J. C. PENNEY CRITICIZES THE CRITICS.

"Retail merchants, through the suggestion selling of attractive merchandise, well-decorated windows, constructive advertising and intelligent sales efforts can contribute more to the return of business prosperity than all the theorists, analysts and critics combined." Who said it? J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney company who is making an extended tour of the country in the interest of better business.

"The intelligent spending of money, changing it into productive work, has never failed to bring increased manufacturing and selling activity." Think intelligently, work hard, study conditions, get on the firing line and — quit sniveling.

DAWES SAYS PROSPERITY IS ABOUT DUE.

Ambassador Chas. B. Dawes is vacationing in the United States. He is here for a business visit as well. He insists that a sudden change "to optimism which will usher in better business conditions is about due." But—"prosperity would return only slowly and the mass trend away from pessimism would be sudden." Owen D. Young is the author of the German reparations plan. He worked it out. He put it over in France. It was a success and then the success was christened "the Dawes plan." This is a queer old world. Inventors get the feather. Non-inventors cop the turkey.

WHERE THE WORKERS RIDE IN CHAISES.

A street traffic research expert finds that the proportion of workers entering the business district of American cities by automobile each morning is greater than generally realized. Washington heads the list with a percentage as high as 55 per cent. This is not surprising. Washington has 400,000 holders of government jobs. Their salaries are fixed. They get their money rain or shine in seasons of depression as well as in seasons of prosperity. A man with a steady job and a fixed income never worries—unless he is a near-wit or a born pessimist. At least, this is the conclusion of the wise men who pose as critics the American world over.

MONEY PLENTIFUL IN CANADA.

Money appears to be plentiful in the land of the Blue Noses. Canadians oversubscribed by more than $350,000,000 the 1931 conversion loan. These are the figures: The amount of the loan was originally set for $250,000,000 and the exact money subscribed more than $600,000,000. Canadian conversion bonds bear interest at four and a half per cent. They are gilt-edged. They are as good as gold, indeed, they are rare offerings for a thrifty people and the Canadians are thrifty people. American tourists invested $400,000,000 in the Canadian provinces last year. There may be a slump in the sum total investment by the American tourists this year.

NEW LABOR LAW FOR CALIFORNIA.

Gov. James Rolph, Jr., of California has signed two labor bills enacted by the legislature which recently adjourned. Except in emergencies no aliens will be employed hereafter on public works in California and the wages paid on such works shall equal prevailing scales. This will shut out thousands of Mexican aliens. It will shut out thousands of Filipinos. Native sons or adopted native sons will be given the preference.

A MILLION SHEEP SHIPPED FROM TEXAS.

A San Angelo correspondent writes that the number of sheep of all kinds that will have left Texas ranches and farms for market will reach one million head by June 10 and the total value will be around $4,500,000. There is money in sheep.

THE SPANKER AND THE LAW.

Charles Barker is a citizen of Springfield, Mo. He has an 18-year-old daughter. He gave her a good old-fashioned spanking. She called him a brute and had him arrested. Springfield has a city attorney. He investigated. Spanker Barker said he resorted to the spanking because his daughter was too generous with her kisses to amorous swains on the front porch of the Barker domicile. The man of the law dismissed the complaint. He said it was not brutality in the eyes of the law; that it was a family right and that the head of the house was acting within the law when he enforced his right "as the head of the family to enforce discipline." In Missouri they have to be shown.

COLLEGE MORALS IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"

Dr. Bruce R. Payne is president of the Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tenn. He was the principal speaker at the 36th commencement exercises of the Oklahoma A. & M. college. He told the 361 members of the graduating class that "collegians are immeasurably better morally than young people 40 or 50 years ago." This high note is taken from his address: "Why, there was more drunkenness in my little Methodist college of 175 enrollment 35 years ago than in a university of 35,000 today if there is one that large." Critics of the morals of college boys and girls are invited to place the Payne declaration in their pipes for smoking purposes.

AN ARMY OF COLONELS.

Governor Fleming D. Sampson, republican of Kentucky, has been engaged in mass production of Kentucky colonels and has created an over-supply. In his three and a half years Sampson has broken all records by commissioning 589 men, women and children as colonels on his staff. Lieut. Gov. James Breathitt has 36 colonels on his staff, appointed when Governor Sampson was out of the state. E. C. Walker is president pro tem of the senate. He is a democrat. He appointed 19 colonels one day when both the governor and lieutenant governor were vacationing in adjoining states. Governor Sampson goes in strong for the navy. He has named 15 admirals, one rear admiral, three commodores and one colonel of marines. This is the largest army of mint julep defenders found under the skies of any one American commonwealth. Once a year, Derby day at Churchill Downs, this thundering army of uniformed warriors hold down reserved seats and add to the confusion of noises as well as to the depletion of the reserve stock which enters into the making of the Kentucky julep. Heroes all, they are on the firing line where the battle rages and the bottle pops.

Rabbit Poses With A Pachyderm

Rabbit Maraville, diminutive big shot of the Boston Braves infield, never passed up a chance to show up another ballplayer. That's why he picked on big Buzz Arlett, above rear, Phillies outfielder and a rookie at 33. The Rabbit is having one of his best years, which is a big reason why the Braves are near the top in the National League.

Ape Revealed As Bootlegger

MANSFIELD, O.—Residents of the northern section of Rich county may roam the woods at night undisturbed, for the myth of the "ape" has been exploded. The sheriff's office was notified last September that a huge ape was roaming at large over the northern section of the county. Investigation followed, and persons, who apparently had been sense of imagination, testified that they had seen the creature.

London Rubber Market Pinched

LONDON.—Millionaires here have bounced into poverty with the collapse in the price of rubber. Today the dead hand of despair hangs over Mincing-lane, the "Wall Street of rubber." Office staffs have been cut in half. Brokers arrive late at their offices, take three hours for lunch and leave city in the afternoon. Some who once lived in luxury flats in the west end, rode about in expensive automobiles and kept many servants, have moved to a small place in the suburbs. The joint has risen the price of champagne corks.

Those were the days when rubber was selling at 2.88 a pound; when new uses were being found for the product daily and when the United States was buying more and more rubber to cope with increased sales and production of automobiles. Shares in rubber trusts reached as high as $10 a share.

Prices Began Slump

Long before the present economic depression, prices began to slump. The native producers in Malaya, Sumatra and Java increased their output and soon the world had much more rubber than it needed. Then came the reduced purchases from abroad due to decreased sales in automotive vehicles.

As a result rubber today is selling for a few pennies a pound, the lowest since man first put a knife into the soft bark, tapped, treated and dried the sap and sent it home to swell fortunes of those who had first realized its possibilities and had invested heavily.

The tragedy of Mincing-lane is exemplified by the story of the broker who doffed his hat as he stood before his office and explained his action to a friend, "I always remove my hat in the presence of the dead." Holders of rubber shares have ceased looking at price quotations on the daily market and rubber trust investors look

By United Press.

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—O. C. Liles got his "see the world in a goat cart" idea last summer when he went the tree sitters one better and walked to Greensboro, N. C., pulling two of his 10 children in a wagon.

This summer, he will continue the travel-education of his children by adding a third child and planning a goat cart trek to Washington, D. C. Liles plans to leave Goldsboro tomorrow, pulling two children in a goat cart, while a third child rides a scooter, a two-wheeled vehicle propelled by pushing one foot. The party will return by train.

Liles, 48, is caretaker of the community building here. In the wagon will be Gladys, 11, and Charles, 8, both of whom made the 136-mile trip to Greensboro last year, which Liles made in 41 hours and 36 minutes.

Roy Liles, 14, is a Boy Scout, and will ride the scooter. He will carry greetings to President Hoover in the form of a pen and match holder carved from cypress by Goldsboro Boy Scouts.

Liles has refused to carry advertisements but will sell pictures of the party to finance the trip.

MONTANA WOMAN LOSES 17 LBS. OF FAT IN 4 WEEKS

'Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America: 'Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce...

'I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants "Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a titif poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of throat." Consider your Adam's Apple—Touch it—your Adam's Apple—your larynx—your voice box—it retains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissue within your throat. Be careful in choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp throat with harsh irritants! Reach for LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which gives you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. This exclusive process that expels all harsh irritants present in all raw tobacco. These expelled irritants are so many manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Python Worship Common in Africa By United Press. CHICAGO.—Serpent cults and superstitions embodying python worship are common in Africa. Wilfrid D. Hamby, assistant curator of African tenology at Field Museum of Natural History, reported.

"Very widespread is the belief that the souls of dead people of high rank visit their relatives in the form of snakes," Hamby said.

A large collection of ornamental carvings, wooden ancestral figures and the kind of household furniture with which the tribes of Central Cameroon, West Africa, like to furnish their homes has been received at the museum.

The collection includes a large wooden stool with a base representing a leopard, symbolic of royalty. There is also a bed carved with primitive tools from a single block of wood in a manner peculiar to that part of Africa, according to Hamby.

"The human figures made by the Cameroon tribesmen, often wrongly termed idols, are more probably commemorative of well-known men, or they may be ancestral figures upon which centers the idea of an in-dwelling spirit. A few of these effigies also possibly refer to a fertility cult," he said.

The four prayer meetings had the largest attendance, there being 15 more present than at any time during the revival.

Denver Elects Loser Mayor

DENVER, Colo.—In Denver election, likely as not, you can lose if you win, and vice versa. The city uses the preferential voting system, which has been ruled unconstitutional by three state supreme courts and constitutional by one. The system permits a voter to cast a ballot for all the aspirants for an office, if he chooses. He denotes his first, second and other choices. One can vote for only one, or for two, or for any number of the aspirants he cares to. If a candidate obtains 50 per cent of the first choice votes, he is elected. Earlier in the day he had considerable money on him but had been paying some bills in the afternoon and had only a small amount left. J. C. PENNEY CRITICIZES THE CRITICS.
 "Retail merchants, through the suggestion selling of attractive merchandise, well-decorated windows, constructive advertising and intelligent sales efforts can contribute more to the return of business prosperity than all the theorists, analysts and critics combined." Who said it? J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney company who is making an extended tour of the country in the interest of better business. Moreover, he said present conditions are putting new forces and new opportunities at the disposal of men who are capable of handling them. He believes it is time for the country to face facts of this sort. He does not believe that adjustment is nearly as necessary in the national pocketbook as it is in the national mental attitude. This is the Penney reflection:

"The intelligent spending of money, changing it into productive work, has never failed to bring increased manufacturing and selling activity." Think intelligently, work hard, study conditions, get on the firing line and — quit sniveling.

DAWES SAYS PROSPERITY IS ABOUT DUE.
 Ambassador Chas. B. Dawes is vacationing in the United States. He is here for a business visit as well. He insists that a sudden change "to optimism which will usher in better business conditions is about due." But—"prosperity would return only slowly and the mass trend away from pessimism would be sudden." Owen D. Young is the author of the German reparations plan. He worked it out. He put it over in France. It was a success and then the success was christened "the Dawes plan." This is a queer old world. Inventors get the feather. Non-inventors cop the turkey.

WHERE THE WORKERS RIDE IN CHAISES.
 A street traffic research expert finds that the proportion of workers entering the business district of American cities by automobile each morning is greater than generally realized. Washington heads the list with a percentage as high as 55 per cent. This is not surprising. Washington has 400,000 holders of government jobs. Their salaries are fixed. They get their money rain or shine in seasons of depression as well as in seasons of prosperity. A man with a steady job and a fixed income never worries—unless he is a near-wit or a born pessimist. At least, this is the conclusion of the wise men who pose as critics the American world over.

MONEY PLENTIFUL IN CANADA.
 Money appears to be plentiful in the land of the Blue Noses. Canadians oversubscribed by more than $350,000,000 the 1931 conversion loan. These are the figures: The amount of the loan was originally set for $250,000,000 and the exact money subscribed more than $600,000,000. Canadian conversion bonds bear interest at four and a half per cent. They are gilt-edged. They are as good as gold, indeed, they are rare offerings for a thrifty people and the Canadians are thrifty people. American tourists invested $400,000,000 in the Canadian provinces last year. There may be a slump in the sum total investment by the American tourists this year.

NEW LABOR LAW FOR CALIFORNIA.
 Gov. James Rolph, Jr., of California has signed two labor bills enacted by the legislature which recently adjourned. Except in emergencies no aliens will be employed hereafter on public works in California and the wages paid on such works shall equal prevailing scales. This will shut out thousands of Mexican aliens. It will shut out thousands of Filipinos. Native sons or adopted native sons will be given the preference.

A MILLION SHEEP SHIPPED FROM TEXAS.
 A San Angelo correspondent writes that the number of sheep of all kinds that will have left Texas ranches and farms for market will reach one million head by June 10 and the total value will be around $4,500,000. There is money in sheep.

THE SPANKER AND THE LAW.
 Charles Barker is a citizen of Springfield, Mo. He has an 18-year-old daughter. He gave her a good old-fashioned spanking. She called him a brute and had him arrested. Springfield has a city attorney. He investigated. Spanker Barker said he resorted to the spanking because his daughter was too generous with her kisses to amorous swains on the front porch of the Barker domicile. The man of the law dismissed the complaint. He said it was not brutality in the eyes of the law; that it was a family right and that the head of the house was acting within the law when he enforced his right "as the head of the family to enforce discipline." In Missouri they have to be shown.

COLLEGE MORALS IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"
 Dr. Bruce R. Payne is president of the Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tenn. He was the principal speaker at the 36th commencement exercises of the Oklahoma A. & M. college. He told the 361 members of the graduating class that "collegians are immeasurably better morally than young people 40 or 50 years ago." This high note is taken from his address: "Why, there was more drunkenness in my little Methodist college of 175 enrollment 35 years ago than in a university of 35,000 today if there is one that large." Critics of the morals of college boys and girls are invited to place the Payne declaration in their pipes for smoking purposes.

AN ARMY OF COLONELS.
 Governor Fleming D. Sampson, republican of Kentucky, has been engaged in mass production of Kentucky colonels and has created an over-supply. In his three and a half years Sampson has broken all records by commissioning 589 men, women and children as colonels on his staff. Lieut. Gov. James Breathitt has 36 colonels on his staff, appointed when Governor Sampson was out of the state. E. C. Walker is president pro tem of the senate. He is a democrat. He appointed 19 colonels one day when both the governor and lieutenant governor were vacationing in adjoining states. Governor Sampson goes in strong for the navy. He has named 15 admirals, one rear admiral, three commodores and one colonel of marines. This is the largest army of mint julep defenders found under the skies of any one American commonwealth. Once a year, Derby day at Churchill Downs, this thundering army of uniformed warriors hold down reserved seats and add to the confusion of noises as well as to the depletion of the reserve stock which enters into the making of the Kentucky julep. Heroes all, they are on the firing line where the battle rages and the bottle pops.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON — Although the Hawley-Smoot tariff has been lambasted with great fervor as an alleged contributory factor in the depression, there is also a school of thought which holds that the tariff can best be found in a bigger and better application of the protective tariff theory.
 This point of view is expressed by George B. Lockwood, former secretary of the Republican National Committee and the editor and publisher of the Muncie Evening Press in Indiana.
 "The prosperity of this country could be completely restored," writes Mr. Lockwood, "if the many hundreds of thousands of men now out of work in this country because of their inability to compete against cheap labor products being brought in from abroad were given a chance to supply the home market."

Replies to Hull
 Lockwood replied to recent assertions of Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee and others that tariffs must be revised downward to stimulate international trade.
 "There are at least 50 large lines of production in which the competition of cheap labor products has decreased or destroyed American employment. There will be an awakening to this in due season which will be pretty hard on the party that goes out in 1932 arguing that the way to increase prosperity is to further destroy American employment by buying foreign goods whose cheapness is based upon the cheapening of the worker."
 Lockwood mentions oil and lumber as two examples.
 "We are admitting duty free more than $150,000,000 worth of foreign oil and oil products," he says, "while our own oil fields are paralyzed. It would not be well for Mr. Hull to go to the western oil fields and tell them that this tariff should be reduced below zero rather than increased. The same thing applies to the 100,000 men out of work in our timber products of the foundation determines the future advancement and prosperity of its life."
 I can say of R. J. C. that its emblem cites the youth that enters its doors into nobler deed of truth and action, and reveals unto him knowledge that would help uplift humanity and advance civilization. I would say to the teachers and student body of R. J. C. together with the citizens of Ranger: Let us boost our college and if needs be not be ashamed to ask support to keep its good work going, for this is no more than it deserves; let us be thoughtful of its name and ever loyal to its high ideals.

Ape Revealed As Bootlegger

By United Press.
MANSFIELD, O.—Residing in the northern section of the county may roam the woods at night undisturbed, for the "ape" has been seen. The sheriff's office was alerted last September that a large ape was roaming at large over the northern section of the county. Investigation followed, and persons, who apparently had a keen sense of imagination, testified that they had seen the ape.
 The former county surveyor Aaron Davis, said he had been really satisfied with the marriage and, with the hope that he would want to get some liquor, he had called last September that a large ape was roaming at large over the northern section of the county. Investigation followed, and persons, who apparently had a keen sense of imagination, testified that they had seen the ape.
 The former sheriff learned through a inside story a few days ago that the "ape" had been seen. He developed that the ape was a man engaged in bootlegging. He was a short, heavy-set individual who was in the habit of hiding his wares in the woods. One afternoon, about dusk, he wanted to get some liquor, and borrowing his wife's fur coat, he started out.
 "He became fearful he would be attracted attention from the tree as he hedged into the back yard. He secured his package and escaped."
 Aaron said he had been planning to receive the "ape" as a gift, but he left the country.

Rabbit Poses With A Pachyderm
 Rabbit Maranville, diminutive big shot of the Boston Braves infield, never passed up a chance to show up another ballplayer. That's why he picked on big Buzz Arlett, above rear, Phillies outfielder and a rookie at 23. The Rabbit is having one of his best years, which is a big reason why the Braves are near the top in the National League. And Arlett is living up to advance notice with his bombastic hitting for the Shottonmen.
Expecting Locust Invasion of Ohio
 By United Press.
WOOSTER, O.—An invasion of Ohio by the "17-year locusts" or cicadae is expected this month by Dr. Warren Spencer, professor of biology at Wooster college.
 The last general appearance of the locusts was shortly before the beginning of the World War. Their return can safely be expected this year, according to Dr. Spencer.
 Their reappearance will mean their return to open air and light after a 17-year period of dormant life. Through this long stage, they have lain in the soil, their mouth-parts sunk into a rootlet from which they have extracted nourishment. They will mate, the female species will hatch their eggs to produce young somewhat ant-like in form. The young will make their way out to the end of twigs and remain until the larvae is shaken off by the wind. The cicadae will fall to the ground and crawl about until it locates a crevice into which it can remain for the next 17 years.
 The dagger look, says the office sage, is often more eloquent than the sharp retort.
 A garage is being built on the school grounds. The buses will be stored in the garage.
 The 4-H club encampment will be held Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6. The bus will carry the club members. All the club members are to be at the Eastland park at 9 o'clock Friday morning with their club work completed. Mrs. Bessie Lewis, the leader of the girls, will be present.
 Singing will be next Sunday. Everyone is invited.

Speaking of Sports
 By L. S. CAMERON
 United Press Sports Editor
In Defense of British Amateur Golf System
 The wholesale upsets accorded in the recent British amateur golf championship have started afresh the discussion of the methods prevailing in England and in the United States.
 As everyone knows, the British amateur competition is begun with match play whereas in the U. S. amateur championship has a qualifying round after which the players are matched according to the scores made in medal competition.
 In the British plan the two prime favorites could meet in the first round with the necessary elimination of one. In the U. S. plan the aces do not meet until the quarter-final or subsequent rounds.
 Luck in British Play
 Thus the element of luck would seem to enter into the British play more completely than in the U. S. competition.
 It might be well for some of the critics of the British plan to show just why luck should not be a factor.
 There is, to be sure, an objection to the meeting of the favored players in an early round, but this year's British upset was not caused by such an occurrence. It was in the round next to the quarter-final that the three aces, George Voight of New York, and the British players, Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley, were eliminated. And their defeats were scored by relative unknowns.
Jones Out in First
 It seems rather patent that if a star of, say, Wethered's reputed brilliance is unable to win out over a scantily regarded player, then the star's rating was too high in the first place.
 And as for the excellence of the U. S. system one might remind its enthusiasts of the time two years ago when the great Bobby Chappin was eliminated by Johnny Pebble Beach.

unheeding her mother's continued scolding.

Alone in her room Beryl had to admit there was satisfaction for herself in the situation. No one trying to deny it, telling herself it was beastly to feel so when Tommy had not made the choice of evils for him. And in time he would learn that what had happened was best for him.

The light in Beryl's eyes dimmed faintly. "I'm a fool," she told herself. "Tommy will never love me. If that were to be, it would have happened before this. No, it will be some other girl. He'll never care for me."

A little later Mrs. Everett called her to come down to dinner. She said she was not hungry. Beryl's voice, as she called back down the stairs, sounded husky. She stayed in her room all evening. Her mother climbed the stairs to point out something she thought Beryl might have overlooked. It was that Irene would be in an influential position now where she could help Beryl a great deal.

"How do you mean—help me?" Beryl asked.

"Why, in your career," her mother explained. "Don't you think you'd better write her a nice little note and apologize?"

Beryl smothered the anger that rose within her and laughed. "I guess you don't know how funny that is," she said.

"It's not funny. It's serious!" "It's funny, Irene has nothing to do with my career. I'm what I am without her help. And I don't suppose," she added suddenly, "that you'd accuse your darling daughter of meaning to turn my boss against me."

Mrs. Everett answered uneasily: "How can you say such unreasonable things?" However, her eyes avoided Beryl's. She was thinking of something that Irene had said when she found Beryl gone that afternoon and a large part of her triumph spoiled.

"I'll show her!" Irene had declared. "I'll see that she never gets another contract with the Gaylord Soap Company. And it won't do her a bit of good to be turned down. Other people won't be so keen about her then."

Mrs. Everett sighed, wishing Beryl were as reasonable as Irene. "Honey, you mustn't do that," she said to Irene. "Your father and I need Beryl's help."

Irene had seen it at once and admitted she was wrong. It was a comfort to have a daughter like Irene—one who could be obliging. It would be a little thing for Beryl to acknowledge her fault as readily as Irene had done and write to her sister.

As usual her argument with her mother was of short duration. Mrs. Everett, thinking it over, felt that she had not made the situation any better for Irene. She came in softly the last thing before she went to bed and brought a tray of light refreshments for Beryl.

"Are you sure you're well," she asked.

Beryl nodded.

"I wish you wouldn't quarrel with me," her mother said forornly. "It's hard to have a child get married and go away. Irene didn't mean the cross words she said. It was just temper and she was sorry right away."
 "Poor little Irene..." But Beryl hadn't been thinking of her sister—she was thinking of something that frightened her.

London Rubber Market Pinched

By United Press.

LONDON. Millionaires here have bounced into poverty with the collapse in the price of rubber.

Today the dead hand of despair hangs over Mincing-lane, the "Wall Street of rubber." Office staffs have been cut in half. Brokers arrive late at their offices, make three hours for lunch and leave early in the afternoon.

Some who once lived in luxury flats in the west end, rode about in expensive automobiles and kept many servants, have moved to a small place in the suburbs. The joint has replaced caviar and the popping of champagne corks is heard no more.

Saw Prosperous Days

Ten years ago Mincing-lane was the magnet of the financial district. Thousands were investing in rubber shares and living comfortably on the huge dividends paid. Youths left college and hurried to the heat-ridden rubber plantations where it meant opportunity lay for the foundation of a great fortune.

Those were the days when rubber was selling at 2.88 a pound; when new uses were being found for the product daily and when the United States was buying more and more rubber to cope with increased sales and production of automobiles. Shares in rubber trusts reached as high as $10 a share.

Prices Began Slump

Long before the present economic depression, prices began to slump. The native producers in Malaya, Sumatra and Java increased their output and soon the world had much more rubber than it needed. Then came the reduced purchases from abroad due to decreased sales in automotive vehicles.

As a result rubber today is selling for a few pennies a pound, the lowest since man first put a knife into the soft bark, tapped, treated and dried the sap and sent it home to swell fortunes of those who had first realized its possibilities and had invested heavily.

The tragedy of Mincing-lane is exemplified by the story of the broker who doffed his hat as he stood before his office and explained his assets to a friend. "I always remove my hat in the presence of the dead." Holders of rubber shares have ceased looking at price quotations on the daily market and rubber trust investors look

Will Ride Goat Cart To Capitol

By United Press.

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—O. C. Liles got his "see the world in a goat cart" idea last summer when he went the tree sitters one better and walked to Greensboro, N. C., pulling two of his 10 children in a wagon.

This summer, he will continue the travel-education of his children by adding a third child and planning a goat cart trek to Washington, D. C. Liles plans to leave Goldsboro tomorrow, pulling two children in a goat cart, while a third child rides a scooter, a two-wheeled vehicle propelled by pushing one foot. The party will return by train.

Liles, 48, is caretaker of the community building here. In the wagon will be Gladys, 11, and Charles, 8, both of whom made the 136-mile trip to Greensboro last year, which Liles made in 41 hours and 36 minutes.

Roy Liles, 14, is a Boy Scout, and will ride the scooter. He will carry greetings to President Hoover in the form of a pen and match holder carved from cypress by Goldsboro Boy Scouts.

Liles has refused to carry advertisements but will sell pictures of the party to finance the trip.

MONTANA WOMAN LOANS 17 LBS. OF FAT IN 4 WEEKS

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America:

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 235 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 218 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

"May all large people, and women, who want to lose weight, give Kruschen a fair trial."

Why not try one bottle of Kruschen? It is the safe way to lose weight. When taking Kruschen you reduce more swiftly by eating less and drinking more. Kruschen is a natural product of the earth. It is not a medicine. It is a natural product of the earth. It is not a medicine. It is a natural product of the earth.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants "Reach for a LUCKY instead"

The great Lord Tennyson in a beautiful poem refers to a woman's Adam's Apple as "The warm white apple of the throat." Consider your Adam's Apple—Touch it—your Adam's Apple—your larynx—your voice box—retains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Protect the delicate tissue within your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants! Read the LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which gives you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. This exclusive process that expels all harsh irritants present in all raw tobacco. These expelled irritants are the manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

"It's toasted" Including the use of Ultra Violet Rays Sunshine Mellows—Heat Purifies Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

Python Worship Common in Africa By United Press. CHICAGO.—Serpent cults and superstitions embodying python worship are common in Africa. Wilfrid D. Hambly, assistant curator of African tenology at Field Museum of Natural History, reported.

"Very widespread is the belief that the souls of dead people of high rank visit their relatives in the form of snakes," Hambly said.

A large collection of ornamental carving, wooden ancestral figures, and the kind of household furniture with which the tribes of Central Cameroon, West Africa, like to furnish their homes has been received at the museum.

The collection includes a large wooden stool with a base representing a leopard, symbol of royalty. There is also a bed carved with primitive tools from a single block of wood in a manner peculiar to that part of Africa, according to Hambly.

"The human figures made by the Cameroon tribesmen, often wrongly termed idols, are more probably commemorative of well-known men, or they may be ancestral figures upon which centers the idea of an in-dwelling spirit. A few of these effigies also possibly refer to a fertility cult," he said.
