid 4800 per cent. on first cost. One hundred dollars invested in it in 1896 is now worth $55,000, and has paid over $11,000 in dividends. Home Mining Company stock advanced in seven months from 30 cents to $25 per share. Granite Mountain advanced in two years from 10 cents to $75 per share. The Copper Queen was once offered for $2000 and refused. It pays now millions every year. The Bonanza Mine, of Eastern Oregon was offered for $500 in 1896, with no takers. It is now producing $1,000,000 a year. The Independence Mine, at Cripple Creek, was located as a prospect. A few years later it was sold to an English syndicate for $10,000,000. Two hundred and fifty dollars invested in Silver King in 1893 is now worth $9000, and paid over $4000 in dividends. Ten dollars invested in Swansea in 1895 is now worth $4500, and has paid $3100 in dividends. The Homestead Mine, in Dakota has paid $12,000,000 in dividends, and its stock advanced 5000 per cent. Alaska Treadwell has paid $5,000,000 in dividends, and its stock has advanced 3300 per cent. Anaconda has paid $22,000,000 in dividends and was recently sold to Rothschild for $40,000,000.

Boston & Montana has paid $26,000,000 in dividends. Quincy has paid $13,000,000 in dividends. United Verde has paid $17,000,000 in dividends. Calumet & Hecla has paid $30,000,000 in dividends. Ontario has paid $14,000,000 in dividends. Con. Cal. & Virginia has paid $77,500,000 in dividends. Homestake has paid $12,000,000 in dividends. Granite Mountain has paid $12,120,000 in dividends. St. John del Rey has paid $13,736,000 in dividends. Tamarack has paid $8,590,000 in dividends. Parrott has paid $5,750,000 in dividends.

Fifty other mines have paid from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 in dividends. No commercial business can begin to compare with mining as a profitable pursuit. That carefully selected mining investments are safer, more permanent and more profitable than any other, there can be no question.

The Comstock Lode of Virginia City, Nevada, has produced in twenty years the enormous sum of $316,580,486, while it is estimated that there is yet $35,000,000 in the tailings; and the output of the Witwatersrand district in South Africa for ten years previous to the Boer war was more than $400,000,000. And mining is yet in its infancy.

Anaconda paid a profit of $6,000,000 in 1901; Calumet and Hecla has paid $88,000,000 in dividends; Crown Point stock advanced from $274 to $1825 in one year; Consolidated Virginia stock sold 1885 at 11 cents a share, in 1896 at $65; Best & Belcher advanced from 60 cents to $23.50 in one year; Belcher sold at $8.50 per share in 1871 and $1550 in 1872, and the mine has paid $15,379,300 in dividends; the Idaho Gold Mining Company has paid its stockholders in dividends seventeen and one-half times more than its entire capital stock, 1750 per cent profit.

We cannot impress too strongly upon those desirous of taking advantage of the opportunities offered for large returns upon investments, that it is at the initial stage—when most investors are timid—that decision and action should be made.

In all the millions made out of mining—and they are larger than all other business of a commercial character combined—by far the greater part has been made by early and decisive action.

Hundreds of cases can be cited where the investor looked into the prospects of large returns with the same care as he would in any other investment—and every investor should exercise this caution—and considering the well known fact that over 50 per cent of mining businesses are large successes, as against 5 per cent in ordinary businesses—was rewarded with returns that no other business could possibly yield.

In a report made on these properties, the Santa Rosa, Roberts and Nevada Mines, the firm of Pisco Elton, Mining Engineers of Oaxaca, say: "The three properties together form a good basis for a strong mining company and the very fact that they have been chosen from among the best available properties in each district of the gold belt makes failure impossible, provided the mines are developed in a rational and scientific way and by men competent to handle them. By having sufficient capital ready to gain each point of the development scheme in turn, and using everything to best advantage, there is no failure possible, and it can be expected that the three mines will in time become one of the largest gold producers in Oaxaca and the world.

CENTER OF POPULATION

Not Expected to Move Far as Result of the Present Census.

The center of population of the Continental United States, which at the time of the first census was twenty-three miles east of Baltimore, has been traveling westward with each decade. In 1900 it was located near Columbus, Ind., about forty miles south of Indianapolis. In 1890 it was twenty-six miles farther east and in the two previous decades it kept rather near to Cincinnati. With each decade it has moved a little farther west, but has continued to keep very close to the thirty-sixth parallel; the latitude, approximately, of Baltimore and Cincinnati.

With the development and spread of population in the west the wonder is that the center of population keeps so disproportionately far to the east of the center area. It now stops at about one-fourth of the entire distance from coast to coast. The present census will doubtless carry it a little to the south, because of the new population in Oklahoma. Other western and southwestern states have made large additions to their population, but they have lost much by migration to Canada and latterly to Mexico.

It is not likely, therefore, that the center of population will move out of Indiana, or, indeed, get very far from its last stopping place. While the west is growing the east is not standing still. The great cities particularly are growing at a rapid rate, which shows no sign of abating. Of the twelve largest cities in the United States, by the census of 1900, eight were east of the center of population. The prodigious growth of New York City alone will almost balance the development and settlement of new areas in the west. Therefore, while the west booms along at a gait that promises to put everything behind it, the center of population insists on staying at each decade just a few miles farther west of its camping ground ten years before, showing that while the whole country is growing, the old east increases in population almost as rapidly as the new west.—Philadelphia Press.

Style of Hats.

The following is perpetrated by a boy who gives his age as only twelve years—just the right size to receive a good spanking, and when his mother reads the following lines, that is just about what he will get, unless his father comes to his rescue, and, in that event, there is likely to be more trouble:

The style of hats are very grand,
Some are like big dishpans;
Some are red, some are green,
Some are awful to be seen.

Some are big, some are little,
Some are in the shape of a kettle;
Some are like big balls, others small,
Some are low, others tall.

Did you ever see such hats?
Some won't hide a woman's ears;
Some women put on their little girls
The finest dresses in the world;
Then in their hair goes a rat.
Then comes next a great big hat.

Some women are like a wild cat,
Fuss at their husbands for a $15 hat,
Then, the next day, with a frown,
She gets in the buggy and goes to town.

With a thought in her mind,
In a millinery shop is where she shines;
"Please, some of your hats let me see,
Some of the finest that can be."

And when she starts back home,
She is skittish as a cat;
She is afraid her husband will see
Her fifteen dollar hat.

And when she gets home
She puts it in a box,
And says to her husband:
"That's a lot of socks."

Plays and Players.

A new play called "Her Son" is to be produced in Brooklyn shortly.

John Drew says he will play "Inconstant George" all next season.

John Mason is rehearsing a new play which will be produced shortly.

Henri Bernstein is at work on a new play which is said to resemble "The Thief" in its general lines.

John Galsworthy's play, "Justice," which will be given next season in New York, is an attack on the English prison system.

A new comedy by Anthony Hope and Cosmo Gordon Lennox is called "Helen's Path," and is a story of English country life.

Bertha Nalich has three new plays, one by a German author, another by a Russian and the third by an American. All of these plays have for their subject modern conditions of life.

W. J. Ferguson is the only surviving actor in active service who was in the company presenting "Our American Cousin" at Ford's Theatre on the night that President Lincoln was assassinated.

Hattie Williams is said to display unexpected emotional ability in Alfred Sturo's "A Maker of Men," which she is using as a curtain raiser with her new farce, "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind."

William A. Brady, incorporated, has acquired from Frank Curzon of London the American rights to "The Naked Truth," a comedy which has just been produced at Wyndham's Theatre, London, by Charles Hawtrey.

Miss Amy Lesser, who for four years was Miss Rose Stahyl's understudy in "The Chorus Lady," and never had a chance to play the part, is now playing an important role in the new Forbes comedy, "The Commuters."

That the members of the "Dollar Princess" company may have a rest Mr. Frohman has decided that the musical comedy shall end its long run at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, May 14, and reopen the house in August.

Mr. Belasco has decided upon changing the name of his two theatres in New York. The Stuyvesant will be renamed the Belasco and will be used by Belasco for his own plays. The present Belasco will return to the former name, the Republic.

On October 23, 1810, Sarah Bernhardt will reach her sixty-sixth year. On October 21, 1910, she will begin her seventh tour of the United States, which, she says will be her last. Her repertoire during her American tour will include fifteen plays.

Gladys Moore, the toe dancer in "The Midnight Sons," who imitates Genes, used to be a chorus girl in various musical comedies. One night, while playing in Philadelphia, she was called upon to do a solo dance and ever since she has been drawing big salaries.

Davidson said in a speech at Weatherford, "If you can't vote for me, then vote for Judge Poindexter or Colonel Johnson, but, for God's sake, don't vote for Colquitt!" which would indicate that General Davidson recognizes that Colquitt is in the lead so far. His Weatherford speech was a strong one, and, while he ridiculed both Johnson and Poindexter, he was unusually severe on Colquitt, referring to him as "Oscar Budweiser Colquitt" and charged that Colquitt was the only man who ever made the race for governor of Texas who failed to carry his own county, or even one county in the senatorial district which he at one time represented. All the candidates have made speeches at Weatherford but the press dispatches state that Davidson drew the largest crowd, and there seemed to be more enthusiasm for him than for any one of his three leading opponents. This was probably due to the fact that Davidson defended the late Gov. Lanham against an attack made upon him years ago by Colquitt. Speaking of his address there, the Weatherford Herald says editorially: "That speech delivered by General Davidson in this city Monday afternoon was heard by hundreds of Parker county citizens from every section of the county, and there is no questioning the fact that the speaker made a most profound impression upon his hearers. There is lots of support in Parker county for Davidson."

FLY TIME COMING.
Here is a reasonable suggestion for the inhabitants of every nook and corner of Texas, by the Beaumont Enterprise:
"The approach of another fly-time warns us at the risk of repetition to issue a few words regarding this dangerous pest. It was not very many years ago that the common house fly, like the mosquito, although considered an irritating nuisance, was thought to be otherwise harmless. Even now, when it is recognized by sanitary authorities as a dangerous disease carrier, comparatively few people consider it as such.
The manner in which the pest spreads disease is well understood. The fly swarms over dead fecal matter and other filth. Perhaps the next move of the fly is to feed upon food which has been placed upon the family table, depositing there the germ of typhoid fever, dysentery or tuberculosis. These facts call for better sanitation and the destruction of breeding places, especially in the spring of the year, when they commence to breed from the few flies or eggs, which have survived the winter. Each female lays about 150 eggs, which hatch in about eight hours' time. They then pass through the stages of maggots and pupae, becoming adult flies in about 10 days, ready to breed again, so that it can readily be seen that it is of the greatest importance that the breeding places be destroyed. At the same time, it affords an excellent illustration of the rapidity with which flies multiply.
The following rules have been laid down for dealing with the nuisance:
"Do not allow decaying material of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises.
"All refuse which tends in any way to fermentation, such as bedding, straw, paper, waste, and vegetable matter, should be disposed of or covered with lime. Keep all receptacles for garbage carefully covered and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with lime.
"Keep all stable manure in vault or pit, screened or sprinkled with lime.
"See that your sewerage system is in good order; that it does not leak, is up-to-date and not exposed to flies. Pour kerosene into the drains. Burn or bury all table refuse.
"Screen all food whether in the house or exposed for sale.
"Keep the flies away from the sick, especially those ill with contagious diseases. Kill every fly that strays into the sick room. Its body is covered with disease germs.
"While it may be impossible to exterminate all flies, yet the danger and trouble may be greatly lessened by a proper use of screens for doors and windows.
"These are very good rules to bear in mind and their general adoption would soon reduce to a minimum the terrible effects of the annual fly nuisance."
The population of Wichita Falls, as fixed by the 1910 census, now being compiled, will stand before the world for ten years. It therefore behooves every citizen who is now a resident of this city to see that he is counted. The enumerators, it matters not how careful they perform their work, will overlook many, and those who are missed should not hesitate to call at the Chamber of Commerce and the mistakes will be rectified.

treaties of arbitration. There are, of course, states so backward that a civilized community ought to enter into an arbitration treaty with them, at least until we have gone much further than at present in securing some kind of international police action. But all really civilized communities should have effective arbitration treaties among themselves. I believe that these treaties can cover almost all questions liable to arise between such nations. If they are drawn with the explicit agreement that each contracting party will respect the other's territory and its absolute sovereignty within that territory, and the equally explicit agreement that (aside from the very rare cases where the nation's honor is vitally concerned) all other possible subjects of controversy will be submitted to arbitration. Such a treaty would insure peace unless one party deliberately violated it. Of course, as yet there is no adequate safeguard against such deliberate violation; but the establishment of a sufficient number of these treaties would go a long way towards creating a world opinion which would finally find expression in the provision of methods to forbid or punish any such violation.
Secondly, there is the further development of the Hague Tribunal, of the work of the conferences and courts at The Hague. It has been well said at the first Hague Conference framed a Magna Charta for the nations; it set before us an ideal that has already to some extent been realized, and towards the full realization of which we can steadily strive. The second Conference made further progress; the third should do yet more. Meanwhile the American Government has more than once tentatively suggested methods for completing the Court of Arbitral Justice, constituted at the second Hague Conference, and for rendering it effective. It is earnestly to be hoped that the various Governments of Europe, working with those of America and of Asia, shall set themselves seriously to the task of devising some method which shall accomplish this result. If I may venture the suggestion, it would be well for the statesmen of the world in planning for the erection of this world court to study what has been done in the United States by the Supreme Court. I cannot help thinking that the Constitution of the United States, notably in the establishment of the Supreme Court and in the methods adopted for securing peace and good relations among and between the different states, offers certain valuable analogies to what should be striven for in order to secure, through the Hague courts and conferences, a species of world federation for international peace and justice. There are, of course, fundamental differences between what the United States Constitution does and what we should even attempt at this time to secure at The Hague; but the methods adopted in the American Constitution to prevent hostilities between the States, and to secure the supremacy of the Federal Court in certain classes of cases, are well worth the study of those who seek at The Hague to obtain the same results on a world scale.
In the third place, something should be done as soon as possible to check the growth of armaments, especially naval armaments, by international agreement. No one power could or should act by itself; for it is eminently undesirable, from the standpoint of the peace of righteousness, that a power which really does believe in peace should place itself at the mercy of some rival which may at bottom have no such belief and no intention of acting on it. But granted sincerity of purpose, the great powers of the world should find no insurmountable difficulty in reaching an agreement which would put an end to the present costly and growing extravagance of expenditure on naval armaments. An agreement merely to "limit the size of ships would have been very useful a few years ago, and would still be of use; but the agreement should go much further.
Finally, it would be a master stroke if those great powers honestly bent on peace would form a League of Peace, not only to keep the peace among themselves, but to prevent, by force if necessary, its being broken by others. The supreme difficulty in connection with developing the peace work of The Hague arises from the lack of any executive power of any political power to enforce the decrees of the court. In any community of any size the authority of the courts rests upon actual or potential force, or on the existence of a police, or on the knowledge that the able-bodied men of the country are both ready and willing to see that the decrees of judicial and legislative bodies are put into effect. In new and wild communities where there is violence, a home man must protect himself; and until other means of securing his safety are devised, it is both foolish and wicked to persuade him to surrender his arms while the men who are dangerous to the community retain theirs. He should not renounce the right to protect himself by his own efforts until the community is so organized that it can effectively relieve the individual of the duty of putting down violence. So it is with nations. Each nation must keep well prepared to defend itself until the establishment of some form of international police power, competent and willing to prevent violence as between nations. As things are now, such power to command peace throughout the world could best be assured by some combination between those great nations which sincerely desire peace and have no thought themselves of committing aggressions. The combination might at first be only to secure peace within certain definite limits and certain definite conditions; but the ruler or statesman who should bring about such a combination would have earned his place in history for all time and his title to the gratitude of all mankind.

LONDON GIRLS LIKE TO SMOKE.
After Long Day at Factory or Store They Enjoy Whiff or Two.
The girl typist and stenographers of London don't think it at all wrong for a business girl to take the relaxation of a cigarette or two after the day's work is done. In fact, they consider it restful and soothing. Such, at least, was the radical sentiment expressed at a recent meeting of the English Association of Shorthand Writers and Typists, held at Allan's tea room, Oxford street, London. All the members of the association agreed that relaxation was imperative for a girl typist after the strain and drudgery of the day.
"Do what you feel like doing," said one girl, "whether it's going to the theatre or reading an interesting book and smoking a cigarette in your room. And the other girls clapped.
Miss Gordon Holmes said she was glad to perceive that office women were getting to disregard the old doctrine of self-sacrifice that had always been preached to women.
"When a girl goes home from the office," she said, "there's apt to be that feminine problem confronting her—shall she help with the household work, or rest and enjoy life? Unless it's a case of being heartless to a sick mother, I say throw the dish-cloth out of the window and have a good time."
—Chicago Record-Herald.

RELIEF FOR OLD HORSES.
Increasing Tendency to Make the Old Age Easier.
One of the apparent signs of the times is the growing disposition, manifested in many quarters and through many agencies, to remember the ancient proverb, that "a merciful man will be merciful to his beast."
In its efforts to bring about the humane disposal of old or worn-out horses, the Boston work horse parade association is meeting with encouraging success, and it believes that the conviction is rapidly spreading that disabled or superannuated horses, especially such as are owned by large concerns and city governments, ought not to be sold.
Many of the larger corporations never sell an old or worn-out horse; others see that they fall into good hands when they dispose of them, and still others graduate their horses to fighter work as equine old age comes on.
There is no old age pension scheme for horses in this country. In several European countries the problem is solved by eating the horse—a more compassionate method of treating him than keeping him at work until he drops in his tracks. "I that am cruel am yet merciful," said the Moor of Venice.—Boston Globe.

SCHOOL FOR HOTEL MANAGERS

Paris Plans to Train Young Men for the Business.

Paris—A school for hotel managers at which young men will receive a thorough grounding in everything that goes to make up the perfect modern hotel manager, will be opened in Paris in the autumn.

The idea has sprung from the general syndicate of the hotel industry, the members of which have rightly recognized that nowadays the hotel manager must not only thoroughly understand the economy of the kitchen, the wine cellar, and the bookkeeping department, but must be a polyglot and must have a smattering of architecture, electricity and sanitary engineering as well. There will be a two years' course, the first year being spent at a school and the second being spent in some leading hotel affiliated to the syndicate. The manager of this hotel will have to report at the close of the second year on the aptitude of the pupil. The school will arrange competitions among the pupils and issue diplomas.—Daily Mail.

of the fine and ultra palatable in pickles is found in the Heinz Line. Heinz Pickles, whether in bulk or in bottles, are uniform in size and color and a exactly right in flavor and quality. We call special attention to the bulk sweet mixed pickles. These are prepared from choice "Heinz-Grows" vegetables, preserved in a sweet, spicy liquor made of granulated sugar, old malt vinegar and pure spices. They are thoroughly sweet, but delightfully piquant—not insipid like ordinary sweet pickles.

It is safe to buy bulk pickles, if they are "HEINZ-MADE."

Haley's Comet.
When the sky is clear, Haley's comet is plainly visible to the naked eye in the eastern sky just before daylight, or about one hour before sunrise. It is not near so bright as the morning star, though easily recognized, and is located just a little ways to the north of the morning star, the supposed tail appearing to be about eight or ten feet long. It is getting brighter all the time, due to its rapid approach to the earth. Next week it will be quite bright, according to the schedule marked out for it by the astronomers, and will be well worth getting up early in the morning to see. A number of people of this city have already acquired the habit of rising early to make observations. For their benefit of all those who may want to keep track of the comet until it passes away, the following schedule is published:
May 6—Comet appears at 2:37 a. m. 11,676,000 miles from the earth.
May 7—Comet may be located in the constellation of Pegasus, 5 degrees from the star Gamma.
May 8—Comet rises at 3:46 o'clock in the morning.
May 9—Comet swings across the orbit of Venus. It is distant from the earth 23,410,000 miles.
May 10—Comet rises at 2:33 a. m.
May 11—Comet appears at 2:37 a. m.
May 12—Comet rises at 2:40 a. m. It is beginning to swing away from the line of the earth's orbit.
May 13—Comet rises at 3:49 a. m. Distance from the earth but 14,880,000 miles.
May 14—Comet appears at 3:08 a. m. Distance from earth 13,950,000 miles.
May 15—Comet appears at 3:52 a. m. Only 12,680,000 miles from earth.
May 16—Nearest approach to the earth, being distant 12,090,000 miles. Comet passes across the face of the sun between 8:30 and 9 p. m., central time.
May 17—Comet appears in the evening sky, each night rising higher in the west.
May 18—Comet will be an enormous monster and will set at 8:11 p. m.
May 19—Comet sets at 10:30 p. m.
May 20—Comet crosses the path of the earth.
May 21—Comet sets at 11:30 p. m. It is growing fainter.
June 5—Passes out of the range of the naked eye.

Founder of Mother's Day.

About three years ago an appreciative daughter desired to commemorate the anniversary of her mother's death. It was not only the thought of laying some flowers on mother's grave, but it occurred to her that it would be a beautiful tribute to all mothers, the living and the dead, if their children, on a given day, would unite in the simple wearing of a white flower and thus make Mother's day universal. The papers everywhere caught up the idea and in two years it swept over not only all of North America, but was heartily welcomed in other lands. The purpose of Mother's day, as conceived by Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, U. S. A., with whom it originated, is a day in which all lands as one nation may unite in honor of mother. The second Sunday in May of each year is proposed as the day when mother is to be specially remembered and universal motherhood exalted in the esteem of every man, woman and child. The plan is to make it not only a sentimental observance, but as far as possible to clothe it with the sanctity and dynamic power that comes from concerted action. The wearing of a white flower, the beautiful emblem of truth, and purity will be filial evidence that the wearer loves to honor his mother living, or her memory if dead. If away from home on this day, write mother a love letter, send her a telegram, use the long distance phone, or the special delivery of the postoffice. The white carnation stands for purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness—all virtues of a truthful motherhood. Governors of states and mayors of cities in past years have issued special proclamations endorsing the purpose and recommending the general celebration of that day. The day has also been marked by the special singing of mother's hymns in the home, and by special services and distribution of white flowers in the Sunday school and at the church and in other places.

Ex-Princess Eugenie.
Eugenie-Marie de Guzman, Countess of Teba, who was Empress of the French during the reign of her husband, Napoleon III., was born in Spain, May 5, 1826. Her father was the Count de Montijo, an officer in the Spanish army. Her mother was an English lady of large fortune and the future empress received much of her education in England. In 1851, the Countess Teba, as she was then known, paid a lengthened visit to Paris, and was distinguished at the brilliant entertainments given at the Tuilleries. Two years later her marriage with the Emperor was celebrated with much magnificence at Notre Dame. The life of the Empress Eugenie after her marriage was comparatively uneventful until the outbreak of war between France and Germany, when she was appointed regent during the absence of the emperor. Immediately after the revolution in Paris, on Sept. 4, 1870, she escaped to England, which country has been her home ever since. The royal couple made their home at Chislehurst, where the emperor died in 1873. Six years later further sorrow came to the empress when her only child, the Prince Imperial was killed while fighting with the British army in the Zulu war.

Northern Baptist Convention.
Chicago, May 5.—The intellect and the power of the Baptist Church in the North are concentrated in Chicago today. On every train distinguished clergymen and influential laymen from many states have been pouring into the city, until even the hotel corridors for once in their history might be mistaken for the vestibules of churches, so numerous throughout are men of clerical mein.

The occasion of this great gathering of the leaders of the Baptist denomination is the Northern Baptist convention, which is to assemble tomorrow for a week's session. The convention will hold its meetings in the Bartlett gymnasium at the University of Chicago and the presiding officer will be Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, president of the university. Between 3,000 and 4,000 delegates and as many more visitors are expected to attend.

No fixed program has been arranged for the convention, but all the church work, which includes the three great organizations of the Baptist Church, the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, the American Baptist Home Mission Society, and the American Baptist Publication Society, will be reviewed. These three large societies organized for world-wide mission work, and for publication interests, handle large sums of money annually and control operations of wide proportions. For many years these several societies held their own annual sessions, making their own reports to themselves. Four years ago it was decided to organize one great convention of the Northern Baptists, to include the thousands of churches throughout the country. The initial meeting was held in Washington, D. C., and Governor Hughes of New York was honored with the presidency. Since then annual meetings of the convention have been held in Oklahoma City and Portland, Oregon.

IS FRENCH SHERLOCK HOLMES.

Mr. Bertillon Has New System for Tracing Criminals. Paris.—M. Bertillon, the world-famous author of the anthropometrical system, which has revolutionized criminal investigation, has invented an ingenious apparatus for registering the amount of force represented by the marks left by burglars' tools on doors, windows, desks and elsewhere. In the anthropometrical department of the prefecture of police, surrounded by hundreds of elaborate charts, scales and photographs of types of different peoples of the earth, the great criminalist this afternoon courteously showed me the working of his new machine. It consists of two dynamometers placed at right angles, the perpendicular dial registering the pressure, the horizontal dial representing the traction. In the case of a desk being forced an identical piece of wood is taken from a comprehensive collection of woods which goes with the machine and is clamped into the apparatus, after which the marks found on the object are reproduced on the wood, either with the instruments left behind by the burglar or by similar tools, and the force used to pry or pull open the object is registered respectively on the pressure or traction of the dynamometer. Mr. Bertillon claims nothing definite for his invention, except that cases often arise in which the knowledge of the amount of muscular force employed in the burglary might throw valuable light on the identity of the author. Just as Sherlock Holmes was an authority on tobacco ash, so is M. Bertillon an expert in wood, distinguishing at a glance the different varieties from a large collection placed in the drawers of the table on which his machine is mounted. The apparatus will be shown at the Brussels Exhibition in the French police exhibit there.—London Daily Mail.
