NUMBER 16

KAY'S GOOD THINGS VERY SUBSTANTIAL

EVIDENCES OF PROGRESS DURING PAST MONTH WERE VERY MATERIAL.

INCLUDES PACKING HOUSE

In Addition Several Other New Industries Were Secured During May.

The good things that come Wichita Falls way are apparently without limit in quality and quantity. The list for May is not as long as those for some of the preceding months, but it contains some things that make it very much worth while. If Wichita Falls had secured nothing during May except the packing house she would have done a good month's work, but as the list will show, there were plenty of other things marking her advancement during the past thirty-one days. The list follows:

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—Johnson, in a statement, says with regard to Corbett's assertion that he has a "yellow streak," that the former champion may be right, but no one has yet been able, up to the present time, to produce it. Johnson tries to indicate that Corbett showed cowardice in his meeting a decade ago with Sharkey and wants to know if Corbett's behavior in those set-to's come under the heading of "yellow streak."

By Associated Press. Benning, Cal., June 1.—Jeffries did not exercise yesterday, spending his time in the shade of his porch. He is urging Corbett in the latter's condition work, as he is anxious to begin sparring with the clever and shifty former champion.

A NEWSPAPERMAN'S VIEWS ON WICHITA

THERE ARE WORSE TOWNS IN AS GOOD COUNTRIES," IS HIS COMMENT.

HARMONY GREATEST ASSET

F. A. Briggs of Dallas News, Writes Interestingly Regarding This City.

The following regarding Wichita Falls, taken from today's Dallas News, will prove of local interest. It was written by F. A. Briggs, who was in this city last week: "The other day I was in Wichita Falls. It was soon noised about that a News man was in the city, and if there is anything in Wichita Falls and the surrounding country that he did not see it was unworthy of mention. After talking with bankers, merchants, and farmers; after riding over the country, walking through fields; after being told of natural gas which costs but 3c per thousand and of the plan to get 3c gas; of the present industries and of those on the way, I turned to one of the leading citizens and asked: "What is your greatest asset?" Like a flash came the reply: "Harmony." There are worse towns in as good countries as Wichita Falls; there are few communities that contain so many men who are working together for building a city.

"The rich man spends hundreds of thousands on enterprises which he knows will help his city, and which he fondly hopes will pay expenses if not dividends. He spends his money on one proposition with a view of getting it out of another. He may not see his operating expenses at first, but he abiding is his faith in his city that he cheerfully takes the risk. There are men in Wichita Falls who boldly proclaim their belief in a city of 60,000 people in 1920, and if a citizen does not look forward to 25,000 population in five or six years his enthusiasm has not been worked up to the right pitch. This spirit has trebled the population of this city in four years. It has made it a railroad center, a jobbing center, and an industrial center. It will soon become a packing center, for an institution to employ 200 men at the start is assured. A union station costing $100,000 is to be erected, the second $100,000 brick company has been organized and new wholesale houses and other institutions are provided for. To top this off, the city will spend $100,000 on new paving. New school houses, five-story business blocks and parks are already in existence, and more building. Pulling together by all citizens and faith in the future is bringing results which justify the predictions of a city of the first class."

Prince Henry Trophy Tour. Berlin, June 1.—The automobiles which are to contest for the Prince Henry Trophy assembled in Berlin today in readiness to begin the tour tomorrow. On Monday the contestants will proceed from Rothenburg to Strassburg, on Tuesday from Strassburg to Coblenz, and on Wednesday they will finish at Homburg, when the second speed contest will be held between Limburg and Weilburg, on the Taunus circuit.

It is reported at Rama that General Chavarrias' attack on General Mens' army was a total failure and that now he is attempting to join Lara. IRISH LADS LEAD THE LEAGUE RACE

LOCALS ARE AT TOP OF COLUMN WITH QUANAH TIED FOR FIRST PLACE.

ARE AT HENRIETTA TODAY

Will Play Series of Six Games With That Team—Quanah Has Won Three.

Team. Pld. Won L't. Pct. Irish Lads 2 2 0 1.000 Quanah 3 3 0 1.000 Altus 2 0 2 .000 Henrietta 3 0 3 .000 Above is the standing to date of the four clubs in the Northwest Texas League, the Irish Lads being tied with Quanah for the lead, neither having lost a game as yet. Quanah and Henrietta completed a series of three games at Quanah yesterday, the home team winning all three of the exhibitions.

The Irish Lads play at Henrietta this afternoon, beginning a series of six games, three of which will be played at Henrietta and three on the local lot at the lake. In the meantime, Altus and Quanah will be trying conclusions with each other and the standing of these two teams will probably be materially changed before the series ends. The series with Altus, while it resulted favorably to the Irish Lads, showed that the Oklahoma team is apt to be a contender in the contest and Quanah will likely be able to interest both Altus and the Lads. Henrietta, so far, has not made much of a showing, but is expected to make some changes in her lineup for the better. The Irish Lads left for Henrietta this afternoon for a three-game series, which will be followed by another here. Henrietta will play here next Sunday.

The Irish Lads are now installed in their house at Lake Wichita, occupying what is known as the "bug house." This is a large roomy cottage near the Lakeside Hotel and was erected for the exclusive use of the team.

The Cleveland club has signed Pitcher Ed DeMott of the LaFayette College team.

President Ban Johnson of the American League is taking his first trip of the season around the eastern circuit.

Cy Young has recovered from an attack of tonsillitis and is ready to take his turn on the mound for Cleveland.

The Chicago Cubs are beginning to show their teeth and the Pirates, Giants and Red Legs will do well to keep out of the way.

Manager Griffith of Cincinnati would like to make a trade for Pitcher Curtis of Boston. Nothing stirring on this lay for "Griff."

During the illness of Connie Mack, Captain Harry Davis acted as manager for the Athletics and looked as fine as a silk shirt on the job.

The New York Highlanders are playing the kind of ball that gets the money. The "hill-toppers" are never beaten until the last man is out.

Manager Patay Donovan of the Boston Americans has managed the Pittsburg, Brooklyn and St. Louis National League teams and captained the Washington team.

If "Nap" Lajoie keeps up his present stick work Honus Wagner and Ty Cobb will never know the color of the auto which is to be presented to the champion hitter of 1910.

Springfield copped the first ten games of the season and was running away from the Three-I League teams until they met the Waterloo team, and then they met their Waterloo Silence!

St. Paul must be the right place for Charley Chech. Charlie couldn't pitch pennies in Boston last season and was sent back to St. Paul, where he is now standing the American Association batters on their heads.

Canadian Medical Association. Toronto, June 1.—With many physicians and surgeons in attendance from all over the Dominion, the forty-third annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association opened in Convocation Hall today, to continue through the remainder of the week. For extensiveness of preparation and elaborateness of detail no such assemblage has been held in Toronto in many years. The program provides for general sessions and departmental meetings each day at which will be presented numerous papers and addresses on subjects of medical and surgical interest. Outside of the discussions on professional topics the chief question to come before the convention is that of Dominion medical registration. It is desired that the present regulations be changed so that a physician registered in one province may be permitted to practice his profession in another province without taking a second examination.

MOORE & RICHOLT, Lumber and Building Material

Folk to Announce His Choice.
St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—The political situation in Missouri is already very interesting, but it promises to be much more so after the banquet here tomorrow night at which former Governor Joseph W. Folk is expected to announce definitely whether he will be a candidate for the United States senate, or whether he will reserve his strength for the race for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1912. The banquet will be held under the auspices of the Missouri Democratic League, the Folk organization formed at the harmony meeting at Kansas City last January, and will be attended by many Democratic leaders from various parts of the state.

The close political associates of Mr. Folk are of the opinion that he will make the race for the senatorship. This opinion is based largely on the belief that should Governor Harmon of Ohio be re-elected this year he is bound to take precedence over all other possibilities now mentioned for the head of the Democratic national ticket two years hence.

On the other hand, the chances of electing a Democratic senator to succeed Senator Warner, Republican, are regarded as very bright by the Democratic leaders in Missouri. Should former Governor Folk enter the race the contest for the senatorship will probably develop into one of the liveliest political fights Missouri has seen in many years. Ex-Governor David R. Francis has already announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senator Warner, as have also James A. Reed, former mayor of Kansas City, and Sterling P. Bond of St. Louis. On the Republican side Senator Warner will be opposed for re-election by Governor Hadley and possibly one or two others. The contest will be decided by the State primaries next November.

Gold Brick Game Still Profitable.
Philadelphia, June 1.—George W. Post and E. A. Starkloff, said to be two of the most notorious confidence men in the country, were given a preliminary hearing today before United States Commissioner Craig on charges of using the mails to defraud. From the mass of evidence which the post-office inspectors are said to have gathered against the pair the "green-goods" game and the gold-brick swindle have not by any means out-lived their usefulness as a get-rich-quick medium.

According to the Government officers who testified at the hearing, Post and Starkloff reaped a harvest of over $100,000 in less than a year by selling mythical gold mines to their victims after showing them bricks of the "precious metal, which later turned out to be worthless junk. The pair are alleged to have been associated with "Red" Adams, the notorious "green-goods" swindler who was recently sent to Sing Sing prison from Brooklyn, where he had resided with his family for several years and had been known among his neighbors as a respectable and prosperous business man.

Semi-Centennial of Homeopathy.
New York, June 1.—Hundreds of alumni of the New York Homeopathic Medical College returned to their Alma Mater today to take part in the celebration of the semi-centennial of its foundation. The fiftieth commencement exercises of the college were held last night and this morning special clinics were held at the Flower Hospital, which adjoins the college and is under its control. At noon luncheon was served for the alumni, who were greeted by the dean, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, formerly of the University of Michigan. In the afternoon the alumni held their annual business meeting, which was followed by class reunions. In the evening all of the alumni will meet at a smoker.

Pope Seventy-Five Years Old.
Rome, June 1.—The Pope will be seventy-five years old tomorrow, having been born at Bene on June 2nd, 1835. In accordance with the traditions of the church, there will be no public celebration of the day, and the Pope will spend the day quietly, receiving only the congratulations of the members of his household and the members of his family.

It's better to lift up than to be dragged down.

OPPORTUNITY

Opportunity is knocking at your door. You probably do not fully realize what this means—how much it means to you. What preparation have you made for the reception of your opportunity, when it comes? Are you prepared? Are you ready? Or, must you say to Opportunity—your opportunity, that you are unprepared, not ready, and that it must pass on to some one else who has made the needed preparation? It will not take you long to make the preparation if you adopt the following motto of three little words: "Dig," "Determine," "Deliver." To dig means to strive earnestly, conscientiously, diligently, day after day, securing practical training for which the business world pays cash, and then, when you have secured this training, keep on digging—Dig, determine—without determination you cannot make a success of your future. It takes determination to do anything, and with it you can revolutionize the world; you can accomplish everything. Deliver—that is the natural result after putting into operation the other two mottoes—Dig and Determine.

Begin today to dig, by entering the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas, and taking a course of book-keeping and shorthand or telegraphy. What hinders you from beginning at once? Write us. We have your interest at heart, and will do everything in our power to help you over any obstacles that beset your way. We have helped thousands. —16-11

NAZIMOVA ANNOYED BY MAN.

New York Physician Arrested for Writing Letter to the Actress.
Dr. Frederick Griffith was sent to the psychopathic ward in Beekman Hospital by Magistrate Barlow. Griffith was arraigned in the Tombs Court and charged by Mme. Alla Nazimova, the Russian actress, with having written her annoying letters.

The prisoner acknowledged writing the letters which covered a period of three years, and in a listless manner answered questions regarding himself. He said he was a graduate of the medical school of Pennsylvania University; that he had studied abroad, came to New York eleven years ago and made a specialty of surgery.

He expressed surprise at his arrest, declaring that he had received letters from Mme. Nazimova and had been under the impression that his regard for her was reciprocated. Mme. Nazimova indignantly stated that she had written Griffith only to request him to cease his annoyance.

He asserted that he had written a book entitled "Gabrielle Marat," in which Mme. Nazimova was the heroine, but which was not published because, he explained, she quarreled with him last May.—New York Tribune.

Nodin's Early Life.

Bellman.
Few men have had a more romantic career than Auguste Rodin. As a boy he ran about the streets of Paris, unkempt and uncared for, depending for a livelihood on the charity of passers by, or performing errands for artists in the Latin Quarter. At the age of 19 he submitted a model of one of his street companions to the Academy of Fine Arts in the section for "all comers," and the work was promptly rejected. Nothing daunted, however, M. Rodin persevered, living in the poorest quarters in Paris, working incessantly, and exhibiting, though without success, on every possible opportunity. Finally some of his work came under the notice of Barge, the most distinguished sculptor of his day, who gave some encouragement to the young artist, and soon afterward all Paris was ringing with the name of the young sculptor whose "Man With the Broken Nose" was being exhibited.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity,
Tonight and Thursday, cloudy.

When Bob Taylor was governor of Tennessee and was making the race for re-election, his political opponent dubbed him "the pardoning governor" and tried to beat him on that issue. It appears that Gov. Taylor had recommended to the legislature a law establishing reform schools, or prisons, for youthful offenders, and the legislature refused to follow his recommendations. Gov. Taylor then told the legislature that he would make it his business to issue pardons to such offenders as fast as they were convicted and sent to the penitentiary, to be trained up with hardened criminals who were serving sentences for murder and such high crimes, and he made his word good. It is needless to say that the people approved his course and he was triumphantly re-elected. Now Tennessee has another pardoning governor, but of an entirely different type of man. During the past three years he has issued 956 pardons, more than doubling the record made by Gov. Taylor. These pardons were issued indiscriminately, 153 of them being for murder, 103 for illicit sale of liquor, 175 for carrying concealed weapons, 124 for larceny and 104 for miscellaneous crimes. He is a candidate for re-election and the people of that state are not likely to act in his case as they did in that of Governor Taylor.

Johnson and Poindexter, who are presumed to love the cause they advocate more than self-advancement are slow about showing their love. As a consequence, the prohibitionists are beginning to see defeat for both of these worthies. There is sorrow in the camp, and it is daily growing more poignant.—Austin Statesman.

With two candidates in the field for governor, the pros cannot hope to win in this contest. The sooner they realize this the better it will be, both for themselves and the cause.

By pulling together harmoniously for at least four years, the citizens of Wichita Falls have accomplished much. The population and the wealth of the city have been more than doubled, and it is not unreasonable to predict that the same thing can be accomplished within the next four years. Doubtless some mistakes have been made, but they cannot be mended, and the only thing to be done is to see that as few as possible are made in the future. Let everyone share equally his share of the blame, and when we do this there will be no one left to find fault except the fellow who, as usual, knows it all, and who in nine cases out of ten, has not been a citizen of Wichita Falls a sufficient length of time to pay a month's dues to our Chamber of Commerce or take a poll tax receipt.

HOW NEW YORK VOTES.

Witnesses at Trial Tell How to Ballot "Cannons."

A good deal of evidence against Roswell P. Williams, Tammany leader of the Seventeenth Assembly District, who, the state claims, stole the primary election of last fall, was given yesterday before Justice Wheeler. Several of the witnesses were watchers for Daniel A. Golden, who contested the leadership with Williams. They told of the "rushing" of the polling places by Williams and his henchmen, of ballot box stuffing, and of the disappearance of Golden ballots when the Williams supporters left the polling places.

One of the interesting developments of the day was the testimony of Patrick H. Conners, a Golden watcher, who described the voting of "cannons." One of the jurors was plainly nonplussed at the meaning of the expression, and said so.

"A 'cannon' is several ballots folded and placed on top of one another and the whole mass ironed down to the thickness of one ballot," explained the witness. "The 'cannon' is placed in the ballot box and the box shaken, whereupon the several component parts of the 'cannon' are separated, and the ballots lie in the box as if placed there at different times."

Conners told of much of this stuffing of the boxes with "cannons," which came under his notice, on the part of Williams' adherents.

Another interesting witness was John B. Wolff, also a Golden watcher. At the polling place at No. 70 West Ninety-ninth street, he testified, Williams and his men "rushed" the place, and when they left the Golden ballots had also departed.

"Who was the last man to leave the place?" asked Clark L. Jordan, attorney for Williams.

"Ross Williams," answered Wolff, "and he can tell you that himself. Ain't I right?" he demanded, pointing a finger at Williams.

"How long did you stay in the polling place?" was another question Wolff was asked on cross-examination.

"From 3 o'clock until a quarter to 4,"

"Oh, then, at your place they got away with the Golden ballots pretty early?" said Lawyer Jordan, ironically.

"You bet they did; pretty blamed quick," retorted the witness.

Policemen, chauffeurs and other watchmen also gave testimony all aiding more or less in proving the people's case. Six hundred witnesses are to be called. It is understood, in the trials of Williams and the six other men indicted with him.

William Matthews, colored, who was the first of the forty men under indictment for election frauds to be tried and was found guilty of bribing voters at the last election, was sentenced yesterday by Justice Wheeler to six months in the penitentiary.—New York World.

BETTER SHOWS WILL COME.

Organization of National Theatre Owners Association Means Freedom.

To the recently organized National Theatre Owners' Association playgoers are indebted for a much-needed progressive policy in things theatrical.

The "open-door" policy means that in the years to come this life will be richer in amusement, and that all prominent cities throughout this continent will take the place to which each is entitled. Such cities have passed far beyond the time of being satisfied with the offerings of a single booking or producing company, especially when that company stands for an intolerant exclusion against all others.

For a long time the people of the United States and Canada have felt the injustice of the situation that existed. Necessarily, however, theatre owners were compelled to go slowly and prudently in asserting their rights and the rights of their patrons. Now that they have done so, they are abundantly prepared. Independence in the country's theatrical affairs has come to stay, and hereby the public, the theatre owners and the stage itself will be immeasurably benefited.

The organization of the National Theatre Owners' Association and its pronouncement of an "open-door" policy marks the beginning of a new era for the American stage, an era of independence in which the art of the drama will flourish as never before, and in which the public will at last come into its rights.

For many years a majority of the play-houses of the country have been subject to the dictates of Klaw & Erlanger, heads of the theatrical trust. The men whose enterprise and capital had built the theatres had little or nothing to say as to the attractions that were sent them from season to season. They were flatly forbidden to open their theatre doors to any productions except those controlled by the trust. The owners and the general public, too, were natural sufferers. The former in a business way and the latter as seekers of high-class amusement.

That regime is now at an end. Men who own and control 1600 theatres have organized and have declared that they will give the public of their communities all the best attractions to be secured, regardless of who produces them. They are making no war on Klaw & Erlanger; they are simply protecting themselves and their patrons against tyranny of exclusiveness that was threatening to kill the theatrical interests throughout the country. The owners will open their doors to the Shuberts, to Liebler & Co., to William A. Brady and to Klaw & Erlanger; indeed to all producers who have anything worth while to offer.

Fought Catarrh for 20 Years.

Here is a letter that we sincerely ask every reader of the Times to read. If you suffer from catarrh of any nose, throat or lung ailment, read it over twice, and then consider if you can afford to ignore a prescription with the healing virtue of Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-mei):

Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen—"I suffered terribly with catarrh in the head for twenty years, and I tried many prescriptions, but never found relief. I have used Hyomei for two weeks and find it the best preparation I have ever used for catarrh. Every cold I would catch seemed to go to my throat, and I had to use gargles for days at a time. Now when I catch a cold in the throat I use Hyomei inhaler and this soreness disappears over night. Hyomei has put me on the good road to getting rid of my catarrh, and if you want to use this letter publish in your advertising, do so. Perhaps it will help some other sufferer.—W. K. Engle, 703 Walnut St., Reading, Pa., Oct. 5, 1909.

Re-Hearing of Flour Rate Case.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today reopened the hearing of the case of the Northwestern millers against the Great Northern Railway and other interstate railroads carrying flour from Northwestern points to the Atlantic seaboard, which involves the question of freight rates on flour between Minneapolis, Duluth and other northwest points and New York. At the first hearing the commission decided in favor of the complainants and ordered a cut in the flour rates from 25 cents to 21 1/2 cents per one hundred pounds, beginning May 10. Upon the petition of the railroads the order was suspended and a re-hearing ordered. Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis and other milling points in the West are represented at the hearing.

District Convention of L. O. T. M.—The district convention of the Ladies of the Maccabees will convene in this city at 9:30 a. m., Thursday, the 2nd. Seven different cities and towns will be represented at this meeting, and the local order has made arrangements for their entertainment.

Mrs. Laura B. Hart of San Antonio, state commander, will be present on the occasion and will deliver an address and hold a school of instruction. Mrs. Hart is also past grand worthy matron of the Eastern Star, the highest office that can be conferred on a woman in the fraternal world.

Franklin Tent Theatre.

The Hollingsworth Twins and players played to another crowded house at the Franklin Tent Theatre last night, and the play, "At Piney Ridge," pleased immensely.

This popular company has "caught on" in Wichita Falls and they are attracting large crowds nightly, as the bills are well worth the admission price.

The play tonight is "Woman Against Woman," one of the strongest in this company's repertoire.

The tent theatre is located at the corner of 10th and Ohio.

Modern Sorcerers.
Christian Herald.
Simon "the sorcerer" was the idol of the Samaritan people. His magical art seemed to fascinate them and they were ready to believe anything of such a wonder worker. Too clever to permit them to penetrate his tricks, he led them to believe they were wrought by supernatural power. This talented impostor was almost worshiped by the Samaritans when the apostles visited that country. Then, as the record in Acts tells us, when the sorcerer saw the apostles imparting spiritual power and healing, jealous of these new rivals, he instantly offered to pay them to teach him what he conceived to be the secret formula by which they touched the souls and hearts of men. Peter's reply must have astounded him.

Today the sorcerer has his antitypes in many American communities. We are living in a time that surpasses all others in the number and boldness of its spiritual impostors. On every side we see or hear vulgar offers to impart "the gift of God" for money. Moreover, these "spiritual" traders have a tariff of their own, by means of which they undertake to sell salvation at fixed rates. There is sharp competition among them and they do not scruple to cry down each other's wares, after the manner of peddling tradesmen. Those who conduct these businesses, in advertisements that bear all the earmarks of the auctioneer, describe their power in the cure of blindness, deafness, deformities, etc., "just as the Master did." This reference to the world's Redeemer in a catchpenny advertisement is the last limit of impious mendacity. It is difficult to understand how any sane and well balanced person could be deceived by such transparent quackery; yet the business is apparently profitable. Like Simon of Samaria, they prey upon the ignorant and the superstitious, but they fairly outclass "the sorcerer" at his own game in their wildly extravagant claims and spiritual pretensions. They are probably within the law, for ours is a land where such outrageous absurdities may flourish.

Pen Prevents Forgery.
St. Louis Times.
The electrical perforating pen is known also as the anti-forgery pen, and it secures an indelible system of writing, proof against both forgery and fraud.

The Parsee inventor, Dr. Dshah P. Ghadiali, has evolved it in a simple manner, the writing being made up of a series of perforations burned in the paper. The apparatus comprises a small box with a sloping lid, measuring about twenty inches long by some sixteen inches wide. The whole electrical equipment is carried within the box or desk, the lid of which is glazed and carries at its upper end a sheet of aluminum. The pen itself is of the ordinary stylographic type. The pen is about the same length as the ordinary fountain pen, and its barrel contains a mercury break. The connection with the coil is effected by a short length of flexible wire carried on a spring barrel.

By means of the mercury break the primary circuit is never closed until the pen is held in the normal writing position. Even then the current can not flow to the point of the pen, because the cone-shaped extremity carrying the metallic writing point is separated from the barrel connection by means of a spring piston. It is only when the pen point is pressed upon the paper, wherein the metallic extremity is pushed inward against the mercury that the current can flow to the pen point.

The sheet of paper is laid upon the aluminum pad, which on its under side is connected with the induction coil by a flat spring. When the point is pressed hard against the paper and the electrical spark is completed the resultant arc burns its way directly through the paper, leaving behind a distinct perforation. The size of the hole thus produced can be varied as desired, from a large, coarse perforation to an almost invisible pin prick. The current, in its path through the paper, takes the line of least resistance, even the best paper having obstructions the pen avoids. The result is that no two signatures can be alike, even when made by the same person.

The Court of Commerce.
Columbia Magazine.
The true interests of the people and of the railroads are identical. Legislation bad for one can not be good for the other. The best interests of both are served by laws that are fair to both. With this object in view, the majority of the committee on interstate commerce reported the measure which has been before the senate since March 7, 1910.
Delay in doing justice is a wrong, often practically amounting to a denial of justice. This is one reason for establishing a court of commerce to administer justice in cases arising under the interstate commerce law. A frequent and vexatious cause of delay is the conflict of decisions on the part of different tribunals. This also is avoided by the establishment of a court to deal exclusively with interstate commerce cases and act conscientiously thereon. As stated by Senator Ellkins it was never intended by the majority of the committee that the reference to the department of justice of appeals from the interstate commerce commission could prevent parties claiming to be interested in the result from being properly represented. It was to be presumed that the attorney general, acting in behalf of the public, would call to his knowledge of and connection with a pending cause to give effective assistance in presenting it to the court. It is also to be taken into consideration that complainants without the means to pursue their quest for redress of alleged grievances through personal counsel would be greatly benefited by having their causes prosecuted in behalf of the United States by the great legal talent at the command of the attorney general—talent which in private practice, merited fees amounting to what the average citizen would regard as a fortune.

A DECREASE IN SAVINGS.

Modern High Cost of Living Cuts Down the Bank Deposits. Deposits in savings banks are falling off as a consequence of the high cost of living. What the figures are will not be known until July 1, when the State Department of Banking receives its reports for the half year. Individual banks are reticent about their business, but there are signs that indicate an unfavorable showing, chief of these being that savings banks have not been buying bonds when bonds have been low. In three of four weeks the banks will separately call their directors together to settle upon the rate of interest to be paid for the ensuing six months. The likelihood is that, on account of competition and regardless of decreased deposits, the rate will be kept on the 1910 basis. "In the spring there are always withdrawals," said the treasurer of the Greenwich Savings Bank, "because of the movement to the suburbs, new lands bought, mortgages to be paid, etc. Andrew Mills, president of the Dry Dock Bank, with $36,000,000 of deposits, said: "We reduced our interest last January to 3 1/2 per cent. I would not want to predict what will be generally done next month. My observation is that persons who have the habit of saving will save no matter what the 'cost of living.' " As the State Banking Department it was said that the deposits should be compared with the population, period for period, and by July 1 that would be possible, as the news census and the new bank reports would be then simultaneously accessible. —New York American.

One More Chance for Poe.
 Those Americans who believe that the author of "The Raven" and "The Bells" is among the most famous natives of the new world will be gratified, no doubt, that there is a chance for Edgar A. Poe to get a tablet in the hall of fame. The third election is on the 40 out of 206 candidates for bronze immortality to be selected by the 96 electors who are supposed to express the verdict of the ages per United States mail. Chancellor MacCracken of New York University has sent all the names submitted to the 96 electors. Poe's name is in the long list, and so are Cornelius Vanderbilt, Daniel Boone, John Brown, George Rogers Clarke, Davd Crockett and De Witt Clinton. Twenty-eight famous men of foreign birth are also nominated, from whom four may be selected. This list includes the first John Jacob Astor; John Ericson, inventor of the Monitor; Henry Hudson; John A. Roebling, builder of the Brooklyn bridge; Miles Standish and Captain John Smith.
 The list of famous women contains thirty-five names, from which the electors may choose ten. Near the top of the column is the name of Eleanor Dare, mother of Virginia Dare, the first white child born, so far as is known, in the present limits of the United States; also Princess Pocahontas Rolfe, who saved the lives of Captain Smith and the colonists at Jamestown Island; Barbara Heck, pioneer in Methodism; Dolly Madison, who is said to have invented ice cream while mistress of the White House, and Mary and Martha Washington, respectively mother and wife of George Washington.
 It really looks as if the post more widely known as representative of American letters than any other ought to get in this time. But with past experience in mind we may be prepared for surprises. It will not be unprecedented if the verdict of the civilized world up to this time is set aside in favor of some aspirant for the laurel to whom Fame would need an introduction if she met him in the street.—Buffalo News.

TABLE MANNERS OF CHILDREN.

When Neglected They Soon Revert to Prehistoric Methods.
 "After a long illness in the hospital, I returned home to find that my children's table manners had suffered a complete demoralization," says Woman's Home Companion for June. "They 'gobbled,' used knife and fork indiscriminately and always awkwardly, regarded their spoons as shovels and, in short, were perfect little savages."
 "In order to remedy this quickly I started a series of 'company luncheons,' at which I was the hostess and the children the guests. I set the table as prettily as possible and made funny little place cards. The children played up delightedly, took grown-up names and even washed their hands without a murmur. We made a set of sample rules: The guests who behaved perfectly received three pieces of candy, the guests who made only one mistake received one piece of candy, while any unfortunate guest who committed three breaches of table etiquette received no candy at all.
 "Questions on table manners were in order at any time, to be answered by the hostess."
 "I chose dishes for these luncheons which are not always easy to eat elegantly, and I was very happy to see how quickly the children improved in table manners and other manners as well, for our 'company luncheons' seemed to help general courtesies quite wonderfully. The best of it was that there was no nagging nor cross words. It was all good fun, and my four youngsters can now go anywhere and eat anything, and mother has the proud consciousness that they will always appear to good advantage.

ALMSHOUSE IS TRAVESTY.

Magazine Writer Tells of Their Condition in New York.
 James Oppenheimer, writing in the June American Magazine about the terrible condition of the almshouses in the state of New York says:
 "What is an almshouse? One would naturally suppose it to be the last refuge of the old—men and women too weak to work, alone in the world, homeless, penniless, friendless. One would expect to find the almshouse full of gentle old people, near death. Such people are in the almshouse. They have crept there to die. There they wind up their obscure lives, their humble destinies. These are the lonely and lowly tragedies of our packed world. But they are not alone with one another. I jotted down the following list from the Onondaga County Almshouse register:
 "Old, blind, feeble-minded, intemperate, sick, cripple, epileptic, vagrant, lame, pregnant."
 "They are mixed in with one another. The decent old, whose only crime is old age and misfortune, are herded in with unspeakable creatures. Imagine sleeping in a dormitory with babbling idiots, vicious jerky epileptics, with hardened criminals and with consumptives. Imagine spending the day and eating one's meals with this kind of company. Such conditions, to an outsider, are inhuman, indecent and intolerable.

It is here that many times the matter of life or death is decided.
