KEELEY OF CHICAGO TRIBUNE RE-LATES EXPERIENCE CONGRESS-MAN TAWNEY MENTIONED.

FEES FOR "INFLUENCE"

Lorimer Declared to Have Accepted Payment for Departmental Assistance—Denial from Boutell.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—James Keeley of the Chicago Tribune, again a witness before the Lorimer investigating committee, injected a spicy story of the Lorimer record yesterday, telling how his newspaper had agreed to buy alleged secrets from a Washington lobbyist from which were said to implicate Senator Lorimer and former Representative James Tawney in getting fees for using their influence in Government departments.

George O. Glavis, a brother of Louis R. Glavis, is the man with whom the agreement was made. Instead of living up to his part of the compact, and after having been given $750 with which to purchase the records in question, Glavis handed the Tribune a "gold brick," said Mr. Keeley.

Dealings With Glavis.

The story of Glavis' arrest on the charge of embezzlement, growing out of this affair, has been told in the newspapers, but not until yesterday was there an intimation as to the nature of the so-called secrets. Neither Senator Lorimer's name nor that of Representative Tawney had been publicly connected with the story. Consequently the interest was intense as the witness unfolded the tale.

Mr. Keeley explained that Glavis represented that he had access to the books of a firm of lobbyists who had done business with Lorimer while he was a Representative. The books, according to Glavis, contained an entry showing Lorimer to have received 25 per cent of a $2,000 fee for his aid in restoring to second-class mail privileges a publication known as "Fire proof." Another entry, he said, related to a denatured alcohol matter in which it was alleged Lorimer got a fee.

Mentions Tawney's Name.

"Wasn't there another name brought into it?" asked Judge Haney of Lorimer counsel. "I don't think I should tell that; it has nothing to do with this case," replied the newspaper man.

"We insist," said Judge Haney. "You tell the name of Senator Lorimer freely enough."

"Then," said Keeley, after the committee had indicated the question was one that should be answered: "Representative Tawney was named as having been in the magazine deal."

Mr. Keeley gave the facts in detail of his transactions with Glavis. The records he hoped to get, he said were never forthcoming and Glavis still has the $750. Several weeks ago he was placed under arrest.

He related his experience in Washington with Ed Glavis, a brother of George Glavis.

Testimony interrupted. "I told him that his brother was a thief and a falsifier, and he tried to convince me to the contrary," said Mr. Keeley.

"Have you since heard anything calculated to change that impression?" asked Chairman Dillingham. Mr. Keeley straightened up in his chair and the spectators were in a state of mild excitement. They thought they were about to hear what caused Glavis to decide he would rather go to jail than to give up those records.

"Yes," said the editor. "I have heard something since that has made me uncertain. I'd be glad to tell you about that, too."

Chairman Dillingham cut the witness off, leaving the impression that he did not care to interfere with the cross examination.

"I beg your pardon, Judge," he said, turning to Judge Haney.

"Oh, there's nothing that concerns us," replied the Lorimer lawyer, indicating the facts brought out. But the subject was dropped for the time being.

During the hearing yesterday afternoon considerably interest was manifested, informally, in an Associated Press cablegram from former Representative Boutell of Illinois, now Minister to Switzerland, in which the latter declared he never heard President Taft express a preference in the Senatorial contest in Illinois; that he never wrote any person on the subject.

ORGANIZED WITH THIRTY MEMBERS

Executive Committee to Meet.

Houston, Texas, July 26.—Col. Tom Ball has called a meeting of the statewide executive committee to meet in Austin, July 31, the day the legislature convenes.

Anti-Claim 7,641.

Houston, Texas, July 26.—Resting on a final claim of 7,641 majority, pending the official count, the anti-headquarters here began closing up its affairs today.

The statewide headquarters are silent but the officials are actively at work and it is understood are tabulating returns for the use of the executive committee meeting at Fort Worth Saturday. An unverified rumor is current that this meeting will also consider changes in the election laws to restrict suffrage in certain directions.

W. O. Moore of Abilene was here early in the week making arrangements to make this city his permanent headquarters. Mr. Moore, it is understood has been appointed manager here for the Neil P. Anderson Co., owning and operating cotton compresses at many points. It is also reported that this city is to be headquarters for all of Northwest Texas for that company.

PRO. CHAIRMAN ISSUES CALL

Houston, Texas, July 26.—Hon. Thomas H. Ball, chairman of the Statewide Prohibition Amendment Association, has issued a call requesting the executive committee of the association to meet at Fort Worth on Saturday, July 29, to determine the advisability of contesting the recent election. A short time before the issuance of the call Col. Ball issued a signed statement, in which he stated the anti's had probably won by not more than 5,000 majority, although he was confident the opposition had not won legally. His call to the executive committee follows:

To the Members of the Executive Committee Statewide Prohibition Association: You are hereby called to meet in session at Fort Worth Saturday, July 29, at 10 a. m., to determine the advisability of contesting the result of the prohibition amendment election and consider such other matters as may properly come before the meeting.

Be present, if possible, at so important a meeting. If impossible to come, send a cool-headed and well-informed proxy. Chairmen and members of the county executive committee are invited to come in person or by proxy, and if not convenient to attend I will be glad to have them address me at Fort Worth, care of Judge A. W. Walker, giving me their views and information as to conditions surrounding the late election and advice as to our course.

Prohibitionists generally are requested to write their views and send such information as they have or can procure in time to reach me at the meeting, as to any fraud or irregularities in the recent election, and particularly as to the negro and Mexican vote and of foreigners who may not have been naturalized or who have not properly declared their intentions.

We want particularly information as to the number of these classes voting, as compared with their normal vote.

MRS. ALEXANDER IN HUSBAND'S DEFENSE

She Tells of Receiving Letters from O'Neal in Which He Called Her His "Queen."

By Associated Press. Anson, Texas, July 26.—Mrs. Alexander was the first witness late yesterday in the opening of the defense of her husband, Dr. J. M. Alexander for the murder of R. I. O'Neal. She testified to receiving letters from R. I. O'Neal, who addressed her as "Queen." She told of burning one which was handed her while she sat in an automobile in Abilene and said this letter contained matters since given publicity and said to be the cause of O'Neal's killing.

Other witnesses told of Alexander shooting at someone believed to be O'Neal while in an auto in Abilene.

Liniment Caught Fire Boy Burned

New York, July 26.—When 11-year-old Ferdinand Bayard awoke early today with a severe headache he went to the kitchen closet and found a bottle of liniment which he rubbed generously over his head. On his way back to bed he brushed by a lighted gas jet and the liniment caught fire. He was fatally burned.

SATURDAY'S MEETING WILL BE OPEN TO ALL PROHIBITIONISTS AND MANY WILL ATTEND.

ALSO TO MEET IN AUSTIN

Prohibition Executive Committee Called to Meet at Capital On Day Legislature Meets.

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, July 26.—Saturday's statewide meeting here will be more of a state convention of the pros than merely an executive committee meeting as originally scheduled.

So many Northeast Texas chairmen have asked permission to bring delegations along that their requests have been granted, Judge Walker announced this morning.

DR. RAYMOND POND ENDED OWN LIFE

By Associated Press. College Station, Texas, July 26.—Lying on the lawn in front of his home with his wife's engagement ring and a wedding ring tied by a pink ribbon around his neck, the body of Dr. Raymond Pond, entomologist of the Texas experiment station, was found here at daylight with a bullet hole in the right temple. Indications are that he shot himself. He was married June 15th to Miss Susie Gorman, of Waco, who left Sunday to visit her parents at Waco. On the dining room table of Pond's home his insurance policies and money were neatly arranged. It is believed he shot himself about 11 o'clock last night. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan, and a native of Topeka, Kansas.

COMMISSIONERS AND JUDGE ISSUE STATEMENT

County Judge C. B. Feider and three of the county commissioners have pledged themselves that if the $200,000 road improvement bonds are issued the money will be expended in each commissioner's precinct in proportion to the taxable value of the precinct.

In this manner the money and the improved roads will be distributed over the entire county and will obviate objections from Electra and Burk Burnett that those places would not be equally benefitted with Wichita Falls and Iowa Park.

The pledge of the commissioner signed today is as follows: July 26, 1911.

To the Public: We, the undersigned members of the commissioner's court of Wichita county, hereby pledge ourselves that in the event the qualified voters of this county vote in favor of the issuance of the $200,000.00 in road bonds, in this election to be held August 15th, 1911.

First: That the money derived from the sale of said bond will be expended in each commissioner's precinct in proportion to the taxable value of said precinct.

Second: That in so far as is possible the preference to Wichita county labor will be given.

PONTIUS AND FLYING MACHINE NOW HERE

Big Biplane Moved to Lake Wichita This Afternoon—Good Flights Expected.

J. J. Pontius, the aviator, with Victor Smith, who is associated with the Pan-American Aero Club, arrived in the city at noon today and following them on the afternoon train came the Curtiss type biplane that will be used in giving the exhibitions at this place on July 28th and 29th. One of the propellers was injured some in shipment but not sufficiently to prevent or delay the flights proposed for the dates mentioned. The machine was this afternoon moved to the lake and tomorrow the machinists will be engaged in putting it together and it is expected that they will complete the work by tomorrow night.

Mr. Pontius, together with Mr. Harris, the company's agent, stated this afternoon to a Times representative that barring the accident to the machine in transit, everything was in splendid shape for the exhibition and that with favorable weather conditions a splendid meet was anticipated. Additional members of the aviation party are expected to reach the city tomorrow to participate in the preliminaries incident to the occasion.

Shelbyville, Ky., Man Persistently Refuses to Accept What Employers Contracted to Pay Him.

By Associated Press. Shelbyville, Ky., July 26.—Even though he may decline to accept in full for his work what his employers contract to pay him, Fred Tucker of Shelbyville is not crazy. A jury in the Shelby county criminal court yesterday concluded that in this day of high priced labor he was too valuable a man to be wasted in an asylum and declared him of sound mind. The principal testimony against him related to his unusual habit.

PAID FINE RATHER THAN TAKE A BATH

By Associated Press. Waterbury, Conn., July 26.—Antonio Irvovape last night paid a fine of $17.52 rather than take a bath. He was arrested yesterday charged with trespass on railroad property. In the city court he was too poor to pay and accordingly was ordered to jail. On his arrival at the jail he was told that he must submit to a bath before being assigned to a cell. Rather than that he ripped open his coat and pulled out $200 in bills. He paid his fine and was allowed to go.

PARALLEL STORIES OF LOST RINGS

Finding of Lost Ring at Middletown, Connecticut, Duplicated in Wichita Falls.

By Associated Press. Middletown, Conn., July 26.—A valuable engagement ring which was lost by Mrs. Henry Hinmann of this city, 30 years ago, has been restored to her. The ring was dug up in the garden in the rear of her former home by the present tenants. The garden has been plowed and cultivated each year since the ring disappeared.

The foregoing story has a parallel right here in Wichita Falls. More than fifteen years ago Mrs. John T. Woodhouse, while at work in her back yard at 1600 Travis street, lost her gold wedding ring. A careful search failed to discover it.

A few weeks ago while digging in the garden that now covers the spot Mrs. Woodhouse attention was attracted by a bright shiny object and upon investigation she discovered it to be her long lost ring. It was un-

ATTENDANCE AT THE ASSEMBLY GROWS

EVERY TRAIN BRINGS NEW ARRIVALS AT BIG METHODIST ENCAMPMENT.

Thirty-five Cent Meals So Good that People Do Not Want Better.

"Mr. St. Clair is giving us such good meals for 35 cents, that I am afraid he will have no boarders at his fifty cent table," said Presiding Elder John E. Roach, one of the trustees of the Lakeshore Assembly.

"The meals we are getting for thirty-five cents at the Lakeshore hotel are better than meals that are served for fifty cents up town," he said.

Contributing he said that the arrangements for the care of the Assembly guests were exceptionally good considering the fact that this was the first meeting of that character ever held at the lake.

Mr. Roach and Rev. L. S. Barton and Mayor Noble were in the city this morning from the Assembly grounds to secure additional bedding.

"When we advised the people to bring along wraps, they laughed at us," said Rev. Barton, "but those who didn't follow our advice are now wishing they had."

There are more than four hundred out of town guests at the Lake today and several hundred more are expected before the end of the week.

Last night Manager St. Clair had an extra hundred chairs sent out of the Colonnade. Every one was in use last night and several hundred more chairs will be required.

Last night Dr. Hyer lectured on "Hypnotism, Spiritualism and Kindred Phenomena." His lecture was entertaining and instructive.

This afternoon Dr. H. A. Boaz, president of Polytechnic College will deliver his lecture "Fools and Other Funny Fols."

Tonight Bishop Atkins of Waynesville, N. C. will deliver an address. This afternoon at four o'clock the executive committee of the Sunday School Board of the North Texas conference will meet.

The only complaint that the management can find to make is that it is so cool the people won't patronize the bathing pool or go boat riding. Some of the preachers, however, are telling fish stories that make their hearers blush.

A number of townspeople have rented tents and are spending the week at the Lake with the visitors.

The Home Missionary Society of the local church has erected a rest tent that is proving quite popular.

Polytechnic College, Stamford College, and Southwestern University have attractive bureaus on the second floor of the Colonnade.

Tomorrow's program will be as follows: 7:00 a. m.—Assembly devotions. 9:00 a. m.—1. Study Period for Women's Missionary Work. 2. Study in Modern Sunday School Methods, conducted by Mr. W. E. Hawkins and Rev. R. B. Bonner. 3. Bible Study Hour: Subject, "How Shall I read the Old Testament?" by Rev. John A. Rice, D. D. L. L. D. 10:30 a. m. Address: "The Sunday School Teacher as an Educator" — Dr. Henry F. Cope. 3:30 p. m. Address—Rev. George C. Rankin, D. D. 8:30 p. m. Address.

A Lynching Threatened.

By Associated Press. Bartlesville, Okla., July 26.—Orlito and Ollie Sears, Charles Endicott and Rolla Sellers, youths, ranging in age from 15 to 20 years, were arrested here yesterday on charges of having attacked Mary Mefinger, 16 years old, and Ina Newman, 13 years old, of Agra, Okla. The attack is alleged to have been committed Sunday. Miss Mefinger is reported to be in a serious condition, while Miss Newman was not injured so badly.

According to the story told by the girls, two of the youths invited them to go driving and at a lonely spot were joined by the others. The boys were taken to Chandler to avoid a possible lynching.

AUSTIN OFFICIALS' COMMENT.

Governor Disappointed at Small Majority. Controller Lane Unwilling to Concede Defeat.

Austin, Texas, July 26.—The Governor has thus far declined to give out any statement in regard to the result of the election, although he expresses confidence that the amendment has been lost. He also telegraphed his son, Sidney Colquitt, at Washington D. C. late yesterday afternoon that the prohibitionists' defeat is conceded by a majority of 7,000 to 15,000. The Governor is disappointed at the narrow margin by which the anti appear to have won out and attributes this condition to the apathy and overconfidence of thousands of the voters in the southern part of the state.

State Controller W. P. Lane refuses to admit defeat and says the pros will win out on contesting by 35,000 to 10,000 votes. He says that he has discovered that one county in Southwest Texas rolled 1,200 votes more than the total number of poll tax receipts issued. He unhesitatingly asserts that the anti are attempting to steal the victory and is bitter in the extreme in his comment on the opposition.

Attorney General Jewel P. Lightfoot has little to say upon the subject, aside from express dissatisfaction at the defeat. He, like many others, was led to believe yesterday that the prohibitionists' victory was absolutely certain.

ALIMONY CLUB BOOMS COL. PETER BALL

When Members of Ludlow Street Jail Heard of Kansas' Fight They Sang, "I'd Rather Be in Jail Than Be Married."

New York, July 26.—If Peter Ball of Iowa, Kansas, will come to New York and visit the Ludlow Street jail he will be given a reception by the Alimony Club there which will excel anything the happy organization ever has done in the way of paying-homage to a hero.

Ball recently was released from the Allen County, Kansas, jail, where he spent twenty-two months for refusing to pay alimony. He paid the court costs of the action brought against him, amounting to $191, but not a cent of alimony did he pay loose from.

The news of Ball's great victory reached the Ludlow Street jail last night. Immediately the president of the Alimony Club called the members together in the palmroom and informed them of what Ball had done. When the cheering ceased the president suggested that if Ball could be induced to visit New York and the Ludlow Street jail a grand reception would be given him. The other members immensely are enthusiastic over the idea.

"Will we show him the respect due him" said the president, when asked about the matter. "Well, let me tell you—if Mr. Ball visits us we'll meet him with lard in our hair. Never—never—one of our ilk won us a grand victory. Beyond the remotest possibility of a doubt he will be elected national president of the Anti-Alimony Association of America at the 1912 convention. We are, thinking seriously of petitioning President Taft to appoint him anti-alimony commissioner of the United States."

The story of Ball's fight for twenty-two months was read to the members of the Ludlow Street Alimony Club by the president. At the conclusion the club gave three cheers for "Brother Ball," and dispersed after the alimony quartet had sung the club song, "I'd Rather Be in Jail Than Be Married."

Reapportionment Hearing.

Albany, N. Y., July 26.—Pursuant to the call of Chief Judge Gulson of the Court of Appeals met this morning for an extraordinary term, the purpose of which is to hear arguments in the proceedings brought to declare unconstitutional the reapportionment of Senate and assembly districts of New York State made in 1907. Three actions have been brought to set aside the act on the ground that the population was not equitably distributed in the various districts; that the districts are not made up of contiguous territory, and that a reapportionment should be made at a regular session of the legislature, whereas the one contested was made at an extraordinary session called by Governor Hughes. The lower courts have refused to declare the reapportionment illegal.

AFFAIRS IN MEXICO ARE IMPROVING

Ambassador Wilson Thinks the Election in October Will Result Peacefully.

By Associated Press New York, July 25.—Henry Lane Wilson, U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, was in New York today on his way to Washington. He said that affairs were being straightened out in Mexico and he was hopeful that the elections in October would pass peacefully. "Of course," he said, "every revolution leaves behind it a certain rough element who have been taken from their ordinary vocation in life to start a guerrilla mode of warfare and they like the life so much that they are loathe to relinquish it. I hope that it will also come right in the end, as Mexico is a very fine country with rich resources."

The Wichita State Bank

Wichita Falls, Texas

This Bank and Your Business

There are many banks in the country larger than The Wichita State Bank. They may have more capital and perhaps do a greater volume of business. But for the smaller business man, farmer or manufacturer, had it occurred to you that the small bank is the best place for the beginner to go?

The big bank is often cold-blooded and independent. Your business in the big bank is but an incidental detail, and your interests are scarcely noticed.

The small bank, however, can give your business more time and attention, for it is interested in your success.

This bank, while small in comparison to some of the large banks, has ample means and facilities to properly care for your business. Its officers have time to consider your interest and welfare. Your business will be welcome and will receive their best attention.

SOME THINGS GOV. WILSON LEARNED

ON HIS 8000 MILE SWING THROUGH THE WESTERN STATES A FEW MONTHS AGO.

A SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

West Determined to Go Ahead Regardless of Precedent—Party Lines Disappearing.

On the afternoon of May 6, 1911, a westbound Burlington train passed in the midst of its flight across the rolling Nebraska prairie to draw up to the station of Wymore. A score of passengers alighted to stretch their legs and as they sauntered up and down the platform a bright-eyed, keen-faced young man in blue overalls and jumper, wiping his hands on a piece of cotton waste, approached one of the group.

"Isn't this Governor Wilson of New Jersey?" asked the railroad man.

"That is my name," said the slender gentleman who was thus addressed, extending his hand in response to the other's greeting.

"My name is Mauck," said the railroad man, "and I am mayor of Wymore. We've heard a great deal about you out here in Nebraska, and I want to welcome you to our town. People out here are beginning to think you'd make a mighty good President of the United States."

"That is very flattering indeed," replied Governor Wilson. "I assume that you are a Democrat."

"Not at all," replied Mayor Mauck. "I was elected on the Socialist ticket."

"I did not realize that the Socialists were making so much progress in the West," commented the governor.

"It isn't so much that," was the mayor's reply, "but the people out here are not satisfied with the way things are going. The vote that elected me was only about 20 per cent Socialist and 80 per cent protest."

"The conductor's cry of 'all aboard' interrupted the conversation at this point and the governor climbed back into the car. The incident, however, was typical of the whole 8,000-mile journey to the Pacific Coast and back, which Governor Woodrow Wilson made in the month of May. Wilson at every point at which he stopped he realized exactly the same kind of greeting as that of the mayor of Wymore. Everywhere he was told that the people had heard a great deal about him and were discussing him a presidential possibility, but more interesting than that was the information, volunteered in one form or another at every stage of his journey, that the people of the West are pervaded with the spirit of unrest and of protest against existing political conditions.

"It was not at all difficult to get at the causes underlying this desire for a change—this demand for the restoration to the people of the right of self-government which they had suddenly discovered they were in danger of losing.

"I helped carry my county for Bryan in 1908," said a dining car conductor who had learned all about Governor Wilson long before the New Jersey Executive entered his car. "It was a good, strong, Republican county, too," he added.

"How did you do it?" asked the governor.

"It wasn't so hard," replied the conductor. "You see, the railroad company did just like they have always done, gave orders to all the railroad men to work for the Republican ticket.

But the people were onto them this time and it made us railroad men sore to be told how we had to vote, so we just turned in and gave the Republicans a darn good licking.

That spirit of revolt against corporation domination in politics found expression in many other ways during the journey. There were evidences by the score that the people of the West have not only begun to realize that their politicians and public servants have been taking orders from the railroads instead of from the people who elected them, but they are also beginning to devise remedies for this state of affairs and put them into operation.

In Colorado Governor Wilson found the people aroused over what men without regard for party characterized as the disgraceful conduct of the state legislature, which had wound up its session the night before the governor's arrival, without enacting a single one of the measures which had been demanded by the people of Colorado and without even electing a United States Senator.

"The people of Colorado are going to demand a new deal and a square deal," said a former high official of the state to Governor Wilson. "They are beginning to see that they have not had control of their own affairs, and they will go, any length necessary to regain control; it is going to be hard sledding for the interests in Colorado for some time to come."

It is because they are free to face in their own communities with conditions which have become intolerable, problems that demand immediate solution, that the people of the West are experimenting with new ideas in politics and demanding reforms which they believe will remedy these conditions. Political reform is no academic theory with them. It is a practical, concrete question, having for its object only one thing—the control by the people of their own government.

No other fact stood out more clearly than this among all the observations which Governor Wilson made on his trip to the coast.

In California the demand for reform has shaped itself in constitutional amendments now pending, on which the people of the state are to vote in the fall of 1911. One of these amendments provides for woman suffrage, and another gives the people the initiative and referendum as a check on their legislature, and the power to recall any and all elected to public offices. It is this last named provision which is the subject of public discussion to the exclusion of almost every other topic of general interest. And the discussion is far from being academic.

Governor Wilson, coming from a state in which the judiciary is appointed and is of uniformly high character, had expressed himself as opposed to extending the recall to the judiciary.

Those who argued with him on the subject in California took no high theoretic ground. It was a concrete problem of immediate practical concern with them.

"Here is Judge So-and-So, whose decisions are known to be controlled by the Southern Pacific Railroad," they said.

"We have not been able to impeach him, and as a matter of practical politics it is almost impossible to impeach a judge anyway. We want to get rid of this man and there are half a dozen others in the state who are equally open to suspicion. How can we respect the bench when we believe the bench to be corrupt? That is why the progressive spirit in California is focussing its efforts on the recall amendment to the constitution."

That the people do not hesitate to use these instruments of self-government once they get them, was forcibly brought home to Governor Wilson at several points. California cities have had the right of recall for several years, and the mayor of Los Angeles, who welcomed Governor Wilson at the railroad station, was himself chosen at a recall election to take the place of a discredited executive. Later on in Seattle another mayor who held office under exactly similar conditions was on the reception committee to meet the man from New Jersey.

In Oregon, where the people have had control of their government so long that they have begun to get used to it, Governor Wilson found no evidence of any widespread desire to return to the old system of machine control of politics and corporation control of the machine. To be sure, he was gravely warned up the morning of his arrival in Portland, by one of the reactionary newspapers, that he would find a dreadful situation in the state—that there were two legislatures—one of them sitting at Salem and the other one under the hat of W. S. U'Ren, whose fame as a leader in the movement for popular government has extended across the continent. But the enthusiasm with which Governor Wilson's reply to this solemn warning was received indicated that it was not taken seriously as an objection to the initiative and referendum by the people of Oregon generally.

Many Seek Ste. Anne's Aid.
Quebec, July 25.—This being the feast-day of Ste. Anne, the shrine of the saint at Ste. Anne de Beauspre became the mecca of thousands of pilgrims. For several days past the hotels and boarding houses have been filling with people from all parts of the continent, among them being many of the crippled, the blind and those afflicted with various other ills, and all of whom are looking earnestly for special favors through the intercession of the good saint on the occasion of her own festival.

Hoping for Miraculous Cures.
New York, July 25.—Many people knelt before the shrine of "Good Saint Anne" in the Little Church of St. Jean Baptiste in East Seventy-sixth Street today and kissed the religiously containing one of the bones from the wrist of the Mother of Virgin. It was the close of the annual novena of Ste. Anne, the period during which the faithful look for many miracles to be performed. For nine days the little church has listened to the prayers of hundreds of sick and disabled persons who sought relief from their afflictions through the intercession of the Saint.

South Carolina Farmers' Union.
Columbia, S. C., July 25.—Plans for closer co-operation, the extension of the warehouse movement and numerous other matters of mutual interest and importance are slated for consideration begun here today by the South Carolina division of the National Farmers' Union. Delegates representing the virtually every county of the State were on hand when the gathering was formally called to order by the president, A. J. A. Perrett of Darlington. The business of the convention will be concluded tomorrow.

Welshmen to Revisit Old Homes.
New York, July 25.—Little parties of Welshmen, nearly all of them accompanied by their wives and families have been dropping into the city the past few days from points throughout the United States and Canada. They are rounding up here preparatory to starting on a pilgrimage to their native Wales. More than three hundred have booked passage on the Cunard liner Caronia, which will sail for Liverpool Friday. Some of those who are going back have not been in Wales for forty years.

Archbishop Prendergast Enthroned.
Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—The most Rev. Edmund P. Prendergast was enthroned this morning as Archbishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Philadelphia with much stately ceremonial. The cathedral was filled to its capacity with church dignitaries and distinguished representatives of the laity. Preceding the ceremonies of the installation there was an imposing procession of altar boys, seminaries, priests and prelates from the cathedral chapel to the cathedral. The ceremony was concluded with the celebration of a pontifical mass. Among the prelates who took part were Bishops Fitzmaurice of Erie, Shanahan of Harrisburg, Canevin of Pittsburgh, Hoban of Scranton and Garvey of Altoona.

Mrs. Seth Barton French, widow of the noted financier, photographed on her return from Europe as she was being welcomed at the pier by W. G. McAdoo, president of the Hudson & Manhattan Railway Co. Other friends were also at the pier to meet her. Mrs. French, one of the richest women in America, refused to discuss the report that she will marry James J. Van Alen, whose attentions to her in Europe some time ago attracted the notice of her friends.

MAMMOTH DRY DOCK TO BE RECOMMENDED

Battleships Wyoming and Arkansas Are So Large that They Cannot Be Docked.

Washington, July 25.—As battleships are built larger year by year, the navy department may recommend to Congress the construction of a mammoth dry dock at New York or Norfolk, exceeding in size any naval dock in this country. Tentative plans for the dock contemplate a length of 1,000 feet, nearly 200 feet greater than any American dock built or building, a beam of 140 feet, the width of the Panama canal, and a depth of 24 feet. Were the battleships Wyoming and Arkansas ready for commission at the present time there would not be a dock at an American navy yard wide enough to accommodate them. This situation, however, will be met before these ships are completed by the new docks at New York, Pearl Harbor and Puget Sound and the enlarged dock at Norfolk. These docks will be able to receive any ship built, building or designed for the United States navy. The Norfolk dock will be completed by September 15; the New York, February 1, 1912; Puget Sound, March 2, 1912, and Pearl Harbor, May 22, 1912.

the production of feed crops of various kinds. Reports from nearly every where are to the effect that seed dealers have been unable to supply the demand since the recent heavy rains, and the problem of how farmers were going to manage to feed their stock through another year has been solved. The condition of the cotton crop has also improved wonderfully, and the yield now promises well—in fact, greater than that of last year. In fact everything is now looking at least one hundred per cent better than it was before the rains fell and gave the parcher earth a good soaking.

HOW TEXAS GROWS.

The estimate of the state comptroller on taxable values in Texas this year shows an increase of something over eighty-seven million dollars over last year. And to further show the tremendous gain in property values during the past twelve months the gain last year over the year previous was seventy million. The figures show that Texas has not only kept up the pace, but has increased it. The gain is greater than was expected by state officials and exceeds the expectations of the most buoyant booster, showing that even those who are spectacular in their opinions about Texas prosperity cannot exceed by speculation the actual progress of Texas.

The increase this year is worthy of analysis, for the reason that it is based solely upon actual improvements. There has been no revision of land values. The change made several years ago, when there was a compliance with the full rendition law, brought about a complete revision in land values, and since then—that is, last year and this year—the property owners have rendered and the county commissioners have as a rule appraised land values on the same basis as the year before, thus showing that the increases are measured by improvements or actual increase in values due to improvements and prosperity throughout the state. This unexpected increase, coming just now when there is some grumbling and mumbling about hard times, shows that the prosperity, the progress and the growth of Texas is deeply grounded, and that the surface conditions in no wise reflect the actual conditions. Texas prosperity is real, it is genuine. It is built upon a firm foundation. Adverse winds may blow, political conditions may change, hope may lag, and effort may be half-hearted, yet Texas as a whole goes on hopefully, heedlessly and certainly. Its wonderful resources are in such variety that it can not be crippled by any ordinary misfortune. If it is hurt in one place it is strengthened in another, and the giant combination of industry, natural resources, the indomitable will and spirited determination of its people will press on always and steadily until this magnificent empire will be the greatest section of the United States in every way, as it now is in area.—Beaumont Enterprise.

The voting in Zapata county is evidently done by one man, and when that fellow happens to be sick, away from home or does not care to vote, there is no election. According to figures furnished by the Texas Almanac there were no votes cast for any of the candidates at the July Democratic primaries. This would indicate that the man who carries the Zapata county vote "in his vest pocket" is a Republican, and as an evidence of this at the general election in November the votes of that county was recorded as follows: For governor—O. B. Colquitt 609; Terrell 462. The entire Republican ticket polled the same number of votes as were cast for the head of the ticket, and the Democratic candidates were gossaged from head to tail. On the submission question, voted on July 25, 1910, which was the day on which the Democratic primaries were held, the Zapata county vote is recorded as follows: "For Submission, 00; against submission 69. In last Saturday's election the vote of the county was cast solidly against statewide prohibition, and so far as is known the vote of that county has always been cast solidly. Yet, there will be some people who will contend that such election frauds as that should be winked at by the law.

"THIS IS MY 46th BIRTHDAY." Governor Plaisted.

Governor Frederick W. Plaisted of Maine, the first Democrat to hold that office in many years, was born in Bangor, Me., July 26, 1865, the son of Gen. Harris M. Plaisted, who also held the governorship of the Pine Tree state. The son received his education at St. Johnsbury Academy in Vermont, from which he was graduated in 1884. The next year he began newspaper work. When he became of age he went to Augusta and assumed the business management of a newspaper of which Melville W. Fuller, late chief justice of the United States, was at one time editor. His first entrance into public life was made in 1896, when he was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress. Ten years later he was elected mayor of Augusta, being the first Democratic mayor, with a single exception, to be elected in that city in forty years. He was re-elected three times and was still holding office when nominated and elected to the governorship.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Wichita Falls Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to act on the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in Wichita Falls. Follow the advice of a Wichita Falls citizen and be benefited yourself.

E. H. Ingram, Eleventh and Travis avenues, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "I still have a good word to say for Doan's Kidney Pills though it was two years ago that I publicly endorsed them. It gives me pleasure to advise persons afflicted with lumbago and kidney trouble to take Doan's Kidney Pills, as I know positively that this remedy can be depended upon to act as represented. I had trouble from my kidneys for several years and I tried a number of highly advertised remedies without getting much benefit.

Doan's Kidney Pills were finally obtained from the Wichita Drug House and they relieved my suffering in a short time.

$3 PER TON REBATE TO HARVESTER CO.

Was Charge Made Against Steel Corporation to Former Attorney General Bonaparte.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., July 26.—That charges were made to former Attorney General Bonaparte, during his term that the United States Steel Corporation refunded three dollars a ton to the harvester combine companies was revealed today in the House steel trust investigation. The report was made by Burdett C. Townsend, a special examiner of the department of justice in 1901. Townsend said this refund for steel was used to manufacture machines which the harvester company experts, thus indicating that steel may be produced as cheaply in this country as abroad. Townsend, Bonaparte and Wickensham will be summoned to appear before the committee.

WHOLE CONGREGATION CHANGES ALLEGIANCE

New York Presbyterians Change in Body Membership in Disciples of Christ.

By Associated Press. New York, July 26.—The change of a whole congregation from one religious denomination to another is the unusual shift that will take place in Borough Park, Brooklyn, this week with the admission of the Peoples Church to the Disciples of Christ. The church was begun six years ago as a union congregation. Success attended the work and property worth $35,000 was accumulated. The pastor was a Presbyterian and made it a Presbyterian church.

Several weeks ago the Presbyterian pastor resigned. Financial difficulties followed and help was obtained from a wealthy member of the Disciples of Christ. Last Sunday the congregation voted formally to become a Disciples church. The congregation numbers about 150 persons.

WANTED NEWS BROKEN GENTLY TO HIS MOTHER

Dying Man's Last Request "Please See That She is Told of My Death as Gently as Possible."

By Associated Press. New York, July 26.—Chas. Hirsch, a wealthy young manufacturer of automobile supplies, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in upper New York today. He was kneeling in the roadway beside his automobile repairing a tire when a second machine came tearing by, hit him a terrific blow and threw him dying, beneath his own car. Hirsch was conscious for a few moments before he died and was asked by the ambulance surgeon if he had any message to leave. "I live with my mother," said Hirsch each word costing him a tremendous effort. "Please see that she is told of my death as quietly as possible. She is rather old, doctor, and the shock might affect her seriously." The doctor leaned over to assure Hirsch that his wish would be complied with, but the injured man was dead.

The spot where the accident occurred was the scene of another fatal automobile crash two days ago.

OAK TREE PROVED AN INDIAN LANDMARK

By Associated Press. Exeter, Me., July 26.—Woodmen cutting timber on Indian Creek yesterday felled a large oak tree that proved to be historic, as well as an Indian landmark.

An Indian with bow and arrow pointing at a running deer was carved in the bark of the tree near the ground, while higher up were like lines of the rising sun with an Indian kneeling, a flying eagle, a turtle on its back and a picture of a snake. More than a dozen arrows were embedded in the tree where they had been shot, many years ago. From the character of the carving it is thought to be the work of Chickasaws.

Millionaire Brewer Dropped Dead.

By Associated Press. New York, July 26.—Simon E. Bernheimer, a millionaire brewer, dropped dead last night while playing a bass drum at a rehearsal. Bernheimer was 62 years of age. From early youth he had amused himself by playing various musical instruments. When he dropped in at the Murray Hill bazaar last night to hear the band rehearse the director begged him to fill in the bass drummers place. The wealthy brewer accepted with great enthusiasm and started playing the "Evening Star" from Tannhauser. He died almost instantly from heart failure. Mr. Bernheimer was the head of the Bernheimer and Schwartz Pilsner Brewing Co.

Lights totaling 40,000 candlepower, four times more brilliant than formerly, are to be installed in the torch of the Goddess of Liberty statue in New York harbor.

Some of the Republican leaders in Kentucky suggest Senator Bailey as the most suitable running mate for Mr. Taft if the latter is renominated.

COMPLIMENTS FOR YOUR COFFEE

When lovers of coffee ask for a second and third cup it usually indicates that it is unusually good. And it is no slight compliment to any cook to have her guests or even members of the family ask for the second and third cup of coffee. But unless the coffee itself has extra cup quality not even the best skill of the most talented cook can produce that repeat effect. Reverse Coffee has the extra good cup quality that makes it easy for any one to have their coffee complimented by a request for a second and third cup. Every member of your family and all of your guests will appreciate Reverse quality. Try it and see.

Fighting the Bread Trust. The Journeymen Bakers Union in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are fighting the control of the bread business in New York City, by any one corporation or combination. Delegates from sixty-six locals of the bakers' union are organizing the Tri State Anti-Bread Trust Conference, which proposes to fight an alleged attempt to control the trade and drive hundreds of small independent makers out of business. The Department of Justice also has its eye on the proposed bread trust, according to Max Freund, representative of the International organization of the bakers' unions.

San Francisco's municipal election will be held in September and a hard fight is already under way to oust the labor control of the city government. Congressman George W. Morris, the noted "Isaurion" representative from the fifth Nebraska district, hopes to succeed Norris Brown as United States senator.

Placed under this head will bring satisfactory results. One cent the word for an insertion. Half Cent the word each following insertion.

Classified Advertising Divides The Times Readers into Different Groups

One group of readers will read all of the Situations Wanted Ads—because every person in that group is looking for work!
A second group of readers will read all of the Furnished Rooms to Let Ads—because every person in the group is looking for a furnished room.
A third group will read all of the Real Estate Ads—because every person in the group is a prospective buyer of real estate.
A fourth group will read all of the Business Opportunities Ads—because this group consists of people who Make their money work for them—and who are always looking for good jobs for dollars!
Thus every Classification draws to itself a group of readers influenced by self-interests—to everyone of whom that classification of ads means personal opportunity.
Your classified ad therefore has an audience awaiting it—an audience of alert people, anxious to consider your offer or your wants, and to do business with you if your proposition is plausible. The rates are only One Cent a Word for the first insertion and Half a Cent for each subsequent insertion.

CONNIE MACK IS BARGAIN HUNTER

His Great Infield Only Cost Him $10.85 in Railroad Fare.

Harry Neely says Connie Mack's in field cost him exactly $10.85. This is the way he tells the story: When C. McGlennady quits baseball he can open a clothing store, being so shrewd at making bargains. With his long face and black raiment he might even qualify as a successful horse trader.

The most wonderful performance in baseball from an economic standpoint was recruiting an infield that won the American League pennant and the championship of the whole world for $10.85. That's what the Athletics in their workmen cost.

Ed Collins was in New York, Frank Baker a hold-out at Reading, Pa. Barry was at Holy Cross, C. Mack sent railroad tickets. The pasteboards totaled $10.85. That's what the infield cost because Harry Davis already was on hand. Can you beat it?

Many of the wisest often go wrong on building up a ball club. John McGraw of the Giants was one who could not see Ed Collins until Mack put him on second base and made him one of the greatest ball players of the generation. Collins used to hang around the Polo grounds—being McGraw to give him a chance. McGraw was not inclined to do so and Collins was so persistent in his requests that McGraw came to look upon him as a nuisance.

Today McGraw would give at least $20,000 to Connie Mack for Collins' contract. There probably never will be another manager who can do as Mack has done in getting youngsters and then making them work after he has them. It's a well known saying among other managers in the American League, when Mack asks walvers: "Well, if Connie can't get anything out of this man I don't want him." Also, the same thing is said when Mack wishes to make a trade. The way his fellow managers look upon him was told Mack once. He replied: "I don't see why they think I am trying to get the best of them—I never handed them anything." All of this is true. Mack will tell you the defects of his players just as quickly as their merits.

FORCIBLE EVIDENCE WANT AD EFFICIENCY

One of the most forcible evidences of the value of advertising, and of the Times classified columns as a medium for bringing buyer and seller together was seen yesterday. Some time ago in fact more than a month ago, Mr. J. R. Lovelace inserted a fifteen word ad offering for sale a Burroughs adding machine. Now an adding machine is something that but few people have but little knowledge of, and fewer still have any use for. In fact, hardly a dozen firms of all the Times readers would entertain a proposition to buy such a machine, even if presented direct by a salesman and its merits thoroughly explained.

Yet The Times adlet found a prospective customer for the machine and ere this it is no doubt sold. The inquiry for the machine came from Mr. J. C. Zeigler, who said he noticed the ad some time ago and ever since had had it in his mind to investigate it. The moral is self evident. If The Times columns will sell adding machines it will sell any other article in the world; and no matter what you have to offer to find a quick buyer you should use The Times to help you.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Charlie (Duke) Farrell, the former Highlander, scout is scouting for the Washington team. The New York Americans have purchased Pitcher George Clark, of the Sioux City Western League team. Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, is still the best hitter, runner, and base-stealer in the major leagues.

"Germany" Schaefer is still on the job at first for Washington and playing the bag like a real first baseman. In Salee, Harmon and Steele the St. Louis Cardinals have three pitchers that look good enough to work in a world's championship series.

Veteran pitchers are fading away. The two greatest twirlers in the major leagues today are youngsters, Greig of Cleveland and Alexander of Philadelphia.

A large sign at the White Sox park in Chicago proclaims the fact that Gotch and Hackenschmidt will wrestle on the grounds on September 4.

Pitcher Harry McIntyre is the diamond king of the Cubs. When Harry dons his rocks he has the front of a moving picture theatre looking like a farmer's lantern.

President Taylor of the Boston Red Sox is trying to land Tex Jones, now with St. Joseph in the Western League. Jones had a trial with the Chicago White Sox this spring, but was sent back to the minors.

Minor leagues in Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas have been up against it this season. The Kansas State, the Missouri State and the Arkansas State Leagues, and the Western Association have closed up shop and gone home.

BIG INCREASE IN TEXAS' WEALTH

Figures Compiled by Chief Clerk White Indicate $100,000,000 Gain.

Austin, Texas, July 26.—The increase in the wealth of Texas for 1911 bids fair to reach the enormous sum of $100,000,000 against an increase of $78,000,000 for 1910. Chief Clerk White of the comptroller's department has just completed the compilation of the estimates from the 249 counties in the state and it is found that the total estimates as furnished by tax assessors aggregate $2,485,967,799, as against $2,358,960,124 actual valuations for 1910, making the increase $126,967,675.

Chief Clerk White believes that when the actual valuations have been received it will be found that this $126,967,675 will have increased to $190,000,000. If the tax rate is increased to 12 cents this valuation of nearly two and one-half billion dollars will produce $3,000,000 annually in state ad valorem taxes, which will be more than sufficient to pay the government when the other sources of revenue are counted.

IMPORTANT RULING IN CARPENTER'S UNION

Newark, N. J., July 26.—Right to interfere with members of a local labor union by declaring them non-union is denied to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America in a decision handed down here by Vice-Chancellor Howell. His injunction restrains the brotherhood or any of its representatives from referring to the members of local union No. 177 as "suspended carpenters" in the local union publication. The local organization was suspended last October for failing to compel some of its members to pay fines for an alleged infraction of the rules.

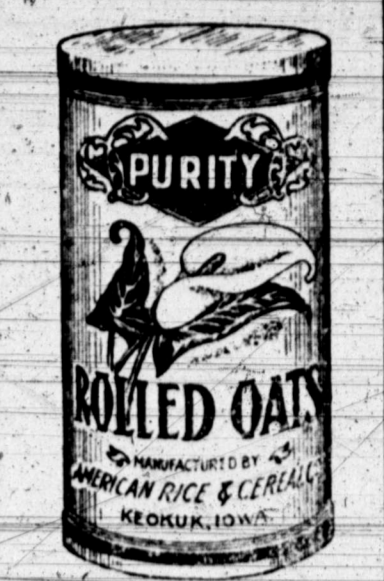

WIDOW OF 5 VETERANS WANTS A PENSION

Georgia Woman Files Claim for Five Pensions—Two of her Husbands Killed in Battle.

By Associated Press. Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—Claiming that she is the widow of five husbands, all of whom fought in the civil war, a woman of Walton County, Ga. has filed a petition for five pensions of sixty dollars. The applicant stated that she was a Miss Malcolm before marriage and that her first husband was named Partridge. She declared that her first husband was killed during the first year of the war while her second soldier husband met a like fate towards the close of the conflict. She further asserted that the three men she married since the war were veterans of the Confederacy.

TWO MEN WHO HAVE WORKED UNTIREING FOR THE LAKESHORE ASSEMBLY.

Rev. L. S. Barton

Rev. J. E. Roach

THE KIND OF MEN

THE GIRLS LOVE

It's Not the Butterfly Kind, a New York Woman Asserts, but the Trustworthy, Hard-Working, Courteous Young Man.

Young men most promising of development in mental, moral and material qualities contributing to life's success are not those in highest favor with mothers and daughters.

The young fellow of chronic, gayety is generally preferred to another who mingles gravity with occasional effervescence. The latter finds it as difficult gracefully to pay an undeserved compliment as to pay the national debt, and his abstinence from such exercise is construed into absence of appreciation of the girl's self-estimated excellence, instead of his presence on a higher plane of nice discernment.

If a young man is suspected of being reasonably prudent in monetary expenditure, he is utterly condemned. Many young women do not consider any outlay in their behalf as an extravagance, but merely a deserved tribute to their charms.

A masculine writer—let us hope it is only another case of hot weather grouch—has just come to the cynical conclusion quoted. Yesterday I showed his remarks to Mrs. John Francis Yawger, one of the best known of New York club women and the mother of a happily married daughter. Mrs. Yawger's own marriage is ideal. So I thought she should be an authority on the sort of man really preferred by the modern mother and daughter.

"I should sum up as follows, the leading characteristics of the young man most popular with the women of the present," Mrs. Yawger said:

- "First—Trustworthiness.
- "Second—A spirit of tolerance.
- "Third—Economic independence.
- "Fourth—A sense of humor.
- "Fifth—Savoir faire.
- "Sixth—The absence of an exaggerated ego.

"Whoever that man is, he talks perfect nonsense when he says it is the butterfly man who pleases the modern girl. Why, she laughs at him. She never thinks of taking him or his proposals seriously. She doesn't generally even bother to despise him, any more than she'd waste her time and energy despising a real butterfly—or a drone in the hive.

"A man may joke as much as he pleases, but when he promises to do a thing he must keep his word though the heavens fall. He may be the best playfellow in the world, but he must not play all the time, and when he works he should show energy, initiative and conscientiousness.

"Then, every girl likes a young man who is 'easy to get along with.' He need not agree with her in everything; in fact, she probably would find life less interesting if he did.

"As for the value of a sense of humor in determining a man's popularity, I need hardly expatiate on the value of that characteristic. Humor is the lubricant of life, that makes all the wheels go smoothly.

"The modern woman expects from her favored suitor a certain knowledge of the conventions an impervious natural courtesy. Contrary to the worthy gentleman to whom I am replying, I do not believe that women care for empty compliments. But they like to have a man say the small, gracious things that are true as well as polite and why shouldn't they? It is a deserved tribute to their womanly charm and dignity.

"As for my last requisite, the absence of an exaggerated ego, I am thinking of a certain type of young man whom I fancy our friend of the pungent paragraph may resemble. He is one vast, walking mountain of conceit. He is serious—yes, unthinkably, grotesquely serious. Why, he even takes himself seriously! He is all ego, and he cannot see over the rim. Of course, he is hurt and puzzled if every girl does not fall down and worship him. Equally of course, it would be a crime if she did."

Russell Blackburn who has been out of the game with an injured knee, will return to the White Sox while the team is in the East.

Count Herman Von Ludwig, of Germany, who is making his living as a street car motorman in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Petersdorf Castle at Holstein, where he would now be living in luxury, were it not for "an unfortunate affair of honor" in his youth. His brother, Fritz is the Lord of Petersdorf, and he is distantly related on his mother's side, to the Kaiser himself. Count Von Ludwig is a graduate of a military school in Plom, a former officer of the Westphalian Hussars, son of Sount Henry Von Ludwig and will be the heir to a large fortune upon the death of the elder count.

"I would rather live in this free country and work hard," he says, "than live in imperial Germany as a landed proprietor and at my ease." The identity of the Brooklyn motorman has just recently been disclosed. The thousands of passengers carried daily on his car never dreamt that it was being piloted by a real German count.

A VERY BAD YOUNG MAN.

A Judge Told a Boy He Was Too Tough to Remain in the Tombs.

New York Evening Sun. "You are too tough to remain in the Tombs," declared Judge Mulqueen when a 17-year-old prisoner was arraigned before him in part three of the court of general sessions. "Your fellow prisoners across the bridge of signs object to your society, and for that reason your case will have to be disposed of at once."

The defendant was Peter Reede, who has been out of a reformatory in Providence, R. I. for only six months, having been sent to the reformatory at the age of 14. Reede said he had no home, but stayed over night occasionally at 420 West Thirty-first street, when he had the price of a bed. The boy stated to the court that he had a dim recollection of his parents, but he had lost all trace of them since early childhood.

On June 14 Reede grabbed an imitation silver meshbag valued at $19 and containing three pennies and a few letters, from Rose McCarren of 318 Ninth avenue, at the corner of Thirtieth street and Eighth avenue. He was quickly apprehended and charged with highway robbery. Reede pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

When arraigned before Judge Mulqueen today Reede was informed that he would have to sojourn in Elmira for the next thirteen months. Whereupon he inquired what kind of a domicile he might expect in the reformatory. Judge Mulqueen replied he would find a good library, a swimming pool, a trade school—and some very dark cells if he was objectionable to the prisoners there as he had been to those in the Tombs.

Some Popular Misconceptions of the Applications of Law

Ignorance of the law is not accepted by the courts as an excuse for its violation, and yet there are many mistakes in regard to provisions of the statutes that have been so consistently made that in the course of time they have acquired what may be termed legal force. Many people have formed an erroneous conception of just what the law is in certain cases, from the propositions of old mistakes that have become so general that one can hardly be blamed for being taken in.

Ever hear that it is a felony to hit a man wearing glasses and that you might be confined in the state penitentiary for ever so many years if you allowed your temper to get the better of you and assaulted a party who had need of the corrective lenses in order to bring his vision to normal? This is one of the most common of mistakes made in regard to the law, but according to prominent San Antonio attorneys, is without foundation. It was stated that there is no statute bearing directly on this point and the law does not recognize any difference between the man with eyeglasses and one whose vision is unimpaired. There is an old story that once went the rounds of the near-sighted man who abused another and then warned him that it was a penitentiary offense to strike him as he wore glasses.

"All right I will remedy that," said the pestered one, as he snatched off the "specs" of his tormentor and proceeded to give him a sound thrashing.

According to those wise in the law the act of first removing the glasses was unnecessary, but was a good protective measure, in so far that if the lenses had become broken in the scrimmage and particles had entered the eye of the owner, it might have aggravated the offense. It is thought that some case growing out of just such a circumstance might have caused the first mistake in regard to the bespectacled man's immunity from assault and battery.

Another mistake growing out of one's infirmities is that a one-armed or one-legged man has the right to carry arms. Persons with one arm have been known to plead this in extenuation after arrest for carrying pistols and to have displayed great indignation when it was found that they had been misinformed and had no greater right to become a walking arsenal than those more fortunate. Attorneys point to the fact that a pistol is as dangerous in the hands of a man with one hand as two. It was explained that the law against such practices is to protect the party against whom the weapon might be used, and it is thought a cripple recognizing his inability to cope with another in an encounter, might be more tempted to go to extremes than the normal man. It is thought that this mistake arose from the sympathy that ordinarily goes out to a cripple and the general impression that he should be given some privilege to overcome his handicap. The tendency of juries to favor cripples in matters of this kind is thought to also have had something to do with the conception of the error.

Why does a peace officer bear arms? The general impression as to the purpose of the shooting of fleeing criminals and "winging" persons who do not surrender when called upon to do so.

This is stated to be another mistake that has cost some good peace officers dearly. According to good legal advice it is not lawful for an officer to shoot down a suspected criminal simply because he runs when told to stand. The sheriffs, constables, police and deputies are permitted to bear arms for their own protection only, and they should only be used as another person would use them in self-defense. It is considered that peace officers, in that they come directly in contact with the lawless element, are more likely to be in greater danger of their life than others. The law proposes that they be able to protect themselves at all times.

Officers who shoot when a person runs from them, do so generally to frighten and seldom intend more than to "wing." Even a slight wounding of the fugitive makes the officer liable to punishment, but juries and courts are known to be lenient in such cases, because it is recognized that there are times when accidents of that nature are unavoidable.

However, the case of convicted felons at the state penitentiary and on the convict farms is entirely different. Should one of them make an attempt to escape, he can be shot down with impunity. It is explained that he is already a convicted felon and beyond the presumption of innocence, while the fugitive who has not been arrested, no matter how strong the presumption of guilt, is still in the eyes of the law, an innocent man.

In regard to signatures made with a lead pencil. Many persons refuse to sign any document with a pencil or to accept any so signed under the impression that it is not a legal signature. Attorneys agree that this also is an error. There are a few banks in the country who will not accept checks made out with a pencil, but this is caused by the ease with which such papers can be altered and falsified by the use of an eraser.

There is no statute that provides what kind of writing material shall be used for any purpose with the exception of the preparation of ballots and the lead pencil is given the preference here. That instrument is named in the statute and so is the provision that it shall be black. The United States government requires that certain papers filed with the departments shall be made out in ink and the use of the indelible pencil is allowed in several cases, but there is no statute which provides that signatures attached in pencil to promissory notes, checks, mortgages and other legal documents are not legally proper and binding.

The law of contract is a bulky subject and so wonder there are many mistakes made in regard thereto. One of the most common is in regard to verbal contracts. Persons have been heard to remark that no verbal contract is worth a cent. Others claim that it is worthless unless witnessed, while to many the very word "contract" means a written instrument.

The real fact of the case is that the law provides that some contracts must be in writing, such as the sale of real estate and many others. This class is worthless unless in writing and as provided for by the statute.

There is a far greater class, however, that may either be reduced to writing or not, and the law in their case knows no distinction between the written and verbal. The essence of a contract is that the parties agree upon the subject matter, that there be a "meeting of minds" and when it is agreed to do or not to do a certain thing the contract is completed.

Except in cases where it is especially provided that the agreement be placed in writing, the contract is as binding as if sworn to before a notary. Of course, there may later result a disagreement between the parties as to what the terms of the contract were. This is where the usefulness of the written instrument comes in. All that is then necessary is to produce the instrument and the question is settled.

Cotton Acreage, 1910.

Uncle Sam has just announced the acreage of cotton harvested from the 1910 crop which shows a total of 32,403,000 acres in the United States and of this acreage Texas has 10,000,000. The yield was 11,965,962 bales in the United States and 3,072,932 bales in Texas.

A Congress for the Races.

London, July 26.—Fifty nations, including the United States, are represented at the First Universal Races Congress, which was opened today at the University of London. The congress will discuss a wide range of topics with a view to bringing about a closer and more harmonious relations between the Occident and the Orient. Questions of a purely political character will not be considered. The sessions will last four days. Papers or addresses have been prepared for the congress by Dr. Felix Adler, Israel Zangwill, W. E. Du Bois of Atlanta University, General Legitime, ex-President of Hayti.

Convention of Negro Teachers.

St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—The eighth annual convention of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools met in this city today for a four days' session. The membership of the association embraces the leading educators of the negro race in all sections of the country. Among those actively interested in the association and its work are Dr. Booker T. Washington, president of Tuskegee; W. T. B. Williams, agent of the Slater fund; J. A. Martin, principal of the city schools of Jackson, Miss.; Truman E. Page, president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Langston, Okla.; Ida C. Plummer, of Washington, D. C.; I. M. Terrell, supervisor of schools of Fort Worth; and M. W. Dugan, president of Wiley University, Marshall, Texas.

Thompson and Lewis Ready for Bout. New York, July 26.—Metropolitan fight fans are looking forward to seeing one of the best bouts of the hot weather season tomorrow night when "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson and Willie Lewis clash for ten rounds at the National Sporting Club. The two fighters have been training faithfully since the articles were signed and both appear to be in the pink of condition for the battle.

AMERICAN ACCENT CURED.

New Profession in London—Colonial Voices Also Made Over—(Special London correspondence to the New York Times.)

Despite the ridicule they invite at home, it is undoubtedly the case that there are thousands of Americans who would gladly acquire what is known as the "English accent." These persons will be glad to learn that there are now plenty of specialists in London who are ready to supply the desired article for a consideration.

One of them has been talking to a reporter of the Daily Mirror. According to that paper "American and colonial visitors to London for the coronation are finding, to their chagrin, that their popularity in some quarters is diminished by the use of forms of speech and methods of accentuation which are commonplace in New York, Gloucester and Ballarat. They are, of course, not the less hospitably welcomed as guests because they have learned to speak an English of their own, though London people are disposed to regard lapses from the metropolitan standard of speech with some disfavour."

Teachers of voice production and vocal deportment, it is added, are very busy just now "teaching Americans and colonial English." The instruction is always private, and fees are graduated according to the requirements of the client, or perhaps according to another standard.

The informant of the Mirror asserts that it is almost impossible "to cure the American nasal twang completely after it has become thoroughly habitual." He (or she) adds:

"That curious rising inflection to nearly every word which is characteristic of Americans from the Northern States, and is of Indian origin, can be rapidly modified. But the greatest part of my task with American women is to teach them to speak more softly. Their high pitched voices are not always welcomed in European drawing rooms, and I find the best method is to keep them whispering for ten minutes together."

Verbal tricks of speech and downright errors of pronunciation can be cured if the patient is industrious and determined. Middle-aged men, however, are the worst pupils, and are apt to give up in despair. You know Kipling's story of the American who learned to speak English almost perfectly, being desirous to conceal his American origin, but always revealed his nationality in one place by asking a waiter to bring him "Worcestershire sauce" instead of "Worcester sauce."

"Americans will say 'St. Paul's' emphasizing the 'Saint' too much, and it sounds just as queer in a drawing room as though a lady from Manchester persisted in saying 'Ah'm vexed' in the style of 'Ox'dham'."

"South Africans have a number of tricks of speech which instantly betray them to any one who has traveled much. Men say: 'Come year' for 'Come here.' Women and men, too, are apt to begin sentences with: 'Man, I tell you.' Women are addicted to the use of the word 'Huzer,' opening their eyes very wide as an accompaniment.

"The Australian drawl and extravagant use of phrases like 'You know, mind you' and 'You see, betray our cousins from the Antipodes.' Many English people who ought to know better think that all Americans talk like the more ostentatious type of tourist from 'Chicawag.' As a matter of fact, there are a host of varieties of accent between Panama and Hindson's Bay, not to speak of South America."

"One of the most irritating accents of all is the Canadian which is the nearest thing there is to utter negation of accent. There are types of Canadians who talk very fast and very insistently on one monotonous note, which to a sensitive ear is simply maddening."

The record of civilization is accurately written in the progress of the steam engine. The use of steam has enlarged the purposes of the human race, built up civilization and developed mankind. Of all the potential energies it is the most useful and renders a service to every living creature.

Since completing the original contract it has been decided to pave Sixth street from Ohio to Indiana along the car line and it is possible that Tenth street will likewise be paved from Ohio to Indiana as was originally contemplated in the contract with the paving company. Mr. Tracey expects the machinery to arrive within the next few days when work will begin as indicated above.

Card of Gratitude.

We adopt this method of conveying to our friends and neighbors our undying gratitude for the gentle kindnesses extended us during the last illness and following the death of our beloved wife and mother. The consciousness that we possess the sympathy of those who so nobly responded in our dark hour of need is a hold, a stay, a comfort, in this, our deepest affliction, which no wealth could purchase or power bestow. In the strong chests of our memories, among our heart treasures, side by side with the sweet thoughts of our dead, must ever remain the jeweled recollections of the tender words and deeds of those friends who ministered unto us in the black night of our despair.
