EXCURSION CROWDS EXPECTED MONDAY

LAKE WICHITA TO BE THROWN OPEN TO VISITORS FROM NORTHWESTERN.

IS TRIPLE CELEBRATION

Attractions At Lake—Ball Game and Other Features to Be Provided.

Arrangements for the big excursion to be run from points on the Northwestern next Monday, May 30, are about complete, and if the plans can be carried out as formulated, the occasion will be a memorable one. The Northwestern will provide a total of twelve passenger cars to handle the crowd, and from present indications all of them will be filled to their capacity.

The train will arrive here about noon and will stop at the depot about five minutes, then proceeding to Lake Wichita over the Southern tracks. The celebration will include all the attractions there. There will be a baseball game in the afternoon between the "Irish Lads" and the Altus teams, which will mark the formal opening of the new baseball park now nearing completion. The Lakeside Hotel will also be open on that occasion and there will be dancing throughout the afternoon at the pavilion.

The return excursion train will leave the lake at 6 o'clock and will leave Wichita Falls at 7 o'clock, giving the excursionists time for supper here. Those who wish to do so, however, can remain over until May 31, and the going passage ticket will be good next Sunday, May 29. It is probable that quite a number will spend all three days in this city. The rate will be two dollars from Elk City and proportionate cost for the intermediate points.

The celebration is to cover three events—the completion of the Elk City extension, the formal opening of the lake resorts and Decoration Day. It is believed that the crowd will be limited only by the accommodations the Northwestern can provide.

LAST NIGHT COLD.

Fifty Degree Temperature Reigned in Texas Last Night.

By Associated Press.
Fort Worth, May 24.—The government weather bureau here today reported that last night was the coldest
for the latter part of May in eight years. The temperature fell to fifty degrees and low temperature prevailed throughout Texas last night. The eclipse of the moon and the clear sky
gave Texans their first opportunity of observing Halley's comet, and many towns reported that nucleus end tail was plainly visible in the west. The fork of the tail in the eastern skies
was not reported seen.

CHARITY CONFERENCE.

REACHES WICHITA FALLS FROM IOWA, COMING ALL THE WAY IN AUTOMOBILE

W. D. Cottrell of Sioux City, Iowa, accompanied by his young son, has arrived in Wichita Falls after making
the long trip from Sioux City by automobile, and he will probably locate in this city. The long journey was made entirely by automobile, Mr. Cottrell
traveling in a twenty horse power
Carter car, which stood the trip well.
He encountered many bad roads on the way and went through a great deal of mud, but managed to come the entire way without deserting his machine.

TEXANS IN WRECK.

death is expected. She was formerly saleslady for the Burton-Peel Co. L.
C. Wilde, secretary-treasurer, of the Frisco, says that neither himself, his brother or W. E. Wilde, nor his mother, Mrs. M. A. Wilde are injured as reported. The Wildes' reside in Fort

HAS NOT WITHDRAWN.

Equitable Fire and Marine Still Doing Business in State.

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, May 24.—The report
that the Equitable Fire and Marine Insurance Company which has headquarters in this city, would withdraw from Texas, is today wholly denied by officials of the company. The concern says the report was based on the fact that a number of risks were cancelled in Fort Worth, but that its business is expanding and it will remain in Texas.

DOUBLE ATTRACTION IN SKY LAST NIGHT—COMET AND ECLIPSE TO BE SEEN

Halley's comet, which has held the center of the celestial stage as an attraction for several days, had a rival
last night in the form of a lunar
eclipse. The result was that the comet lost out almost entirely and for every one looking at it, there were a dozen rubbering at the moon. The latter reached one of those periodic stages
of its existence when it is afflicted
with an excess of modesty, causing it
to go into retirement behind what is known as a penumbra. It went behind about 8:30 and stayed until nearly 2 o'clock. In the meantime the comet
was doing its best, but made a poor showing on account of the fact that its caudal appendage, which is its chief attraction, had deserted it and was somewhere in the east—about in the neighborhood of Holliday Creek.

ANOTHER DEFEAT FACING ESTRADA

SURROUNDED BY GOVERNMENT
TROOPS AND APPROACHES ARE CUT OFF.

SURRENDER IS POSSIBLE

Estrada Forces Seem Hopelessly Beaten Again and Chances Are Small.

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 24.—A cablegram
received by the Texas News Service bureau today from Managua, Nicaragua, confirms the advice received by Telmico Lopez, former governor of Nicaragua here, to the effect that the Madriz army under general Rivas has succeeded in passing Rama after his engagement with insurgents under General Mena. Today's message says Estrada's army is now hemmed in on all sides after being cut off from all approaches to Bluefields, and he is considering surrender. A hundred were killed or wounded in yesterday's battle.

By Associated Press.
Bluefields, May 24.—General Lara,
commanding a force of government
troops, is today fiercely attacking the Provisional Government's position in rear of Bluefields. The Government's steamer, Venus, is landing five hundred troops north of Bluefields for the purpose of attacking in conjunction with General Lara's forces back of Bluefields.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., May 24.—A brief telegram has been received by the state department from Consul Moffatt
at Bluefields, dated yesterday evening,
in which he states that General Rivas'
forces were then attacking the Estrada
army which is entrenched back of the city.

NEW DEPOT PLANS NOW COMPLETED

ARE NOW AWAITING APPROVAL
BY DIFFERENT ROADS INTO
THIS CITY.

LARGE, ROOMY STRUCTURE

Total Length, With Platforms and Sheds, Two Blocks—Modern Features.

The plans for the new union depot
to be erected jointly by the roads entering the city have been completed
and are now awaiting approval by the Northwestern, Katy, Denver and the other roads who will use the station.
It is understood that they have already been practically adopted by the Denver and it is believed that but few, if any, changes will be recommended by the Northwestern and the Katy.

The total length of the building
proper, exclusive of the platforms and sheds will be two hundred and thirty feet and its greatest width will be sixty feet. There will be two stories and a basement, the upper story being intended for offices and the basement for storage purposes.

The main waiting room will be ninety-
six by forty-five feet in dimension
and will be finished in marble, with tiled floor. It will occupy the center of the building and will be almost directly facing Eighth street. On the north side of it will be the lunch room. This will be under the management of the J. E. Hutt Company, which operates the St. James Hotel and they intend to make it one of the most up-to-date establishments of its kind in the state. On the other side of the waiting room will be the negro waiting room, the toilet room and the baggage room. The ticket office and news
stand will face the main waiting room.
It is probable that part of the baggage room, which is forty by fifty feet, will be partitioned off for a mail transfer station, which the postoffice department wishes to place there.

The building will be surmounted by a tower, rising ninety feet from the ground over the Eighth street entrance. Ornamental arches will cover the carriage approaches, which will be paved. The building will be lighted by electricity and heated by steam and will be almost altogether fire-proof in construction. It will be a total of about two blocks in length, extending from 9th to 7th street.

Work is to be started as soon as the
plans can be approved and the contract awarded, which will be by July 1st, at the latest.

dred delegates were in attendance at the opening session of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers Association. J.
W. Allison of Denison, Texas, read the Leavenworth for embezzlement.

Thornton will be freed on December 1st to marry his sweetheart, Alice Carter, next Christmas. It was the latter's repeated pleas that induced the President to take action.

NEW FURNITURE FACTORY. MAN IS HERE--TO START WORK WITHOUT DELAY

Mr. M. A. Brinn, formerly of Wichita, Kansas, and who is a member of the Freear-Brinn Furniture Company,
which is to be organized for the purpose of engaging in the wholesale furniture and mattress business, arrived
in the city last night and will proceed
at once to the organization of the company.

Nearly all of the $40,000 capital stock
has been subscribed for and the company expects to be ready for business
by September 1st, or as soon as it can secure a suitable site and have suitable buildings constructed in which to conduct its business.

The promoters of the new enterprise, Messrs. Freear and Brinn, are experienced and substantial business men and feel greatly encouraged by the hearty co-operation of the people
of Wichita Falls, who are always ready and willing to lend aid and assistance
in securing any worthy enterprise,
such as a wholesale furniture and mattress factory.

$3,000,000 MORTGAGE.

cure Commission.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Tex., May 24.—Judge M. M.
Garwood, attorney, and Gus Radetski,
general superintendent, of the Houston & Texas Central Railroad, today
conferred with the state railroad commission in an effort to induce it to include $3,000,000 worth of rolling stock
in the three million dollar mortgage on the Mexico Nevelle cut-off. The recent valuation did not include the rolling stock and the railroad's request is not unusual. The commission will likely approve the suggestion.

WICHITA BRICK CO. TO BUILD PLANT

WILL SPEND HUNDRED THOU-SAND IN PUTTING UP ANOTH-ER FACTORY HERE.

TO START WORK AT ONCE

Capital Stock is Increased to $175,000
and Improvements Ordered
By Directors.

Another brick plant for Wichita Falls, costing one hundred thousand dollars and with a capacity of one hundred thousand brick per day, is assured by the action of the Wichita Brick and Tile Company. At a meeting of the directors of this company yesterday, the capital stock was increased from seventy-five thousand to one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars and orders were issued for the immediate erection of the new plant.

The new plant while under the same management as the present factory will occupy a separate building
and will be an entirely distinct plant.
It will be built where the workmen's cottages now stand and these will be moved to another location. The new stock of the company was taken up
within a very few minutes and work
will be started on the new plant as soon as the preliminary details can be arranged.

The total capacity of both plants,
when the new one is completed, will be about one hundred and fifty thousand brick daily, which added to the daily capacity of the Kentner plant,
which is a certainty, will give Wichita Falls a daily brick capacity of a quarter of a million brick and a total of
over two hundred hands will be employed.

The erection of this large new plant
by the company evidences that Wichita Falls has "made good" as a brick-manufacturing point and this display
of confidence on the part of the owners is worth noting. The plant is owned largely by Messrs. Stanforth and Daugherty of Gainesville, together
with other Gainesville and local capitalists, to whom much of the credit for the success of the enterprise is attributed.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Five candidates are contesting for the republican nomination for governor of Vermont.

The democrats of Nevada hope to replace Senator George S. Nixon, republican, with a democrat after next fall's election.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock, representative in congress from the second Nebraska district, is a candidate for the United States senate.

There is talk of nominating Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of former President Roosevelt, for representative in congress from the Twenty-seventh New York District.

Former Governor Theodore Bell is to be the only candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of California in the approaching primary election in that state.

At a dinner to be given in St. Louis on June 2 the friends of Joseph W. Folk will launch his campaign for the democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1912.

Former United States Senator J. M. Carey, father of the Carey land act, has formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for governor of Wyoming.

It is said the democrats may lose Nevada to the socialists as a result of the large influx of socialists in the mining camps, which are the centers of largest population.

The political atmosphere in South Dakota is growing heated with the near approach of the date for the statewide primary election, which is to take place on June 7.

Interesting contests for governor and for United States senator are expected to keep the leaders of the republican party in Connecticut busy this summer.

Judge George Gray of Delaware, whose name was suggested in connection with the democratic presidential nomination in 1900 and again in 1904, recently celebrated his seventieth birthday.

The socialists of Wisconsin will meet in state convention in Milwaukee May 28 and 29 to adopt a platform and decide on a ticket of state officers to be recommended for referendum approval.

With one or two exceptions, every city of size in the state of Texas has followed the example of Galveston in adopting the commission form of municipal government. Many of the smaller places have also taken up the commission.

Some political observers express the opinion that Senator Dick of Ohio will have a hard time securing a re-election. The legislature at present is only thirty-one republicans on joint ballot out of 151 members. The democrats are counting on big party gains in Cleveland and other large industrial cities.

The United States senate as at present composed is made up of sixty republicans and thirty-two democrats. The democratic leaders are hopeful of adding to their representation next fall by the election of democratic senators in Nebraska, Montana, Missouri, Delaware, New Jersey, Nevada, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana and New York. This would make the United States senate fifty republicans and forty-two democrats.

Festival of Empire.

London, May 24.—The Festival of Empire, which was to have opened in the Crystal Palace today and for which all preparations had been completed, has been declared off out of respect to the memory of King Edward. An originally planned the affair was to consist of elaborate festivities and pageant illustrating the history of London and its gradual growth and importance as the center of a world-wide empire. It has now been decided that the only feature of the celebration that will be carried out according to the original plans will be the colonial exhibition, which will be kept open through the greater part of the summer. The exhibition consists of an elaborate pictorial representation of the life and industries of the British overseas dominions, including the Dominion of Canada and Newfoundland, the Commonwealth of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Crown Colonies.

Wholesale Liquor Men Confer.

Cincinnati, O., May 24.—Plans to elevate the moral tone of saloons in order to stay the progress of the prohibition wave that has been sweeping the country the past few years, will be exhaustively discussed at the convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association, which began in this city today. ## "Glim" Rakers to Honor Edison.

St. Louis, Mo., May 24.—Several thousand delegates, representing the electric light companies in all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico, are in attendance at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National Electric Light Association, which opened its session formally today. The convention will continue through the week and one of the principal features will be the celebration of Edison Day, in honor of Thomas A. Edison, whose genius alone is responsible for more than two-thirds of the wonderful progress of electric lighting during the last thirty years. In connection with the convention there is a great and costly exposition at the Coliseum hall, which shows in chronological form the progress made in electric lighting and the utilization of electrical power since the first electric light plant was established in Appleton, Wis., in 1852.

During the Seventies Edison began to experiment with the problem of lighting by incandescent lamps and his work was first discussed in the newspapers in 1878. The enthusiastic reports of the newspapers, which predicted a great future for Edison's system, caused an extraordinary decline in the price of gas shares. Edison made the first demonstration of his paper carbon lamp a year later at Menlo Park, but not until the summer of 1880 did these experimental lamps come into practical use outside of his laboratory.

Now, according to the statement of Frank W. Frueauf of New York, president of the National Electric Light Association, there are about 6,000 central electric lighting stations in the United States; alone. More than one half of these companies are also engaged in the electrical supply business. The central station companies of the country have an investment of $1,250,000,000. They have a gross income of more than $250,000,000 a year and develop nearly 2,500,000 horsepower.

In 1879 the first miniature electric railway carrying passengers was put in operation by Siemens and Halske at the Berlin Exposition. It was merely an exhibition plant and not until two years later was a commercial road put in operation in Europe, a mile-and-a-half affair just outside of Berlin.

At present there is a track mileage of electric, city and interurban railways of 40,247 miles, in the United States, using $2,216 cars, and representing capital liabilities of $4,557,000,000.

Equally marvelous was the development of the telephone industry. It was at the Centennial Exposition of 1876 when Alexander Graham Bell exhibited his first telephone. Today there are more than 5,500,000 telephones in use in the United States and the amount invested in exchanges and lines amounts to more than $550,000,000. The investment is steadily growing at a rapid rate.

The first storage battery, a French invention, was built in 1881, and was exhibited at the Paris Exposition. It was many years after that time when the invention was put to practical use. In 1888 Tesla contributed materially to the development of the electric power industry by his valuable inventions and discoveries in relation to alternating currents. Not until then was it made possible to make practical use of the transmission of electrical power.

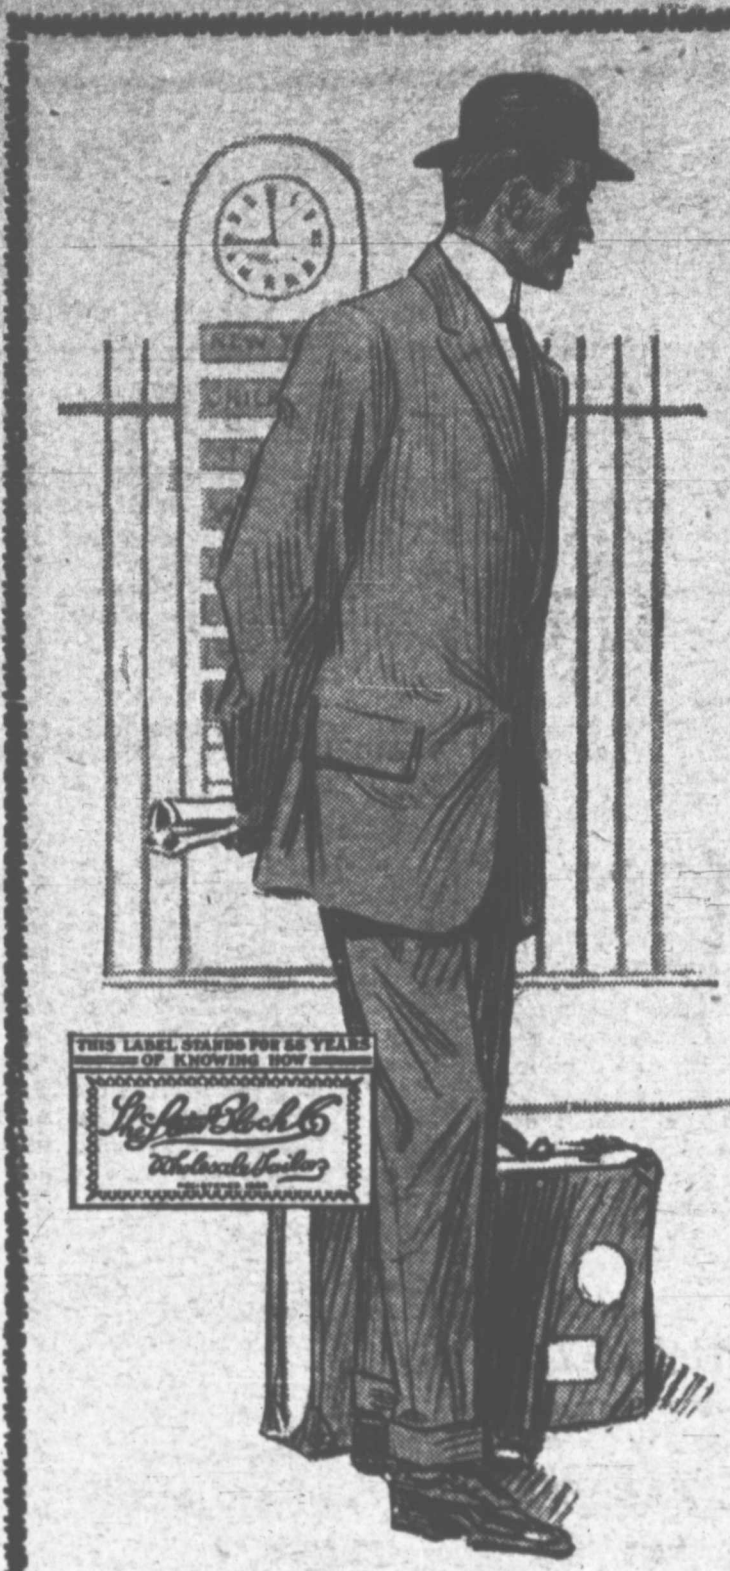

The first electrical power transmission plant was established in 1890 in a small town in the Colorado mountains, where the plant furnished power for a mine. Since then the most marvelous progress has been made and power transmission is one of the most important features of electrical industry.

The discovery of the X-Rays by Roentgen in 1895 was at first only a scientific interest, but has developed in a great measure and has made the X-Rays a valuable assistant in modern surgery. The invention of wireless telegraphy was the last step in the development of electrical science and in the few years since its discovery the most wonderful progress has been made and the most remarkable results have been achieved.

Many inventors of note have contributed to the development of electrical science and to its practical application, first of all, Thomas A. Edison, whose achievements can not be over-estimated. Tesla, Elihu Thompson, Brush, Houton, Alexander Graham Bell, Lord Kelvin, Siemens, Halske, Frank Sprague, Marconi, De Forest and others also deserve honorable mention.

In Memory of Canadian Soldiers.

Toronto, May 24.—In the presence of a large assemblage with the accompaniment of an elaborate military display, the magnificent monument commemorating the valor of the Canadian soldiers who fought and fell under the British flag in the South African war, was dedicated today by Earl Grey, assisted by General Sir John French, the famous British soldier who won fame in the relief of Kimberley and in other stirring events in the war with the Boers. For the dedication ceremonies the troops of the Toronto garrison turned out in full force and there was also a good representation

The monument occupies a conspicuous site on University avenue. It was designed by W. S. The memorial bears the name of every Canadian who died while on active service in the South African war.

In Memory of Queen Victoria.

Ottawa, Ont., May 24.—All Canada today joined in the observance of Victoria Day, which is celebrated in honor of the late Queen Victoria on the anniversary of her birth. Out of respect to the memory of the late king the celebrations generally were of a more quiet character than usual and in many places the customary fireworks were entirely abandoned. In this and other cities the celebrations were confined largely to athletic and sporting events.

Cotton Seed Crushers' Meet.

Little Rock, Ark., May 24.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' association assembled here today for a three days' session which will be devoted largely to the consideration of plans for broadening the market and increasing the general consumption of cotton seed flour, "lard," and other products of cotton seed oil. The convention is attended by large delegations from Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

The feature of the morning's session was an address by President A. B. Allen of Little Rock. This afternoon the convention listened to addresses by Dr. W. D. Hunter of the United States Department of Agriculture, on "The Cotton Boll Weevil, and How to Arrest It," and Prof. Martin Nelson of the University of Arkansas on "Field Crops and Soils."

Wholesale Grocers in Session.

Louisville, Ky., May 24.—Prominent wholesale grocers from New York and California and from nearly all of the intervening states were present here today at the opening of the fourth annual convention of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association. President Douglass H. Bethard of Peoria, Ill., called the gathering to order shortly before noon. Mayor Head gave a cordial greeting to the visitors, for whom response was made by William Judson of Grand Rapids, Mich. The remainder of the day was taken up with the annual reports of officers and committees. At the sessions of Wednesday and Thursday the convention will give its attention to a number of questions of importance to the wholesale trade, such as credits, railroad rates, bankruptcy laws, the tariff, the pure food laws, and the relations between the wholesale merchant and the retailer.

HERE IS ONE ADVANTAGE.

Married Men Are Not So Likely to Be Criminals.

Married men, from time immemorial have been considered better citizens than single men, but it remains for Dr. Bertillon, the famous French criminologist to deduce from figures, the fact that bachelors and widowers as criminals greatly outnumber the husbands.

Dr. Bertillon, who discovered the famous system for identifying and measuring criminals, has a world-wide reputation for excellence in his chosen field of science. He is devoting his career to a study of criminals, and in this work he has secured a vast array of statistics dealing with criminals, their characteristics and their ways. The married man, he finds, is the steady citizen in all communities. He is less liable to go wrong than his unmarried neighbor. Dr. Bertillon naturally concludes that the married man's abstinence from crime is due largely to his desire to be honored by his wife and children, and to do nothing that will bring reproach upon his family.

On the other hand, the French scientist finds that widowers are more inclined to crime than bachelors. He offers no explanation to this. The fact is merely stated that the statistics show that widowers are even more prone to crime than the irresponsible bachelors. The cause of this lies, no doubt back of the feeling of the widower that he has to a large degree already lived his life and the certain desperation consequent to that feeling.

Women of all classes are less of criminals than men. This finding of Dr. Bertillon is corroborative of the popular idea, but it is well that he should show that the statistics positively prove that women infrequently resort to crime and then, he declares, an investigation reveals the influence of some man in that crime.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Cause of the Quarrel.

"What was the cause of your quarrel?" asked the judge, addressing the lady who wanted a divorce.

"I merely suggested when he complained because the golf club raised the dues, that he resign and get the exercise he needed by mowing the lawn."

"And are you sure that was all?" "Well, he wanted me to resign from my domestic science club and take a course of domestic science in the kitchen."

PASTEURIZING WITH LIGHT.

Effects of Ultra-violet Rays on Process of Disinfection.

A few days ago it was announced that a New England scientist had just made a wonderful discovery in the application of ultra-violet light to the process of disinfection. As a matter of fact French and German investigators have been working along these lines for several years. There has been in operation for some time in a Paris hospital an apparatus for sterilizing water which depends for its efficiency on the ultra-violet rays produced by a Cooper Hewitt lamp. As ordinary glass cuts down the power of the rays, quartz is used instead.

The method has been used experimentally in the pasteurization of milk and other food substances, but is much less satisfactory than with water, because of the slight penetration of the rays into opaque materials. By exposing the milk in an extremely thin film, however, some success has been attained and it is possible that a practical use of the Cooper Hewitt lamp for the purification of milk may be devised. Success in the disinfection or sterilization of solids by means of ultra-violet rays is improbable.

The obvious advantage of the method in the case of water or milk is that it induces no chemical or mechanical change in either fluid, produces no alteration of taste, involves little human handling and can be applied rapidly and cheaply. It seems hardly probable, however, that it can displace sand filtration when a large supply of water, such as that of an entire city, is involved, and in the case of food substances heat as a means of sterilization is likely to hold its own for some time to come.

Apropos of this subject it seems worth noting that in a recent communication to the London Illuminating Society Dr. Oetkenhausen states his belief that most of the serious burns which have arisen from ultra-violet regions. These rays occurring in particular abundance in the "quartz tube mercury vapor" lamp. They appear very sparingly in the solar spectrum. In handling such rays the eyes must be protected, and in cases of long-continued use other parts of the body as well. Any variety of glass is fairly effective in cutting off the rays.—New York Press.

FASHIONS IN FUNERALS.

Director's Association Says Few Black Burial Clothes Are Worn.

All undertakers are not as dismal as their surroundings might indicate. About four hundred of them belong to the Indiana Funeral Directors' Association, and many of them came for the thirtieth annual convention of the association. And these undertakers actually laugh and joke and tell stories and smoke good cigars and have as good a time as anyone. Several coffin companies have exhibits of their goods in rooms on the eighth floor of the Claypool and you can see undertakers sit down on the edge of a coffin and talk and laugh as if they were on a circus seat. Whatever of somberness they may possess at times is left at home when they come to the convention.

One noticeable feature of the display of funeral goods is the fact that black is little worn nowadays by the occupant of the box. This is especially true in styles for women. Fewer black burial dresses are shown this year than formerly. In fact, most of the costumes are white, gray, lavender or brown, and many of them are of the kind that women could as well wear in the street or to a party. Some of them are made with all kinds of fluffy ruffles and laces. Of course, the dealers still carry black ones for persons that insist on being buried in that color, but they do not push the sale of black goods.

Even in coffins the styles are different from those of years ago. The old-fashioned coffin is no longer "it." Instead, they are now showing magnificent coffins built in the image of sofas, davenport and the like. One manufacturer has on display at the Claypool a coffin which he calls a davenport, and it is true to the name. It resembles a beautifully upholstered piece of furniture. Sofa pillows help to make it look pretty and inviting. Sofa pillows, by the way, have become a staple with the undertakers. They are made to match the various coffins. Several of the exhibitors have displays of fancy sofa pillows for funeral use.—Indianapolis News.

CADDIES OF THE SOUTH.

Visiting Gaffer Finds Him an Efficient and Interesting Helper.

The winter resort golf player meets a refreshing novelty in the negro caddy. Sometimes the "boy" is grizzled old fellow rising fifty, who toes the bag of clubs about with the alacrity of youth.

The caddies come in all sizes from six feet or more with the muscular build of a prize fighter down to the lads just able to handle the bag; but no matter what his age or size, the negro caddy has infinite ability to be cheerful. He doesn't adopt the somewhat cynical manner of the white caddy, and his manners are better.

For one thing the black lad ordinarily has the eye of a hawk and traces the balls with marvelous sureness. One caddy, said he hadn't lost a ball in the two years he had been caddy-ing, which is a remarkable record.

The negro caddy comes into his work with an amiable idea that he is a partner of his employer. The ball is "ours." "Whose ball is that near the pin?" asks the golfer. "That's ours, sir," the caddy says.

When the golfer gets off a good long ball from the tee the caddy does a lot of quiet rooting. "Ride on, ball, ride on," he calls, much as if he were rooting the bones and rooting for his number to come up. He does his best to coax the ball into the cup, too, in much the same way, but his sense of etiquette is too strong to permit him to make any noise while the play is actually being made.

No matter how much of a dub he has for a boss at the time he doesn't sneer or say anything impertinent, which is a relief to the player from up North, who knows the unpleasant habits of some of the white caddies. The only bad habit the boy has is to gamble on the result of the match he's accompanying. It can be seen what a test of cheerfulness it is for him when his player is a dub and misses an easy shot for the hole and so throws away the bet.—Louisville Times.

BEWARE OF THE DICTOGRAPH

Little Instrument Makes Even Whisper Audible in Next Room.

At police headquarters and in different public offices in New York there has been installed a little instrument that may play an important part in future official investigations. It is called the dictograph and is a mechanical eavesdropper that will strike terror to the heart of the corrupt politician when he knows what it is. Politicians in search of questionable favors and wrong-doers who imagine they are pouring their confidences into the ears of a single and friendly official had better look around the officials' desk before opening their hearts.

The instrument is primarily used to facilitate communications between distant rooms. It makes the faintest whisper in one room audible to a stenographer in another room. The instrument magnifies some voices ten or twelve octaves. Borough President

McAneny, who has installed the instrument in his Park Row offices, said: "Yes, it is a wonderful little thing. I touch a push button and then talk. The person in another part of the building to whom I talk hears me distinctly, though I may be five or six feet from the instrument itself. I believe any sound in my office could be heard in another room, but, of course, I have never used it for such a purpose and have no intention of doing so. With us it is merely a fine line of communication; that's all."

Police Commissioner Baker has installed the instrument at headquarters, where, it is said, it is used only for conversation between officials. The dictograph has been used by Chief Wile in the United States Secret Service offices in Washington and many large banks have it.—Chicago Examiner.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.

Emma Goldman Says Silk Stockings Will Buy Female Votes.

"If the women are ever allowed to vote I can tell you men that you will have one h-l of a time," said Miss Emma Goldman, addressing the male element of a large mixed audience at Burbank Mall, Burbank Theatre building, last night on the subject of woman suffrage. Miss Goldman does not want to vote.

"The right to vote is an imposition, I do not want it," said Miss Goldman in the clear, Marathon tones for which she is noted. "Other women can make fools of themselves at the ballot if they wish, just as the men are making fools of themselves. I don't care."

It is the contention of Miss Goldman that women are by no means competent to vote. She says that women are the slaves of spooks and are all fetish worshippers.

"If it were not for women, priests and pastors would be thrown out of their jobs and compelled to do honest labor," she whooped. "Women worship war. They are responsible for war. They go into hysterics when the boys in blue and Tommy Atkins come marching home."

The women of the United States are too "soft" in their methods of advancing the suffrage movement, believes Miss Goldman. "While American suffragists have been gossiping at 5 o'clock tea," said Miss Goldman, "English women have been using militant methods; consequently they are the best known suffragists in the world. I say to you women who want to vote, don't vote for you ideas—fight for them."

"When the men politicians of one party in Colorado want the vote of a woman politician of the other party they send her a pair of silk stockings and flowers, and they get the vote every time," continued Miss Goldman. Miss Goldman's address was made in upholding the negative side of a debate with Edward Adams Cantrell, Socialist, upon the subject: "Resolved, That the ballot will contribute to the emancipation of woman."

"We are to have an argument between two radicals tonight," said one of the men in charge of the meeting. "We ought to have a warm time." They did.—Los Angeles Herald.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity.
 Wednesday, fair.
 Tonight—Fair and warmer.
 Wednesday—Fair.

Did you observe that the big railroads, which have 95 per cent of the mileage and do 99 per cent of the business, and which would not be affected by the proposed amendment to Article IX, worried along with the two-cent fare and did not bring suit until the petition to amend the constitution was filed? Isn't there some reason for this? Are the big roads striving to keep new roads out of Oklahoma?—McAlester News-Capital.

It looks very much that way to an outsider. If the big systems of railroads running through Oklahoma could have prevented the building of the Wichita Falls & Northwestern from this city to Elk City, those in a position to know, say they would have done so. But the Northwestern was built in the face of that sort of opposition and wants to continue to extend its line, but are awaiting the result of the election on the constitutional amendment to be held in Oklahoma soon.

The Daily Oklahoman of Sunday gives publicity to the charge that the influence of the big railroads in Oklahoma is being secretly but none the less forcibly directed against the adoption of the railroad amendment to the Constitution next month. It is said that the clandestine fight being made on the amendments by the roads may encompass its defeat, and the outlook for it is not considered particularly optimistic.

Politically, it is none of Wichita Falls' business whether the amendment carries or not. We have no "say" in the matter and it ought not to concern us. But in a broader sense, Wichita Falls is very vitally interested and the rejection of this amendment would have its effect here. Several weeks ago J. A. Kemp of this city made practically the same charge as that published by the Oklahoman. The big roads, he said, have a monopoly on Oklahoma business and they not only have no desire to extend their lines in that state, but do not want to see the smaller roads, the Northwestern, for example—make any extension either. It is this condition that confronts Oklahoma and out of which it is up to her to pull at the June election. The adoption of this amendment is very essential if the Northwestern is to be built to Lawton and this is but one small feature of the advantage that the adoption will bring.

It may be out of place for a paper from a state with as many imbecile laws as Texas to put in its finger. But the Times sincerely hopes that the people of Oklahoma will see the light clearly on June 11 and put themselves on record for sane railroad legislation.

Texas will raise this year 12,000,000 bushels of wheat, 13,000,000 bushels of oats, 125,000,000 bushels of corn and probably not less than 4,000,000 bales of cotton. Also several million bushels of apples, peaches, tomatoes and potatoes and other fruits and vegetables. In the meantime Texas has already marketed several thousand car loads of onions and cabbages and has just begun shipping watermelons by car load. Texas is a great state with something doing in agricultural products all the year.—San Antonio Express.

The State Press Association meets at Stamford next month, and it might be a very good idea for the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce to extend an invitation to the press boys to come to Wichita Falls and be our guests for one day. This might cost four or five hundred dollars, in case the invitation should be accepted, but in the opinion of the Times, it would be money well spent.

Excellent Recital Planned.
 The recital to be given at the Wichita Theatre tomorrow night by Miss Della Bacon Wadlington for the benefit of the Methodist Church will far surpass anything in this line that has ever been seen in this city. In addition to readings by Miss Wadlington the Wichita Theatre Orchestra under the direction of Prof. Ernest Kix will render the musical travellers.

Among the readings of Miss Wadlington will be the wooing, betrothal and taming scenes from Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew," and "Rinzi," a dramatic cutting from the novel of that title, which will no doubt be of special interest.

The following clipping from the Bowling Green, Ky., Record will be of interest.

"A large and enthusiastic audience was in attendance at the opera house last night to witness the production of 'The Taming of the Shrew,' given by the young ladies of the class of 1909, of the Potter Bible College under the direction of Miss Della Bacon Wadlington. Miss Wadlington's clever work last evening was of the highest order; the wooing and taming scenes being worthy of special mention. At the close of the play Miss Wadlington read by special request a short sketch of the real old southern darkey, 'The Wonderful Experience Meeting.' In this selection she displayed unusual insight into the character, speech and mannerisms of the darkeys. Her dialect could not be excelled, she having made somewhat a specialty of this line.

"WAY DOWN SOUTH IN THE LAND OF COTTON."

The South may well lay claim to the title "Land of Cotton." In the southern part of the United States nearly fourteen million bales of Cotton are produced each year, out of a total world crop of twenty million bales. The production of Cotton Seed Oil shows even a larger percentage in favor of the South, as methods of extracting and crushing the seed, and refining the oil, have been brought to a perfection not attained in other lands. Considerable Cotton Seed Oil goes into the manufacture of Cottoleum, a vegetable oil cooking fat which is winning favor not only on its merits as a frying and shortening medium but because of its purity and wholesomeness. Lard is in origin, unpleasant; in method of manufacture uncertain and often uncleanly. Cottoleum is as clean and wholesome and genuine as the far famed hospitality of the "Sunny South."

FIVE-TON BROADSIDE NOW.

Launching of Florida Marks Epoch in Naval Armament.

In the five turrets of the Florida, the battleship just launched, will be ten 12-inch guns, which can be trained upon a single point and hurl 10,000 pounds of metal at one discharge. All the battleships with which Dewey fought the battle of Manila Bay had a combined broadside only half as powerful, and the effective range was less by several miles. Though our battleships of twelve years ago destroyed the Spanish fleet at Santiago almost without receiving a scratch they are antiquated now and completely outclassed by the leviathans lately added to the navy. The Florida would be equivalent to a fortress for defense, and a speed of twenty-one knots is an indication of what she would be expected to do offensively. With the Panama Canal open she could steam from New York to San Francisco or Honolulu inside of two weeks, an illustration of the extent to which the waterway across the isthmus will add to the available strength of the navy. Our battleships will count for more than twice as much when the canal is completed.

Forty-eight years ago an improvised armored vessel, covered with railroad iron, steamed down the James, took any position it preferred, and sank some of the best wooden ships of the United States, whose shots in reply were harmless. Another armored vessel, the Monitor, happened to be there in the nick of time, and finally drove off the iron-plated assailant. That was the starting point of modern navies, in which the Florida is now believed to be the most massive and heavily armed afloat. She may never fire a hostile shot. Probably she may best be considered a preventive of war, and in that way easily be worth the $10,000,000 she has cost. Four other battleships of this class, all greater than the original Dreadnought, are an addition to the United States Navy, assuring that its preparedness has been carefully provided for by recent administrations.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Rescues Baby from Cistern.
 The following from the Archer City News tells of the thrilling rescue of a baby from drowning by its father, J. T. Claggett, a school teacher:

"I have just read your account of my baby's accident. The papers got it mixed. The baby did fall into the cistern which was ten feet deep and contained four feet of water. But he did not even cry even before or after the accident. The only warning we had was a slight noise made by the cistern cover as the child fell in. The lid was misplaced and one corner left unsupported. The child stepped on this corner and fell through; we heard the lid fall back to its place. When I reached the cistern he was entirely beneath water and could not be seen at all. I was afraid to jump in for fear I would jump on him, so I hesitated till I saw him rise to the top. Then I jumped in and got him before he went down the second time. The little fellow was strangled only a very little. I gave him a little shake and handed him up to his mother, my wife then tied a rope to the porch nearby, letting the end hang over in the cistern, and I came out on this rope. In about one hour afterward we were all three on our road to Sunday School.

If the kitchen door had been closed we never would have known anything about it till after child drowned, so you can see for yourself that although he was not hurt it was a very narrow escape."

The New Idea*PRESERVES HAVE MADE A BIG HIT

You remember we told you a few weeks ago about the new way of making preserves by using fresh apple pulp as filler.

A number of women have tried it since our first announcement and already they are sending repeat orders. Just pure fruit—apples and sugar—that's all there is to it, but it's great. And so very inexpensive, too—only 40c per quart jar.

Your choice of—
Red Raspberry,
Strawberry,
Plum,
Peach,
Blackberry
—and—Currant.

The apple not only adds a very pleasing flavor, but reduces the cost, too.

TABASCO BRAND Preserved Figs, put up in 1-lb. tins, at 15c, is another big bargain in preserves.

A dozen cans only.....$1.65

Preserved figs are better than medicine for oiling the digestive organs.

HEAVIEST HAIL IN 20 YEARS

Hot Springs, Ark., Experiences Storm Lasting 25 Minutes

Hot Springs, Ark., May 24.—The heaviest hailstorm that has fallen here in twenty years swept down over the city at 6 o'clock last night in a driving rain, which blew from the north. The hail lasted about twenty-five minutes, coming up suddenly, and beating down on unhitched and unprotected horses on the streets, causing several run-aways. It is believed that the hail has beaten the young fruit from the trees and the gardens and small crops of the section are almost left a waste.

Stop eating the things that make you sick and eat more of the things that make you well—or, better still—the things that keep you well. The plain, simple foods are the best; they are natural foods, because they supply the elements necessary to build up and sustain a strong body.

We call special attention to our pork and beans in tomato sauce. These are "just beans"—prepared in such an appetizing form that they taste really uncommon. They are especially palatable in warm weather.

We handle three kinds of pork and beans:—

A QUAIN OLD TAVERN
The Old Cheshire Cheese, in the Heart of London.
SERVES A FAMOUS PUDDING.
A Noble Pastry It Is, and It Was Sampled by Such Men as Gladstone, Disraeli, Thackeray, Tennyson, Trollope and Whistler.
Nearly all Americans when they go to London make it a point to visit that quaint old tavern in the heart of the newspaper and printing business, the Old Cheshire Cheese, to partake of its famous pudding.
It is the Londoner's delight when he gets back to Fleet street to make a rush for the pudding, and it is almost the last thing he eats before leaving it. Travelers in the Sahara have seen mirages of that pudding, and during the Boer war the men shut up in Ladysmith and Mafeking dreamed of it at regular intervals.
Precisely at 1 o'clock p. m. Tom conveys the pudding from the first to the main floor. It is a big pudding, and the price of it is just 2 shillings—that is to say, a feast of it is 2 shillings, as much as you please, as many shares as you ask for, cut and come again, all for 48 cents of American coin. Cheap, ay, and, oh, how good it is! It is worth crossing the Atlantic to get a sniff of it, and the aroma lingers in the memory for many a day.
Big? The dimensions are Falstaffian. It is a round earthen vessel something more than two dozen inches deep, with a diameter of about eighteen inches. A noble pastry, my masters!
When it is placed upon the service table an elliptical white crust meets the hungry gaze. Tom and his myrmidons take their places in front facing the host, who, knife and spoon in hand, poses with gentle dignity and benignant mien. It is a moment of solemn thought when every man hopes that his portion will be larger than his friend's and that he will be blessed with an abundance of gravy. But they ought from years of acquaintance with the host to understand that his hand is as steady as his judgment is impartial.
No more and nothing better for one than for another. He waves his weapons, and the first onslaught is made. The room is full of a delicious steam bearing with it the concentrated essences of ambrosial substances. The guests sniff it up and murmur choice blessings on the cook, the original inventor, the house and the host. It is a time when men feel good, one toward the other.
One smell of that pudding makes the whole world kin. This famous pudding, which has tickled the palates of thousands, is thus compounded:
A crust of flour, water and suet.
Beefsteak.
Sheep's kidneys.
Larks.
Mushrooms (freshly gathered).
Oysters.
Stock.
Pepper and salt.
But it is the boiling that does it. For at least twelve hours this heaven sent pudding is kept slowly simmering in an immense copper specially constructed for the purpose. It must not boil quickly, but the same temperature be kept up the whole period. The steak assumes a juicy tenderness; the larks—not sparrows, as some malignant spirit has suggested, although sparrow pudding is not to be despised—are seethed to the bone, and you can chew up each little songster without an effort; the kidneys are soft and mushy and offer no resistance to the digestive organs, and the oysters, despite their lengthened cooking, are not leathery. The amalgamation and assimilation of the variety of constituents are perfect; the result is bliss.
There is a story told of one eminent litterateur who had seven helpings of the pudding and still yearned for more, and there is another remarkable narrative of four men who ordered a pudding of the regulation size and finished it among them.
J. Pierpont Morgan praised the pudding, and Theodore Roosevelt was delighted with it. Lord Beaconsfield bestowed his approbation thereon, and Gladstone thought it far superior to his famous "three courses." Dickens, Thackeray, Meredith, Swinburne, Tennyson, Trollope, Whistler, Leighton, Sala, Phil May—all sorts of the best of men of their day have fed upon the pudding, and it no doubt helped to inspire their work.
Apparently any cook can fashion it, mix it, fix it, boil it. Let any cook try it. Lots of cooks have tried it, but the results have not been satisfactory. There was a man who once ran the Old Cheshire Cheese, and in his day the pudding first achieved its great fame. When he sold the old hostelry and took a house in the financial district he announced that the same pudding—the same in every respect—would be served every Saturday.
Many of the Cheese's old patrons came around to celebrate. There was the scribe, but the aroma was wanting; there were the identical materials, but the flavor was not in them. It was not the same, not a bit of it. There was something missing. It may have been the shades of the departed great ones of a bygone time. And so it is that today the famous dish of the Old Cheshire Cheese tastes as of old, and its devotees cannot be seduced by any designing invitation based upon "just as good" simply because there is nothing just as good.—Philadelphia Ledger.
Thoughts are mightier than the strength of hand.—Sophocles.

PERSIAN WEAVERS.
The Way the Carpets Are Made by the Hand Workers.
In describing Persian industries Mrs. Hume Griffith, in "Behind the Veil in Persia and Turkish Arabia," tells how the beautiful carpets of that country are made, of course without machinery of any kind. The warp is stretched on a loom, which is merely a frame. The wool consists of short threads woven and knotted by hand without the aid of a shuttle. When a row is finished it is pressed tightly to the rest of the web by means of a comb inserted into the warp.
"The weaver does not see the pattern as he works, for he sits with the reverse side of the web toward him. The looms are generally kept in an underground vaulted room, often with water running through the center. At each loom three or four workers sit, according to the size of the carpet. Sometimes the workers consist of one man and two children, and occasionally the owner uses boys and girls only for the weaving.
"I sat on the high stool by the side of a tiny girl, whose fingers were working away so fast I could hardly follow her movements. The overseer was walking up and down the room calling out instructions to the workers. To me it sounded a horrible, incoherent jumble, but the children seemed to understand it perfectly.
"The overseer held in his hand a paper, from which he was apparently reading out instructions. It was something like this:
"To No. 1, three blue threads, one white, two green; No. 2, four yellow, one white, and so on, each child repeating after the 'master' the instructions given. As it was all said in a high pitched monotone the result was confusing and deafening. But there the little weavers sit, day in, day out, week after week, in this dark, gloomy cellar, kept hard at it by the overseer."

WONDERS OF A WATCH.
Its Marvelous Mechanism and the Power That Moves It.
We hear much from time to time of the wonders of this or that complicated and intricate machine, but there are few pieces of machinery more marvelous than that of the common watch.
A watch, it may be stated as a general proposition, is the smallest, most delicate instrument of the same number of parts that has ever been devised. About 175 different pieces of material enter into its construction, and upward of 2,400 separate operations are comprised in its manufacture.
Certain of the facts connected with its performance are well nigh incredible when considered as a whole. A blacksmith strikes several hundred blows on his anvil in a day and, as a matter of course, is glad when Sunday comes, but the roller jewel of a watch makes every day—and day after day—432,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,680,000 blows during the course of a year, without stop or rest—some 3,153,600,000 blows during the space of twenty years, the period for which a watch is usually guaranteed to keep good time.
But the wonder of it does not cease here. It has been calculated that the power that moves the watch is equivalent to only four times the force used in a flea's jump. The watch power is therefore what might be termed the equivalent of a four flea-power. One horsepower would suffice to operate 270,000,000 watches.
Furthermore, the balance wheel of a watch is moved by this four flea-power 143,100 inches with each vibration, or 3,558 1/2 miles continuously in one year.
Not much oil is required to lubricate the little machine on its 3,500 mile run. It takes only one-tenth of a drop to oil the entire machinery for a year's service.—Harper's Weekly.

Duck by Duck.
An old farmer had brought twenty ducks to the market to sell and, after the usual amount of haggling inseparable from a bargain of that description, managed to dispose of the lot to a dealer.
"That's 30 shillings I have to give you," said the dealer as he proceeded to count it out.
But the old chap's strong point was not arithmetic, and he was not satisfied with this mode of payment.
"No, no!" he exclaimed. "Ye bought them at wan an' six apiece, an' ye'll jist pay for them duck by duck."
And "duck by duck" it had to be.—London Scrap.

How It Is Done.
Returning from school the other afternoon, a little girl proudly informed her mother that she had learned to "punchate."
"Well, dear," said her mother, "and how is it done?"
"You see, mother," explained the child, "when you write 'Bark!' you put a hatpin after it, and when you ask a question you put a buttonhook!"

In Doubt.
Visitor—So your boy is in college, is he, Mr. Cornstomle? Farmer—I can't say exactly. He's in the ball nine, an' in the rowin' crew, an' in the jimnazyum, an' in the dormitory, but whether he's ever in the college is more'n I kin find out by his letters.—Harper's Bazar.

Time's Changes.
Father (meditating on time's changes)—Ah, yes, the fashion of this world passeth away! Daughter—Indeed it does, papa. I shall want a new hat next week.
Employment and hardships prevent melancholy.—Johnson.

Turn on the Searchlight.

The man who hasn't run up against the sharp trader and the trickster in business—the chap whose only object seemed to be to squeeze the last red cent out of every transaction, and give as little in return as possible—must be a brother of Mr. E. Z. Mark.

We allude to nobody. We merely remind you of the possibility of getting a raw sentiment deal at some places. We desire to inject no "I-am-holler-than-thou" into our advertising. #### POWER AND AUTHORITY.

Said to Have Replaced Old Forms of Liberty and Justice.

The ordinary right to search in the bosom of the earth for its uncounted wealth, to gather in the fruits which genius has discovered and labor has produced is gradually abrogated; and the Government, acting for the whole people, is claiming for itself the inert and undeveloped riches of the mineral mountains as a sort of storehouse of unused wealth. The waterways, furnishing the potential energy with which commerce has been enabled, through the foresight and thrift of man, to raise a fabric which threatens the commerce of the world, are now being appropriated by the Government upon the pretext that individual ownership will enrich those who exploit them, and that Government ownership, while it will not make the poor richer, will at least make the rich poorer.

The great volume of modern business having developed in a corporate form, whose charter came from the sovereign State, is to be supplanted by the requirement that at least a certain class of corporations shall get the right coming from the Government of the Nation the initial privilege to transact business, and the corresponding obligation to make that business public.

Every year we see the field of opportunities for individual enterprises contracting under the absorption or control by Government authority. The thrift of man, which has been said to be the dynamo of life, the engine of ambition, is free to serve him until that thrift shall bring him gain beyond his need, and then it is proposed to turn it to the service of the State. The ancient thought that Government holds the scales of justice, wields the sword for peace, and gathers revenue to pay its way, is perished in the mind, and now it is the burning conviction that it must tip the scales when the mob shall cry, brandish the sword under an impulse of conquest, and gather revenue in order that the rich may not grow too rich nor the poor too poor. The archaic standard of liberty and justice no longer hinders the progress of the race, for we have put in their places power and authority.—Martin W. Littleton, in Leslie's.

CHEAP LIVING IN OLD MEXICO.

An American Resident Pays $1.25 a Day for Family of Nine.

New Yorkers never heard of the "low cost of living," but George B. Sherman of Guadalajara, Mexico, has just arrived with tales to make the New York housewives wild with envy.

"I live pretty well myself," said Mr. Sherman. "I have a wife and four children and we keep three servants. My house is not needlessly large, but is comfortable and the grounds are beautiful. Including everything—rent, servants' wages, and all—it costs me about $2.50 a day, Mexican money, to live. That would be about $1.25 in United States money. I could rent a palace for $25 Mexican money, or $12.50 in gold.

"The better class of Mexicans are all friendly to Americans, though there is some jealousy toward foreigners among the more ignorant because all the trade is in the hands of French, Germans and Americans."—New York Evening Mail.

FOLLOWING ROOSEVELT.

London Times Correspondent Likes It to Freeman's Unsettled Life.

One amazing result of Mr. Roosevelt's tour is that one week of the whirl has made the London Times' correspondent light-hearted. He has sent his paper this grimly humorous dispatch:

"It is one week since I joined Mr. Roosevelt's expedition—it seems many a year. For the correspondents who have followed him from Gondokoro time has long since ceased to have any meaning. Since February 28 they have toiled after the colonel in heat and dust; have risen at 5 after working till 2. They can only trust the telegraph office to know the name of the place, the month and the date, for they are no longer certain of any of these things. They wander in a kind of dream. Personally, after one week I have begun to doubt the glamor of a fireman's life. Waiting to jump for a motor car when the alarm may be given—in two minutes, in half an hour, or not at all—is more wearying even than waiting for a flying man to fly.

"This is indeed a singular adventure upon which we are engaged. It is useless to pretend that it is not a royal progress, for what further marks of distinction could any sovereign receive than to travel in royal trains, to dwell in kings' houses, to be welcomed by kings, queens and princes, to drive in state carriages amid flags and cheering crowds, and to have the yards of warships manned for him?

"And it is not the only ex-president who is honored as if he were a reigning monarch. Mrs. Roosevelt, with her charm of quiet dignity, is honored equally. Her bright, unspoiled, attractive son and daughter are honored, too.

"The whole affair is quite unique. One is constantly wondering what it all means."—Cable to the New York World.

WALL STREET'S CHURCH.

It is Richest Religious Institution in America.

At the head of the Wall Street, surrounded by a century-old cemetery, where, sleeping peacefully in the very heart of the country's financial center, lie some of New York's most illustrious dead, stands Trinity Church, a monument to the memory of the days when the metropolis of America was a colonial village and a reminder, amid the fever of trade, that "man cannot live by bread alone." Overtopped by mammoth structures housing great banking firms, Trinity's spire still points to serene heights, as it has pointed since before the United States had an existence, its walls barriers against the complete triumph of commerce. The most valuable real estate between the two oceans remains the possession of the dead founders of the city and of their living successors who worship their fathers' God. A few blocks farther up Broadway, within sight of Trinity, stands another ancient church, like Trinity surrounded by graves in soil worth its weight in gold. This is St. Paul's Chapel, where George Washington made his devotions, one of the ten churches of Trinity parish, the most richly endowed religious corporation in America, for in addition to the golden sites on which its churches stand it possesses productive property of a taxable value of over $12,000,000, the whole income of which is devoted to religious, charitable and educational purposes. Trinity Corporation is in fact, one of the largest landowners in the country's commercial and financial capital.—A. W. Ferris in Moody's Magazine.

VASSAR PORTIA AIDS WORKMEN.

New York Assembly Passed Bill Championed by Girl.

Overcoming a host of almost insurmountable difficulties, after nearly a year of persistent effort, another legal victory has just been won by one of New York City's fairest Portias, Miss Crystal Eastman, appointed by Governor Hughes as the one woman member of the employers' liability commission, on which there are thirteen men. Despite the hoodoo supposed to be attached to the number of masculine members on the board, Miss Eastman, who is secretary of the body, has succeeded in triumphing over that handicap.

Due in large measure to the knowledge gained by the feminine secretary's labors while investigating industrial conditions during the last three years, the employers' liability bill passed the assembly in Albany by a vote of 117 to 5. This measure fixes the rate of compensation which employers shall pay their workers in case of accident.

Miss Eastman, who has displayed remarkable keenness in probing the conditions surrounding the workers in factories, began her novel vocation when she was graduated from the New York University Law School in 1907. Previous to that she had taken an A. B. at Vassar and an M. A. at Columbia.

As a sort of side issue, perhaps, during Miss Eastman's membership on the commission, which succeeded in getting this labor bill passed, she has written a book, "Work, Accidents and the Law" based on her experiences with the workmen in the great steel mills about Pittsburgh.—New York Evening Telegram.

GOV. HASKELL WILL FACE FEDERAL JURY

Governor Haskell of Oklahoma will be vigorously prosecuted under a criminal indictment in connection with the Oklahoma town lot Indian cases. The department of justice will seek to have a petit jury of Oklahomans pass upon the guilt or innocence of the governor at the June term of the federal court. This decision was made by Attorney General Wickersham after a conference with the president and following a request of Oklahoma Democratic senators and congressmen that some man of special election by the president look into the prosecutions and report whether the government is justified in continuing the cases. The prosecution of these town lot cases and of the governor has been in charge of S. R. Rush, a special assistant to the attorney general. The prosecution will continue under the charge of Mr. Rush, who is said at the department of justice to have done clean work throughout his connection with the case.

AROUND THE TICKER.

Where a Medley of Strange Characters Foregather.
"Half a dozen years of financial writing have brought me into contact with many of the strange and interesting characters who may be found around the ticker," says a contributor to Moody's Magazine.

"Men who have been failures elsewhere trying for a stroke of good luck, graduate physicians, lawyers, former clergymen, and ex-motorman turning the wheel of fortune; several who have done time; race track followers, former chef who buys stocks with his left hands and small restaurants with his right, hotel waiters by the score sorrowfully watching the tips garnered in the dining room vanishing in the bucket shops; card gamblers, club men, society lights, athletes fascinated by the game of chance have hubbed elbows some time or other in the different brokerage offices.

"Two of the most picturesque characters of Wall Street hung on the outskirts of the curb market a few years ago. One was formerly an expert tele-grapher who had lost his mind after an illness. He was a thoroughly harmless fellow given to cracking two stones alongside his head, saying that he wanted to drown out the shouts of the noisy brokers. He seemed to have an idea what the brokers were doing, and occasionally they would good naturedly go through the form of trading with him.

"The other character was a tramp.
The only thing missing in his equipment was the proverbial tin can. But notwithstanding his lowly station in life he was a sport. Nickels and dimes were bestowed upon him by the brokers at various times, and then this hobo would circle the crowd to find someone to match coins with him.

"See that man there? The head of a large brokerage firm said to me the other day. The man was leaning against the ticker. The click, click of the wheel appeared to be music in his ears. Through his fingers the thin, white strip of printed quotations was sliding in the manner natural to all tape readers.

"Well, he's a paradox in Wall Street," said the broker. "He doesn't speculate. He is a strict and sincere church member, strongly opposed to anything that smacks of gambling, yet there is something in his blood that has made him come to our office almost daily for ten years, rain or shine, and never has he used the "buy" or "sell" pad. He turned up one day with a friend well known to us and hardly before the introductions were over he had made himself at home. The first day he annexed the stool beside the ticker, read the prices to our board boy and seemed in every way familiar with the market.

"A week passed and, to our surprise
we had received no orders from him. We had an active market for several months and the omission of orders was overlooked. In the meantime he really made himself valuable by giving unusually accurate market opinions, keeping a record of prices and statistics so we felt that he was evening up matters. To this day he has never told us to buy or sell anything for him, but were he to go away he would be sadly missed for his friendship, his peculiarities and his singular ability to live in the atmosphere of a broker's office and never speculate."

BAD DREAMS.

nightmare, Restlessness and Night
sweat all Caused by Indigestion.

Half of the nervousness of the world,
of the disturbing dreams and nightmares can be ended in a few weeks by simple, inexpensive treatment.

Upset stomach is the cause of nervousness, and bad dreams. Your food is not on your stomach undigested and fermenting; it is forming poisonous gases which irritates the pneumogas-tric nerve and leads direct from the brain, and ends in a network of tiny nerves running through the stomach.
It is also the irritation of this great
gastro-intestinal nerve that causes headaches. Many times people have severe daches and know they are caused by the stomach, but do not know in
what manner.

You are nervous, have dreams or nightmares, and do not sleep sound at night, get a 50 cent box of Mito-na-ma stomach tablets and take one or two or with meals. They relieve diseased stomach in 5 minutes. Sold by Lowe Drug Co., who guarantee them
cure indigestion, or money back.

Free service at Lake Wichita is un-

SHE IS LAW-MAKER.

It is Somewhat New Venture for Woman Worker.

"In Indiana lives a woman who does
not write plays, or poetry, or novels,
but who as an author is fast becoming abreast on fame's path with that state's best literary pioneers," says a writer in Hampton's Magazine for June. "She has written only one work
but that has placed her in the front rank. She is the author of a housing
bill that is revolutionizing tenement
conditions in Indiana."

"Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon is a little slip of a woman, the mother of four children—with one daughter inches
taller than herself—who lives quietly at Evansville. Some years ago she came to the conclusion that in many cities the tenement conditions were just as impossible as in New York. This and that four walls never make
a home, she discovered by friendly visits in her native town. The slum conditions of the smaller cities were,
she found, deplorable. And then, being a woman of sincerity and energy,
she set about building up."

"With her, charity began at home.
Evansville, was a fertile field. She interested her townspeople by personal appeal, and with the Monday Night Club at her elbow, engineered a city

ordinance to do away with slum conditions in Evansville. With alacrity the city council pigeonholed it. Mrs. Bacon rescued it, and finally it was made part of the city building law. Then she began to look around; she began to write letters to everybody who could help, from the 150 secretaries
of Associated State Charities to Jacob
A. Riis. All this in her own home, and with a family to care for. At last
her labor flowered; in January, 1909,
her bill to alleviate tenement conditions was presented in the Indiana Legislature. It attracted little attention and was about to be shelved quietly when Mrs. Bacon appeared in person before the legislature, and made such an eloquent plea for it that the bill was passed. One of her sentences
became a battle cry: "We protect men
in mines and in railroads, and in factories, but we do not protect them in the homes."

A CHINESE WEDDING.

As Solemn as a Funeral, With the Women All Weeping.

A Chinese marriage is all ceremony
—no talk, no levity and much crying.
The solemnity of a funeral prevails.
After the exchange of presents the bride is dressed with much care in a red gown, brocade or silk if she can get it; her eyelashes are painted a deep
black, and she wears a heavy red veil
attached to a scarlet headress, from which imitation pearls are pendent
over the forehead.

A feast is spread upon a table, to which the blushing bride is led by five of her best female friends. They are seated at the table, but no one eats.
The utmost silence prevails, when finally the mother leads off in a cry, the maids follow, and the bride echoes in the chorus. Then all the bridesmaids
leave the table; and the disconsolate
mother takes a seat beside the chair
of state where the bride sits.

The bridegroom now enters, with four of his best men. The men pick up the throne on which the bride sits
and, preceded by the bridegroom, form
in procession and walk around the room or into an adjoining parlor, signifying that he is carrying her away to his own home. The guests then throw rice at the happy couple, a custom we have borrowed from the heathen.—St. James' Gazette.

CHEST NOTES.

Varying Sounds That May Be Heard
Through the Stethoscope.

The doctor hears some curious noises
when he places the stethoscope against your chest. When the lungs are in a healthy condition the medical gentleman hears a pleasant, breezy sound,
soft in tone, as you draw in the breath
and expel it. Should the instrument convey to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound he makes a mental note of the fact that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint
the sound is a whistling, wheezy one.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound
that can be heard when your finger
and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping
sound, and that indicates that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right to be.
Blow across a bottle, and you will produce a sound which is actually to be heard in your chest. It is caused in the same way—that is, by air passing
over a cavity.

Filipino Buglers.

"Speaking of buglers," says Boatswain Jurnaschka in his article, "Captured by Filipinos," in Wide World Magazine, "it astonished me to find that the insurgents had so many buglers and that many of them were of the best. They knew all our army calls, although they did not know their significance. I was often asked the meaning of various calls and was careful to give them any but the proper
one. One insurgent colonel asked me what call was sounded as the retreat
from the charge. I told him that we had no such call, but that, the charge
once sounded, American soldiers and sailors went through or never came back. He was very much interested and with good reason, as he had just escaped from the attack of our men at Iloilo and could well believe it. He said that charging was unfair—that both sides should simply snipe at each other."

So He Would.

A little country girl visited city relatives who dwelt in a flat. Her visit lasted two weeks, and all of the time
they were warning her not to make so much noise, not to run across the street and not to waken the people in the adjoining flats. In fact, they were constantly curtailing her freedom.
When she got home she told her papa
she never wanted to go to the city
again, and he said:

"You must have had a hard time of
it. You do look hollow eyed."
"Well, papa," she said, "if you had folks hollerin' at you all the time you'd look hollow eyed too."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Not Ambiguous at All.

In one of England's elections a candidate for parliament, the late Lord Bath, called attention to himself by means of a donkey, over whose back
two panniers were slung bearing a ribbon band on which was printed
"Vote For Papa." It must be added,
however, that in each pannier stood
one of Lord Bath's daughters.

Sightseeing.

On a visit to his grandmother Harry examined her handsome furniture with interest and then asked, "Grandma,
where is the miserable table that papa
says you always keep?"—Success Magazine.

An Extremist.

A London bookseller recently received this order from a customer:
"Please forward me a copy of Tennyson's poems. Do not send one bound in calf, however, because I am a vegetarian."

Good Reason.

"Here's the doctor again, miss. Don't you think he comes more often than
he needs to?"
"It all depends. He may be very poor, Maria."—Frou-Frou.

W. W. Duren, for years county and district clerk of Archer county, and for the past two years engaged in business at Archer City, was brought to this city Sunday by friends and conveyed to Miller's Sanitarium, where he is being treated for an ailment which was the result of injuries sustained by him a few months ago by his team running away. Mr. Duren is one of the few of the old ex-Confederate soldiers, and a Mason of high standing, and doubtless would be glad for his friends in this city to call on him at the Sanitarium and make his stay at that institution as cheerful for him as possible.

George Grey Barnard.
George Grey Barnard, the noted sculptor, was born in Bellefonte, Pa., May 24, 1863. He received his first training at the Art Institute in Chicago. From 1884 to 1888 he studied at the Ecole Nationale des Beaux Arts in Paris and has since lived chiefly in that city. Among his noted works of sculpture are "Brotherly Love," "Two Natures," which is in the Metropolitan Museum, New York, and "The God Pan," in Central Park.
