GUARDING HEALTH.

Attaches of the state health department have been quietly going about the business of insuring the public welfare against outbreaks of pestilence and disease in the drouth stricken areas ,and the results of the efforts of these nurses and sanitarians since May 1 is a commendation of the efficiency of the forces which the state, cooperating with the federal government, has placed in the field.

Prevention is the surest remedy in the world and the work that the sanitary corps has done cannot be adequately measured by estimation. Suffice it to say that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been saved to the people of the affected areas in the prevention of sickness with its attendant doctor and drug and hospital bills, not to speak of the more valuable saving in human suffering and life.

The following survey of the health work that has so far been accomplished speaks better than comment of the value of the campaign: "Nurses and sanitarians in the drouth areas of Texas report that steady progress is being made in the installation of health protective measures throughout the area. Since the work was begun on May 1, 1931, there have been 9552 sanitary toilets installed at farm homes and rural schools; 2893 wells improved; and 275 septic tank sewage disposal units constructed. This is indeed a remarkable showing and speaks well for the interest the people are taking in improving living conditions. More than 300 farmers have improved their dairies and methods of handling milk.

The immunization program has likewise been well receiv-There have been 8431 complete typhoid inoculations; 3888 successful smallpox vaccinations; and 6264 completed diptheria toxoid injections.

Through lectures more than 100,000 persons have been reached with health messages, thousands of instructive bulletins and other printed literature distributed, and healthcades carried on in Floyd, Swisher, Lynn and Dickens counties. A total of 1737 news articles and stories on health have appeared in the press throughout the state giving testi-mony to the healthmindedness of the present day newspaper

County school superintendents everywhere have eagerly grasped the opportunity of getting assistance in improving sanitary conditions at the rural schools. A safe water supply and sanitary toilet facilities at every rural school in the area is now the goal of these educators. Hundreds of clinics have been held and instruction given by the nurses in child care and the value of immunization.

According to the present budget the work will continue until February at least. Many of the workers report that they will have from one to a dozen communities in each county that will be 100 per cent sanitated by that time. Never before in the history of Texas has such a gigantic piece of rural health work been undertaken and the state department of health, city and county health officers, and the U.S. Public Health Service are deeply gratified at the results already secomplished or in sight.

A FEDERAL GAS TAX.

center the attention of the public on the whole problem of gar taxation

If a federal tax were levied, it would mean that eventually the total gas tax might be even doubled. Already the states have gone farther than is economically feasible in burdening the motorist. The average tax is now slightly in excess of four cents a gallon, and rates of five and six cents are becoming more common. In one state an eight-cent rate was defeated only by quick and decisive action on the part of the public. And rumblings of ten-cent rates are heard in the distance.

No other necessary and generally-used commodity is taxed so highly. Special and class taxes are always bad and when allowed to grow to excessive proportions, they become economic monstrosities.

THE COST OF CRIME.

In its report on "The Cost of Crime" the Wickersham Commission states that America's crime bill is well in excess of $1,207,000,000 a year. The average per capita cost of give your thoughts and energy to-crime in 300 cities which were surveyed, was $5.47. The wards today and tomorrow. lowest rate recorded-in Galesburg, Illinois-was 92 cents. The highest-in Jersey City-was $11.30 a year for each citizen. These facts should make the public wonder if the pleasure of passing new "reform" laws is worth what they cost, not only in actual money, but in security, freedom and a stable society.

As an economic measure the Commission recommends a weeding out of laws, to eliminate unnecessary and expensive social restrictions. There is nothing new in this, but it is well to bring it once more to public attention. If there is one cause responsible for the prevalence of crime, its cost, and the failure of law enforcement, it is the tremendous bulk of unnecessary laws on our statute books. The average citizen needs few laws to deter him from murder, housebreaking, kidnapping, blackmail and other age-old crimes, while a million laws, in themselves, will not stop the criminal from pursuing these same vocations and using a gun or a blackjack or any other murderous weapon, which he will secure, law or no law.

MARIHUANA.

Teeth in the law prohibiting sale of marihuana are biting the hands that enforce it.

To prove the sale against a suspected peddler, a Houston detective bought from him a quantity of marihuana cigarettes. Upon this evidence, an indictment was returned and the seller brought to trial.

In court, however, the case fell to pieces. It developed that the detective who made the purchase was as guilty, under the terms of the statute, as the man who made the sale. In consequence his position in court was that of an accom- of lice, and his evidence was thrown out for want of corrobora-

MICKEY COCHRANE of the Athletics, probably the greatest catcher of all time, gets the call over Jimmy Wilson of the Cardinals. Cochrane is the dynamo of Connie Mack's baseball machine. He is a master at working pitchers and keeps the team on its toes. He is a great hitter and contributes his share to the Athletics' home run total. Jimmy Wilson is one of the best catchers in the National League, but falls short of Cochrane's class. He gets the most out of his pitchers and has had a great deal to do in the making of Paul Derringer sensational rookie pitcher. The Athletics have Heving and Palmisano in reserve. again. Twenty-seven more crosses!

From childhood and Sunday school Norma remembered a hymn about crosses. No, she told herself vehemently, it was not sacrilegious to think of such things! Every day away from Mark, every 24 hours represented by a cross upon her calendar, was a literal cross to be borne on her shoulders.

Oh, what good could telling herself to be brave do? What good could anything do?

Norma was 20 years old. She was very much in love, desperately unhappy and lonesome. So, as

BEGIN HERE TODAY Pretty Norma Kent, 20-year-old secretary, marries Mark Trav-ers, son of F. M. Travers, million-aire real estate dealer, in spite of the father's threats to disinherit

Mark.
The story opens in Marlboro, middle westen metropolis. Mark sells his expensive roadster to get sells his expensive roadster to get money for the honeymoon and he and Norma go to fashionable Blue Springs. After two weeks their money is gone, partly due to Mark's gambling. With $500, borrowed, the couple return to Marlboro. Marks sets out on a round of pleasure seeking instead of hunting work. When their funds dwindle again he and Norma move to a cheap apartment.

Mark gets one job and loses it. Then he becomes a floorwalker in Blossomdale's department store. In spite of poverty the young cou-

In spite of poverty the young cou-ple are happy. After a few weeks Mark's father sends for him, of-fers to take him back into his business organization if Mark will prove he can make good. His first task involves a business trip to France. Norma is to remain at home. She is frightened and begs him not to go but in spite of her protests he departs. Norma, treated rudely at her father-in-law's home, slips away leaving no trace of her whereabouts. She takes a room in a cheap lodging house and tele-phones her former roommate, Chris Saunders. When Chris leaves the office in which she works Nor-

When she looked up all Chris said was, "Well—?"

"He—he didn't say anything." Norma went on hurriedly. "Ob. it was terrible that first night when I knew he recognized me! I tried to tell him before but he wouldn't let me! Mark knows him, Chris. He and Stone are some sort of cousins. Mark didn't guess that I'd ever seen him before though!"

The other girl straightened. Hereyes, meeting Norma's quite levelly, were a mask.

"Listen," Chris said, "you've done nothing to be ashamed of. If I were you I'd save my worrying until I had something to worry about. Something real! Don't lose your head, Norma. Tell me what you expect to do during the next Jour weeks?"

"I haven't thought it all out. I'll have to get a job somewhere I suppose. The money I have won't last. Anyhow I'd rather be doing something."
