TARIFF ON WOOL IS EXPEDITIOUS

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE EXPLAINS THAT TARIFF IS NOT ABANDONMENT OF DEMOCRATIC POLICY.

PRES. TAFT IS CRITICISED

His Public Admissions Concerning Woolen Schedules Cited By Democrats.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Sharply criticizing President Taft, the Republican tariff board, the report on the Underwood bill was submitted to the House today by the Democratic members of the ways and means committee. The report charges the president with responsibility for the failure of congress to revise the wool schedule in the tariff of 1909.

Explaining the committee's determination not to put raw wool on free list, but to reduce the duty to twenty per cent ad valorem, the committee insists this is "Not to be construed as any abandonment of democratic policy. Present situation of the treasury requires that the revenue from customs duties in immediate future be maintained at approximately the total for the fiscal year of 1910."

Carnival Opens.

A crowd estimated at more than 1000 last night visited the grounds of the International Carnival Company and many of the people present "took in" and enjoyed the various amusement attractions.

The grounds are well lighted and in the swirl of initial features affording pleasure to the throng in attendance was a wire walled feat that was free and much enjoyed.

The jumping horse carry-us-all, or Merry-go-round with its music and glittering electric lights was well patronized as were all the other concessions.

At the Hindoo Mysteries tent the Flying Lady attracted much attention and the audience sat pop-eyed and watched the Hindoo magician perform his wonderful tricks.

The Dixie Minstrel performance was also a good entertainment feature for the artists in sympathy walked the echoes with the old plantation melodies that are always responded to with generous applause.

The carnival engagement starts out with flattering prospects and the assurance of Managers Brown and Younger that it will be kept up to a clean amusement standard should insure its success.

Real Estate Transfers.

J. E. Bond to J. M. Hooper, lot 15, block 25, 43.00.
Hutchinson County Land Company to W. B. Throckmorton and W. I. Cook, 320 acres of J. F. Torrey survey, $4,000.
C. E. Brown and H. Cramer to Mrs. Elizabeth M. Brown, lots 11 and 12, block 14, I. Jalonic addition, $1,500.

Quite an excitement was created this afternoon on the corner of Seventh and Scott by two women engaging in a scrap or hair-pulling. The husband of one of the women was with his wife when they overtook the other woman, and immediately she made the attack. The husband tried in vain to keep them separated, but seemed to be powerless as a peace-maker, and got the worst of it. The women continued to fight, scratch kick and pull hair until the one making the attack started off across the street with the other following her. Constable Pickett came on the scene about this time and took charge of both women and the husband escorted them to justice.

Dates Changed.

PRESIDENT'S WISHES ARE NOT HEEDDED

FINANCE COMMITTEE WILL REPORT AMENDMENTS TO CANADIAN RECIPROCIITY MEASURE.

THE WOOD PULP SECTION

Root's Amendment is Favored By Bailey and Nine Others of Committee.

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Executive consideration of Canadian reciprocity was begun today by the Senate finance committee, but no effort will be made for a vote until tomorrow. Secretary of State Knox did not appear before the committee this morning as expected to explain whether the Root amendment to paper section of bill is in accord with the agreement, but was expected to appear late today.

Administration hopes that the Senate finance committee would report the Canadian reciprocity measure dashed today when it was learned that ten of the committee members including Bailey would vote for the Root amendment. It provides a restriction as to when the President shall declare the wood pulp section to be in force.

BOYS TURN PIRATES AND COME TO GRIEF

Cuxhaven, Germany, June 6.—Two seventeen-year-old youths today seized a fishing schooner in the harbor here turning it into a pirate ship. When the owner attempted to recover his boat they shot him to death. Then they stood off several vessels in the harbor which made a concerted attack. Finally the police in a government steamer overpowered them. They had a considerable supply of rifles and ammunition.

STRUCK BY AN ENGINE CARRIED TWO MILES

Martinburg, W. Va., June 6.—Ray VanHeter, a farmer, while crossing a railroad track here was struck by an engine, his horse killed and buggy picked up on a pilot and carried two miles. Meanwhile VanHeter crawled over the running board to the cab and informed the engineer what had happened. The train was then stopped and the farmer got off, but slightly hurt. He wanted to know if he would be fined for stealing a ride.

FT. WORTH WINS IN CATTLE RATE FIGHT

Washington, June 6.—Texas cattle interests won a victory over Oklahoma City today when the Interstate Commerce Commission denied the application for a suspension of the rate in the Fort Worth and Oklahoma City packing house case.

The Texas & Pacific railroad at the complaint of Fort Worth packers that higher rates on cattle transportation were being charged from Fort Worth than from Oklahoma City, put in effect a reduced rate, which the Oklahoma commission tried to have suspended. The commission held that power to suspend reduction in freight rates is vested in the commission by law even though this power was not used in the Fort Worth case. This is not a final decision in the Fort Worth-Oklahoma City case which will be rendered only after a general investigation.

United States Steel Corporation officials who are attending the investigation of the steel trust by the special House committee in Washington, of which Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, is chairman, posed before going on the witness stand.

HEATH STORAGE HOUSE IS BURNED

Building And Contents Destroyed Monday Night—Loss May Reach Twenty-five Thousand Dollars.

Fire of unknown origin shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night destroyed Heath's Storage and Transfer House together with its contents at 1203 Ohio avenue.

The building which was a frame structure 50x100 feet covered with corrugated iron with an annex adjoining was burned to the ground with the exception of a small portion in front where the office was located.

The building was stored with merchandise, household furniture, etc., all of which is a total loss. Estimates this morning place the loss close upon $25,000.

The building with the office fixtures was valued at $4,000. Upon this Mr. Heath and his son carried $3,000 insurance of which $2,400 was on the building and $600 on stock and fixtures.

All of the goods in storage were at the owner's risk and it is probable that a large portion was uninsured.

Although there was less in storage than there had been for several months, it is believed there were more than fifty individual losses through the fire. Among others I. H. Roberts was a heavy loser having just stored two car loads of cement costing nearly $1,500 in the building.

Probably the biggest losers were Armour and Company, who and other packing house products in the building.

The fire apparently originated in the center of the building. The alarm was turned in by a switch engineman and had gained good headway by the time the department reached the scene.

In a short time the interior was a roaring furnace and the fire was one of the hottest ever known in Wichita Falls. For a time the Mansion Hotel across the street was imperiled. The office fixtures and records were all that was saved.

It is probable another storage house will be built on the site of the burned structure.

Among the other losers in the fire who had goods in storage were the North Texas Gas Company, a car load of meters, numbering over six hundred, and the Noble Hardware Company, which firm had a number of buggies and stoves in the building.

AVIATOR VERDRINE MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

Gust of Wind Rock His Machine And He Was Compelled to Alight.

Buc, France, June 6.—Pierre Verdrine, the winner of the Paris to Madrid race today started in the Paris to Turin aeroplane race expecting to fly five hundred miles before dark.

He flew to Dijon, 160 miles from Paris in about four hours. After taking on fuel he ascended three thousand feet, but at Chalons Sur Marne a violent gust of wind rocked his machine compelling him to alight heavily. He is uninjured but his aeroplane is damaged and he has abandoned the race.

W. A. McCarthy is congratulating himself that he got out of Mexico when he did. He received a letter from a friend today in which is given an account of a raid by bandits on the town of Logas where he was located. The letter says that one American was "hung up", until he was made to borrow $100 from another American and pay over to them. After this they proceeded to shoot up the town.

THIS FARMER IS NOT AT ALL DISCOURAGED

Says Cotton Never Looked Better And With Rain This Week Corn Will Yield Well.

W. C. Mann, who lives three miles out of town, reports that cotton prospects were never better in his community, and that the corn has not been seriously damaged by the dry weather.

"If we have rain this week we will have a splendid chance for one of the best corn crops we have ever had."

Mr. Mann, who is an old settler, is not discouraged over conditions. "You fellows here in town see the dust blowing around on the street and at once jump to the conclusion that the country is burnt up when the fact is that no damage has been done. Of course the grass is short and the lack of water for stock is serious, but I've lived here long enough to know that a good rain will make a crop when it looks like there would be no chance at all."

Dr. S. A. Waites, a pioneer resident of Wichita Falls, who now owns and runs a fine farm on Red River, also says that he never saw finer cotton grow than he has. Dr. Waites says that the dry weather has caused some damage to the corn, but that a rain in the next week will result in a good yield.

SALOON MAN WILL BE HELD LIABLE

Austin, Texas, June 6.—Attorney General's Department has ruled that if a saloonkeeper knowingly sells liquor to a person buying it for a habitual drunkard it is a violation of the law. The question came up in answer to a letter of a woman who said her husband was a habitual drunkard and obtained his drink by having his friends to purchase it.

ENGINEER SUBMITS REPORT ON ROADS

ESTIMATES COST OF JACKSBORO STONE ROADS AT $4,988 PER MILE AND GRAVEL AT $3,677.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Barely Quorum at Meeting This Morning And Little Business is Transacted.

A fifteen foot road covered with 8 inches of crushed Jacksboro stone, together with drainage, excavation, etc., will cost approximately $4988.00 where the stone is hauled a distance of one mile or less. For each additional mile the stone must be hauled the cost will be $488.75.

The construction of a sixteen foot road with gravel for foundation will cost a total of $3677.18 where the haul is one mile or less and for each additional mile $672 must be added.

These figures on costs of improved roadways in the vicinity of Wichita Falls were submitted to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this morning by C. E. Leonard a civil engineer employed for that purpose.

Mr. Leonard submitted his recommendations in a lengthy report which is published in another page.

His report was accepted and he was instructed also to furnish an estimate on the cost of building roads with stone from the quarries near Rhome, Texas. This stone was formerly used for ballast by the Fort Worth & Denver and could be laid down here at a price materially less than the Jacksboro product.

About the only other business transacted by the directors this morning was the appropriation of $100 from the advertising fund to defray a part of the expense of the trip of a delegation of local firemen to the State Convention at Waco. The purpose of the trip is to invite the firemen to hold their convention here in 1912.

WADSWORTH PLEASED WITH PAVING WORK

Chas. S. Wadsworth, vice president and general manager of the Crescent Wood Block Paving Company, is here on his monthly inspection trip and says he is much gratified at the progress made here with the paving work, and especially so with the high grade character of the work performed by this city in this city. He says we may expect numerous delegations from other cities to be brought here to inspect the Wichita Falls paving as the work here is as fine as any found anywhere in the country.

He states that the original contract here should be finished by about July 1st at which time the plant and organization will be sent to Greenville or Dallas in both of which cities his company have large contracts.

This city is getting the very best pavement on the market at the very low price of $25.50 per square yard, while Dallas is paying $32.50 for the same pavement, said Mr. Wadsworth.

Under the city's contract it has the right to extend the work over additional streets at the same price and it might be well to seriously consider the extensions needed before the organization is moved away from the city so as to take advantage of the very low prices the city is now getting the benefit of.

Mr. Wadsworth has been in attendance at the National Good Roads Congress held at Birmingham, Ala., May 23rd to 26th, and states that many of the delegates are now endorsing crescent wood blocks for the pavement of county roads. While the first cost is much higher than the gravel or macadam roads, the fact that when once down the expense ceases with the wood block and the macadam while the large maintenance expenses constantly make the wood block pavement the cheapest by far in the long run. Harris County, Texas, recently awarded some six thousand yards of wood blocks on Washington road out of Houston and it proves satisfactory will adopt this pavement on a large scale.

The monthly reports of the different city officials were audited and showed the following amounts collected during the month of May:

Assessor and Collector $1462.84
City Secretary 632.25
City Engineer 73.00
Gas and light inspector 120.05
Total $2288.14

The Treasurer's report for the month of May was as follows: Overdraft in general fund $ 980.00
Balance on hand in street fund $2041.76

Balance on hand in Sewer Fund $1480.72
Balance on hand interest and sinking fund $11,187.02

SCHOLASTIC POPULATION GAIN 60 IN 12 MONTHS

Wichita Falls' gain in scholastic population during the last twelve months was only sixty according to the census just completed by W. W. Brown, secretary of the school board in the Wichita Falls independent school district. The enumeration just completed shows 1734 white children and 148 negroes between the ages of seven and seventeen years making a total of 1880 compared with 1820 a year ago.

While the gain this year is comparatively smaller than for the past several years, it is gratifying when it is taken into consideration that there has been an actual decrease in most North Texas cities.

A ratio of six to one is usually used in computing population estimates from the scholastic census, and this would give the city a population of 11,280.

A series of special meetings will open at the corner of Fourth and Adams street tonight under the auspices of the Wichita County Baptist Association.

Rev. C. R. Steward will speak and E. M. Yeakley will conduct the singing.

WALKER APPOINTED TO SUCCEED SKEEN

NEW NIGHT POLICE CHIEF NAMED AT MEETING OF COUNCIL TUESDAY MORNING.

VERY IMPORTANT SESSION

City Council Meets This Morning And Little Business is Transacted.

The city council at a postponed regular meeting held this morning transacted considerable business including the appointment of Sam W. Walker to succeed Will Skeen in charge of the night police force, a refusal to remit the license of the carnival company, the awarding of the contract for printing the annual statement of the council to the Times, auditing the reports of the different city officials, and other business of a routine nature.

City Engineer Hinckley was instructed to establish the land lines at the city cemetery property in connection with the opening of a road through the unused portion of the grounds.

The resignation of Will Skeen as captain of the night police force was accepted by the council and S. W. Walker was elected to the position.

The matter of remitting the license of the carnival company now playing here under the auspices of the Eagles was presented and discussed at length. Alderman Young made a motion that the show be exempt from the usual occupation tax but as the motion did not meet with a second the matter was dropped without action being taken thereon.

The Wichita Ice Company was asked to put in a sand trap at the point where the company's line empties into the sanitary sewer as a protection against quick sand that has been causing some trouble and Mr. Robinson being present agreed to comply with the request rendering official action unnecessary.

Fire Chief Stampfl was before the council on behalf of the department and asked that the upstairs hall of the department be screened as a protection against flies which request was granted and the chief was ordered to have the work done.

City Secretary Skeen was authorized by the council to purchase a typewriter for the use of that office contingent on the acceptance of payment on July 15.

The council authorized the payment to Collector Robertson of ten per cent of the amount of the street tax collected as per agreement when the duty of making such collections was delegated to him. The amount for the month of May as shown by his report being $1122 the city secretary was instructed to issue a warrant in the sum of $112.20.

The appointment of a city scavenger was discussed at some length but no action was taken thereon as it was the opinion of the members present that in as much as someone had paid $100 for a license to do this work that he should be permitted to handle the business as contemplated in the ordinance providing such a tax.

The matter of paving on Ninth street in front of the Wichita Ice Company was discussed. Mr. Robinson having asked that the work be postponed until the busy season was over in view of the fact that he would be unable to load his wagons while the work was in progress. The council expressed an appreciation of the trouble that it would cause the company at this time, but no action was taken pending an effort to arrange for the work to be executed at a time when it would not be necessary to load or unload at the platform along the section to be paved street.

The monthly reports of the different city officials were audited and showed the following amounts collected during the month of May:

Assessor and Collector $1462.84
City Secretary 632.25
City Engineer 73.00
Gas and light inspector 120.05
Total $2288.14

The Treasurer's report for the month of May was as follows: Overdraft in general fund $ 980.00

Balance on hand in Sewer Fund $1480.72

ENGINEER LEONARD SUBMITS SOME RECOMMENDATIONS ON ROAD BUILDING

GRAVEL FROM TYSON PITS AND JACKSBORO STONE MOST AVAILABLE—COST WILL APPROXIMATE $5,000 PER MILE FOR JACKSBORO MACADAM AND $3,677.18 FOR GRAVEL.

Wichita Falls, Texas, June 6.
Mr. F. Happy Day,
Sec. Chamber of Commerce,
Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir:
In compliance with the request of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, I beg to state that I have gone over some of the roads which the county officials are contemplating improving, and hereto submit my report.

The general "lay of the ground" or contour is what we would term as rolling, the major portion of the soil being of a red clay, which if properly crowned, drained and compacted, will make an ideal for the sub-foundation of a good road.

As to available material for the construction of the roads, I find that there is no local material suitable for the wearing surface. At the Tyson gravel pit about three and one-half miles from town there is quite a supply of gravel which could be used as a base or foundation for roads constructed in that immediate territory, but as a general rule you will be forced to seek other material outside of the county.

For the general construction of the proposed roads I recommend the Jacksboro stone, yet economizing wherever local material can be found. As to the cost of roads constructed out of Jacksboro stone, and of roads constructed by the use of the Tyson or similar gravel and Jacksboro stone, I will treat in the latter part of my report.

Width.
Experience has demonstrated that sixteen feet of actual driveway is of ample width, and in many counties twelve feet has been adopted as the standard. I would recommend that your most heavily traveled roads be macadamized for a width of sixteen feet, and that the other roads be made fourteen feet. In my estimate I will take an average of the two, fifteen feet.

Preparation of Sub-Course.
(a) A survey of the proposed road should be made careful attention being given to drainage areas. A profile of roadway should be made and permanent grades established by a competent engineer.

(b) The dirt roadbed should be carefully prepared, and with a fall of one-half inch to one inch to the foot for a distance of one-half of the width of the road bed from the center to the sides. Next shoulders or embankments of dirt four feet in width with a fall of one and one-half to two and one-half inches per foot should be constructed. The purpose of these shoulders or embankments is to hold the stone and gravel in place while same is being rolled and compacted; the elevation of the shoulder, being such as to form a continuous drain from the center of the completed road to the edge or side of longitudinal ditches.

(c) Great care should be used in the construction of longitudinal ditches. These ditches are one of the main factors which determine the life of the road, and should be constructed under the supervision of a competent engineer or road builder. Too often are they constructed of too shallow a depth which allows the water from heavy rains to sweep over and destroy the driveway. Again, too often are they constructed of too great a depth and grade, which cause ravines to be formed that not only endanger human life, but the life of the road. I can not place too much emphasis on the necessity of proper construction of the side ditches and of the shaping of the roadway, and installment of culverts.

The Surfacing and its Foundation.
In selecting the type of material I will confine myself to the use of the Jacksboro stone, yet if material can be found which is permissible for foundation purposes, it should be used. If gravel is used for the base, then it should be eight inches thick and a proper amount of water will be required with its rolling.

Upon the thoroughly compacted and properly shaped road bed we place a layer of five inches of crushed limestone of dimensions not greater than two and three-fourths inches or less than one and one-half inches. Give this layer a light rolling, roll until same is compacted and does not wave. Upon this add another layer of two and one-half inches of an inch in longest dimensions. Then roll these two layers until same have rolled and become thoroughly compacted. Upon this add about one-half inch of fine stone screenings and stone dust and work same into the voids of stone by the use of steel brooms and roller. Then wet the surface thoroughly and roll and re-roll the road until it is thoroughly compacted and all particles are firmly bound together.

Cost.
Fifteen feet of Jacksboro macadam (one mile haul).

One cubic yard of material spread with an average thickness of eight inches will cover four and one-half square yards of surface.
Per cubic yard (one mile haul).
Cost of Jacksboro stone $1.98
Spreading05
Rolling13
Water10
Brooming binder04

Cost per cubic yard $2.30

But one cubic yard covers four and one-half square yards of surface, making the cost per square yard (excluding excavation and drainage) $0.51.

Total number of square yards in one mile of fifteen foot roadway $800.
Cost of mile of fifteen foot Jacksboro macadam (excluding excavation and drainage) $4488.00.
Drainage and excavation $500.00.

Total cost per mile of 15 feet roadway $4988.00.

There will be required approximately 1955 cubic yards of stone and screenings for a mile of fifteen foot roadway, therefore each additional mile above the one mile haul will add $488.75 to the total cost per mile.

Construction of fifteen foot roadway with Tyson gravel for foundation (one mile haul).

Cost of gravel per cubic yard:
(a) Cost of stripping $0.05
(b) Loosening gravel02
(c) Loading wagons15
(d) Hauling one mile30
(e) Waiting to load and unload and for breakdowns03

Total $0.55

I would recommend the use of eight inches of loose gravel for the base 1955 cubic yards, per-mile, therefore cost of gravel for base of 15 feet roadway $1075.25.

Two and one-half inches Jacksboro surface and one-half inch screenings and dust 733.3 cubic yards at $1.98, $1451.93.

Spreading, waterings, rolling and brooming of binder of both foundation course and wearing surface—Total cost (excluding grading and drainage) $3177.18.

Grading and drainage $500.00.
Total cost per mile $3677.18.

To the above add $672.00 for each additional mile that material is to be hauled.

Respectfully submitted,
CIVIL ENGINEER.

Tillman County Farmers Will Irrigate.
J. T. James, a prosperous farmer up near the mouth of Otter creek, has installed an irrigating system on his farm and will irrigate 30 acres of cotton. He has a 3-horsepower gasoline engine and will pump his water from the creek, which furnishes plenty of water for irrigating, probably all the land lying adjacent.

C. W. Jones, another progressive farmer who lives on Otter creek, has installed a system for irrigating and he now has 25 acres of sweet potatoes under irrigation. He has a 12-horsepower gasoline engine and can irrigate really considerably more than 25 acres and probably will if it becomes necessary.

J. N. Southall stated to the Times editor last week that it was his intention to try irrigating from wells. He thinks he can easily have a good system—and one that will give him plenty of water by first making a large reservoir in the earth for storage and settling purposes and then sink three or four wells from which to pump the water into the reservoir.

It seems to the editor that the farmers of this section have the finest spot for farming in the United States. With the proper methods and improvements this land can be made so productive that within a few years it would be impossible to buy the land for less than $150 per acre. There is no land any place more productive than this and as the country is underserved with a lake or sheet of water at a very little depth irrigating systems can be established with which to insure the soil's productivity even during the longest dry spells—Tipton Tipton.

Could Not Write.
Versailles, Ky.—Mrs. Elisha Green, of this place, says, "I could not write all the different pains I had, when I first tried Cardui. I could scarcely walk. ALTUS WILL SPRINKLE STREETS WITH OIL

(Altus Democrat)
A mass meeting of the citizens was held in the Chamber of Commerce room yesterday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of receiving a report from the committee soliciting funds for purchasing oil with which to sprinkle the streets of the city.

The committee reported $156 subscribed and $126 collected for this purpose. The best price submitted was from the Muskogee Refining Co., who received the order for a car of 10,000 gallons. The car will be shipped at once and in all probability, the oil will be on the streets by the latter part of this week.

There seems to be some opposition to the oiling of the streets, arising it appears, from the fear that only dust will blow into the stores and on the clothing of pedestrians, making conditions really worse than the natural dust. Mr. J. P. Goodman, however, states that he lived in Commerce, Texas, several years, and the last five years he was there the streets of that city were given two coats of oil each year. Mr. Goodman says there was absolutely no trouble from this cause, but to the contrary, the streets always looked like they had just received a good shower. He was engaged in the dry goods business at the time, and states that his stock was a hundred per cent cleaner after the oil was put on than before it was used.

"I feel sure that the people of Altus will be highly pleased with the results gained from a thorough treatment of the streets with crude oil," says Mr. Goodman.

Graceful and Attractive Women.
If you are thin and want to be plump; if you have wrinkles in your face that you are not proud of, if your skin is sallow or subject to pimples or blackheads, take MIO-NA stomach tablets for two weeks, and notice the change.

Nine tenths of the thin people are thin because the stomach is not active; it is not mixing thoroughly with the natural digestive juices the food put into it, and consequently is not extracting from the food enough nourishment matter for the blood to distribute to every part of the body. If the stomach does not do its work properly the nourishment in the food you eat is passed along without giving to the body any flesh building elements.

MIO-NA stomach tablets quickly build up the stomach so that it extracts from the food all the elements necessary to form good solid flesh.

If you are thin try a two weeks treatment of MIO-NA stomach tablets two with each meal will work wonders.

MIO-NA stomach tablets are guaranteed to cure indigestion acute or chronic, or money back. Sold by O. F. Marchman and druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box.

WOODROW WILSON HAD MANY CALLERS

New Jersey Governor Spent Busy Sunday in Washington—Wants Gradual Reduction in Wool Duty.

Washington, June 6.—Woodrow Wilson, approaching the end of a 9,000-mile swing around the country, spent Sunday in Washington. The New Jersey governor had a room in the New Willard Hotel overlooking the White House grounds. Some were pleased to regard the visit as a preliminary step, very incident to a more permanent residence. Mr. Wilson said, however, that he had stopped in Washington because his family was not in Trenton and he desired to break the monotony of his homeward journey.

Washington put a political construction on the visit. When Governor Wilson reached Washington last night, his first visitor was announced a few minutes after his secretary had registered. There was no sleep-off after midnight. Today's first caller was knocking at the door before the governor had arisen. Nearly every Democratic senator and representative paid his respects, and there were many callers who had no official position. The room was full all the time. There was no private conference. "Whatever was said was for all to hear."

His Kansas City Speech Explained.

To the correspondent of the Star Governor Wilson said he was returning from his trip in better health than when he started and that he had very pleasant recollections of his visit to Kansas City. It was in Kansas City that Governor Wilson made his first declaration, in favor of the initiative, referendum and the recall. Garbled versions of this speech have created the impression in the East, especially in New York, that Governor Wilson is in favor of abolishing all legislatures and putting the making of all laws directly in the hands of the people.

Discussing this foolish belief today, Governor Wilson said: "The thing I'm after is to give the people control of their own government. And if this cannot be accomplished without the aid of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, then I am ready to adopt these weapons. I do not regard these devices as tools for everyday use." As the gun behind the door, they are for use only in emergencies.

"My observation and information as to the operation of the initiative and referendum in the Northwest satisfies me that the people can be relied upon to use the weapons judiciously, and with discrimination," Governor Wilson does not believe in the recall of the judges.

Disagrees With Bryan.

The action of the caucus of Democratic representatives in voting for a limited reduction in the tariff on wool to 20 per cent ad valorem received his hearty commendation, despite the fact that William J. Bryan had warned the Democrats against any other course than taking all the duty off. What the governor had to say in regard to the Democratic caucus was summarized into these words:

"The resolution passed by the caucus is a frank statement and justifies itself by showing that the Democratic party is trying to do the best possible and practicable in the circumstances. I mean that when we are revising a system such as the tariff as a whole, we can make compensations of revenue along the whole line.

"But in revising it schedule by schedule we cannot make these compensations, except in the individual schedules. That is one of the penalties of the step by step process. It does not seem to me that there is any abandonment of principle in the action.

Reciprocity Not a Party Measure.

"It seems to me that the Democratic principles had been reasserted. Of course, I am in favor of free raw materials, including free raw wool, but every Democratic platform has declared for gradual tariff reduction."

He again approved the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

"Will it help the Republicans of the Democrats in 1912?" he was asked.

"Which party it will help is a matter of indifference," was the response. "The party that thinks of itself and not of the country is going down to defeat."—Kansas City Star.

What a great thing it would be if the railway companies could be induced to give as low passenger rates to the Dallas State Fair and other enterprises of nearly as great importance to ALL the people of Texas as they gave to the anti-prohibition rally at Fort Worth, Or, is it possible that the railroads are compensated from another source for the unusual low passenger rates made on this occasion?

The storekeeper who thinks it unnecessary to advertise because "everybody knows" him goes on the theory that he rather than his goods is what the public is interested in. Now, the modern shopper doesn't want, probably wouldn't carry him home if she drew him as a prize. What she is concerned for is what he has to sell, and if he doesn't tell her what he has she will trade with somebody who does tell. As a matter of fact, the oldest merchants in this town (Dallas) are about the best advertisers here. If these men had decided a quarter of a century ago, after they had been here ten to fifteen years, that they were so well known as not to need advertising, does anyone suppose they would now be known as merchant princes? Wouldn't they be reeferred to rather as "has-beens" and wouldn't they be carrying on business, if in business at all, cobwebby little store rooms on side streets? Wouldn't they?—Dallas News.

Spanish peanuts have from their value both for improvement of soil and as food for stock, such as hogs and cattle. It is also a money crop, as their is always a good market for peanuts. Peanuts thrive best in sandy soil, according to authorities, and is a sure crop when properly cultivated.

The Henrietta Independent reports this incident. Read it and reflect:

"On Mothers' Day a collection was taken at Thornberry for funds to help carry on the campaign for State-wide prohibition, and among the contributions was a check for $5 given by Mrs. M. E. Lyneskey, on the back of which the lady wrote the following inscription: 'The saloon man took my home from me; the saloon man took my three oldest boys' college education from them; the saloon man put me and my girls in the cotton patch for ten years. God be my helper to do or say something for my own native State before the saloon man wins one of my boys.'—Mrs. M. E. Lyneskey."

Even though the drouth is hurting our feelings, we should recall that the outlook last year at this time was not nearly so good as it is now. And yet that in 1910 Denton County's agricultural crops were, in money value, the greatest in the history of the county. Denton County's wheat crop is almost if not quite as great as it was in 1910, and a rain within the next few days would give us a reasonably good corn crop.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

There can be not doubt but that the drouth has hurt crops in nearly every part of Texas, but if conditions in Denton County are as stated above, the people of that county ought not to be complaining.

SHEPPARD FOR THE SENATE.

No student of Texas politics can have been unmindful that the trend of events within the past year points conclusively to a Herculean battle to unseat Bailey in the United States Senate. Whether the opponents of the junior senator will be successful in their efforts to encompass his political downfall remains to be seen, but certain it is that their adverse attitude has crystallized into a determined effort to defeat him.

Hundreds of the anti-Bailey faction in Texas hailed with gladness the announcement of Randall as a candidate to succeed his long-time political foe, deeming him the one logical man to wrest the toga from Bailey's grasp. But even a greater number withheld endorsement of the Sherman congressman, in the belief that he was not possessed of that pre-eminent ability which would entitle him to a seat in the highest body of the land.

Comment pro and con has been renewed of late, following the recent publication in the Saturday Evening Post of Samuel G. Blythe's incisive valuation of Bailey at first hand. Upon the heels of this article, which has stirred the smouldering embers of the Bailey question into life again, come numerous suggestions that Congressman Sheppard of the Texarkana district is the one man—most pre-eminently fitted for elevation to the United States Senate.

This endorsement of Sheppard has not been confined to any section of Texas, but has been widespread throughout the entire State. It may be doubted if Sheppard would consider such suggestion for a moment, despite the high compliment which it conveys.

But the fact remains that those who deem the time ripe for the election of a new senator from Texas, could have searched the State from its four corners to the center without hitting upon an abler man, or one more thoroughly fitted by ability and sterling integrity as a man and official to occupy a seat in the upper house of Congress.

Second to none in the South as an orator, equipped with a liberal and classical education and with a thorough and intimate knowledge of affairs of State and Government, young, vigorous, resourceful and aggressive, Sheppard in the Senate would reflect shining credit upon his constituency and the nation and would in good time add new luster to the annals of American statesmanship and legislation.—Amarillo News.

WHAT GOOD ROADS WILL DO.

Imagine a kickless state. Picture the country districts comfortably populated, with schools and churches accessible, drainage perfect, typhoid eradicated. Take all the mudholes away, remove all the fences from along the roads, cultivate up to the edge of the road and thereby increase the acreage of your farm and by so doing beautify both your farm and your road. Picture firm, broad, well drained, and scientifically constructed roads leading from the market to your farm. Then picture the distance from the farm to the market reduced more than half, the number of churches and schools in a prescribed district more than doubled. Consider the lines between the town and the country wiped out, the towns less crowded, the overflow spreading out into the country, in a word population more evenly distributed, as well as conveniences and comforts, plenty of opportunities for everybody, everybody happy and you will have before you only a few of the many blessings which accompany good roads.

We complain of panics and the hard times that come with them, yet by building good roads and thereby placing ourselves in a position to handle our products regularly we would remove one of the causes which help materially to bring about such conditions.

From an educational standpoint good roads will be of incalculable benefit to the country. In five bad roads States the average attendance of pupils enrolled in the public schools is fifty-nine out of each one hundred. In five good roads States the attendance is seventy-eight out of one hundred. In parts of Ohio, Indiana and other States where good roads have been built one-room school houses have been abolished and replaced by six and eight-room school houses, and enough money saved to hire wagons to take the children to and from school in bad weather, increasing attendance, preserving the health of the children and keeping them safe from the evils of isolation.

A good road we may say picks up a farm ten miles out and moves it five miles in, a good road takes pasture lands 25 miles out and moves them ten miles closer to a railroad, making a corn, wheat or cotton field out of them. There is more money growing than in raising staple crops. In dairying and truck and small fruit the census figures give the average value of small fruits products to the acre in the United States at $50, truck $42, corn $8, wheat $7. You can't do any truck or small fruit farming along bad roads because you must deliver your products quickly, regularly and in good condition.

This road question is one in which the interest of farms, the towns, the railroads and in fact the whole people are united, and there should be a union of all forces to bring about a speedy betterment of existing conditions. Good roads will be the big factors in doing away with the isolation of country life. Good roads annihilate distance, transform the desert to the pasture, the pasture to the field and the field to the garden.—Temple Telegram.

Clever Backstop Helps Defeat His Former Team Mates—Wichita's Outfield Does Good Work.

Special to The Times.

Cleburne, Texas, June 5.—Capt. Morris put Warbington, the new recruit, on the mound yesterday and the Railroaders landed on him for twelve hits, winning the game by a score of 8 to 3. Every player on the Cleburne team got a hit excepting Ritter. Cleburne got 4 runs in the third and after that the game was not close enough to be interesting, but sensational work on the part of Wichita's outfield won applause from the grandstand.

A large crowd witnessed the game and the local team is being accorded substantial support. Gibson, who was injured a few days ago, was behind the bat yesterday and covered the position well.

The score by innings:

Wichita Falls... 010 000 110—3. 9 3
Cleburne... 104 030 000—8 12 3
Batteries—Warbington and J. Naylor; Sis Hopkins and Gibson.

Gainesville 3, Altus 1.
Gainesville, Texas, June 6.—Mitchell won the opening game of the series with Altus yesterday by good pitching, letting the visitors down with five hits, two of which were scratches.

Stillman, of the locals, made a sensational play in stopping a hot liner to third. Rene of the locals, and Frierson of the visitors made feature plays in catching difficult flies.

Challenge From Carnival Team.
The manager of the baseball team of the International Carnival Sporting Shows telephoned the sporting editor of The Times this afternoon a challenge to either team in the game between the Clerks and Burk Burnett teams this afternoon. The carnival team has played in nearly every town the carnival has showed and in most places they have been winners.

BASEBALL NOTES

Witherspoon is now out of the game and rumor has it that he is to join a team of the major league. It is known that the big teams have been after "Stopper" for sometime but on account of the objection of his family he declined to consider the offer. However, it is understood that this objection has been withdrawn and it is possible that the next time his friends hear of him that it will be to the effect that he is to play major league ball. Should this prediction be true, the Times with other trusts and believes that he will "make good" in the fast company with which he will be associated.

Cooper, who has been playing first base since the season began, has been released by the management of the Wichita Falls team and it is understood that Pratt will succeed him as guardian of the first sack.

Jones, one of the favorite pitchers of the local team, is laying off for a few days on account of his eyes that are giving him much trouble. The affliction is so bad that he has been compelled to consult a physician and is wearing a bandage over one of his eyes. However, it is not thought that the trouble is of such a serious nature as to keep him out of the game long, and his many friends hope to see him on the mound within a few days.

Beaty, one of the pitchers of the local team, has been released but the staff has been increased by the addition of Terhupe, who is thought to be a promising youngster, and it is understood though not officially announced, that Wylie of Waco will soon wear a Wichita Falls uniform. It will be remembered that Wylie pitched here last year for Greenville and administered one of the defeats sustained by the Irish Lads, and that he also pitched for Ennis on the occasion when the Dallas league team was shut out and secured only four hits. Wylie has many admirers here who will be glad to know that he is to do a part of the twirling for Wichita Falls for the remainder of the season.

Woods, a hard hitting second baseman, who has been playing with the independent team at Graham, Texas, has been secured by Manager Rogers of the Ardmore team and was instructed yesterday to report to the team at Durant. If he is what is claimed of him, he will be used at second base and Klien carried as utility player. Otherwise Klien will remain at second; Johnson and Spence, who have been with the local team, have been released.

Pratt and Reynolds of the Bonham team have been released by Humphries. Reynolds has since been signed by Gainesville.

ALTUS FANS WILL NOT ALLOW TEAM TO GO

Effort Being Made to Raise $400 Per Month to Keep Franchise Here.

Special to The Times.
Altus, Ok., June 6.—A mass meeting of the baseball fans was held here Monday night to discuss the matter of financing the local club and it was decided to raise $400 per month among the citizens to guarantee the expenses of the team. A committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions and it is probable that Altus will retain her franchise.

An interesting contest is in prospect for the seat of United States Senator Simmons of North Carolina, whose term will expire March 4, 1915. Senator Simmons will be a candidate for re-election. Among those already announced as opposition candidates are former Governor Charles B. Aycock, Governor W. W. Kitchin and Chief Justice Walter Clark, acknowledged to be three of the ablest men in public life in North Carolina. It is probable that the senatorial nomination will be made in Statewide primaries.

THIS COUNTRY FACES THE TRUST PROBLEM

Recent Decision of Supreme Court Makes Action Imperative.

Washington, June 6.—Decision of the Supreme Court in the tobacco trust case, with the direct bearing in the case of the Standard Oil Company, brings the country face to face with the problem of trust control...

The action of the Supreme Court does not determine either of these, for it is apparent that the country must wait until it sees what character of reorganization by the tobacco trust is declared by the Circuit Court to be "in harmony with and not repugnant to the law."

Big Task For Lower Court.

The Supreme Court has placed a tremendous responsibility upon the court below, and one which many lawyers think can only be discharged through the appointment of a receiver. It devolves upon the court below to see that all the forms of restraint and the methods employed by the tobacco trust to create and maintain its monopoly which the Supreme Court has denounced are effectively eliminated...

Inasmuch as it is obviously improbable that the court shall devise a detailed plan by which the various trusts may continue in business, it is naturally presumed that the trust itself will be required to submit various methods until it hits upon one which the court will approve.

Assuming that the trust itself will be able to suggest a satisfactory scheme that will also be satisfactory to the public, the likelihood of a receivership is believed to be very strong.

Attack on Harlan's Stand.

The department of justice has declared its absolute satisfaction with the decision, and a statement made by a cabinet officer that the administration will formulate its trust policies in full accord with the court's "rule of reason."

The administration's campaign to break down, if possible, the effect of Justice Harlan's dissenting opinion was opened today by a cabinet member who was afraid to have his name used.

Pointing as "an official close to the administration," he gave out a statement pointing out that Harlan in one decision had agreed to interpret a law in "the light of reason" in order to make it conform to the intent of Congress. No reference is made to the justice's objection that the court in applying the "light of reason," invalidated the clear intent of Congress in passing the anti-trust law.

Cabinet Officer's Statement.

The modest cabinet officer said in part: "Justice Harlan, in his dissenting opinion in the tobacco case, objects vigorously to the application of the construction of the act of Congress of the 'rule of reason,' to which attention was called by the chief justice in his opinion in the Standard Oil case, and again in the tobacco case. Justice Harlan declares that to insert by construction the word 'unreasonable' or 'undue' in the Sherman act is judicial legislation."

"Congress, he says, has in language so clear and simple that there is no room whatever for construction, signified its purpose to forbid every restraint of trade in whatever form, to whatever extent, whereas, the court under the chief justice's opinion, inserts in the law words which make Congress say that it means only to prohibit 'undue' restraint of trade. This he objects to as amounting to a reading into the act by judicial legislation of an exception not placed there by the law-making branch of the Government, and this, he contends the court cannot and ought not to do. Cites Harlan's Earlier Attitude."

"But Justice Harlan has not always regarded the judicial function as excluding the right to interpret statutes in the light of reason and to refuse a literal application to the words of the act where that would involve a manifest wrong. In the case of the Church of the Holy Trinity against the United States the court had under consideration the act of Congress known as the alien immigration act, passed February 26, 1885."

"The Church of the Holy Trinity in New York had made a contract with the Rev. E. Walpole Warren, an alien residing in England, to remove to New York and enter into its services as its rector and pastor for a compensation to be paid to him; and because of that contract, an action was brought against the church by the United States for a violation of this act."

"Justice Brewer wrote the opinion of the court, in which all the other justices, including Justice Harlan, concurred. He premised by conceding that the act of the corporation is within the letter of this section, for the relation of rector to his church is one of service, and implies labor on the one side, with compensation on the other.

"He further noted that certain specific exceptions made in the act, in which clergymen were not included, strengthened the idea that every other kind of labor and service was intended to be reached by the statute. Yet, notwithstanding all of that, it was said that that court could not think that Congress intended to denounce with penalties a transaction like the employment of a Christian minister."

"It is a familiar note," said Justice Brewer, "that a thing may be within the letter of the statute and yet not within its spirit, nor within the intention of its makers. This has been often asserted and the exports are full of cases illustrating its application."

"This is not the substitution of the will of the judge for that of the legislator, for frequently words of general meaning are used in a statute words broad enough to include an act in question and yet a consideration of the whole legislation, or of the circumstances surrounding its enactment, or of the absurd results which follow from giving such broad meaning to the words, makes it unreasonable to believe that the legislator intended to include the particular act."

"The whole of this portion constitutes in effect an argument that a literal construction should not be given to the statute, but a reasonable interpretation not to 'rule of the letter which kills.' The court which concurred in that opinion included Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justices Brewer and Brown. These jurists deliberately adjudged that a case which concededly was within the express language of the statute, was not controlled by it, because the acts complained of, although within the letter, were not within the intention of Congress."

Compared With One Decision.

"This was nothing more or less than applying to the construction and application of statute the rule of construction invoked by the chief justice in the Standard Oil case, namely, that of examining the case by the light of reason lest the literal construction and application of the law bring about the very destruction and restraint of all trade and commerce which it is the purpose of the statute to prevent."

"Or, as was said in the joint traffic case by Justice Peckham and himself, the act of congress must have a reasonable construction or else there would scarcely be an agreement or contract among business men that could not be said to have indirectly or remotely some bearing on interstate commerce and possibly to restrain it."

"The decision in the case of the Church of the Holy Trinity clearly demonstrates that no new principle is introduced by the rule of construction adopted by the court in both the Standard Oil and the tobacco cases, but that the same rule was applied there which has often been applied before of reading general words in a statute by the light of the reason for the enactment of the statute, the history of the evil which gave rise to the legislation, and the purpose for which the legislation was enacted; and the further duty to give to the words of a statute, if possible, an interpretation which the statute was enacted to bring about will avoid the untoward consequences which would necessarily follow a parry and later interpretation of its meaning."

Work of Attorney General.

Undoubtedly the attorney general has a great opportunity before him for no one questions that the government has an absolute right to continue its activities in behalf of the public through all the proceedings in court which lead up to the final execution of the supreme court's order. The department of justice can continue to represent the public in either opposing such propositions as the trust may submit to suggesting other means.

Men who have been studying the matter, senators and members of the house, cannot see how it is possible

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY."

(Joseph M. Terrell.) Joseph M. Terrell, United States senator from Georgia, was born in Greenville, Ga., June 6, 1861, and received a common-school education. He was elected to the bar in 1882 and began his career two years later as a member of the lower house of the Georgia Legislature. After serving in the Legislature for six years he was elected attorney general, in which office he served five consecutive terms, resigning in 1902 to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. He was elected to the governorship by a large majority and at the end of his two years' term he was re-elected without opposition. Upon the death of Senator Clay last year Governor Brown of Georgia named ex-Governor Terrell to serve as United States senator until the Legislature meets.

to reach a satisfactory execution of the decree, unless the department of justice does take the matter in hand, without the appointment of a receiver. For the court will not leave the courtroom while dealing with the intricate question referred to it.

It can perform no executive functions, except the issuance of orders, without appointing an executive officer to represent it, and this officer is of necessity a receiver.

Difficulties of Solution.

Another difficulty is that while the supreme court has attempted to define with clearness what it regards as unreasonable restraint, and has made it plain that almost everything the tobacco trust has done is unreasonable it still gives the circuit court great latitude in its execution of the order, and virtually forces upon that court the necessity of defining what is reasonable restraint of trade.

If the lower court proves capable of dealing with the question, then it will have constructed a system by which great combinations shall do business in the United States, and these combinations will get their authority to do business in the prescribed way directly from the courts, and will not agree to what are reasonable protection of the courts.

That this plan to be either developed by the court or sanctioned by it, will become the greatest business law of the land there is no question. That it will be a court-made law is equally obvious.

But until it is seen just what detailed plan is agreed to by the court upon which big business is hereafter to be conducted, it will be impossible to decide how much the public has gained by the decisions.

The question of how effective competition may become will be settled only by the extent of the restraints which the courts may permit.

There is a further danger that the circuit court and the supreme court will not agree as to what are reasonable restraints.

The whole difficulty of the "light of reason" rule laid down by the supreme court, and so strongly dissented from by Justice Harlan, is that it is indefinite. The circuit court may regard as either reasonable or unreasonable proposition submitted by the tobacco trust, which the supreme court would view otherwise, and yet it is not apparent whether the latter court will pass upon the work of the court below or whether the authority conferred upon the lower court to determine and define reasonable restraints is absolute.

Whether or not there exists machinery adequate to deal with the trusts after they have been condemned in court has been a matter to which the public men have been giving some thought for years.

To this extent, therefore, the action of the court undoubtedly will compel definite legislation. If it be found that the machinery of the courts or the power of the courts is inadequate.

The whole trust question is probably brought much nearer a settlement than ever before. President Taft and members of the administration believe it has actually been settled, and that the decision of the supreme court and the authority it confers upon the circuit courts to establish rules of business which must be lived up to by great corporations and combinations of capital, will remove all causes of public complaint.

Arguments for Receivership.

Undoubtedly the appointment of a receiver to wind up the affairs of the tobacco trust would be generally approved. It would be an enforcement of the law as the general public thinks it ought to be enforced.

The trust has been found guilty on every count and should be punished. It will hardly satisfy public sentiment if it is permitted to reorganize under conditions which leave it in virtual control of a monopoly, but which prevent it hereafter from committing the crimes through which it obtained its monopoly.

The appointment of a receiver, it is also argued, would prove more effective in forcing other illegal combinations to dissolve than any other action the court might take. It would result in a probing of trust management and methods and the prices fixed and maintained, so as to throw a flood of light upon modern business, and, not less important, it would have a very decided and important bearing upon the question of regulation of prices through government agencies.

It is the intention of President Taft to renew at the regular session of congress his recommendations of the Wickersham federal incorporation bill. Such a bill can never pass, because it is so obviously intended to legalize monopoly and trust control of business.

But there is likely to be action along progressive lines, upon which the prospective action of the circuit court against the tobacco and oil trusts, will have a determining effect.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results. Testimony like this comes unsolicited from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui."

WHEN IT RAINED IN WICHITA FALLS

On June 4, 1908, Gauge at County Wagon Bridge Registered Twenty-Three Feet—Lot of Water.

(From The Wichita Daily Times Thursday, June 4, 1908.)

Late yesterday afternoon it was believed that the crest of the rise in the Wichita river had reached this place and it was then thought that the danger of inundation of the flat side of the river had passed. This belief was based upon the assumption that the big rise yesterday morning was from the Beaver Creek and other tributaries of the river in districts where the rains were even heavier than in this city.

The great of the flood, however, did not reach Wichita Falls until several hours later and instead of falling the flood rose steadily higher until at 5 o'clock it had reached a stage of twenty feet and was pouring into the flats on both sides of the railroad tracks. The water poured into the flat in a veritable river and soon had the ground upon which many houses were built completely inundated. The flood rose rapidly until about 3 o'clock this morning and then rose imperceptibly almost until 5 o'clock this morning, when the high water mark was reached. At that time the gauge under the county wagon bridge registered nearly twenty-three feet and the water spread over all that portion of the flat extending from the railroad to and including Scott avenue, reaching the foundations of the livery stable on Indiana avenue.

After reaching the high water mark at about 5:30 this morning, the flood gradually became lower and by 9 o'clock this morning had fallen nearly a foot.

Several families began to move out their household goods late yesterday afternoon when the water began to spread over the flat and got out in good time. Others did not believe the flood would reach them and preferred to remain until forced out to move.

Shortly after midnight the flood, which had already nearly reached the floors of several houses on Scott, Indiana and Ohio avenues, began to rise more rapidly and appeals for help were made to Policeman Pickett, who hastily recruited several transfer wagons and by 2 o'clock had all who would leave their homes and a considerable portion of their household goods moved out of the flooded area.

The Wichita river, though lacking four feet of being as high as it was in the year 1899, has done considerable damage to property along its banks in this city.

The water rose to a depth of nearly twenty-three feet before it began to recede early this morning, and the flood came so suddenly that those residing in the bottom or lower part of the city from Ohio avenue on the east to Scott avenue on the west, had to move out during the night, and in many of these residences water stood at a depth of from three inches to three feet.

The Reed-Brown lumber company's yards and the cement block plant and garage belonging to the company is standing in water at this writing to a depth of at least three feet.

Between Travis and Austin streets, seven lots which were next to the river have been washed away almost completely, only a portion of one of the lots being left.

On these lots were five residence houses, all of which had to be moved or go into the raging whirlpool which had formed and was fast undermining the buildings.

Early this morning Mr. F. A. Dutton, owner of the buildings, with the assistance of a house moving outfit and a large force of men saved the larger buildings into sections and moved them to places of safety, and later two smaller buildings were moved from where they stood. In a comparatively short time after the removal of the buildings, the lots upon which they stood were a part of the river bed.

Getting married doesn't cost half as much as being married.

It's the same thing over again that makes a revolution.

A DRY WEATHER TALK! In 1889 we opened our Store where we are now located, now known as 608-610 Ohio Avenue, then known only as Bean's Store—it was on a narrow, crooked path through the sunflowers that grew on either side of the road. We've been there ever since; good years, bad years, dry years, wet years, fat years, lean years and will be there for years to come. We've got lots of customers that commenced with us and its a matter of satisfaction to us that counts for more than the money we've made. We've always had the reputation of having a complete stock of the very best goods; no matter how hard the times. We assure you we are not going to loose that reputation. We believe we have always sold them as cheap as is consistent with sound business principles, good service and square treatment—that's a reputation we want to build to. 608 Ohio Ave. Phones 35 and 604.
