STORMS DO DAMAGE OVER THE STATE

Miss Earhart Cracks Up Today in Auto-Giro

Hoover to Honor Two Presidents and G. A. R.

With the dedication of the tombs of two former presidents, an address before Indiana editors and a review of the G. A. R. reunion parade, President Hoover faces a busy three days in June. Going first to Indianapolis, Mr. Hoover will address the Indiana Republican Editorial Association there on the night of June 15; the following day he will dedicate the Harding Memorial, above, at Marietta, O., and also review the G. A. R. parade at the Columbus, O., reunion, while on June 17 he will re-dedicate the remodeled Lincoln Memorial, right, at Springfield, Ill., originally dedicated by President Grant in 1874. Mr. Hoover and a line of Civil War heroes like those whom he will honor at Columbus are also shown here.

WAS INVITED TO STOP OFF IN RANGER

Aviatix Unhurt and Says Any Other Plane Would Have Been Dangerous.

Wire reports received this morning from Abilene said that Amelia Earhart had cracked up in taking off from the airport there on her way to Fort Worth and Dallas. The report said that she was uninjured in the accident and that her auto-giro had settled down on top of some automobiles parked at the edge of the airport. Shortly before taking off, Miss Earhart was delivered a telegram asking her to stop off in Ranger for a few minutes on her way to Fort Worth. She had not indicated whether she would make the stop. The telegram which was signed by the Chamber of Commerce read: "Best luck for a successful trip. Land at Ranger airport for a few minutes if possible."

'Don Juan' Held In Wife Slaying

YOUTH IS SOUGHT IN SHOOTING

SAN ANTONIO, June 12.—Officers today were seeking Bob Compton, 27, of Gonzales, in connection with the shooting and critical wounding of his sweetheart, Lillian Nagel, 17, in the living room of her home here last night. The young woman, who was graduated a few days ago from the Brackenridge high school here is in a critical condition in a local hospital with a .38 calibre bullet wound in the head. The girl's mother in an adjoining room at the time of the shooting reported hearing the shot and running in to see Compton leaving and her daughter lying on the floor. The girl's father, Fred Nagel, local manufacturer, found a note signed by Compton indicating the deed was caused by jealousy of an army lieutenant and saying: "There is no use looking for me for I will be dead when you find me."

FOUR INJURED NEAR BRADY IN TWISTER

DALLAS, June 12.—Four persons were recovering today at a Brady hospital from injuries and Texas at half a dozen widely separated points surveyed property damage of the second day of high winds and heavy rains in the state this week. Mrs. Jack Whitehead and three of her small children were hurt when a small tornado picked up their seven-room frame house near Rochelle, McCulloch county and moved it 200 yards in two jumps. One of Mrs. Whitehead's legs was broken. The children were cut and bruised. Whitehead saw his home picked up and smashed by the twister from the thresher at which he was working in a field nearby. The most severe wind and rain storm in years was reported at Commerce and Greenville in Hunt county. An inch of rain was reported at Greenville? Trees and signs were blown about. An inch of rain and an electrical storm was reported at Brownwood. A small tornado destroyed small buildings at the home of F. D. McLemore in Ellis county, east of Ennis. The farm house was lifted from its foundation but McLemore and his wife were unhurt. The farm house of J. H. Henderson, west of Ennis, suffered the same fate. Heavy rains and high winds but little damage was reported at Ennis.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT.....

Tickville Band is getting so popular that it looks very much like it will have to give up other professions, trades, and callings to go into the manufacturing business. Tickville Band Makes Big Hit At Rotary Meet

The American Legion Tickville band of Ranger scored another of its sensational hits at the inter-city meeting of Rotary clubs at Eastland last night when the Rotarians from Ranger, Eastland, Cisco and Breckenridge assembled in the roof garden of the Connellie hotel. Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological college at Lubbock, was the principal speaker of the evening and his talk was well worth listening to. H. C. "Andy" Anderson of Ranger acted as toastmaster and served in a capable manner. He was lamenting this morning that one "bobber" marred his evening's performance of his duties. He introduced Dr. Harry A. Logsdon as director of the Tickville band and asked that he stand up. Dr. Logsdon was out putting on his makeup for the entertainment. Andy then said he would introduce "Buzz" Johnson, announcer for the band, only to find that Buzz had come on a hurry call for Dr. Logsdon. The appearance of the band relieved the strain which only Andy was feeling and literally "knocked 'em off their seats," as the vaudeville actors say when they have made a hit. The reception given the band was spontaneous and the house was with them from the opening number until the last piece had been played. With one possible exception, it was the most appreciative audience before which the band has appeared.

Returns to Pen To Keep Pledge

To "keep faith with God," Charles E. Johnson, 66, above, recently returned to Nebraska State Prison at Lincoln, from which he escaped 38 years ago with seven months left to serve of a four-year term for forgery. When Johnson was shipwrecked off the Japanese coast a few months ago, he prayed to be saved, promising to return to prison. The prayer was answered, he said, so he came back.

Lions To Hold A Conference At Breckenridge

BRECKENRIDGE, June 12.—More than 150 Lions and lady guests are expected here tonight for the quarterly district conference. A banquet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock. Representatives from Cisco, Rising Star, Eastland, Ranger, and Strawn will gather at the "Y". The Rev. Kenneth Pope, pastor of the local First Methodist church, will be the principal speaker on tonight's program. All of the clubs will have a part in the entertainment.

'New Discovery' Is Old Remedy Out In Oregon

SALEM, Ore.—Oregon poultrymen are chucking over a "new discovery"—tobacco as a poultry feed. The announcement was made from a Pennsylvania college. For 25 years, Oregon poultrymen have used tobacco as poultry feed. Its principal use was as preventive of certain diseases. Powdered tobacco mixed in bran or mash, feeds was a favorite remedy and is still used quite generally.

Wisconsin Men Will Excavate Petrified Trees

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A forest of petrified trees in Yellowstone National Park will be excavated by a group of men from the Milwaukee public museum. The work will be done at the request of the federal government and is sponsored by the national park service. Dr. S. A. Barrett, museum director, said the Yellowstone forest of stone is unusual because so many of the trees are upright. The national park service will build a trail to the excavation district and open it to tourist traffic during the summer.

A. & M. Plans for Two Buildings To Cost $550,000

COLLEGE STATION.—Building plans at Texas A. and M. college, recently authorized by the board of directors, call for erection of chemistry building at cost of $350,000 and agricultural engineering building at cost of $200,000. The staff of Dr. F. E. Giesecke, college architect, is now drawing up plans and specifications for the buildings on which construction is to be started as soon as possible. Expense of the buildings will be met from A. and M.'s share of the income from the University of Texas oil lands. The directors, in keeping with authority granted by the Forty-second Legislature, authorized the college to borrow in all the sum of $2,000,000 for building purposes, from the University's permanent fund, this to be repaid out of A. and M.'s share of the oil land income. The board further authorized setting aside at once funds for the construction of the two buildings cited. The remainder of the sum will be drawn upon later as building plans are worked out. The $350,000 authorized for the chemistry building will include the building proper and equipment costs. Laboratory unit of the building has already been erected at cost in excess of $100,000. The board is to meet again July 4 to consider in further detail the college building program.

Loved Wife a "Lot" But Thought $5 Too Much Alimony

DETROIT.—James P. Robinson, a salesman, loved his wife, Elrona, "an awful lot," but not enough that he was willing to pay $5 a week temporary alimony. "If you love her as much as you say, why object to $5 a week alimony," Judge Harry B. Keidan asked Robinson. "Well, I love her all right, your honor, but not that much." The alimony payment was set at $5, however.

Nautical School May Be Opened At A. & M. College

COLLEGE STATION.—The proposal to establish a nautical school under the direction of the Texas A. and M. college board, as authorized by the 42nd legislature, will be considered in detail by committee of the board named at recent meeting. The proposed nautical school, according to terms of the legislative enactment, would be to train marine engineers and architects, navigators and others for marine fields. Plans for the school, as outlined by its sponsors, would include use of a training vessel to be maintained, partly by federal appropriation, at some Texas port.

Truck Operators To Organize Soon

FORT WORTH, June 12.—Texas truck operators and allied interests will organize within a fortnight to get a quick test of house bill number 336 in an attempt to prevent junking of $200,000,000 in equipment, Ed Sproles, an operator, said today. The bill was signed yesterday by Governor Ross Sterling.

FLORIDA LAWMAKERS STRIKE BACK.

Governor Doyle E. Carleton of Florida vetoed a legislative bill to permit racing with parimutuel betting in that state. There was a lull in the proceedings and after the senators caught their breath a motion was made to override the Carleton veto. It prevailed 26 to 12. It originally passed the senate by a vote of 20 to 15. It was adopted in the house 55 to 38. Then the house reversed itself and the state receives three per cent of the gross wagers and 15 per cent of the admission.

For years and years Wall Street was an unroofed gambling house and covered more space than any gambling concern in the wide world. Billions were won and billions were lost while the carnival was on. There are American lawmakers who would penalize crapsshooters and poker players and the pikers who place their dimes and nickels on a horse race. But never a word of protest or a law enactment for the penalizing of the Napoleons of finance of the stock exchange for the American world. Consistency is the rarest of all jewels.

AN AMERICAN STEEL CITY.

Gary is a city of steel. It is celebrating its 25th birthday. It has a population of 100,000. Early in 1906 the late Elbert Gary picked from the storm scarred sand shores of Lake Michigan the site of the inland center of the United States Steel Corporation. Hundreds of millions of dollars were dumped on the dune-dotted shores. Dredges scooped out a harbor "where waves had washed unmolesied since glaciers formed the Great Lakes." Planners provided for a city of 42 miles square. Trees were planted where tumble weeds had thrived and today there are shady lawns. Gary is the greatest inland city of the American house of steel. A monster parade was a feature of its 25th anniversary "with 50 racial groups participating." It was built and is owned and controlled by the house of steel is one of the gigantic financial and industrial organizations of the world.

THIS HAPPENED IN KANSAS.

Two former students of the Kansas university convicted of liquor law violations were given jail sentences and $300 fines by a district judge after a jury had returned a verdict of guilty. These boys were taking liquor to Lawrence for a fraternity party last winter and vigorous prosecution and conviction followed their trial until jail doors were closed behind them.

Kansas should enact a suspended sentence law. Boys who are not criminals should not be given the limit for first offense.

FEDERAL BONDS SNAPPED UP.

Representing the greatest nation as well as the richest on the map of the earth "Uncle Andy" Mellon made his $800,000,000 bond offering to the American public. In the twinkling of an eye it was oversubscribed seven times. American financiers know a good thing when they see it. A low interest bond backed by Uncle Sam and his four hundred billion dollar hand is as stable as the golden hinges on the gate of paradise. Coming back? Yes. America always comes back—by easy stages a landing is ever made.

Three Million To Visit West Coast in 1932

SAN FRANCISCO.—More than 3,000,000 delegates, visitors and tourists, including many of the nation's most noted economic leaders, will visit California in 1932.

Leland Cutler, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, made this prediction upon his return from the United States Chamber of Commerce convention at Atlantic City.

Some 10,000 delegates are expected for the convention of the national chamber when it is held in San Francisco next year, Cutler said.

In addition, the Rotary International convention in Seattle; the Olympic games in Los Angeles; the conference of business leaders of 11 western states, Hawaii, China, Japan and Australia; and the mobilization of the United States fleet at San Diego and San Pedro, when 175 ships carrying 50,000 officers and men will be assembled, will bring many persons to California.

Cutler further stated that the Republican and Democratic national conventions might be held here. Cleveland is the only competitor for the Democratic conclave, he declared, while the G. O. P. meet is practically assured.

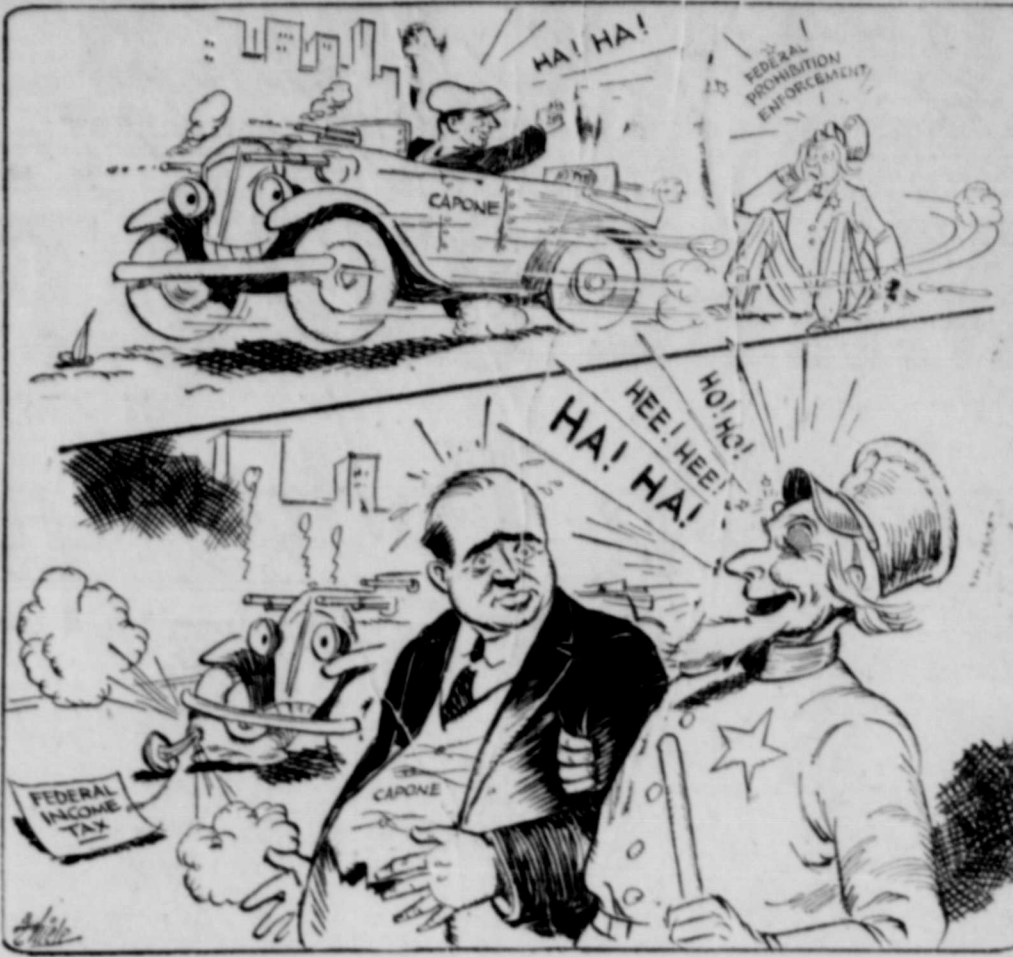

Cisco Baptists Pay a Visit To County Home

Circle No. 6 of the W. M. S. of the Cisco Baptist church paid a visit to the county home Thursday afternoon and presented the inmates with a bountiful supply of candy, fruits and cake which was joyously received. Mrs. H. L. Kunkel was chairman of the group.

H. R. Pafford, superintendent of the home, stated this morning that he and those in his charge greatly appreciated these acts of kindness and thoughtfulness on the part of the Cisco people and invited them to visit them at any time whether they brought fruits or not.

He Who Laughs Last!

Capitol in New Business Shows Big Increase

AUSTIN.—Capital amounting to $14,417,000 was invested in new companies organized in Texas during May, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. This is the largest amount for any month since June, 1929, the bureau's report showed. "The total for April was $8,690,000, while that for May of last year was $5,562,000," the Bureau's report said. "The number of new companies organized in May was 226, compared to 203 in April and 168 in May, 1930. "Oil companies totaled 64 of the entire number, making the highest monthly figure for corporations of this character in the present decade. Organization of nine public service companies represented the greatest activity of this kind since May, 1929. Other classifications included 23 manufacturing companies, four banking-finance corporations, fourteen real estate and building organizations, and 112 firms of general purpose. "Foreign permits for the month amounted to 41, compared to 52 in April and 39 in May of last year."

CARBON NEWS

CARBON, June 11.—Rev. Henry Cox of Jackson Tenn., filled the pulpit at the Baptist church and gave his audience a very interesting sermon...

Here is THE TRUTH ABOUT WARDS TIRES

Montgomery Ward & Co. sells two qualities of tires

THE RIVERSIDE is our first quality tire

It is made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. It is built to one of the most stringent sets of specifications in the tire industry...

Other fine tires equal in quality to our Riversides are Firestone, High Speed, Goodyear All Weather and Goodrich Silvertown Cords... but these tires are much higher priced than Riversides.

Having studied that price comparison there remains only one question for you to ask... 'Are Riverside tires really as good as these other tires with which they are compared?' Well, Montgomery Ward & Co. has been in business for sixty years...

THE TRAIL BLAZER is our second quality tire

It is of the quality similar to such other nationally known 'second-line' tires as Firestone Oldfield, Goodyear Pathfinder, and Goodrich Cavalier. And it, too, sells for LESS than other second-line tires...

This combination of quality-with-lowest-price which is offered by Ward's seems to have made some of our competitors very envious... But they do NOT compare their first quality tires with our Riversides... and their second-line tires with our Trail Blazers...

8 WAYS TO COMPARE TIRE VALUES

Table comparing 8 ways to compare tire values: Non-Skid Depth, Tread Thickness, Thickness of Tire, Width, Strength of Carcass, Strength of Tread Stock, Outside Diameter, and Squeezees. Compares Ward's Trail Blazers, Firestone Oldfield, Goodyear Pathfinder, and Goodrich Cavalier.

If you want a first quality tire... buy RIVERSIDES... and save money. If you want a second quality tire... buy TRAIL BLAZERS... and save money. Montgomery Ward & Company stands back of every claim made in this advertisement. And remember: That Ward's Always Sells for Less.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

ONE of the most attractive ways to serve fish during warm weather is on a plank. Plank cooking is always interesting and the effect on serving is decidedly sumptuous. Delightful color contrasts can be worked out with appetizing results.

Planked salmon steaks with spinach timbales are colorful and inviting while the food value of the combination is unusually great. The use of plank is not imperative, although it is a convenience and tends to keep foods hot. If a plank is not used, the fish slices can be broiled and served on a hot platter surrounded with the timbales. Crisp parsley and lemon wedges add more color when the fish is served.

Planked Salmon

The following recipe is for salmon but any variety of fish can be used—small boned fresh-water and deep-sea fish, as well as deep-sea fish cut in steaks and fillets. Two slices salmon, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1 cup white sauce, 1 lemon. Brush both sides of each slice of salmon with olive oil and brown on both sides in a hot frying pan. Remove to hot oiled plank, placing one steak on plank. Sprinkle with lemon juice and cover with a layer of eggs cut in slices and moistened with white sauce. Cover with second slice of salmon and sprinkle with lemon juice. Surround with timbales, garnish with wedges of lemon and sprigs of parsley and serve.

Spinach Timbales

Two pounds spinach, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 1-3 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 eggs (yolks). Wash spinach through many waters and remove coarse stalks and stems. Cook in water which clings to leaves. Cook uncovered and add salt when about half cooked. Let water cook away as much as possible without burning. Drain and chop very fine. Season with lemon juice, sugar and pepper and add egg yolks well beaten. Turn into buttered individual molds. Place several folds of paper in a pan of hot water and bake in oven for fifteen minutes, taking

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST Sugared cherries, cereal, cream, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON Jellied vegetable salad, graham bread and cream cheese sandwiches, blackberry shortcake with cream, lemonade.
DINNER Planked salmon with potato marbles and spinach timbales, salad of tomatoes stuffed with celery and cabbage, cantaloupe sherbet, macarons, milk, coffee.

care that the water surrounding the timbales does not boil. Use mold and serve on plank. Serve Hollandaise sauce in a separate dish.

The plank can be bordered with a piping of mashed potato or alternate the timbales with mounds of potato marbles.

If potatoes are not wanted, dessert of rice pudding made with milk and served with fruit brings the meal into wholesome balance.

A vegetable salad in vinaigrette or if fruit is not used for dessert, a fruit salad is an excellent choice. Use care not to over-crowd meal. The temptation to use a plank when serving this type of variety of vegetables is apt to befall one but a too copious arrangement makes serving difficult at the table.

TIGER'S TOMB BRINGS RICHES TO HIS TOWN

By United Press.

SAINT VINCENT SUR JARD (Vendee).—The tomb of Georges Clemenceau, carved into the grave of Colombers Woods, near Mouchamp, has become a gold mine for this barren region of Vendee. Everything that the old Tiger touched during his lifetime in his Vendee playground has turned to gold, or rapidly is being converted.

The peasant, whose fields surround the woodlot, has put away his plow and has waxed wealthy by putting up a fence and charging pilgrims four cents to cross his fields to the grave. In all the hotels of the region, the gullible visitors are shown "Clemenceau rooms" and charged for each visit.

When Clemenceau went to Vendee, he generally remained close to his fisherman's hut, but there are dozens of hotels that offer visitors the sight of an authentic lair of the old Tiger.

Shacks Sprung Up

Around the grave and the hut have been hastily erected shacks from which vendee fishermen and farmers, who have quit their nets and plows, now sell plaster busts, bits of the Tiger's garden walls and even dried seeds from his garden.

The Tiger's old chauffeur, Brabant, has grown rich beyond his dreams. Without funds or a job, Brabant came to Saint Vincent upon the death of Clemenceau as custodian of the fishing house. Now tourists who pour through the place leave a stream of gold behind them, generally estimated at from $20 to $30 a day.

There has been nothing but quarreling in Vendee since Clemenceau died, so to restore peace there soon will be three fishing huts along the coast, all exactly alike inside and out.

Never Quarreled

During his life, Clemenceau never had any quarrels with his landlords. His little hut was owned by M. Luce de Tremont and was built on ground belonging to M. de Fremont, Madame Mevin and the French government. The Tiger paid France four cents a year rent, Mme. Mevin eight cents and M. de Tremont $6.00.

In the Clemenceau biography, by his secretary, M. Jean Martet, was built and furnished on adjoining grounds. That made a pair of the Vendee huts.

Then Secretary Martet decided to build another replica. That makes three huts along the seacoast, as alike as three peas in a pod.

Waterspout Hums Like Plane Engine

By United Press.

SEATTLE.—Pedestrians stopped and looked upward, golfers hesitated in their play, workmen put down their tools momentarily when a musical humming, persisted, and then spectators saw what was generally said to have been one of the most peculiar sights ever seen in the skies hereabouts.

A queer cloud, appearing like an "aerial waterspout," descended upon a darker cloud below until the point of the cone seemed to enter the dark cloud and draw its sustenance from its interior. The spiral grew larger, while the black cloud diminished in size. Then the cone rose until it disappeared in a heavy bank of clouds. The humming sound ended with its disappearance.

Observers were unable to tell exactly what it was, but believed it was in the nature of a cyclone.

Doctor's Fruit Jar Bank Is Solvent

By United Press.

SILVAM SPRINGS, Ark.—The late Dr. John Doss' fruit jar bank has been found solvent.

Shortly after his death recently Dr. Doss told his legal representatives that he had a sum of money hidden but did not reveal its whereabouts.

A search revealed $1,362.50 in a buried fruit jar.

Yanuh, Jack Johnson would try it again. The man who beat Jim Jeffries' comeback attempt for the heavyweight championship in 1910 would take on some of our present-day heavyweights. Jack is 53 years old and weighs 230 pounds, less than when he shielded his eyes from the sun in Havana as the referee counted 10 over him and handed the title to Jess Willard. Looks cute in the beret, doesn't he?

Museum Gets Vehicles of Wheelmen

It was the last active meeting of the Wheelmen's Association in Philadelphia, for when the gray-haired veterans of the organization had taken a final spin on their old high-wheelers and tandems, the relics were turned over to the Franklin Institute as museum pieces. Here you see May McPharlane, left, and Celia Dickter with a "single-seater" built in 1817. Note the flat iron tires and the absence of pedals.

Keeps Suicides Secret As Humane Thing To Do

By United Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Coroner M. E. Hayes of Mahoning county has kept "quite a number" of suicides secret because it is "humane" to shield the victim's family from notoriety.

This practice, which his critics claim is a violation of city laws, came to light with the recent discovery that James A. McAleer, former major league manager, killed himself. Previously the death had been reported due to natural causes and no reports had been made to police.

"Sure, I've covered up quite a number of suicides," Hayes replied readily to his interrogators. "Furthermore, I'm going to continue to do it. I believe it is the humane thing to do."

R. I. Legislature Has Woman As a Ghost Writer

By United Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—The Rhode Island general assembly has a "ghost writer" in the person of Miss Grace M. Sherwood, who has charge of the legislative reference bureau at the state library.

Among the many legislative resolutions worded by Miss Sherwood were those voicing the state's greeting to Charles A. Lindbergh, and its sympathy upon the deaths of Nicholas Longworth and William Howard Taft.

At its recent session the general assembly cited Miss Sherwood for "marked ability and cheerful compliance with all demands upon her natural or acquired outstanding literary talents." The senate in a special resolution commended her for "her invaluable assistance to us in the drafting of various resolutions of expression of the sentiment of the senate."

Big Stomachs Put Under Ban

By United Press.

EVANSTON, Ill.—Bigger brains and smaller stomachs have become entrance requirements at Garrett Biblical Institute, the Methodist church's largest seminary.

In the past it has been too easy for men to get into the ministry, according to Dr. F. C. Eiselein, president of the institute, but from now on thorough physical and mental examinations will be required of potential preachers.

The policy will serve to eliminate the well-fed appearance at the Bible school, it was predicted, and a tightening of belts as Methodism's future pastors get in fighting trim for pulpit battles.

Besides setting a new standard of athletic physique, the institute will require applicants for entrance to have college degrees and honorable of passing special intelligence and psychological tests.

LONE GIRL FLYER AND ROUTE SHE IS TO TAKE IN FOLLOWING LINDY'S TRAIL ACROSS ATLANTIC

An angler, like a pitcher, gets best results when his hook and sinker are working. Add to your boring facts: there is $480,000,000 worth of gold in the teeth of American citizens.

Hoping to be the first girl flyer to span the Atlantic alone and planning to follow the "Lindbergh route" along the Great Circle, Ruth Nichols, famous aviatrix, is poised at New York, ready to take off along the course shown on the above map as soon as the weather seems favorable.

Miss Nichols plans to fly by easy stages to Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, and take off from there for the hope across the ocean and possibly land in Ireland or England before proceeding to Paris. Lindbergh made his non-stop flight over the same route in 33 1/2 hours.

Two other women flyers have flown the Atlantic before. Amelia Earhart crossed from Newfoundland to England and Ruth Elder also reached the European coast before dropping into the sea, but both were accompanied by men.

Motion Picture Business Now Adjusting Funds

NEW YORK.—With changes in management and banking connections, dividend paying and new methods of earnings reporting, the motion picture business has been going through a period of financial readjustment paralleling that which took place during the period of transition from silent to talking films, when the industry used $200,000,000 of new capital in the change.

Business depression and consequently lower earnings, evolution of new standards of entertainment, the transient character of the industry's banking connections and the repercussions of the expansion scramble that the leading producers and distributors engaged in during 1929 and 1930 have made this adjustment necessary and, while attended by several shakeups in various quarters, there is no doubt in financial circles that it has placed the business on a more stable basis.

Conservation in the matter of dividends has become the watchword of the industry's leading units and the necessity for this development has been reflected in passing or reduction of the dividend rates on stocks of Warner Brothers, Paramount-Public Corporation, Fox Film and some of the smaller motion picture and allied companies.

Retrenchment has gone so far as to bring about a reduction of 5 to 25 per cent in salaries of all employees of the Paramount-Public Corporation, long recognized as one of the strongest companies financially in the industry, while greater economies in production and distribution are constantly being sought.

Meanwhile, some of the leading companies in the business have been subjected to management changes as a result of financial developments. With the exit of Halsey, Stuart & Company from the financial affairs of the Fox Film Corporation, directors connected with Halsey, Stuart left the Fox Board and were replaced by members of other banking houses that handled the company's financing program in April. Chase Securities Corporation was the leader of the group.

That the industry's bankers have insisted on having their own way in various phases of the management of leading companies was reflected recently in the withdrawal of a Hyden, Stone & Co. and Goldman, Sachs & Co. as bankers for Warner Brothers.

A difference of opinion in regard to new financing and current position of the company between the Warners and the bankers resulted in the withdrawal and resignation from the board of Warners of Walter E. Sachs, of Goldman, Sachs and Richard F. Hoyt, of Hayden, Stone & Co.

All this, according to well-informed opinion, reveals that the industry is coming down to earth financially and the net result of the readjustment taking place in all branches of the business will, it is believed, leave it more strongly entrenched financially than it ever has been.

Rolling Pin 184 Years Old Still in Regular Service

ALLENTOWN, Pa.—A rolling pin used in making pie crusts 1747 is still in use today.

The rolling pin was passed down in the Helft family from ancestor who settled in Upper Merion Township, Northampton county, prior to the Revolutionary war, and planned to a diameter of one and one-half inches.

The Helft family also has their prized possessions in a chest built in 1702.

The chest is constructed of dark hard wood. In the right side there is a hole to hold a candle for reading purposes.

On the lower rung there is a small worn space where an ancestor had formed the habit of sitting his feet as he read.

HITS AND SLIDES Henry L. Farrell

Schmeling Improves
THERE has been a vast improvement in the style of Max Schmeling since the night I saw Sharkey hit him with everything but the timekeeper's gong. The other day I watched him belt three sparring partners at his training camp at Campout Lake Park, Pa.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—
SAM WARD, colored sparring partner at Stribling's training camp, stood at the ringside talking to the Georgian the other day. "You've got a pretty good tan there, boss," to which Stribling's quick reply was, "And you've got a pretty good one yourself!"

Countering
ONE of the points I noticed about the German was his ability to counter punch. In mixing it with Tony Debolt, several times he took fairly hard smacks on the chin, but he scored two solid smashes for every poke he took.

that does not travel far.
I wouldn't say he is a good boxer. But he is much better than I expected to find him early in the training grind. His exhibitions have improved him as a boxer. He gave me an impression of agility that he did not show in any of his fights.

Close Stuff
He uses a "good left" to the body bringing in the right in one-two style. In one of his bouts he brought up some sneaking uppercuts against the chin of Tony Marullo that were pretty to watch. I do not think Stribling will want to come in too close with him. He can hit like an engine with a punch

A great many boxing critics say he "can't fight a lick." I wish to dissent. He can fight like a fool.

LONDON REACTS TO ALFONSO'S FORCED EXILE

By United Press
 LONDON, June 11.—Rumblings from the overthrow of King Alfonso XIII in Spain were heard in London, greatest of the few remaining monarchies, but they rock the throne of King Alfonso XIII.

Reactions took the form of a bill that parliament be re-elected and transformed into a bill of action instead of one of reaction. There is still one school of thought here James Britain's decline as a power upon ineffective policies.

Causes of unrest, firebrand talk, are here just as they have been unseated and dethroned. Once the mistress of the world, she has seen many of her markets fall before the advance of the United States. Germany has more than 100 unemployed, and millions of dollars are needed to re-equip the industry which at present is languishing.

Empire Unity Necessary.
 A more Great Britain must be her dominions, who are the mother country of the British king is the symbol of empire unity. Thus, it is a republican form of government of the United States, Germany and the other nations, the connecting link of the empire possessions. The re-integration, economists would be felt in every home and where the standard of living would be greatly reduced.

Other nations, the parliament system here ensures a majority and a republican could offer no more. Out of the great love the English for their king, as shown during the recurrent illness, the nature of the British is to be a safeguard against the addition there is the much unemployment insurance commonly known as the "dole" which statesmen of the labor parties insist is a deterrent of an open economy.

Some Bright Spots.
 There are a few bright spots on the industrial horizon. In South America it is stimulated by the exhibition held at Buenos Aires. Lancashire hopes peace will permit the normal flow of cotton manufactures to the general trade missions have a thorough survey of business marketing conditions in Indian countries, Egypt, East and South America, several elaborate plans for the re-organization of industry are being worked.

Academy To Drop Education Policy

 VERMONT'S RIVER, Vt., June 11.—Vermont Academy will abandon its educational policy next fall, when it reverts to its former status as a preparatory school for boys.

Founded in 1876 as a school for boys, it clung to that policy for 35 years. During the last 13 years, the number of boys studying there rapidly increased and it became advisable to develop available dormitory space.

MOM'N POP

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Beryl Borden loves Tommy Wilson and prevents his elopement with her half-sister, Irene Everett. The latter is furious when she fails and Beryl secures a radio contract. Beryl tries to forget her hopeless love by going to parties with Freckles Gaylord. Irene learns Prentiss is rich and tries to win him from Beryl.

Tommy's aunt dies and he loses both job and money through her husband. Tommy tells Irene and she breaks their engagement. When Prentiss asks her to marry him she accepts. In despair Tommy drinks heavily and joins evil companions. Fearing Beryl will expose her deceit, Irene slips away and marries Prentiss.

Beryl develops throat trouble and the doctor advises rest. She catches cold while seeking Tommy to beg him to leave his bootlegging gang. Her throat becomes worse and she is told that her singing career is over. When Tommy realizes Beryl has made this sacrifice to save him he reforms, gets another job and starts night courses to finish college.

Beryl is happy again until Irene comes home after leaving Prentiss whom she accuses of mistreating her. Beryl realizes that Irene is trying to regain Tommy's love and is taking steps to secure a divorce.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIX

Tommy was in love with Beryl. Irene saw it with eyes sharpened by jealousy, and mocked at this situation, called Tommy fickle and laughed scornfully at his blindness.

Tommy in these last weeks had become a far more interesting and desirable Tommy than the callow boy she had claimed as her own since they were children. There was a subtle dignity, a seriousness about him that commanded respect and liking.

Moodiness had dropped from him like a discarded garment. Irene could not understand the new Tommy. It was clear enough to her that he did not understand himself either, and that he accepted the change without question. But it annoyed her to realize that she, who remarked the change, could not analyze it. What was it that eluded her?

That was during the first week. The second she sensed that something of the old Tommy was stirring in him, breaking through the detached mood that possessed him. Touching this spark gave her her limited satisfaction for she'd been thinking that she'd lost her appeal for him.

The discovery that Tommy cared for Beryl had stung. Consciously she strove to exert the old enchantment over Tommy. Irene did this even though she understood that Tommy's feeling for her was not the gold of his love for her sister—the gold that lay buried deep in his heart. She thought Tommy was like a man who sought to grow a garden in the barren soil topping a rich vein of pure ore.

Well, if you never knew you had a thing you couldn't miss it when you lost it. And Irene wanted you lost. Tommy was hers. So she set herself to make his garden bloom for him. She would have it bloom with red roses and bright vivid poppies, with flame and color and life.

At first Tommy did not know that her spell was upon him once more. They had met—a meeting his fancy had been unable to etch in for him, so tremendous was its import. He had said with a coolness that startled himself and infuriated Irene, "Did you have a pleasant trip?"

He did not know why he was not excited as he had feared he would be. He did not know that he had outgrown all but the memory of a youthful passion for Irene or that he was and always had been the true lover of another girl. The bondage of love that held him and Beryl had been of such gradual, undramatic growth that Tommy was entirely unaware of it as love. Their quarrels, their reconciliations, were to him just incidents of friendship.

And Beryl, watching in despair the return of his infatuation for Irene, was determined not to interfere. She saw Irene make herself lovely whenever Tommy was expected at the house, saw her wipe the petulant expression from her face on several occasions as though with a cloth, and substitute a mask of smiling charm. She saw that Tommy sometimes looked at Irene as he had looked at her when they were sweethearts.

Beryl grew bitter. If Irene could win Tommy back then she, Beryl, did not want him. If he could so easily be called back by a girl who had jilted him then Tommy had, as he had feared in the beginning, a fundamental weakness he could never overcome.

She must love him always, she felt, but if she could not respect him she did not want him. Beryl took this attitude although she did not understand it.

She found her mother less inclined to let her have her own way. Mrs. Everett protested Gaylord's suing for the divorce, for one thing, Irene had insisted with wifely resignation that it did not matter. Later Mrs. Everett had spoken her mind on the subject of money. What did Gaylord expect Irene to do?

She had asked this question as, with troubled eyes, she watched Irene unpack the lovely clothes that made up her new wardrobe. Irene's father would never be able to provide her with anything like these gowns.

"Oh, Prentiss will have to give me some money when he gets the divorce," Irene had answered lightly. She did not wish her mother to inquire too closely into her financial affairs, for she was not disposed to share with her family the money her husband sent her weekly.

"Honey," her mother said nervously, "don't you think you might be making a mistake in leaving

Eastland County Woman Wins in Room Contests

COLLEGE STATION, June 12.—District winners in the fourth state-wide improved living room contest have been announced by M. S. Bernice Clayton, home improvement specialist in the extension service, Texas A. and M. College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The contest is conducted annually by the home demonstration agents of Texas in cooperation with farm publication, the Semi-Weekly Farm News, of Dallas. The contest this year involved 873 farm women in 86 counties. At least ten times that number of neighbors made partial improvements. Judging was by district home demonstration agents who exchanged districts for the judging.

The contest was divided into two classes. Class I included those making improvements that cost less than $50; class 2, in excess of that amount. First place district winners in each class will be judged during the next few weeks by Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, for announcement of state winners at the farmers short course at Texas A. and M. college, July 27 to Aug. 1. District and state prizes are given by the farm publication. District winners were as follows: District 3 (West Texas): Class I—First, Miss Hallie Hill, Sipe Springs, Eastland county; second, Mrs. Bascom Hargroves, Maryneal, Nolan county; third, Mrs. Dave Leatherwood, Big Spring, Howard county; fourth, Miss Clara Johnson, Cranfills Gap, Bosque county. Class 2—First, Mrs. E. K. Bernhausen, Riesel, McLennan county; second, Miss Zettie Scott, Sweetwater, Nolan county; third, Mrs. W. C. Rogers, Big Spring, Howard county; fourth, Mrs. Devey Martin, Talpa, Coleman county.

MEMORIALIZE FIRST SUPREME JUSTICES

AUSTIN.—Names of the first justices of the state supreme court of Texas will be enrolled on a monument which the state bar association has been authorized to place on the state capitol grounds.

The design calls for a white marble monument. A figure of justice appears in a niche and below it the names of the judges, Chief Justice John Hemphill and Associate Justices Abner Lipscomb and R. T. Wheeler.

Gaylord like this? You know it isn't so easy to do without nice things once you've grown accustomed to them.

Irene flung a silken bit of lingerie impatiently into a drawer. "You wouldn't have had me stay and be treated like a dog, would you?" she snapped.

"No, but..." Mrs. Everett hesitated, then plunged boldly on. "Gaylord might see his mistake and make it up to you if you'd go back. I mean he might ask you to come back, and... well... you oughtn't to do anything that would keep him from asking you," she ended lamely.

Irene stared haughtily at her. "What in the world are you driving at?" she asked, but she knew well enough, for Mrs. Everett had frowned on her interest in Tommy.

"I mean, dear, that you aren't divorced yet and Gaylord might not consider that you have a right to go around with other boys."

"Huh," Irene sniffed. "What other boys am I going around with? Here I stay at home like a recluse, minding my own business and trying to forget how shamefully I've been treated and now my own mother begins to lecture me because an old friend feels sorry for me and is nice about it!"

She started to sob into a pale green nightdress and her mother's protests were stilled. But she did not win her parent's consent. In fact, Mrs. Everett worked against her where Tommy was concerned.

For several successive Sundays following Irene's return Tommy went out with Beryl as usual. Anytime Mrs. Everett it was who told Beryl not to mind coming back in time to help prepare dinner or do up the dishes.

"One would think," Irene complained to her mother one lonely Sunday afternoon, "that you don't want me here. You don't let me have any fun at all. If you'd made Beryl stay at home for a change Tommy would have taken me to the football game."

"Beryl needs to get out one day a week," Mrs. Everett retorted shortly, and Irene said no more. Her mother, she suspected, was beginning to think she ought to return to Gaylord. Perhaps she feared a scandal, for she'd repeated what a neighbor had said about Irene's going to picture shows with Tommy.

"If you just knew how Prentiss treated me," she wailed, "you'd be more sympathetic."

Mrs. Everett could not defend Gaylord. Appearance were against him for certainly he made no effort of which she was aware to win Irene's forgiveness.

"Of course I'm sorry for you, honey," the mother gave it, "but I want you to be careful until it's all settled."

"And you're hoping it will be settled by my going back to Oakdale," Irene declared. "But I'm never going back. I hate that place! And if Tommy Wilson loves me it's nobody's business!"

Mrs. Everett sighed. "Please don't say such things," she said pleadingly, "your father might hear of it."

"I'm not afraid of him," Irene asserted. "I guess you've told him a lot of things that aren't so to keep him from throwing me out of the house. I know I'm not well come here," she added suddenly and began to cry.

Her mother, defeated, said no more, but the next morning, when she brought up Irene's mail to her she was again inclined to question the state of affairs.

There was the mystery of the daily letters that Irene had been receiving, for one thing, Irene had never divulged the name of her correspondent but the handwriting was plainly masculine. At first she had seemed glad to receive the letters, but after a few days she showed the beginning of an indifference that grew in exact ratio to the interest Tommy was showing toward her. Now the letters appeared to annoy her. She always read them alone but her mother discovered evidence that she destroyed them.

This morning Beryl had told Mrs. Everett that Tommy was getting a car of his own, one that he had picked up for "next to nothing" at the garage. The news disturbed Mrs. Everett more than she let Beryl see. She remembered hearing Irene say to Tommy that he ought to have a car. Now people would talk, the woman thought.

Beryl departed for the store and Mrs. Everett, alone with her thoughts while she waited for Irene to come down to breakfast, became increasingly apprehensive.

When the postman arrived and left the daily letter for Irene along with one or two others she trudged up the stairs with a settled determination to ask Irene what the letters meant.

Negro Becomes Rich in French Foreign Legion

SIDI-bel-ABBES, Morocco.—The only American negro in the hard-living, hard-fighting French Foreign Legion is Jackie Walker from San Francisco, and Jackie would not leave the Legion for anything. He is making a small fortune as a private under the French tricolor.

Jackie Walker is the leader of the Legion's own jazz band. Eleven years ago, when he was 18, he came over in a cattle boat and enlisted in the Second Regiment. At first he had too much fighting to do to think of increasing his meager pay of five sous (1 cent) per day, but since the war with the Rif ended he decided to form his own jazz band and, with readily given permission, to play in the cafes for money after his daily duty was done.

Desert Hears Jazz
 At nights, under the twinkling stars on the edge of the desert, Europeans, desert chieftains, sheikhs from the Sahara gather in the brightly lighted cafes and listen to Jackie Walker's jazz band play a languorous melody or a snappy jazz tune. There are six members of the band, two other Americans, one Scotch boy from Glasgow, an Englishman and a Parisian.

In the war against the Rifis, Walker received a bad wound and lay for months in a hospital, but his conduct was rewarded with the Colonial Croix de Guerre. Jackie is saving up his money. He will remain with the Legion for another five years when he will receive, in addition, a double pension for life from the French government. The normal period of service in the Legion is seven years and Walker, having decided to reenlist will be compensated in proportion.

Paul Rockwell, American writer who served with the Legion during the World War, recently came to Sidi-bel-Abbes and met Walker. "It's a man's life," he told Rockwell. "You've got to be ready to fight, dig roads under the burning sun, be content with a cent a day—unless you're lucky like me."

CMTC Applicants Must Be Accepted Before Camp Opens

FORT SAM HOUSTON, June 6.—In former years many Citizens Military Training Camp applicants who had not received definite acceptance or orders for camp have reported at the various camps taking chances that they would be enrolled for training. All C. M. T. C. applicants are warned that they must not report at camp unless they have received a definite acceptance and definite instructions to report at the camp. If any applicant should report at a camp without such definite acceptance and instructions he will not be enrolled and cannot be reimbursed for transportation.

The quotas for all C. M. T. Camps in this Corps Area have now been filled. Applicants have been accepted in the order of priority in which their applications have been received and their records completed in order to make them eligible for definite acceptance. Many young men have lost the opportunity to attend camp this year by failing to comply promptly with instructions received as to requirements necessary to complete their records and by failing to mail promptly the notification that they would accept training and would go to camp.
