ALONZO DICKINSON, WHO AT TENDED OPENING LOT SALE HERE EXPIRED SUDDENLY.

RAILROAD CONTRACTOR

Deceased Helped Build Fort Worth & Denver Into Wichita Falls-Lived Here Since Town Started.

Alonzo Dickinson, one of the few residents of Wichita Falls, who was present at the first town lot sale here twenty-nine years ago, fell into eternal sleep at his home on Denver avenue early Sunday morning.

Mr. Dickinson awoke early Sunday morning and after breakfast complained of not feeling well and sat down in a rocking chair, where he passed away without warning.

Had he lived until next Sunday he would have celebrated his eighthninth birthday.

Mr. Dickinson was a native of Nev York, having been born on the shores of Lake George in 1822. After his marriage he came west to McHenry County, Ill., where he lived until 1878. He then moved to Nebraska. where he lived about a year before coming to Texas, where he first located at Dallas, joining Ed Wilson now a resident of this city in railroad Denver, which was being built to Wichita Falls. He attended the auction sale of town lots here and later purchased a farm on which the Wyatt addition is now located. He afterward bought and sold several tracts, and farmed with success. About five years ago he suffered a paralytic stroke from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. Dickinson was a splendid citi zen and was respected and loved by all who knew him.

A widow and one son, Charles, who lives in New York City, survive him. The latter has been notified of his father's death and is expected to reach here Tuesday or Wednesday The funeral will be held Wednesday at an hour which will be determined

Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will speak at the Dallas Fair on October 28th, which reminds us that that will be a good day for all Democrats to visit Dallas.

Monday of last week was designated by the governor as clean-up day, but if it was observed by any town, village or hamlet in the state the papers have failed to make mention of the incident.

The first juror in the case of John McNamera, charged ith dynamiting the Los Angeles Times office in which through the co-operation of the press twenty-one people were killed as a result, was, selected last Saturday, and if it takes as long to select each of as if the entire state would be eventuthe other eleven, there is not much ally planted continuously in cotton, the likelihood that the dury will be made press began to preach diversification. up for about one month yet. It is charged over one million dollars has been raised for the defense, and there is not much doubt but that the prosecution will spend fully that much, which makes the trial a very interesting one for the attorneys on both sides of the case, which with that much money to be earned, is not likely to terminate

The Wichita Daily News, which was started nearly two years ago, has sus pended publication indefinately, the final number having been issued last Sunday. The News was a good paper but was never a financial success. It probably lost its owners, Bean & Henedrson, a sum that to any common country newspaper man would have been a fortune; they had other resour ces and for that reason the paper held out longer than it would otherwise It is one thing to start a newspaper most any body can do that, but to es tablish one and make it pay is another proposition, and many people fail at it.—Henrietta Independent.

If credit for the carrying of the re cent bond election is due any one man more than others, then that honor should go to J. B. Marlow, who never lost an opportunity to talk the proposition after the election had been or dered, and on the day of election made it his business to remind the voters that it was their duty to vote on the matter. There were five candidates for commissioners, and only three to be elected. Mr. Marlow was one of the five candidates, and by his activity in the matter of working for the propo sition he attracted practically all the opposition there was to it to himself and in that way was defeated by less than a dozen votes. There is not the least doubt but the proposition would have been defeated had not some one taken the lead. This Mr. Marlow did, and to him is due much credit.

The court of criminal appeals has just recently rendered a decision to the effect that the death of a witness does not debar-in the second trial, the testimony of deceased witness taken at the first trial. This is a common sense way of doing things, and had such a decision been rendered years ago the effect would most likely have been to save the life if many a witness, who, in order to get rid of his or her damaging testimony, was murdered. With a few more such decisions as that, it might be possible to cut down the number of trial courts, as the tendency will be to greatly cut down the number of murder trials.

Obviously the band defining the normally placed waist line and concealing the left side placket cannot match either blouse or skirt, as it would then be merged with one or the other; nor could it be of velvet, morning is bad form, but Hercules or any other fancy silk braid-perfectly solves the question of the girdle for the before-luncheon or traveling one piece tailor made, and a strip of it. Tour inches wide by three yards long s sufficient to swathe the waist and make even two even ends falling Cent straight to the left knee.

The use of silken and worsted fabrics in tailor mades for midautume is rapidly gaining ground, for the fashionable woman is tired of being quoted as of "mannish" appearance Charmense, messaline and meteor are used in these suits. These costumes are charming because they are so distinctly feminine in character Their silken underskirts nearly al ways are bordered with a ruffle or puffing, and rustle ever so softly with the wearer's movements; the tunics are gracefully draped and the launty little coats fit closely enough to prove that the craze to attain the stovenine silhouette has not robbe the fair sex of its characteristic

Fringe bordering the skirt of cailored costume is not a novelry ince the fashion came in fully six months ago, but it is so fascinating finish for the frem that it well de serves to flourish for many moons t come. Naturally such a trimming i not for the street costume whi iterally sweeps the pavements. It an attribute of the satin tailormad that is reserved for autumn churc weddings in town or country and which every feminine guest goes some sort of a private vehicle. Tom Thumb fringe is the ideal ed ing for the apron overskirt or for th tonic which is a feature of the three piece tailor made of satin, silk, ser or velvet. This fringe definitely les the lines of the upper garment drapery even when the costume entirely of one tone; and undenia hese one-tone effects are smartest all for the stately matron who passed her first youth and must che shades which are not embarassing he complexion.

Fringes with fast a glint of tinse their threads or their gimps ar uit on some of the tailor mades, con ining smooth face cloth and satin o subdued tones. The trimming come in the fashlonable shades of green brown, gray and blue and in the du red, which away from a strong light appears to be black.

With these tailored costumes pe ticoats are taboord. Even a ruffleleetticoat of softest satin is not to b tolerated for it must terminate some where between the knees and th ankles, and wherever it ends a .lin will mar the smoothness of the skir above it. Tights solve the probler and every woman wearing thes milored costumes needs two sets c tights. The first set, coming in cor tact with the skin, may be of cotton lisle or lambs wool; but the outer se of tights must be a glove-fitting se of Niagara silk tights, which may be pure white, but would best be of the shade of the costume.

Plain chiffons and satins and crepe ere still used a great deal, but the are very often combined with some the new and exceedingly rich and goffus. The keynote of the seaso seems to be richness. There are plet ty of demure frocks and coats an hats that are chic as well as domner but wherever one turns one is strucby this note of extravagant ele gance. Gray is perhaps the smartest an most distinguished tolor of the sea son, the shades rapging all the wa or taupe to the light smoky and si: very tones. However, not every onwill find these neutral shades becom ing. A gray frock must be cleverly made if it is to have distinction.

Plaids are again in vogue and they are shown in the new models in very protty combinations with plair showing one-half or two-thirds of their width in black and the remainder, it bold plaid, which may be used for bordering or for portions of a bodice and for sleeves, facings, pipings and

Purple is much in evidence this season, and when one says that it is frequently combined with red onmay give an idea of something vividly startling. It must be understood however, that the favorite purple is a very deep reddish tone, like the dark est shadings of big single California violets, and that the red so ofter used with it is a lovely fruity red on the fuchsia or berry tone. The two are charming together, the red belor usually softened by veiling in purple chiffon or net. There are delightful combinations also of purple and gold which hold no hint of the spectaten,

Some of the new millinery ribbon are beautiful, but it must be confessed that some of the extremely wide ones with many colors look more like wall paper than anything else.

This is without doubt the finest lot of coffees that have reached the state this season and it would be impossible to match them at the present time.
