WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1910

NUMBER 311

COUNTY TAX RATE TO BE UNCHANGED

IS FIXED BY COMMISSIONERS AT SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS, SAME AS LAST YEAR.

TO MAKE FEW INCREASES

Equalization Work Is Light This Year
and Will Be Finished This Week.

The county commissioners yesterday afternoon fixed the county tax rate for the 1910 valuations, making it the same as that of last year, thirty-five cents on each $100 valuation. Of this thirty-five cents, twenty cents goes to the road and bridge fund, twelve and a half cents to the general fund and two and a half cents to the court house fund.

The commissioners are now in session as a board of equalization and will probably complete this part of their work this afternoon or tomorrow. The work is occupying but a short time this year on account of the fact that very few of the assessments have been raised and the increase for the county as a whole will not be large. The total valuations for the county will probably not exceed ten and one-half million.

While this is a small increase for a county as wealthy as Wichita it is felt that heavy increases are unavoidable following the enormous increase of 1908 and the substantial one of last year. It is understood that the majority of the increased assessments for this year are on Wichita Falls property and that the increases on farm lands are few and far between. The equalization work will be finished this week, at the present rate.

May 25th has been set as the date for hearing protests from property owners whose assessments have been raised.

VOLUNTEER CENSUS WORK BRINGS GOOD RESULTS; MANY MORE ARE FOUND

The efforts put forth in the past few days by the Chamber of Commerce for a complete census have borne good fruit and at least two hundred residents of this city who would not otherwise have been enumerated will be included in the census. One or two of the volunteers have done splendid work, finding a number of unenumerated people and it is possible that as a result of this last effort the ten thousand mark will be brought much closer than it otherwise would.

WARD AND BARNETT WILL BE LARGE CONTRIBUTORS TO THE PACKERY FUND

In view of the offer made by Messrs.
Job Barnett and J. C. Ward at last night's mass meeting, to donate to the packing house fund in proportion to the assessed value of property owned by them as liberally as the chairman of the meeting would do, the Times has looked up the assessments of the gentlemen named and finds them as follows.

City Tax rolls—
Job Barnett $34,245.00
J. C. Ward 15,940.00
R. E. Huff 13,325.00
As Mr. Huff's subscription was $1,000, the two gentlemen who voluntarily agreed to make his donation the standard for their action, will evidently each contribute a very nice sum to the fund.

However, state and county tax rolls for 1909, show the following:
Job Barnett $30,245.00
R. E. Huff 25,900.00
J. C. Ward 12,340.00

ANOTHER MINE EXPLOSION.

Number of Men Are Imprisoned in England.

The first game of the season between the Wichita Falls team and the "Irish Lads" will be played tomorrow afternoon at the baseball park and a close game is anticipated.

OVER HALF OF BONUS FOR PACKERY RAISED

Another Mass Meeting to Be Held at Court House Tonight to Com- plete Required Amount.

A total of over thirty thousand dollars of the fifty thousand dollars needed for the packing house bonus, is now subscribed and there is little doubt that the remainder will have been secured by tonight. About twenty-eight thousand dollars was raised at the mass meeting last night and this was increased by a few moments work by the soliciting committee this morning. The mass meeting last night, while it did not accomplish the raising of the entire bonus, as had been hoped, was, nevertheless, a very enthusiastic session of the citizens. Another meeting will be held tonight when the work will be completed.

The meeting last night was held in the district court room, which was filled almost to its capacity with citizens. President Huff of the Chamber of Commerce, called the meeting to order and asked J. A. Kemp to explain the purpose of the gathering. Mr. Kemp responded by stating that he had been endeavoring for some time to get someone interested in the packing house movement here and that Mr. Emerson was now here to submit a proposition. He asked Mr. Emerson to address the meeting.

Mr. Emerson took the floor and spoke for half an hour, explaining the proposition in detail, stating just what he intended to do and just what he expected, as previously outlined. His remarks were frequently interrupted by applause, especially at those points where he paid compliments to Wichita Falls and made rosy predictions as to her future welfare.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Emerson's address, a motion by Jim Marlow, that steps be taken at once to raise the bonus, prevailed.

Mr. Kemp, speaking for himself and Mr. Keel, subscribed one fourth of the amount needed, $12,500. Other subscriptions came in at a rapid rate, until a total of $22,750 had been subscribed. It was stated that a committee would solicit subscriptions today and that another meeting would be held tonight to complete the bonus. Messrs. Blair, Tandy, Butler Moore, Barnett and J. B. Marlow were appointed as soliciting committee.

Following are last night's subscriptions:

Kemp and Keel	$12,500
H. B. Hines	1,000
Blair & Hughes Co.	1,000
Moore, Perkins & Jackson	1,000

BALLINGER GETS FIREMEN'S CONVENTION WICHITA FALLS LOSES OUT IN CONTEST BY NARROW MARGIN OF TWENTY VOTES

The efforts of Wichita Falls to obtain the 1911 convention of the State Firemen's Association were unsuccessful by the narrow margin of twenty votes, according to a telegram received by Mayor Noble from Chief Vic Stampfli this afternoon.

Ballinger was the successful competitor, defeating Wichita Falls by twenty votes.

The defeat of Wichita Falls is ascribed to the Waco department, which finding itself unable to secure any material support for Waco as the 1911 meeting place threw its support to Ballinger and enabled that town to win.

The Wichita Falls delegation had to

Ed Howard	250
Otto Stehlik	250
Wichita Gas Co.	250
J. C. Tandy	250
T. T. Reese	150
Lynn Boyd	150
J. T. Montgomery	150
J. S. Bridwell	100
J. S. Beard	100
A. L. Huey	100
J. G. Jones	100
John Young	100
Hickman & Hamilton	100
Anderson & Patterson	200
J. L. Downing	100

Total $27,750

The First National Bank came in this morning with a one thousand dollar subscription and several other substantial donations were received during the short time the committee was at work. It is hoped to be able to complete the bonus at tonight's meeting, which takes the place of the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The above list does not include the indefinite subscriptions of J. C. Ward and Job Barnett. These gentlemen, when questioned as to what they would give, agreed to subscribe as great a per cent of their total property values as Mr. Huff was giving of his. Just what their donations will amount to, under this agreement, has not been ascertained.

E. B. Carver, who made a short address to the meeting last night, volunteered to raise one thousand dollars among the citizens of Archer county, but his offer was declined.

The committee will resume operations this afternoon, being unable to spend more than a short time this morning. It is believed that there are a number of citizens who will subscribe who were not at the meeting last night.

BIGGEST SHIP IN NAVY IS LAUNCHED

BATTLESHIP FLORIDA ENTERS WATER TODAY IN HARBOR AT NEW YORK.

DISPLACEMENT 23,000

Will Require One Thousand Men and Officers to Manipulate Her.

By Associated Press. New York, May 12.—The biggest ship in the American navy slid off the ways today at the New York Navy Yard, when the battleship Florida dropped into the water. Later on when the Arkansas and the Wyoming, now under construction, then afloat, they will exceed the Florida in size by three thousand tons, a difference sufficient to make a pretty good little liner in itself. The Florida, herself, is by no means finished, for as she went off the ways today she was only about sixty per cent advanced towards completion, which means that she was not much more than a vast empty hull and still awaits all of the thousand boilers and main and secondary engines and armor and equipment that go to make up the ship, ready for commission.

Probably there is not a battleship afloat that could tackle the Florida on even terms, when her commander's flag flies from the ungraceful, but formidable, skeleton masts which will be placed upon her, that is; provided the naval designers do not change their minds, as to the utility of this novel feature of marine architecture within the next eighteen months, by which time the Florida should be in commission.

The ship is the first of any real importance to be constructed in a government navy yard for a number of years, and naturally her performance will be watched with keen interest by the private shipbuilders, who are now building her sistership, the Utah, in Camden, N. J.

As a matter of fact, the North Dakota, built by the Fore River Ship Building Company, and the Delaware, constructed at Newport News, with the Florida and Utah, will make what is described as a unit in naval warfare, meaning that these vessels are practically of the same type and may be expected to operate together in naval warfare. The North Dakota and the Delaware are nearly two thousand tons smaller than the other two vessels, though the armament is practically the same and the smaller vessels indeed, are rated at about a quarter of a knot faster.

The Florida is 521 feet, six inches long, nearly as long as a city block; her beam is 88 feet 2 1/2 inches; she draws 28 1/2 feet of water and displaces 21,825 tons in light order, while, when fully loaded, with her supplies and ammunition, she will measure up to 23,033 tons. Her estimated speed is 20 1/2 knots per hour, which would have been regarded a few years ago as the top-notch for a swift unarmored cruiser. She will carry 2,500 tons of coal in her bunkers, which should enable her to make the round trip across the Atlantic at half speed. Parsons' turbine engines, built in the New York Navy Yard, of the enormous power of 28,000 horse-power will maintain the high speed of this big ship and the steam will be supplied by sectional boilers.

The main battery of the ship will consist of ten twelve-inch rifles, arranged in pairs in turrets. Looking at her bow-on one would think that the Florida had what is called superposed or double-deck turrets like the Kearsarge and the Kentucky, but as a matter of fact there are only two guns in each of the five turrets and the second turret in the fore part of the ship is necessarily elevated on a superstructure so as to be able to fire freely over the top of the foremost turret. There is a very formidable secondary battery composed of sixteen five inch rapid firers, four three pounders, two one-pounders and a number of machine guns. There are also two twenty-one-inch submerged tubes for torpedoes.

Just what the armor is to be on these ships the naval designers will not tell. That marks the adoption of a new policy in the American Navy where heretofore it has been customary to set out in smallest detail in the chief constructor's reports the thickness of every inch of armor on the ship. It is believed, though, that the side armor will average about twelve inches and that it will be extended over a length of the ship heretofore uncovered and will be much wider than the ordinary armor belt, so as not to expose the under body of the ship when she rolls in a seaway.

It will take more than a thousand men to manage this great fighting machine; the minimum requirement is sixty officers and 954 enlisted men. The estimated cost of the ship com-plets to $6,000,000, as fixed in the act of May 12th, 1908. Her keel was laid March 9th, 1909, so that the naval constructors have reason to be proud of the rapidity with which they have carried on their work.

GOOD ROADS IN NEW JERSEY

Extensive System of Smooth and Hard Highways Steadily Increases.

Bridgeton, N. J.—Not only has the advent of the automobile created a demand for good roads along the important highways of New Jersey during the past few years, but it has necessitated the building of comparatively dustless roadbeds, that has been greatly improved of late. Another important factor in road building, made necessary by swift passing autos, is their increased width. For the past two years many improvements have been noted in this connection. It was early in 1908 that the New Jersey State Road Commissioner, E. C. Hutchinson, first put forth a very decided veto on all narrow roads. He declared that the day of twelve to fourteen-foot roadways is at an end; that the narrowest of the improved-highways must be at least sixteen feet in width, while the most prominent of the public highways must average from twenty-five to fifty feet wide.

While the average South Jersey farmer and the village resident has been bitter in his charges against the automobile, he has much to thank this much abused vehicle in the matter of good road building. The demand for better highways (and what is more to the point, their actual construction) has been felt throughout the state with the increase in motoring, but nowhere has there been such general improvement as in the southern section of New Jersey.

The benefits to be derived from this good, common road system have been shared by all classes. The farmer reaping a better profit, through easier transportation to commercial centers, the inhabitants of the towns and villages by the product of their labor reaching the rural districts more economically. There is a prophecy of very satisfactory reduction of freight rates by the improvement of roadbeds, and commissioners and freeholders of New Jersey have awakened to the importance of the problem throughout the state.—Philadelphia Record.

Biggest Battleship Launched.
New York, May 12.—The largest, fastest and most powerful sea fighter in the American navy and in the world the monster battleship Florida, was launched today at the Brooklyn navy yard. The battleship is the first naval vessel built at a government yard since the Connecticut was constructed at the Brooklyn yard some years ago.

Thousands of spectators witnessed the launching. Long before the hour appointed for the event those persons who were fortunate enough to obtain tickets of admission began to pass through the gates of the navy yard. Many who were not took places of vantage on housetops and factory roofs in the immediate vicinity of the yard. Hundreds thronged Corlears Hook Park, on the Manhattan side of East River, from which a good view was obtained of the navy yard opposite. Many of the spectators took their positions hours before the vessel slid from the ways, and they waited patiently until the ship entered the brine. Even then they were loath to depart, many remaining for hours to watch the giant hull as it floated at anchor in mid-stream.

The launching party, which was one of the largest and most distinguished that ever witnessed a similar event in this country, was given a place upon the large platform which had been built around the prow of the battleship. The State of Florida was represented by a large official party. Secretary Mayer and several of his assistants were on hand to represent the Navy Department. The Navy itself was well represented by numerous officers of the battleships Michigan, Connecticut, Nebraska and Rhode Island, all of which are now in port here. The contingent was headed by Rear Admiral Schroeder, Commander in Chief of the Atlantic fleet. The commandant and officers of the navy yard looked after the visitors and the workmen of the yard were given a half holiday that they might witness the launching.

Ready to christen the ship Miss Elizabeth Legere Fleming, daughter of the late ex-Governor P. P. Fleming, of Florida, stood trembling with excitement on the launching stand, the christening bottle poised for the first move of the ship. Suddenly there was a rending sound, the weakened beam gave way and the giant hull began to move down the ways. At the same moment Naval Constructor William J. Baxter, who supervised the construction of the vessel, gave the signal to the sponsor. Miss Fleming with admirable self-possession hurled the bottle of sparkling wine at the prow and exclaimed in a clear voice: "I christen thee Florida."

Gaining speed every moment the great hull glided rapidly down the ways into the East River, receiving its first touch of the brine at a few minutes before 11 o'clock. As the future sea terror settled in the water the crowd gave vent to a great cheer, which was soon drowned by the playing of the marine bands and the din created by the booming of cannon and the screech of the countless whistles.

Immediately after the launching there was an official luncheon at which the guests included Governor Gilchrist of Florida and his staff, Miss Fleming and her maids of honor, Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Rear Admiral Schroeder, Wainwright, Potter and others, Naval Constructor Baxter, members of the Senate and House Committees on Naval Affairs, and eminent representatives of the State and City of New York. A hearty greeting from President Taft added interest to the affair.

The Florida is the latest word in battleships, although England and Germany have prepared plans for super-Floridas. She is the heaviest warship that has ever been launched in the United States, weighing 9,000 tons as she glided down the ways today, which is 1,000 tons more than the Utah weighed when she was launched at Camden last December. The construction of the Florida was authorized by Congress in 1907 and her keel was laid down at the Brooklyn navy yard on March 8, 1909. She is now 85 per cent completed and is expected to be ready for sea before the summer of 1911.

The Florida is 520 feet long and has a beam of 85 feet 3 inches and mean draught of 27 feet 3 inches. The armor consists of a belt 11 inches thick amidships, which is more than 8 feet wide. Above this is a second belt 8 feet wide of an average thickness of 9 inches. The lower water line belt is continuous from stem to stern, while the upper belt reached from the forward to the after turret.

A single broadside from the Florida will be almost twice as heavy as

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity
—Northwest Division—Today,
partly cloudy and cooler. Friday, fair and cooler.

If every property holder will attend the mass meeting at the court house tonight and do his duty when he gets there, Wichita Falls will land that $300,000 packing plant. More than half of the $50,000 bonus was subscribed last night and if those who have not contributed at all will do their duty, the Times will be able to announce tomorrow that Wichita Falls has secured the enterprise. It is not right for just a few men to bear the burden, while all are receiving the benefits, and the Times, for one, would rather see the streets of Wichita Falls grow up in weeds, rather than see that a few men who have managed to secure a lot of valuable property and have their holdings more than doubled in value by the enterprise put forth by their neighbors.

One fellow who subscribed $250 to the packery bonus last night stated that the tax rolls would show that he paid far more in proportion to his holdings than the largest donors, which was a fact undisputed, but explained that it was worth that much to sit and listen to such a cheerful and optimistic talker as Mr. Emerson, president of the United States Packing Co. who predicted that within five years this packing plant would increase its capital from $300,000 to $1,000,000, and that within a period of ten years Wichita Falls would be a city of 90,000 people.

The Times' subscription to the $50,000 packing-house bonus was $250. Now, if the Dorsey Printing Company and two or three other outside concerns who are favored in Wichita Falls with at least fifty per cent of the printing business (stationery) will do likewise, the printers' donations to a Wichita Falls enterprise will not look so very insignificant when added together.

For the first time in the history of Wilbarger county. It received more public school money for the year 1909 than it paid in taxes to the state of Texas for any one year. There were enrolled in Wilbarger county last year 3,007 school children and it received from the state $18,778.50 public school money and for that year it paid to the state $15,498.28.—Vernon Call.

"You aver!" thundered the black-browed bandit chief, "that you are the celebrated prima donna M'lie. Squallina! Prove it and you are free! Never shall it be said that a Cutta-wausanda would offer an indignity to an opera soprano! It is against all the tenets of the profession!"
"But how," wailed the captive, "shall I prove my identity?"
"By singing, of course."
"What!" shrieked the lady. "Sing in this cave? No boquets, no enthusiastic applauders, and not a cent in the box office? Never!"
"Gentlemen," declared the bandit, "it is quite evident that this lady is what she claims to be. Escort her to the nearest village and set her free."

CONCRETE BARGES ON CANAL.

These Odd Structures Are Feature of Panama Work.

Three concrete barges, to carry the hydraulic excavating pumps on the Pacific division, are being constructed at a point nearly opposite Corozal. They will be sixty-four feet long, of twenty-four feet beam and five feet eight inches draft. The walls of the hull will be built of one thickness of half-inch mesh No. 12 wire cloth, stretched longitudinally on half-inch iron rods, twelve inches apart, and transverse half-inch rods eight inches apart. On the frames formed the concrete will be applied as plaster is put on laths. It will seem marvelous that great masses of concrete forming the hulls of vessels or dredges are floating on the canal, through the great man-made canyon, where material of the very rock rent-a-sunder rides over the waters.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

Contract for New Building Awarded.

The contract for the construction of the Jackson & Hinds two-story brick house, to be erected on the rear end of the lot on the northeast corner of Ohio avenue and 5th street has been awarded to Contractor Dan O'Reilly, for the sum of $10,488, and when completed, will be a very handsome structure, with a frontage of 75 feet on 5th street.

Mr. O'Reilly also has the contract for the 50x90 foot, two story brick now under construction on Ohio avenue for the Friberg brothers. He was also the contractor who constructed the Crescent Candy Company building, a three-story brick structure on Ohio avenue, between 5th and 6th streets, and the company is well satisfied with his work.

Congratulations for Lodge.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, was sixty years old today and for a good part of the day he was kept busy parrying the humorist thrusts of some of his colleagues who wanted to know if he did not think it was time to follow the example set by his neighbors, Aldrich of Rhode Island and Hale of Maine, in retiring to private life. Though younger in years than many of his fellow-members, the Massachusetts senator is a veteran in the public service, having first come to the senate in 1893, after an apprenticeship of six years in the lower house.

SELLING LAND BY AUCTION.

London Regards It as Novel and Interesting.

For the first time in the history of the Auction Mart in Tokenhouse Yard, E. C., a sale of property was conducted yesterday on what is known as the "Dutch" system.

"Dutch" auctions have hitherto, as a rule, been adopted only by itinerant "cheap jacks." The system derives its name from a Dutch merchant, who coming into the London markets with a quantity of Eastern produce, and hearing that business was dull, said that he would reverse the usual custom and reduce his prices until he found a purchaser. "By this means," he said, "I shall be able to find out the buyers' highest prices and they cannot discover my lowest."

The innovation was made yesterday by Montagu Hall of the firm of Walter Hall & Co., auctioneers and surveyors of 38 Chancery Lane, who offered twenty properties in various parts of London for sale. The novelty of the proceedings had attracted an unusually large attendance.

Having described the new conditions of the sale, Mr. Hall proceeded to submit the various lots. The first price was mentioned by the auctioneer, who proceeded to decrease by regular amounts—bearing some proportion to the total—until some bidder by a nod expressed his willingness to purchase, when the hammer fell and the lot was sold. In this way nineteen of the twenty lots were quickly disposed of.

"I claim that this 'Dutch' system has many advantages over the old," said Mr. Hall to a representative of this journal after the sale. "The ordinary purchaser has an equal chance with the professional dealer, and the operations of the 'knock-out ring' are rendered abortive. Only one bid is taken, that is the one from the purchaser, so that no one in the salesroom can tell who is waiting to buy any particular property. The time saved, too, is enormous, for there is no waiting between the bids and 'screwing-up the bidders.'—Daily Mail.

Starvation or Disarmament.

Since 1907 the price of bread has advanced 540 per cent in Austria. So startling has been the increase in the cost of living in that country that the government may take steps to check the advance in prices. If Austria would send a good part of her great standing army out to till the fields it would help some, but the government probably will take no such radical step as that, as with an unprotected border they might not have any fields to till. The deplorable economic conditions in that country, however, are undoubtedly due in large part to militarism. Disarmament does not seem near, but threatened starvation is a mighty argument for its accomplishment.

We are now giving to our trade the ten-cent cans of Calumet Baking Powder and their beautiful cook books. I can recommend Calumet Baking Powder to my trade.

ANGLO-SAXON ELEMENT WANES

New Comers From Europe Are in Majority There.

The waning Anglo-Saxon element in the eastern states is not prone to mingle with the classes of later-comers and secure an infusion of more vigorous blood into a diminishing and decaying stock. In this class, race suicide is prevalent and nature's punishment therefor, by its elimination from the stage of future human activities, cannot be postponed more than a few generations. It needs only a short memory on the part of those familiar with eastern conditions to recall numerous instances where the enfeebled remnants of formerly proud, dominant old families have died out or been ruthlessly brushed aside into obscurity by the march of progress, because they were unwilling or unable to adapt themselves to new conditions. Thus in one New England city of some 120,000 population, it is stated that the annual birth rate among the 27,000 recent Italian incomers is greater than that among the 93,000 others composing the community, and it requires no Solomon to foresee what a radical change a few generations will accomplish in such a city in respect to its racial complexion and social organization.—Dr. Edw. L. Munson in May Pacific Monthly.

That is saying a great deal, but it is not saying too much for Chase & Sanborn's Seal Brand. "THE WORLD MOVEMENT"

By Associated Press.
Berlin, May 12.—Speaking before the University of Berlin today Colonel Roosevelt took as the subject matter of his lecture "The World Movement." Colonel Roosevelt said:

"The play of new forces is as evident in the moral and spiritual world as in the world of the mind and the body. Forces for good and forces for evil are everywhere evident, each acting with a hundred or a thousand fold the intensity with which it acted in former ages. Over the whole world the swing of the pendulum grows more and more rapid, the mainspring coils and spreads at a rate constantly quickening, the whole world movement is of constantly accelerating velocity.

"In this movement there are signs of much that bodes ill. The machinery is so highly geared, the tension and strain are so great, the effort and the output have alike so increased, that there is cause to dread the ruin that would come from any great accident, from any breakdown, and also the ruin that may come from the mere wearing out of the machine itself. The only previous civilization with which our modern civilization can be in any way compared is that period of Graeco-Roman civilization extending, say, from the Athen of Themistocles to the Rome of Marcus Aurelius. Many of the forces and tendencies which were then at work are at work now. Knowledge, luxury, and refinement, wide material conquests, territorial administration on a vast scale, an increase in the mastery of mechanical appliances and in applied science—all these mark our civilization as they marked the wonderful civilization that flourished in the Mediterranean lands twenty centuries ago; and they preceded the downfall of the older civilization. Yet the differences are many, and some of them are quite as striking as the similarities. The single fact that the old civilization was based upon slavery shows the chasm that separates the two. Let me point out one further and very significant difference in the development of the two civilizations, a difference so obvious that it is astonishing that it has not been dwelt upon by men of letters.

"One of the prime dangers of civilization has always been its tendency to cause the loss of the virile fighting virtues, of the fighting edge. When men get too comfortable and lead too luxurious lives there is always danger lest the softness eat like an acid into their manliness of fiber. The barbarian, because of the very conditions of his life, is forced to keep and develop certain hardy qualities which the man of civilization tends to lose, whether he be clerk, factory hand, merchant, or even a certain type of farmer. Now I will not assert that in modern civilized society these tendencies have been wholly overcome; but there has been a much more successful effort to overcome them than was the case in the early civilizations.

"What is the lesson to us today? Are we to go the way of the older civilizations? The immense increase in the area of civilized activity today, so that it is nearly coterminous with the world's surface; the immense increase in the multitudinous variety of its activities; the immense increase in the velocity of the world movement—are all these to mean merely that the crash will be all the more complete and terrible that the answer will be in the negative; but of this we can be certain, that we shall not go down in ruin unless we deserve and earn our end. There is no necessity for us all to fall; we can hew out our destiny for ourselves, if only we have the wit and the courage and the honesty.

"Personally, I do not believe that our civilization will fall. I think that on the whole we have grown better and not worse. I think that on the whole the future holds more for us than even the great past has held. But, assuredly, the dreams of golden glory in the future will not come true unless, high of heart and strong of hand, by our own mighty deeds we make them true. We cannot afford to develop any one set of qualities, any one set of activities, at the cost of seeing others, equally necessary, atrophied. Neither the military efficiency of the Mongol, the extraordinary business ability of the Phoenician, nor the subtle and polished intellect of the Greek availed to avert destruction.

"We, the men of today and of the future, need many qualities if we are to do our work well. We need, first of all and most important of all, the qualities which stand at the base of individual, of family life, the fundamental and essential qualities—the homely, every-day, all-important virtues. If the average man will not work, if he had not in him the will and the power to be a good husband and father; if the average woman is not a good housewife, a good mother of many healthy children, then the State will topple, will go down, no matter what may be its brilliance of artistic development or material achievement. But these homely qualities are not enough. There must, in addition, be that power of organization, that power of working in common for a common end, which the German people have shown in such signal fashion during the last half-century. Moreover, the things of the spirit are even more important than the things of the body. We can well do without the hard intolerance and arid intellectual barrenness of what was worst in the theological systems of the past, but there has never been greater need of high and fine religious spirit than at the present time. So, while we can laugh good-humoredly at some of the pretensions of modern philosophy in its various branches, it would be worse than folly on our part to ignore our need of intellectual leadership. Your own great Frederick once said that if he wished to punish a province he would leave it to be governed by philosophers; the sneer had in it an element of justice; and yet no one better than the great Frederick knew the value of philosophers, the value of men of science, men of letters, men of art. It would be a bad thing indeed to accept Tolstoy as a guide in social and moral matters; but it would also be a bad thing to have Tolstoy not to profit by the lofty side of his teachings, whose cynical materialism, whose dogmatic intolerance, put them on a level with the bigoted medieval ecclesiasticism which they denounce. Yet our debt to scientific men is incalculable, and our civilization of today would have reft from it all that which most highly distinguishes it if the work of the great masters of science during the past four centuries were now undone or forgotten. Never has philanthropy, Humanitarianism, seen much development as now; and though we must all beware of the folly and the viciousness no worse than folly, which marks the believer in the perfectibility of man when his heart runs away with his head, or when vanity usurps the place of conscience yet we must remember also that it is only by working along the lines laid down by the philanthropists, by the lovers of mankind, that we can be sure of lifting our civilization to a higher and more permanent plane of well-being than was ever attained by any preceding civilization. Unjust war is to be abhorred; but woe to the nation that does not make ready to hold its own in time of need against all who would harm it; and woe thrice over to the nation in which the average man loses the fighting edge, loses the power to serve as a soldier if the day of need should arise.

"It is no impossible dream to build up a civilization in which morality, ethical development, and a true feeling of brotherhood shall all alike be divorced from false sentimentality, and from the rancorous and evil passions which, curiously enough, so often accompany professions of sentimental attachment to the rights of man; in which a high material development in the things of the body shall be achieved without subordination of the things of the soul; in which there shall be a genuine desire for peace and justice without loss of those virile qualities without which no love of peace or justice shall avail any race; in which the fullest development of scientific research, the great distinguishing feature of our present civilization, shall yet only imply a belief that intellect can ever take the place of character—for, from the standpoint of the nation as of the individual, it is character that is the one vital possession.

"Finally, this world movement of civilization, this movement which is now felt throbbing in every corner of the globe, should bind the nations of the world together while yet leaving unimpaired that love of country in the

MIDAIR WORKERS ARE RECKLESS

They Prefer Dangerous Ladder to Safe Platform.

That familiarity breeds contempt of danger is shown by the fine disregard of consequences so frequently observed in the case of iron workers on skyscrapers and lofty buildings.

An engineer employed in the construction of one of the country's greatest bridges once invited the writer's attention to a small ladder set in to one of the steel piers at an elevation of more than two hundred feet above the street. So closely did the ladder cling to the smooth surface of the steel that it seemed almost impossible to get the fingers between the rungs and the pier.

"Those steps were intended to be used only under the most pressing circumstances," explained the engineer, "and only then with great care. Yet our men would leap for the ladder from a platform about three feet away, snatch a rung and climb up rather than use a safe and guarded scaffolding erected for the express purpose only a few yards away. Warning notices were posted that anyone who did it would be discharged, yet the very day the decree went forth a man jumped for the ladder. He struck the side of the steps with his head and was dashed to the ground. Of course, he was killed instantly."

That stopped the ladder climbing, but the men continued to do all manner of reckless stunts; for instance, they climbed out on a narrow beam projecting over the river from the top of the structure and stood there on one leg to be photographed.

One day a foreman found a worker taking an after-dinner nap on a girder at a height equal to that of a twenty-story building. The girder was just wide enough for him to lie on and there was not a thing between him and the ground but that bit of steel. Yet he was quite indignant when the foreman woke him up and threatened to discharge him.

Window cleaners are as rash as any iron worker. "Each of our windows," said the superintendent of an office building of the skyscraper type, "is fitted with heavy iron eye bolts, into which the cleaners are expected to snap steel hooks attached to broad canvas belts that are buckled about their waists.

"Now, you would not imagine that any man would dare to stand on the ten-inch window sills without seeing that the belt is hooked into the eye-bolts as firmly as it will go. There is absolutely nothing else for the cleaners to hold on to, and in front of them is the smooth face of the glass. Yet these men will persist in standing bolt upright and even lean back a little. Every day we catch one or more of them climbing out on these narrow sills, twelve stories and more above the sidewalk, with the belt unhooked."

One man to whom a severe rebuke was administered, by reason of his daring, made reply: "Say, if I were to hook myself up with that belt there ain't a cleaner I know but would give me the laugh."—Edwin Tarrisee in St. Louis Times.

Minnie Dupree is to star next season in a new play, called "The Lady From Oklahoma."

Tyrone Power is to be starred next season, probably by Henry Miller, in a new play by Charles Rann Kennedy. Jameson Lee Finney is to play the spendthrift nephew in the coming London production of "The Dawn of Tomorrow."

The new play which Henrietta Crossman is soon to make her appearance in, is by Percy Mackaye and is called "Anti-Matrimony."

Marietta Oilly is to go to Germany. She will return to the United States in the early fall to make her second tour of this country.

Theodore Roberts has been engaged as one of the cast of the coming revival of "Jim the Penman." He will appear as Baron Hartfield.

The Shuberts announce that they have acquired for production next season a new play of modern life, called "The Dreamers," by Laurt Nelson Hall.

Vernon Castle is to have one of the leading parts in the new Summer review, "The Summer Widowers," which is to be produced at the Broadway Theatre.

Among the new Liebler productions next season will be plays by Paul Armstrong, Anthony Hope, Hall Caine, Israel Zangwill, O. Henry and C. M. S. McLellan.

Bert Leslie will be seen next season in Charles Frohman's production of "Our Miss Gibbs," which is to open this season in New York at the Knickerbocker Theatre.

Winthrop Ames, the director of the New Theatre in New York, is to build a theatre in Boston, but denies that he is to retire from the management of the New York house.

Eva Tanguay is to star next season in a musical comedy under the direction of Florence Ziegfeld. The piece will be written by Henry B. Smith and the music composed by Maurice Levl.

Rose La Harte, for two years prima donna of the New York Hippodrome, has just returned to America after a two years' absence in Europe and she made her re-appearance in a vaudeville sketch in Wilmington.

On the occasion of her daughter Marjorie's marriage, Mrs. George Gould gave a dinner to the inmates of the Actor's Home, on Staten Island. Mrs. Gould was formerly Edith Kingdon of Augustin Daly's famous company.

EFFECTS OF THE DROUGHT.

Gary Now Has Saloons; Complaints of
"Beer Sickness."
Certain disciples of Gambrinus at Gary the "made-to-order city," have fancied recently there was something wrong with their beer. So many cases of beer sickness were occurring that some of those who suffered therefrom sent a number of samples of the amber liquid to the Indiana Health Department for analysis. The health officials made the analysis, but found nothing amiss with the beer. It was the regulation malt liquor such as is sold and consumed at Gary and elsewhere.

It is probable that it is the quantity
rather than the quality of the beverage that is causing the beer sickness at Gary. Instances are not infrequent where persons who misjudge their capacity for consumption experience temporary illness. The old story of the thirsty Celt who found a man lying helplessly intoxicated by the roadside is applicable. After gazing contemplatively on the fallen individual the Celt remarked: "Be Jesus, I wish I had half your disease." Half the "disease" at Gary might prove to be a satisfactory solution of the problem of beer sickness.

Josh Billings once said that while some people claimed that beer was non-intoxicating, he could manage to get so drunk on it that he didn't know the Ten Commandments from the by-laws of a baseball club. The indications are that the troubled citizens at Gary are suffering from over-confidence in the non-intoxicating qualities of the beer that is sold in that booming town. An old negro fisherman of long experience once explained to a fellow angler that fish berries and similar "dope" had no effect on mulletheads, "because mulletheads ain't got no brains." It may be that there are mulletheads of humanity who are proof against the exhilarating effects of beer, but individuals who possess brains will do well to put a limit on bibulous indulgence if they wish to escape beer sickness.

Until recently Gary was nominally a "dry town." Having voted for irrigation it is stated in the dispatches that 300 saloons are to be opened at the earliest possible moment. The rush for locations is so great that saloons are being built on stilts out in Lake Michigan and others are being fitted up on houseboats. As there will be one saloon for about every sixty-six inhabitants, according to the latest estimates of Gary's population, it may be confidently expected that there will be an increase of beer sickness. It will be the same old kind, however, and there need be no occasion
for calling on the Indiana Health Department to examine it.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

What It Was.
Pittsburg Dispatch.
A small party of New York young people decided, as one pretty maiden expressed it, to go back to nature for a day. Just ordinary folks would have said go on a picnic. They were genuine city dwellers, but a special providence saved them from being gored to death by a bull whose preserves they invaded and they finally went into camp on the banks of a pretty stream and spread their lunch. They were just settling themselves when one of the girls with a little scream, pointed to a small green "thing" that had climbed from the water and which was regarding them solemnly.

"Oh, what is it? Will it bite?" was demanded in a feminine chorus, as skirts were hastily gathered up.
One of the young men approached the strange animal and poked it with his cane.
"Ob, I say, you know!" he exclaimed, his face lighting up. "You know, I really and truly believe that this is one of those things they get frogs' legs
from, by Jove, I do!"

WITH THE FIGHTERS.
Ad Wolgast has turned down an offer of $20,000 to meet Freddie Walsh.
Joe Grim, the human punching bag,
who has been in Australia for more

Jack Johnson thinks he can defeat
Jim Jeffries because he whipped "Denver Ed" Martin and Sam McVey. That is poor dope to bet money on.

HASTY MARRIAGES MUST CEASE.

Ancient New Jersey Institution Will Soon Be No More.
One of New Jersey's old institutions
the hurry-up marriage, was doomed several days ago when Governor Fort signed the bill requiring a marriage license before it shall be lawful for a clergyman or magistrate to perform a marriage ceremony. Heretofore it has been necessary for nonresidents only to secure a license, and they could evade even that requirement.
The new law, which goes into effect July 1, provides that any official or clergyman who shall perform a marriage ceremony where no license has been secured shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a fine not to exceed $500, or both.

Making untruthful answers when applying for a license shall be deemed perjury. For persons residing outside the state license must be secured in the district wherein the ceremony is to be performed.
No commentary on conditions that have prevailed in the past could be stronger than the one contained in the following provision of the new law.
No license shall be granted when either of the applicants is intoxicated, under the influence of drugs, or of unsound mind, or when either applicant has been an inmate of an insane asylum or almshouse, unless it shall appear that such person has been satisfactorily discharged from such institution.

It may be rather embarrassing for the license clerk to ask an applicant whether he or she, as the case may be has been an inmate of an insane asylum, or an almshouse, or is addicted to drugs, but the stipulation, just the same, is a very wise one.

New Jersey has been a rendezvous for hasty marriages. Hundreds of persons, some of them drunk, some addicted to drugs, and a few insane, have slipped over to Camden from Philadelphia and have been married without being subjected to the slightest inquiry.

At the ferry landing in Camden cab-men have become so accustomed to these "fly-by-night" marriages that they have been known to call out to incoming couples: "Want to be married? Fix you up in jig time!" Magistrates and even clergymen seemed always within call of the cabmen.

This condition will now be done away with. The requirement in the new law that magistrates or clergymen shall make report within five days of the ceremony will tend to discourage secret marriages and minimize the cases of bigamy that have come out of Camden—Oklahoma City

Heroine of the Crimea 90 Years Old.
London, May 12.—A steady line of messengers called at a little house near Park Lane to leave messages of congratulations and great boxes of flowers for Miss Florence Nightingale, whose nineteenth birthday it was. For more than fifteen years Miss Nightingale has never been able to come outside of her dwelling and of late she has been confined to her bed most of the time. Though her body is weak her mind is still alert and active. She expressed her thanks for the countless good wishes sent her today from far and near and appeared especially pleased at the felicitous messages which came from the King and Queen. Miss Nightingale, whom all the world knows as "The angel of mercy," will always be remembered as the greatest nurse in history. When the brilliant articles of the late Sir William Howard Russell, the great war correspondent, fired all England with indignation at the sufferings of the sick and wounded soldiers of the Crimea in 1854, she wrote the historic note to Mr. Sidney Herbert, the Minister of War, offering to organize and take out a band of trained nurses to the Crimea. With thirty-eight nurses she reached Scutari on Nov. 4, 1854, the day before Inkerman. There she faced the greatest problem that has ever confronted a nurse. The wounded were poured by shiploads into the great barrack hospital until there were four miles of beds, not eighteen inches apart, filled with men as they came from the battlefield.

The commissariat had broken down, and there was neither proper food nor changes of clothing, nor medical comforts, nor hospital necessities. How Miss Nightingale changed all this, and extended her supervision to other hospitals of the East, is matter of history. She broke through red tape, defied the constituted authorities, and gained for herself an imperishable name in the annals of the army. Last year King Edward bestowed upon her the Order of Merit, which was the first case of a woman having been appointed a member of the order.

"THIS IS MY 61st BIRTHDAY."

Robert M. Montgomery.
Robert M. Montgomery, chief justice of the new Customs Court at Washington, was born at Eaton Rapids, Mich., May 12, 1849. He worked his way while he studied law at the University of Michigan, and after being admitted to the bar practiced his profession in Detroit for several years. He gained quite a reputation, and in 1874 was elected a prosecutor of the county as a republican. After serving for three years as prosecuting attorney, Mr. Montgomery resigned his position to become assistant United States District Attorney. He served as such for three years, when he was appointed to the Federal circuit court bench in Kent county, Michigan. He remained in that capacity for ten years, when he retired to resume private practice. In 1906 he again came before the public when he was elected to the Michigan State supreme court. He remained on the bench until his recent appointment by President Taft to be presiding judge of the new Customs Court of Appeals.

In Memory of Leta Morrow.
The following was prepared by the C. O. P's. of the M. E. Church, South:

The death angel has entered our city and taken from our midst our dear friend and Sunday school classmate, Leta Morrow. Her constant companionship with us was too sweet to last and God, in his infinite wisdom has called her from this world into the next; and though we know that she is at rest from all suffering and sorrow, we can not help but long for the loved voice that is still.

She was a bright girl with a sunny disposition, and was loved by all who knew her. Her short stay on this earth was spent in the service of her Master. She was a faithful member of the church, the Sunday school and the League.

We weep for her but not in vain. For well we know that we shall meet again, And in the Mansion beyond the skies Shall live and love where no one ever dies.

Another Destroyer Launched.
Quincy, Mass., May 12.—The torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett, built for the United States navy, was successfully launched from the Fore River Shipyard today. The Sterrett is a sister ship of the Perkins, launched here a few weeks ago.

The Sterrett is named for one of the conspicuous officers of the old navy, Commodore Andrew Sterrett, who was born in Baltimore in 1760. He joined the navy in 1798 and was executive officer of the Constellation when she captured the French frigate L'Insurgente in 1799. In 1800 he commanded the Enterprise, and with the ship captured the French frigate L'Amour de la Patrie. The following year he won a brilliant victory over a Tripolitan pirate cruiser, killing fifty of the latter's crew without losing a man. In recognition of this feat, Commodore Sterrett was given a vote of thanks by congress and on Feb. 3, 1802, he was presented with a sword by the same body. He died five years later in Lima, Peru.

Ready for 24-Hour Auto Race.
New York, May 12.—A dozen speedy racing cars guided by as many skillful and daring drivers, will participate in the initial twenty-four hour automobile race of the year, to be started tomorrow at the Brighton Beach track. All arrangements for the event have been completed. For several weeks gangs of workmen have been busy on the mile-course, laying a top dressing of clay and cement, and as a result it is believed the famous track is now several seconds faster to the mile than before. A complete system of night lights and signals has been installed and numerous other precautions taken to prevent accidents such as marred the race meeting last year.

In Session at Beaumont.
Beaumont, Tex., May 12.—The opening here today of the sixth annual convention of the Southwestern Electrical and Gas Association was marked by a large attendance of the membership. The sessions of the gathering will last three days and will be devoted to the discussion of numerous matters relating to the gas and electrical business. The convention was called to order by President W. B. Head.

individual citizen which in the present stage of the world's progress is essential to the world's wellbeing. You, my hearers, and I who speak to you, belong to different nations. Under modern conditions the books we read, the news sent by telegraph to our newspapers, the strangers we meet, half of the things we hear and do each day, all tend to bring us into touch with other peoples. Each people can do justice to itself only if it does justice to others; but each people can do its part in the world movement. The good citizen must be a good citizen of his own country first before he can with advantage be a citizen of the world at large. I wish you well. I believe in you and your future. I admire and wonder at the extraordinary greatness and variety of your achievements in so many and such widely different fields; and my admiration and regard are all the greater, and not less, because I am so profoundly a believer in the institutions and the people of my own land.
