

MOTOR TRUCKS PAY BIG SUMS IN YEARLY TAX

By United Press.
ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Citing figures from government sources purporting to substantiate his contention, B. E. Finley of the Truckmen's Association says motor truck operators are paying a fair share in taxes for the right to use the highways.
Last year motor vehicles contributed $1,000,388,000 in taxes, he pointed out. Of this amount commercial vehicles, including trucks and buses, paid $70,000,000, or 27 per cent of the total, although they represent only 10 per cent of all vehicles on the highways, he added.
"The total commercial vehicle tax," said Finley, "is made up of registration fees, gasoline taxes, special levies and personal property taxes. It lines up favorably with the $356,000,000 tax payment of the railroads, which are a considerably larger investment."
The damage to highways by heavy trucks is covered in the truck tax payment, according to the citation of a recent survey by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. This is quoted as saying by the chief factors contending in road construction are climatic conditions. A road built to withstand the impact of a private passenger car will sustain the stress of a three-ton truck.

Expert Warns Paris Of Mosquito Hord

By United Press.
PARIS.—Tired of being just a stray cousin of the fly, the mosquito is preparing to move permanently into the city.
In a scholarly address before the French Academy of Medicine, Dr. Legendre, French scientist, told how the insects are abandoning country marshes, dank fields and stagnant pools for sewers, water tanks and puddles in cellars and on roofs. He declared that if the mosquito continues to adapt itself to city ways, even architects must combat the menace by eliminating open drains in their plans for houses.

TEXAS DEAN HONORED

Dean Taylor extended them every courtesy.

DARE ARCTIC AIR TRAIL WHERE TWO WERE LOST

Undaunted by the mysterious fate of Parker D. Cramer and Oliver L. Paquette, who were lost on what is considered the easiest leg of the proposed "Trans-American" airmail route to Europe, these two flyers have left Detroit to make the same trip to Copenhagen. They are Edwin L. Preston, left, veteran airmail pilot, and Robert H. Collignon, radio operator and relief pilot.

Huge Snake Steals Out From Chinese Lake, Crushing Victims

By United Press.
PEIFENG.—Much excitement has been caused among Chinese residents in Tientsin by mysterious deaths recently of several men near a small lake in the outskirts, whose bones seem to have been crushed by an enormous pressure.
Excitement has increased by the report of a group of foreign children playing by the lake, who died in terror, declaring they had seen a huge snake come from the lake and fasten itself around a Chinese coolie sleeping on the shore.
The children were so terrified they did not dare to see what happened, but one boy said the snake was about 12 feet long and as thick as a man's thigh.
Chinese police have fenced in the lake, and warned people not to bathe in it, as they have been accused of at least three men have been found dead through crushing near the lake recently, the police declare.
How a snake of this size got into the lake (if it is there, is a mystery. No such snakes are indigenous to North China, and the police have no report of a snake escaping from a traveling circus.
The Chinese workman, who was attacked by the snake, according to the children's story, has made no report on the matter, and seems to have disappeared. Chinese police believe he may be a fourth victim.

4,400 REFUGEES RETURN

By United Press.
ROME.—The ministry of colonies has announced that during the past 30 months more than 5,400 refugees from Tripolitania have returned to their native country. Officials state these figures are sufficient proof of the inaccuracy of reports in Arab newspapers that the Italian authorities in the colony mistreat the natives. The majority of the refugees returned from Tunisia, Egypt, Syria and Jerusalem bringing their families.

TESTS OF AIR ROCKETS TO BE MADE IN AFRICA

By United Press.
TRIPOLI.—Professor Darwin O. Lyon, of New York, who arrived here recently to examine the Libyan desert in an effort to find a suitable site for his next experiment of launching a rocket projectile into the upper atmosphere, explained his preference for experimenting here.
"I have chosen Misra because the atmosphere is particularly clear, and in the midst of the desert there is a convenient hill, on which I can place my apparatus for firing off the rocket."
Professor Lyon said that the object of his experiments was to obtain scientific data about the upper strata of the atmosphere.
"So far my researches have been made with aerostats, airplanes and balloons, but the highest altitude reached is only about 35,000 meters."
Built Six Projectiles
The scientist stated that so far he had constructed six rocket projectiles, working with a succession of explosives in attached chambers. Of these rockets, three exploded at the moment of launching them, one partly exploded in the laboratory, and another was destroyed by the carelessness of a mechanic.
In 1929 one rocket reached an altitude of 9,500 meters.
The Professor said that stories regarding his intention to shoot a rocket at the moon were purely fantastic.
"My researches are directed toward an exploration of the upper atmosphere and nothing else."
Explaining the working of the rocket, which is about nine feet long and weighs over 300 pounds, he said:
"I have been able to develop a system of continuous rapid explosions, which, following each other quickly, impart to the projectile an acceleration of 30 meters a second. This is the maximum acceleration it is possible to obtain without damaging the registering apparatus annexed in the head of the apparatus."
Professor Lyon's rocket is divided into three sections, which are propelled by explosives at intervals. The registering apparatus is contained in the head of the rocket, which is the last to be propelled into space with explosives. Birds and mice will also be shot into space. A parachute is to be attached to this section of the projectile to bring it back to earth.
If all goes well, and according to his calculations, Professor Lyon hopes that his rockets projectile will reach an altitude of about 70 kilometers. Even if it reaches a lower altitude, and the registering apparatus returns safely to earth, the data obtained should be of the greatest scientific interest.

Little Things From the Big Winter Collection
PARIS.—Who can say which counts the most—the big things or the little ones, when it comes to assembling a wardrobe? Certain it is that they are equally dependent upon each other for the final effect that is their raison d'être. The following novelties are, therefore, to be carefully considered, for they may be the means of reinstating frocks from the wardrobe of other winters and making them unshamed.
The pessimists tell us that you can't put square pegs in round holes, but they don't know about Maggy Rouff's buttonholes. Her square pegs are in the shape of flat metal, wood, leather, bone and china buttons and they not only go through her round buttonholes without a murmur, but also with a squeal of delight, because they are accomplishing something smart that hasn't occurred to other buttons, or holes.
There is a very, very nautical necklace from Paul Poiret that has the flags of all nations done in bright colored enamel and strung on a tiny, almost invisible gold chain that fits the neck snugly. It is designed to be worn with a pama suit in red, white and blue flannel, or a yachting outfit combining the same colors.
We are not saying, mind you, that we approve of all of the things we see, but it is our duty, at least, to report the facts and let our public be the judge. Patent leather ruffles, for instance. They have been shown twice in black on green frocks, with additional collars and cuffs of the same fabric. Once they were simply gathered and, therefore, stood out almost parallel to the ground, but the second time they were pleated in tiny box pleats and were content to lie calm and flat against the skirt to which they were attached.
An entire coat collar made out of cock feathers is another novelty of the hour in Paris. The iridescent greens and browns and purples were quite grand in their gray fluttering to the breeze when the mannequin walked. They were arranged in a shawl effect that crossed in front at a low waistline. A muff of the same plumage and hat with more trailing sprays fell from the pointed back of the petit chapeau.
Silk jersey, as a material for the most formal evening gowns, is an innovation. It has that clinging tenacity that is so sought after for the new silhouette that seeks to combine a few frills, here and there, without disturbing the slenderness of natural body lines. White is the preference everywhere, but pale colors are permitted.

Bronzed Ex-Coast Guard Will Sail Around The World

By NEA SERVICE.
SHERIDAN, Wyo.—Thomas Fortune Ryan II decided several weeks ago that love is worth more than millions and still believes it.
Disinherited by his father, John Barry Ryan, New York capitalist, whose fortune is estimated between $20,000,000 and $100,000,000, young Ryan, who is 32, has found contentment and love in a cottage at the mining community of Sheridan, near here. His bride is the former Mrs. Mayme Cook Masters, 23.
A visitor to their tiny, frame dwelling found them happy and apparently unmindful of the loss of rights to the Ryan millions. Their home is modestly furnished, resembling the other cottages of miners and their families.
Young Ryan kicked over the traces when his father announced he would have to give up his bride or be cut off. Cutting off had been done before in the Ryan family. Allan A. Ryan, young Ryan's uncle, had been cut off with a pair of shirt studs.
But that did not deter the heir apparent.
Not that he plunged into marriage without knowing what it was all about. He had been married before. To Mrs. Margaret Moorehead Rea of Pittsburgh.
He had asked a divorce from her, charging "habitual intemperance." He withdrew this suit and later won a divorce on grounds of desertion.
Then he met Mrs. Masters. She had just been divorced from Thomas Masters, a rancher. They slipped away to Hardin, Mont., and were married. News of it transpired a week later.
Came the ultimatum from John Barry Ryan. But young Ryan had decided, and today he and his bride live in their little nest, "way out in the west, and let the rest of the world go by."
The impossible has been done again, the angle has been tri-angled. Next thing we know "One-Eye Connelly" will be paying his way.

"I don't know. I don't remember." That's what pretty Ruth Jayne Cranmer answered to accusations that she had shot State Senator Roy T. Yates of New Jersey during an argument in a New York apartment. She was arraigned in New York's West Side court, and here she is seen as she emerged from police headquarters, smiling and stubbornly silent.

Italy Plans Drive To Increase Radios

By United Press.
MILAN, ITALY.—The Third National Radio Fair will be held here eight days, beginning Oct. 19. Radio has made great strides in Italy in the past two years. New broadcasting stations have been opened in the principal cities and programs are becoming increasingly interesting.
The association of Italian Radio Technicians is planning a great drive during the Fair to make Italians more "radio minded." The percentage of Italian families who own receiving sets is quite small.

EUROPE'S LORDS OF CHANGE OPEN WAR ON GOULD

By United Press.
MONTE CARLO.—As a challenge to Frank Jay Gould, the gambling overlord of Monte Carlo have opened the most luxurious gambling palace in the world, where you can challenge the croupiers to play anything, from pin-ochle to ping-pong, with the sky as the limit.
It was the Society of Sea Baths, owners of the famed old casino on the rock, which is still open for business, that conceived this new palace of chance.
The casino is at the water's edge of the great expanse of blue Mediterranean. Six months ago this rim of the gold coast was a bleak affair. Now it boasts a gambling casino which knows no equal, a luxurious five-floor hotel adjoining the tables for tired business men, and off the coast floats a "show boat," also part of the establishment.
Ocean Liners
The casino expects an enormous influx, and to take care of the overflow so that they do not go on to San Remo, Cannes, Nice, or Juan-les-Pins, two 15,000-ton ocean liners have been chartered to anchor off shore and serve as floating hotels for the remainder of the summer. If business is bad, one of the hotels can steam away.
To inaugurate the casino, the sea-baths' directors decided to kill a persistent rumor. They have invited Miss Jeanette MacDonald, of film fame, to prove to the public that she is not dead, not the victim of a shooting affray growing out of a love affair with a famous prince.
That story ran the rounds of Europe and obituaries of pretty Jeanette were printed in every language of Europe. It was rumored that she was the third party in a triangle affair between a crown prince and his new princess-bride. All that time Miss MacDonald was actually hard at work in Hollywood.
Jeanette Rumors
But the rumor kept going around, and despite the fact that rumor has it now that Jeanette is not Jeanette at all, but her sister, the film star is making a personal appearance to prove that reports of her death were grossly exaggerated.
The smartest set of cosmopolitan society, recruited from the courts and the famed salons of Europe, was invited to the opening. The six bars, three dance floors and roof garden were thronged. There was standing room only around the tables where roulette and other games, forbidden in France were played. The bank proudly announced that it would cover any bet, any amount, on anything.

CROSS-CONTINENT RECORD SHATTERED BY NEW PLYMOUTH

San Francisco to New York and return in 132 hours—
On this record-breaking trip a New Plymouth Sedan, standard in every detail, covered 6287 miles at an average speed of 47.52 miles per hour and more than 1140 miles a day.
This smashed the existing two-way transcontinental mark, set between Los Angeles and New York, by 9 1/2 hours—the San Francisco-New York record by nearly 36 hours.
These marks were formerly held by cars costing several times the Plymouth price.
No greater example can be given of the astounding ruggedness, endurance and stamina of the New Plymouth. No finer proof can be offered of its performance, its power, its handling ease, its safety and its roadability.

OLD-TIME housewives always "put up" plums to serve in late winter. The pleasant tartness of plum delicacies was particularly acceptable with the heavy meals considered necessary to combat the winter's cold. Modern housewives find that same tartness delightful with roasts... all sweet varieties may be used in any of the following recipes.

- Plum Conserve
Five pounds plums, 1-2 cup hot water, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup nut meats, 3 pounds granulated sugar.
Wash plums and remove stones. Put fruit, raisins, hot water and sugar into preserving kettle and simmer gently until plums are clean. Add nuts and cook ten minutes longer. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.
- Plum and Peach Conserve
Four pounds plums, 4 pounds peaches, 1 pound seedless raisins, 5 pounds sugar, 1-2 cup peach kernels, 2 cups water.
Scald fruit and slip off skins. Remove stones and cook in water until tender. Rub through colander to make 1-2 cup kernels. Pour boiling water over kernels and let stand until skins slip off. Put through food chopper with raisins. Put all ingredients into preserving kettle and cook until thick. Stir to prevent burning. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Euchered plums are delicious.
- Harlequin Conserve
Wash green gage plums and cut out stones. Cook in a very little water until reduced to a pulp. Turn into a jelly bag and press out juice. Measure and use two cups sugar to two cups juice. Put juice and sugar into preserving kettle and cook slowly while preparing equal amounts of deep purple plums or prunes and crimson egg plums. Pare and quarter the fruit and remove pits. When the syrup has cooked almost to the jelly stage drop in prepared plums and simmer gently until fruit is clear. Turn into sterilized jars and cover with paraffine when cold.
