GOLDEN RULE CAUSED McNAMARA'S TO CONCESS

EACH BROTHER WAS ACTUATED IN PLEAS OF GUILTY OUT OF CONSIDERATION FOR OTHER.

BRIBERY PROSECUTIONS

Will Be Pushed Against Detective. Other Arrest for Dynamiting May Be Made Today.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 2.—That the application of the Golden Rule and a principle of conciliation, founded on religious convictions, started the ball rolling toward the admission of guilt by the McNamaras, was the theory which stands as foremost for the abrupt conclusion of the trial. The chain incidents produced wide speculation. These include the arrest of Detective Franklin on a charge of bribery; silence maintained by the prosecution as to the origin of the money used; the mysterious appearance of Lawrence Sullivan, the detective, at the district attorney's office; and the perturbation of the prosecution when it was discovered that Sullivan's visit had become known to outsiders.

That other persons implicated in the dynamite conspiracies elsewhere may be arrested in San Francisco, and Indianapolis, and that the McNamaras may be called on to testify against them was one of the reports today. Asked as to when the compromise affected was finally settled upon by which the McNamaras were to plead as they did, District Attorney Fredericks said: "It never was settled till it happened, though I had every reason to expect it."

The McNamaras maintained cheerfulness today. They told their jailers they were glad the ordeal was over.

The eight jurors and two talesmen spent today in their homes delighted with the turn of affairs.

Orlie McManigal will also be sentenced as he pleaded guilty to wrecking the Llewellyn Iron Works.

The State announced an intention of pressing the Franklin case to a finish and is said to be still working on clues which may result in further revelations at the preliminary examination of Franklin next Monday.

The confessions were received with much surprise here and the Central Labor Council issued a statement saying it is against lawlessness and disorder, and that organized labor believed the McNamaras were illegally deported from Indianapolis to Los Angeles, and came to their aid with moral and financial help.

"Upon the guilt of the accused being established," the statement said, "the Central Labor Council insists on a rigid enforcement of the law."

Attorney Scott for the defense today said that John J. McNamara had been prevailed upon to plead guilty to the minor charge in connection with the Llewellyn Iron Works in order to save his brother's life. "It was each brother doing something for the other. James B. McNamara pleaded guilty to the murder because it was waived against John J. In turn John J. agreed to plead guilty to the Llewellyn charge. If he had not, James B. might have lost his life. The State wanted pleas of guilty from both," said Attorney Scott.

District Attorney Fredericks said that within 24 hours before the confessions strong pressure was brought to bear upon the defense, but would give no detail.

"We gave our ultimatum that both must plead guilty," he said, "they were guilty and we knew it. They had a pretty good idea of some of the things we knew about them and they perhaps saved many revelations by their action."

It was said that James B. McNamara desired to confess earlier if he could clear his brother of all charges, but the prosecutor was unwilling.

The Nature of the Confession. Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1.—James B. McNamara pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree in Judge Walter Bondwell's court yesterday. His brother John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Works, entered a plea of guilty to having dynamited the Llewellyn iron works in Los Angeles on Christmas day, 1910.

James B. McNamara's confession clears up absolutely the tragedy of the explosion, and fire which at 1:07 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1910, wrecked the plant of the Los Angeles Times at First and Broadway and caused the death of twenty-one persons.

For one of these deaths the McNamara brothers were indicted, and J. B. McNamara was on trial for the murder of J. H. Haggerty, a machinist, whose body was found nearer than that of any other to the spot where the dynamite was supposed to have been placed.

Dec. 5 was set as the date to sentence both men, and it is expected

LABOR WAS DUPED.

By Associated Press. Troy, N. Y., Dec. 2.—"Labor was duped" declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor today. "The severest criticism that can be made against us is that we had faith in the men who were accused of the crime. We had every cause to accept their innocence as a fact. We assembled a fund of $190,000 to defend them. The assumption is that labor unions will suffer as a result of the confession, but I don't think they will, even if it will do them no good."

District Attorney Fredericks Will Ask Imprisonment for James J. McNamara.

District Attorney Fredericks will ask the imprisonment for James J. McNamara, the confessed murderer, and probably fourteen years for his brother. The great contention that the Los Angeles Times was not dynamited is dead beyond resurrection or argument.

Last night as the two brothers sat together in the county jail, refusing to say anyone or make any statement an interview second only to the occurrence itself hung about the question with reference to James B. McNamara, "Why did he confess?"

To this opposing counsel gave the answer. "He confessed because he was guilty, and that's all there is to it," declared Mr. Fredericks. "He was compelled to confess because that was the best thing he could do, in the opinion of counsel," said Attorney Darrow, chief of counsel. "I will say now that there was no other reason or motive in it. I've studied this case for months. It presented a stone wall."

Darrow's statement was made as looking squarely in the face of the charges that the recent arrest of Bert J. Franklin, an investigator employed by the defense, and two others with him, might have precipitated a situation untenable save by confession of the prisoner.

"No Outside Pressure." "Negotiations have been on for weeks," asserted Darrow, and this was corroborated by District Attorney Fredericks. "We expected at one time that Jim would confess last Monday, but he did not," Darrow also denied that external pressure was exerted from union labor sources and socialist circles as General Harrison Gray Otis charged tonight in a formal statement, or that the municipal election to be held next Tuesday, in which Job Harriman, one of the defense counsel is candidate for mayor, carried any weight.

It was learned that Harriman was not consulted at all in the deliberations.

Proceedings Lumped. All of yesterday's proceedings were lumped in a few minutes. At the morning session of court, District Attorney Fredericks obtained an adjournment until afternoon. This was considered plausible because of registration fraud warrants known to be impending in connection with the coming election. Faith in this doctrine, however, was shaken when it became known that Lawrence Sullivan, an investigator employed by the defense, had been in Fredericks' office, and that Attorney Darrow and Davis also had been there.

At the afternoon session the court room was packed, many attaches of Fredericks' office being present. G. Ray Horton and W. Joseph Ford, two of Fredericks' deputies were their best clothing and Mrs. Fredericks had a seat inside the rail. James B. McNamara sat next to Attorney Scott, who slapped him on the back and put his arm around him.

When John McNamara entered and took a seat beside his brother, vacated for him by Darrow, there was some doubt of what would occur. The pleadings of the men aroused no stir in the court room. No hailfoll pounded for order. No relative was there to weep or to make a demonstration. A civil case could not have been more quietly conducted and no amount of hysteria could have emphasized or equalized the impression of tense anxiety which pervaded the room. Once, for a moment, before J. B. McNamara stood up to plead, a baby cried. Its startled mother hustled it out of the room and the prisoner did not even look around.

BURNS FEELS VINDICATED.

Detective Says "Evidence Has Been Just What I Said It Was—Overwhelming." Chicago, Ill., Dec. 1.—"I consider the outcome a great personal vindication for me," said William J. Burns here today when told by the Associated Press of the sensational developments in the McNamara case at Los Angeles. "Especially," he added, "after men occupying such exalted positions as Samuel Gompers and others have repeatedly charged me with planting the dynamite at Los Angeles. Following them, every Socialist paper and

YOUNG MAN DIES FROM GUNSHOT WOUNDS

James Farmer, Shot at Grandfield Last July Died at Home of Relatives Here Last Night.

James Farmer, who was shot at Grandfield, Okla., last July, died last night at his home on Fifth street, from the results of the wounds. At the time of the shooting which resulted in Mr. Farmer's death he was engaged in farming near Grandfield. In a dispute over some cattle he was shot three times, twice in the back of the head and once in the back, the latter bullet completely severing the spinal cord. He was brought to this city where his mother and brothers reside and given such surgical aid as was possible, but from the first the doctors decided that his case was hopeless. Since the shooting he has been completely paralyzed from the waist down, and has suffered terribly. His end came at 6:30 last night and to him was a welcome relief. Although he leaves a heart-broken wife and mother, three little children and three brothers and a sister.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Boone officiating.

Officers Investigating WOMAN'S DEATH

County officers are investigating the causes that led up to the death of the Farrell woman, who was found in a dying condition in her home in the flats" night before last. This afternoon Dr. Jones cut into the body of the woman and extracted the bullet, and an effort will be made to locate the revolver from which it was fired. The range of the bullet through the body is the foundation for the officers cannot understand how the woman could have shot herself intentionally in the manner indicated. The bullet entered the body in the lower abdomen and ranged up through the kidney and liver and lodged in the back. Such a wound may have been possible through an accident, or by a gun in the hands of another person, but hardly by a person with suicidal intent, and the object of the officers is to find out definitely whether it was murder or an accident.

The body of the woman will be shipped to San Antonio tonight.

REVOLUTIONISTS TAKE NANKING

IMPERIALISTS GIVE POSSESSION OF CITY AFTER PARLEY WITH THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

WHITE FLAG ON LION HILL

Clan Fighting Continues at Amoy and Armed Bands Are Leaving Blackmail.

Nanking, Dec. 2.—Revolutionary forces took possession of the city this morning after a parley with the imperial troops. At mid-day the white flag was displayed on Lion Hill fort inside the walls to the northwest indicating that the gunners had joined the revolutionists.

Gen. Li Yuen Heng, the revolutionary leader who had captured Tiger Fort a few days ago, occupied Shai Kwan, a town on the banks of the river outside Nanking. The warships under Admiral Sah, which had been two miles down the river, cautiously approached and took a position under the guns of Lion Hill fort. Gen. Lin, second in command of the revolutionists, took Taping Gate and then arranged the terms of the capitulation of the entire city.

Clan Fighting.

By Associated Press. Nanking, Dec. 2.—Clan fighting continues in the northwestern quarter of the city. Shots occasionally strike the United States coast defender, Monterey. A band of 300 riflemen have demanded enrollment at Amoy, but the revolutionary leaders have refused them, and they are now threatening to cause trouble.

A number of irresponsible bands of men representing themselves to be revolutionists are traversing the country and blackmailing inhabitants of villages.

The next round in the battle is scheduled for one month from today. Unless there are denunciations this should comprise the pleading. Next will come the appointment of an examiner to take testimony. After the testimony has all been taken, filed and read by the court the case will be placed on the calendar for argument and the procedure will be the same as in the oil and tobacco cases.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY ADVERTISING SIGN

County Commissioner Thomas, His Wife and Baby Thrown from Buggy—Mrs. Thomas Badly Shaken Up.

County Commissioner D. E. Thomas, his wife and little baby were thrown to the ground and Mrs. Thomas was severely bruised and shaken up this morning when their horse became scared at an advertising sign along the road as they were driving to town from their home in the country. Mr. Thomas, himself, was badly shaken up but fortunately the baby escaped without a scratch.

The sign at which the horse took fright is reported to be on the right of way of the public road contrary to the state law. Such signs often frighten horses along the country roads and the county attorney will take steps to have all such signs torn down.

S. J. Eckernach, a farmer living near Diney, was here yesterday on business.

Sixty-three Years on the Throne.

Vienna, Dec. 2.—Special services of thanksgiving were held throughout the empire today in celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the accession of Emperor Francis Joseph. Greetings from many parts of the world were received by the venerable emperor, who passed the day in accordance with the simple routine that has marked his life for many years. The health of his majesty is reported to be satisfactory, though the fact that he is feeling the weight of his years and can no longer indulge in the hunting expeditions and other recreations that served to lighten the burden of his domestic sorrows can no longer be denied. He appears very rarely in public nowadays and during the past year he has frequently been confined to his apartments for days at a time.

BURNS SAYS FURTHER ARRESTS WILL OCCUR

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., Dec. 2.—According to a statement given out this afternoon by Detective Wm. J. Burns, further arrests in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case are likely to occur any time. It is rumored that the McNamaras will be used as witnesses against those who are to be arrested in connection with the case.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED IN NOVEMBER

Notable conventions of the week will include the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, the Southern Immigration Conference in Baltimore, the National Irrigation Congress in Chicago and the annual convention of the American Public Health Association at Havana, Cuba.

International Live Stock Show.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 2.—The offer of $100,000 in premiums has attracted a record-breaking display of champion animals from the United States, Canada and Mexico to the annual international live stock exposition, which opened in the Dexter pavilion at the stockyards today and will continue for one week. Canada is particularly well represented at the exposition this year and will compete against a large assortment of highly bred stock from all the cattle raising districts of the United States.

In addition to the usual display of cattle, horses, swine and sheep, the management has provided for a number of special features. The students' judging contest will be conducted on a broader scale than ever before and will be participated in by representatives of many of the leading agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada. A competitive test among shepherd dogs is one of the entirely new features. Another feature is the display of a dozen yearling sheep, bred and owned by the United States Department of Agriculture. This will be the first opportunity shepherds have had to observe the progress of the experiment in breeding range sheep started by the department five years ago, and still in progress at Laramie, Wyoming.

PENTECOSTAL SPIRIT SWAYS GREAT CROWD

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The first regular session of the Sixty-third congress will assemble at noon Monday. The President's message will be read in both houses Tuesday and then the lawmakers will be ready to take up the appropriation measures and the bills dealing with the tariff, the trusts and other big issues, the consideration of which promises to make the session one of extraordinary importance.

When the Supreme Court of the United States reconvenes Monday, following its recess of two weeks, counsel for the Chicago packers who are under indictment for alleged violation of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law will present a motion to stay, in the form of a supersedeas, in an effort to further delay the trial of the packers, which is scheduled to begin Wednesday in the United States District Court at Chicago.

The United States Steel Corporation's first step in the legal battle with the Government for its existence will be taken Monday. On that day the several defendants, through counsel, will enter their appearances in the United States Circuit Court at New York. As a result of those hearings the case will go direct to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The United States Senate committee which has been investigating charges of corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois will resume its hearings Tuesday in Washington.

Of interest to the politicians will be the majority election of the Aheole Tuesday. The contest is between Geo. Alexander, a government incumbent, and Job Harriman, the Labor Union Socialist candidate, who led all his competitors at the recent primary. The fact that women will exercise the right of suffrage for the first time and their vote is likely to be the deciding factor.

The Western governors who are making a "get-together" tour of Eastern cities are due to reach Washington Thursday. On the evening of that day they are to be entertained at dinner by the President.

The successor of Hoke Smith as governor of Georgia will be named at a Democratic Statewide primary on Thursday. The candidates contesting for the nomination are ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown, Judge Richard B. Russell of the court of appeals, and Col. J. Pope Brown, former State Treasurer.

The prohibition national committee will meet in Chicago Wednesday to select the time and place for holding the party's convention to nominate a candidate for president. Among the cities that desire to entertain the convention are Milwaukee, Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle and Portland, Ore.

Kink George and Queen Mary are due to make their state entry into Delaware today. Their arrival will be followed by three days of public receptions and ceremonies, concluding with the great Imperial Durbar on December 12.

Notable conventions of the week will include the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in Washington, the Southern Immigration Conference in Baltimore, the National Irrigation Congress in Chicago and the annual convention of the American Public Health Association at Havana, Cuba.

MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN CRIED FOR MERCY AND SHOUTED FOR JOY AT REVIVAL MEETING.

SCORES WERE CONVERTED

Demonstration Such as Never Seen Here Before Witnessed at Tabernacle Last Night.

The same spirit that was in the meeting of Thursday night and Friday afternoon went into the meeting last night. Those who remained until the 11 o'clock hour, probably never witnessed anything like it in this city. An old time pentecost revival was the scene. Occasionally you could hear either from man, strong in heart, or from a beautiful proud little girl or woman the agonizing cries, "Oh, God have mercy on my soul," which could be heard, even above the singing of the congregation. Then would burst forth the shouts of some happy heart, probably a mother, whose loved ones had been saved, or a wife, whose husband had been brought to God. There were few dry eyed conversions, as conviction of sin was general. At times the whole congregation would be sobbing, in sympathy with some agonizing heart. In the midst of the fire zone could be heard the shouts of some Christian worker "Another engineer on the old Gospel train; another one of our railroad boys saved; here comes a new mail clerk; here comes a father; praise God, here's a whole family that has been saved; here is a man and his wife who has surrendered." Some mother would say, "Praise the Lord, another child has been saved!" And sometimes that child was a gray-headed man. Over seventy-five or eighty people have been saved in the last two days.

The evangelist preached from the text last night, "Behold, now is the day of salvation." II Cor. 6:2, giving the many ways in which the way of life is pointed out in the Bible. Believing on Christ, received Christ, following Christ, trusting Christ, receiving the gift of eternal life, taking the water of life. He received the closest attention from the audience through the entire discourse.

As one brother said at the close of the meeting "No one, but someone who has been on the inside of this work from the beginning can realize the marvelous power of God that had come upon the people."

During the after meeting occasionally some sinner whose conscience had been stirred, and who felt he would either surrender or leave the house, could be seen apparently in a state of rage, making his way to one of the exits. The evangelist stopped one and said, "My friend, you may run from us, but you cannot run from God, and if you do you only run into hell." With some passion the man retorted, "I don't believe in this business, anyway, these people are all excited and do not know what they are saying." "That is what the sinners thought on the day of pentecost," replied the evangelist. Again the man said, "This seems like foolishness to me," again the evangelist replied, "For the word of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness," 3rd Holy Spirit says in I. Cor. 1:18.

The evangelist said "You are criticizing the word of the Lord, and when the Pharisees criticized the work of the Lord Jesus, Jesus warned them that all manner of sin was forgiven, but that against the Holy Spirit."

The man replied, "I do not mean to criticize the work, but I simply don't see it this way. I do not want to be misunderstood, so please don't think I am leaving mad," so he seemed to be glad for the matter to have an end.

The workers lingered on, until toward the midnight hour, and even after they were dismissed some two or three times, seemed loath to leave.

The evangelist announced that there would be a reception of members at all churches at the close of the Sunday school hour Sunday morning and urged all who had been converted, or restored, and were going to join the churches, to please be there at that hour, and that all the churches going to unite in a union mass meeting at the tabernacle at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. He announced that on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock would be his last mass meeting for men only, as the following Sunday would probably be a general rally of all the forces. Sunday night at 7:30 a union mass meeting also at the tabernacle.

Next week at three o'clock in the afternoon the evangelist begins his series of Bible reading of dispensational truths of the Bible, which he claims will make the Bible a new

THE FEAR OF MAN BRINGETH A SNARE

—Proverbs 29:25.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S SERVICE AT TABERNACLE WAS LARGELY ATTENDED, AND GREAT INTEREST WAS MANIFESTED.

CHRIST A GLORIOUS PERSON

Five Reasons Why Every Man Should Confess Him—Two Passages of Scripture Likened Unto Two Classes of People—Heroes and Cowards.

The Thursday night meeting was the best meeting since the revival began. By the time the 7:30 hour rolled around, the tabernacle was filled with the exception of a little space in the northwest corner. After an inspiring song service, the strange hat took his seat from Proverbs 29:25, "The fear of man bringeth a snare."

He began his discourse by saying that the bravest hero in the world is the true, loyal Christian. He quoted two passages of scripture. First, John 12:43-44. "Nevertheless among the chief rulers many believed on Him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess Him lest they should be put out of the synagogue, for they loved the praise of man more than the praise of God." Another passage which he quoted is the Apostle Paul, where he said: "In tribulation and affliction, and persecution for Christ's sake, and said these two passages represent two classes of people—heroes and cowards. The first class was convinced that Jesus was the Christ and also that they ought to follow Him; but they did not have the courage and manhood to confess Him publicly. I will give you five reasons why every man should confess Jesus Christ.

First—Because He is such a glorious person. I have never seen an Englishman who was ashamed of Queen Victoria, Shakespeare or Milton or any of her great people; I have never seen an American who was ashamed of George Washington; I have never seen a Grecian who is ashamed of Pericles; I have never seen a Frenchman who was ashamed of Napoleon Bonaparte; nor a Roman who is ashamed of Julius Caesar. Neither can I conceive of a Christian being ashamed of Jesus Christ, a man whose enemies have never found fault with Him, a man before whom Angels bow and demons tremble and "the world for one moment's homage and poor foolish men are ashamed to publicly confess Him.

Second—Every man should confess Jesus as His only way to receive the fullest blessing. The moment you cease to confess Jesus before your fellow men, that moment you cease to backslide. A man who confesses Jesus before his daily associates will be tempted less by them and will be eternally damned.

Third—It is the only way to be saved. "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth that Jesus is Lord and shalt believe with thine heart that He raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved; for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." You say you do not believe it is necessary to publicly confess Jesus; it is not what you say, but what God says that will stand in the day of judgment. You will either publicly confess Him, or you will be eternally damned.

Fourth—Because of your own influence. Horace Bushnell confessed Christ in Yale University and led the whole student body to do likewise. In his revival in Rochester, N. Y., a Supreme Court Judge came to the platform and publicly confessed Jesus Christ, which probably was responsible for the salvation of more lawyers than had been saved in any revival in the days of Christ.

Fifth—Every man should confess Jesus Christ for common decency's sake. After a man has given his life to save you from eternal damnation, and then for you to be ashamed to publicly confess Him, reveals you as the basest ingrate imaginable.

Then, closing with this illustration of the son of a widowed mother, who had been educated by the money received from taking in washing, and who acquitted himself in college, coming out with the highest honors, winning a medal in oratory, descending from the platform, placing a medal on the fathered shall of the old mother and kissing the wrinkled fingers, said "Mother this is your medal; these fingers won it." And so will we all feel when we meet Jesus. We will kiss the pierced hands and feet and wounded side and say "Dear Lord, these have won you this life and this happiness and this Heaven."

Following the sermon men and women began to come forward, making public confession or kneeling in front for prayer. Among them being some of the prominent citizens of the city who have been the object of prayers for years. Some who have been spending nights in prayer, spent the remainder of last night rejoicing and giving glory to God for the salvation of their homes. Nearly forty people confessed Christ before the meeting closed.

A most remarkable instance happened after most was gone when a drunken man was saved and sobered in less than three minutes, the one whom the evangelist brought with him to the church.

NEW RECORD FOR VANDERBILT CUP RACE

Seventy-four and seven-tenths miles per hour was the average speed of Mulford's Lozier, winner of the 1911 Vanderbilt Cup Race, setting a new mark for the distance.

Close behind the winning car came De Palma in his Mercedes, and he also broke the former records as did Spencer Wishart in another Mercedes. It was a great race and Grant's Lozier, Parker's Fiat and Disbrow's Pope-Hummer, finishing in the order named, made fast enough time to win any ordinary contest. Every car to finish was equipped with Michelin tires as usual.

In the Savannah Challenge Trophy Hughie Hughes in a Mercer averaged over 68 miles per hour with Heineman and Nikrent in the Marmons following close at his heels. All three cars were equipped with Michelin tires and Hughes' Mercer went through the race without a single tire change.

TIMES ADS BRING GOOD RESULTS

A PLEASED ADVERTISER, WHO HAS USED THE COLUMNS OF GREATER PAPERS, COMMENDS THE TIMES.

COVERS FIELD THOROUGHLY

Says Patrons Read the Ads More Carefully and Respond to Them More Generally Than in Any Paper. He Can Call to Mind.

"In proportion to the field it occupies, I think The Times is the greatest advertising medium I have ever known," said Mr. Lyle, manager of the Daylight Store, to a Times man yesterday. "From the results we have had I am satisfied its patrons read the ads more carefully and respond to them more generally than either the Dallas or Fort Worth papers can boast of, and really better than any paper I can call to mind now. Since we opened here we have used absolutely no other medium than The Times advertising columns to tell the people about the Daylight Store, and what we had to sell, and I can say honestly that I am surprised at the returns we have had. The business has been away beyond our most sanguine hopes, and we are frank to give The Times the credit for it."

All of which sounds mighty good to us, although the same sentiment has been expressed often by others. We are proud of the fact that in not a single instance where advertising has been carefully and systematically carried in The Times has it failed to bring results, and we are doubly proud of such words of appreciation expressed by a man like Mr. Lyle, who has had advertising experience with the "biggest papers of the state."

ONLY ONE "BEST."

Wichita Falls People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Wichita Falls who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only. Made from pure roots and herbs, and one that is backed by good deeds in Wichita Falls. Here's Wichita Falls testimony:

W. J. Howard, grocer, 1908 Eighth St., Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for kidney trouble that we have ever used. We think so highly of them that we advise their use to anyone suffering from backache or kidney complaint. After various other remedies had failed to help us, Doan's Kidney Pills were taken and they brought relief. I feel that this preparation cannot be endorsed too highly."

The playing of "Hearts" was the feature of the evening, and after the games were finished, a number of boys and girls gathered around the piano and sang popular songs, while others indulged in conversation. Refreshments, consisting of two courses of dainties, including chocolate, were served, soon after which it became time for the guests to depart and all left declaring that they had spent a most enjoyable evening. Resolutions of Respect.
At the regular meeting of the Order of Railway Conductors resolutions of sympathy and condolence were adopted and extended to Bro. Lee McDowell and family in their late affliction, the death of their eldest son. It is hard to lose our loved ones and see the hopes of a lifetime blasted at one fell stroke of the grim reaper. Especially so when that one gives promise of a bright future and strength of character. Yet we must live on, and bear our cross and be content to rest on the judgment of Him who has gone to prepare a place for us and does all things well. The body was taken to Greenville for interment; was met at the train by many friends of the family who provided most lavishly of flowers and other evidences of the esteem in which Bro. McDowell was held in his former home.

Crimes like that to which the McNamara's pleaded guilty cannot be condoned by any civilized people, and while labor organizations, nearly all of them in fact, contributed to an enormous fund for the defendants under the belief and the impression that they had been kidnapped and taken from their homes to Los Angeles without authority of law, and were not only being prosecuted, but persecuted by capital, when the fact of their guilt so cleverly established by Detective Burns and District Attorney Fredericks was developed, the defendant's attorneys, Scott and Darrow, two of the ablest lawyers in America, did the next best thing they could for their guilty clients and advised them to enter pleas of guilty even before the jury had been selected before which one of the defendants was to be tried: When asked why the defendants entered pleas of guilty, District Attorney Fredericks made the simple reply: "They plead guilty because they were guilty and know that we could establish their guilt."

WIGGLES FOR THE KIDS.

By the Doggerel Editor.

Little Johnny whose nickname is Red-head, Was spanked by his mother and put to bed, And it made him so mad with consuming fire, There was danger the bed would catch on fire, But he was so awful hot he began to perspire, And he begged for mercy to his old granddair, And promised to be good and never become a liar, And this is the story of little Johnny Redhead, Who was spanked and then was put to bed. Once a little puppy with a very short tail, Felt so bad about it he began to wail, And told his sad story to the moon in the sky, Yelped and barked to every one who passed by, And the people got mad to hear the little puppy cry: Began to throw sticks and make the bricks to fly, And wished he would go off somewhere and die, And this is real true and not an old fairy tale, Because that poor little puppy needed a good relief.

book to all who attend. He says, "Now, one more week of the meeting and let's make it the greatest." The Women's Meeting. By 3 o'clock Friday afternoon probably one thousand women had gathered at the tabernacle. The evangelist took as his text Mark 14:18 "She hath done what she could."

Quoting from Kipling's latest poem "The female of the species is more deadly than the male," the evangelist said: "The female of the species is more religious than the male. Let us see first what position woman has occupied in the Bible. She was first to sin, being deceived? The man was not deceived but deliberately walked into sin. Man, as a rule is controlled by his intellectual nature; while woman is dominated by her emotional nature. The woman who can love the strongest, can lust and hate the strongest, as love, lust and hatred, comes from the same heart. Hence, what are your greatest blessings, if diverted, may prove to be your greatest curse. Lust is prostituted, love and hatred is diverted love."

"If I wanted to lift a man to Heaven, I would want a pure Christian woman as an agent; if I wanted to drag him down to hell, an impure woman would be the best instrument. The woman was the first to hear the gospel as it was her first promised seed was to come."

Today was unusually busy day for the god with the little bow and arrows, and that individual seems to be in the midst of an impressed business activity which threatens to overwhelm him. Three marriage licenses were issued today, which is a larger number than has occurred for some time. Those granted license to wed today were: Frank Isaacs of Charlie, to Miss Beatrice Horton also of Charlie; Harted Williams of Dundee, to Miss Maggie Garrett, Dundee; and Samuel Creevy, city to Miss Ava Pearl Beardon of Newcastle.

GOLDEN RULE CAUSED M'NAMARA'S TO CONFESS

every labor paper have so often printed stories of "frame-up" in the case that some good people were beginning to think that the prosecution was not "on the square."

"I had absolutely no personal feeling against either defendant. I was simply worked up by the news. We have had the gravest assurance given to us by everyone connected with the trial, either directly or indirectly, that these men were innocent."

Mr. Gompers asserted with the greatest emphasis that not the slightest intimation of any such change in the plans of the defense of the McNamara case developed yesterday had been communicated to him. Absolutely the first news of the startling developments at the trial had been given him on the train, he said.

Asked if he would have anything to say about the prisoner's personality, the labor leader replied:

"No; I shan't add to their misery by condemnation of them. The chief effect of the news is that it will have on labor unions, who are inquired. To this Mr. Gompers snapped his fingers and ejaculated:

"None."

When the fund raised by the American Federation of Labor for the defense of the McNamara was mentioned, Mr. Gompers said contributions to date amounted to about $100,000 which has been turned over to the chief attorney for the defense, and that the collection is still going on. He added that in view of yesterday's developments the money would probably be refunded.

Mr. Gompers bristled up noticeably when shown the statement by William J. Burns at Chicago.

"I don't wish to mention Burns," he said. He denied, however, that he had ever charged Burns with "planting" the dynamite at Los Angeles.

Reverting to the explosion, Mr. Gompers continued:

"We have discouraged acts like these. We are patriotic and peace-loving men and we only have a wish to call out the best elements in human nature. Those two men must have been crazy. It is an act that I condemn with all the force that is in me."

asked again if he believed yesterday's developments would injure the cause of labor, tears came into Mr. Gompers' eyes and he answered:

"They are not going to do it any good. But I want to repeat that the cause of labor has been imposed upon both by supposed friends and enemies. The men of labor were led to believe that the McNamara boys were innocent and they acted on that belief. I received letters from them myself, protesting their innocence. Only last September I visited them in the Los Angeles jail and they asked me to deliver to the labor interests a message that they were innocent."

"The cause of labor can not win by such methods as these men pursued. Damage to property and destruction of life we have denounced and done all in our power to prevent. Such methods as these have got to be stamped out."

"If, after it is known, we have been imposed upon, we are denounced and attacked for supporting the defense of these men, then let them denounce and attack. The American Federation of Labor is a law-abiding institution."

Mr. Gompers said that he had known John J. McNamara for several years.

"John J. was a very self contained man with a great fund of humor and he was a good fighter," he said. "I would never have suspected him of this. I always believed in his innocence, but I would condemn the act of these two men even if they had been able to get away with it without being convicted. This unexpected self-conviction is nothing more or less than a failure of two individuals to live up to the high principles of organized labor and can not reflect any condemnation on the cause of labor as a whole."

Asked what action the American Federation of Labor might take, Mr. Gompers said the news was too recent to make any prediction.

"The American Federation of Labor only closed its annual meeting Thursday," he added. "As to a possible special meeting, it is too early to say."

of escape, and they knew this. "However, if the reports that J. J. McNamara is to get off with a light sentence are true, I shall be greatly disappointed. He deserves heavy punishment, if any one ever did."

Gov. Folk's View. Houston, Dec. 2.—Former Governor Folk of Missouri, speaking of McNamara's confession today said: "I do not believe organized labor should be held responsible for acts of these men. It is a great shock, but I see no reason why organized labor should suffer."

The labor organization was imposed on and led to defend them because of a deep conviction that they were innocent.

"Astounded," Says Gompers. New York, Dec. 2.—"I am astounded, I am astounded; my credulity has been imposed upon. It is a bolt out of a clear sky."

The exclamations are those of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, when advised last night of the plea of guilty in the McNamara case.

Mr. Gompers, on his way from Washington, was dining in a Pullman car on the Pennsylvania Railway's Congressional Limited, when he was awakened at a New Jersey station by an Associated Press representative.

He retired to the rear of the car, where there was a convenient light, and read carefully the accounts of the sensational developments in the Los Angeles dynamiting case.

The veteran labor leader was visibly affected as he read how the men in whose defense he had spoken and worked so untiringly had admitted their guilt. Tears came into his eyes and the hand that held the typed pages shook. He said nothing, however, until he had finished the story, and then he broke forth with his exclamations of astonishment and indignation.

"If this is all true, my credulity has been imposed upon," he declared. "I am astounded at this news. We have had the gravest assurance given to us by everyone connected with the trial, either directly or indirectly, that these men were innocent."

Mr. Gompers asserted with the greatest emphasis that not the slightest intimation of any such change in the plans of the defense of the McNamara case developed yesterday had been communicated to him. LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecil, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles."

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would give me pain was raw eggs. I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Theodore's Black-Drainage, I did not have good sleep all I ever spent."

PENTEBOSTAL SPIRIT SWAYS GREAT CROWD

the church people complain that the woman is in the majority at the churches but our theatres reveal the fact that woman is in the majority among the pleasure seekers, also. We have seen that the woman can do either good or bad, and it was the woman in our text, who did what would have been considered the small thing that made her famous. We mean, if you will do what you can, though it looks little to you, it looks great to God. There are many things which a woman can do that no man can do. A woman can make a Christian home but a man cannot; and it's from the Christian homes that our great men have come. Women, like this woman, are all leaving behind a memorial. On the tombstones of some may be written "She was the champion bridge player of the town," or "She was the most graceful dancer of her generation," "She wore the finest dress of anyone in the city," "She was the most incessant gossip in her community," "She had the smartest poodle dog in town, though her son was not worth shooting." In fact, I think it is a blessing that some of these homes raise poodle dogs instead of men, as it is easier to get rid of a worthless dog than it is a worthless man, and without God, Christianity and piety, no home can raise a man.
The evangelist closed his discourse with an illustration of a true mother, who encouraged her boy, a member of the life saving crew to brave the storm, to rescue some perishing lives, while other mothers held their boys back, the young hero supported by his praying mother saved the only lives that were saved from the wrecking ship, and among them was his brother, whom his mother did not know was aboard the ship.
The scene at the woman's meeting will never be forgotten by those in attendance. No more sympathetic audience gathered in these series of meetings. As Mr. Ham said, it was one of the most gratifying woman's meetings he had had in years. On the way to church the evangelist was stopped by one of our men, who said that he had a wife at that meeting.

BUSY SESSION IN PROSPECT

APPROACH OF NATIONAL ELECTIONS ENHANCE INTEREST IN COMING SESSION OF CONGRESS.

SOMETHING TO BE DONE

Practically Certain that Several Schedules Will Be Revised Downward. Trust Legislation Expected.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—With the opening of the first regular session of the Sixty-second congress but two days away senators and representatives who had remained at their homes over Thanksgiving day poured into the capitol on every train today.

As all the committee appointments and other details of organization already have been completed, there will be no work of organization called on Monday. A little routine business may be transacted in both houses and then an adjournment will be taken as "a further mark of respect" to the members who have died during the recess of congress. Tuesday is likely to be devoted to reading of President Taft's annual message. After that the lawmakers should be able to get down to business immediately and for the next five or six months, barring the time of recess over the holidays, the country can watch them throb and parry and intermittently legislate.

That the session is likely to be an unusually busy and important one is generally admitted. The approach of the national elections and the bitter rivalries of political parties will enhance the interest. The galleries will have to listen to floods of strident political oratory delivered purely for home consumption. No member with an eye to re-election will overlook an opportunity to "make good" with his constituents.

A flood of bills hitting at the trusts will be introduced. Senator Pomeroy of Ohio will push his resolution to put trust offenders in jail, and Representative Henry of Texas will introduce a similar measure in the house, providing some other member does not "beat him to it."

While the lawmakers in nearly all of the states concluded some time ago that anti-trust legislation was no longer profitable or desirable with a view to the general interest, many of the members of congress appear still inclined to hold the roads responsible for any of the ills with which the country is supposed to suffer. In their opinion the time has not yet come to let us on the railroad.

Federal supervision of railroads to a greater extent than is now in force will be proposed in many ways. More power to the elbow of the Interstate Commerce Court is a favorite sign with the lawmakers.

But the session will not be all business. There is no dearth of important measures awaiting consideration—some of great national concern. The great appropriation bills will be fiercely fought over. In the house there will be a mighty contest over federal incorporation of interstate commerce industrial corporations. The senate will wrestle with the arbitration treaty, and the times will be sharply drawn between the protectionists and the peace-makers. Then there will be the subject of conservation, also the important question of the tolls to be exacted of vessels passing through the Panama canal.

Tariff revision, however, will be the big subject of the entire session. The tariff board's much-discussed report on the woolen industry is to be transmitted to congress after the opening of the board's report on cotton will follow probably within a few weeks. Besides the wool and cotton schedules, a host of other provisions of the tariff law, including proposals to reduce the duties on steel and iron, cotton machinery, chemicals, red-cal free admission of bituminous coal across the Canadian border, etc., will figure in the tariff discussions.

All hands are agreed that "something is to be done" in the way of revision, and revision downward of some of the important schedules of the tariff act. Even the President will be expected to fall into line to make the work of congress effective by signing a bill.

President Taft's position is understood to be that he is in favor of "reduction of the tariff wherever it can be done and still give a living measure of protection of those industries that need it," but that the "tariff should not be changed and business disturbed except upon information which shall enable us to disturb business least." He has already declared that the failure of the wool bill at the extra session "should not be regarded as taking away the only chance for reduction by this congress."

THE LURE OF THE FILM SHOW

Often a Good Moral Lesson is Taught in the 5-Cent Theatre, Where Comedy, Pathos, Tragedy and Sights of the World Chase on Another Across the Screen.

See! On yonder screen a play is even now beginning. Within the living room of a farmhouse sit an aged woman, the wife knitting, the husband reading a newspaper. The room is quiet, mellow, genial life of its occupants, while their faces reflect a charming benignity. Suddenly the husband springs to his feet. He runs to his wife, pointing excitedly at an advertisement in the paper. She drops her knitting, and presently you see the advertisement enlarging upon the screen.

Wanted—A Christian home for two wretched little children. Father an abandoned drunkard, mother dying. Address Salvation Army.

Then what scurrying to and fro; what packing of valises, what pursuit of hat, overcoat, and tall boots! A good-by kiss, and the farmer is off, his wife waving him a farewell as he disappears upon his quest. Instantly the scene changes. A garret, miserably bare; a mother lying prostrate on the floor; a tiny boy and still tinier girl kneeling beside her.

They are in rags. Enter a sweet-faced Salvation lass, bringing blankets. She spreads them over the invalid. She falls to her knees and bows her head. The children fling their little thin arms about her neck. After a moment, she rises and leaves the garret. Enter a drunkard, from whom the children shrink, while the woman averts her face. He seizes the blankets and rushes out.

The Salvationist returns. Discovering what has happened, she wrings her hands. The mother lifts herself, as if to reassure her, and drops lifeless. Again the scene changes. You see the farmer stalking with eager, buoyant strides along a tenement street. He enters a doorway. Once more the biograph shows you the garret. Upon the group about the dead woman, in bursts the farmer. He prevents the Salvationist's hand. He caresses the children. When he perceives that death has come, he presses his handanna to his eyes. The drunkard reappears, only to be pitched out of the window by the farmer, who then gives a hand to the little boy, gathers up the little girl in his arms, and vanishes with them down the stairway. Finale and denouement: the farmhouse, living room; the wife peering out into the night; the door flung open and the children fetched in; the wife weeping for very ecstacy. The husband exults, while the little ones nestle joyously in the embrace of their benefactor.

Machine Turns Turtle and J. L. McCarter of Rockwall is Found Dead Beneath Car.

Rockwall, Tex., Nov. 30.—On Monday night, about 10:30 o'clock, as Messrs. T. B. Rigdell, B. H. Wisdom, J. L. McCarter, Dick Floyd, Jr. and W. D. Austin were returning from Dallas Mr. Rigdell's machine skidded on a turn three miles west of Rockwall, the front wheels striking the bridge and the rear wheels missing the bridge entirely.

When the machine turned turtle they were all pinned under the car. As they could they got each other out, and when they found Mr. Carter he was dead, having been crushed to death by the front seat striking him in the chest. Mr. McCarter was carried to the Money home, a short distance away, after which he was taken to his home, three miles east of Rockwall, laterment was made yesterday in Parlor Cemetery under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge, Rockwall, of which he was a member.

The rest of the occupants were only slightly injured and are reported to be improving nicely.

The Mother and Her Part In Modern Education

Paper Read By Mrs. Dale Brown Before Wichita County Teachers Institute

At no time in the history of our Nation has the mother found so great an opportunity to help better the conditions for the present and future. Today as never before has the great power of womanhood and motherhood made itself felt in the world. Not many years ago woman was considered only a home-keeper or rather the slave for the household, but homes, like individuals, and governments, pass through evolutionary stages. These processes of evolution do not indicate a retreat or decay of the home and its principles. Indeed their existence is but another proof that the home is strengthening itself. One significant change will be, that idle children will not be tolerated by the state, society or individual parents.

No matter what the wealth or poverty of parents of the future, the idle child will be regarded as a menace to society and good government, and an evil to itself. Much remains to be done along this line, but the goal is in sight, parenthood is more rapidly than ever before, teaching for childhood, that it has three primal duties—one to the Creator—one to the home—one to society and these duties are inseparably interlinked. A home is useless, worthless to humanity which keeps its influence wholly within itself and so the wise far-seeing mother is not satisfied within her own little realm, but knows the greatest good can be accomplished by serving the greatest number. In order to do this she must mingle with others, get new ideas, and learn the needs and wants of others. She learns there are two great factors of organized human life—the home and society, and the home is the foundation of the state and its inspiration is from motherhood. None of us who see life in its clearest light, who are not afraid of the truth, live for the moment, we have our struggles and our ambitions which are strictly personal, but within us born out of the Christ who lived for all is the thought, the wish, the honest purpose to do something for the future in which the children of our hour take our places and this sentiment finds its most concrete expression in the public school and we may well call it a safety valve. We all know or ought to know that the unrestricted, like the uneducated child is the dangerous child—a child given complete license in its home, allowed to overrule all others, passes from that home to the public school a menace to its fellow students, to discipline, to useful work. But when the public school reaches down to that child, corrects in part, at least the errors of its parents, places its feet upon the right path the worth of the school is felt and appreciated. But how much greater its value would be if all parents and homes co-operated with it. It is impossible to say, but the time is approaching, however, very rapidly when the purposes of the parent and the teacher in regard to the child is one. I do not believe I am an idle dream when I say the day is near at hand when the educator instead of being in an isolated class so far as the home is concerned, will be a welcome guest and teacher, parent and pupil will form a trinity of unity and the practicability of education will be increased a thousand fold. And who is bringing about all this change? It is the mothers and daughters of our land. Since the world has learned that woman can receive and learning and has a keen intellect and a great moral power, she is being called into all fields of activity, and in sure good things accomplished by the interesting devotion of our women. As educators they have proven to the world they are the soul of their brothers and in many instances have proven superior. Look at that noble and great woman, Mrs. Ella May Young, of Chicago, when the problem of education had almost reached a climax. A woman was placed in charge to see what she could do and to tide over a stubborn difficulty that was facing them and did she fail? No decidedly no, and to the surprise of many educators who were advising to that high office, she made some wonderful changes and accomplished more for the public schools of Chicago in one year than had been done in three or four more previous to it, and has triumphantly entered on her second year and is only 64 years of age.

See the stride made by the leading teachers of New York City. They are now to receive equal wages for equal work, and I have long wished for this in every state. I believe woman has the natural gift for teaching children and has a finer and keener insight into the hearts and minds of boys and girls, and today, the mother is awakening to the fact that she too, can help and need not hesitate to offer her co-operation and friendship to the teacher of her child.

She may unite herself with a society whose aims and objects are all for the uplifting and bettering of child welfare. She can do much for the modern education of today by training the little child at home to be kind, honest, truthful, obedient, reasonable and neat. If all children had this for a foundation on which the teacher could build her structure her work would be one of great worth and pleasure. The mothers can help the teacher solve many difficult problems. By her own co-operation she can do much to make more attractive play-grounds and assist in the games by a few words rightly spoken if not able to help in a financial way. The mother of today should strive to keep her children interested in their work both in school and out.

I believe every mother has the right to demand pure, clean, bright teachers for the schools and we should give the best. I believe every mother should stand for compulsory education and should stand for that which will broaden the mind, better the morals of our children. The mothers of this Southland should encourage the perfecting of the cotton picking machine, so the children of the rural districts may have the same opportunity for an education and that our states may not rely by great but its size and farm products, but by the intelligence and morality of its men and women and these things may be accomplished by the united untiring, devoted efforts of our noble mothers of today.

Stray Topics From Little Old New York

New York, Dec. 1.—New York is getting to be quite an old city, and it is becoming more and more common to hear of golden or centenary anniversaries of institutions endowed with sufficiently strong vitality.

St. George's Episcopal Church in Stuyvesant Square, celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of its independent existence the other day. St. George's is now the largest single Protestant parish in the world, administering directly to more than 7,000 persons.

The First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn recently celebrated its nineteenth anniversary, which was made memorable by a gift of $100,000 to the church by Mrs. William Van Rensselaer Smith in memory of her deceased husband who had been a trustee of the church for twenty-one years. St. Peter's Episcopal Church in West 20th street, became eighty years old a few days ago, and on the same day, the 18th street Methodist Episcopal Church celebrated the 75th anniversary of its founding. The cornerstone of the fourth St. Thomas's Church, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third street was laid the other day with appropriate ceremonies. The first church was established on October 12, 1823. The third church, which is to be replaced by the new structure of which the cornerstone was just laid, was destroyed by fire a few years ago. Since then the members of the congregation have been worshipping in a temporary structure erected upon the site of the burned church. Around this temporary structure the new edifice is now building. It will be of solid masonry, without steel girders or arches and it is said that it will be the most costly church for its size ever built in the United States. The temporary structure will remain undisturbed during the building operations and will only be removed after the new church has been completed.

A bronze tablet giving a brief history of Maiden Lane, the old and famous thoroughfare which forms the east end of the jewelry trade in New York, was unveiled a few days ago. It was donated by Edward Holbrook, president of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, to the Maiden Lane Historical Society and gives the following history of the street: "Called 'T Maedge Pastie' in the days of New Amsterdam, being a rural path between a stream, still marked by the curve of a line of the present street, known during the early English period both as Green Lane and Maiden Lane. Laid out as a street in 1681. Began to assume the character of a jewelry district about 1840."

The inconsistency of some women is really astounding. A short time ago a woman drove in her automobile over a private road on the estate of William L. Ma's, a wealthy New York manufacturer. Going with great speed around a bend in the road, she drove into a lake belonging to the estate and came near being drowned. After the accident the woman declared that her spill in the lake was due to the evil influence of an opal ring which she wore for the first time on that occasion. This did not keep her, however, from demanding damages from the owner of the estate. If, as the woman stated, the opal ring was the cause of the accident, Mr. Marks could logically be held responsible only in case he was responsible for the wearing of the ring by the injured woman.

A tiny black kitten with a bass voice caused a ghost scare and considerable excitement in New Rochelle the other night. It had climbed a tree on Church street in that village and lacked the courage to come down. In its distress the kitten emitted meows which, owing to its deep voice sounded like moans. The president of a local temperance society, who passed the tree at a late hour, heard the moans and at once came to the conclusion that there was a ghost in that tree. As fast as he could he ran to the police station and asked that an officer be sent out to arrest the ghost. One of the brave bluecoats was detailed for the job and the trembling informant was asked to accompany the policeman to point out the tree. But, long before they had reached the tree the president of the temperance society made his escape. To "see things" he evidently thought, was bad enough—to "hear things" was too much. Upon reaching the tree, the policeman found surrounded by a group of citizens, the brave guardian of the

We want every family in Wichita Falls to test our fresh roasted coffee, and see the difference between it and goods roasted out of town. We know that one pound means repeat orders, and are willing to pay something for that first order. Have hit upon the following plan—Commencing Wednesday, November 15th until December 1st we will take orders for a special blend at 35c per pound. This coffee to be roasted by us and delivered the same day it is roasted. Each pound purchased entitles the purchaser to submit a name for this particular blend and we will pay the party who submits the most appropriate name (which we will adopt for this blend) the sum of Ten Dollars. We are to be the sole judge, but the Ten Dollars will be paid to someone who submits a name for the coffee. The coffee will be delivered and award made as soon as possible after December 1st.—which will be within the first five days of the month. Our solicitors will make a canvas of the city but that no one may miss the opportunity we will accept telephone and mail orders and orders may be left at the store. Now we promise you will get more than full value for your 35c and in addition you get a chance at the $10.00. If the coffee don't make good we are the loser as we are staking our reputation as roasters on this deal. All coffee sold by us under the name adopted will be exactly like the first pound. As these orders will be small will expect to collect on delivery.
