Real Estate Deal Today Record Breaking Price

The Times is reliably informed that Lot 7, block 184 being fifty feet frontage at the northwest corner of Indiana avenue and Eighth street has been contracted for either by R. E. Huff and W. M. McGregor, or the First National Bank of Wichita Falls. The deal was closed this morning. The first twenty-five feet at the corner now occupied by the Corner Grocery was purchased from Lena, Cora and Curtis Phillips. The deal was made through the real estate agency of Dibrell and Greenwood and while the price and terms are private it is understood the property sold for the highest price ever paid for Wichita Falls real estate. It is reliably reported that the consideration was in excess of $900 per front foot.

The adjoining twenty-five feet now occupied by a meat market known as the Filgo Market was purchased from Mrs. M. C. White.

The lot comprised in the two purchases is 150 feet deep and at present is partially covered by one-story brick structures.

The gentlemen concerned decline to be interviewed as to their plans stating that they are not fully matured, but will be decided upon by the time possession is given. A lease on a part of this property runs until next February. While no authoritative announcement can be made it is believed a large bank and office building will be erected thereon early next year.

The property involved in this sale is considered by judges of real estate to be the best corner in Wichita Falls and the interests now acquiring it undoubtedly will not allow it to be idle nor to remain in its present shape.

AMENDMENT HAS BEEN DEFEATED

RETURNS FROM FIFTY COUNTIES
SHOW ADVERSE MAJORITY
NOW OF 5,874.

NO VOTE IN 4 COUNTIES

Will Not Effect Construction of Proposed Line By Kemp and Kell.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 29.—Indications are that the railroad amendment voted upon last Tuesday has been defeated. The State Election Board has official returns from fifty counties showing a total yes vote of 28,975 and no 34,849, or an adverse majority of 5,874. This, however, does not include the counties of Oklahoma and Comanche, which were heavily in the affirmative; neither does it include Jackson, which went the other way by 753.

Counties received by the board showing adverse majorities were: Adair, Alfalfa, Beckham, Bryan, Cleveland, Coal, Craig, Garvin, Grant, Haskell, Greer, Hughes, Johnston, Kay, Kingfisher, Kiowa, Latimer, Lincoln, Logan, Love, Marshall, Mayes, Noble, Nowata, Ottawa, Pawnee, Payne, Pontotoc, Rogers and Swanton.

Counties received by the board showing favorable majorities were: Blaine, Carter, Canadian, Choctaw, Creek, Custer, Garfield, Grady, Jefferson, McClain, Major, Murray, Okmulgee, Pittsburg, Pottawatomie, Rogers, Mills, Tulsa, Washington, Woods, and Woodward.

Secretary Riley of the State Board says he has not yet received excuses from the four counties which held no election. It has not been determined whether such failure will affect the general result. In each case the election supplies arrived in ample time, according to the records of the State Board.

It was stated last night that another effort would be made to correct Section 9 through another submission by the Legislature, should there be a special session this summer, but if not the proposition would more than likely be initiated.

The suit was filed this morning through attorneys Hughes and Scurry. In his complaint the plaintiff charges that the defendant said that "he (the defendant) was satisfied in his own mind that Kennedy set the house on fire or had it done" and made other statements of similar tenor thereby injuring the plaintiff's good name and reputation and that as a result he has been exposed to the evil suspicion of his fellow men, and has lost their confidence and esteem and has been caused to suffer humiliation and shame. The plaintiff further claims that he carried insurance in the sum of $10,000. That his loss was about $12,000 but that because of the alleged libelous statements of the defendant he was compelled to settle with the insurance companies for $7,500 in order to avoid expensive litigation. He further alleges that on account of the alleged false statements uttered by the defendant he will be unable to again secure insurance and is therefore barred from re-entering the mercantile business.

IN SOCIETY'S REALM

Kensington Club. On account of a general interest in the ball game Friday, this wide-awake club met Thursday afternoon with Miss Bonnie Skinner. Messrs. Heigler, Griffith, Fain and Gaston having previously contributed quantities of "calico," lace and other materials, this obliging "light fingered" club, fashioned them into a beautiful sofa pillow for the aforesaid gentlemen. This afforded laughing diversion for those willing workers and later the hostess who had made her home charming with a profusion of roses, served a refreshment course of sherbet with pink and white cake to the guests, Mesdames J. O. Smith, Rolling, Glass and members, Mesdames Somers, Coates, E. L. Smith, Wallace, Lobb, Patterson, Bown, Misses Lee and Finlay.

500 Party. The social gathering for the week opened Monday evening when Mrs. Frank Collier of Austin street, entertained at five tables of cards giving unusual pleasure to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Richolt, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Myles, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Duke, Misses Dent, Curry and Pauline Richolt and Don McCauley. Cut flowers in vases abounded throughout the house and Little Mary Farnes manipulated the punch. Mrs. Richolt carried off the prize vase of Japanese ware and a pair of silk half-hose was captured by Morris Marcus in a cut. The hostess was assisted in dispensing hospitality and serving ice cream and cake by her sister, Mrs. Duke and Mrs. A. E. Myles.

Merry Maids and Matrons. An especially pleasant meeting of this pleasure club was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. M. M. Noble, 1813 Ninth street. The fragrance of flowers filled the rooms because of the liberal use of La France roses, whose note of pink gave pleasing effect to the decorations and rosebud favors. The same color predominated in the refreshment course of ice cream and cake which was served at the close of the tea to the guests. Mesdames R. E. Huff, Denny, White, Browns, Brin, Orth and members: Misses Lee, Denny, Avis, Skinner, White, Mesdames Webb, Norton, Orloff, Moore, Kahn, Tate, Wallace, Somers and Marchman. The prize—a beautiful fan with ivory sticks, went in a cut to Miss Lee and the visitors favor to Mrs. Brown. Hostess for the incoming week will be Mrs. O. P. Marchman at the home of the Walkers.

Y. M. C. A. The social meeting held Monday night at the genial home of Mrs. P. P. Landford, while not a crush, was one of unusual interest to those in attendance. Various games were introduced and formed a part of the evening's entertainment. Songs in which all engaged contributed their share but the vehicle around which centered most of the evening's pleasure was an original story. This, when started, was taken up by the guests in turn and the latent talent manifested in the clever turns was really remarkable and would have put some short story writers to shame. The hostess who is also president directed the meeting with her usual aplomb, and with a Mariposa interest served ice cream and cake in addition to the fruit punch provided by the committee.

A Brilliant Event. "Coming events cast their shadows before," and the Elks Minstrel promises to be one of the most imposing affairs ever witnessed in our city. The parade alone will be worth going miles to see and if the success of the various committees is an indication the crush will be something to conjure with. Tickets are going like wild-fire already and if the enthusiasm continues standing room will be at a premium. Messrs. Miller and Draper, who have the matter in charge will arrive Sunday afternoon and rehearsals will begin in earnest Monday and continue uninterruptedly until the opening performance.

Girl's Embroidery Club. With their club insignia needles and thimbles the girls assembled Tuesday afternoon in the commodious home of the Kells, corner of Ninth and Bluff streets. Besides the daughters of the home, were present Misses Ed the favorite, Phoebe, Bishop, Temple Thompson and Frances Smith. Nimble fingers were spurred to greater activity by the melodious strains dispensed by the Victor Victrola. Shakespeare's mandatory "Go ply thy needle; Meddle not," is not framed in the constitution of this club, but is an unwritten law just the same. In the late afternoon, strawberries and cream, served by the hostess, ended a most enjoyable time.

Tuesday Bridge Club. Mrs. J. D. Scraggs entertained the Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claud Woods. Pink and white rosebuds and jars of growing plants were used to decorate the rooms in which the card-tables were laid. Mrs. R. D. Thornburn was awarded the favor for the afternoon. At the close of the game an ice cream was served to Mrs. Coates, Little, Jones, Maeg, May, Marchman, Myles, Smith, Sherman, Thornburn, Webb, Sanders, Walker, Woods and Miss Cobb, Orth and Crutcher.

Informal Supper. Dr. and Mrs. McKee were guests in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Zundelwitz Monday evening and it goes without saying that it was an enjoyable occasion. While formal functions have their place, it is the little informal affairs that bring us in close touch with our friends and gives us a better understanding of each other. May they multiply.

Sewing Club. A few of the faithful met in pleasant session this week with Mrs. C. B. Montgomery of Tenth street and spent a very cozy afternoon with this genial hostess. Numbers were somewhat depleted by sickness and absence from town but those who were fortunate enough to be present felt amply repaid in a social way.

Luncheon. At their beautiful country home, Mr. and Mrs. Donehoo entertained at luncheon Sunday with twenty of the young people of the Cashon community as guests. Covers were laid and the most tempting viands served to Misses Jewell, Hobbs, Annie Humm, Della Martin, Virgie Perry, Lada Martin, Edith Bates Jewell, Hazel and Ethel DeChoo, Orpha Martin; Messrs. Homer Gilbert, Louis, Conders Nunnally, Daniles, Gilbert and Willis. In the afternoon experiments with a kodak on the Donehoo estate was an enjoyable feature. The gracious hospitality of both host and hostess was thoroughly appreciated by all present.—A Guest.

The Floral Art Club. A most interesting meeting of this club was held Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. Alex. Kain. Twenty members answered roll-call with current events. Oub president, Mrs. Geo. Moore read several letters of interest to the club, after which the business of paramount importance, the election of officers, which unfortunately had been postponed from the second Tuesday in April was taken up. The nominating committee through the chairman, Mrs. Gebhardt reported as follows: Mrs. G. L. Moore, president; Mrs. C. W. Dean, vice president; Mrs. E. M. Harris, treasurer; Mrs. C. W. Rountree, secretary. These popular officers were unanimously elected. The year book committee consisting of Miss Ethel Chamberlain, Mrs. E. M. Harris and Mrs. Harry Robertson was organized in order to have the work ready for the first meeting in October. Having finished the day's business the program was opened by Miss Seelinger who gave a most interesting piece of word-painting, illustrating four of the most famous architectural designs in the world. Following this Mrs. Gebhardt gave a hearty paper on "Myths of the North," full of interesting legends of Scandinavian Mythology and English and Irish folklores. Mrs. Harry Robertson's paper on the last best painting of the world was a fitting climax to the fine program we had enjoyed. No doubt could have been more fitted to write subject and our expectations were more than realized. With a happy faculty of description, Mrs. Robertson presented the grand masterpieces and explained her remarks by showing small reproductions of the same. The hour being late adjournment was had to meet May 9th, with Mrs. Gebhardt.—Reporter.

Anniversary. The twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lovely Magholla Blossoma which Mobile friends had sent the hostess, were heartily enjoyed by the twelve guests present; and after some time spent in music and conversation all attention was given to the concoction of that delectable dish Welsh rabbit. Those who have enjoyed these children's dinners on former occasions will need no urging to "lend a hand." The rhymes were up to the usual standard and that of little four-year-old Eva Denver was worthy of note. There were about thirty members present and the meeting adjourned after partaking of light refreshments served by the hostess.

Wedding Bells. At her home in Seymour Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock was solemnized the marriage of Miss Franke Britton and Mr. J. E. Lankford also of that place. It was a simple home wedding but thoroughly artistic in every respect. A profusibility of carnations and stulax made the arch where the ceremony was performed a thing of beauty and the other decorations added charm to the festive appearance of the rooms quite in keeping with the occasion. Rev. Mr. Carter was officiating clergyman and in a most impressive manner "made the twin one." The bride gowned in white, with veil and orange blossoms, carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses, as she also wore a crown of honor, Miss Johanna Bales and the matron of honor, Mrs. V. F. Hallum. Little Genevieve Hallum, niece of the bride was ring bearer and W. T. Browning best man. After receiving the sincere congratulations of relatives and friends the bride donned her going-away gown and the happy pair separated amid a shower of rice and good wishes for a wedding trip to Chicago. Upon their return Mrs. Lankford will go to house keeping in Seymour where the former is in the furniture business.

Mrs. Lankford will be remembered as the sister of Mr. Alex. Britton whom she visited here, where she formed many warm friendships.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Walker, "Eccentric Characteristics of Noted Musicians" Mrs. Reece, piano solo, Miss Brooks, and a vocal selection by Mrs. Robert concluded the program at the end of which the hostess served light refreshments to an appreciative gathering.

IN THE LABOR WORLD.

A state law recently passed in Colorado prohibits corporations from importing labor in cases of strikes. It is expected that about 1,500 union carpenters will go on strike in Los Angeles, on May 1, to obtain higher wages. The unorganized seamen in New York city are coming into the union fast, and a demand for better conditions will be made this spring. The International Association of Steam, Hot Water and Power Pipe Fitters and Helpers will hold its annual convention at Cincinnati, June 5, 1911. The Oregon legislature recently passed a law compelling manufacturers of convict-made goods to place labels on all such goods sold in Oregon. The Chicago Furniture and Expressmen's Association, has yielded to the demands of the baggage and parcel-delivery drivers for $16 a week, an advance of $1. Minneapolis, Minn., plasterers demand a raise from $5 a day to $5.50 for eight hours, to become effective May 1. It is said that 90 per cent of the men are in the union. President Taft has tentatively accepted an invitation to address the tenth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Harrisburg, Pa., on Sunday, May 24. The wage earners who were members of unions in the State of Michigan in 1905 was $3,935. In 1910 the number increased to 89,472 and in that period the average wages of the workers increased from $1.95 to $2.05 per day. Senator La Follette intends to establish, by legislation if he can, the right of government employes to organize unions in the same manner that trades are organized and to affiliate with the A. F. of L. A decision by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor giving to the granite cutters the right to set curbs and denying that right to the pavers and rammer-men has been rendered recently. Standards established by the sugar planters and other employers of labor in the Hawaiian Islands are so low and the wages paid so small as to reduce the laborers practically to a state of penance and to discourage the Americanization of the Islands. It looks as though Hunter had clinched the first-base job with the Pirates.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The big league scouts are all out on the job and eager to grab the youngsters that look good.

Bill Bradley, the old Cleveland player, is looking after the third station for Toronto, and doing good work.

Boston fans believe they have the greatest outfield in the business in Speaker, Lewis and Hooper of the Red Sox.

During his school days in West Virginia Dick Hoblitzel, the Cincinnati first baseman, was a star football player.

Mrs. H. H. Robinson Britton, a niece of the late Stanley Robinson, has been elected vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The New York Americans will dedicate the new ball park at Cincinnati next spring, a few days before the opening of the regular season.

No brides can travel with the Athletics. Connie Mack says that his players must leave their wives at home. And Connie himself is a bridegroom. Can you beat that?

Third baseman Zimmerman of the Cubs has to stand for a lot of rough stuff in Chicago. Every time he makes a bobble the fans become peevish and holler for Steinfield.

If Jimmy McAleer's Washington outfit can hold fast to their present speed American League teams will not be able to jam the National down in the second division and keep them there. No, sir.

Manager Fred Tenney of the Boston Rustlers is another old boy with a return ticket. Fred is showing the same winning stuff that he displayed the year Bunker Hill was discovered.

Stray Topics From Little Old New York

New York, April 29.—A rather interesting celebration was held in the New York Safe Deposit Company's new plant in the basement of the Singer Building. It was in commemoration of the establishment, fifty years ago, of the first public safe deposit vaults in this country by the New York Safe Deposit Company. Half a century ago fire-proof safes were rare and banks disclaimed all responsibility for cash boxes or securities left with them for safe keeping. Hotel proprietors could not be held responsible for more than a sufficient amount of traveling expenses, and fire insurance companies did not insure against loss of securities or books of account. It was Francis H. Jenks, first president of the New York Safe Deposit Company, who conceived the plan of constructing fire and burglar proof vaults for the accommodation of persons who wished to protect their valuables and he sent out a pamphlet in which he explained the plan and invited the public to avail itself of the protection given by his vaults. The idea was at first opposed on the ground that the vaults could not be made burglar-proof and that the accumulation of valuables in one place would attract the attention of safe-breakers from all over the country. Nevertheless the first safe deposit vaults at 116 Broadway proved a success and now there are thirty-six companies engaged in the same business, which President Jenks originated fifty years ago.

In this age of constant changes and meteoric restlessness it is always a matter of surprise to learn of any case in which an individual or an institution has resisted the universal tendency for any considerable number of years. One of these cases of unusual conservatism came to public notice the other day, when the Rev. Dr. William N. Dunnell, retired from All Saints' Episcopal Church at Henry and Scammel streets, after having been pastor of that church for the last forty years. On the occasion of his retirement the venerable pastor was overwhelmed with tokens of the love and appreciation of his faithful sermons by the members of his congregation.

Another, even more remarkable case was that of Mrs. Miles E. Jenkins, or "Mother" Jenkins, as she is known among her numerous friends, who celebrated the fiftieth anniversary as a Sunday school teacher at the Sixteenth street Baptist church, between Seventh and Eight avenues. The members of the congregation celebrated the event by a special gathering and presented the venerable lady with a substantial purse. Mrs. Jenkins is 77 years old and, in spite of several strokes of apoplexy, which disabled her for a while, still attends to her work in the Sunday school. When she first became a Sunday school teacher in the Sixteenth Street Baptist church, the latter was in what was then the most aristocratic residence section of the city. The Havemeyers, the Kidders and many other wealthy families belonged to the congregation and there were at one time

Wichita Falls, Texas, April 29th, 1911.

THIS DATE IN HISTORY.

- April 29. 1776—Adoption of the Pine Tree flag by the Great and General Court of Massachusetts. 1827—Rufus King, Federalist candidate for President of the U. S. in 1816, died in New York city. Born in Scarborough, Mass., in 1755. 1855—President Jefferson Davis proposed in his message to add 100,000 men to the 82,000 already in the Confederate service. 1864—The Danes retreated before the Prussians, and evacuated Fredericia and the fortresses of Jutland. 1879—Prince Alexander Joseph of Battenberg, elected as Prince of Bulgaria. 1880—Gladstone ministry formed in Great Britain. 1888—Henry M. Stanley found Emin Pasha on the shores of Albert Nyanza. 1910—Forty thousand striking bituminous coal miners returned to work in Pennsylvania.

Congressman Morris Sheppard wants the government to coin and place in circulation the 2 1/2c piece, and has introduced a bill to that effect. There is need of such a piece of money these days as so many articles of merchandise are sold at 2 1/2c, 7 1/2c and 12 1/2c each, and if the purchaser only desires one he pays either 5c, 10c or 15c for it.

Angell county was added to the long list of counties in Texas that have voted local option. Lufkin is the county seat, and the majority for the pros was 144. This makes 166 counties in the state that have voted local option, and in addition to this there are 61 counties partially under local option law while only 21 are totally wet. The people of Texas evidently have strong faith in local option. On July 22 it can be more fully determined as to the position they will take on the question of statewide prohibition.

While the ranks of the battle-scarred old ex-Confeds are thinning rapidly, and the attendance at their annual reunions are growing gradually less in number the federal pension list is increasing by leaps and bounds. A recent number of the Congressional Record, giving the proceedings of Congress from April 14 to 15th, devotes 45 pages, 225 names to each page in listing those who have applied during this term of Congress for an increase of their pension. From this it would seem that not a single Yankee soldier escaped a Confederate bullet, but the wounds thus inflicted seem to have been of such a character as to prolong instead of shortening their lives. Really it begins to look as if they were charmed lives and will have to be shot on the day of judgment.

All right thinking persons must endorse the right of labor to organize and demand an equitable share of its products, but right thinking person can uphold it in the use of nitro glycerine and dynamite for the purpose of retaliation on its enemies. If the recent destruction of life and property are finally proved on the high officials of the labor unions, who have been arrested, it cannot be otherwise than very prejudicial to the whole cause of union labor. This would, by no means, prove, or even indicate, that union labor is responsible for such outrages, but it would prove a very effective weapon in the hands of labor's enemies. Public sentiment is a valuable thing to all such movements and when this is once turned from the cause of labor its loss will be keenly felt.—Childress Index.

The northwest council of carpenters, which is soon to meet in annual session, will represent about 37,000 members of unions in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia.

The democratic congress continues to disappoint its enemies.—Denver

THE FARMER WHO FEEDS THE WORLD.

Civilization is said to have begun with the plow. At all events it was little better than a continuous round of war and hopeless anarchy until men were taught to beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks.

Farming is the means of securing food and raiment, whether it be farming the land or the sea. It is a means of increasing values without robbing others. As the Johnnyboys say, it is where all of us, including the miners in the far desolate region live.

In an agricultural country like ours, the success of the man with the hoe is of the very first consequence. The prosperity of the country depends upon the power of the soil and upon our ability to get out of it the most and the best.

Col. Henry Exall, president of Texas Industrial Congress, in a recent argument, sets forth very clearly the close connection between the tiller of the soil and men in the various other lines of business. "What you say, Col. Exall, is all right, but you should talk to the farmers; I am a banker." This remark is quoted and commented upon by President Exall.

After considering the important fact that the fertility of the soil is limited and should be conserved by better cultural methods and otherwise, President Exall goes further into the relationship which exists between the farmer and the men in other lines of life. "Let the bankers, the business men, the railroad men, the lawyers, the doctors, and, in fact, all of the people who tell us that they are not farmers, task themselves seriously what all of their great belongings and all of their mighty attainments will amount to when the land will no longer profitably respond to the hopeful touch of the husbandman," says he, and adds: "It is possible that an immediate and an active campaign of education may so improve the methods of cultivating the soil as to materially change results and avert conditions too distressing to be calmly contemplated." He continues as follows:

When the farmer increases his net income without impairing his capital, he creates new wealth, swells bank deposits, puts more money into circulation and increases the demand for everything that is for sale. It is well to remember that everybody to a certain extent is a merchant, and that every man and every business is dependent upon and is interested in the success of every other man and every other business. No matter who or what you are, you can not alter this elementary fact. The newsboy with his papers, the man with the spade or pick, who has a day's labor for sale, the lawyer with his brief, the tradesman with his wares, the newspaper with its space, the owner of a $20 lot or a million-dollar building—all are not only interested in, but dependent upon the products of the soil. No other one occupation or business is so valuable to every other avocation as is profitable and successful farming, for it means better business and more money for you this year, and for all the years that are to come. Shall we in behalf of every business and for the uplift of all of the people press this campaign for agricultural education?

There can certainly be no question as to the main point—we are all interested. The prosperity that can be depended upon to go all the way around and to endure is all of one piece and must depend at last mainly upon the success of the man engaged in agriculture and its kindred pursuit.—Dallas News.

Geo. H. Strobel, who claims to be an authority on "Socialism and what socialism stands for," says under his own signature that socialism means the "political, industrial and social equality of the negro with the white man." This has always been the Times' idea of socialism, and it has often wondered why there were not more negro socialists than there are. As a matter of fact, 99 per cent of the negroes vote the Republican ticket, and this they have a good cause for doing, but it is to the credit of the negro race that no few of them are socialists.

A FORMER CITIZEN OF QUANAH HELD

Special to the Times. Quanah, Tex., April 29.—William Irwin, formerly of Quanah, is in jail at Muskogee, Okla., charged with the murder of Herbert and Stella Sells, the two negro children who were killed in the home of Zeb Backe, which was dynamited two weeks ago. Irwin was arrested in the city of Mexico just after he had secured deed to the property of the two dead children, the deeds purporting to have been made by Hardy Sells, the father.

Sells was supposed to have been drowned in Deep Fork river ten years ago and the officers believe the person who made the deeds to Irwin was an impostor. Irwin is a white man, fifty-two years of age, and has been in the land business in Muskogee.

While Hardy Sells is supposed to have been dead ten years, Irwin secured a deed to his allotment in 1909. This, too, was made in Mexico. The man said to be Sells was identified by a negro taken to Mexico for that purpose by Irwin in 1909. This negro, Doc Allen, is also in jail.

Shortly after the two children were murdered Irwin went to Mexico. Two officers followed him, arriving in the Mexican capital forty-eight hours after he did. When he was placed under arrest Irwin had the deeds in his pocket. The allotment of Hardy Sells and his two children are in the Glenn oil pool and supposed to be worth easily $10,000.—There are eighteen producing oil wells on one of the allotments. Other arrests are expected to follow shortly.

Plant Field Peas Now. By the time this letter reaches the farmers it will be time to plant field peas. Those who have left every other row or every third row of corn can plant there. If no place was left and the farmer does not wish to plow up a row of corn on which to plant peas he can now plant on the corn row.

There are several ways to do this. Some rig up a planter on the cultivator, some place a small boy on the cultivator, while some have a boy to drop them on the row ahead of the cultivator; some who have a well trained team drop the peas themselves between the plows as they cultivate the land.

Peas planted this way and this early seldom fail to make a foliage, while if they are not planted until laying by time the almost usual summer drought keeps the peas from maturing.

Quite a number of farmers have adopted the plan of planting a patch of peas alone and cultivating them especially for seed. It is a very good plan and a money crop as well as cotton, as there is always a market for them if you have them in quantities. If no market is ready the peas may be hulled, put up to prevent the weevils from destroying them and hold them until there is a ready sale.

Pea seed are high, but even at the present price it is a splendid investment for the peas put about $22 worth of fertilizer to the acre in the ground, besides the peas make a profitable crop and there is a world of forage if the farmer cares to harvest it.

FREDERICK OFFICER ARRESTS A SUSPECT

Frederick, Okla., April 29.—Sheriff Carter arrested a negro giving his name as R. E. Jones on the farm of T. H. Mahoney, nine and a half miles northwest of Grandfield, believing that the negro is George Hankins, who is wanted at Austin, Texas, for burglary.

The Texas officer was immediately notified of the arrest. There was a reward of $10 for Hankins' capture. Sheriff Carter received a telegram Thursday morning from Constable Fox of Austin, saying he would start for here Thursday after the prisoner.

Texas-Oklahoma League Results. Wichita Falls 5, Gainesville 4. Lawton 7, Altus 3.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY. Gainesville at Wichita Falls. Altus at Lawton. Bonham at Cleburne. Durant at Ardmore.

STANDING OF CLUBS. Table with columns: Club, W, L, Pct. Wichita Falls 4 3 1 .750, Altus 4 3 1 .750, Durant 4 3 1 .750, Ardmore 4 2 2 .500, Bonham 4 2 2 .500, Cleburne 4 1 3 .250, Lawton 4 1 3 .250.

For intense interest and manifest enthusiasm the opening game of the Texas-Oklahoma League at this place yesterday afternoon surpassed any exhibition of the National game held here this season. It was a game that provided the tinge of disappointment incident to the prospects of defeat, at the same time furnishing consolation of victory earned under unfavorable conditions.

For five innings the repeated recurring, was marked in the column of the Lads, while Gainesville registered 2 in the first and 2 in the fifth. The situation was such as would ordinarily dampen the enthusiasm of the most optimistic fan, but not so with the Wichita Falls "rooters." The condition required action, something had to be done to save the day. The thing most needful was supplied by "Stopper" in a home-run with two men on bases, and the crowd, under the leadership of the inimitable Leopold, did the rest for the time being, and the sixth inning found Wichita Falls but one run behind. This run was provided by Brown in the eighth on a hit, a sacrifice by Jones and a two-bagger by Guthrie, who batted for Cooper. Dick Naylor, the next up, who batted for Jerry, drew a strike out, but Morris slammed the pill out for two sacks and Guthrie registered the winning run.

Notes of the Game: Jones is fast demonstrating his ability to deliver the goods in any old place on the diamond. This he has done in the box, at first, on third and in left, and least we forget, he is there with the big stick. "Stopper" Witherspoon was the hero of the day, with honors going to Guthrie as well. Stillman made a sensational catch on third that won for him a liberal applause. Morris handled the game in a splendid way, and while he was touched for numerous hits, he nevertheless secured ten strike outs. Roark pitched a good game for the visitors. The Gainesville boys play a nice, clean game of ball and will have to be reckoned with in the pennant race.

The attendance at the game was generally estimated at 1000. Quite a number of the business houses closed, yesterday to celebrate the opening game. The band was out, playing on the streets before the game and in a street car enroute to the park. Lanterns were not required, the day was ideal and old Sol kept his face sufficiently conspicuous to provide all the light necessary. An incident to the opening of the league season at this place, Mayor Noble tossed the first ball, while Secretary Day of the Chamber of Commerce did the receiving act.

Lawton 7, Altus 3. Lawton, Okla., April 29.—Lawton outclassed Altus in every particular in the first game of the season played on the Lawton diamond in the Texas-Oklahoma League. The game was slow on account of the heavy wind, which added much toward making up the list of errors. Lawrence, the third baseman was the star of the game. The Lawton players are developing good material.

Durant 5, Ardmore 2. Ardmore, Okla., April 29.—Before a large crowd the baseball season was opened here yesterday and the new downtown baseball park as well. Previous to the game there was a parade through the business section, in which county and city officials, police and fire departments were represented. A high wind interfered with the playing. Durant won the game, principally through the effective pitching of Grady, although he was wild at times and frequently got himself into tight places. Grady secured fifteen strike-outs. The score:

Dodge Murder Trial Monday. Guldahl, VI. April 29.—A murder trial which is expected to attract wide attention is scheduled to begin here Monday when Mrs. J. Marshall Dodge, a woman of wealth and social prominence, will be placed on trial on the charge of killing William Heath at her home in Lauenburg. Heath, who was temporarily employed as a painter in the Dodge home, was shot and killed on Sept. 18, 1910, while he and Mrs. Dodge were apparently alone in the house. The most mysterious feature of the case is the entire absence of a motive for the killing, so far as can be learned. Since the tragedy Mrs. Dodge has been at liberty on $7000 bail, the laws of Vermont permitting bail in murder cases, where no motive is mentioned in the warrant and indictment.

Fads and Fashions

New York, April 29.—During the past few months the large shops have made a great display of tailored costumes in medium weight materials and recently they have added many charming models of still lighter tailored and semi-tailored costumes of silk for spring wear. It is always well, if possible, to have two tailored suits for the summer season; one a practical plainly tailored suit for rough wear, outing purposes, etc.; the other of a dressier character. An attempt to combine the two is seldom successful, but many women now do away with the dressy tailored coat and the tailored skirt and blouse, or three-piece costume, substituting for it a smart one-piece short frock to be worn with a separate coat.
Some extremely pretty models are now appearing in the exclusive shops. They are in changeable taffetas with tannin or chiffon in combination, and while there has for some time past been a prejudice against taffeta the most autocratic makers are certainly taking it up. The texture and finish of the newest taffetas are really lovely and the colorings, particularly the changeable effects, are beautiful.
Skirt and short smart coat costumes of the changeable taffeta, the skirt mounting high and joined to a dainty bodice of changeable tannin in the same color as the taffeta mounted over white and touched with embroidery in the two colors, are built up on varying lines by different designers and in beautiful colorings. Very dark blue and a rather vivid green are good in this changeable silk. A soft brown combines well with an old blue, rose with violet, a gray with rose or deep golden yellow. Another idea developed successfully in changeable colorings is the frock of changeable tannin trimmed in soft ruffles of fringed changeable taffeta and with a little coat of the taffeta to match.
It may be remarked here that ruffles are evidently finding considerable favor and one sees them trimming all kinds of frocks. One of the most artistic and charming models shown in one of the shops was an exquisite fine fancy net in the yellowed tone of old lace, made in the form of a vest, full of old lace and fringed ruffles of silk in a soft yellowish brown for the only trimming.
Coat and frock costumes of genuine or tannin and silk, with loose unlined coats in the semi-transparent material trimmed in the silk, are shown in some of the most attractive designs, and there are serviceable little costumes in the plain chambray, muscote and other satin surface silks, the foulards, sarah, silk serges, etc.
Good linen coat and skirt models admirable in design, cut and finish, may be bought at prices surprisingly reasonable even at very smart and exclusive shops. Almost every ultra-modish shop has some specialties in this line and in the simple one-piece linen and other tub frocks, which they have made up to meet the demands for such things among their valued patrons and to keep these patrons from resorting to the big shops; and there are specialty shops where chic models of this kind are sold in great variety and at remarkable low prices.
For some reason or other the designers of women's fashions are making frantic efforts to popularize the trouser or harem skirt. In Paris the women seem to have taken a fancy to the new style and they seem determined to give it at least a trial. The prominent makers of women's dresses are turning out large numbers of these skirts and, realizing that some redeeming feature must be introduced in these skirts to make them attractive, the designers have concentrated their efforts upon beauty of material, soft and supple, artistically designed and showing the most exquisite workmanship. In spite of these efforts, and the prediction of a prominent designer that trouser skirts would be worn generally a year hence, the sensible refined woman of good taste are not showing any inclination to adopt the trouser skirt.
Bonnets are worn a great deal at the present time and prominent milliners say that they will be in fashion throughout the summer and probably in the fall. The type of bonnet one sees most often on the street is built up in rough straw, has a round crown quite covering the head down to the neck in the back and a slightly projecting poke brim and is trimmed with a big bow set low in the back, and perhaps by some little prim lace with contrasting color or with self color.

But it must not be imagined that all bonnets are built upon the same simple and conservative lines. Some of them are extremely audacious and many of them, unfortunately unappealingly vulgar and ugly. Even the conservative and really pretty models are not suitable for all women. They are becoming and even attractive on a young and slender girl, but look perfectly hideous and absurd upon short and fat women who have passed the period of their youth.
There are strings upon a good many of the bonnets, though they are the exception rather than the rule and they are usually tied well at the left side. Occasionally, however, one sees strings knotted demurely under the chin, and ribbon-trimming the bonnet may perhaps be knotted on the outside of the brim at the left side and fall in loops and ends down over the shoulder, without passing under the chin at all.
The ribbons of the season are so beautiful that the milliners have not been able to resist using them much upon both hats and bonnets, and the wide taffeta backed velvet, often with the silk facing in color contrasting with the velvet, makes smart bows, as do the exquisite brocades and printed designs and one-tone colorings.
Sometimes a ladder of prim little velvet bows is set up the back of the bonnet in place of a big bow, and there are fascinating little models whose trimming is all bunched at one side instead of being posed on front or back.
Velvet is much used in the spring millinery. Straw hats have velvet faced brims or velvet crowns with crease brims. White wares shapes are faced with black or dark blue velvet. Black velvet might be said to be the characteristic touch of the season.

CERTAIN RESULTS.
Many a Wichita Falls Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.
Nothing uncertain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Wichita Falls. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:
"Mrs. G. H. Swope, 712 Burnett avenue, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: 'My kidney trouble was of long standing and the attacks were severe at times. During the past two years I suffered terribly from a difficulty with the kidney secretions and weakness across the small of my back caused me no end of misery. Hearing that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles, I got a box from the Wichita Drug House and began using them. They brought relief quickly and proved to be a most effective kidney medicine. I used no other remedy at that time and I can therefore give Doan's Kidney Pills the entire credit for the change in my condition.' (Statement given June 16, 1908.)"
Lasting Results.
On December 8, 1910, Mrs. Swope said: 'I have been quite free from backache since I used Doan's Kidney Pills and consequently, I am willing to verify my former endorsement of them. This remedy is the most effective one I ever used for troubles caused by the kidneys.'

Gen Arthur Murray.

Major General Arthur Murray, who recently was appointed to the command of the Department of the Lakes after having served for several years as chief of the Coast Artillery, was born in Bowling Green, Mo., April 29, 1851, and was graduated from the West Point academy in 1874. Immediately he joined the artillery arm of the service. At that time the Artillery Corps offered a rather inactive career, and Cadet Murray was soon back at West Point as instructor in philosophy. He studied law and later became judge advocate of the departments of Missouri and Dakota. From that duty he was detailed to Yale University as professor of military science. In the war with Spain he was again assigned to duty as judge advocate. His most conspicuous war record was made later in the Philippine campaign, where as colonel of the 43rd regiment of volunteers he suppressed the rebellion in Samar and Leyte. In 1906 he was appointed a brigadier general and chief of the Coast Artillery, and early in the present year he was promoted to the rank of major general.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION IS CHANGED

By Associated Press. Austin, April 29.—In an opinion to Hiram Glass, Assistant Attorney General E. B. Robertson today held that Express companies are transporting companies and that Railroads can issue passes to bona fide employees of express companies and their families, whether or not the railroads and express companies have specific contract to that effect. This reverses a former position of the Attorney General's department.

Editorial Note.

Timeliness and attractiveness are the distinguishing features of the May "Success Magazine" which appears in a striking cover and a new dress of type. "A Pageant of Liberty" by Robert Haven Schauflier is a suggestion for Independence Day celebration based upon the Pittsburgh plan. It comes out in time to be useful to towns that are planning same Fourth celebrations. "The New Senate" by Robert Wickeliffe Woolley shows how thoroughly the old landmarks have been swept away in the upper house. In "The Boys Are After You" Forest C. Casey writes of the Boy's Corn Clubs and their 50,000 members. Edwin Emerson gives a realistic picture of "Fighting Mexico." "The Empty Linen Chest" by Mary Heaton Vorse shows how the American housewife pays an exorbitant tax to protect an industry, which does not exist. O. S. Marden contributes an editorial "Gray Hairs Seeking a Job."

Other good features of the number are "The Dairy of a Fattish Girl" by Louise Closser Hale; "The Runner" by Leslie W. Quirk; "The Luck Serum" by Gouverneur Morris; "Jany Peers Behind the Veil" by Inez Haynes Killmore.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT NEWS Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma

TO DRILL WELL ON THE GILLIS RANCH

CARL BUERBAUM LETS CONTRACT FOR BUILDING BETWEEN IOWA PARK AND ELECTRA.

NEW COMPANY FORMED

Local Citizen Heads Company That Has Purchased 181 Acres Near Electra.

Special to The Times. Electra, Texas, April 29.—Carl Buerbaum let the contract Monday for drilling a deep well on his place just east of the old Gillis ranch between Electra and Iowa Park. This well will be about three miles from the location of the Farmersville well and should make some business in that vicinity.

Last Saturday a deal was closed by the local citizens whereby 181 acres of land was purchased which will be held for oil developments. The land lies east of town and about two miles and is a tract formerly owned by J. C. Jennings. The new company will be incorporated and the following officers were elected: P. P. Langford, president; W. J. Sheldon, vice president; T. M. Hoxie, treasurer; A. T. McDonald, F. L. Powell and J. R. Brewer were elected to serve with the officers as a board of directors. Other stock holders are: G. C. Woodruff, G. C. Cobb, Joe Terry, A. L. Robb, Jno. Anderson, R. S. Allen.

The Wichita Wilbarger Oil Development Company commenced the sale of their lots last week and one of the local agents, R. H. Cook sold 52 lots in three hours on the streets of our city, a half day work put 55 lots to his credit. The purchasers being home people who are acquainted with the great oil possibilities of Electra vicinity; in short they sold like hot cakes, many of the purchasers being prominent oil men employed by the companies operating in our field.

The sale of these lots carry a guarantee to drill one well on an eighty-acre tract of land and give each purchaser an equal interest in the well when completed, also 600 square feet of land out of the 80-acre tract to be used in the well. The price is so reasonable that nearly everybody who had the proposition put to them will purchase if they have any speculative blood in them.

About the only glory that remains for the National Monetary Commission is to be dramatized.—Pittsburg Sun.

CHICAGO CAPITALISTS VISIT PETROLIA FIELD

Special to The Times. Byers, Texas, April 29.—Capitalists of Wichita Falls and other cities were in Petrolia Wednesday. They arrived on a special at 11:00 o'clock a. m., and were at once driven to the oil and gas field, first to Byers No. 5 where the gas was allowed to blow from the well at full strength for some fifteen minutes. The look of the spectators enjoyed the look of the gas as it was turned on by Manager Fred Smith of the Lone Star Gas Co.

From here they were shown the J. M. Guffy, No. 1 where they were allowed to examine the flowing well and to express their opinion as to the possibilities of the growing town and the growth of the field.

LIBERAL INCREASE IN CROP ACREAGE

Amarillo, April 29.—It has been conservatively estimated that the increase in crop acreage in the Panhandle will be fully one-third over last year. There is another feature that carries with it assurances of value received, and that is the increase will not consist solely in wheat and oats or other broadcast crops, but rather of the dependable row-cultured varieties of grain.

ALTUS TO ERECT FINISHING PLANT

Southwestern Quarry Co. Has Submitted Proposition to the Chamber of Commerce

Special to The Times. Altus, Okla., April 29.—J. C. Drew, president and general manager of the Southwestern Quarry Company, of Creta, is in the city and has been in consultation all day with a special committee from the Altus Chamber of Commerce regarding a $15,000,000 finishing plant to be put up here in connection with the Creta plant for dressing, sawing, planing and finishing Creta stone for the market. Altus has four main lines of railroad and is a logical point from which to distribute the magnesian lime stone. Mr. Drew stated to the correspondent that the committee has offered to donate free of all cost to the company a $2,000 site upon which to erect the finishing plant which will give employment to 40 or 50 skilled workmen and it is the intention of the company to erect this plant within four months from date or as soon as the machinery has been installed at Creta for getting out the material for the work. In addition to this lime stone quarrying machinery a large and full equipped gypsum mill and plaster works is to be put in at Creta costing in the neighborhood of $100,000. These gypsum products consist of wall plaster, stucco, alabaster, plaster of paris, etc., and are in great demand in all parts of the United States. Oklahoma gypsum is conceded to be of the finest quality for the manufacture of the above products and is being specified by many leading architects for the largest and most up-to-date public buildings throughout the country. The development of the Creta quarries by Mr. Drew's company, which is capitalized at half a million dollars, will mean the establishment of the largest industrial enterprise in Western Oklahoma and give steady employment to several hundred men. Mr. Drew is a gentleman highly connected in business circles and under his management the company is sure to make a great success.

When it comes the erection of the bridge will be commenced immediately.

Captain James Believes Cotton Prices Will Stay Up--Urges Increase in Production

Roff, Okla., April 28, 1911. To The Times: I am glad to see you reproduce in your columns the striking article from the Christian Science Monitor of Boston in regard to the consumption of cotton, which is advancing so rapidly to keep pace with the extension of civilization. The estimate that it will require 47,000,000 bales, when the world's inhabitants are decently clothed, is no doubt very reasonable. In a few years of the world's progress, a twenty million bale crop will not be sufficient to meet the annual necessities.

The last season's crop was far short of the world's needs, and it has given us fifteen cent cotton; and what ever crop may be made this coming season, it is plain that this high level for our great staple will be maintained. As the Wichita Falls country is admirably adapted to cotton growing in any ordinary season, it seems very desirable that every bale possible should be grown in that region this year to get the benefit of the high price that is bound to prevail. Even with a drought, if not too early and too severe, cotton will be the best paying staple there for some years to come. It is a hot weather plant, and once well rooted and started, a drought resting one, and will make a crop when other staples are ruined. Every bale produced and marketed in your city adds $75 to the wealth of the farmer, and to the trade and property of the community. Planting season is now at hand, and let each farmer large and small plant every acre he can care for, and give it an early and good start. Last year cotton receipts of your market can easily be doubled and should be. The putting in operation of the $400,000 cotton mill, to which your public spirited people recently subscribed $200,000, will emphasize the necessity and the profit of a much increased cotton acreage. Nor will it necessarily increase other crops. The acreage of uncultivated, fine cotton lands around or tributary to your city is so great that the cotton crop will be quadrupled without reducing other staples. In making Wichita Falls a factory city and a railroad center, let us bear in mind that the foundation of the prosperity of all cities is the farmer. Every additional acre of ground in your territory that is put in cultivation, and made to grow annual crops, is a foundation stone laid for the future growth and prosperity of your city. Having lived there ten years, I am convinced that cotton is your most dependable and profitable staple crop for all your light and sandy soils, while with but moderate rainfall it will also produce finely in your stiff red prairie or bottom lands. If each farmer that has the proper enterprise will aim to produce two bales this year, for every one he made last year, the increase in your wealth and trade will be very marked. Let us hope they will surely do it. JOHN G. JAMES.

FINE OUTLOOK FOR ARMSTRONG COUNTY

Claude and Surrounding Country in Genuinely Prosperous Shape.

Special to The Times. Claude, Texas, April 29.—Claude, the seat of Armstrong county, has long been noted for the business volume and gives every indication of making a busier record than ever this year.

Claude shipped last year 70 cars of wheat; 120 cars of oats; 50 cars of milo maize, cane and kafir corn seed; 125 cars of millet and other crops; considerable cattle and hogs also being loaded out.

This year's grain planting, all told, will amount at least a fourth more good than that of last season with good present harvest prospects. A strong capacity of from 10,000 to 12,000 bushels, while grain is stored in various other town localities.

A recent and profitable development is baling and shipping of unripened kafir corn and cane for stock feeding purposes.

Millet is an excellent crop, while good cane is also raised.

Have Reaped Their Reward.

At least one-third of the present farming population comprises men who have been here for twenty or twenty-five years and without exception, these farmers are well to do, while the majority of them are rich. They came, they saw, they stayed and they have bountifully reaped their reward—having handsome bank accounts, big bunches of fine cattle, commodities and convenient homes, valuable improved farms and no debts.

It is but a question of the necessary lapse of time before the later incoming. Armstrong county farmers will be as fortunately fixed as are now the first comers themselves.

Cattle and hogs are both of high bred grades, while county raised horses boast excellent draft and race bloods.

Claude has a population of 1200; $16,000 public school building with five departments; two healthy and handsome banks; big business blocks carrying heavy stocks; long and short telephone talks; two good hotels, and a favorable prospect of soon replacing the old-time courthouse with a $60,000 modern structure the county to vote on the 6th of next month on a concerned bond issue proposition.

Armstrong county farmers are also considering the undoubted promise connected with windmill and subirrigation. In this direction, the windmill is of two fold value, as it can, through a series of dirt excavation reservoirs, furnish enough water to surface irrigate from one to twenty-five acres, or it can pump the necessary water for subirrigation.

At the average well water depths of the county a necessary windmill irrigation plan would not cost but two or three hundred dollars—or, in other words—it would more than pay for itself from the proceeds of the first years harvest. The windmill with attached excavated reservoirs is now in common use in western Kansas, western Nebraska, and eastern Colorado, with a most successful crop.

Taking into consideration the comparative small amount of money involved and Armstrong county farmers would be amply justified in fully utilizing the great local promise of the windmill irrigation plan.

FAMILY TREE NOT A FETISH HERE

STOCK SHOW MEDAL MORE HIGHLY PRIZED THAN MAYFLOW.

Special to The Times. Panhandle Postmaster Gives Maine Boy Information About Opportunities Here.

(Hall County Herald) The postmaster of a Texas Panhandle town received the following letter and asked the writer for reply and the correspondence is made public with the wish that it might be read and trusted as the truth by every young man in America:

"Do you want to hire any cowboys? I can ride, rope and shoot well enough to take care of myself. Age, 19 can take another fellow out if you say so. State wages and when to go out. Yours truly, Harry"

"Winthrop, Maine, R. F. D., No. 21. Dear Harry:

The fact that I am writing to a real boy, whose heart I understand, and whose ambitions are misdirected though no person at fault, and who, indeed, reveals a spirit that compels my respect, prompts my hope that you and thousands of other boys just like you may read my letter as a message from an elder brother.

First, let me shatter the hope that maybe, has filled your young life with visions of romance—of wild rides across endless leagues of blossoming prairie—of thundering hoofs and clashing horns of maddened herds in midnight stampedes—of panting horses and swishing lariats—of red handed outlaws battling to hold their booty in the granite recesses of cliff-bordered gorges.

There are no fair and only daughters of cattle kings whose rescue from desperate hands of low-bred ruffians will win for you an easy and a happy home. The poetry of life has lost its metric measure in the golden west, and your letter came forty years too late to secure for you a situation that would adjust its facts to your fancies. It may surprise you, Harry, and cause you the natural pain that accompanies every stern disillusionment, but it is essential to your proper conception of the difference between the Panhandle of Texas of which you have read and the Panhandle as I know it, that you be told that the first exhibition of your skill as a manipulator of the ostracized six-dollar bill will cost you a hundred dollars and six months to a year in the county jail. And your companions there will be most probably, young rascals from the east, who are sending out what I wish you to know, without the test of experience, that in Texas more surely than anywhere in the world, the criminal finds it true that "Jordan is a hard road to travel."

You, of course, do not know, and therefore I will tell you that there is not a merchant that dares to sell, nor a store that carries in stock a revolver or a pistol of any make or sort whatever within the borders of the great state of Texas. So truly, indeed does the sovereign majesty of law protect the citizenship of this commonwealth

Materials are now being so massed that it is believed little additional delay will be experienced, on account of a shortage of means with which to work. Even during the wet weather materials were being moved and placed along the route to be paved.

CLAYING ROADS IN KNOX COUNTY

Thursday afternoon the editor accompanied the road overseer W. H. Palmer to the section of the road north of town that is being clayed under his directions. The sand is covered over about a foot deep with hard clay on the road way about sixteen feet wide so that two wagons can pass each other without scaling the outer edges. Almost a mile has already been completed and gives evidence of being a success in every particular. So far the work has been carried on by subscription of people of that neighborhood and the merchants and business men of Knox City and their attention can never be directed to a more worthy enterprise. It is not an altogether easy task to remove that hard clay from its long abode beneath the surface of the road some distance away and Mr. Palmer and his associates deserve great credit for having undertaken and pushed this work to the extent they have. There is three miles of this sandy road and Mr. Palmer says it is his intention to clay it all the way to Knox City which will be a great benefit to the farmers and the merchants also.—Knox City Southwestern Journal.

OIL PROPERTY IS TO BE DEVELOPED

Vernon Oil and Gas Company Decide to Push Sale of Additional Stock and Begin Work.

Special to The Times. Vernon, Texas, April 29.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Vernon Oil and Gas Company in the city hall Saturday afternoon it was decided to push the sale of stock in portions of the county outside of Vernon, the local field having been thoroughly worked by committees of the Young Men's Business League, which organization sold stock to the amount of $1000 about one-third of the desired increase.

All but $1,300 of the remainder was raised among the old stockholders at Saturday's meeting, and the following were appointed on a committee to sell the remainder of the stock at once: W. T. Collins, J. P. Starr, Willis Vaughan, T. J. Youngblood, J. A. Puckett, Lon Byars, S. L. Page, G. W. Richardson and E. P. Robertson.

It is planned to resume boring for oil in the old well just as soon as sufficient stock has been placed to enable a prosecution of the project to determine whether it can be made into a paying well.

The well in question is located about seven or eight miles northwest of Vernon, and considerable money has been expended in sinking it. It was abandoned several months ago because of lack of funds it being later decided to increase the capital stock to such an extent as to allow a thorough test of the property.

Those back of the project feel very much encouraged by the recent developments of the Electra field, and since a limited amount of oil has been found in the Vernon well many believe it can be made into a paying proposition. The benefit that would accrue to Vernon in case the field developed into a paying one would be hard to estimate and it is to be hoped that the promoters will be successful in placing additional stock.

JERMYN COAL MINES ATTRACT CAPITALISTS

Officials of Big Chicago Concern Inspect Coal Property at That Place.

Jermyn, Texas, April 29.—A. B. McLaren of Marion, Ill., president of the Chicago and Big Muddy Coke and Coal Company, and F. C. Hannold, of Chicago, secretary and treasurer of the same company, were in Jermyn yesterday looking at the coal properties of W. P. Stewart and Oliver Lovington with a view of consummating a deal whereby these properties could be taken over by the company of which they are the official heads. Their company has a capital stock of $4,000,000 and if an agreement can be reached between the owners of the mines and the Chicago and Big Muddy Company, operations on a large scale will begin at once and the Jermyn coal fields, backed by this enormous capital, will doubtless become the largest mining camp in the state.

ODD FELLOWS WILL BUILD AT ELK CITY

Two Story Pressed Brick Structure Will Be Erected On West Broadway.

Special to The Times. Elk City, Okla., April 29.—Work is expected to begin on the Odd Fellows new building here within a few days. The building will be located just east of the opera house on W. Broadway. It is to be a two story pressed brick with a fine front of the most modern type, elegantly ornamented with broad opening and fine plate and colored glass. The stairway opens from the outside, but a revolving door is provided so that every one entering will be succeeded by a shutter and register the number entering or going out. Room will be made for an elevator in case the building is built high.

The building will be 35x100 feet. The first floor will be a store room, large and spacious and will be one of the finest and best equipped store rooms in the city. The second floor will be one of the most modern lodge rooms now in existence and besides a large and spacious hall, it will be provided with ante rooms, banquet hall, reception room and all necessary closets and cloak rooms. It will be so constructed that lodge work and banquets will not annoy or interfere with other things in the building, the same being absolutely noiseless to the lower apartments and the outside.

The Odd Fellows of this city deserve great credit for their enterprise as they have worked hard for this and will have to make many sacrifices in order to do it, but in the end they will find it a profitable venture besides have the satisfaction of knowing that they have a home of their own.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY IS PROPOSED

Albuquerque Society Will Join National Association Project.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 28.—To have April 30 observed all over the United States as national tuberculosis day is the proposal of the national association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis, the society with which the proposed local organization to be perfected this week will likely affiliate. The matter was taken up by the various ministers of the city at the evening services last night and public attention called to the plan, while the pastors also referred to the work of organizing a local society and bespoke the support of the citizens for the project. The committee appointed last Thursday at a public meeting is to report at the mass meeting tomorrow night on a constitution and by-laws and make proposals for nominations. The movement is gaining support with the public daily, and the meeting Thursday should be a much larger one than the former, as the project is one in which every citizen is interested.

The announcement of the plan for national tuberculosis day is sent out by Secretary Livingston Ferrand of the national society as follows: April 30 has been set aside this year as "tuberculosis day" and will be observed in 200,000 churches in the country in a manner similar to that of "Tuberculosis Sunday" in 1910, when over 40,000 sermons were preached on the prevention of consumption. The national association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis hopes to enlist all of the 22,000,000 church members in the country in this movement.

In one respect tuberculosis day will differ from tuberculosis Sunday of 1910. Instead of requesting the churches to give to the tuberculosis cause a special Sunday service, the plan is to ask this year that meetings at which the subject of tuberculosis and its prevention can be discussed be held on Sunday, April 30, or on any other day near that date, either in the week preceding or the week following.

What is desired is that the subject of tuberculosis be discussed in all of the 200,000 churches of the United States at as nearly the same time as possible. This does not demand that a stated service be given over to this work, although that might be desirable, but that any minister or other authority whom he may desire to invite, may present the problem to his congregation before or after the regular service, or in any day with the week preceding or following April 30.

The national association is planning to gather statistics from thousands of ministers, showing how serious a problem tuberculosis is to every church. These figures will show among other things the number of deaths last year from tuberculosis to church congregations, and the extent to which clergymen are called upon to minister to sufferers of this disease.

It is planned also to issue millions of circulars and pamphlets on the prevention of tuberculosis, both from the national office and from the headquarters of the 450 anti-tuberculosis associations who will cooperate in this movement.

COMMISSION FORM FOR KANSAS CITY

Mayor's Plans Equivalent and Will Be Submitted to People.

Kansas City, April 28.—Vexed at the blocking by the city council of legislation which he deems necessary, Mayor Darius A. Brow announced here today that he would champion a movement to change the city government to a plan similar to the commission form. The mayor's first move will be toward framing an amendment to the city charter to be voted on at the next city election. That amendment will provide that the upper house aldermen, to be named at the next election, be chosen for terms of two instead of four years. The lower house aldermen are now elected for only two years. Hence, if the amendment carried, the terms of all of the aldermen, those now in office and those to be elected at the next election, would expire at the same time.

Having done away with the present forms of the upper and lower house, Mayor Brown would select five aldermen for each house from the city at large. This would practically be a commission form of government. The state constitution makes two houses necessary, but it does not specify the number of members, nor that they shall be chosen from wards.

Woman Past Help. Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers says, "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it, I was relieved at once, and gained at least 10 pounds. Everybody says I look so much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged, on account of womanly weakness. Are you? Have you not tried Cardui? It only needs a few doses to convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Try it today. It will cure your pains.

New Chesapeake and Ohio Issue. New York, April 28.—Stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway met today to give their approval to the directors' proposal for an issue of $125,000,000 of 5 per cent 20-year mortgage bonds. Part of the new bonds will be used to retire the outstanding $11,000,000 of general funding and improvement bonds which mature Jan. 1, 1920. The remainder is to be issued from time to time to pay certain equipment obligations, and for construction and improvements. The increase of the facilities of the new line to Chicago will probably be one of the first important improvements undertaken.

Dominion Gideons in Session. Toronto, Ont., April 28.—The first Dominion convention of the Gideons, or Christian Commercial Travelers' Association, began today at the Y. M. C. A. in this city and will continue over tomorrow. The chief purpose of the gathering is to formulate plans for the extension of the organization's membership and activities throughout Canada. President M. V. H. Moore, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and a number of other head officers of the association in the United States are in attendance.

OUR CONTEST ENDS TONIGHT

Are You Satisfied the Votes You Have Will Win? If Not, Get Busy at Once

EVERYTHING MUST BE IN THE TIMES OFFICE BEFORE ELEVEN O'CLOCK TONIGHT—IT'S NOW OR NEVER

At the clock strike 11 tonight THE TIMES' great voting contest will be at an end, so far as securing votes and subscription are concerned. Most of the contestants who are so vitally interested will most likely be present, either in person or by representative. We have no doubt but that there will be several surprises when the final count is announced. Several of those who are now at the bottom of the list will have forged to the front and others who now stand with the leaders will take a lower position, unless they immediately get busy.

It will simplify matters greatly, if you bring in what business you have secured before you go to supper, or early after supper, thereby saving as both a whole lot of trouble and assuring yourself of plenty of time in which to correct any errors.

As we have stated before there is a ballot box in the office in which those who prefer can deposit their business, the votes to be issued under the judges' supervision after the contest closes. This will prevent the contest manager or anyone else from knowing what you succeeded in accomplishing this last week. Immediately after the contest closes tonight the names of our different contestants will be called out and those present will be requested to appoint someone to represent them at the final count. Those so appointed will select from their number three who will act as a committee to do the actual counting, under the supervision of the contest manager.

After the judges are named the ballot box will be opened and votes will be issued for any business contained therein. These votes will then be placed with the reserves already deposited and the counting will begin immediately. The extra $50 prizes offered to our working contestants should be a big incentive for our candidates to do everything possible before it is too late. Any contestant who comes within 100,000 votes of having the number it takes to win our first Grand Prize will receive an extra $50.

CENSUS GIVES OUT
AUTO STATISTICS

Comparative Statement of Industry in United States Issued Yesterday By Commissioner Durand.

Washington, April 29.—A preliminary statement showing the results of the thirteenth United States census for the year 1909 of establishments manufacturing automobiles was issued today by the director of the census, E. Dana Durand. It presents a comparative summary of the censuses of 1909, 1904 and 1899; an enumeration of the number, value, power, and horsepower rating of gasoline, electric and steam automobiles; and also comparative general statistics showing the rapid growth of the automobile industry. It was prepared, under the direction of William M. Stewart, chief statistician, by Emil P. Secker, expert special agent. The figures are preliminary and subject to such changes as may be necessary after further examination of the original reports.

Reports from the establishments were taken for the calendar years ending December 31, 1909, wherever the system of bookkeeping permitted figures for that year to be secured, but where the fiscal year of an establishment differed from the calendar year a report was obtained of its operations during the fiscal period falling most largely within the calendar year 1909.

The automobile industry has had a most remarkable development in recent years. The number of establishments increased from 57 in 1899 to 316 in 1909, an increase of 454 per cent in the 10-year period. Of the 316 establishments in 1909, 265 manufactured automobiles as a main product, while complete machines were a minor product or "side line" with 51 of the establishments.

The total product of the automobile industry increased in value from $4,784,000 in 1899 to $194,722,600 in 1909, an increase of 4,901 per cent. The value of products actually turned out by the factories during the census year, and does not necessarily have any relation to the amount of sales for that period of time.

A striking fact is the consistent development of the automobile industry in the states in which the carriage and wagon industry was of great importance. The inference is that, in a large measure, these states were equipped with the necessary skilled labor, thus giving the automobile industry an advantage and an impetus not enjoyed by other states.

The number of automobiles manufactured increased from 3,723 in 1899 to 127,289 in 1909, or 3,219 per cent. Of these, 126,570 were built in establishments of which automobiles were the main product, and 719 in establishments of which such machines were merely minor products.

In addition to the four states shown, among which Michigan led by a great preponderance, represented by about 45 per cent of the total product, the industry was of importance in the following states, arranged in ranking order: Connecticut, 2,955 machines, valued at $7,405,000; Wisconsin, 5,641, valued at $7,157,500; Massachusetts, 3,467, valued at $6,232,700; Illinois, 3,453, valued at $4,485,500; Pennsylvania, 2,001, valued at $4,151,300; and Missouri, 728, valued at $1,074,300.

California, Maryland, Iowa, New Jersey, Minnesota, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Georgia, had a combined product of 4,092 machines of the value of $4,987,000.

OFFICERS IN FIGHT
OVER A PRISONER

Kill's Enterprise Causes Fast Train to Be Held Fifteen Minutes.

Kansas City, Mo., April 29.—To get possession of Daniel Kiel, convicted of highway robbery in St. Joseph, Mo., and sentenced to serve five years in the Missouri penitentiary, officials of Wyandotte county, Kansas, today held a special train fifteen minutes, while the officers quarreled. Kiel was being taken to the Missouri prison with ten other prisoners. The train enters Kansas at Leawood, and passes through Kansas City, Kansas. Here a writ of habeas corpus had been issued by the district court and when the Missouri officers and their prisoners reached there, a sheriff boarded the train and took possession of Kiel. The St. Joseph officers did not wish to lose their man, and a short struggle ensued in which the Kansas officer was the victor.

Kiel had learned that the train upon which he was to be taken to the penitentiary was to pass through Kansas City, Kansas, ask for the writ. He will be given a hearing in the district court here tomorrow.

ATTORNEY GENERAL
DELIVERS OPINION

Marriage of Lady Official Does Not Prevent Her Holding Office.

Austin, Texas, April 29.—A novel status of affairs exists in a western county in this state and was brought to light yesterday when Attorney General's Department received a unique question. The daughter of the County Judge is County Treasurer and some young man thinks she is a treasure, for her father advises that the young lady is to be married and he wants to know if she can continue to hold her office. Assistant Attorney General Walter Woodward says she can, because the implied contract had already been made between the county and the fair Treasurer.

The department has held that married women can not hold such offices because they can not contract and a bond is required. With feme soles it is different. They can make bond and enter into the contract with the county. Some of the assistants in the department really believe that a married woman could be selected for the office and make the bond, but the preponderance is against them. Under the last view the young lady in question will hardly hold her position beyond her present term, as she could not be re-elected, having married in the interim.

Are You a Woman?
Baltimore, Md.—Mrs. W. H. Ison, at 1419 East Madison street, writes, "For several years, I suffered, off and on, from female troubles, until finally I was taken down and could do nothing. The pains I experienced, I shall never forget. I lost weight till I was only skin and bones, I believe I would have been in my grave, if I had not tried Cardul. I shall praise it as long as I live." Many women, like Mrs. Ison, are weak and discouraged, on account of some painful ailment. Are you one of these sufferers? Cardul will help you. Try it today. Any druggist.

Al Kaufman and Jim Flynn will meet in Kansas City, May 5. Two decisions over Monte Attard have boosted the stock of Al Delmont, the Boston scrapper.

Harry Forbes, the ex-bantam, has signed to box Jimmy Walsh, of Boston in Kenosha, Wis., May 9. Blink McCloskey is making good in Paris. Blink's work never caused any riots at home, but he has surely set the Parisians going.

"Cyclone" Thompson, who is now a middleweight, says that he will make 140 pounds ringside for Paeky McFarland, if the Chicago boxer is looking for something to do.

It is not a cheap coffee in any sense of the word, but it is a very economical and satisfactory coffee.

Notes and Novelties

Mothproof Hat Bags.
ALMOST every woman has experienced the difficulty of putting away a handsome ostrich-trimmed hat for the summer in such a way that the feathers and trimmings will not be crushed. It is frequently necessary to rip off the feathers and put them away separately, and—as every home milliner knows—it is next to impossible to get ostrich plumes back in the skillful manner of adjustment of the milliner. Big mothproof hat boxes are now to be obtained in the departments which sell mothproof clothing bags. The boxes fold flat when not in use and when opened out provide roomy, mothproof and dustproof receptacles for the plume-trimmed winter-hats, or hats with any other sort of trimming that moth or dust would injure.

The Earring Craze.
THIS is the day of the earring, and all families, from the youngest debutante to the women hanging on vallantly to the last remnant of youth, has her years adorned with pearls, solitaires, cabuchons, pendants or the huge gold rings which are startlingly barbaric in suggestion. Some of the earrings are really very smart and attractive, and to most women the style is becoming. The fad is to match the hat with the earrings, and no one pretends that the "baroque pearls," coral emerald or turquoise cabuchons and pendants are genuine.

Economy in Carpets.
IN choosing a carpet, if you are forced to study economy, select one with a small pattern and of a light color. The small pattern cuts to a better advantage, for there is less waste in matching the design as the breadths are sewn together. When the wool begins to wear the light color will not contrast so painfully against the string foundation as it would if it were many shades darker. There will also be economy in time in the lighter, well-covered carpet. Every thread and speck of dust will not show on it as the heavy reds and blues. Newspapers As Housekeeping Helps.—THERE are many uses for a newspaper besides its main reason—the purveying of news, and the thrifty housewife has a special corner where all the newspapers that come into the house are kept, tidily folded and ready for use. Newspapers are quite efficacious as moth bags for protecting winter clothing and woolen garments, laid away for the summer. Several thicknesses of the newspaper should be used to prevent danger of a tear, through which the wily moth may find a way, and the packages should be snugly sealed with paste or cord—never with pins.

There is nothing like a newspaper to put a brilliant polish on glass and after the mirrors and windows are washed and dried—a brisk rubbing with a newspaper will make them sparkle like crystal. Newspaper may also be used to polish lamp chimneys.

Every morning the kitchen range or gas stove should be wiped off with newspaper to absorb grease and the bottoms of iron saucepans and other utensils may be given a preliminary scrubbing in the same way. Adjustable Petticoats For Travelers.—FOR years Paris shops have carried the adjustable petticoat ruffles which may be attached in a jiffy to a separate top, but only lately have these admirable contrivances been offered in America. One may now invest in a number of charming petticoats—that is in the principal part of charming petticoats, which is the section from the knee down—at half what the same number of skirts would have cost formerly. One of these sections may be of serviceable cotton taffeta or light mohair; another may be of taffeta silk, daintily plisse; another may be of changeable silk; still another of lingerie fabric. All are attached in the same way by means of small buttonholes around the upper edge, which are buttoned to a well-fitted petticoat top of thin silk, satin, jersey material or lawn.

MOTION FOR REHEARING ARGUED.
Austin, Texas, April 25.—In the Court of Criminal Appeals yesterday Lud Williams of Waco, representing Mrs. Minnie Lee Streight, argued a motion for rehearing in this case, which the court last week reversed, remanded and ordered a change of venue upon. The object in asking for a motion for rehearing is to ask the court to rule inadmissible as evidence certain letters which in the first opinion were held to be admissible as evidence. When the motion for rehearing is disposed of Lud Williams will seek to have Mrs. Streight, who has been in jail since the trial, released on bond.

NEW USE FOUND FOR LIVE RATS

Used for Pulling Wires Through Conduits in City of Chicago.

Chicago, April 25.—A crate of twenty-five rats will be shipped to the Rockford, (Illinois) telephone exchange today. "We are laying several miles of conduit," Frank Ebey, manager of the telephone company explained. "The cable could be fished through by using thick wire, but we understand it is a quicker operation to use rats. A light cord is fastened around a rat's neck. It is released at the mouth of the conduit. Instinctively it runs to the other end where our men capture it. With the string we pull through a heavier cord and finally the cable."

TEASING TEXAS.

If one were to accept Colonel George Marcellus Bailey's dope for it, one would be forced to the conclusion that Texas on July 22 will adopt State-wide prohibition to the tune of about three sheets in the wind.—Manchester Union.

William E. Curtis tells about a Texas man who disposed of 3500 wild cats and 187,000 snakes in one year. We fear the famous Record-Herald's correspondent has gone so wrong as to hold communion in the silent watches with the Houston Post.—Columbia State.

"A Texas man sold 187,000 snakes last year for prices ranging from 25 cents to $2.50 each. Nobody can justly complain that the price of snakes is high," says the Chicago Record-Herald. Not yet, but wait till the republicans begin to protect this infant industry by putting fifteen per cent ad valorem on imported snakes.—Chattanooga Times.

Hats and Frocks for Midsummer Fetes—Pretty Tennis Dresses—Riding Togs for Country Wear—Evening Frocks With Girlish Sash Ribbons

Though the tired little debutante has been up until unearthly hours all winter, and has danced a dozen pairs of satin slippers clear through to her silk stockings, she is looking forward to her first summer "out" not at all as a blessed dolce far niente of recuperation. Bless you not! After the brief breathing spell of April, May and June, when there has been nothing to do but plan new clothes and exercise and rest at some fashionable summer resort, or perhaps a little jaunt over to Paris or the coronation to pass away the time—after this will come the real business of summer, the gaieties of New Port, of Bar Harbor or South Hampton and dinners and dances and other festivities will once more fill the round of the hour.

It is astonishing how a young girl in her first season can go through clothes. The accomplishments of the small boy with his proverbial reputation for wear and tear on trowsers are not a circumstance to what a girl of twenty who romps, dances, rides, swims and frisks through her first season in the country. Youth is tempestuous. It moves impetuously and is entirely inconsiderate of hampering obstacles in the way of circumstances, furniture or personal trappings. The debutante will tear more frocks and wear out more boots, slippers and gloves in a month than would her older sister or mother in a whole season.

Varied Wardrobe Needed for the Summer Season. The young daughter must be well compassed for the summer campaign, and who knows but that she will remain from New Port or Bar Harbor with a coronet hovering on the horizon of her winter possibilities, if not an actual diamond on her finger? What will the debutante need for her summer gaiety? The average mother getting a grown daughter ready for July and August at some fashionable summer resort provides her with pretty morning frocks, tennis, bathing and golf togs, half a dozen afternoon toilettes with accompanying hats and parasols for regattas, country club events or lawn fests, and as many light evening and dancing frocks as the occasions will call for. This wardrobe must be doubled, perhaps tripled, in the case of the debutante who is a member of the ultra fashionable set, or to the list of summer hotel or college cottage dances will be added countless balls, cotillions and other elaborate entertainments, not to speak of the various informal affairs sponsored by hostesses of week-end house parties.

Athletic Togs will form Part of the Outfit. In the morning hours little frocks of linen, chambray or dimity are the rule, and if the young girl is a tennis or golf enthusiast, her morning costumes will be suited to these occupations. The very best costume for golfing or tennis is a short well cut white duck skirt with a loose, thin blouse and tie and belt. This costume will be accompanied by a good looking sweater, preferably one of the new styles having a lady's middy style, rubber soled tennis shoes or low heeled, laced boots of tan calf, and a comfortable shady hat of light weight Panama or stitched linen wound with a gay silk scarf. Such a costume if correct in all its details may be exceedingly smart.

There are charming tennis dresses—as they are called of pink and pale blue silk chambray and of linen or white, pink or a very smart sage green shade, with hand wrought dots and scallops as a trimming. These frocks are made with extreme simplicity, the little seamless bodice being attached to a straight rather narrow skirt under a two inch belt of the same material, daintily scooped along both edges. The frock fastens down on one side with white crocheted or pearl buttons set in hand embroidered white scallops. The elbow sleeves are finished with turn-back cuffs, also scooped. Usually at the neck there is a dainty turn down collar of tuck and faggoted lawn, with perhaps a narrow edge of lace. For morning wear lace collars are not now considered good style, and the tucked and plisse neckwear is the notion. A sweet little tennis frock of wisteria colored linen is scooped with white, and all the way down the front are distracting bows of velvet violet colored ribbon one of these bows perching on the sleeve over the broad turn back cuff of plisse batiste, which is bordered with fine cluny. The huge collar—square at the back and opening in front in a rather deep V—is also of the finely pleated white material, with its fine white border of cluny lace.

Summer Riding Togs for the Debutante. Every really fashionable girl rides. There are two things which commend the exercise as an exclusive sport. It is so expensive that only the exclusive may indulge in it. It makes for the glorious health. And it so hardens the muscles that rarely does the woman who has ridden in youth take on ungraciously emboldened later in life.

The summer riding habit may be much less conventional than the formal affair worn in town, but it must be perfect in every detail—even in its informality. The skirt is usually of heavy linen crash—and more and more women riders now are taking up cross-saddle riding when in the country, the riding skirt being cut for this manner of sitting in the saddle. If the day is very warm the smart, hip-length coat may be dispensed with, and the skirt is accompanied by a very correct mannish shirtwaist, a trim Ascot stock and a straw sailor hat firmly anchored by a board with elastic. Hatpins are too dangerous in case of a fall to be risked by the experienced rider. The hair may be braided and tied up securely with a broad black ribbon or it may be fastened closely against the back of the head in a neat plaque with small hairpins. Smart habits are made also of very dark gray English mohair.

This Year's Debutante Will Wear "Helen Pink." Indeed, only a debutante with a flawless under-25 complexion would venture to wear this trying color. For Helen pink is a tint between coral and rose that would make any skin but a pink-and-white girlish one look saffron color. This new shade is, of course, named after the President's daughter and is extravagantly the fashion. White voile frocks are embroidered with Helen pink, and there are whole dresses of this color.

A summer dinner-gown, made of Helen pink silk, embroidered with black beads, is illustrated, and this gown, with its vivid color contrasts is charming on the dark-haired young woman who wears it. It would, of course, be impossible to a blonde. The silk of the thinnest sort procurable and is mounted over white chiffon, which gives a delicate, airy effect to both tunic and skirt. The tunic is embroidered with black bead motifs and this embroidery is repeated in bold effect on the lower part of the bodice and sleeve. Above this embroidery the material is tucked chiffon of a paler pink coloring, and the deep yoke of Irish crochet is laid over Helen pink again. In the hair is a bandeau of pink ribbon and the earrings are of coral, with swinging pendants of baroque pearl.

White the Debutante's Own Color. Though dazzling dinner costumes of the type described above are an important item of the wardrobe for a first season out, the mother of a debutante does well to keep the young girl in white most of the time. There is something especially youthful and appealing in pure white. It is the maid's particular privilege and may not be worn by the matron except for put-off-town mourning without a suggestion of affectation.

Though a large proportion of the lingerie costumes for the coming summer include color ornamentation of some sort, there are numerous models in pure white, or in white combined with cream or ecru the latter effect being considered extremely smart. Two very pretty white afternoon frocks for a debutante are illustrated. One of these models is a simple white dress for afternoon wear at home and the other is an elaborate fete toilette of embroidered tulle and real lace—beautiful Calliope frock this, fit for a princess, but intended for the midsummer wear of an American debutante of this season.

The first mentioned dress shows the returning fancy for dotted swiss. This material is especially dainty and appropriate for young girls, but only the finest qualities are soft enough to fall in the limp, straight lines liked just now. The skirt of this little dotted swiss frock is fitted to the hips and waistline with tiny handrun pin tucks and is weighted at the bottom with a very deep band of embroidery, below two cluny edged frills, making the skirt look wider than it really is. The babyish waist, with its simple lace trimming at neck and elbow, and the straight band of embroidery running straight across front and sleeves—children's frocks are made—is youthful and charming.

Several new collars for wear with summer frocks and showing the V-shaped neck opening are illustrated. These collars are made of linen and the embroidered designs are done by hand; but similar styles, made up by machine in cheaper forms, abound in all the neckwear departments of the shops. Nothing could be more fresh and dainty for a hot summer morning than a little frock of pale blue or lavender silk chambray, or of striped pink and white or green and white lawn, with a collar and elbow cuffs of sheer embroidered linen. The designs for these collars are so simple, also that any young woman handy with her embroidery needle should be able to make for herself any number of pretty bits of neckwear of this sort.

One of the collars illustrated has an inset insertion of Irish crochet and the collar being edged with scalloped white lawn, is made of sheer handkerchief lawn and the hand of insertion is set in with a coiled and whipl

A Dancing Dress in 1830 Style. There is a whisper that the high-waisted Empire fashions will be succeeded by early Victorian modes, equally high-waisted, but much more ornate in detail. In Victorian days—the days of 1830 to 1840, at least—shoulders were bared quite York last week. This little frock was of white chiffon embroidered by hand in festoon border effect with tiny blue and pink blossoms. Under the delicate embroidered bodice were broad pink ribbons crossed in surplice effect. The waist with long ends, was of pink roses at the back, and around the bottom of the embroidered skirt went a festoon of the pink ribbon, with stiff little bows every six inches or so.

Clinging Evening Wraps of Sheer Materials. Scores of sumptuous wraps are shown at every large opening, but few of these are youthful enough in style for debutante. The debutante may never be sumptuous, handsome as the material of her garments may be. Young girls this summer will wear big lined capes of white satin, with hoods lined with shirred chiffon in a delicate color, the same chiffon being used to line the big cape. Lovely wraps of chiffon, in the clinging, graceful style which is so fascinating, are built in the pale shades for debutante wear. Such a wrap is pictured in the dainty model of white chiffon mounted over chiffon cloth, and heavily embroidered with white silk. With this wrap is shown a distracting little coiffure bonnet of white lace with blue ribbon, which is drawn over the hair during the brief motor spin to the evening's entertainment.

Smart Hats for Young Faces. Extreme military types are often pleasing on young girls and on the debutante hats that would be bizarre on her mamma are absolutely delightful. Two rather freakish new hats for midsummer wear are pictured. One is a

A young girl the other afternoon at tea hour removed the coat of her smart little suit of gray mohair to show a white blouse almost covered with a softly draped fichu of white mull bordered with a pleating of val and embroidered by hand with white flower motifs. The fichu opened just below the slender throat, under a big coral brooch and coral earrings swung from the ears below the edge of a quaint bonnet of gray chip trimmed with a wired white face bow. The whole costume was entrancingly demure and quakerish, the vivid coral making a delightful contrast with the gray and white suit and bonnet and the soft white fichu.

FASCINATING FICHUS AND COLLARS FOR SUMMER BODICES

ped seam. In another collar square motifs of Irish crochet are set in with buttonholed edges, the material being afterward cut away from beneath the lace. Cuffs to match this collar are shown. A third collar is scalloped and daintily embroidered in an eyelet and dot design. This collar and the matching cuffs were of pale yellow lawn, with embroidery in white. Blue and pink linen collars are also shown, and most of these linen collars come with broad cuffs to match.

With the V-shaped collars it will be usually at the elbow, this season's borne in mind that the cuffs are worn sleeves—especially on little frocks for summer mornings—being invariably short. The sleeves are loose around the bottom, also, and the cuffs are sufciently large to fit easily around the edge of the loose sleeve. The low, V-shaped collar and loose, turned-back elbow cuffs give a very picturesque, as well as smart, look to the costume.

Neckwear sets, including a V-shaped shield to be worn inside the deep surplice opening of the bodice, are another new notion. One of these sets is illustrated and the big collar, with its long ends in front and its pointed shield are very suggestive of the white duck middie collars which months ago small boys knew all about how to make. The beautiful set pictured is of sheer white handkerchief linen with inserts of heavier linen in pale lavender in the center of the shield, at the corners of the sailor collar and in the shape of envelope flaps, turning back on the cuffs. The embroidery is done in white. This set could be copied with inserts of lavender, blue or any preferred color.

This embroidered sailor collar with its long ends, intended to cross in surplice effect over a shield, is of course only a variation of the fichu; which is just now so much the fashion. The white mull with a trimming of inexpensive lace and represents one of the simplest types of the new fichu neck dressings. The elaborate fichus of net and point d'esprit, with rows of lace insertion and borders of pleated lace, are used with dinner and evening frocks for home wear, but there are scores of pretty styles which may be donned over spring blouses beneath the coat of the two-piece suit.

The Biggest Day in May--Remember the Date

A Few Thoughts and Some Advice on Advertising
 By W. H. Cousins in Practical Druggist

A budding youth, built on the bantam plan and about nineteen summers from the nurse, who owned six pairs of balloon-shaped trousers, a lot of information on the hating averages and enough chemical formulae to put a college professor in the bug house division, once gum-shoed into the scheme department of a pill emporium, owned and operated by a gray-haired individual who had been a slave to the mortar and pestle since the palmy days when blue mass and cinchona bark had everything else crowded out of the U. S. P.

This particular pharmaceutical concoction gave as his excuse for being on a still hunt for a position where he could practice his chosen profession ethically and in accordance with the ideals that hung in clusters around the walls of the old lecture room, where a dippy old professor unrolled three films of theory each week in a tone that made high C sound like a fog horn.

After the bantam had conversed single-handed for forty-five minutes, on every theme, from the non-metallic halogens to serum therapy and back again, the old bird mused, "Has anybody here seen Kelley?" and, looking up, discovered that somebody was in the room, and then he remembered the embryo had said something about ideal pharmacy.

the game, from mopping the linoleum to nailing the coin, and can tell whether the lady wants four dollars' worth of perfume or a dime's worth of safety pins, with your eyes shut."

"The noble profession listens good, but is only used at State Pharmaceutical Associations and banquets. Never mention it except when you are in low-necked regalia, looking down the long white table at the toast master who looks like there was two of him. You see it is intended only for special occasions and is considered a joke in every-day life. Forget it and come down to the earth where the customers are. I realize that your hot-house plants from the college conservatory have to learn the business somewhere, and several of us have succeeded in spite of what we learned at college. But you will find it necessary to rent out your room, sell your night shirt and cut sleep off life's program. Pause and ponder well before you decide to devote your three score years and ten to the task of selling stamps and hunting the city directory, there is yet time to retrace your well-worn wayward steps, you can back up but you must do it while you are still able to breathe air that has no iodofom or asafetida in it, for after the fumes get a hold on you, you are doomed."

If you have a sneaking admiration for a vocation that is easy and conducive to happiness and a long life, I would suggest the rock pile or boiler factory where they call eight hours per diem a day's work. Of course, we old ones would be ashamed to take the money, but you are as yet an unshorn lamb, and what you don't know about a modern, up-to-date minute poison plant would make a larger volume than Webster's thrilling story, the unabridged. And another trouble with you, who have lately broken loose from dear old Alma Mater, is that insane idea of keeping half the stock in an oven and the rest in an ice box. That kind of a drug store is only operated in pharmacy journals, the profits always prove an all and the wise-looking lad fresh from the college incubator who hangs his sheep skin and his profile made in the mortar cap and the black kimona side by side, and toils away enough time on four ounces of veratrum viride to have sold a shipment of safety razors, has about the same glowing opportunity in modern druggom that a one-legged man has at a kicking contest.

Your elastic craniums have been stuffed within two pounds of bursting pressure with pipe dreams of ethics and hand-painted ideals, but no kindly soul has cast you a tow line anent the proper modus operandi for salting the sameleons, which is a point that should come up for consideration if you are to make it square with the butcher and baker at the end of thirty days. There is the same difference in the possibility of mercurials and the price of calomel that there is between the careful perusal of Dr. Frizzlewhisker's league rules for isolating hyoscine and reading a notice that your rent was due last Tuesday. If the colleges ever establish a chair whose mission on earth is to hand out a bunch as to how to get the lovely public to unbelt and get frisky with the coin, they will have matriculates who have not been free from phenol fumes in fifty years. You of the mortar board-head gear and the tender years have a corner on Coblenz and Remington, but you seem shy on the best methods for whipsawing the patent medicine trust. You have coppered everything official on Hexamethylenetetramine, but you do not seem to know whether Zoligate & Co. manufacture soda straws or suspension bridges, and you are unable to say whether Phenylacetamide is imported from Germany or grows in Kansas.

"But listen to me Kid! with all your faults I love you still, and I am going to steer you right with a bunch of tips that cost me all the coin I could nail for years, to say nothing of sleep enough to make Rip Van Winkle look like an amateur loafing on the job. Jerk loose hastily from the idea that people will quit trying as soon as you get to mixing medicine for them, and don't joke yourself so bitterly by thinking that the million is going to fall over each other to give you the filthy lucre just because it's you."

"Son, there is just one string that pulls the big push, just one wire into the home office of the populace. That wire is Advertising. If you don't tell them that you are the only one in captivity they will never know it. If you fail to wise them to the fact that your store is the only one of the kind on earth or elsewhere, millions will die without knowing it."

"Don't misunderstand me when I say advertising; that word is often construed to mean that you must be philanthropical toward newspapers, and buy their space because they have it for sale, or hand over your earnings to people to keep them from saying you are non-professional and a fossil. No greater mistake has been made since Adam and the apple episode. Advertising money should be spent as carefully and judiciously as the money with which you buy merchandise. Some men will quibble with a salesman three hours over eighty-five cents on the price of a barrel of Epsom salts, and then cheerfully hand over a check for forty dollars to an advertising grafter to promote an advertising scheme that makes everybody tired. I'd as soon buy forty dollars' worth of tickets to a ball game and distribute them among a bunch of yeggmen as to spend the money that way and then have a struggle with my conscience trying to make it hush."

The old bird ceased talking and the embryo had fainted. Tip to the youngsters; for real information on the vitals of business tap the oldest guy in the game, the one who does not know whether vacation means a coal tar derivative or a new kind of a skirt.

that locks and keys are not used nor needed on the doors of the Panhandle homes.

But Harry, do not misconceive this explanation as an effort to destroy your career or to blight any worthy aspiration of your young manhood. The magnificent Panhandle country holds out beckoning hands to you and your friends, provided only that your coming shall add strength to the ranks of honest toil and that the measure of your influence shall be cast into the scales of civic righteousness. Even if you have no capital beyond the wealth of your own mind, and a useful citizen in the community, and mean to so live that all men will respect and trust you, the world needs you and the Texas Panhandle craves your presence.

If your best people of your community are your friends in your own right and not merely by reason of their attitude toward your parents or line of ancestry, but are friends of your own making, you will not lack here for that touch of human interest that makes the world skin. Forget your pedigree, if you have one. They are useful in the Panhandle only as price makers for Durham bulls, and Hereford pure-breds. The West would not hold you to book for ancestral failures, neither will it credit you for your grandfather's achievements. Mayflower relics and colonial records are worth less here than souvenirs of the fat stock show, for the West figures that big people are doing right now, things as fier as those old fellows did in their day.

And before you leave the old home, Harry, kneel down beside your mother—perhaps the last time—just as you did a long time ago, and pledge at this hallowed altar of home that your life never shall bring grief to hearts that love you, nor tears to eyes dim with life's twilight, for this is manhood, Harry. And when you have come, let your letters filled with the story of your progress, go back to lessen the longing and the loneliness your vacant chair has made at the family fireside.

I have not chided you, Harry, for being ignorant of the fact that in all the attributes of material progress, in the development of industries, in schools and churches and intellectual culture, in every lusty force of civilization this imperial commonwealth is far in the lead of provincial Maine. The average schoolboy, enjoying here the benefits of the most colossal school fund in the world, knows more of the state of Maine, that is not larger than an average state legislative district out here, than your college professor knows of Texas. And the average Texan can show you, with many illustrations, each one of which is well within belief that the world turns over a dozen times under the Lone Star before the breakfast begins in Maine.

You have not known that the great magazines of the east within whose pages you have read the blood-red stories and gathered therefrom your harvest of ignorance, have preyed upon your innocence. You have not known that your reputable sources of information have been for years disreputably pandering to a depraved literary market which they have created with blood and thunder stories that have truly portrayed no place nor people in America. And these degenerate mental vacuities have coined their beer soaked phantasms into wealth at the expense of truthful lads like yourself—and like myself, until I came, years ago to the Panhandle of Texas where human life and private property are safer than anywhere in the world besides.

You will not do any Buffalo Bill mock heroics, but you can ride a gang across these far-spread fields, and you can watch the vagrant breezes ripple the billowing harvests that have sprung from fertile depths of the beck of your industry, and every portal of opportunity that swings wide upon the levers of labor, brains and integrity shall open at your touch—but if there is any place in the world where a young man without means can get along comfortably without working I am not definitely advised as to its location. It is at least, is not in the Panhandle of Texas.
