TWENTY EIGHT NEW CITIES MEMBERS

DISTRICT ASSOCIATION STARTS SECOND YEAR WITH EXCELLENT PROSPECTS.

CANVASS IS COMPLETED

Second Annual Meeting to Be Held Next Thursday at Quannah to Continue Work.

Fifteen new commercial clubs in Northwest Texas have been added to the district association through the efforts of Secretaries Barrickmann of Wichita Falls and Whaley of Quannah, who spent last week canvassing the communities. The commercial clubs in the following towns agreed to become members:

Henrietta, Archer City, Olney, Newcastle, Graham, Jacksboro, Bridgeport, Bowie, Seymour, Haskell, Rule, Knox City, Crowell, Memphis and Electra.

The Association will meet next Thursday at Quannah and a total of 38 towns have agreed to be represented there. Extensive plans are being made for carrying on the work on a more extensive scale and the propositions for putting immigration agents in the field, for exhibit cars and for more general advertising will be considered. Officers are to be elected for the ensuing year and the organization given a fresh start.

With one or two exceptions the Association will include practically all towns of any importance on the Fort Worth and Denver between Bowie and Memphis, most of the towns on the Wichita Falls and Southern and Wichita Valley as far south as Rule, and many communities on the Rock Island and Orient, both in Texas and Oklahoma. The towns on the Northwestern and the roads out of Quannah have also become members, almost without exception.

Secretary Barrickmann reports that all crops are looking excellent in the country south and southwest of Wichita Falls, at points along the Southern, Valley and Orient and that indications in that section are for good crops.

ATTEMPT JAIL DELIVERY.

Texas News Service Special. Brownwood, Tex., May 23.—A bold attempt at a jail delivery was frustrated here last night, when Jailer Champion repulsed an attack made in a rush upon him when supper was taken to the prisoners. Two prisoners, Garrett Byrd and T. C. Jester, made a clumsy effort to overpower the jailer, but the former was knocked down with a gun. Jester, when the shots were fired, hid in the elevator shaft and later surrendered. Sam Cook, who led an attack on the sheriff at Comanche two years ago, was in his cage at the time, but took no part in the trouble.

WRECK ON FRISCO.

Three Reported Killed South of Rogers, Arkansas.

By Associated Press. Rogers, Ark., May 23.—The St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train No. 4, the fast express from Texas to St. Louis, was wrecked two miles south of Rogers today. Thirty-five people were injured, three probably fatally. The officials of the railway at headquarters here deny that anyone was killed.

TRIAL OF MAN HIGHER UP FURNISHES NEW SENSATION—SPITZER TESTIFIES

By Associated Press. New York, May 23.—The biggest sensation in the trials of the American Sugar Refining Co. employes was created today by the announcement that President Taft had pardoned Oliver Spitzer, superintendent of the Williamsburg docks of the company who some months ago was convicted of underweighing and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Spitzer was not on the stand for the prosecution today in the suit against Secretary Welles.

By Associated Press. Ben Lomond, May 23.—Promoter Gleason has returned from the Jeffries camp extolling the condition in which he found the big fellow. Rickard, who was selected as referee, says he is on the job. "Go ahead," said Jeffries, "I have every confidence in your ability."

START NEW BRICK PLANT BY JULY FIRST—WILL BE COMPLETED THIS YEAR

Dr. John B. Paul, secretary of the new brick plant now being organized in this city, was a caller at the Times office this morning and said that active work on the plant would begin about July 1st, and would be completed and in operation by January 1st, 1911.

The company is to have a paid up capital of $100,000, and its capacity will be 100,000 brick every ten hours. The plant is to be modern in every respect and will furnish employment the year round for sixty or sixty-five men.

It is to be located on a site on the north side of the river.

This gives to Wichita Falls its second brick plant. The one already in operation here has a daily capacity of 30,000 brick for every ten hours, and it will likely be increased as it is almost impossible for it to fill its orders on time with its present capacity.

ALLEGED DESERTER IS IN CUSTODY HERE—IS WANTED AT LOS ANGELES

Fred M. Meister is in the county jail facing a return to Los Angeles, California, and a trial on the charge of wife desertion, following his arrest here yesterday. He was recognized by City Marshal Gwinn and when arrested admitted his identity.

Desertion is a felony in California and if Meister is found guilty a penitentiary sentence awaits him. He is a traveling salesman and was traveling under his true name, considering that he was too far away from California to be recognized. Descriptions of him had been sent here, however, and he was recognized and arrested. He is being confined in the county jail pending advices from Los Angeles.

Edmondson was arrested and the police say he has confessed.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY RECENT STORM

HEAVY LOSSES REPORTED FROM SOUTH AND EAST TEXAS POINTS TO-DAY.

CROPS INJURED BY HAIL

Several Lives Lost Near Houston and Property Damage There Was Heavy.

Texas News Service Special. Houston, Tex., May 23.—The south and western section of Texas conditions ushered in last Wednesday are without precedent in the history of this section. Thus far five lives are known to have been lost and twenty persons injured. The property damage is enormous. Again last night a storm prevailed. In Houston and other cities the electric display surpassed anything recalled.

For hours the sky was illuminated with lightning and the rainfall was terrific. A peculiar feature was the appearance of the storms in scattered points.

Texas News Service Special. Sherman, Tex., May 23.—Sweeping a section ten miles long from southwest to northeast, a hail storm last night destroyed many crops south of Sherman, according to reports today. The damage is worst south of Choctaw Creek Corn, cotton and oats were beaten into the soil, causing a loss of thousands of dollars. The rain last night was heavy and is still falling at noon today.

Texas News Service Special. Paris, Tex., May 23.—Lamar county experienced a wind of near cyclonic force this morning and cotton, oats and wheat were greatly damaged, especially in the west end of the county. A dozen or more houses were blown over in the county. Dave Hammond and Oscar McBeth were the heaviest losers. The telephone and electric light companies are hampered.

Quannah, Tex., May 23.—The northwest corner of Hardeman county suffered great damage as a result of the hail last Sunday night, according to reports received here this morning. Crops in many instances were totally destroyed, including garden truck. The hail was confined to that section. It has been raining almost continuously during the past week.

Jacksonville, Tex., May 23.—A storm of cyclonic proportions excited this section late last night, causing much damage to property and crops. Awnings and signs were blown down throughout the city, and the electric light plant was put out of commission and the telephone and telegraphic service crippled. The peach crop also suffered.

Waco, Tex., May 23.—The terrific hail storm which struck this vicinity four miles north of Waco late last night swept a path three miles wide. According to reports received here today the entire crop of cotton and corn was destroyed. Hailstones fell with such force that they went through roofs.

Childress, Tex., May 23.—Rain has been falling throughout this section of the state for more than ten days, last night's and this morning's rain totaling one and one sixth inches. While the precipitation is excessive, it has been gentle and no damage was done here.

1600 NAMES FOUND.

Scholastic Census Shows that Number With City Partly Covered.

The Times: Mr. V. G. Skeen who is taking the scholastic census has covered all the city except Floral Heights and across the river. It is important to have every child enrolled as each one will add $6.00 to the school fund for the coming year. Anyone in this territory whose children between the ages of seven and seventeen years have been overlooked notify the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Skeen, or myself and we will be glad to enumerate them. This is very important because in addition to giving $6.00 per head to our city schools, the census furnishes a basis on which to calculate the population of the city. We want no one overlooked.

FINAL EXERCISES OF HIGH SCHOOL

LARGE CROWD HEARD BACCALAUREATE SERMON YESTERDAY MORNING.

CLASS DAY CEREMONIES

Diplomas Will Be Delivered to Class of Twenty-Five Tomorrow Night.

The closing exercises of the Wichita Falls high school began yesterday morning with the baccalaureate exercises at the First Baptist Church. To-day is Class Day and the closing exercises will be held tomorrow night at the opera house, when the class of twenty-five will receive diplomas.

The exercises yesterday morning were largely attended, the throng filling the spacious Baptist Church to its capacity. There were several pleasing musical numbers, followed by the commencement sermon, which was delivered by Rev. New Harris of Tyler. This discourse was replete with wholesome advice to the graduates and was as eloquently inspiring as any sermon ever heard in this city. Rev. Harris contrasted the lives of Napoleon and Livingston and urged the latter rather than the former, as their inspiration. Practically all of the churches dismissed their services in order to give their congregation an opportunity to attend the baccalaureate exercises.

The "Class Day" exercises were held this morning at the high school and the traditions of the school were adhered to. The following program was carried out:

1. Class procession.
2. Class song.
3. Roll call.
4. Class history—Wayne Summer-ville.
5. Trio—Alleen Waggoner, Annie Carrigan, Selma Weavers.
6. Class poem—Wace Yeager.
7. Instrumental solo—Gladys Trueblood.
8. Class prophecy—Eva Benson.
9. Presentation of gifts—Lester Jones.
10. Last will and testament of Senior Class—Burton Stayton.
11. Presentation of key to Junior Class.
12. Burial of Treasure—Burton Stayton.
13. Song—by Senior Class.
14. Class yell—Jerome Stone, leader.

The Alumni association will carry out a program at the high school to-night. There will be several speakers and it is hoped to effect a permanent organization of the former students. Tomorrow night, at the opera house, the closing exercises will be held.

RAIN CONTINUES; CROPS ASSURED

NORTHWEST TEXAS STILL BEING VISITED BY LIBERAL AND STEADY SHOWERS.

CORN AND COTTON HELPED

Over an inch of Rain Has Fallen Locally Since Saturday at Noon.

Since Saturday afternoon over an inch of rain has fallen in Wichita county and there has been no cessation in the wet weather. Today the sky is dark with clouds, and showers have been falling at intervals during the morning with promise and prediction of continued wet weather this afternoon and tonight. There have been no very heavy showers of more than a few moments duration.

The rain has been general throughout Northwest Texas and has covered this section of the state like a blanket. All points on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern were visited, the rain being as heavy as an inch and a half at some points. All points on both branches of the Wichita Valley were visited and the rain was felt along the Denver for practically the entire length of the line.

Some crops are practically assured by this rain and it has also served to make tank water, which was getting somewhat short in some neighborhoods. There is as yet little tank water at Petrolia, however, where the need for it has been most keenly felt. There was a heavy rain there on Saturday afternoon, but it put little water in the tanks.

Yesterday's showers brought a total of slightly over three-fifths of an inch of rain locally. There has been about an inch precipitation here since Saturday noon. While satisfaction is general at the continued wet weather, it is felt that more would do no harm.

Oklahoma Seeks to Oust Oil Co.

In the present suit the State of Oklahoma alleges that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company and that its operation in Oklahoma is in restraint of trade and therefore a violation of the anti-trust laws of the state.

Since that time Yarling has been at liberty on bail.

JUVENILE VIEW OF AVIATION

School Girl Has Aspiration to Fly to a Biscuit Factory.

"How I wish I could fly!" Every child, almost, watching a bird circling in the sky above, has felt some such longing.

What, then, do the small boy and girl think of last week's great race from London to Manchester? What is their idea of a flying machine?

A number of boys and girls, from 8 to 13 years of age, attending an L. C. C. school, wrote essays on the subject of "Flying and Flying Machines." A wonderful collection of bright ideas and suggestions are contained in them.

Little Hilda Mason, a small girl of 8 years, wrote:

"If I had a flying machine I would fly to Manchester and then to Scotland. I would fly to Glasgow to see a biscuit factory. When I had seen that I would fly back again."

A 9-year-old girl, confused with the word "flying," writes: "My aunt's little boy had a flying machine—he used to go out on it with his mother."

"I should love to fly," says Lily Bacon. "Once a gentleman who wanted to fly went to the top of a high church. He had with him two wings which he thought was fine."

"So when he was ready, he flew down and he was dead. The wings were too little for him."

A boy named Charles Collyer, who is something of an aviation expert, suggests a new means of locomotion in his essay. "No doubt in the future," he writes, "the taxicab will be as common as the taxicab."

Master Collyer also chides the government: "England ought to have a fleet of airships. Buck up, England!"

Nearly all the little essayists make some reference to Mr. White, who seems to have fired their imagination. While the boys invariably take a sturdy, practical view of flying, the girls regard it as a pretty and bird-like but a dangerous pastime.

Here are some brief extracts taken at random from the essays of the girls:

"It is said that policemen will use the wings for hunting burglers. Errand boys will also be made to use them."

"Flying must be lovely, to go sailing through the air with nothing in the way. Balloons cannot do this; they just glide about."

"Flying makes people healthier, because the air is purer in the sky."

"Very few ladies will go in flying machines, because they think they might drop into a river and spoil their clothes."

"Aeroplanes are something like birds; the inventors are trying to make them more bird-shaped, so as to fly better."

"A flying machine is a kind of a ball with a basket at the bottom, on which the people sit."

Boys apparently take more practical interest in the new science. Here are some of their answers:

"There are many kinds of flying machines. There is the monoplane, the aeroplane and the biplane, and a machine like a cigar, which is very swift."

"Flying is a profitable and very interesting hobby. In aeroplanes we can get a good birds-eye view of places and things."

"Aeroplanes were once only used for sporting purposes. They are now, however, used for business purposes."

"Aviation will soon be one of the greatest successes the world has ever known. At 9 o'clock in the morning we may see city tofts being whirled off to business."

"Flying will be of great use to people who like their bed."

"There will be frequent accidents through people falling out of bed while sleeping in their aeroplanes."—London Daily Mirror.

Atlantic City Murder Trial. May's Landing, N. J., May 23.—The case of William Seyler, charged with the murder of Jane Adams, whose body was found February 13th on the seashore at Atlantic City, came up for trial here today. This is the case which attracted more than ordinary interest, owing to the fact that the efforts of the police to extort a confession from the defendant, led to a discussion of the "Third Degree" methods in the United States Senate, and to a demand for the investigation of the subject. On the evening of February 4th, of this year, Miss Adams, the victim in the case, with her sister Alice, and Arvis Seyler, left their home on Missouri Avenue, Atlantic City and went to Young's new pier, at the foot of Arkansas Avenue. On the way they met William Seyler, the defendant, by appointment. William is twenty-eight years old and has a wife and two little children in Atlantic City. His brother is eighteen years of age. Jane was eighteen and her sister Alice only fourteen. The two couples spent the evening on the pier. After several hours the younger people returned home, leaving Jane Adams and William Seyler on the ocean end of the pier. When Jane failed to return that night, her mother began to search for her. She found William Seyler at his home, but he gave no satisfactory explanation of Jane's whereabouts. The following day William Seyler left his home for parts unknown and a few days later his brother Arvis also disappeared. The mother of the girl, believing that her daughter had eloped with the eldest Seyler, notified the police and the authorities were trying to locate the couple, when the body of Jane was found on the beach at Atlantic City. An examination of the body showed a deep gash over the left eye of the dead girl which led the police to believe that the girl had been murdered. The coroner's physician was of the opinion that the death of the girl had been caused by the injury to her head, but there was nothing to indicate in what manner the injury had been caused. Chief of Detectives Whalen made a careful investigation and succeeded in tracing the Seyler brothers to Wilmington, Delaware and from there to Petersburg, Va. There the two brothers were arrested two weeks after the disappearance of Jane Adams. They waived extradition proceedings and voluntarily returned to Atlantic City in charge of the two detectives who had caused their arrest. Both brothers, particularly William Seyler, were submitted to a rigorous examination, known as the "Third Degree," in the hope of extorting from them some confession or trapping them so as to make damaging admissions, but both brothers stuck to their story. The older Seyler adhered to the statement that Miss Adams ac-

Honor Margaret Fuller's Memory. Boston, Mass., May 23.—The high regard in which the memory of Margaret Fuller is held in New England literary circles was given expression today by exercises commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the writer's birth. The literary and historical societies of Boston and other places appropriately observed the centennial. Margaret Fuller was born at Cambridgeport, Mass., May 23, 1810. The story of her life and death is one of absorbing interest. On the death of her father in 1836 she supported her brothers and sisters by teaching in Boston and Providence. In 1844 she went to New York and became literary critic of the Tribune under Horace Greeley. In 1845 she went abroad and spent the winter in Rome. Here she met the Marquis Ossoli and the following year they were married. On the outbreak of the Italian struggle for independence, the Marchioness took an active part in it, and served heroically in the hospitals during the French siege of Rome. On the capture of that city in July 1849, she fled with her husband in an attempt to reach America. Shortly after they sailed from Leghorn the captain of their vessel was stricken with smallpox and died. As the vessel neared New York a terrible storm arose and the vessel went ashore on Long Island. The seas swept over her deck until not a spar was left, and eight persons, among them the Marquis and Marchioness Ossoli and their infant son, perished after hours of agonized waiting for help.

A CURIOUS WATCH. Made by a Clever Workman on a Challenge From Royalty. Some years ago the czar, hearing of the marvelous inventive genius of a Polish mechanic, determined to put him to the test and accordingly caused to be forwarded to him a few copper nails, some wood shavings, a piece of broken glass, an old cracked china cup, some wire and a few cribbage board pegs. The box was accompanied by the request that the Pole should transform these unpromising articles into a timepiece. It was a challenge and one that few watchmakers would have cared to take up. But it would have taken a harder task than this to daunt the Pole. He set to work on the unpromising materials and out of them fashioned a watch that was quickly dispatched to the czar. Just eight hours after he began his work of transformation the watch started on its journey to St. Petersburg, where it arrived safely, to the great delight of the czar. It was a most unique timepiece, its case being made of china and its works composed of the material that had accompanied the old cup. Ygt it kept good time and had to be wound up only once in three or four days. So pleased was the czar that he sent for the Pole and conferred upon him several distinctions, besides granting him a pension.—New York Press.

A TRAGIC OLD CUSTOM. Human Beings Once Walled Up in Building Foundations. The practice of putting money under the foundation stone of a new building is the shadow of an older tragic custom. The money stands theoretically for the ransom of the human being who by ancient superstition should have been buried in its place. Otherwise, it was held, the building would not stand firm and endure. There was a time when this particular kind of human sacrifice had a vogue extending to most parts of the world. Even in England skeletons have been found imbedded in the bases of castle walls, and there is record of one German fortress at the building of which a child was bought from its mother with hard cash and walled into the donjon tower, the unhappy mother, according to the story, looking on the while. Effigies of human beings are still used in some parts of Europe as harmless substitutes, and in remoter and more ruthless places the old custom crops out from time to time in all its grim reality. Within the last century two children, a boy and a girl, were, it was reported, walled into a blockhouse by some laborers at Duga, Asiatic Turkey.—Westminster Gazette.

Millais' Faith in Himself. The artist Millais, writes J. E. Reid, was as open and frank as a boy in expressing his belief in himself. When the Leiland collection was on view, previous to its dispersal, Millais went to see it and openly asserted that his "Eve of St. Agnes" was the best picture there. This egotism was part of his character, a thing it was impossible to resent on account of the manner in which it was expressed. Millais never lost the self confidence of youth. In this respect, as in many others, he remained a boy to the end. Neither was the egotistic note confined to art matters. His public speeches were invariably about himself. His conversation on all subjects was impregnated with the essence of a sincere conviction of his own authority to speak. He liked to be always right, and such were his grasp of realities and his power of reasoning that it required very strong evidence and a very clever argument to convince him that he was wrong.—Youth's Companion.

Flogging at Eton. On more than one occasion Dr. Hornby, the famous headmaster at Eton, is said to have flogged the wrong boy by mistake. A boy thus victimized was asked why he did not attempt to exculpate himself or offer any explanation. "If you had not been complained of," said the tutor, "why did you not say so to the headmaster?" "Well, sir," he replied, "I thought that if Mr. — had not complained of me some other master might have done so." The young scapegrace was so seasoned a campaigner that he was prepared to take a flogging without asking captious questions, as all in the day's work.—From "Eton Under Hornby."

The Story of Four Uncles. "I have four uncles," writes a correspondent, "who are all widowers. Uncle Sam and his wife used to fight, Uncle Tom was always flirting, and Uncle Joe was ruined by his wife's extravagance. Uncle Martin alone loved his wife, and when she died he was broken hearted. Still, he is the only one who married again. He married a girl who has all the qualities he used to proudly boast his wife lacked. Men are funny and grow fonder as you know them better."—Aitchison Globe.

Under Water. Howell—They can take photographs under water, can't they? Powell—I guess so. I got a negative there once. Howell—I don't understand you. Powell—A girl refused me while we were in bathing.—New York Press.

The Limit. Worthless Husband—Going to leave me, are you. Moll? Didn't you take me for better or worse? Long Suffering Wife—Yes, but you are absolutely the worst. I didn't take you for that.—Chicago Tribune.

It is the temper of the highest hearts, like the palm tree, to strive most upward when most burdened.

MATHEMATICS. Used to Locate an Aerolite That No One Had Ever Seen. Arithmetic, algebra and trigonometry are not romantic, but they may accomplish things which greatly impress the imagination. By means of them a professor at Yale university found a few years ago an aerolite that no one had ever seen.

It appears that a photographer in Ansonia, Conn., was occupied in taking pictures by the aid of a telescope of a comet which was invisible to the naked eye. When his negatives were developed one of them revealed the fall of a meteor. It was too small an object to attract the attention of the unaided eyes, but its line on the photograph indicated that it must have come to the earth. The picture was shown to an astronomical professor at Yale. Ascertain the point of observation and reckoning with the aid of the data which the photograph itself supplied, he made a calculation which proved that the meteor must have fallen in the neighborhood of a reservoir some two miles north of Danbury, Conn. There the aerolite was found in the very place indicated by the calculation. It was oval in form, measured fifteen and a half inches in length, seven and a half inches in diameter and weighed twenty-six pounds. It was sent to the museum of Yale university, where it serves not only as an illustration of the nature of the vagrant bodies of the skies, but testifies also to the wonders of calculation which it is possible for mathematical science to accomplish.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

DROPPING ASLEEP. The Way Mother Nature Chama Away Our Consciousness. How do we go to sleep? How does Mother Nature charm away our consciousness? First of all she throws her spell on those centers of our bodies that preside over the muscular system, causing one group of muscles after another gradually to collapse. Thereafter various powers of mind succumb in regular order. First we lose attention and judgment, then memory goes, and imagination wanders away in reveries of its own. Ideas of time and space cease to control thought as gentle sleep, the nurse of our life, draws nearer. Then comes the turn of the special senses, beginning with sight. Eyelids close, and eyeballs turn upward and inward, as if to shut out all light, the pupils contracting more and more as slumber steals over us. The turn of the ears comes; the power of hearing fades away. The heart beats and breath is drawn more and more slowly. The heart beats from ten to twenty times less frequently each minute, or 5,000 times less during the night, while breathing is not only slower but much more shallow than during waking hours. Temperature falls by perhaps 2 degrees, and the body loses three times less heat than when awake. And so at last sleep covers a man all over—sleep that shuts up sorrow's eye.—London Express.

Both in Front and Behind. A police magistrate recently learned that it is possible to be back of a person even if you are in front of him. The means of this startling intelligence was a stout German conductor, witness to a "breach of the peace" that occurred aboard his car. "You were on your platform and yet you say that the prisoner was in back of you?" said the puzzled magistrate. "Ya." "Was the prisoner in the car?" "Ya." "Well, then, he must have been in front of you." "Nein," said the man patiently. "I am the conductor." "Theu," exclaimed the magistrate, "you were on the rear platform. The prisoner was in the car. Now, how in heaven's name was he in back of you?" The conductor smiled sweetly. "My back was turned," he said.—Philadelphia Times.

Lived Up to Her Name. Apropos of the eternal domestic question, an Englishwoman relates this experience: "I engaged a maid named Pearl, and as I simply couldn't ask a Pearl to fill the coal scuttle or to holly-days to the door-step I said: 'I would rather call you by some other name. Have you a second one?' 'Yes,' replied the damsel brightly, 'my second name is Opal!' So I stuck to Pearl. At one time I all but engaged a maid named Hermione, but upon asking her, 'Have you a black dress, white caps and aprons?' she replied acidly: 'Yes, I have, but I'm not going to wear 'em. Ma didn't christen me 'Ermione for to wear a livery!'"

Thought He Had Seen It. Yankee Tourist (watching Vesuvius in eruption)—Great snakes! It reminds me of hades. English Tourist (looking at him in amazement)—My word! You Americans go everywhere!—Boston Transcript.

Not Necessary. A country bridegroom, when the bride hesitated to pronounce the word "obey," remarked to the officiating clergyman: "Go on, mister. It don't matter. I can make her."

Still Grieving. "So she has lost her husband? Has she recovered from her grief yet?" "Not yet. You know how slow those insurance companies are in settling."

Calamity is the opportunity of virtue and a spirit to a great mind.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity.
Tonight and Tuesday, unsettled; more showers.

The splendid rains of the past week have amounted to a total fall of about two inches, according to the record as kept by the weather man in Wichita Falls. While this rain cannot help the wheat and oat crops to any material extent, from the fact that the continued dry weather had already very nearly destroyed them, but those who are in a position to know and make estimates, say that even now the yield for the wheat and oat crops of Wichita county for this year as compared with that of last year, will be fully as good if not better. As for other crops, such as corn and cotton, conditions were never more promising and the prospects are that the yield will be fully as good as last year.

With the coming of the $300,000 packing plant and another brick plant with a capital of $100,000, it means an increase in the population of Wichita Falls during the next six months of at least 1,000. There are other enterprises on the way and which will be secured that will do a great deal toward increasing the weekly pay roll of Wichita Falls' long line of wage-earners.

TWO LETTERS IN POLITICS.

San Antonio Express.
Will the Bailey letter to J. W. Russell take its place in the political history of this country with the Morey letter that played a conspicuous part in a National campaign many years ago?

The Dallas News recently published a letter alleged to have been written by Senator Bailey from Washington to a man named Russell at Plainview. In this letter the Senator is made to say that he would support Colquitt for Governor if Foidester should disclose weakness, and that he likes Colquitt's platform best.

The Fort Worth Record claims to have received a telegram from Senator Bailey denying that he had written such a letter. Furthermore it declares that investigation has shown there is no J. W. Russell in Plainview and that a comparison of the signature to the alleged Bailey letter with other signatures of the Senator indicates that it is a forgery. But whether Senator Bailey did or did not write such a letter is not a matter that may be determined to the entire satisfaction of the public except by the Senator's admission of its authorship unless the forgery of the signature could be established by handwriting experts beyond the peradventure of a doubt.

The Morey letter, which appeared during the Garfield-Hancock presidential campaign in 1880 was published in a New York paper misnamed Truth about a fortnight before the November election. The letter, which favored Chinese immigration, at that time a burning issue on the Pacific Coast, purported to have been written by General Garfield and to be addressed to H. L. Morey, Lynn, Mass. Garfield at once denounced the letter as a forgery, but Democrats made liberal use of it in the remaining days of the campaign, especially on the Pacific Coast, and it cost the Republican ticket many votes, including the electoral vote of California.

But if Bailey did not write the letter who did and what was the purpose of it?

At Lawton the other day one candidate for Governor, introduced one of his opponents and took occasion to say many complimentary things about him, and when the other fellow got the floor to deliver his address he returned the compliment. That is the way the campaign for governor is being conducted in Oklahoma. Here in Texas it is different, and if we are to believe even a small part of what the candidates say of each other, it matters not which one of the gets the nomination the democratic party will be forced to vote for and elect a man as the governor of Texas who has been accused of nearly everything that is bad.

There is one thing, at least, for which the authors of the Texas key-rate insurance law can be thankful for: The law does not make it compulsory for owners of property to take out insurance.

Henry M. Teller 80 Years Old.
Denver, Colo., May 23.—Henry M. Teller, former United States senator and for many years one of the foremost figures in the public life of Colorado, celebrated his eightieth birthday today. Since he left the senate a year ago, Mr. Teller has divided his time between his home at Central City and Denver and Washington, having frequent occasion to visit the last two named cities to look after his business affairs.

Mr. Teller is a native of New York State, but has been a resident of Colorado for the past fifty years. He was first elected to the United States senate in 1877 and served until 1882, when he entered President Arthur's cabinet as secretary of the interior. Three years later he again returned to the senate and served continuously until 1909. In 1896 he withdrew from the republican party on account of its attitude on the silver question and it was as an "independent silver republican" that he was re-elected to the senate the next year.

CLASS DAY PROGRAM.

Interesting Exercises Carried Out at High School Today.

In spite of the inclement weather, the class day exercises of the high school graduating class were well attended.

The exercises were given in the magnificent auditorium of the new high school building, this being the first time the building has been used for a public occasion. The exercises commenced at ten o'clock, the first number on the program being the class march, followed by the singing of the class song.

The next on the program was the interesting class history by Wayne Summerville. A very beautiful musical trio was then given by Misses Waggoner, Carrigan and Weavers. Then Wasec Yeager recited the class poem, it being very interesting. Miss Gladys Trueblood gave a very interesting musical selection. The class prophecy was then recited by Miss Eva Benson. It proved very interesting and was enjoyed by all.

The president, Mr. Burton Stayton, then read the last will and testament of the class and in a few appropriate words turned the class key over to the president of the junior class, Miss Bess Kell.

Then came the burial of the treasure, each member of the class placing a book in the coffin prepared for the occasion. Then Eugene Isley, the class orator, in a few well-chosen and appropriate words delivered the funeral orations. The farewell song to classes and teachers was then sung.

The exercises were closed by the class yell. Those present report a splendid program and spoke in very complimentary way regarding the class and individual members.

"Going to the Circus."

The days of the old-fashioned circus are past and gone, but stored away in many of our memories are remembrances of the "circus days" in the little New England villages where many of us were raised. We can still taste the red lemonade and hear the side show "barkers" with their numerous jokes.

"Going to the Circus" is the title of a selection by Miss Della Bacon Wadlington in her recital at the Wichita Theatre Wednesday evening, May 25. Miss Wadlington comes direct to this city from Boston, where she has just completed a post-graduate course at the Emerson College of Oratory.

The Boston Dispatch says in part: "The humorous selections, 'Going to the Circus,' 'The Wonderful Experience Meeting' and 'Bobby Unwelcome,' by Miss Della Bacon Wadlington were considered by many of her hearers the feature of the evening. Her work in this line could hardly be excelled."

Unitarians Meet in Boston.
Boston, Mass., May 23.—Unitarians from various parts of the United States and Canada assembled here today for the eighty-fifth annual meeting of the American Unitarian Association. The convention will last until Saturday and will include meetings of the Unitarian Sunday School Society, the Women's Alliance and the Young People's Religion Union. The newly organized League of Unitarian Laymen, of which President William H. Taft is the honorary president, will hold its first anniversary meeting. The proceedings of the general convention were opened this morning in historic King's Chapel, where the delegates gathered for a service of prayer. The meeting was conducted by Rev. D. Roy Freeman of Braintree, Mass.

To Observe Memorial Day.
At a recent meeting of the Civic League it was decided to observe Memorial Day, May 30th, by decorating the graves at the city cemetery with flowers and setting out of trees and plants at Riverside cemetery. A committee consisting of Mesdames J. C. Ward, A. H. Carrigan and M. M. Adickes was appointed to wait on all the organized lodges in the city to solicit their aid and co-operation in making proper observation of this day, and all money subscribed by these organizations and by the public generally, will be used to purchase cut flowers and plants of various kinds.

IOWA PARK GRADUATION.

Closing Exercises of Public Schools Held Last Week.

Special to The Times
Jowa Park, May 23.—The closing exercises of a most successful term of nine months school began Thursday afternoon by grades one, two and three when they presented "Mother Goose Convention."

Miss Wolford and Mallerman had the little people well drilled, and their efforts were much enjoyed by a full house. Thursday night the high school pupils rendered the impressive cantata "Columbia." The house was full and the order splendid, as was the program, which was both instructive and interesting. The military drill by the boys under Prof. Clark's orders was well executed and made the audience feel safe under the standing army, in our midst, who proved their alertness and seal by their quick response to commands. The scarf drill by the twenty-six young ladies was beautiful and almost perfect. But little time had been used in the practice, but under the direction and by the thoroughness of their instructress, Miss Ellis, it was very much appreciated as was the old time song of the state capitol.

The music furnished by the orchestra was excellent, and the entire evening was enjoyed by all. On Friday afternoon grades four, five, six and seven gave a splendid program, "The School Festival," followed by drills. The Sunflower drill by the boys was highly enjoyed; there seemed but one objection, and that was the shortness of it. Miss Arnold and Deny, deserve much credit as the little folks showed careful training by their promptness and correctness. Friday night the closing of the series of programs was given at the Baptist church. Diplomas and certificates were awarded to those entitled to them, followed by a splendid address by Rev. F. L. Young.

At the close of this term Prof Lee Clary leaves this city for new fields of labor, he has been with Iowa Park for four years and for the last three years has had such splendid help by our principal, Miss Minnie Ellis that the school has been raised to a much higher plane both morally and mentally, and every effort will be made to retain Miss Ellis, all knowing we will her ability to hold up the good work begun. The new superintendent, Prof. Grady comes well recommended. Iowa Park regrets very much to have Mr. Clark leave, but can only wish him success in his new field where all feel sure he will be much appreciated.

A STORY OF FORREST.

The Actor's Encounter With an Impertinent Critic.

Many years ago Edwin Forrest, the celebrated actor, when in New York, was in the habit of dining at Windust's, a noted restaurant on Park row that was a favorite resort of actors and literary men. It usually happened that Forrest would be joined by friends and that the little group would sit together at one table. On one occasion it chanced that an Englishman with a reputation for conceit and impertinence, who had scraped acquaintance with the tragedian, was one of the group.

Early in the course of the dinner the Englishman began to make criticisms which he considered pleasantries about Forrest's conception of certain roles. Encouraged by his own appreciation, he gave full play to his humor and concluded each of his impertinences with "Pardon my freedom, sir—it's my way."

To the astonishment of all who knew Forrest's intractable disposition he bore the Briton's offensive remarks patiently and seemingly ignored them as far as possible. When, however, the nuts were brought in by the waiter—he took several cracked walnuts in his hand and, walking over to the Briton's place, jocularly snapped them successively in the face of that individual, lightly saying after each shot, "Pardon my freedom, sir—it's my way," and snapped him out of the restaurant.

SPEED OF WAVES.

Over Seventy-eight Miles an Hour Has Been Recorded.

Interesting facts about waves were given by Dr. Vaughan Cornish in one of his lectures. In the north Atlantic, he said, waves had been measured, the largest of which was somewhat more than forty feet high, with a length from crest to crest of 500 feet. It was in the southern Indian ocean that waves attained their fullest development, and they had been measured there with a length of 780 feet.

In the Atlantic it had been found that waves attained a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour in a wind of about forty-four miles an hour. Speaking of the swells in the waves that run freely on the surface of the sea after the wind has ceased, Dr. Cornish said that during a storm in December, 1898, he recorded breakers near Bournemouth which moved at sixty-seven miles an hour and had a length from crest to crest of 1,000 feet. In February, 1899, he observed breakers on the same shore which had a speed in deep water of not less than seventy-eight and a half miles an hour.—London Family Herald.

When Kissing Was Costly.

The case of the people against Murline, heard by the governor of New Haven colony in council on May day, 1660, indicates the attitude toward unlicensed kissing in those times. It appeared that Jacob Murline and Sarah Tuttle had been caught kissing each other. Jacob tried to throw the blame on Sarah, saying he thought she had "with intent let fall her gloves." Sarah denied the intent. Jacob then admitted that he "took her by the hand and they both sat down upon a chest, but whether he kissed her or she kissed him he knows not, for he never thought of it since until Mr. Raymond told him that he had not layde it to heart as he ought." The stern governor, after duly lecturing the guilty parties on the enormity of their offense, decreed that "the sentence therefore concerning them is that they shall pay either of them a fine of 20 shillings to the colony."

Khartum.

Khartum owes its existence to an oriental form of treachery. When Khedive Mohammed Ali invaded the Sudan in 1820 he marched triumphantly to Shendi, where his troops were entertained at a banquet by the submissive natives. But while the Khedive's high officials were seated at the feast they shared the fate of the vizards and were themselves reduced to funeral baked meats. Full of fury, the army fell on Shendi and demolished it. Marching south, the invaders reached the junction of the Blue Nile and White Nile. With the conqueror's instinct they recognized that the strip of land, with its few fishermen's huts of straw, formed ideal strategical headquarters, so Khartum snally grew into the most sensitive part of the Sudan organism.

Doubling Up.

A boy of eight years was asked by his teacher where the zenith was. He replied, "That spot in the heavens directly over one's head."

To test his knowledge further the teacher asked:

"Can two persons have the same zenith at the same time?"

"They can."

"How?"

"If one stand on the other's head."

YOUR MEMORY.

If It Seems to Fail You Just Give It a Good Jogging.

Memory does not "fail" (except in loss of all the faculties); it simply gets weak and languid for want of use, just as the physical organs do. People often say "My memory is failing" when it is really as good as ever if they would give it a chance.

A word, a date, a name, an incident, comes up, or, rather, fails to come up when you want it. There seems to be no possible way of remembering it. You make two or three efforts, give up and say, "There's no use; it's gone from me."

Nonsense! It hasn't. It is there just as much as it ever was, only there are a lot of things over it. Keep at work, bring your will to bear upon it, try and try and try, and after awhile you can get it.

And, better, you will find that the exercise required in remembering it will help you next time and that a little toll and determination put together will accomplish wonders in the whole range of faculties.

Look over your memory, see where you are most deficient and exercise it in that respect. You can do it at any odd time, while you are walking, riding, resting after a day's work, listening perforce to a dull speaker. Don't let a few failures discourage you. The long corridor of recollection lined upon both sides with valuable material will be opened for you because of your impatience if you use it.—Exchange.

BARGAIN HUNTING.

The Strenuous National Game of the American Women.

There is always something impressive about a crowd that is swayed by a single emotion. You get an impression of force, says Mary Heaton Vorse in Success Magazine. These women, who a few moments ago had been quiet shoppers, formed a mob. They swayed and pushed as though moved by a common impulse toward a table where were the embroideries. From their throats came a little dull growl; a curious noise—the whisper of a mob.

The noise of a mob in joy or in anger or in fright or just its restless murmur as it waits is different from any other noise that comes from the human throat—quite distinct, of a curious animal timber. I heard it once on the occasion of the throwing of a bomb, again from a crowd waiting for a bank to open and a third time in a theater when fire had been called, and now here it was in miniature from a couple of hundred women waiting to buy ten cent embroideries.

They were poor women with shawls and baskets, women with babies in their arms, women with threadbare clothes carefully brushed, who must think before spending each dime in the dollar, but for once indulging in the great sport of American women—bargain hunting.

Edward Everett.

Edward Everett was one of the most purely literary of all American orators. Among the more eminent scholars and statesmen of our land no one has ever been more deservedly honored for intellectual power, purity of character, public and private, and for clearness and perception of judgment than Everett. To the efforts of Edward Everett more than to any other one person is to be credited the raising of funds sufficient to purchase the home of Washington at Mount Vernon. He delivered a lecture on the character of that great man more than a hundred times and gave the proceeds to the Ladies' Mount Vernon association. He personally placed over $60,000 in the treasury. It is probable that his oratory won for benevolent purposes at least $100,000.—St. Louis Republic.

The Oldest Reliable Date.

It used to be supposed that the most ancient civilization of which real records had been found dated from B. C. 3500. This had relation to Peru and its earliest known inhabitants, but Dr. Eduard Mayer, professor of ancient history at the University of Berlin, studying the Egyptian calendars on the monuments in the state museum of the German capital, discovered that the date B. C. 4241 is frequently cited as that in which the early Egyptian astronomers first calculated their solar year from the rising of the star Sirius. This is by far the oldest reliable date in the history of the human race.

The Word "Belfry."

The word "belfry" had originally no connection with "hell," an idea which is now intimately associated with the term. The first meaning given is "watchtower," from the middle English "berfry," a watchtower. The first part of this word is connected with "borough," the second with "free." As the practice grew of hanging "bells" in such towers people reminded themselves of the fact by changing the word "berfry" into the modern "belfry."

No Chance.

"Why don't you ask that young man up to tea some evening, dear?"
"I don't believe it would do any good, mother. He's a confirmed bachelor."—New York Journal.

A College Pun.

"Can your horse jump?"
"I don't know. I never asked him."
"Really? Why not?"
"I'm afraid he might take a fence."—Harvard Lampoon.

Appropriate.

"What do you suppose is the song of the desert?"
"I don't know, but I should think it would be 'The camels are coming.'"—Exchange.

A GOOD WAY TO USE HYOMEL.

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that the fine inhaling Hyomel from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.

Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a half teaspoonful of Hyomel, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the medicated antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.

This method relieves that stuffiness at once and makes your head feel clear.

You can get a bottle of Hyomel at drug stores everywhere or at The Weeks Drug Co. for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle Hyomel inhaler.

But bear in mind if you want a Hyomel inhaler you must buy a complete outfit which only costs $1.00. But, as stated before, if you already own an inhaler a bottle of Hyomel costs but 50 cents.

Hyomel is guaranteed by druggists everywhere and by The Weeks Drug Co., to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, rose fever, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

Ready to Race at Woodbine.

Toronto, Ont., May 23.—With the hope of fair weather, society, race track followers and all lovers of blooded horses will have but one point of interest tomorrow—the Woodbine track, where the Ontario Jockey Club's spring meeting will open with the King's Plate, the first of the important races of the year on the Canadian turf. The opening at Woodbine was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but was postponed out of respect to the memory of King Edward, who in his lifetime did much to encourage the breeding of thoroughbreds in Canada. The meeting will continue until the last day of May.

The opening event, the King's Plate for Ontario, or, as it was originally instituted under Queen Victoria—the Queen's Plate, is the oldest continuous racing fixture in America, antedating by years the Futurity, the Suburban, the Metropolitan, or any of the American Derbies. It has been run without a break since 1860, when her late Majesty Queen Victoria first donated fifty guineas with the object of encouraging the breeding of thoroughbreds in the provinces. For the first twenty-three years after its establishment the race had no permanent home, being run at no less than fifty different tracks in Ontario. In 1883 it was made a fixture at Woodbine and has been run there ever since.

HE WON THE CROWN.

The Ancient Story of the "Bloody Hand of Ulster."

The emblem of the Ulster steamship line is a huge red hand, from the wrist of which is flowing drops of blood. An official of one of the vessels of the line gave this explanation of the queer device:

"It was in the early days of Ireland, when James I. was king and when Ireland was divided into four provinces, that the king of Ulster died. He had two sons, who were devoted to each other and who at the time of their father's death were on the island of Aragon, Scotland. In those days the eldest son did not always succeed the father on the throne.

"They were brave lads, these two sons of the old king, and upon learning of the death of their father each planned to race across the channel and be the first to place his hand upon the soil of Austrim and thus become king of all the north.

"With eight men each they started off from Mullcantry. On nearing the shores of the isles the youngest prince, whose name was Neill, seeing that his brother was in a fair way to become king, drew his sword, placed his left hand on the side of the boat and cut it off at the wrist.

"Quickly seizing the dripping hand, he threw it on shore and thus won the crown. Since that time, it is told, the bloody hand of Ulster has led to victory on many a hard fought field as emblem on the shields of the young king and his followers. Ulster's name, whether in trade or war or sport or on a steamship line, is known by this sign."—Philadelphia North American.

PROVED HIS WORDS.

Still, the Philosopher Didn't Like It When Death Called.

A certain philosopher was in the habit of saying whenever he heard that an old friend had passed away: "Ah, well, death comes to us all! It is no new thing. It is what we must expect. Pass me the butter, my dear. Yes, death comes to all, and my friend's time had come."

Now, Death overheard these philosophical remarks at different times, and one day he showed himself to the philosopher.

"I am Death," said he simply.

"Go away!" said the man in a panic. "I am not ready for you."

"Yes, but it is one of your favorite truisms that Death comes to all, and I am but proving your words."

"Go away! You are dreadful!" "No more dreadful than I always am. But why have you changed so? You have never feared the death that has come to your friends. I never heard you sigh when I carried off your old companions. You have always said, 'It is the way of all flesh.' Shall I make an exception in favor of your flesh?"

"Yes, for I am not ready." "But I am. Your time has come. Do not repine. Your friends will go on buttering their toast. They will take it as philosophically as you have taken every other death."

And the philosopher and Death departed on a long journey together.—Charles Battell Loomis.

About Sneezing. Hospital nurses when assisting at a delicate operation have their own way of suppressing a cough or a sneeze. The operator's attention must not be distracted for a moment. Coughs and sneezes, too, spread germs on surfaces carefully rendered antiseptic. So every nurse soon learns to press her finger hard on the upper lip immediately below the nose when she feels a cough or a sneeze coming on. A pressure in the neighborhood of the ear, too, or a hard pressure on the roof of the mouth will nip a cough in the bud. And the will has great power to control a cough or a sneeze. There was a French surgeon who used to say whenever he entered the wards of the hospital, "The first patient who coughs gets no food today." This method was usually successful.—Chicago News.

What Came Up. A young man wishing to have a bit of fun at a farmer's expense passed a few remarks about his cattle and his garden and then said he had set some lettuce and cabbage which had not grown up. Then the farmer said: "Oh, that's nothing! I set some carrot-seeds, and what do you think came up?" "Don't know," replied the young man. Farmer—Why, old Brown's donkey, and ate the lot.—Newark Star.

The Turnip. The turnip is supposed to be a native of Asia and Europe. It has been cultivated for centuries. The wild East Indian turnip is said to be remotely kin to the edible turnip. It is the size of a walnut and first tasted is sweetish, but in a moment the taster's tongue feels as though it were pricked by a hundred hot needles, and he feels like expectorating for hours after. It is the country boy's favorite medium for a joke on the visiting town boy.

Work and Worry. "So you think worry kills more people than work?" "I'm sure of it," replied the sarcastic scientist. "Why?" "Because so many people find it easier than work and devote their time to it."—Washington Star.

For who knows most, him loss of time most grieves.—Dante.

MEMORY IN FISH.

Striking Results Shown in a Test With Gray Perch.

Even the fishes of the sea have pictures on memory's wall. Experiments have been made with several fishes as to their faculties for remembering, but the most striking results have been obtained with the gray perch, which lives chiefly on small silvery hued sardines. Some of these were taken and colored red and were then put into the tank where the perch was with several silver colored sardines. Of course the normal sardines were all once seized and eaten, but it was not until hungry that the perch made a tentative meal of one of the red colored victims.

On recognizing the sardine flavor, however, he promptly demolished the remainder. Later the perch devoured the sardines irrespective of color, thus showing not only traces of a memory, but also the power to differentiate color.

Subsequently sardines colored red and blue were placed in the tank together with the silver ones. The same scene was repeated, the blue sardines not being attacked until the others were eaten and hunger compelled investigation of the newcomers. After this introduction the perch ate the sardines of all three types without any difficulty.

Some spines of the sea nettle were then fastened to the blue sardines. These were at once avoided by the perch, which promptly got out of the way of the newcomers. This showed traces of memory, as the results of contact with the sea nettle were shown and recognized.—Chicago Tribune.

THE WARM BREATH.

Why It Comes Out Cold Through Partly Closed Lips.

When one breathes out used air from the lungs through the wide open mouth the breath has the same temperature as the body, 98.6 degrees F., and frequently on a cold day we warm our fingers by breathing on them. If, however, we blow the breath vigorously from the mouth the temperature of the breath appears to be much lower than when breathed gently and with open mouth and is decidedly cooling in its effect, writes J. Gordon Ogden in Popular Mechanics.

The latter fact is due to the well known principle established by Lord Kelvin, that a compressed gas upon expanding will absorb heat. The breath, compressed by being forced to pass through the small orifice made by the puckered lips, immediately expands upon being admitted to the outer air and to do so must take up heat.

This is also the identical principle involved in the manufacture of artificial ice. Ammonia gas is first compressed into a liquid and then liberated into a network of tubes surrounding large sheet iron boxes filled with distilled water. The liquid ammonia, set free at one end of the pipe system, begins at once to evaporate, and by the time it has scampered through the long iron tubes it has become gas. As we have learned, to change a liquid to a gas requires heat. This heat is taken from the iron piping, an excellent conductor, which in turn robs the water of its heat, thus freezing it.

The Mexican Mosquero.

The finest fly traps are not in it with a little Mexican spider named mosquero. Natives gather from oak trees a branch covered with this spider's nests and hang it up in the house. The spiders begin on the flies by whole sale. Mosquero nests are very tidy, pretty and old maidish. A lot of tiny beetles make their home therein with the spiders. The beetles live on fly legs, the crumbs and scraps from the mosquero's table, and pay for their bed and board by keeping the web house perfectly clear and refined, eating everything and dropping no litter in the Mexican professional gentleman's house. Mrs. Mosquero is a very quiet, orderly lady who never wanders from her own fireside or strays from her own back yard, but when a fly calls round she gets very busy with her spider knives and saws.—New York Press.

Lovers of Sports.

The Anglo-Saxons love sport. No matter in what part of the world they are found the spirit is strong among them. Wherever the restless Anglo-Saxon dominates the love of sport is dominant. The Americans are at least the most of them—descendants of this virile race, and nowhere is the love of sport so much exulted as in this country. Our people are patrons of horse racing, of baseball, of golf, of football, of all out of door sports as no other people. The English are great sportsmen, but not to the extent that Americans are, for the reason that the opportunities are greater here.—Nashville American.

Bad Advice.

Friend—What's worrying you? Manager—The prima donna of my company refuses to sing oftener than twice a week. I am making only hundreds where I ought to be making thousands. Friend—I'd settle that. If I were you I'd marry her. (A year passes.) Friend—My gracious, you look seedy! What's happened? Manager—I took your advice and married the prima donna, and now she won't sing at all.

Reciprocity.

There is one word which may serve as a rule of practice for one's life. That word is "reciprocity." What you do not wish done to yourself do not do to others.

Friendship—One soul in two bodies.

THE COLORADO DESERT.

Its Stunted Tree Forms and its Petrified Forests.

In places in the Colorado desert are stream beds where perhaps once in several years heavy rains in distant mountains will cause water to flow for a short time. In these dry water courses several varieties of stunted tree forms are often found. The desert willow, which resembles the willow with which we are familiar, though smaller in size; the val verde, or green tree, a tree which is a bright green from trunk to tip of limb in every twig, and the ironwood, so dense in fiber that it turns an ax's edge, are the principal varieties. They are rarely above twenty feet high and, like all desert vegetation, have not a leaf.

They are apparently outcasts from the two great tree divisions, deciduous and citrus, for they have leaves neither to lose nor to keep. These may be called the living dogs of the tree family. We will find here also the dead lions.

Not far from the mountain range we will come upon the remains of what were once extensive forests of gigantic trees, now turned to stone and lying as they fell centuries ago. The great trunks, perfect in grain, knot and bark fiber, cumber the ground in tangled confusion in those places which have been protected from the drifting sand, giving evidence that what is now a desert was once upon a time a tropical wilderness.—Travel Magazine.

RUB THE OTHER EYE.

And Let the One in Which the Bit of Cinder Ledges Alone.

Nine persons out of every ten with a cinder or any other foreign substance in the eye will instantly begin to rub it with one hand while hunting for a handkerchief with the other. This is all wrong. The right way is not to rub the eye with the cinder in it, but to rub the other as vigorously as you like.

A few months ago I was riding on the engine of a fast express. The engineer threw open the front window of the cab, and I caught a cinder in my eye, which gave me intense pain. I began to rub the eye desperately, when the engineer called to me: "Let that eye alone and rub the other one."

Thinking he was chaffing me, I only rubbed the harder.

"I know the doctors think they know it all, but they don't, and if you will let that eye alone and work on the other one you will soon have the cinder out," shouted the engineer.

I did as he directed and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus and made ready to take it out.

"Let it alone and keep at the well eye," again shouted the engineer.

I did so for a minute longer, and then, looking into a small glass the engineer handed me, I saw the offender on my cheek. I have tried it many times since, always with success.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Where History Began.

Describing a visit to the tombs of the Egyptian kings, Albert Bigelow Paine in Harper's Weekly writes of "the splendid tomb of Amenophis II., of the eighteenth dynasty, who lived in the glory of Egypt, 1000 B. C., a warrior who slew seven Syrian chiefs with his own hand. The top of the sarcophagus is removed and is replaced by heavy plate glass. Just over the sleeper's face there is a tiny electric globe, and I believe one could never tire of standing there and looking at that quiet visage, darkened by age, but beautiful in its dignity, unmoved, undisturbed by the storm and stress of the fretful years. How long he has been asleep! The Israelites were still in bondage when he fell into that quiet doze, and for their exodus a century or two later he did not care. Hector and Achilles and Paris and the rest had not yet battled on the plains of Troy."

Moral Suspicion and a Strap.

"She seems to have abandoned her moral suspicion ideas relative to the training of children."

"She has."

"How did it happen?"

"Well, I was largely instrumental in bringing about the change. You see, she has no children of her own, and I grew weary of her constant preaching and theorizing, so I loaned her our Willie."

"Loaned her your boy?"

"Precisely. She was to have him a week on her solemn promise to confine herself entirely to moral suspicion."

"Did she keep her promise?"

"She did, but at the expiration of the week she came to me with tears in her eyes and pleaded for permission to whale him just once."—New York Mail.

Confucius on Kingcraft.

"What is kingcraft?" demanded a disciple.

Confucius replied, "Food enough, troops enough and a trusting people." "Were there no help for it which could be best spared of the three?"

"Troops," said the master.

"And were there no help for it which could be better spared of the other two?"

"Food," said the master. "From of old all men die, but without trust a people cannot stand."

Got it Mixed.

An amusing blunder was made in the case of a judicial declaration that certain resident magistrates "could no more state a case than they could write a Greek ode."

This was made to read that the magistrates "could no more state a case than they could ride a Greek goat."—London Scrips.
