Plans for the entertainment of the visitors from Oklahoma on June 28 were formulated at this morning's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors. The special train with the visitors will arrive at noon and will be met at the depot by a committee of citizens with a band, who will take the crowd out to the lake for dinner and for the amusements to be provided there. The trip to the lake will be made on the cars. A committee consisting of Messrs. Kell, Taylor, Marlow, Blair and Tandy was appointed to complete the arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors.

The directors appropriated one hundred dollars to be used with a like amount from the Retail Merchants' Association in securing the 1911 meeting of the State Merchants' Association for this city.

T. B. Noble was appointed a member of the special insurance committee, replacing C. W. Bean who is unable to serve.

Myles O'Reilly was authorized to purchase suitable uniforms for the band to be paid for by the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. O'Reilly promised that the members of that organization would be fittingly supplied with uniforms.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Tandy Noble and Marlow was appointed to confer with the ladies of the Civic League in the employment of a city forester and to devise some means of raising the funds needed.

The directors authorized the secretary to reserve space at the Dallas Fair for the exhibit from Wichita County.

CUPID'S BRANCH AGENCY IS ESTABLISHED AT THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Dan Cupid, who from time immemorial has been considered the leading matrimonial agent seems to have established a branch office at the First National Bank in this city. Three employees of that institution leave the state of single cussedness during this month, which is quite a showing for one bank. Fred Barron, bookkeeper left Sunday for Waco, where he is to be married tomorrow to Miss Maude Walker, a talented and charming young lady of that city. They will make their home in this city. Miss Susie Leach, who has been connected with the First National for some time, is also to be married tomorrow, the groom being Murray Merton Hotchkiss of Denison. The ceremony will take place at the home.

These two weddings, with that of Mark Walker to Miss Mary Anderson on June 1, make three for this bank during this month. Mr. Walker is paying teller, Mr. Barron the bookkeeper and Miss Leach the stenographer. All except Miss Leach retain their positions, and the vacancy caused by her resignation has already been filled, but the president of the bank is authorized by the statement that applications from marriageable young men and young ladies continue to come thick and fast. In this connection, the Times is authorized to state that while Messrs. Roach, Avis and Bill Huff are still among the single, they have not given up hope.

N. Henderson, state democratic committeeman for this senatorial district, attended the meeting of the committee at Dallas yesterday. Mr. Henderson voted in the affirmative on the submission motion.

STEEL IS HERE FOR CITY NATIONAL BANK BUILDING; OTHER BUILDING NOTES

The steel for the City National Bank building arrived today and as soon as it can be unloaded the work on this structure will be resumed. The failure of the shipment to arrive this time has caused about a week's delay on the building, but no further experiences of this kind are anticipated.

It is understood that Messrs. Hines and Jackson are planning to change the plans for their building now under construction on 8th street between Indiana and Michigan avenues from a two-story to a three-story structure. The foundations have been put in with sufficient strength to accommodate a three-story building and it is not unlikely that the larger structure will be decided upon.

Work is progressing steadily on the other business buildings under construction, including the Times building, the Joline building, the Friberg building, the Carroll-Brough-Gates building and the numerous other local structures.

Notice. For hairdressing, manicuring and massage, done at your homes, call at 1005 Travis street, or write Box 923, 27-5tp.

THE WICHITA FALLS WAY AS VIEWED BY AN ENTHUSIASTIC KENTUCKIAN

The following letter has been received by Secretary Barrickman from a friend of his in Kentucky and speaks for itself:

Richmond, Ky., June 11, 1910.
Dear Barrickman—
Thanks for circulars about your great and growing city of Wichita Falls, Texas, which literature provokes me to say that Texas is as far ahead of Kentucky in 1910 as Kentucky was ahead of Texas in 1870. In nearly all these things that go to make up a great state, I am a Kentuckian of Kentuckians, but I have traveled around enough to learn what too few of our native Kentuckians know who do not travel and that is that we are fooling ourselves and our children by everlasting harping on the motto "Kentucky is the Best State in the Non." That was once true, but we have become chloroformed by the belief until other states are running ahead of us while we sit down and thank God for Daniel Boone, Henry Clay and other ancients, forgetting that NOW is the time to excel and not only in the past! God has blessed us with a fertile soil but we spend too much energy bragging about it and our Blue Grass and rot-gut whiskey, while Texas discards her bowie knife and puts on her seven-league boots of progress and leaves us far in the rear in so many particulars that it makes me tired to hear our orators bellow about Kentucky history, without discussing her present relative rank among the states which she once justly led in peace or war. A little more Texas spirit is what we need such as dominates Wichita Falls, for instance.
Your friend,
C. E. WOODS.

Wichita Falls.—Cotton acreage increased 15 per cent; stand excellent; crop about fifteen days late. Corn acreage about same as last year; excellent stand and condition. Wheat acreage slightly less; condition poor, but yield about same as 1909. Both wheat and oats made poor showing in this county last year and this and the yields in both for both years were below the average for this section.

Burk Burnett.—The cotton area is about one-third larger, with good condition and favorable outlook. The acreage of corn is unchanged, the same as last season and is about three feet high and growing fine. Wheat is being threshed and is of excellent quality, while the acreage and yield is about the same as last year.

Iowa Park.—Cotton acreage 15 per cent larger; good stand; late young cotton injured by hot wind. Corn acreage 50 per cent larger; good stand; early corn injured by hot winds. The wheat is about the same acreage; poor; last year 10,000 bushels; estimate 20,000 this year. Oats almost a failure. Potatoes hurt by frost; garden hurt by hot winds. The acreage in wheat and oats is about the same as last year, but the crop is 75 to 100 per cent better. With present conditions of all crops and with the fine season in the ground, prospects are considered exceptionally good in this section.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

The official call has been issued for the democratic state convention of Iowa to meet at Ottumwa, July 27.

The republican party of Maryland has put itself on record as favoring the direct vote of the people in primary elections.

The republican congressional campaign committee plans to open the campaign for the control of the house of representatives August 15.

The socialists of Milwaukee and its vicinity expect to elect two out and out socialists to congress from the two Wisconsin districts in which Milwaukee is included.

Senator Scott of West Virginia is reported to have enough prospective republican members of the next legislature pledged to him to insure his re-nomination by a good margin.

Congressman Ralph D. Cole of the Eighth Ohio district, who went down to defeat in the recent primaries, is being urged for the office of first assistant postmaster general.

Ex-Representative Jesse Overstreet, who died recently at Indianapolis, will be best remembered for the important part he played as the author of the gold standard law of 1900.

Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, minority leader of the house, will make the principal speech at the Tammany Hall Fourth of July celebration in New York City.

Robert Hunter, the well known author, socialist writer and settlement worker of New York City, has been nominated for governor of Connecticut on the socialist ticket.

More than seventy-five cities have adopted the commission form of government. The legislatures of Kansas, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois have passed bills allowing the cities to adopt the plan.

Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, once a democratic member of congress and twice nominated by the populist party for president of the United States, has made formal announcement of his return to the democratic party.

On his recent return from Europe, former Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, made announcement of his intention to run for mayor of Cleveland for the sixth time a year from next fall. In the meantime he is working hard for the re-election of Governor Harmon.

Recent political developments in New Jersey have brought both factions of the republican party into the open. The progressives have endorsed William P. Martin for governor, while the regulars are inclined to favor Vivian M. Lewis, the present state commissioner of banking and insurance, to lead them.

The democrats of North Dakota expect to elect Governor John Burke for a third term. There are usually twice as many republicans as there are democrats in North Dakota, and for a democrat to be elected governor twice, and perhaps three times, has stirred the republican politicians of the state to great activity.

The labor party of San Francisco which is in complete control of this city and county governments, will nominate Judge James G. Maguire for congress against Representative Julius Kahn, republican. Judge Maguire has already served several terms in congress. He was an ardent supporter of the late Henry George and is known as an eloquent and forceful stump speaker.

In Memory of Dr. Harper. Chicago, Ill., June 14.—The Convocation Day exercises at the University of Chicago today were the most notable in the history of the institution. Apart from the conferring of the degrees, the event of the day was the laying of the corner stone of the great library building which is being erected as a memorial to the university's first president, William Rainey Harper. The principal address was delivered by Clement Andrews, librarian of the Great Library of this city.

The Harper Memorial Library Building will be one of the largest and most costly college structures in the world. It will cost $600,000, and $100,000 will be spent for furniture and fixtures. The sum of $200,000 has been set aside as a maintaining fund. Of the $900,000 in hand for the library, John D. Rockefeller contributed more than $600,000, the remainder being gifts by students, faculty members and friends of the university.

The building will be of six stories, although, approximately, the height of an eight-story structure, and the towers will be divided into eight stories. The main reading room, which will be the center of student study, will have room for 400,000 volumes, and this capacity will later be increased to 800,000 volumes. In the towers at either end will be special libraries and a large number of offices for professors and instructors, besides rooms which can be used for special literary work.

CONCRETE REPLACING WOOD.

Its Use Rapidly Becoming General for Building Purposes.

Washington.—The use of concrete in the construction of homes, business houses, bridges and even fence posts is discussed in a statement just issued by the Department of Agriculture. This statement indicates that concrete is becoming a substitute for wood in all house construction, except for ornamentation.

The department says: "Concrete—cement, sand, gravel and water combined in proper proportions—has become one of the leading building materials of the day; it has shown its worth as a substitute for wood; houses are built entirely of cement the trimming and supports of wood being merely for decorative effect; it is used by the Government, by railroads, by farmers in hundreds of ways.

"Either alone or reinforced, concrete has been found to produce even good fence posts," continues the department's statement. "Its moderate cost, its durability, the ease with which it is handled, the wide distribution of sand, gravel and stone of which it is composed, commend it to the consideration of all builders.

"As a material for fence posts, concrete has been found to possess but few of the disadvantages of wood, to have practically all of its advantages and to be superior in some respects to timber."

Empire State's Birthplace Marked.

White Plains, N. Y., June 14.—In the presence of thousands of visitors, including state officials and distinguished men from all parts of the state the monument marking the site of the old county courthouse at White Plains, where the Provincial Congress, on July 10, 1776, proclaimed "the Passing of the Dependent Colony and the Birth of the Independent State of New York," was unveiled today under the auspices of White Plains chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. It is due to the efforts of the chapter that the monument was erected. The handsome shaft, which occupies a place in front of the state armory, is built of stone taken from the old court house which was torn down last year.

Rail Fight at Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., June 14.—Intense interest is manifested throughout the city in the outcome of today's special election, which was ordered to decide whether the city council shall grant to the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound and the North Coast Railway companies free entrance to the town or insist upon the terminal rate and common-user clauses in the franchise. The campaign preceding today's election was extremely lively with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations favoring the granting of free entry the trades unions and other opposing bodies of the proposition.

Sloat Monument Unveiled.

Monterey, Calif., June 14.—The monument erected in honor of Rear Admiral John Drake Sloat who, on July 7, 1846 took possession of California in the name of the United States and raised the American flag at Monterey, was unveiled and dedicated today under the auspices of the California Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at the Presidio of Monterey. Visitors from all parts of the State attended the impressive ceremonies.

BUTTER IS VACCINATED.

Microbes Are Introduced Into Cream and Kill Germs.

London—Inoculated butter—guaranteed to keep fresh for months—into which millions of beneficial bacteria have been introduced for the purpose of preserving it, will be in common use in the near future, and the part hitherto played by boric acid in butter will henceforth be played by the active microbe.

The production of these preservative micro-organisms is the object of a new company, which has recently opened its offices at Cricklewood, and here large laboratories are being installed for the purpose of raising millions of billions of bacteria for use in the dairies of the world.

The manager of the new company said that the discovery of the preservative microbe was the result of years of scientific research.

"Its object," he said, "is to fight other microbes that are found in butter which have a harmful effect upon it—that of turning it rancid. The only way of combating these germs has hitherto been by the use of preservative chemicals, which are harmful adulterants."

"But now my firm has succeeded in finding an antidote germ to the harmful one, and by introducing it into the milk before churning butter is made which will keep fresh and pure for a long time."

"The inoculation of the milk has the effect, broadly speaking, of setting up a fight between the opposing armies of germs and the bad ones, that would destroy the freshness of the butter, are destroyed by the harmless ones which are introduced."

The microbes are sold in the form of a clear liquid, in small bottles, which is added to buttermilk and prepared in a certain way before use. When the preservation is ready one gallon of it is added to every twenty gallons of cream in the butter churn, the rest of the butter making process proceeding in the usual way.

The prices of the cultures used in these processes vary from 75 cents to $2.50 a bottle, and full instructions to dairymen are issued with each consignment. The cultures are equally effective in margarine.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Birthday of Old Glory.

Washington, June 14.—The 133d birthday of "Old Glory" the national emblem of the United States, was celebrated today throughout the country in the usual manner. It is safe to say that there was not a public building or school house throughout the land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the line to the Gulf, which did not proudly display the Stars and Stripes today, in patriotic recognition of the day. In many states the governors had issued proclamations for the appropriate observance of "Flag Day" and in thousands of schools special exercises were held to teach the children the story of the flag and what it represents.

The observance of the day in Washington was of a general character. Flags were displayed not only from all public buildings and nearly all business houses throughout the city, but also from private residences and thousands of people wore small flags in their buttonholes. In all public and private schools exercises in keeping with the occasion were held and the various patriotic societies also held celebrations. Thousands of persons visited the National Museum to see the interesting collection of American flags preserved there.

The original flag, showing thirteen stripes and thirteen stars was adopted by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, with the provision that one stripe and one star should be added for each new state. This was changed however, by the action of Congress in 1818, whereby it was ordered that the flag should show but thirteen stripes for the original colonies and one star for each one of the states composing the United States.

BAD DREAMS.

Nightmare, Restlessness and Night-sweats all Caused by Indigestion.

Half of the nervousness in the world, all of the disturbing dreams and nightmares can be ended in a few weeks by a simple, inexpensive treatment.

Upset stomach is the cause of nervousness and bad dreams. Your food is lying in your stomach undigested and fermenting; it is forming poisonous gases which irritates the pneumogastric nerve that leads direct from the brain, and ends in a network of tiny branches running through the stomach.

It is also the irritation of this great pneumogastric nerve that causes headaches. Many times people have severe headaches and know they are caused by the stomach but do not know in what manner.

If you are nervous, have dreams or nightmare, and do not sleep sound at night, get a 50 cent box of Miona stomach tablets and take one or two after or with meals. They relieve distressed stomach in 5 minutes. Sold by O. F. Marchman Drug Co. who guarantees them to cure indigestion or money back.

Stacking time will soon be upon you, so we thought we'd just call your attention to the question of racks. The result is no end of time and trouble wasted tinkering to keep them together. Better look up the rack question and get into shape before you actually need them. RAISING FROGS FOR PROFIT.

Marine Hospital Offers Market for Any Number of Live Croakers.
Lansdowne, Pa.—Frog farming has been carried on to some extent on many Pennsylvania estates in a small way for several years past. In some instances the presence of an inherited frog pond of goodly dimensions, where the croakers have heralded each spring for numberless years (and increased in numbers in the congenial quarters in marshy or swampy farm ponds) it has been difficult to establish a profitable industry by simply catching quantities of the old frogs each year and allowing the others to increase.
In other instances the industry is followed as a fashionable fad, and the owners of country seats have historic ponds and streams devoted to frog raising under the care of an expert, or new ponds are provided with this object in view. The principal hotels of our large cities have for some years past demanded a sufficient quantity of frogs to provide their guests with frequent treats to the toothsome frog-leg suppers and to keep up a sufficient demand to make the industry profitable.

Now there is a new incentive to frog raising. Old Bre'r Bullfrog, sonorous musician of our ponds, is found to be of special use for government experiments and he will now be in greater demand than ever. The Marine Hospital is planning to spend considerable money this fiscal year for frogs for use in testing medicinal preparations at the hygienic laboratory of the institution.
There are many things to consider in establishing profitable frog ponds. Fish Commissioner Meehan is enthusiastic over the industry and he has given explicit directions for success in this venture. He says that those who decide to undertake frog farming may make up their minds beforehand that the days which will follow will not be free from care or anxiety. It will speedily be discovered that it is not sufficient to build ponds after supposed best types, stock them and then stand aside and wait for the tadpoles to change into frogs and the frogs to money or into delicious morsels of food. Enough has been learned of frog culture, however, to stimulate a country gentleman or a progressive farmer with an unutilized portion of swampy land to undertake it. Fifty dollars will build the initial ponds and inclose them with a suitable fence. There is always a strong probability that within a comparatively brief period, by the exercise of care, unceasing effort and constant indomitable experiment, the work will develop into a fair market industry.—Philadelphia Record.

SHOWERS FOLLOWED PRAYERS.

Picturesque Scene in Church When the Faithful Asked for Rain.
Houghton, Mich.—The good Catholic farmers who are members of the Church of St. Joseph at Lake Linden, are firm in the belief that it was in answer to their fervent prayers that prosperity-bringing showers came yesterday to quench the burning thirst of the impoverished soil and check the raging forest fires.
Lake Linden is the distributing point for a big farming district almost entirely settled by French Canadian farmers. This spring has been very dry, and forest fires added to the dryness of the soil. So the Rev. Father Raymond, pastor of St. Joseph Church, announced that prayers for rain would be offered up at Vespers Sunday night.
The church was crowded with the faithful and they joined with the priest in saying the rosary. Then a prayer was offered asking in the intercession of the Virgin Mary, and this was followed by a procession through the church, the young priest carrying a statue of the Virgin and preceded by a-colytes bearing lighted candles and a crucifix. It is such a scene as might have been witnessed in Evangeline's Arcadia or in old France in an earlier century.
While this was being written the skies over the copper country were darkening. Much of the murk was due to the forest fire, but there were indications of rain all day Monday, Monday night and Tuesday the showers came in bucketsful and the farmers of Lake Linden are more devout than ever in grateful belief that they came in direct answer to their prayers.—Detroit Journal.

World's Missionary Conference.

Edinburg, June 14.—The World's Missionary Conference, in which the various Protestant denominations of all nations and countries are represented by delegates opened here today with several thousand delegates and unofficial visitors in attendance. The United States and Canada with their fifty-eight missionary societies and cards are alone represented by about one thousand official and unofficial delegates. Great Britain has about an equal number, while the other European and other countries have a smaller representation in proportion to the extent of their missionary work.

The first of these World's Missionary Conferences was held in London in 1888. The second was held in New York in 1900. Since then mission work in all its branches has made tremendous progress, especially in the United States and Canada, and the reports to be submitted to the conference will make a surprising showing. The present conference, the most important of its kind ever held, is utterly official in its character, and its deliberations and actions will have a profound effect upon the religious work of the whole world. While all branches of Protestantism, from the Ritualistic party in the Church of England to the Quaker meeting, are represented in the gathering, no bias or opposition to the Roman Catholic church will be allowed to enter into the deliberations of the conference.

The conference consists of two branches, the one composed of the regular delegates to meet at Assembly hall, the other, composed of those having some sort of official recognition, but not being regular delegates, which will hold its meetings at Synod Hall. The delegates were appointed by the various missionary boards on the basis of income devoted to missions in non-Christian lands. Women's Boards, having separate organizations were also permitted to send delegates.
The conference is a gathering of missionary experts and its chief business will be to hear and discuss reports of the eight commissions, which have been appointed to investigate and report upon all phases of missionary work. These commissions have been at work for several years studying the subjects entrusted to them and their reports will cover the whole ground of missionary work thoroughly and give a clear resume of the situation and of the possibilities and needs of the missionary field.

In addition to the reading of these reports and discussions thereon there will be addresses on missionary topics by the most eminent speakers of the world. The conference will not consider or adopt resolutions or vote even upon the reports of the commissions. Its sole aim is to gather and present through its commissions and proceedings, facts and conclusions of missionary experts on plans and methods of the missionary enterprise and thus coordinate missionary experience from all parts of the world.

WOMEN AS PHYSICIANS.

Have Won Their Way and the Old Prejudice Has Died Out.

The death in England of Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell is a reminder of the progress made by women in a profession into which they had literally to force their way.

When Miss Blackwell applied for permission to attend medical lectures in Philadelphia, in 1847, four colleges refused to admit her. The largest medical schools in New York closed their doors against her, and it was only at Geneva, N. Y., that she was finally able to secure a medical education. When she began to practice in New York she was virtually ostracised finding it difficult to procure either lodgings or office room.

What a half century has done to change these conditions is indicated by the banquet of the flourishing association of alumnae of the New York Woman's Medical College, held in this city at almost the moment of this pioneer woman's physician's death. Masculine opposition to women medical students—once overcome their entrance into the profession has been greatly facilitated. Where, in 1870, there were 527 women physicians and surgeons in the United States, the number increased to 2332 in 1883, 4557 in 1890, and 7378 in 1890. It must now be largely in excess of 10,000.

Women physicians have shown their capacity in all fields of medical practice, not only in obstetrics and gynecology, but as general practitioners and specialists, as ambulance and railroad surgeons, and as house physicians in hospitals. The old social prejudice against them has died out; they are largely represented in the membership of medical associations and are now found in the van of public movements in which women take part.

But has the ancient professional prejudice been overcome? It has recently been alleged in London that they do not possess the full physical and mental qualifications for the profession, and the caustic criticism of Prof. von Bergmann of Berlin, to the same effect will be recalled. Yet if women doctors are not a success, how account for their present numbers?—New York World.

Raisin Pie Is Mighty Good

Raisins for a long time used to be considered more of a seasoning or spice, when really they are a very wholesome and nourishing food—just fancy grapes dried.

Try this recipe.
 1½ cups seeded raisins stewed in one cup of water.
 1 tablespoon of flour.
 1 cup of sugar.
 2 slices of lemon.

When cool stir in yolks of 3 eggs. Put in pies and bake. Beat the whites of the eggs to a froth, spread over the top and brown lightly.

JOY TELEPHONES.

While City Pays Bills, They Are a Nuisance to Officials.

Judge Warren Foster's letter to the Comptroller on the subject of tele- phones is admirable in manner as well as matter. The politeness thereof is only equaled by its penetrating acidity. Even the passionate guardian of the city's cash must have been struck by the airy grace of the fine Italian hand that spanked him.

It was all over the question of pay telephones, to-wit: telephones placed in the homes of the district attorney and the judges of the General Sessions and paid for by the city. It was suggested that unless good public reasons, as distinguished from private reasons, were given by these means of communica- tion should be maintained by the municipality, Mr. Prendergast would re- fuse to audit the bill.

Judge Foster took occasion to point out that it was part of his duty to con- sider applications of indicted persons desirous of being admitted to bail, and furthermore to be kept in touch with the criminal courts building in cases where a locked-up jury might hand down a verdict at any time. But his strongest passage was that in which, as a comfort-loving citizen he demon- strated the absurdity of describing a telephone as a "convenience."

"Far from being a private conveni- ence; it is a personal nuisance. That it is a public convenience will be tes- tified to by many a poor fellow who has been spared a night in jail because of its existence. On many a cold night I have been summoned from my warm, warm cot, whether I wanted to or not, to shiver at the telephone, only to re- ceive word that some unfortunate un- der arrest would give bail if I would accept it.

"I have no family to avail of this telephone (whose cost to the city, I see, is stated in the newspapers to be $36 per annum), and without it I can live a life of nocturnal ease and quiet."

Joy ridings and joy telephoning are both very bad and deserving of the ever-alert attention of the comptroller. But in the present case there seems to be no doubt that Mr. Prendergast has got the bull by the wrong horn.—New York Evening Sun.

HIS ORGAN PLAYING ASTOUNDS.

Father Judge Tells Incident at Bowery Mission.

For the last four years the Rev. Luke J. Evers, pastor of St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church, on Duane Street, has been conducting a mission at 157½ Bowery, known as the Bowery Mission of the Holy Name. Archbishop Farley is very much interested in the welfare of the unfortunates who are compelled to take refuge in institutions of this kind and delegated Father Evers to look after both the spiritual and temporal wants of some 200 regulars who present themselves there nightly.

The Holy Name Mission is nonsec- tarian. No questions are asked any of the applicants as to whether he be Jew or Gentile, Catholic or Protestant. All that is expected is good behavior. Services are held every Sunday and Wednesday evenings, which consist of a short sermon and congregational singing.

Some time ago the Rev. Thomas Judge of the Vincentians and also vice president of St. John's College, Brook- lyn, asked permission to give a mission to the derelicts of New York and St. Andrew's was selected as the church best suited. Great was Father Judge's surprise when over 500 men presented themselves for the regular services, which were held last week. Father Judge, who is a very enthusiastic and zealous missionary, in speaking of his work expressed himself as much pleased that he had been able to brighten the paths of the many unfortunates. He then related this incident that oc- curred on Wednesday night of last week:

"Just as we were about to start the services word was received from the organist that she had been taken sud- denly ill and Father Evans announced to the congregation the news, adding: 'You must all sing out. You know the May hymns. They are familiar. Now all sing out.' As he repeated these words a man in the audience rose and hastily following him down the aisle, said:

"I can play, father; let me play. For twenty years I played an organ in church; do let me play tonight!"

"Father Evers turned and saw that the speaker was one of the many un- fortunates whom he had noticed at the Holy Name Mission. He was between 50 and 60 years old, but his counte- nance still retained marks of refinement and evidence that he had seen better days.

"Can you play my man? Are you sure? Well, go up to the organ loft and let's hear what you can do."

"In a minute the volunteer organist was at the keyboard, and as the strains of 'Holy God, We Praise Thy Name' filled the church the congregation re- cognized the skilled hand of the mu- sician playing with feeling. Aspirations defeated, ambitions unfulfilled, were heard in the voluntary, and the thought came to me that at least one soul had been reclaimed. He gave his best and then went away before any- one could learn his name."—New York World.

GET BACK TO NATURE.

The Only Cure That Will Restore Our Vigor.

Billy Muldoon, who once could chuck anybody in the world over his right shoulder, and who of late years has been famous as the crack rejuvenator of the big guns in political, financial and professional life, leaned over the fence around the paddock of the Devon Horse Show yesterday and said he was sure that the people of this country were in the grip of an insidious disease.

He didn't call it by any particular name, but since he limited it to folks in this country, he might have called it Americanitis. Its principal symp- tom he described as slooziness from the globe. He said that we ought to get a lot nearer to the soil than we do, that we are interested in two things mainly other human beings and money, both of which are crazes, and that the things we most need to do is to go out once in a while, at least, and have a good look at nature.

Theodore Roosevelt, he declares, has worked out the right method of living, because he never gets far away from the earth. Mr. Muldoon said that the one thing which saves Roosevelt is that he can shake off reception com- mittees as ducks shake off water, and get right back to the ground again.—Philadelphia North American.

HE WAS UNLUCKY INFANT.

Alfonso XIII of Spain Was Pupil of King Edward.
It was on May 17, 1886 that Alfonso
XIII, the posthumous son of the consumptive Alfonso XII was born in the Palacio real, Madrid. Sixteen years later, on May 17, 1902, Alfonso XIII attained his legal majority, and with stately dignified ceremonial assumed the heavy responsibilities of the throne. Today, his twenty-fourth birthday, marks another epoch of his reign. It finds him arriving in London to pay the last tribute of admiration and respect to the great King to whose shining example and wise counsel he had looked for guidance in the super-latively difficult life-work that confronts him.

Of the visiting kings and royal representatives who will attend the good King Edward to his tomb there is none who will feel a sorrow deeper and more sincere or a keener sense of an irreparable personal loss. To whom else can he look so surety for the sound advice, the sympathetic encouragement, the helping hand, the ripe wisdom and mature judgment that were his for the asking while the master of kings still lived?

He has come to see the grave close over his best friend. All his days the young King of Spain has had cause to know more than any king in history
the need and value of a friend.
For alone among living monarchs he was born to the cares and responsibilities of kingship. The crown's uneasy wear irked his infant head in the cradle which rocked with the swaysings of the precarious throne. A scepter was his baby rattle and an orb his coral jealousy and intrigues, plots and schemings charged the atmosphere of his nursery.

There were those about him in his boyhood to whom his birth was a disappointment and his decrease would have been a relief. On that 17th of May twenty-four years ago the task
to which he was born seemed hopeless of fulfillment. A few months earlier his father, Alfonso, XII brave and gallant and popular, on whose personal qualities the salvation of distracted Spain seemed to depend, had been suddenly carried off by rapid consumption leaving behind only the hopes of an heir male to stand between Spain and anarchy. The hopes were realized in so far as it was a son that was born to the dead King. But when into the antechamber in the Palacio real,
where ministers and courtiers were waiting to greet the newly born King,
the Duchess de Medina de los Torres came from the Queen-mother's apartments carrying a queenly little bundle of humanity wrapped in cotton-wool,
the hopes that he expressed seemed feeble
and fragile indeed.

Although as the years went by he survived many a crisis, the magnitude of the tasks before the little King did not diminish. His mother, the Queen Regent Christina, was not popular. An Austrian Princess, she galled the proud and jealous Spanish temperament. A splendid mother, she threw all the force of a dominant and resourceful nature into the care of her son's interests. But strong and unpopular herself she was compelled to call to her assistance other enemies in the state which were strong and unpopular, and exasperated rather conciliated
the forces of dissatisfaction and unrest. Carlism, although its hopes of success were diminishing, became increasingly active. But the Socialist disaffection in Barcelona and throughout the Catalonia province grew for the want of a reigning king's authority and influence.—London Daily Mail.

"THIS IS MY 16th BIRTHDAY."
Princess Marie of Luxembourg.
Princess Marie, eldest daughter of the reigning Grand Duke of Luxemburg, was born in the capital city of little duchy, June 14, 1894. The sovereign state of Luxembourg, which has only 1,000 square miles of territory and 240,000 inhabitants, was one of the bones of contention between France and Germany, which caused the Franco-German war. Its government is a constitutional monarchy, hereditary in the male line of the house of Nassau.
As the present Grand Duke has six daughters, but no son, the male line of the family will become extinct upon his death. The crown thereupon passes to the Otto branch of the Nassau family, but the only branch of this at present is Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. The present ruler, it is said, hopes to be able to prove that Luxemburg, like England, has every right to be ruled by a Queen. In this case, the throne will, in time, pass to the pretty princess, who celebrates her sixteenth birthday today.

Hotels as Boosters of Towns.
Christian Science Monitor.
Give a town a good hotel and it will give the town a good name. As a booster of a place a first class hotel is a success. It goes without saying that a hotel of the first rank must have a capable landlord, fine cuisine and excellent service. Not only are the needs of the public attended to,
but its comfort is looked after. It makes friends of its patrons and they become friends of the town. The commercial traveler delights to reach that point on his route where there is an up-to-date hostelry; he continually sings praise of the place. The genuine traveler is equally appreciative, and both add to the fame and also to the prosperity of the town. A wide-awake landlord can do more for the advanc-ment of a town than half a dozen of its merchants and manufacturers.

What is true of a small place is equally true in a larger degree of the city. Take the landlords of the leading hotels the country over, and note how they have brought their cities into prominence. Where are the best hotels, there you will see associations flocking for their conventions and annual gatherings. Their members bring money and business. It is claimed that there is no publicity more general,
or more widespread, more effective,
than that which is the result of hotel corridor conversations. Hotel men themselves are becoming great travelers in their annual tours across the country for their reunions, and whatever city they visit gets a big advertising boom. Our landlords must be enterprising; that they are also broad-minded and generous is shown continually by the public spirit they manifest in behalf of the communities in which they are located.

ABOLISH INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Country is Tiring of Too Many Useless Offices.
The proposition to abolish the Department of the Interior is in line with the growing popular sentiment in favor of reducing rather than increasing the number of administration departments at Washington. The tendency of late years has been toward increase,
but experience is teaching us that each addition simply encourages a demand for another. It is also teaching us the lesson that the multiplication of departments is neither simplifying nor expediting the transaction of public business.

Many duties that were formerly well performed by the original group of departments have been so distributed that to know just how and where to seek necessary information in Washington at present requires almost a liberal education. And out of the departments have sprung bureaus, with bureau chiefs, and first, second and third assistants and employes, constituting veritable civil service regiments.

If the Interior Department had been more actively and seriously engaged in the carrying on of public business, not so many chiefs and assistants and stenographers would have found time
for indulgence in clique maneuvers, controversies and quarrels as we have heard of recently. As much might also be said of the Agricultural Department. Here is a case in which Federal consolidation and centralization might work out very well indeed and congress could hardly do better than to help the movement along.
There is now very little use for the Interior Department. It can well be spared. The work of some of the other departments too might well be combined. Competent individual employees of the Government in many instances could easily perform the work that is now delegated to bureaus. The government in recent years has taken on a great many responsibilities that really do not belong to it and these are simply breeding a desire for more,
something that should be promptly and emphatically discouraged by the people.

What we want in this democracy is less, not more, governmental machinery; less, not more governmental interference with the personal and private affairs of citizens; less, not more,
bureaucracy and red tape.—Christian Science Monitor.

"THE CLOTHIERS"

WOMAN RAISES REINDEER.

Mary Antisarook, Aged 40, Has Herd of Some 300 Head.

"Reindeer Mary," known to Alaskans from one end of the country to the other, has the honor of being the only woman in the north possessing a reindeer herd. Supplies for Mary and her herd will be shipped north by the Government Bureau of Education from this port, in the near future. Taming and training the wild creatures until they are available for hauling purposes as well as food and clothing, this nearly 300 deer, representing in wealth from the Alaskan standard among natives, far more than thousands of head of cattle would on the plains of the West. She is best known as Reindeer Mary, although her real name is Mary Antisarook, or Queoa Mary.

Although Mary is only about 40 years old, she has had many years' experience training deer, and labored with her former husband, Simrock Charley, the first native to be given deer by the government for experimental purposes. Charley was an exceptionally shrewd Eskimo, and made good use of the 100 reindeer loaned by Uncle Sam for five years. It was his herd that was used in 1895 by Capt. Hoff Wada and Capt. D. H. Jarvis in their dash to Barrow to relieve the whalers frozen in the ice pack. It was Simrock Charley and Mary who succored Eric Lindbloom when he escaped from a whaler off Cape Prince of Wales, several years ago, a few weeks before he, with two others, made the strike at Nome in 1898, or Anvil City, as it was then called.

Charley, who was formerly apprenticed to the reindeer station maintained by the government at Teller, in 1893, died a short time after the dash to Barrow, of pneumonia. The government had meanwhile taken back the original deer loaned him, but he left about 150 deer to Mary, who for some years maintained them at Golovin and Sirock. She used to station them on Sledge Island, off Nome, and would drive them from one point to the other as the seasons changed. She acquired considerable education, and is now regarded as one of the most wealthy natives in the north. Each deer represents about $100.

A few years ago it was decided to have her station the herd in the vicinity of St. Michael. Last summer they were on Stewart Island, off the mouth of the Yukon. They were driven to the mainland as soon as the sea froze over and will probably summer on the island again. Mary has wedded again. She has five or six Eskimo boys whom she has trained to take care of the deer but in spite of this fact, does not relax her personal supervision, and takes great interest in the welfare of her herd.—Seattle Times.

JAPANESE "ADDING MACHINE."

Oriental Bank Clerk Beats American on Long Column of Figures.

At a meeting of the Tacoma chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks the other night a Japanese clerk, using a "saroban," "put it all over" a Tacoma bank clerk using a modern adding machine in casting up a long column of figures.

The Japanese, with his "saroban," did the arithmetical "stunt" in thirty seconds, while the bank clerk, with his modern adding machine, took 54 seconds to obtain a total and afterwards it was found the clerk of the modern adding machine had made an error, while the Japanese, with his little abacus or "saroban," obtained the correct result the first time. In another test the Japanese might make an error, as did the bank clerk. However, it is significant that the Japanese did not err and that he obtained a correct result far more quickly, though he used an ancient arithmetical device.

The Japanese that won the contest in adding was once a clerk in a bank at Osaka, Japan. He disclaims being an expert in adding, and says many Japanese are much faster on the "saroban" than he. The little old-fashioned adding machine used by the Japanese is what we call an abacus. Years ago in our public school rooms the abacus used to hang on the wall, and it was sometimes used in the study of arithmetic. It is not used much nowadays, though it would appear from the speed and accuracy of the Japanese that it might be employed with good results.

The abacus is very ancient. It was used by the Egyptians and Greeks in a form similar to that now used in Japan, China, Arabia and Russia. The word is traced through the Greek to a word meaning "dust." It is said that dust was spread upon a board and that numerals were inscribed in the dust.

The victory of the Tacoma Japanese with his "saroban" over one of our bank clerks with a modern adding machine is not an exceptional instance. A few months ago, when the Japanese Commission visited the United States, a contest was held in which a Japanese came out ahead in a calculation contest in which he used an abacus.—Tacoma Ledger.

Xenia Host to Ohio Veterans.

Xenia, O., June 14.—The 44th annual encampment of the Ohio department of the Grand Army of the Republic opened here today in the most auspicious manner and will continue for three days. The city is crowded with visitors and the buildings on the principal streets are profusely decorated in honor of the visiting veterans. An elaborate entertainment program has been arranged by the citizens, including free excursions to the Soldiers' Home at Dayton.

Ripon Revives Memories of Past.

Ripon, Wis., June 14.—Many of the most important and interesting scenes from Ripon's unusual history were faithfully reproduced in today's historical pageant on the campus of Ripon College. The three principal events depicted by 500 actors, in costumes of the respective periods were the treaty of Jean Nicolet with the Indians, the settlement of Ceresco Valley, now part of Ripon, and the birth of the Republican party at Ripon in February 1854 in the house still preserved on the campus.

Sign Boards.

Philadelphia Ledger. Those dwellers in one of the suburban settlements in the vicinity of the Palisades, at New York City, who with an axe and saw, and under the cover of night, rid their town of a number of unsightly sign boards, undertook to do the right thing in the wrong way. Nothing in American business methods has done more to fix upon this country the reproach of commercialism in its most objectionable aspect than the sign board advertising which disfigures the country everywhere, in disregard of every consideration of good taste and decency. It in no way militates the offense that men use their own land for such purposes or pay liberally for the privilege of making other men's land hideous. The remedy for the evil has yet to be found, and while violent methods are not to be condoned, they may at least serve to the need of reform, and thus hasten the desired end.

Get wise to that fussy pill plant on 8th street; those temperance toddy-tossers were mixing summer joy juice way back when Methuselah was too young to vote, and say, don't try to stand them up by asking for any fancy foam, unless you want it, for they have all the information that goes with the job—none of that refined Hungarian fuss coming, but music by the cash register from six-thirty a. m., till street lights get peevish from working overtime. With best wishes, I am,

LADY DEPUTY GAME WARDEN

She Doesn't Hesitate to Use Gun in Making Arrests.

Mrs. B. R. Buffham of Roswell was formerly a school teacher at Beatrice, Nebraska. Her health failed and she came to New Mexico to start a chicken ranch.

Mrs. Buffham is now a deputy game warden and probably the only woman deputy game warden in the country. Soon after she located in New Mexico she discovered that the wild birds needed a protector. She saw them ruthlessly slaughtered, sometimes by men who killed the birds out of pure cruelty. She loved birds and the needless butchery worked on her nerves. So she complained to the authorities. At first they paid no attention to her. She complained again and she kept complaining in such vigorous terms and with such persistency that the authorities were forced to sit up and take notice. Her interest in the birds resulted finally in her appointment as a deputy with full authority to make arrests. Her appointment was regarded as a joke by the bad men of the territory and they kept on killing the beautiful birds.

One day she caught two pot hunters in the act of shooting a bobwhite quail out of season. Quick as a flash up went her rifle and the men were ordered to throw down their guns. They were surprised. They were known as bad men; themselves, men quick on the trigger and men who would not hesitate to shoot. They hesitated.

An ominous click as the hammer of the rifle was raised and an angry flash from the fair captor's eyes made them act quick. Down went the guns and the men were faced about and taken to Roswell. It was her first arrest, but not her last. The game butchers and pot hunters and the bad men have learned that Mrs. Buffham means business.

She is a dead shot herself, a big game hunter, absolutely fearless and she asks no odds of anybody—Roswell correspondence of Denver Post.
