WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, MONDAY, FEBRUARY, 20 1911

NUMBER 243

IN FAVOR OF REDISTRICTING

JUDGE HUFF IN LETTER TO DALLAS NEWS CALLS ATTENTION TO ITS IMPORTANCE.

WEST TEXAS INTERESTED

Interesting Statistical Facts Are Developed in Connection with This Matter.

R. E. Huff, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in an article in Sunday's Dallas News, strongly urges the immediate redistricting of the State, and in a very convincing way points out the injustice that would result to West Texas in the event of a postponement of this matter. The communication is as follows: Wichita Falls, Tex., Feb. 16.—The Austin correspondents write as if there were some doubt about the State being redistricted into legislative and Senatorial districts at this time and some say this would not matter, as the next Legislature could do this. It might not matter to counties like Dallas, with her three Representatives, and all the larger counties in Central, East and South Texas, which already have at least one member in the lower house to look after their interests, but postponement would be a great injustice to West Texas, which has very inadequate representation under the old apportionment.

Take the seven Legislative Districts from No. 190 to No. 196, both inclusive, and embracing eight counties in West Texas, being Wichita, Archer, Young, Jones, Taylor, Callahan, Runnels, Concho, Menard, Sutton, Val Verde and all said counties. By the census of 1900 these eighty-six counties which then had 166,251 people were given representatives of the 137 for the whole State.

An average district for the whole State should have had 22,922 people, but these seven districts averaged even then 23,750 to the district, although in all fairness the western districts should have had less rather than even an average.

By the census of 1910 these eighty-six counties now have a population of 458,197, an increase in population of 318,941. The increase for all Texas was only 847,832. The increase of population in these seven districts averages 45,562 to the district and in the remaining 126 districts the average increase is only 4,276 to the district.

The seven West Texas districts now average 69,314 people to the district. The other 126 districts average only 27,636.

All bills talked of so far speak of Representative Districts under a new apportionment of approximately 27,000 people, so that these eighty-six counties should have at least eighteen Representatives, a gain of eleven. Even with eighteen members, one Representative in portions of this territory would still have the interest of eight or ten counties to look after.

All men will certainly admit that West Texas should have at least equal representation with counties further east, and a real fair-minded man will admit that considering the fact that West Texas is so thinly settled now, and is more likely to increase in population than the rest of the State, that it would be no more than right to make the new districts in West Texas rather below an average than above it.

These eighty-six counties embrace an area of over one-third the whole State. They now have approximately one-eighth of the State's population, yet they are only now given one-ninth of the 137 Representatives. Bills are proposed giving Dallas County five Representatives with a Floater, Bexar County four Representatives

Hard's Second Trial is Postponed To August

The trial of Al Hard for the killing of Harry Brown will not take place until the August term of the district court in Wilbarger county. It has not yet been learned whether Hard will accept the five year verdict returned by the jury at Vernon Saturday night in his trial for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Staley or whether his attorney will ask for a new trial. While it is generally believed that a new trial would be granted it is questioned whether Hard will want to run the risk of a verdict making his punishment more severe. The verdict returned Saturday night found Hard guilty of murder in the second degree and assessed his punishment at five years in the state prison. The verdict was returned at 8:30 o'clock after the jury had been out nearly forty-eight hours.

HON. A. L. ALLEN DEAD.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Representative Amos L. Allen of Maine died in this city today of pneumonia, following a short illness. Mr. Allen was one of the most prominent Republican members of the National House of Representatives, as well as a leading politician of his home State.

FRUIT SUFFERS FROM FREEZE

INCH AND A HALF OF ICE AT THIS PLACE THIS MORNING.

FROST OVER THE STATE

Many Sections Have Suffered from the Recent Fall in the Temperature.

Ice half an inch thick covered the pools of water in this section this morning and a temperature down to twenty-three degrees above zero left little hope that the peach, plum and strawberry crops had passed unscathed. Many peach and plum trees are in full bloom and it is almost certain that these will bear little fruit this season. It is believed however, that the fruit which was not in bloom has escaped. Strawberries were in bloom in many places and where the plants were not covered last night it is believed the fruit was killed.

The temperature began to drop Saturday night but the freezing point was not reached until Sunday night. Up to noon the mercury had not climbed above the freezing point.

Frost was general over the entire northern part of the state last night extending nearly to the gulf and doing great damage to fruit and tender vegetation. Southbound trains over the Fort Worth & Denver have been running from six to twelve hours late on account of snow in Colorado and the Panhandle. Snow covered the ground from Texline to Cleburne Sunday night and between Dalhart and Texline the drifts in some places were five feet deep. Light snow flurries were seen here Sunday afternoon.

Ice Throughout North Texas. By Associated Press. Dallas, Tex., Feb. 20.—Ice formed throughout North Texas last night but not enough to damage the fruit crop except in the northwest portion, where peach trees are in full bloom and it is feared the peach crop in that section is killed.

Temperature Twenty Above. By Associated Press. Dalhart, Tex., Feb. 20.—The temperature was twenty above zero this morning in the Panhandle. The blizzard of nearly two days is moderating but all trains are either stalled or many hours late.

A born leader likes to associate with people who are born followers. With a Floater, and Harris and Tarant would claim like favors. Can't these four great counties be satisfied with seventeen Representatives between them, and by an example of fairness help place West Texas on equality with the rest of the State?

Will not The News and other great dailies of the State and the weekly press use their influence with the people and the Legislature to see that West Texas gets a square deal and gets it now? Robert E. Huff.

AMARILLO AFTER BIG CHAUTAUQUA

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THERE TO GO AFTER METHODIST ANNUAL SUMMER ASSEMBLY.

ARE HOPEFUL OF SUCCESS

Consider It a Big Proposition and Worthy of a Most Earnest Effort.

Amarillo, Texas, Feb. 20.—Plans to secure the Summer Chautauqua of the Northwest Texas Conference and the North Texas Conference to be held at the Palo Duro Canyon was begun yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce. Owing to the distance to Corpus Christi, where the State Chautauqua is located, these conferences have reached a decision that a nearer site must be chosen. Thursday the commissioners selected for choosing a site met at Wichita Falls.

PLANS FOR PEACE.

By Associated Press. Paris, Tex., Feb. 20.—Jose Linantour declared here today that the only basis whereby peace could be established in Mexico was for the Mexican Insurrectos to lay down their arms, and for the government to reform the existing evils in the conduct of the affairs of that country.

BOWMAN HAS A CORN CLUB

ORGANIZATION PERFECTED AND OFFICERS ELECTED AT A MEETING SATURDAY.

It is Reported That Much Interest Is Being Manifested in That Community.

FIFTEEN HAVE ENROLLED

A Boy's Corn Club with fifteen enthusiastic members has been organized at Bowman by J. W. Campbell, who is in charge of the farm demonstration work in this county. These boys will compete for the prizes offered and promise to make it interesting for other competitors.

The officers of the Bowman Club are, Fritz Taylor, president; Bennie Smith, vice president; Ralph Crowell, secretary; Eugene Crowell, Joe Decker, Albert Finkler, Herman Mahler, Calvin Ceell, Haden Chastine, Levern Chastine, Lida Bartosh, Raymond Billingsley, Gleen Gwinn, Robert Gwinn and Homer Cross.

BUDS AND BLOSSOMS WITHSTAND FREEZE

Although there was ice an inch thick on my place this morning I made a careful investigation as possible this afternoon of all my fruit trees, and found no buds that were killed by last night's freeze, was the telephone message received this afternoon from Mr. G. J. Rohatch, residing two miles south of the city on the Archer City road.

Thus far Mr. Rohatch is the only one whom the Times has been able to get in communication with who has made an investigation of the fruit trees since last night's freeze, but as he is considered a good judge of such matters, it stands to reason that if the budding and blooming blossoms on trees in his orchard passed through the freeze safely and without damage that others were as lucky.

STEERS COVERED BY RECENT SNOW

Dalhart, Texas, Feb. 20.—A Rock Island double header passenger train ran into a bunch of five hundred steers in the canyon near here. Some lying down and all were covered with snow and invisible in the blizzard. Thirteen were killed and the train slowed down just in time to avoid danger of derailment on a high trestle.

SUPREME COURT ON RIGHT OF CONTRACT

Washington, Feb. 20.—The Supreme Court of the United States today granted a review of the conviction of the officials of the American Naval Stores Company, and also rendered a decision to the effect that only money and not advertising may be accepted by railroads for transportation.

San Antonio Escapes. San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 20.—The freeze reported generally last night did not reach this far south, and while the weather is quite cool, no danger to vegetation will result.

The average woman gets more pleasure from talking about her furs than she does from wearing them.

CASHIER REFUSED REAL GOLD BRICK

New York, Feb. 20.—Barnum's theory that the American people like to be humbugged was brought to mind here today when the cashier of a prominent cafe refused to accept a real gold brick worth $1500 in payment for a $14 lunch. The offer was made as the result of a bet in which Canadian mine owners made a wager that the precious metal would be accepted. It was not only refused but the cashier tried to have the mine owners arrested.

PROMINENT LADY DIES AT MARSHALL

Marshall, Texas, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Martha Carter, mother-in-law of President W. H. Newman, of the New York Central Railway, died here last night, aged 86. Funeral arrangements have not as yet been announced, but it is thought interment will be at this place.

Many a woman finds life a burden because she is unable to carry her age well.

LOCAL ENTRIES FOR FARM PRIZES

Secretary Day of the Chamber of Commerce reports that entries are being made in the contest for prizes in connection with the farm demonstration work in this county. Today J. M. Isley entered in the state contest for the best results from 10 acres in corn and 10 acres in cotton, while his son, Eugene Isley, enters the four acres contest for which prizes are offered by the Texas Industrial Congress.

Young Mr. Isley will also join the local corn club and compete for the prizes offered by the Chamber of Commerce.

Arlow Andre also sends in his name for membership in the local Boys' Corn Club when organized.

EARTHQUAKE IN ITALY.

Constantinople, Feb. 20.—Violent earthquakes are reported at Monastir and other points throughout Vlyayet in which there has been some loss of life and great damage to property. Reports are meagre and it is impossible at this time to determine the total number of deaths.

MARTIN LITTLETON ASPIRES TO SENATE

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY BEFORE NEW YORK LEGISLATURE NOW IN SESSION.

HE IS CONGRESSMAN-ELECT

His Candidacy Came as a Surprise and May Solve Problem in That State.

New York, Feb. 20.—Martin W. Littleton, congressman-elect from the Oyster Bay district of New York state, has announced his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Chauncey M. Depew. The announcement came in a letter addressed to Lieutenant Governor Conway and was in the nature of a surprise to many of the New York politicians. No reason is given for this action on the part of Mr. Littleton, but it may have a close connection with the attitude of Governor Dix, who it was stated in a dispatch last week was looking out for a new candidate, being convinced that neither Sheehan or Shepard could be elected. However, no statement to this effect, or in any way bearing on the subject, has been made by the governor.

It is not thought that the ballot today will indicate the strength of Mr. Littleton and it will likely be several days before the legislature will really adjust itself to the new situation.

By way of introduction Mr. Littleton says he has received a letter in which he is "asked to state whether I am a candidate for United States Senator."

"Before the Legislature assembled," he continues, "I was asked by some of the members to declare myself a candidate." At that time Mr. Shepard and Mr. Sheehan were the active and leading candidates and I naturally expected the choice would fall upon one or the other of these gentlemen, and hence declined to do so. We are now nearing the end of the fifth week of balloting and it does not seem at all likely that either Mr. Shepard or Mr. Sheehan will be chosen. I have made up my mind to submit my name as a candidate to the Legislature of the State, and in doing so, I wish the members and the people who sent them there to know where I stand and for what I stand.

"As a Democrat, I realize the position of the Democratic party in the country calls for the election of one who will not only insure peace in the party councils, but whose election will be in accord with the popular will of the State."

The situation, he says, calls for such a high order of ability and fitness, that he has "serious misgivings as to his own qualifications."

Mr. Littleton then outlines the problems before the Federal Government as he sees them, emphasizing at the outset that with but one exception he has supported the nominees of the Democratic party and that he has a high belief in the party so long as it has for its central purpose

EXTRA SESSION UP TO SENATE

PRESIDENT PLACES RESPONSIBILITY ON THAT BRANCH OF CONGRESS.

RECIPROCITY MUST PASS

If Senate Fails a Special Session is Inevitable Says Chief Executive.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The house this morning renewed the fight over the omnibus claims bills, which has claimed the attention of that body for several days and provoked a warm filibuster on the part of Representative Mann during the latter part of the week. The general war claims bill was finally passed, the house still sitting as of Friday's session. The filibuster is still on this afternoon against one of the omnibus claims bills, being that which carries the war-claims only and omitting the French spoliation feature and the navy yard overtime matter.

Representative Fitzgerald announced today in the house that the sundry civil bill will provide for the fortification of the Panama Canal.

That President Taft is determined to secure action on reciprocity before the end of the present session or fasten the blame for failure on the standpaters of the Senate, he last night, made known in an emphatic way his set purpose of calling an extra session of Congress if the Senate obstructionists are successful in their plan of keeping the Canadian agreement from reaching a vote before March 4.

The President's decision of last night is the nearest approach he has made to a public and official announcement of his purpose of calling an extra session, and it must be regarded as finally committing him on the subject. While the declaration did not come direct from the President, there can be no question it was immediately inspired by him and correctly represents his attitude. Representative Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, author of the bill embodying the reciprocity agreement, was his medium of communicating to the Senate and the country his definite decision to call an extra session if the Senate proved obdurate to the end.

Mr. McCall spent some time with the President last evening, discussing in all its phases the situation in Congress as to reciprocity and other important legislation, and as he was quitting the White House he gave out a statement which had evidently been prepared under the direction of the Chief Executive.

Will Stop Filibusters. By Associated Press. Washington, Feb. 20.—By adopting a rule for the suspension of any rule by a two thirds vote during the remainder of the session, the House today placed it in their power to stop filibusters at any time.

the upbuilding of the country and not the spoils of office. He refers to the problems of supervising corporations and railroads, which he says must be regulated by the Government when they become National in character.

"There are those who claim," he says, "that the Government possesses the power inherently to extend itself by construction and keep pace with the growing governments. I prefer to believe that the power necessary to maintain this supervision should be conferred upon the Government in the manner provided by the Constitution and should not be twisted and

PENICK & FORD, LTD.

Roster Of Texas League

Austin and Oklahoma City.—The only clubs in the Texas League whose status is not definitely known in signed men. Curiously enough Dale Gear is obtaining players for both clubs. No doubt, the former Pirate has quite a line of recruits for both teams, but as yet he has not announced that fact to the general public. One Oklahoma recruit, W. R. Jackson, was reported through the contract list of the National association. Gear sold one good player he had on his list to the Browns. Bill Goodman had played with the El Paso tournament and reports of his work were excellent. Gear probably figured on him, though, that he was an untried player and that it would be best to sell him to St. Louis without taking risks.

As the Austin and Oklahoma situations are not at all removed from the cloud under which they rest, there is little wonder in Gear keeping the dope to himself. Dale is in an anomalous position and doesn't doubt, for instance if either of the two doubtful franchises were to go to Beaumont? Obviously discretion is the better art of valor in his case easily enough. However both clubs have their reserve lists to fall back upon.

Four Strong Teams Loom Up.—Four strong teams look good on the paper formation just now. Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Galveston look like the big fellows, but there are Waco and Fort Worth to be considered also. For Houston and San Antonio at least, present prospects were never brighter. It looks like a clear case of class from down Houston's lineup has been dwelt upon a good deal in the past few weeks. The management to play has on hand twenty six players, and there are four possible trades that may come to a head next week. It is certain that by the opening of the season, and probably by March, Houston will have a good many veterans who will come in the dead lumber class this season, though many are still able to deliver on this circuit. Inability to best youth and speed will get them.

Rose and Watson will probably start the pitching staff. Either Banks or Hornsby may be back in 1910 shape, or both, and then but one youngster will have to develop. The Buffalos have a very likely man in Edmondson and much good has been heard of in the case of Baz, Woodard and Barnett. Nicholson is a local boy with good prospects.

Behind the bat, Gibbs is claimed as a phenomenon and Kelsey and Wickenhoffer look possibly good. The proposed trade for Kelsey would help the Buffalo catching staff materially, too. If there is absolute necessity, Houston is almost certain of getting a classy catcher from higher up.

In the Houston infield, Salm on first, Kerr or Levine and possibly McCulley on second, Clayton on third, and Hill on short seems a likely combination. The outfield is still doubtful. The recruits have promise, but have to show first.

To make a walkaway race of 1911, Houston needs a strong port-wheeler to aid Rose, one good utility infielder and a distinct outfield phenomenon. Houston still has hopes of recovering Mowry, Northern or Matloy.

San Antonio Lacks Garden.—San Antonio is only obviously weak in one place, the garden. In the box Rogers is the only veteran, but the six new men all bring excellent reputations to this circuit. Most of them come from big class clubs. With five

With Doherty and Devers behind him Donnelly has been enabled to get together a first class club. In the opinion of men who know, Galveston is going to be one of the first division teams this year and a strong pennant contender.

In the box, Donnelly has Hise, Hinrickson and Bradford from last year. Two new recruits look good, Wagrick and Evans. In addition there are several more youngsters.

Helm is an infielder from the South Atlantic, who has a fine record behind him. His hitting is good and his fielding fast. In Bradley, Burton, Redmond and Smith the makings of three good corners are found. Wetzel is said to be in shape this season.

Donnelly almost considers his outfield selected to James, Landreth and Riggs. James and Riggs are both familiar to Texas fans (who know that they can make good. Landreth has been receiving big boosts.

Galveston has three catchers—McLain, Bammell and Brown. Bammell bats from Lyons in the Kansas State. McLain is the young collegian who showed promise last season.

Donnelly will not stand pat on the players, but is constantly on the lookout for new men.

Waco Has Host of Players.—Ellis Hardy believes in quantity at any rate, and like Joe Gardner he should be able to pick a deal of quality out of his aggregation of ball tossers. Hardy is a hustler, and while he has not been shining much in the light of newspaper publishers, he has been appearing a great deal in National association bulletins. Waco has over thirty-five players on the roster. Hardy has had to work an entire regeneration of his club and from present dope he should have a first division team.

In the box Hardy has Vic Miller, the querulous blond who can make good if he is right. John Taff, who made such a great record with Brownville last season, was drafted. Of his other pitchers, practically all are comparatively unknown here. Lewis figured in a trade for Harrison.

Hardy has two old Southern leaguers obtained direct from that circuit behind the bat. Both Carson and Mack were with Chattanooga last season, and the latter hit an even 300. Carson batted into the 200 class. Hardy himself is a catcher.

Wohleben, a South Atlantic recruit, is the most likely first base candidate. Clarence Duguey is back on second and everyone knows his ability. There are four third sackers on the list. McMahon is another South Atlantic purchase.

Fort Worth Has Strengthened.—The list of Fort Worth players as announced by Walter Morris Friday did not include the name of the South Atlantic pitcher, Weaver, but he has probably not yet signed a contract. Walter has got the nucleus for a fast nine this year and will in all probability show up well. Most of his recruits are drawn from the South Atlantic, with whose stamping grounds he is thoroughly familiar.

In the flinging staff there are four Panther veterans. McKay, Lattimore and Beardford are all good men. Beardford was ineffective last year, but he has shown that he can make good. Beardford did not look good at the close of last season when he was worked out. Nolley and Weaver come from the South Atlantic and both made winning records last season. Watson and Appleton are the other hurlers.

Eberline, Fillman, Shapp and Morris are back for the infield. Eberline played at the close of last year and hit and fielded sensationally. Johnny Fillman is not a first-class second-sacker, but Shapp is a very good third baseman. Morris himself will probably not play continuously. He has taken to bench management a great deal though he has seasons of usefulness left. Walter did some wonderful work last year—work that many believed him incapable of. Miller and Curtis have not been heard of as yet, but Morris thought enough of Huber to trade Bob Riggs for him.

Fort Worth has three likely outfielders. Coyle, Stovall and Jolly are all good, though Jolly is not a finished fielder. Howard hit hard with Savannah.

The Two Uncertainties.—Oklahoma could not put a first division club in the field with its reserve list alone. The team was not badly shattered by sale and draft, but it was not a winner in 1910. The box is weak, as Chellette, the only star, is now under suspension, and Cy Young, while mechanically good, lacks a head. Bandy and Theilman have gone back too far and Mattick does not show much. Behind the bat, however, there are Drucke and Noyes. Drucke would be a first-class catcher for any club. Noyes may figure in a trade, but if he does, Oklahoma will get a good man in his place.

Casey, Nagle and Miller are all fair, but not stars. Jackson is said to be a comer. In the outfield, Downey, under suspension, is a splendid hitter and fielder, but troublesomemaker. Davy White is a good asset.

With his reserve lists alone, Dale Gear could put a fair club in Austin, though he would need a couple of pitchers, a catcher and an infielder. With Ashton, Lingenfeld, Herbert and Howell, Dale has four men who can deliver, though Jack Ashton may be all in now. Garvin and Hentner will not do behind the bat, as neither has a consistent swing. It was the inability of Shreveport catchers to stop base runners that put the Pirates in the second division. In George Smith, Cowan, Gardner and the brilliant star, McDonald, Gear has the nucleus of a good infield. In the outfield Gear himself, Carlos Smith and Saveland are all good.
But Gear is not going to rest upon a makeshift team. He is out after the players and he will be certain to put a good club in Austin—or wherever the Shreveport franchise goes.

A Sermon on Advertising

The Rev. Dr. Frank Crane contributed to the Chicago Evening Post a most scholarly and philosophical analysis of the Chapman-Alexander revival. There was not a line in Dr. Crane's article which was not valuable to the one who read it. The particular paragraphs which we marked for comment were these:

"He aims at the Religious Feeling. But there is nothing wild or the-oretic nor haphazard about his aim. He goes at it as a man goes about running for office. He knows every element that enters into the matter. He profits from the evangelistic experiments of a hundred and fifty years. He makes no mistakes. Every move, every word, every detail is calculated.

Before he comes to town the affair must be carefully planned. All the churches of the evangelistic order are enlisted. Committees are appointed. Finances are carefully figured. There are captains of tens and of fifties. The battle host is a disciplined army not a mob.

Advertising is liberally provided for. Signs and banners are arrayed. The newspapers are enlisted. There is not an advertising agency in Chicago or elsewhere that could not learn something from J. Wilbur Chapman."

Further along in his article, Dr. Crane says of Rev. Mr. Chapman: "He organizes his meetings as a gigantic piece of machinery, all adjusted to hear upon one point, the Will, as influenced by the Religious Feeling."

Now let your eyes go back and re-read the paragraphs we quoted first, and when you come to the line: "There is not an advertising agency in Chicago or elsewhere that can not learn something from J. Wilbur Chapman," you, with us, will say, "Amen."

The thought that came to us, moreover, is that there is not an advertiser who can not profit by the study of ways and means of this wonderful revival. The marshaling of the forces, the awakening of public interest, the attracting of crowds and the convincing of the hoary—all this wonderfully complete system is recognizable human nature and its wants and needs and then appealing to men from those vantage points—all this, if we may be permitted to say so, the highest type of advertising. It is the science of advertising put upon the noblest plane. It is not only advertising happiness in the life to come, but advertising peace and content in this, "Earth not."

So? Well, then, let us agree with you that there is a difference between business and religion. All right. But there isn't any difference in the right way of convincing a man of the merits of goods and the right way of convincing him of the merits of right living. When man knows humanity, because he has studied it on the spiritual side and not on the financial side. He knows that when you appeal to a man's reason, to his impulse, to his hope, you are going a long way toward convincing him.

He knows, also, that the mere appeal isn't enough. There must be concerted effort, organized work. A consultative influence must be exerted—so that one man tells another and the other tells another, and so on till there is a wave of interest.

One word more, Mr. Advertiser. Chapman believes in what he advertises. There is nothing so contagious as belief. Enthusiasm is catching, but enthusiasm winks. Curiosity may be aroused, but curiosity is fickle. Belief grows.

So this is our little sermon on advertising, using the Chapman revival as a text. Study the field, deploy your forces, be ready to care for the inquires, be sure you satisfy the inquirers, be prepared to meet the bills, instruct your lieutenants, be ready when you begin—and show by every word and action that you believe in your campaign. And, first, last, and all the time, believe, for better makes believers.

Who's Your Tailor?

Many a suit looks two years old after a month's wear, and yet the cloth may be as good as ever. To get permanent results from a good piece of cloth, every part of the garment must be cut and fitted properly.

I Start Right

The cloth is cut in individual measure, each piece, as well as the inside material is meticulously shaped and put together for the single purpose of fitting the man who ordered the garments and when completed there is but one man in the United States that they will fit.

The bantons on the spot,
The boss who did the work
Were no crazy lot.
Mr. Harden, the Superintendent,
Knows his work so well,
If anything is out of place
Can very quickly tell.
Went through rock like butter,
Without slip or fall,
And reached full ninety feet
Upon six feet of coal.
They broke the Texas record,
In sinking this mine.
In twenty days, all was complete
To drive into the vein.
This is the mine that's booming
Newcastle to a town,
Will shake the roots of Graham,
Her county site will fall down.
Mr. Perkins has the money,
And likes to speculate,
He is not like many others
Wait 'till it's too late.
We will sink many others
Upon this grand old seam,
And supply all the railroads.
It's the right coal for steam.
All of you coal miners,
Just wait a little time,
You'll find all the work you want
In Newcastle mine.

WONDERFUL REMEDY.

That's What is Said of Stomach Prescription Guaranteed by Marchman's Drug Store.
Stephen White of Lansing, Michigan, writes:
For over three years I suffered much pain and annoyance from stomach disease. I had no help from my digestive organs apparently, and my food would stay in my stomach and ferment causing gas; there was also a dizzy headache. I doctored and used every remedy that I heard of, but it remained for M-O-N-A to cure me entirely. Before I had used three boxes, my appetite and digestive organs became all right. It is a wonderful remedy. M-O-N-A stomach tablets are small and easy to swallow. They stop the most painful stomach distress in five minutes. They drive out worms and gas and make the stomach clean and sweet.
They are sold by Marchman's drug store under a positive guarantee to cure any case of indigestion or money back.
They put vigor and vitality into people run down by indigestion. Sold by Marchman's drug store and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN IN THE WINDY CITY

Majority Contest One of the Most Interesting in the History of Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—One of the liveliest majority campaigns that Chicago has seen in years entered upon the "whirlwind" stage today, with but one week remaining before the candidates of the two parties are chosen at the direct primaries. The election will take place early in April.
The primaries are attracting a vast amount of public attention. The candidate favored by the Republican organization is John P. Thompson. Besides him the two strongest Republican candidates are John E. Snulski, who has long been a prominent figure in Republican city politics, and Al German (Charles E. Merriam). Mr. Merriam is a professor in the University of Chicago and a writer on political science. As head of the so-called Merriam Commission he laid bare the graft in the city administration and brought about the removal of several city officials.
The Democratic contest brings to life again the old rivalry between former Mayor Carter H. Harrison and former Mayor Edward F. Dunne. Mr. Harrison, who was mayor for several terms, following in the footsteps of his father, is again a candidate on an independent Democratic ticket.
Ex-Mayor Dunne's campaign has the slogan, "Nobody wants him but the people." Mr. Dunne is a lawyer. When mayor he made a good record. He lowered the telephone rates, and

Sail on nor fear to brash the sea,

Our faith, triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee,
In hope of reciprocity.

Strange-White Shoe Company

The Methodist Episcopal Church In The Southwest

(By Thomas B. Neely.)
Close students of our church affairs know there is a Gulf Conference, but how many know what it is or where it is? An official of the General Church was asked what idea the title gave him of the location and the extent of the Conference, and he replied that he supposed it was a narrow strip of country running along the Gulf of Mexico. Great was his surprise when the writer told him that, while it touched the Gulf, it took in the eastern part of Texas and ran to its northern border, and that it included all of the State of Louisiana and part of Mississippi. It has four districts, namely, the East Texas, the North Louisiana, the Southern; and, on the eastern side of the Mississippi River, the New Orleans District, which extends to the Louisiana boundary and over the line into the State of Mississippi.
The Methodist Episcopal Church is not, and never was, "The Methodist Episcopal Church, North," but "The Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States of America," and today it is in the South and it is of the South. For example, the Gulf Conference is not merely a Southern Conference, but it consists largely of Southern people. Nearly every preacher in the Conference is Southern born, and nearly every one is the son or grandson of a Southern soldier who fought in the Civil War on the Southern side. This means that the Gulf Conference is not only in the South, but is of the South.
While some of the very large Conferences, with their many ministers and members and their immense funds, have little or no net gain in membership, or, perhaps, a fraction of one per cent, this little Conference far down South, with about forty-one Conference preachers and with 3,521 full members, showed at its recent session a net gain of 631 full members, making now 4,162 full members and 284 probationers. There was an increase of 1,334 Sunday School scholars, ten or a dozen new churches were built, and the church and parsonage property is now valued at about $180,000.
These things show that the Methodist Episcopal Church is wanted in and has a mission to the South. Southern people want it for various reasons: some because they believe it presents a style of religious teaching they need and desire, and some like it because of its non-sectarian breadth. Such persons are tired of sectionalism, and, as they believe in one nation with one flag they like a church that is not limited to one section, even if it is their own Sunny South, and so they like the Methodist Episcopal Church, which is in every State and Territory of the Union.
In the South there is need for all the Christian workers it can get. No one church—indeed, not all the churches together—can do all that is needed, and there is a vast territory in the South practically unoccupied by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Episcopal Church has gone into various places where the church, South, never had been.
In the city of Welsh, La., where the Gulf Conference recently convened, there was no Church, South, and never had been, and the Methodist Episcopal Church went to the people, gathered a congregation and built a church. Later the Church, South, entered, but after a time sold its church and abandoned the place.
Whatever may be said as to obstacles in the slave era, or of conditions that existed just after the Civil War, it is now time for the Methodist Episcopal Church to recognize that new conditions have developed in the South and that is needed there.
We have referred to a changed feeling manifested by Southern-born people. In addition there is another changed condition produced by a great immigration from the North into Texas and Louisiana. Texas has had a great growth in population. In 1870 it had 1,185,576, but by 1910 the population had increased to 3,896,742, nearly four millions, or more than 3,000,000 more than in 1870. In the last ten years alone it had an increase of 847,832, which is considerably more than its entire population in 1870. It is said that over one hundred thousand people from the North go into Texas every year. In ten years that will mean more than a million. As these immigrants mingle and mix with the old Southern population anyone can see that that means a New South.

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wichita Falls, Texas, February 20, 1911.

This weather vindicates the groundhog story on Feb. 2.

The ice man will now step aside until the coal man gets in his work.

Those Englishmen never could see the joke in Champ Clark's speech about annexing Canada to the United States, and the next time Mr. Clark gets off anything like that he should brand it before turning it loose. Even President Taft did not seem to understand that Champ was only joking.

The Bailey majority in the Texas Legislature would dispose of six of the anti-Bailey Congressmen in the Texas delegation to a Kilkenny catfight, i. e., tie their tails together and hang them over a wire to fight it out. Henry and Hardy, Slayden and Galloway and Gregg and Young, are scheduled by the redistricting bill to do the Kilkenny stunt while Handell and Burleson were left each to himself, but in strong Bailey districts. It is asserted that twelve of the present sixteen Texas Congressmen aren't even on speaking terms with the junior Senator, and the charitable effort to redistrict the State on strictly a Bailey basis seems to be in the nature of an attempt to make the Texas delegation confined only to worshippers at the Bailey shrine. The bill seems, moreover, to have carved out the additional districts to suit the powers that be. The first districts furnishes a place for Senator Hudspeth. The Third for Lieutenant Governor Davidson, the Eighth for Speaker Rayburn, the Fifteenth might suit Senator Astin and the Sixteenth might suit Senator Lattimore. There's an old saying: "The best laid plans of mice and men oft go awry." We'll see if it still holds good. -Denton Record and Chronicle.

Redistricting of the State should be made without regard as to the wishes of those who are already in Congress or who want to go. The districts belong to the people and not the candidates. As formed at present they are all right, and the attempt to cut our districts to the liking of aspiring candidates, if successful, will result in defeat of those who offer as candidates in the districts they have had gerrymandered to their liking. Rather than have the district cut out as indicated by the Record and Chronicle, it would be better by far to let them remain as now and elect two additional congressmen to which Texas is entitled from the State at large. If they happen to be what is known as "Bailey men," it will be all right and decidedly more fair.

The towns that progress are the ones where the people get together and work for the good of the town. Not two or three or a dozen, but where all of the live ones recognize that in unity there is strength, and where the men of means take the lead. The towns that do not progress are the ones where a few own the earth thereabouts and are afraid progress will disturb their per cent of income. -Palestine Herald.

A beautiful sentiment, that, when lived up to. One thing, however, that is often overlooked, and that is that we who are so anxious to boost and build often lose sight of the fact that we are under obligations to some extent, at least, to take care of, by providing work and patrons for those we already have with us, many of whom have been induced to come and embark in business on the flattering prospects that abound in a city or town that is being boosted to the limit for all it is worth by our ever enterprising commercial organizations imbued with the "pull-together" spirit. There should be competition in every line of business, but some care should be taken to avoid, if possible, inducing too many to locate and engage in the same line if there is evidence to believe that that special line has more competition in the field than the patronage will well justify. When such a condition exists, it means that one or more, and perhaps all who happen to be engaged in that special business, will be forced to conduct it at a loss, and maybe some will fail, and business failures, when brought about by the lack of patronage, are not good advertisements for any live and progressive town or city.

Benton Show Remains at Ruby. Perce H. Benton's Comedians are to hold the boards at the Ruby Theatre again this week. This company made many friends last week who no doubt will be glad to learn this as it is Mr. Benton's endeavor to give the best show for the smallest possible price of admission. The first three days, starting tonight, Mr. Benton's own play, "A Cowboy's Girl," is the offering. This piece has been played from coast to coast and never received an adverse criticism. It is just the play that is liked by everyone. Entire scenic equipment is carried for this production; in fact nothing is left undone to make it complete in every detail. Mr. Benton will be seen as Judge Annals Boliver, a comedy role that is well-fitted to his talents. Two new members will be seen this week which will add to the strength of this already good company. At the Colonial. This popular place of amusement has secured for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at an extra expense, The Noted Musical Millers, presenting their original instrumental comedy act, "A Musical Mash on Market Day." Novel stage setting, mechanical effects, introducing musical mule and cast, rare time cats and quack orchestra of dancing ducks. The management announces in connection with the above program the photo play will be 2,000 feet of the latest and most up-to-date subjects. Mr. Taylor will sing his new illustrated song hit. deal with "resolutely by a Democratic Congress," not in a manner so precipitate as to destroy business, but through a settled method in the hands of a permanent tariff commission.

Duties on the necessities of life he believed, however, should be removed at once without waiting for a commission to report.

"It is little short of criminal," he says, "to allow one man, through the direct help of the Government, to make an artificial profit from the poor."

In conclusion, he indorses the parcels post system and advocates currency reform.

"There are other questions of great importance," he says, "such as the creation and maintenance of the merchant marine, the fortification of the Panama Canal and others, which might be mentioned. I think these, however, sufficiently illustrate my position upon the controlling questions."

The last words he preserves for what he believes to be the duty of a Representative or Senator. This, he says, is to represent the "whole country, even if he encounters the criticism of his own people."

torqued out wholly inadequate expelling power.

"I believe that sound statesmanship demands of us that we carefully preserve the centralized form of industry with its multiplied capacity for production and distribution and that we make this centralized industrial serve the purpose of a great civilization by that rigid regulation which will take out of the heart of it its corruption and strip from it its power of oppression and extortion.

"The fact that it will in this view become necessary from time to time for the Federal Government to increase its power and enlarge its supervision of these great concerns, makes it more and more necessary that the United States Senators should be elected directly by the people, in the end that such Senators shall spring from the very will and desire of the people and to the further end that no concern however unbounded its power, unlimited its wealth or unscrupulous its management, shall not be able to control the election of these Senators, except by a debauchery of the electorate, a danger not to be feared."

Taking up the tariff question, Mr. Littleton says he believes there are certain high-minded Republicans who deplore the passage of the Payne-Adair bill and who believe that the tariff should be honestly revised.

The question, he says, should be

HEAVIEST RAINS FOR MANY MONTHS

Gas Main Broken By Rise in River Interrupting the Service on North Side.

Indicating the heaviest rains since May and June, 1907, Red River is now at flood tide at noon today being only eighteen inches below the high water mark in 1907. The river rose steadily throughout the night last night and was still rising this morning. The Big Wichita, too, is swollen, the current running half bank full.

The rise last night broke the gas main where it crosses the river near the wagon bridge and today the people on the north side of the river are without fuel, and the Northwestern brick plant is closed down until a temporary line can be laid over the bridge. Permission to cross the bridge with the gas main was granted by the North Texas Gas Company by the County Commissioners this afternoon.

The rise at Lake Wichita has been barely perceptible and more rain will be required on the headquarters of Holliday Creek before there is any considerable rise in the level of the lake.

The senate adopted the Vaughan resolution for night sessions Monday, Wednesday and Friday, the vote being twenty-three to five.

LITTLE BUSINESS COMPLETED TODAY

By Associated Press
Austin, Texas, Feb. 20.—Representative Terrell of Cherokee county continued the arguments in the House this morning on the A. & M. bill while the Senate committee reported the following bills favorably: Payment of all vouchers of public school teachers when due, the compulsory education of children between eight and fifteen years and creating the seventy first judicial district.

Senator Terrell of McLennan county introduced a bill in the senate authorizing the sale of the state railroad, if consumed in six months, falling in that to lease it, the minimum sale price to be fixed by the board of penitentiary commissioners. A concurrent resolution was introduced for adjournment on March 1st. Senator Willacy introduced a bill giving irrigation companies the right to impound the flow of fresh streams, provided the opening of the natural flow be assured.

ARIZONA LOYAL TO CONSTITUTION

RECALL FOR JUDICIARY SAID TO HAVE DRAWN CRITICISM OF PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.

SENATORS PLEDGE SUPPORT

Almost Unanimous Vote for Adoption Shows How Those to Be Governed Regard It.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 20.—Between 80 and 90 per cent of Arizona's voters having declared themselves in favor of the constitution prepared for Statehood at the special election, the issue now is placed squarely up to Congress. The returns from the election is a basis for relief that Congress will pay proper attention to what the new State wants.

It has been rumored that President Taft does not like some features of the constitution, particularly that feature which includes the judiciary in the recall provision. No one can tell when and where the President said he would not approve of constitution containing such a provision but it has been persistently reported here that he did make such a statement.

Ralph Cameron, Arizona's delegate in Congress, came here to campaign against adopting the constitution and urged that it be revised so that it would meet approval and thus avoid statehood delay. He sent a long telegram to every newspaper in the State stating that from talks he had with the President and members of both branches of Congress he was sure the constitution, in its present form, would be rejected.

Progressive-Senators Pledge Support
C. H. Akers of the Arizona Gazette, telegraphed Senator Bourne, president of the National Republican Progressive League, asking him for information as to how the Senate stood on the question. An answer was sent him signed by Senators Bourne, Brewster, Brown, Clapp, Cummings, Dixon and La Follette, saying:

"So far as our voice and votes are concerned, Arizona will not be deprived of statehood because of the constitutional popular government features, particularly the initiative and referendum and recall. We can assure you that we believe the people of Arizona have wisely incorporated these provisions in their constitution which permits them to control legislation and keep their public servants accountable to them. This principle is fundamentally and eternally right and the people of Arizona should adhere to it."

This reassuring message came the day before the election and through the efforts of Akers was telegraphed all over Arizona before the polls opened the next day.

Then came the answer from the voters, with over eighty per cent of them voting for the constitution. Friends of the measure say that even this big majority does not fairly represent public sentiment, for the feeling was so much one way that many did not vote. Ninety per cent is said to be a fair estimate. In a good many precincts the vote for the constitution was unanimous. In the entire State but three precincts were carried by the opposition.

Recent Outside Interference.
Friends of the constitution feel that its fate will be safe with Congress. It is the work of 52 men who labored hard and conscientiously to frame an up-to-date constitution meeting the wishes of a progressive constituency.

After turning down a proposition for joint statehood with New Mexico and insisting on being an individual state, the people of Arizona feel that this constitution is theirs, they have elected to live under it and they do not see why a member of Congress from any other state shall feel called upon to interfere with plans Arizona has made for managing her own affairs.

Other modern features of the constitution, the initiative and referendum, do not meet with adverse criticism. All of it is directed to the recall provision which includes the judiciary, the sentiment being that the dignity of the court should be respected to the extent of letting a bad judge serve his term out anyway. Those who framed the constitution and those who have overwhelmingly endorsed it are in favor of getting rid of a bad judge as quickly as possible by the recall method.

Exhibition of Aerial Craft.
Boston, Mass., Feb. 20.—Aeroplanes of every type, including several machines that have established records for distance, speed or height either in this country or abroad, are included among the exhibits at the second National Exhibition of Aerial Craft, that opened in Mechanics Building today and will continue to hold forth there until the end of the week. In addition to the various types of air craft the show comprises a wonderful display of accessories, which illustrate almost as much as the machines themselves the amazing progress in the field of aeronautics during the past few years.

Anything in Your Eyes?

Many people who come to me for eye examination imagine that there is some foreign substance in their eyes. It is sometimes hard to convince them that these gritty, sandy scratchings, irritating conditions are symptoms and effects due to refractive errors which may be corrected by the use of proper glasses.

Some Experience In Making Good Roads

(Stewart Lives de Krafft in Harper's Weekly.)

Again has the "Iowa idea" come to the front and center, this time in the matter of good roads. If the building of a road across the state from Council Bluffs, on the east bank of the Missouri river, to Davenport, on the west bank of the Mississippi, 380 miles way, in less than five months; if perfecting similar dragged roads from Des Moines to Burlington, and thence to Okechoji, 400 miles distant; if another river-to-river road from Clinton to Council Bluffs, 400 miles away, not to mention the fact that Dubuque and Sioux City are discussing the advisability of being joined by a dragged road—if these things indicate a solution of the good roads problem, Iowa has solved it.

It is due primarily to the desire of J. W. Eichinger, news editor of the Des Moines Capital, to perform a newspaper feat. By the success of his undertaking Eichinger has stamped himself as a genius, and when other states grasp the simplicity, soundness and low cost of maintenance of his idea, they will rise up in thankfulness and call him blessed. The audacious energy of Eichinger galvanized human sloths into activity and made working on a public highway with a splitting drag the popular form of amusement.

Any man who can transform an Iowa mud road to a nearly perfect highway, 380 miles long, at an estimated cost of building and maintenance for the first year, of $3 a mile has grasped a new idea in the matter of road building. That the road from Council Bluffs to Davenport is a success and is commanding the attention of the entire country and Canada, is shown not only by its splendid condition, but by the enormous mail that pours in upon the secretary of the River-to-River Dragged Road, which is Mr. Eichinger's official designation, without pay, by the way.

At first Eichinger tried the correspondence method of attempting to interest persons along the proposed route of the River-to-River Dragged Road. The frost that nipped this crop of letters would have discouraged most men, but not this slender, stoop-shouldered fair-haired chap, who is a human dynamo, when it comes to radiating energy. Still, some of the seed fell upon fertile soil, and Eichinger cultivated it.

He made the township his road-working unit. Once Eichinger hit upon the township unit, he promptly proceeded to interest the influential men of the country in the project—farmers, bankers, automobilists, country editors, clergymen, merchants, school teachers and scholars, all were pressed into service. Governor Carroll appointed commissioners for each county, every one of whom received a commission bearing the great seal of the state, with a lot of ribbon, and was altogether an imposing document. And these men served without pay. Upon a diplomatic hint the townships of a county through which the road passed were formed into an organization like a company of infantry. With the "special river-to-river dragged road commissioner" as captain. He had his squads strung out along the road, and upon the word from Secretary Eichinger, started them to work dragging the highway. The haughty owner of a drag behind his car and got to work. It did not take long to establish the fact that a motor car could drag after a rate from eight to ten miles of the highway in an hour, thus leaving the road in excellent condition.

It was discouraging work for Eichinger at the start. About the first ray of encouragement he received was a letter from J. W. Foster, a banker at Guthrie Center, who wrote, "Half an hour ago I received your letter in regard to a river-to-river dragged road. It's a practical project. Guthrie Center wants to be on the road. I have called a mass meeting of the citizens at the city hall this evening to discuss it."

But let Eichinger tell his story. He says: "Guthrie Center held its mass meeting. Foster was named head of a committee to select a route through the county. Men were chosen to take up the project with the road officers in each township in the county to be crossed by the road. They were to visit the farmers along the road, and to report to the committee the condition of the highway."

"In the first mail next day there came a map of Guthrie county. A heavy black band indicated the route selected. A page of writing told of the condition of the road and what was proposed to make it right. The day following its receipt this map, four columns wide and as deep, together with the story of the selection of the road appeared on the front page of the Des Moines Capital. Copies of this issue of the paper were sent to every name secured in the 12 counties through which the road was to pass, to every commercial club, automobile association, every county and township officer, whose names had been secured from the county clerks. Then things began to hum."

"As the organization grew, the job became easier. Everybody worked in unison. As near as possible, the same phases of the project were being worked out in every one of the 12 counties at the same time. Finally, when things were progressing well, the first scouting car over the 1910 Glidden tour route landed in Wichita, Kan. Little had been thought of the Glidden tour. Then the idea dawned—get this tour over the river-to-river dragged road.

FARMERS AND RECIPROCITY

President Wilson in his address will pursue the same line of argument in regard to reciprocity used by the President in his recent speeches in Columbia and Springfield, but will go more into details of the plan and the number in which it may be expected to affect the interests of the American farmer. His speech will be a direct reply to the arguments going the rounds that the farmers and farmer organizations of the country are opposed to Canadian reciprocity.

Earl Beauchamp. Earl Beauchamp, First Commissioner of Works in the British cabinet, was born Feb. 20, 1872, and succeeded his father, the sixth Earl, in 1891. The following year he married Lady Lettice Grosvenor, daughter of the late Earl Grosvenor and sister of the present Duke of Westminster. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, and when he was only twenty-three years old was elected mayor of Worcester. For two years he was a member of the London School Board and from 1899 to 1901 he was governor of New South Wales. In 1905 he was appointed Captain of the Corps of Gentlemen at Arms, and in 1907 became Steward to King Edward. Before his appointment to his present office he served as Lord President of the Council.

ALL THE WRITING ALWAYS IN SIGHT

(The biggest order ever placed by any firm or corporation for typewriters for their own use) because their own mechanical experts, sitting as a jury, said it was unquestionably the best. They examined all competing makes, tested them under every condition of stress and strain, and voted unanimously in favor of the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter. Many large concerns have already been guided by this expert opinion and have standardized, as the Dupont did, with the typewriter that stood the test. There could be no test more thorough, or more unbiased decisions.

ARE CONSIDERING THE JAIL CONTRACT

The county commissioners this afternoon have again taken up the consideration of bids for the construction of the county jail. When Judge Elder announced at the opening of the court this afternoon that the jail bids were up for action, Commissioner Thomas expressed a desire to again examine the different samples of bids upon which the bids were submitted by the different companies submitting bids. This inspection was still in progress at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is probable however, that the inspection will be completed and the contract awarded before adjournment this afternoon.

LOCAL FOUNDRY HAS THE DENVER CONTRACT

The Wichita Falls Foundry and Machine Company today signed a contract with the Fort Worth and Denver Railway which they are to cast all the brass work required by the railroad during a period of two years. This contract is in addition to the contract held by the local foundry for the iron casting for that railroad.

These contracts amount to nearly $100,000 per annum and assure employment for a number of molders.

The local foundry also casts iron and brass work for the Wichita Falls and Northwestern, the Quannah, Acme and Pacific and other lines.

The new cupola recently ordered by the company has arrived and will be installed this week, practically doubling the capacity of the foundry department.

CASIMERE

Floral cream is made for ladies who really care. We have a dozen kinds of face cream for people who think that cream is cream but for the lady who values her facial appearance as she should, we have only one thing to offer, and that is Casimere Floral Cream made in a chemical laboratory that does not make anything but this cream.

Casimere is a vanishing cream that is absolutely non greasy and we sell it under an unconditional guarantee if you are not satisfied with it the bitter joke is on us and the money is yours and when we say vanishing cream we don't mean a messy cream made from glycerine, vasoline, or anything that has to be removed from the face with a towel and that will cover the face with hair. Greasy face creams are dangerous.

Casimere is pre-eminently superior and you can get more information from using one jar than we could tell you in a whole page of the Times' best space.
