ENGLAND'S KING CROWNED IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

AMERICANS AT THE CORONATION.

America is represented at the coronation by the American Ambassador, Whitelaw Reid, the American Special Envoy John Hays Hammond, many American wives of English Peers, members of the American diplomatic corps, and many unofficial Americans, including Charles P. Taft, brother of President W. H. Taft.

expectations of the morrow. Before dawn this morning the city was astir from center to circumference. The throbbing of the sun-rise guns at the lower end in Hyde Park Armory found the streets filled with excited, chattering crowds on their way to the Mall and other localities where a glimpse could be caught of the day's pageantry. Buckingham Palace naturally was the principal center of interest in the early part of the day, as it was the starting point of the great pageant. The scene in the vicinity of the palace was most animated. Streets were filled with windows were filled and the roofs of surrounding buildings were filled with spectators. As the hour appointed for the departure of the royal procession approached the excitement became intense. The appearance of their Majesty's state coach at the gateway was the signal for a roar of cheers that could be heard blocks away.

THE CORONATION OATH.

The Archbishop of Canterbury administered the Coronation Oath, saying: "Will you solemnly promise and swear to govern the people of this United Kingdom and the Dominions thereof according to the statutes in Parliament agreed on and the respective laws and customs of the same." The King: "I solemnly promise so to do."

Special to The Times.

London, June 22.—"Be strong and of good courage, observe His holy commandments and walk in His holy way. Fight the good fight by faith and lay hold on eternal life, that in this world you may be crowned with success and honor and when you have finished your course receive a crown of righteousness which God, the righteous Judge, shall give you in that day."

With these impressive words spoken by the Archbishop of Canterbury there was brought to a close in Westminster Abbey today the ceremony of coronation—the final symbolic rites with which George V. becomes, by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas, king, defender of the faith, emperor of India.

"God Save King George!" rang forth from seven thousand throats within the Abbey. The trumpets sounded, the chimes of St. Margaret pealed, the great guns of the tower of London boomed distantly down the river, and the waiting crowds outside took up the acclaim hoisterously.

The Start from the Palace. The wedding, feverish metropolis lay down to sleep last night tense with

A Gorgeous Pageant. The foreign royalties came in for much notice from the crowds and the Duke of Connaught, Lord Kitchener and other notables were cheered, but it was not until the King's procession came along that there was any great show of enthusiasm. Their Majesties rode in the familiar state coach of white and gold, drawn by sixteen cream-colored horses with grooms and outriders in scarlet livery. The King acknowledged the salutations of his subjects in a rather perfunctory manner as though his mind was occupied with thoughts of the solemn ceremonies to come, but the Queen bowed and smiled constantly. The procession wended its way through The Mall, Whitehall, Parliament Street and other brilliantly decorated thoroughfares. Every square foot along the route had been utilized for the accommodation of the spectators. Many American parties occupied desirable windows and stands. The Canadians, too, were much in evidence and special provision was made for their accommodation by the Government. Three thousand were accommodated in the immediate vicinity of the Abbey, while others were gathered at the offices of the Canadian Government, and at the headquarters of the Dominion agents and railways. The progress of the royal cortege through the densely packed streets was a continued triumph, which reached its climax on the arrival at the Abbey, where there was a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm which did not cease until their Majesties disappeared inside the edifice.

The Scene in the Abbey. Entering the Abbey from the western portal their Majesties were confronted by a scene of great splendor. The entire scheme of decorative arrangements within the noble edifice had been carried out harmoniously, and even the stands did not seem out of place. Nave, choir and transepts had been embellished for the occasion. The gold brocade and blue cut velvet hangings and facings of the galleries were in excellent taste, while that wonderful royal blue Westminster carpet, with its woven designs of roses, shamrock and thistle, deserved all the praise it has received as a

One of Largest Crowds Ever Assembled Here is Expected.

F. P. St. Clair, manager of the Wichita Falls Traction Company, has been busy today on matters connected with the proposed fourth of July celebration and is doing everything in his power to make the occasion a success. He is co-operating in the matter with Secretary Day of the Chamber of Commerce and they with the business men who are interested in making this one of the most successful events in the history of Wichita Falls propose to spare no pains or expense in the preparation of a program for the occasion. Much interest is being manifested in the celebration and this interest is expected to increase as the time approaches both upon the part of the local citizenship, and by outside parties who will take advantage of the low rail road rates on this date. The suggestion has been made in connection with the preparation of the program for the Fourth of July celebration that a joint debate be held on the prohibition question as a feature of the occasion for which two of the best known speakers in the state will be secured. It is explained that the time would be appropriate that such an appointment would attract a large crowd, and that a debate of this kind be welcomed by the public.

The matter as it now stands is only in the form of a suggestion and it has not been decided whether or not the debate will be held. Several have spoken favorably to such a feature while others do not think that it would be advisable to have a joint discussion. The matter will likely be taken up with the committees of the two sides and action taken in accordance with their agreement.

REPORTS OF SALE ARE NOT TRUE

WICHITA FALLS & NORTHWESTERN NOT SOLD TO KATY SAYS MR. KELL IN MESSAGE.

FOUNDATION OF REPORTS

Probably Grew Out of Arrangements With Katy Interests for Money For Extension.

McAlester, Okla., June 22.—Times Publishing Co., Wichita Falls, Texas. Report incorrect. Foundation for report doubtless grew out of a recent arrangement with the Katy interests to render us financial aid for the construction of the extension of a line North of Hammon. FRANK KELL. The foregoing telegram received at 3:30 o'clock sets at rest the reports of the sale of the Northwestern and explains the origin of the report.

No news ever published in Wichita Falls has created more comment and speculation than the reported sale of the Wichita Falls Route lines to the Katy published in yesterday afternoon's Times.

No sooner had the papers reached the street than a continuous flood of inquiries began to pour into the office along with denials of the report from officers of the company here.

All over town groups of men gathered on the streets discussing the reported sale and its probable effect on the future of the city.

Although the story was carried by the Associated Press as direct statement of fact it is still lacking confirmation from either Mr. Kemp or Mr. Kell. In fact several telegrams have been received from Mr. Kemp en route to the city from St. Louis declaring that the published reports of the sale are incorrect. No details are given in these telegrams from Mr. Kemp and it is not known

It will be noticed that Portugal is the only European nation of any importance that is not honored with an official representative. This is because of the recent revolution in that country.

CROWNS OF SOLID GOLD

The Crown placed on King George's head today is of solid gold studded with precious stones of inestimable value, including 3,000 diamonds, 300 pearls, and hundreds of rubies, emeralds and sapphires. The Queen's crown contains the famous Koh-i-Noor diamond with its legend of bringing good luck.

ROYAL GUESTS

Over forty members of royal families, 250 rulers of foreign states, 1,450 Earls, Dukes, Lords and Ladies, 300 Ambassadors and Ministers, 1,500 representatives of the Army, Navy, Judiciary, Clergy, etc., formed part of the 7,000 guests at Westminster Abbey today.

ADVANCE REPORT ON FREE LIST AND WOOL BILLS

Chairman Penrose of Finance Committee Declares Control of Senate Passed from Republicans.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., June 22.—The Senate finance committee today agreed to report both the woolen and free list bills adversely to the Senate without hearings and at once. Chairman Penrose of the Senate finance committee said: "It has been demonstrated that the Republicans no longer are in control of the Senate and the responsibility has been taken from them. It would require ten months properly to consider the wool schedule and to grant the request for hearings and we might as well report it today as July 10th." Senator Bailey urged the committee to defer action for a few weeks on the wool bill. "As to reciprocity," he said, "I don't believe the Senate situation has killed the bill but I hoped it would."

YOUNG WOMAN ASLEEP FOR SIXTY-FIVE DAYS

Case Puzzles Physicians—Sleeper is Rational During Brief Waking Period, But Very Weak.

Vandalia, Ill., June 22.—Miss Hazel Schmidt, daughter of former Alderman George Schmidt, whose sixty-five days of constant sleep has baffled physicians and specialists, awakened early this morning on her own accord and remained awake fully two hours and a half. All the time she was awake she was perfectly rational and conversed with members of her family. She inquired what month it was and asked to see the daily newspaper, which she was unable to read owing to her weakened condition. She was given some nourishment and again fell asleep, but awakened an hour later and this time remained awake almost two hours.

HOUSE TURNS DOWN BRISTOW AMENDMENT

ACTION WAS BY STRICTLY PARTY VOTE OF 172 TO 112.

FIGHT FOR STATE RIGHTS

Rucker of Missouri Asserts American People Have Declared for Taking Senatorships Out of Market.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The House refused this afternoon, after four hours' debate, to concur in the Bristow amendment to the resolution for the election of Senators by the people, the vote being 112 for concurrence and 172 against. Under the constitutional requirement, it would have taken of the total vote cast 190 to have carried the amendment through. Interest now centers in the parliamentary situation in which the resolution is placed.

Speaker Clark took counsel of several of the best parliamentarians of the House, among them Asher Hinds, former parliamentary clerk to the Speaker, and reached the conclusion that the best course to pursue was to "message" the resolution with the action of the House back to the Senate and leave it to that body to decide what action to take. Mr. Mann, the Republican leader, held stoutly that the Senate could not take the Bristow amendment of the resolution without a two-thirds vote. This would be interesting in view of the fact that it was put on by a tie vote of 44 to 44, with Vice President Sherman casting the deciding vote.

It is believed by the friends of the measure, however, that the future of the resolution is in fact quite easy, as the Senate, by a majority vote, can reconsider the vote by which the Bristow amendment could be again voted on.

The unbroken alignment of the Democrats in the House against Federal interference in elections in the States for Representatives and Senators may have such an impression on the few votes in the Senate necessary to reconsider that the course indicated may be taken. At any rate, the majority leaders in the House would not today ask for a conference, and will probably not do so under any circumstances, as they fear absolute defeat would lie in that direction. The vote was strictly on party lines, the Republican insurgents staying with their party, and but one vote on each side straying outside the lines. They were Burke, a Wisconsin Democrat, who voted with the Republicans and Sells, a Tennessee Republican, who voted with the Republicans.

thing of beauty. A peculiarly beautiful effect was presented by the King's and Queen's boxes, comprising half a dozen rows of chairs in white satin, relieved only by the crimson of the seats. To the dazzling scene of lights and glitter and brilliant color the old gray arches of the Abbey lent their stately perspective.

The Display of Jewels.

What inevitably caught the eye in the Abbey was the marvelous display of jewels. The combination of these with the magnificent robes and beauty of many of their wearers made a sight never to be forgotten. The Duchess of Portland was conspicuous in her great coronet of diamonds, in the center of which was the famous Portland stone. Fortunes were represented by the bronzes diamonds worn by the Duchess of Bedford, in the rubies that adorned the Marchioness of Bute and in the Empress Josephine pearls worn by the Duchess of Sutherland. The Americans contributed no little to the gorgeous spectacle by their beauty and the magnificence of their robes and jewels. The Duchess of Roxburgh (who was Miss Golet of New York) was a center of attraction. Lady Dufferin (who was Miss Davis of New York) was another American who did honor to the occasion by her rich dress and magnificent jewels. Other American women who viewed the coronation ceremony from the boxes allotted to the nobility were the Duchess of Manchester, the Countess of Orford, the Countess of Essex, the Countess of Suffolk, the Countess of Craven, Lady Decker, Lady Newborough, Lady Bagot, Lady Chylesmore and Lady Maidstone.

Foreign and Colonial Envoys.

The galleries of the nave were filled with foreign envoys from all parts of the world, while the choir was similarly set apart for the members of the embassies and the Colonial premiers. John Hay, Hammond, the official representative of the United States, occupied a seat next to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Colonial premiers in addition to Sir Wilfrid included General Botha of the South African Union, Sir Joseph Ward of New Zealand, Hon. John Murray of Victoria, Hon. J. McGowan of New South Wales, Hon. Frank Wilson of Western Australia, and Sir Elliot Lewis of Tasmania, Ontario, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec and Nova Scotia were each represented by their premiers or other high executive officials. All of the Crown Colonies also had representatives present.

Pomp of the Enthronization.

The service in the Abbey commenced with the consecration of the regalia. The procession of the clergy with the regalia then proceeded from the altar to the annex, all present standing up and the choir singing a hymn. The Archbishop of Canterbury took his seat in front of the coronation chair, and Lord Loreburn, the Lord Chancellor, seated himself by his side. Several minutes later the King and Queen came in sight of the people gathered about the throne. Proclaiming their Majesties came the gorgeous coronation procession. Officers of the Orders of Knighthood and Herald were followed by the Standard Bearer, Officers of the Household, the Lord Mayor of London, the German Usher of the Black Rod, the High Constables, Lords in Waiting and numerous other functionaries clad in rich and varied costumes as many of them bearing parts of the regalia to be used in the coronation ceremony.

The Ceremony of Coronation.

Not a jot of formality was omitted in the elaborate ceremonies of the coronation, which followed closely the forms used at the crowning of Edward VII. The various steps, which followed in the order named, include the litany, the communion, the solemn taking of the oath, the anointing, the presentation of the investiture with the royal robe and the delivery of the orb, the putting on of the crown, the presentation of the Holy Bible, the benediction and the enthronization. Among the most picturesque features were the presentations to the King of the Bible, the Swords of State, Justice and Mercy, the Spurs, the Orb, and the Scepter. The litany was sung by two bishops, vested in cope, singing as they knelt at a footstool. Then came the solemn, which occupied but a few minutes. At the beginning of the sermon the King, who up to this time has been uncovered, put on his crimson velvet cap. The coronation oath was then administered. Following came the anointing and the prayers and the investment with the royal robes, the presenting of the spurs and crown, and the giving and oblation of the sword, the delivery of the symbol orb, and the wedding of the King to the State with the jeweled ring with all its magnificence and stateliness. In conclusion the Archbishop of Canterbury, slowly, solemnly, and with great reverence, placed the golden crown encrusted with its precious gems, upon the head of King George the Fifth while the people with one voice shouted "God Save the King."

The crowning of Queen Mary, if having placed the King into his throne, the Archbishop of Canterbury knelt and paid homage. The next person to pay homage to his Majesty was the youthful Prince of Wales, the Duke of Norfolk (as Earl Marshall), accompanied by representative of each of the orders of nobility, who approached the throne and kissed the King's hand, after touching the crown with a sign of fealty.

The Queen had participated side by side with the King in most of the ceremony except that where he took the oath she moved apart with her attendants. When the homage to the King had been concluded her Majesty rose and, accompanied by her entourage, proceeded to the altar steps where, under a pall of cloth of gold she was quickly crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, supported by the Bishops. She was then led to the throne beside that in which the King sat, and her enthronization was accomplished. The moment that the Queen was crowned was a most critical one for the peeresses, who formed a goodly sight in their crimson velvet robes, for at that moment they were required to put on their coronets. Nervous hands and worried looks betrayed the general anxiety to get the coronets on straight.

Queen's Dress Magnificent.

The Queen's dress was magnificent. It was of cloth of gold, veiled with very white tulle, and the train was of ardual velvet, eighteen feet long and long and lined throughout with miniver. The robe proper was finished in semi-train style and opened in front in cutaway coat effect to show the mass of duchess lace. The edges were scalloped and faced with ermine and outlined, a pattern of leaves embroidered in gold. The velvet sleeves were jouble puffs under narrow bands of ermine. The train was bordered all around with an edging of ermine three inches wide. It was powdered with imperial crowns embroidered with in glittering plate gold and partly in Chinese gold, the crosses and lears-de-lis in what is known as pearl, the balls along the arches of the crowns being made of gold studs and the bases of sparkling silver threads. The whole train was surrounded by a very rich golden border divided into three parts, between the first part of which and the ermine border was a strip of the velvet showing and making a fine contrast to the fur and the gold. The costume was ornamented with other elaborate gold embroideries, and the tulle overdress was embroidered with roses, thistles and hamrocks. It finished in a high transparent collar of old lace, edged with gold. The effect of the embroidery was heightened by the alternate use of glittering and dull gold. The whole effect was one of dazzling splendor, and it may truthfully be said that to child's dream of a royal robe was never more worthy of a queen.

Coronation Music Beautiful.

To many of the thousands of persons who filled Westminster Abbey the musical program was one of the most interesting and pleasing features of the entire service. The music was furnished by Sir Frederick Bridge's eighty choir of Westminster Abbey, which was augmented for the occasion by 400 voices from the choir of St. Paul's Cathedral and the Chapel Royal of St. James and Savoy. Among the soloists choristers were some of England's greatest singers, accompanied by orchestra and organ. The musical service opened with the professional anthem, "I Was Glad," by Sir Hubert Parry. In the middle of his anthem the boys of Westminster school exercised the ancient privilege of shouting "Vivat Rex!" "Vivat Regina!"

The anthem sung was Handel's "Zadok the Priest," which is one of the four anthems composed by Handel for the coronation of George II, and Queen Caroline, and has been performed since then at each coronation. The anthem rendered at that point in the ceremonies where homage was paid to the Sovereign was "Rejoice in the Lord," which was specially composed for the service by Sir Frederick Bridge. During the oblations a new Offertorium was sung, which was specially sung by Sir Edward Elgar during the recess, when their Majesties retired to Henry VII. Chapel to receive a grand festival Te Deum as sung composed by Sir Hubert Parry. At the conclusion Sir John Stainer's "Amen" was sung, and at the end of the service the herald "Amen" by Orlando Gibbons, who was organist of Westminster Abbey in 1625.

Of these, the one whose name is heard the most in connection with the Coronation is, strange to say, not even in London—the Duchess of Marlborough. Descendant of the Vanderbilts, she was treated to an indication of royal displeasure in the coldness of the special Coronation invitation she received. Her separation from the Duke caused her to be classed with others who are involved in domestic scandal, even though innocently, and the rule debarring all such persons was mildly applied in her case, in the coldness of the terms in which the summons was couched. She took offense and decided to stay away entirely, announcing that she would return to her native land.

The other "Peeresses from America" wore their robes and coronets at the historic ceremony in Westminster Abbey, and enjoyed positions of highest honor.

SENATE FIGHT IS ON IN OKLAHOMA

Prominent Candidates Already Lining Up for Political Battle.

Oklahoma City, June 20.—Although no candidates have announced as yet for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in the primary election a year from August, the factional lines are being drawn for the contest. It virtually seems certain that Former Governor C. N. Haskell and United States Senator Robert L. Owen will be pitted against each other in the race and it is considered probable that Justice R. L. Williams of the Oklahoma supreme court also will enter the list. In such an event the liveliest three-cornered political battle ever fought on Oklahoma soil will be witnessed next summer.

The contest will be one of political giants. Senator Owen is a man of almost unlimited financial resources and recognized political acumen. Former Governor Haskell is the shrewdest political leader of Oklahoma Democracy and a man who never has met his Waterloo in politics in this state. Justice Williams has made an enviable record on the supreme bench and has a strong following.

Close friends of Haskell say that although he has not decided definitely to enter the race he is very likely to do so. The former governor built a strong machine while he was in office for the purpose of having it available should he desire to become a candidate for the United States senate. This machine, although partially absorbed by the Cruce organization, as a whole still is at the beck and call of the former executive.

"Ex-Antis for Haskell.

Those in a position to know state that the Ross organization, which represented the strongest anti-Haskell comment in the last gubernatorial primary campaign, will be for Haskell in the coming contest if he enters. Haskell's friends are claiming also that the cream of the following which supported Bill Murray for governor in the recent campaign will be for Haskell. The Murray clan originally was a part of the constitutional convention and first legislature and numbers among its adherents many Democrats who followed Murray through personal admiration for their leader, but who never have foresworn allegiance to Haskell.

Haskell has many strong political enemies who believe him to be an unsafe man, and who will oppose him to the last ditch. These will divide their support between Owen and Williams or any other candidate opposed to Haskell.

Unless Oklahoma City makes good on the beginning of its free capitol project before a year from August Haskell will be handicapped seriously in his race by reason of the absolute promise to the people of the state that if they created the capitol at Oklahoma City they would be given a capitol building free of cost.

Would Force Free Capitol.

It is claimed from reliable sources that if Oklahoma City shows a disposition to fall in this enterprise the former governor will seek to force the city to build a free capitol and, failing, will use every effort to remove the capitol to some other city. His political future largely depends upon his success in forcing the free capitol project to a successful termination.

Senator Owen is strong among the Indian people and has gained a large following among Oklahoma Democrats of all classes by reason of his championship of the initiative and referendum, purity of elections and his fight on Senator Lorimer. He was the first political leader in Oklahoma openly to champion the cause of Woodrow Wilson, who promises to be a strong candidate for president among Oklahoma Democrats. In a clash with Senator Bailey of Texas which humiliated Bailey to the extent that he offered his resignation, though soon withdrawing it, Senator Owen gained the admiration of anti-Bailey men who formerly resided in Texas or who sympathized with the opponents of Bailey in Texas. Added to these elements of the party will be seized upon eagerly by his opponents as means of fighting him.

Williams' Status Doubtful.

Some believe that Justice Williams will not enter the contest if Haskell decides to oppose Owen, as their theory is that he would divide the anti-Haskell following and thus help the former governor get the nomination. Williams was a strong anti-Haskell man until the beginning of the Haskell administration when he became one of the chief political advisers of the former governor. During the second legislature Williams and Haskell split. It is said that the real secret of their estrangement was the belief of Williams that Haskell had used influence to prevent John McCalla, then representative from Love county, from becoming speaker of the second house. Since that time the political relations between the two have been strained, to say the least, and the "nimity" has been augmented, it is said, by Williams' ambition to go to the senate.

Jurist Stands Well.

Williams rendered the opinion of the Oklahoma supreme court in the famous Oklahoma capitol location case and was sustained in every point by the United States supreme court. He also wrote the opinion in the Oklahoma bank guarantee case which was sustained fully by the highest court of the land. These opinions were on the popular side of both questions involved. Justice Williams was re-elected to the supreme court from his district without opposition and the court of which he is a member has made a good record.

Every Month Near Death.

Foster, Ark.—Mrs. Fannie Ellis, of Foster, says: "I was sick for seven years, and half the time could not stand on my feet. Every month I was very near death. I tried Cardui, and in two months, I was cured, and am now stout and healthy. My friends all ask me now what cured me. My looks are a testimonial to Cardui." No matter how serious or long-standing the trouble, Cardui will help you. It is a mild, vegetable, tonic remedy, especially adapted to relieve and cure the common womanly ailments. It relieves womanly pains and restores womanly strength. Try Cardui.

TO APPOINT COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

New Law Provides for Appointment of School Trustees at Next Meeting of Commissioners.

At the next meeting of the county commissioner's court it will be their duty to appoint five county school trustees to form a county board of education, to serve until the election and qualification of their successors in 1912.

The appointment of these trustees is requested under the new rural high school law a section of the new law vests all rights and power pertaining to public free schools heretofore vested in the commissioners court with the county trustees.

The qualifications for appointment to this office are set out in the new law as follows:

"The county school trustees shall be qualified voters and freeholders of the precinct or county from which they are elected. They shall be of good moral character, able to read and speak the English language, shall be persons of good education and be in sympathy with public free schools. Four of the county school trustees shall each reside in different commissioners' precincts; and a majority of them shall reside in common school districts. Within twenty days after their election and qualification the county school trustees shall meet and organize by electing one of their number president. The county school trustees shall be elected and shall qualify in the same manner as other county officers are elected and qualified."

In discussing the law State Superintendent F. M. Bralley a few days ago said:

"All of the provisions of the law are conservative and wise and contemplate a co-operation of the county board of education, the county superintendent, and the district school trustees in the promotion of the efficiency of the schools and in establishing rural high schools where practicable. It is, therefore, of the utmost importance that the commissioners' court in each county select men for membership on the county board of education, who have the qualifications prescribed in Section 12 of the act."

The United States has four navy yards which require $40,000,000 annually to maintain.

The Texas public generally are becoming most thoroughly aroused to the importance of building good roads and every election that has so far been ordered to vote bonds for the construction of good roads has carried. The special session of the legislature is to convene on July 31st, and at that time the people of Wichita county should make an effort to secure a good roads law such as that now in effect in Lamar county. It is a splendid law.

"Can Campbell come back," asks an exchange. That all depends. If the pros win he can, if he wants to, and need not have a great deal of fear but that the people will give what he asks for—whether that be a seat in the United States Senate, or a third term as governor. Tom Campbell is not a Jim Hogg by any means, but when his enemies count him as a "has been," at they very much miss their guess. At the next state convention it may be that some of them will discover their error and be ready at the proper moment to jump right into his political band wagon. Yes, "The Campbells are Coming" speech is likely to be repeated again.

AMERICAN NOTABLES AT THE CORONATION

By Associated Press.

London, June 22.—Among the Americans in Westminster Abbey when King George was crowned was J. P. Morgan. He wore the court uniform of black velvet knee breeches, silver buttons and a sword. He was watched with interest as he entered, many whispering his name. He shook hands with several ladies. Charles P. Taft also wore the court uniform. Among the only officials wearing plain clothes were Special Representative Hammond, Ambassador Reid and his staff and Hammond's aides. The only unofficial Americans in attendance were Chas. P. Taft, the president's brother; Mrs. Chas. P. Taft and Miss Taft; J. Pierpont Morgan; and eight newspaper correspondents. The Tafts and Mr. Morgan occupied prominent places in the second row of the diplomatic gallery. Ambassador and Mrs. Reid had seats on the floor of the Abbey, close to the throne. Reid, who was readily recognized and cordially greeted was in evening dress and wore several medals for patriotic services.

Peers, peeresses and some most notably personages in the world filled the Abbey. They arrived there hours before the ceremony of the coronation and waited patiently. Peers were purple velvet and ermine mantles and the peeresses were in evening dress with superb trains born by pages. Diamonds flashed throughout the great hall.

Everyone rose to their feet as the junior members of the British royal family entered one by one. Shortly before 10:30 Princess Mary entered. She wore her hair down her back in girlish style, but had a long train which attendants carried. The young princesses were in high legged costume with jackets, and plain kilts.

The gorgeous royal procession entered next, its escorts being persons of the very highest rank in the entire Empire. The coronation ceremony was then carried out as it has been for twelve hundred years with scarcely a sign of a change in forms. Following the brief sermon the King kissed the Bible and signed the oath, swearing to govern according to the laws of the land and to maintain the protestant religion. The recently modified form of this latter declaration being the single departure from the traditional recital.

Sounding strangely loud in the impressive silence of the great Westminster Abbey the voice of the Archbishop of Canterbury announced a new King to the British world. Facing the four sides of the Abbey in succession he announced, "I here present unto you King George the undoubted King of this realm. All you who are come this day to do your homage and service, are you willing?" A mighty cheer, "God save the King," was the response. When the actual-crowning was signalled by the Abbey tower bell the crowds in the streets for miles broke into singing, "God Save the King," making possibly the largest choir ever known in history.

In this city all public and many private buildings were decorated. Special entertainment was provided for children of the poorer classes. REPORTS OF SALE ARE NOT TRUE

how much of the reports of any are true.

"The Times directed a telegram to Mr. Kell aboard the Katy Flyer this morning but up to a late hour this afternoon had received no reply.

"An Associated Press dispatch in the Fort Worth Record this morning says:

"St. Louis, June 22.—Two railroad deals involving $4,300,000 were consummated here today.

"The Missouri, Kansas & Texas purchased three railroad properties of J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, Texas. These roads are the Wichita Falls & Northwestern, the Wichita Falls & Northwestern of Texas and the Wichita Falls & Southern. The roads operate in Texas and out.

"The Missouri Pacific purchased the Booneville, St. Louis & Southern railroad which it has under 99-year lease. The road extends from Versailles to Booneville, a distance of four miles.

"A deal was consummated today by which the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad virtually will take over the properties controlled by J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, Texas. The purchase by the Missouri Pacific of the Booneville, St. Louis and Southern Railroad was also announced. A total of $3,300,000 is involved in these transactions. The exact financial status of the deals was not made public.

"The Katy has taken a friendly interest in the Kemp and Kell properties, being a lessee of one line. President A. A. Allen announced the Katy will co-operate in building an extension of the Wichita Falls Route north through Oklahoma. Mr. Kemp conferred with Mr. Allen today.

"While Mr. Kemp refuses to admit a sale, it is credited in the St. Louis railroad circles that the Katy virtually is taking over control. The Kemp properties include the Wichita Falls & Northwestern, the Wichita Falls & Northwestern of Texas, and the Wichita Falls & Southern. The Wichita Falls & Northwestern operates from Wichita Falls, Texas to Hammon, Okla., about 150 miles. It has $320,000 stock and $450,000 first mortgage 5 per cent, due in 1937. The Wichita Falls and Northwestern of Texas extends from Wichita Falls to the Oklahoma line, covering a territory not heretofore accessible, to the Katy. The Wichita Falls & Southern extends from Wichita Falls to Newcastle, Young county. The $250,000 first mortgage, 5 per cent, is due in 1937, and is mostly held by Chicagoans.

"The Booneville, St. Louis and Southern is forty-four miles long, extending from Versailles to Booneville Mo. It has been leased to the Missouri Pacific ever since its construction. It was controlled by former Governor Lon V. Stephens of Missouri and associates, mostly of St. Louis. It is the only independent railroad operating in the State.

Local officials of the road are as much at sea over the reports as anyone, but it is generally believed that a deed of trust or other conveyance has been given financiers who are back of the Katy for the purpose of binding a loan to the Northwestern for the prosecution of 150 miles of extensions now under way.

It is the general opinion that the sale of the Northwestern to the Katy would not be a disadvantage to Wichita Falls. Whether Mr. Kemp and Mr. Kell or the Katy controls that line it is almost certain that extensions will be built through Western Kansas and other states to the Canadian border and that further extension southward will be made.

It is also believed that Wichita Falls will continue to be the headquarters for the operation of these lines.

Mr. Kemp and Mr. Kell are expected to reach Wichita Falls tonight. C. L. Fontaine, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Wichita Falls Route, who returned at noon from a trip to Chicago and St. Louis, was asked by a Times reporter regarding the purported sale, in reply to which he made the following statement:

"As far as I know there is not a thing in it." Discussing the matter further he said that he could not imagine the source of the information contained in the press dispatch published in The Times yesterday afternoon.

AUSTIN GETS THE FIREMENS' CONVENTION

"Ballot cast at two o'clock; 97 for Austin; 93 for Wichita Falls. Will be home tomorrow.—V. E. Stampfl."

The foregoing telegram, received by the Times this afternoon, indicates that while Wichita Falls failed to land the next convention of the Volunteer Firemen, her representatives made a gallant fight and almost won.

Further dispatches from Waco state that John McKinney was elected president and W. T. Foreman of Denton vice president.

GIRL WITNESS Baffles Prosecution

Alleged Inmate of "Love Jungle" Exhibits Remarkable Wit—Father Meets Lee.

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—Mildred Bridges, "mother of the race," resumed her testimony before Judge Honore Wednesday in the criminal court at the trial of Evelyn Arthur See. Mona Reese buzzed about the witness room, talking with witness, probation officers and policemen. It was noticed however, that she avoided Mildred Bridges. The latter, cool and collected as ever, sat quietly in the waiting room and apparently not fearing the ordeal of the witness stand.

One of the first admissions made by the girl was that she had been given See's book of Absolute Life and told to read it. She said she had also talked with See about the book. She said she understood Mr. See was head and center of the House of the Lord. The examination of Miss Bridges developed into a game of legal chess. It was a battle between the trained mind and court experience of Assistant State's Attorney Frederick Burnham and a girl's cleverness and determination to protect the man whom the state claimed had wronged her. By slow degrees Mr. Burnham lead the girl up to the point where, it is said, she confessed to the police that See had transformed her from a convert to an affinity.

With rare perception the girl escaped from several perilous positions.

Once Mildred got into deep water when she said that questions of conduct were settled by references to the "Book of Truth." The state tried to prove that See personally settled all questions of morals and conduct that arose among his followers, but the witness availing giving direct replies, and on all pointed questions resorted to the answer, "I don't remember."

Miss Bridges said that when she first went to live at See's flat, she was not much interested in his teachings, but after the "Book of Truth" had been read to her, she began to see the light.

Asked if the question of a girl's right to live in a flat with a married man could be answered by the "Book of Truth," she replied that she did not know, that she never had tried to answer it.

Desmond and Gray of the Muskogean team in the Western Association, joined the Ardmore team Tuesday. Desmond was used at second and Gray at third. Both are reported to have acquitted themselves in a creditable manner.

FORGERY TRIAL ON IN DISTRICT COURT.

The district court is engaged today in the trial of the case of W. E. Hudson, alias W. E. Holt, indicted by the grand jury at its recent session on five counts for forgery. The jury was empaneled this morning and the evidence in the case is being taken as the Times goes to press this afternoon.

Hudson, it will be remembered, was indicted in connection with the recent forgeries in this city in which the name of R. D. Sloop was signed to several checks, several of which were cashed by business men of the city.

The case will likely be argued late this evening and may possibly go to the jury prior to the adjournment of court for the day.

Cleaning Paved Streets.

The paving company has a force of four teams and several men engaged today in cleaning off the streets in the paved district in order to improve their appearance and to do away with the filth that has accumulated since the work was completed. This is the second time that the company has gone to this expense in order that the work may show a presentable appearance such as it will be the case when the city takes up the work of removing the accumulation.

3 CITIES CONSIDERED FOR TEX.-OK. LEAGUE

Paris, Denison and Sherman Want Teams in New Circuit in 1912.
Star-Telegram.
The Durant, Okla., team in the Texas-Oklahoma League is to be backed up by a stock company. A company has been organized in that city to take over the franchise and to put baseball upon a firm business basis. The corporation will obtain a state charter and will have a paid up capital of $5000.
Since the dropping out of Lawton and Gainesville in the Texas-Oklahoma League, a move is being made to place these franchises at Paris, Denison or Sherman. It is not likely that these towns will come in this season, but it is the intention to have them start in with the opening of baseball next year. This move will bring the towns closer together and will mean a big saving in transportation.

I suffered continually, was weak and despondent; and unable to do my household work. I took Cardui, and in 9 months, I felt like a new woman and worked hard all summer. I am now in perfect health, and recommend Cardui to all suffering women." Every day, during the past 50 years, Cardui has been steadily forging ahead as a result of its proven value in female troubles. It relieves headache, backache, womanly misery and puts fresh strength into weary bodies. Try it.

AD CLUB TO SEND DELEGATE TO BOSTON

Fifteen members of the Wichita Falls Ad Club met at the Waldorf Cafe for luncheon today and enjoyed both the menu provided and the discussions had. Marvin Smith, president of the club presided as toastmaster and the principal address was that of A. S. Kerr, who made a report regarding the recent organization of the Associated Ad Clubs of Texas at Dallas. Mr. Kerr explained the work of the Dallas meeting and stated that organization was perfected under most favorable auspices and that the state association gave promise of much good. He called attention to the desire of the state organization that all clubs send delegates to the national convention at Boston and in this connection suggested that a committee be appointed to devise ways and means for sending a representative from Wichita Falls. Following his talk a committee was provided for on motion, and the chair appointed the following: A. S. Kerr, Patrick Henry and J. W. Bradley. This committee will endeavor to raise a sufficient fund to defray the expense of at least one delegate and to also defray the expense of Messrs. P. H. Pennington and Marvin Smith from New York to Boston, as these gentlemen will be in the former city at that time and have signified a willingness to attend the national meeting of ad men in Boston.
The next meeting of the club will be held one month from this time at which time it is expected that another luncheon will be had.

AD CLUB TO SEND DELEGATE TO BOSTON

Fifteen members of the Wichita Falls Ad Club met at the Waldorf Cafe for luncheon today and enjoyed both the menu provided and the discussions had. Marvin Smith, president of the club presided as toastmaster and the principal address was that of A. S. Kerr, who made a report regarding the recent organization of the Associated Ad Clubs of Texas at Dallas. Mr. Kerr explained the work of the Dallas meeting and stated that organization was perfected under most favorable auspices and that the state association gave promise of much good. He called attention to the desire of the state organization that all clubs send delegates to the national convention at Boston and in this connection suggested that a committee be appointed to devise ways and means for sending a representative from Wichita Falls. Following his talk a committee was provided for on motion, and the chair appointed the following: A. S. Kerr, Patrick Henry and J. W. Bradley. This committee will endeavor to raise a sufficient fund to defray the expense of at least one delegate and to also defray the expense of Messrs. P. H. Pennington and Marvin Smith from New York to Boston, as these gentlemen will be in the former city at that time and have signified a willingness to attend the national meeting of ad men in Boston.
The next meeting of the club will be held one month from this time at which time it is expected that another luncheon will be had.
