T. P. SHOPMEN MAY BECOME INVOLVED

EXPECT TO HEAR ANSWER TODAY TO DEMAND THAT FEDERATION BE RECOGNIZED.

RUMOR FROM CHILDRESS

President Fay of Sunset Central Lines Gives Statement As to Cause of Strike.

By Associated Press. Texarkana, Texas, Oct. 12.—It is understood that the Federated Shopmen expect to receive word at Big Sandy, Texas, today from General Superintendent Everman as to whether their demands for the recognition of their organization by the T. & P. will be recognized.

Will the Denver Be Affected.

Special to The Times Childress, Texas, Oct. 12.—Unpleasantness is felt here over the possibility of the shopmen here becoming involved in trouble with the railroad company, over the same questions that are at issue between the Harriman lines and their employees. The recent heavy purchases of rolling stock by the railroad company it is rumored, were partly for the purpose of being prepared for such an emergency.

Fay's Statement of Cause of Strike

Houston, Texas, Oct. 12.—In response to requests from the press for a concise statement of the causes leading up to the present strike of the shop employees on the Sunset-Central lines in Texas and Louisiana, President Thornwell Fay made the following statement:

"The management of the Sunset-Central lines has not hesitated in the past to make contracts with labor unions but on the contrary, where the unions have shown proper management and a due regard for compliance with agreements, has recognized certain advantages which accrue in dealing with organized labor.

"In pursuance of this policy separate agreements have been made in the past with shop organizations of machinists, boiler-makers, blacksmiths and carmen. Concessions have frequently been made to these organizations and since Jan. 1, 1906, increases in pay aggregating in some cases as much as 33 per cent, and averaging in all classes about 20 per cent, as well as improved working conditions, have been put on, so that these lines at the time of the strike were paying as high wages as any line in Texas and a good deal higher wages than paid by many of the lines in Texas and Louisiana.

"Last June the different organizations of shopmen on what is known as the Harriman lines, had a conference in Salt Lake City, where they decided to form a federation, after which they presented what are probably the most unheard of and most unusual demands ever made on a railroad or an employer. In the matter of wages alone their demands, if complied with, would have amounted to an increase of from 15 per cent to 70 per cent, in addition to the increases already granted since 1906 as mentioned above.

"Among some of their absurd demands was one that all present or future employees not members of their unions must join same within thirty days or that the company must discharge them.

"Another was that the company must agree that the control and final settlement of differences with their employees should rest with a federal committee made up of representatives of all five crafts. The effect of this demand would be to place the whole body of workers in all the crafts behind a demand made by any one of them, no matter how unreasonable.

"They demanded that in case of a foremanship vacancy, in the shops the oldest man in the shop, regardless of qualification, should be given the position.

"They demanded if forces were reduced, employees should say who would be laid off.

"Further demand was that no employees belonging to the federation could be discharged or suspended

FACTS ABOUT BOND ELECTION TOMORROW

The importance of the election to be held tomorrow, Friday, October 13th, in Precinct No. 1, should invite the attention of every citizen and a manifested interest be shown to keep Wichita Falls and its contiguous territory in line with the progressiveness of the present.

Certain facts concerning the election should be here noted, namely: First, qualified voters constitute all citizens who have paid taxes upon real or personal property already rendered or who have assumed liability for taxation and who are residents in Precinct No. 1.

Election Box, voters heretofore voting at the car barns will hereafter vote at the west side of the court house, probably in the district clerk's office. The box formerly at the car barn having been officially moved to the court house.

Where the regularly appointed presiding judge is not present to open the polls, the voters present shall proceed to the election of a presiding and associate judge, who shall appoint the clerks.

In order that the election shall be legally held it will be necessary that a record of such election be made and filed with the county judge.

No civil officer can hold an election office and this fact should be carefully noted.

Important! All election officers regularly appointed at the February term are requested to promptly open the several polling places as heretofore designated.

Polls are open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

without the previous consent of the employee's committee.

"Several other equally absurd demands were made.

"In order that the public may understand in a few words the meaning of the demands of the men, I would state that the practical effect of same was that employees should absolutely dictate whom the railroad company should employ, and should also absolutely dictate whom they should discharge. Whenever an employer consents that his employees shall tell him whom he must hire and also shall have the right to say whose services he can dispense with, the control of the employer over his business ceases. No employer could ever consent to such an impossible condition.

"The public of Texas is vitally concerned that these demands have been rejected, because if they had been agreed to, in case some employe of a railroad in Oregon, in Utah, in Kansas, in Nebraska, in California, or in other distant states should have gotten into a controversy which would have resulted in a strike, a similar strike would have been called on the lines in Texas in spite of the fact that the relations between the company and the men in Texas might at the time be entirely harmonious. It is quite apparent that the public of Texas and Louisiana would not for a moment consent to have railroad transportation in other states interfered with or attempted to be interfered with because some railroad in the states named above might have a controversy with some of its men. The present strike is absolute proof of the statement made above because it was brought about through the influence of men from distant states, and I do not believe if the men in Texas and Louisiana had been left alone to work would have occurred."

SHERIFF CLOSED QUESTIONABLE SHOWS

Some of the side shows with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus including one in which a hootsie koozie performance had been started, were closed last night through the efforts of Sheriff Randolph and Mayor Noble.

As soon as Sheriff Randolph learned that performances of a questionable character were being given he went to the management of the show and demanded that they be closed immediately. This was done promptly, Mr. Randolph states.

IMPERIAL NAVY AND TWO DIVISIONS OF ARMY SENT TO MEET REBELS IN WU-CHANG

AMERICANS SAFE SO FAR

American Gunboat, Japanese Cruiser and British Warships Expected at Hankow.

By Associated Press. Peking, Oct. 12.—Between five and six thousand Chinese troops in the native section of Hankow are reported to have mutinied this morning and to have killed between two and three hundred Manchus. The rebels occupied Sua Tung Fu yesterday.

The American gunboat, Helena, and the Japanese cruiser, Tushima, are expected at Hankow today. Several British warships have been ordered to proceed thither.

Women and children living on the water front aboard the merchant steamers in the harbor last night.

According to Chinese rumors Kang Yu Wei who was advisor to the late Emperor until 1898, when the gowager empress regained the regency and drove the emperor's advisor into exile, has arrived at Hankow.

The missionaries at Wu Chang, including twenty-five Americans, are safe.

A dispatch from Cheng Tu says the insurgents in Sze Chuen province hold all the country west of the Min river and between Kia Ting. Five hundred regular troops joined the rebels in that section today. Fighting occurs daily.

An imperial edict early today ordered the minister of war to proceed to Hankow with two divisions of Pekin troops, about 20,000 of whom probably will be Manchus. The admiral of the Chinese navy is commanded to assemble the fleet in the Yang Tse Kiang river and join the land forces in an attack on the rebels now in possession of Wu Chang, Hankow and Han Yang.

It is expected the revolutionists will dynamite the bridges of the Peking and Hankow railroad to prevent the early arrival of the imperial troops.

TO THE PEOPLE OF WICHITA FALLS

There is considerable discussion among our people regarding the gambling and other hold-ups committed yesterday by the show people on the crowd with them on or near the show grounds.

The city officers were powerless to do a thing because the whole show was outside the city limits and the jurisdiction of the city officers. I did, however, make them return one man's money, but we as city officers could not have any of them put under arrest.

The conditions at the show ground were disgraceful and while we can always find fault with the other fellow, at the same time the conditions that existed yesterday were so bad that any officer with jurisdiction who failed or refused to act ought to be removed from office—and some of our officers did this very thing.

All I want the people to do is to make their own investigation and be convinced. T. B. NOBLE.

An Efficiency Conference

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 12.—With a view to determining the real value of the much-discussed system of scientific management as applied to manufacturing and commercial enterprises a three-days' conference of efficiency experts and business men was begun here today under the auspices of the Amos Tuck School of Administration and Finance of Dartmouth College. The program includes an array of speakers ranging from Frederick W. Taylor of Philadelphia, who is known as the father of scientific management, to the younger efficiency engineers who are installing the system in the industrial plants of the country.

S. Walkup, constable at Electra, was in the city yesterday on official business.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ANNUAL BANQUET

Willy Wyatt, Host to Merchants at the Westland Tonight.

The meeting and banquet of the Retail Merchant's Association tonight promises to be one of the most interesting events of the kind in the history of the local organization.

The members are to meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where an informal business meeting will be held. From there the members will go to the Westland Hotel, where the banquet will be served. The banquet is given complimentary to the association by Mr. Willy Wyatt, and it is urged that all who have sent in their acceptance be present.

After the menu a program of toasts will be given, at which President J. L. Lea, Jr., will preside as toastmaster. The program is as follows: Toastmaster—J. L. Lea, Jr. Invocation—Rev. O. T. Cooper.

"The Association and the Community"—A. H. Britain.

"Relationship of Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants' Association"—Hon. Robt. E. Huff.

"The Optimistic Outlook"—F. Happy Day.

"The Merchant and His Customers"—J. M. Blankenship.

Others will be called on by the toastmaster to make short talks limited to five minutes.

The menu prepared for the affair is as follows:

- Fruit Punch
- Canape of Caviar, a la Nordaise
- Celery Hearts, Queen Olives Pickles
- Consomme Royal
- Individual Planked Tenderloin (en Bordeaux)
- Parker House Rolls
- Stuffed Mago Vert
- New Yellow Yams
- Chicken Salad aux Mayonnaise
- Cheese and Toasted Crakers
- Neapolitan Ice Cream
- Cafe Noir
- Cigars

FOND DU LAC RETRACTS ITS HASTY MESSAGE

Will Be Glad to Receive President Taft For Any Time He Can Give Them.

By Associated Press. Salem, Oregon, Oct. 12.—A most interesting incident in connection with the President's present trip was settled today. It was the so-called Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin incident. Originally the railroad schedule of Taft's train allowed Fond Du Lac two and a half hours of the President's time while Appleton, another Wisconsin town, got but ten minutes. Hillis, the President's secretary, wired Fond Du Lac that the allotment of two and a half hours to that town was an error in the railroad schedule, and that it would be necessary to revise the program so as to give Appleton one hour and ten minutes.

Oshkosh, another nearby town, also was to receive a visit from the President but the original train schedule as to Oshkosh was correct. Hillis notified the Fond Du Lac committee of these facts after that committee had wired him that they simply must have two and a half hours in order to carry out the entertainment program they had arranged for Taft. Upon receipt of Hillis' message, a reply was sent signed by Mayor Wolf and the chairman of the Fond Du Lac entertainment committee reading as follows: "As all arrangements have been made to cover the President's visit to Fond Du Lac, for two and a half hours, as per original program, disappointing, all arrangements have been abandoned. Give all your time to Oshkosh and Appleton." A further exchange of telegram brought word today from Fond Du Lac, that their telegram had been hasty and that they would be glad to entertain the President for whatever time he could remain.

JURORS' ATTITUDE ON TRADES UNIONS

DEFENSE IN McNAMARA TRIAL INSIST THAT THIS BE LEARNED BEFORE ACCEPTANCE.

COLUMBUS DAY HOLIDAY

No Session of Court Today in Los Angeles Trial—Many Clashes Forecast.

Los Angeles, Oct. 12.—Owing to today being the Columbus Day there was no session of the McNamara trial. From yesterday's questioning of the prospective jurors it appears there will be many clashes between the lawyers for defense and prosecution over questions about the jurymen's attitude on trades unionism. The defense announces they will try to determine the attitude of every juror to trades unionism.

In the county jail today, besides the McNamara brothers were the twelve jurors who were temporarily drafted yesterday for preliminary examination. Notwithstanding the official holiday the offices of the attorneys for both sides presented a busy scene today and it was apparent that neither side has yet completed preparations for the actual taking of testimony.

McManigal's Biography

Los Angeles, Cal.—Ortle E. McManigal, who, in a confession declared that he was the confederate of John and James McNamara in a conspiracy which involved murder and destruction all over the country, lived an uneventful life, as he himself described it, up to the time he was arrested in Detroit with James B. McNamara last April, and brought to this city to be the principal witness against the brothers at their trial on the charge of having murdered nineteen of the men killed in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building October 1, 1910.

He was born at Bloomville, Ohio, April 1, 1874. His mother died when he was four years old, and her parents who lived at the same place, took him and his sister and cared for them until he was six or seven years of age. Then his father remarried, and took the children back to his home, where they remained until Ortle was about 12-years old. A separation then occurred between father and stepmother, and the children were sent to live with the father's parents in Hutcheson, Okla., where they lived for a year or two.

When McManigal was about 15 years old his father ventured for a third time into matrimony, and took his children with him to a farm near Forest, Ohio. Shortly afterward they removed to Tiffin, Ohio, where McManigal, senior, is still living.

But Mrs. McManigal, the third, objected to her husband's children, Ortle said, and once again he and his sister were sent to the home of their mother's parents in Bloomville. There McManigal stayed until he was 19, when he returned to Tiffin to work with his father in the ice business and in stone quarries.

When war was declared against Spain in 1898, McManigal enlisted, but did not get out of the training camps. He was made orderly to an officer, a position he said he liked very much. Upon being mustered out of the military service he went to Milwaukee, where his uncle, George Behm, who figured recently in contempt proceedings here for refusing to answer questions propounded in the grand jury room, wanted him to become a railroad worker.

He started to enter railroad employment, but later went to a quarry in Milwaukee and afterward worked at a foundry there. Then he removed to Melrose, Park, a suburb of Chicago, and worked for a copper concern.

McManigal fell in love with his wife while she was visiting his relatives in Milwaukee, and married her May 8, 1901. After his marriage he became an iron worker, and joined Local Union No. 8 in Milwaukee, in 1903.

He worked at his trade in Louisville, Milwaukee, Chicago and other cities, then left the ranks of the iron workers to join his father and half-brother in the saloon business in Tiffin. But he had trouble there with his half-brother and sold out his liquor interest.

That was in 1906, and he remained in Tiffin, working in the iron trade,

MEN AND RELIGION MOVEMENT MEETING

Scope and Plan of Movement Will Be Explained at Meeting Tomorrow Night.

The men and religion movement, a nation wide campaign to stir up the Christian people to a sense of their duty and to carry the gospel to every man, woman and child in America, will be explained at a meeting at the First Baptist Church tomorrow night which will be addressed by Frank Jensen and Sam Bryant, of Fort Worth.

Mr. Jensen is assistant general passenger agent for the Rock Island and Mr. Bryant is secretary of the Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. These gentlemen will explain the scope and plan of the movement and it is expected that an organization will be perfected to carry on the work here.

The movement is undenominational and has enlisted the support of the leaders in business, religious and social life throughout the country. The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

until his self-alleged connection with the McNamara's.

Of a reckless nature, McManigal earned the sobriquet "dare-devil," by feats of agility on the towering skeletons of skyscrapers. In Chicago, while working on the tallest buildings, he would lean off the top story to catch a beam being swung upward by the derrick.

When he was a small boy, McManigal fell off a wagon, and a wheel passing over him, severely injured his head, he said.

McManigal appears to regard his coming-ordeal as chief witness in the McNamara-trial with as little unconcern as he does the accidents of his childhood and his exploits on the tops of high buildings.

He recently determined to break with his wife, because he said she was too active on behalf of the McNamara's. His only regret in this connection grows out of the fact that he believes a break with her means separation from his children, Evelyn, eight years old, and Walter, aged six, who were out here with their mother last July and August, but who were not permitted to see their father.

POSTMASTERS REMOVAL FIGURED IN ELECTION

Democrat Assemblyman Voted for Lorimer to Bring Punishment Upon an Editor.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., Oct. 12.—Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman, again appeared before the Lorimer committee today. It was a secret session which heard him before the regular Lorimer inquiry was opened.

Henry Shephard, one of the Democratic assemblymen who voted for Lorimer, was the first witness and testified that Lee O'Neill Browne first asked him to vote for Lorimer and that he (Shephard) replied: "I told Browne: I would do so if a certain editor in my town could be refused further appointment as postmaster. I then went to Lorimer and told him that this editor postmaster who had been attacking me and my family for nine or ten years and Mr. Lorimer said the matter of the postmastership could be arranged, and I agreed to vote for Lorimer."

CIVIL STRIKE IMMINENT IN CONSTANTINOPLE

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 12.—A dispatch from Constantinople today says the situation in the Turkish capital is grave. It is feared that when parliament meets Saturday an open conflict will occur between the committee of union and progress and the reactionary party. The masses are greatly excited against the Young Turk committee.

TALKS OF WOMEN'S VOTE

Four Doves, Deaf-Mute and Crying Baby Figure Prominently in Speeches of President.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 12.—On one of the busiest days of his trip, President Taft crossed the Columbia River into Oregon and arrived in Portland last night. He spent the day in traveling south from Tacoma. The only long stop was made at Olympia, where Mr. Taft was the guest at luncheon of Governor Hay of Washington.

Last night the President sat down to dinner with the Portland Commercial Club and later delivered an address in the Armory. After his address, President Taft was driven to the new building of the Columbus Club, where he made a short talk to the Knights of Columbus, referring especially to Columbus Day today, which largely through the efforts of the organization was made a legal holiday at the session of the Legislature in January of this year.

His reception here and throughout Southwestern Washington was good.

Senator Bourne Absent. Senator Bourne, one of the leaders of the "Insurgent" forces in the Senate, who, two years ago, entertained Mr. Taft while in Portland, was not present last night, but other Oregonians of prominence, including Senator Chamberlain and Governor West, welcomed President Taft to Oregon. Senator Bourne is in Washington.

The President spoke on all sorts of subjects yesterday from the tariff votes to woman suffrage and peace and arbitration. At Spokane, Wash., Congressman Warburton, an "Insurgent," made the introductory speech. "I wish to introduce your President," he said. "He has served two years and I hope he will serve eight years."

Talks on Woman Suffrage. At Castle Rock and at Woodland, the President ventured into a short discussion of woman suffrage. He said the East was looking to Washington, the largest Commonwealth in the world that had woman suffrage, to prove its wisdom or its folly.

"If all women vote," he said at Woodland, "suffrage will be a success. If they don't it won't be, but I hope they will all vote."

At Kalama the President had been asked to speak on peace, and as he was slightly from the train, four doves were loosened by a member of the reception committee. They circled high above his head for several minutes, while he was speaking.

Socialist in Red. The President had a little opposition at Castle Rock. A man dressed in red, who circled copies of a Socialist newspaper with a glaring front page editorial directed against the President ran as a counter attraction and even tried his hand at speaking against the President, but did not make much headway.

Panama Canal Benefits. Just before crossing the Columbia River at Vancouver, the President said farewell to Washington. He spoke to several thousand people, with a crying baby near the stand playing opposition.

A note near by acted as an interpreter to a number of fellow deaf-mutes and kept his fingers flying while the President delivered his message of thanks to Washington and explained what the Panama Canal would mean to the United States.

Waiting For Blackhand

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 12.—Sheriff Tobin is lying in wait for the blackhand to cash a check for three hundred dollars on the First National Bank. This check was placed at a point designated in a blacked letter to Louis Kaufman, a prominent dry goods merchant here demanding one thousand dollars. The sheriff placed this check at the place designated as a ruse making it payable to cash, and putting it in the brush two miles north of the city. The check has disappeared from its hiding place,

SOME HEROIC ACTS OF "CENTRAL" GIRLS

OPERATOR WHO GAVE WARNING OF FLOOD AT AUSTIN REPRESENTATIVE OF MANY.

RISK LIVES FOR OTHERS

In Many Instances Telephone Girls
By Their Heroism Have Saved
Hundreds of Lives.

The act of heroism by which Miss Pauline Lyons, the 19-year-old telephone operator at Austin, Pennsylvania, saved hundreds of lives, is said by Manager J. V. Hucker of the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company, to represent the spirit of the service to which so many women devote their lives. Notified of the breaking of the dam above the town, Miss Lyons utilized the few minutes intervening before the terrible onrush of water, to warn all she could.

First reports of the catastrophe indicated that perhaps a thousand people had met death. That the number of victims was not as great as was originally indicated, was due to the messages sent flashing over the wires by the brave little telephone girl. She remained at her post until the apparatus refused to work. In some miraculous way her life was spared.

Her Action Not Unusual. Numbers of similar evidences of devotion to duty in the very face of death are recorded in the history of the telephone. The instances in which life and property have been saved by operators at no risk to themselves are, however, almost innumerable. In fact, they occur so frequently that chief operators often forget to make a report upon the happening.

"Those things," says Manager J. V. Hucker, "represent the human element in the telephone. That is something the Southwestern company does not believe it can afford to discard or its subscribers can afford to be without."

Recently when fire broke out at the little town of Cuero, the operators remained at their post summoning help even while the flames were creeping up about the switchboard. Citizens who saw the danger rushed into the building and literally dragged the young women to the streets. One of the girls afterward indignantly denied the published statement that she had fainted, and was so vehement as to have offended the newspaper reporter who had attempted to give her credit for her work.

They Saved the Town. Again at Longview, fire was discovered in the telephone building. It had gained great headway when first noticed and a half gale of wind was blowing. The town was threatened.

Miss Sallie Burton, the local manager, rose to the occasion. Holding the girls at their places, she made the alarm general, summoning man after man who might otherwise have awakened to imminent peril. When the operating room was full of smoke she led the other young women out of the building and then returned herself to recover the company records.

While she was in the office the last avenue of escape was cut off by climbing to a window sill, high above the ground, she clung desperately to the walls of her narrow refuge. She was rescued just as the window glass was breaking under the heat from within.

Lost Her Life in Flood. Some years ago in New Mexico a telephone operator gave her life for the subscribers she served. Under the most identical circumstances with those surrounding the recent event at Austin, Pennsylvania, a great dam broke. The word flashed ahead of the flood to the telephone office and practically the whole population of the town was saved, but the body of the young woman who calmly offered herself for the sacrifice, was found in the debris. The telephone apparatus was still fastened over her black hair like a crown.

Again, in a little town in Northeast Texas on one Christmas eve, the young woman at the switchboard received the fire alarm that told her own home was burning. Every signal before her seemed to be flashed at once, so busy were the telephone lines. To have deserted her post would have been to have spoiled the Christmas celebration of many others.

The next day when those she had helped were happy, she was forlorn and without a possession of her own. But later came a letter from one of the high officials of the company that made up for the rest.

The Old and the New. The minor instances in which life and property are saved are almost too numerous for description. Almost every night comes some faint cry of "Help" or "Fire" over the wires. Almost invariably those who call in that way fail to give the number of the telephone or the street address, here assistance is needed. In such cases the supervising operator traces back the line and locates the scene of tragedy or danger.

Before the days of the telephone watchmen patrolled the city streets calling the hour. In times of peril of emergency they cried aloud the warning as they ran up and down the thoroughfares for those who might hear to heed. Today it would be possible to awaken and warn an entire city almost in the twinkling of an eye.

The young women who serve the telephone have been taught that they serve the public and officials of different telephone companies declare that the operators really work for the subscribers whom they never see. The result of this instruction has been made evident in scores of instances.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE MAY HAVE CARRIED

With 600 Precincts to Hear From Suffrage Amendment Lacks Only 800 Votes of Majority in California.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 12.—There was still doubt today as to whether woman suffrage in California had won or lost. Today this amendment has only 866 votes short of a majority with over six hundred precincts to hear from.

Dr. J. M. Bell, in the capacity of chairman, first introduced Postmaster T. Bacon, who in a few remarks called attention to the growth of the city and of the postoffice department, even within the memory of those who were present, and pointed out that if the city and the department continued its rapid growth it would be only a short time when even a larger and grander building even than that which was now in course of construction would be necessary.

Mr. Bacon then introduced Mr. R. H. Huff, who as president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke in behalf of that body, and urged on all present the necessity of united concerted action on the part of all for a bigger and better city and a bigger and better postoffice.

Mr. Gardner then took charge of the services on behalf of the Masons, and the impressive and beautiful ritual for that work was carried out. This included the placing of a number of articles of historical value to generations to come within the receptacle of the corner stone of the new building.

Oct. 12.—Beer making of the new phases from the raw grain the govt. to the finished product is of the open at the mammoth exhibition named opened in the Coliseum today. A working model of a modern brewery is one of the principal features of the exhibition. The brewers' congress, of which Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson is the honorary president, will continue its sessions for ten days. Among those in attendance are leading brewers, brewmasters and chemists from England, Prussia, France, Bavaria, Bohemia, South Africa and other of the principal beer-making countries of the world.

Wichita Falls, Texas, October 12, 1911.

Vote for the bonds.

Holders of lots in the cemetery at Altus, Okla., who are still owing for them have been asked to "dig up."

This day is set apart in honor of Christopher Columbus, nearly five centuries after his birth. He had many likeable ways, and if history does not belie itself, was a favorite with the ladies, one of whom pawned her jewels that Christopher might be able to equip his ship and go out on a voyage of discovery, and among his greatest achievements was that of discovering America.

According to an editorial in a recent issue of the Dallas News, $2,205,084.52 were paid out by the various railroads of Texas to satisfy judgments obtained against them as the results of personal injury suits during the fiscal year ending with June 1911. This is said to be a greater amount paid out by the railroads in any other state in the Union for a like period, though there are many states that have by far a greater mileage of railroads.

Many of these suits are without doubt attributable to the railroads in not building and equipping their properties better—in such a manner as to make accidents out of which personal injury suits less liable. But while the railroads have and are more negligent in this manner, in Texas than they are in other states, it is also a deplorable fact that there are any number of very sharp, shrewd lawyers who prefer to take a personal injury suit against a railroad over any other class of business that might come to them on a contingent fee—their client to get one-half and they the balance. As a result of such "industry" thousands of judgments for personal injuries have been obtained against the railroads when in fact they should not have been, for the good reason that the parties obtaining such judgments were allowed by far more than their injuries amounted to, and in many instances, where no injuries at all were sustained which the railroads should, in justice, have been made responsible for. The Times is no special defender or friend to railroads, but it does lay claim to being a friend to the people generally, and when unjust verdicts are given by juries and courts against the railroads the railroads have a way of getting even, and they cannot be blamed for doing it—They do this by charging up the damage suits to operating expense, and in that way the judgments given against them in personal injury suits are paid by the people who pay freight charges. When an employe of a railroad is injured when in the discharge of his duties, he or those dependent upon him for support should be compensated. No one—not even the railroads, can deny the justice of such an obligation, but this business of "holding up" the railroads at every turn is getting to be a burden to the people, and if the Times can see correctly the people are getting their eyes opened to that fact.

WOODROW WILSON AND THE ISLE OF SOMEWHERE.

So many remarks have been made about the criticism passed upon modern church hymns by Hon. Woodrow Wilson on hearing "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" that it may interest some to know just what he said. It is quoted as follows by an exchange: "It is like many other modern church hymns that have neither poetry nor sense in them. Why can't we sing the old psalms? Why can't we take in paraphrase, if in no other way, these immortal verses which have sung the spirit of God through generation after generation? Why do we have to concoct silly rhymes of our own? "I want to be very frank: Where is

The Development Dollar.

There is no part of our circulating medium so important to our progress as the development dollar. It is the empire builder. It is the most active, generous and peaceful of our legal tender and it is constantly seeking to develop our latent resources. It opens our mines, builds our factories, our railroads and our large industrial enterprises, and it is always a busy dollar.

Its inordinate desire for activity and its forgiving spirit makes it a target for legislation, and rather than lie idle, it will submit to many legislative handicap and plead guilty to most any charge, provided it is permitted to return to its appointed task without delay. Its generosity makes it the most popular dollar in circulation for wherever invested, it makes a free and equitable distribution of values adjoining property. It wields powerful influence in civilization. It has forced governments to sign treaties of peace and at its bidding nations have sprung into life sunk into oblivion.

Its presence in a country is a sure sign of prosperity and its absence a most withering blight. Through our development dollar to its source and we have located the money centers of Europe and America and are drawing from them a million dollars per day and putting it in the industrial life of the State.

The domestic dollar can never develop Texas. It is already at work at least as much of it as cares labor. A dollar that withdraws from one investment and embarks in another has added nothing to the volume of our circulating medium increased the amount of our property. It is the foreign dollar that adds volume and brings new property into the State. Property is the basis of prosperity and a dollar that moves into the community brings with it as much community prosperity as the dollar taken from the soil. We must look to the foreign dollar to build Texas. There is no other way.

This is My 67th Birthday.

George W. Cable
George W. Cable, the noted writer of Southern stories, was born in New Orleans, Oct. 12, 1844, and received his education in the public schools of his native city. At the age of fourteen he was required, by the death of his father, to assist in the support of the family, and he secured employment in a commercial house. Four years later, though but a frail youth, he enlisted in a Confederate cavalry regiment, and served until the close of the war. He then returned to New Orleans and resumed his counting-room employment, remaining in it almost continuously for fourteen years. In the meantime he had written some short stories of Creole life and the

WANT ADS

Placed under this head will bring satisfactory results. One cent the word for an insertion; Half Cent the word each following insertion.

Probably a Lot of Your Troubles Wouldn't Trouble a Want Advertiser at All!

Want advertisers and answers of want advertisements ACCOMPLISH THINGS that other people simply "worry about," and hope that they "will work out somehow, sometime."

With want advertising, the property owner finds either buyers or tenants, while the non-advertiser WAITS for someone to "come along" and search for him and for his property.

With want advertising, the worker finds work—the employers finds workers—and the machinery of daily life does not slip a cog.

With want advertising, the used articles are sold to advantage—the business plan finds a "backer"—the buyer and seller discovers each other without any "blind searches," and people come to manage their affairs with the smallest possible amount of vexation, worry or delays.

There's not much nourishment for the "trouble-germ" in any of your affairs if you utilize want advertising to the fullest possible extent.

MISS BARBOURS REASON FOR HER RESIGNATION

Iowa Park, Texas, Oct. 11, 1911.
To The Times:

In last Monday's issue of The Times there occurred this erroneous statement, "Miss Barbour assigned no reason for her resignation other than that she desired to return home." I wish to correct this mistake.

My resignation addressed to the school board began thus: "Falling to receive the work for which I contracted, I desire that my connection with Wichita Falls schools cease." I was elected to and contracted for the assistant's place in the High School mathematics. When I saw that there was no need of an assistant in mathematics and that the only position open for me was eighth grade, I refused to teach longer in Wichita Falls school. I fall to see how much surprise could have been manifested at my resignation. This fact was generally known among both teachers and pupils and the school authorities have been in receipt of this information since the first week of school.

I kindly ask you to publish in your next issue, in order that the people of Wichita Falls may know the truth.

Very truly yours,
KATHERINE BARBOUR.

Have Not Pardoned Walsh.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 12.—In the first list of paroles granted by the general pardon board at its last meeting the name of John R. Walsh the Chicago banker, does not appear.

FEDERAL BUILDING CORNER STONE LAID

The ceremony of the laying of the corner stone of the new Federal building was held this afternoon, beginning at about 3 o'clock. The services were under the auspices of the local Masonic lodge, in charge of Mr. Will Gardner, district deputy grand master, who holds dispensation from the grand master to perform the service.

An interesting feature of the service was the attendance of the school children of the city, who attended in a body under the guidance of their different teachers.

Dr. J. M. Bell, in the capacity of chairman, first introduced Postmaster Otis T. Bacon, who in a few remarks called attention to the growth of the city and of the postoffice department, even within the memory of those who were present, and pointed out that the city and the department continued its rapid growth it would be only a short time when even a larger and grander building even than that which was now in course of construction would be necessary.

Mr. Bacon then introduced Mr. R. E. Huff, who as president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke in behalf of that body, and urged on all present the necessity of united concerted action on the part of all for a bigger and better city and a bigger and better postoffice.

Mr. Gardner then took charge of the services on behalf of the Masons, and the impressive and beautiful ritual for that work was carried out. This included the placing of a number of articles of historical value to generations to come within the receptacle in the corner stone. Among these articles were a roll of the membership, a list of the postmasters who have served the government since the organization of the office, which list included the names of M. W. Seely, John A. Williams, A. D. Acres, George A. Giddings, B. F. Hickey, W. E. Frieze, H. T. Canfield and Otis Bacon. For the Chamber of Commerce President Huff placed in the box one of the booster buttons.

Jack Fisher, the Wrestler, Who Meets Savini Oct. 19

Jack Fisher, the Chicago wrestler who will meet Joe Savini of Dallas here at the Wichita Theatre, October 19th. Fisher will start training tomorrow on the stage of the theatre, where the public may see him at three o'clock. Savini will train in Dallas, and will come up to Wichita Falls on the 16th. A local man, who has won some fame as a wrestler himself, will train with Fisher.

OPPORTUNE TIME FOR POLLY OF THE CIRCUS

Glimpse Behind the Canvas All the More Interesting Following Two Big Circuses Here.

The route man for "Polly of the Circus" could not have chosen a better time for that show's appearance in Wichita Falls than tonight directly following the appearance of two big circuses here.

Everybody is fresh from seeing the rows of tiered seats under the big top and a glimpse of the life behind the scenes in circus life will be all the more interesting. "Polly of the Circus" is a very human play with a quaint tenderness about it and a continuous interest that holds and entertains. Polly is a star rider in the circus that has just come to a staid old town in the Middle West. The circus pitches its tent next to the parsonage. Polly meets with an accident, and is brought into the parson's home unconscious, with the parson, the two protectors of the girl—"Uncle Toby," the clown, and "Bill," the boss canvasman—to care for her. Polly stays at the parson's home for eleven months and during that time she has learned to love and be loved by all the younger folks. The inevitable of course happens. Polly and the minister fall in love and to the scandal of the proper parishioners Polly hears how she is dragging down the clergyman's good name, so she decides to go back to the circus and not reveal her passion. A month after her departure the circus comes back again to the town, and the big tent is packed, all eager to see Polly ride. Polly, who has been in their town for nearly a year. And here are the big scenes of the play. The play ends, of course, with Polly and the minister uniting their fortunes; and the circus going away a second time without the star rider. Mr. Thompson has spared no expense in presenting this play with a capable cast.

This is exactly the production that played one solid year at the Liberty Theatre, New York City.

Five Black Kittens Saved at Blaze by Firemen.

Five rescued black kittens absorbed most of the interest in a $15 cellar fire in New York that was so hot the first water trained on it turned into steam. Firemen carried out the kittens laid them in a row on the sidewalk and were reviving them when their mother rushed frantically up and began licking them.

CORN FED CATFISH RIVALS KANSAS STEER

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 12.—Everyone has heard of the Kansas corn feeder, that is the best ever. King Ellsworth, a steer raised and fed at the state agricultural college was the finest beef animal ever shown at the Chicago stock show. But did any one, any time ever hear of a corn fed cat fish. That is the newest thing in the Kansas meat line. The corn and alfalfa fed steers, then come the corn fed cat fish. The only thing about the cat fish is that F. D. Coburn can write a book about it. Prof. L. E. Dyche, state fish and game warden is the sponsor for the corn fed cat fish and he is going to write a book of his own about the corn fed fish and the pedigree fish.

"I knew that cat fish liked corn but I did not know it made such a difference until this summer," said Prof. Dyche. "We keep the fish in ponds at the state hatchery and have been feeding those in one pond of corn meal and corn bread. It is a cement lined pond. We have cat fish in other ponds too and we have been eating cat fish at the hatchery from both ponds. You would be surprised at the difference between the corn fed fish and the fish that lives on moss and insects. The flesh of the corn fed fish is whiter, finer grained smoother and sweeter than any cat fish I ever ate. There is as much difference between the corn fed pond cat fish and the ordinary pond cat fish as between a sirloin steak and a chunk of bull's neck. We have caught some cat fish in the river and a corn fed pond cat fish beats the river cat fish as much as a sirloin steak beats a round steak. I was never so surprised in my life as I was at the difference in the quality of the fish that had grown up on corn and those fed ordinary fish foods or that lived in the streams.

"I have just started another experiment at the hatchery and this experiment takes in all the fish grown there. I am going to take the fish that are the thickest through the back of the head, that have the largest frame and the most meat on the ribs and mate them to produce fish with the highest possible quantity of meat. The stockman are always talking about improving cattle and hogs and sheep to produce better beef animals. It's all done by careful selection and breeding. That's what I am going to do with the fish. I am going to breed meat producing bass and crappie and cat fish and mating those with the biggest backs every year.

Modern Methods of IRONING LINEN

By constant experimenting the Manufacturers of Laundry Machinery have invented and perfected machinery for the ironing of Linen, whereby the life of linen is prolonged. This method is known as the American Pressing System, now being used by all the largest and best Laundries throughout this country. The manner of operation is simply to place the material being ironed on a padded board, which moves beneath a highly polished chest HEATED BY STEAM, and held there by pressure until it is thoroughly ironed, thus preventing the FRICTION WEAR that is produced when using the rotary type-machines, that were designed more than twenty years ago, besides there is no possible danger of SCORCHING OR BURNING THE LINEN. The bosom of the shirt is placed upon the padded surface in the same manner that it is placed on the body of the wearer, thus giving the shape and effect, with no chance of producing the "bulger" bosom. This Pressing system is used for the ironing of Shirts, Neck Bands, Collars and Vests, as well as Ladies' Shirt Waists. At a great expense we have installed a set of these machines and invite the citizens of this city to see the same in operation.

Clam Seizes Rat by Leg and Holds it Till it Drowns. A clam that had opened its mouth to drink clamped its shells on the left hind leg of a big dock-rat at Quinan's wharf, Port Richmond, Staten Island, New York, and the rodent could not escape. Several persons saw its efforts to free its leg, but the clam held on until the tide drowned the rat.

Alfred Sutro, author of "The Walls Judgment," in which Valeria Ber of Jericho," has had produced a new play has been playing, is to be elaborately entitled "A Perplexed Husband," acted into a four-act drama.

THE THIRD DEGREE COMES SATURDAY

Mystical, mysterious, misunderstood, the third degree takes vague shape in many minds as a shadowy something of horror, to which fainting wrong-doers are subjected by inhuman police-officials, with night as an ally, in the evil-smelling jail cells of a forbidden station house. The Third Degree, indeed, has been termed the police inquisition. This would not be a bad definition if it be understood that the victim's torture is of the mind, the heart, the soul, rather than of the body. There used to be days when America cities were the scenes of shocking physical brutality practiced as exception. But today physical torture has been almost abolished largely due to the exposures and scandals resulting from some flagrant cases of third degree application. Nature of Third Degree. What, then, is the third degree of 1911? It is the merciless, brutal, ingenious, incessant ordeal of cross-examination, with the aid of information secured by "digging" on the case, or, with colossal "bluffing" by the police officials, which is forced upon a suspect, with no friend present, absolutely in the power of the police. A bit of French method of "reconstruction" of a crime is sometimes employed as an adjunct to the application of the third degree. The object always is to make the suspect either confess to the crime or divulge such guilty knowledge as he has of the, dreading punishment, alone. His nerves are shaken. Often he has the blackest of consciences. Sometimes he is stupid; frequently befuddled from a spree and ignorant of just how much his inquisitors know of the crime. Many times he is on the verge of exhaustion through mental stress and lack of rest. He has no one to relieve him and he must continue, hour after hour, to defend himself against the thrusts of the examiners. He sees himself inch by inch as the minutes drag, being slowly driven to the corner of guilt. It is not unlike the getting together of a number of particularly sleek and active cats for the purpose of seeing how expeditiously they can scare a rat into a corner of the stone building down the street. The Third Degree with an excellent cast. The entire production will be part of the third degree. There are stories, part truth, part exaggeration known to those brought into contact with police tradition, of defiant suspects who have been beaten senseless, who have had their teeth knocked out, who have been starved until so ravenous they would say anything for food, who have been kept without sleep until on the brink of madness. But such is not the third degree of today. In the worst days of the third degree physical violence was not used as generally. It was a distinct

"Make him tell" is the watchword of the degree. Analyzed, the third degree shows on one side police prestige and power, police knowledge of crime and criminals, judgement of men and motives, harshness and inventiveness directed against the suspect by well nourished, self-possessed, square jawed, keen-eyed police officers, who can relieve one another in conducting the grilling examination. The other side shows a man handicapped by arrest, in fear of the po-seen at the Wichita Theatre Saturday night. Deep Well at Altus. They are putting in the eight inch casing at the deep well. They have been having considerable trouble with caving of late. The depth, according to one of the employes, is 1655 feet. Superintendent Nichols, of the well digging company, stated the other day that the Altus well had more ten inch casing than any other in this country.—Altus Democrat.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Every member of the cast now appearing in "Alma, Where Do You Live?" was at one time or another in vaudeville. Gustave Frohman's production of "Father Jerome," with Orrin Johnson as the star, opened in Red Bank, N. J., the other night. May Buckley and Frederick Burton will be featured in "Partners," the dramatization of E. P. Roe's novel "He Fell in Love with his Wife."

A newspaper playlet has been presented in Philadelphia called "The Swap." The story is that of a young reporter bribed to suppress a big story. Frederick Thompson has engaged Robert Drouet for a role of a newspaper reporter in W. B. Maloney's new play, "Graft," that is to be produced soon.

Harry Watson, Jr., who has been appearing in "The Follies of 1911," has been engaged by F. Ziegfeld for Anna Held's company in "Miss Innocence."

Ben Orset has been given charge of the rehearsals of the company that is to support Mme. Simone in "The Thief" beginning at Daly's Theatre, New York, next Monday. Georgia O'Ramey, who played Kit McNair in "Seven Days," has been engaged for one of the principal roles with Thomas A. Wise and John Barrymore in the cast of "Uncle Sam."

Before he leaves London for this country Harry Lander will have a fine advertisement for his tour in the shape of a command performance before the British Royal family. Several leading theatres in New York have raised the price of seats for their Saturday evening performances to $2.50, and it is expected that other houses will soon follow the example.

Mabledean Items. Mrs. Kelley, daughter of J. P. Price, and her husband from Mexico are visiting the home folks. Mr. Kelley represents an oil syndicate and after looking over the ground here thinks prospects are favorable for oil or gas. A great many are leasing their lands hoping to get something beneath the surface as they have utterly failed to get anything on the surface this year.

Mrs. Martin and family are spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Green, south of Jolly. The young people at Mabledean held a praise service Sunday night, the pastor not being able to preach as usual.

The Clark brothers have purchased a row binder with the expectation of having considerable fodder to cut, but unless it rains soon most of it will not pay for cutting.

There will be a box supper at the Mabledean school house on the last Friday night before the Fourth Sunday, the proceeds to go towards the minister's salary. All are invited to come and bring at least one box. Rev. Crutchfield will deliver his famous address entitled "The Old and the New." Come early and get the benefit of this lecture. Preaching the following Sunday.

Mr. Heard is on the sick list this week. The rest of the family are able to be up with the exception of Little Luther, who is slowly recovering.

Several more of our boys have gone away to pick cotton. They report fair picking at one dollar a hundred.

Worden Reaser and wife made a flying visit to Mabledean this week. Robert Clark and wife were shopping in Wichita Thursday.

Farmers are busy preparing their land for wheat. Most of them are ready to sow and are awaiting a good soaking rain before taking any risks.

A Berlin hit called "The Lady in Red" is to be imported to this country.

Bullock and family were attending the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus last night, burglars entered the family residence and secured $4.50 in loose change. The money, which belonged to the Christian Sunday school of which Mr. Bullock is secretary, was lying in a box just inside the front door, and the thieves failed to take a number of pennies which were also in the box. For some reason the intruders were frightened off before they were able to explore further and nothing else was bothered. El Sidelos-Smokers. Best cigar in town. At Palace Drug Store. 126-tfc. "The association of traveling men, better known as the Drummers, are planning to make Saturday, October 21st the biggest of the many big days at the Dallas Fair," said Mr. L. B. Gilbert to a reporter of The Times yesterday. Mr. Gilbert is the representative of the Devoe & Reynolds paint company and his territory covers over one hundred and fifty towns in Texas and Louisiana. He has just finished going over his route, and everywhere he meets and talks with members of his profession. Like himself, they are all looking forward to October 21st as a great day for them at the Fair, and most of them will be there. Mr. Gilbert is a member of the press committee, and as such he is naturally expected to be a little more enthusiastic than the rest. There are about fifty members of the order who made their headquarters in Wichita Falls, nearly all of whom expect to meet their brothers at Dallas. Dr. Prothro, Dentist, Suite No. 1, Ward Building. WASTED MONEY

FOR POOR DRUGS

What a lot of money is added to the profits of unscrupulous druggists who substitute for an ingredient called for in a physician's prescription, or who substitute a cheaper article--just as good--when you call for some standard preparation. Some people seem to care so little about it that it isn't any wonder the practice is so common. If honest goods, courteous treatment and prompt service means anything to you and you are not already our customer, give us a trial, put us to the test, and see how well we practice what we preach.

Good Roads are what we are all panting for, not to enable some scissor William to burn a bunch of gasoline that he bought on credit in a smoke wagon that has a mortgage on the hook. No--my, Vision, not that we want to fix it so a span of frisky mules can butt into the speed limit with a load of wheat or a tub of farm sausage or a gang of frying-size Shanghai's without giving the mules apoplexy. If the farmers of Wichita county could get to town with a load of real food, occasionally they would soon have a glad wad of the long green and we could dispense with the eggs that are not dated and cut out the butter that was intended for the army during our late unpleasantness with Spain. Don't forget that all the roads in the county lead to the PALACE DRUG STORE Only the Best. Corner Eighth and Wall Streets.
