MRS. JUDD IS STILL EVADING THE LAW Razors Schools Get Bulk of Will Hogg Estate

WILL IS READ IN NEW YORK EARLY TODAY

Varnor, Texas, A. & M. and C. I. A. Receive Funds From Benefactor.

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Texas schools get the greater part of the more than $7,000,000 estate left by the late Will C. Hogg of Houston, son of the late Governor James Stephen Hogg of Texas, it was revealed today in an appraisal of his estate.

The Varnor School of Brazoria county, Texas, in which the Hogg family had owned a large plantation, gets $1,923,568 to found a vocational department specializing in the teaching of rural avocation.

The will gives his brother Michael the executor, the alternative right to give this amount to the University of Texas to establish a foundation of lectures on history, literature, art and social and political experiences of mankind for which prominent persons were to be engaged; or to devote the fund to the benefit of "any foundation or benefaction for the common good of mankind."

The state university was willed $1,000,000 to establish memorial scholarships in the name of friends. Each scholarship is to yield $750 a year for high school students.

The loan fund of the A. & M. College and the College of Industrial Arts each were given $50,000.

Two Planes Land At Ranger Field On Thursday

Two airplanes landed at Haughland Airport, Ranger, last night on account of the stormy weather that prevailed over West Texas.

One mail plane piloted by L. S. Andrews, pilot for the American Airways of Dallas landed a Stearman mail plane late Thursday afternoon.

Dr. J. R. Brinkley, goat gland specialist of Milford, Kan., accompanied by his secretary, Miss Dorothy Denver, and Pilot G. A. McDonald and his wife were the passengers in the second plane that landed at the field.

Both planes were forced to land because of the storms.

Ten Starving Chinese Found On Desert Isle

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22.—Ten starving Chinese aliens were rescued today from an uninhabited island 35 miles south of the Everglades, where they had been abandoned by smugglers.

They were hungry, thirsty and hilly bitten by mosquitoes.

One of the ten, speaking broken English, told how they had been landed on the island of a boat from Cuba Tuesday night. They were told they would be met by a car held north.

They had no food or fresh water, he said.

Bargains Days are Announced in the Times Again Today

Some of the merchants of Ranger are broadening their advertising.

Instead of the usual Friday and Saturday specials, which have been running regularly, some have changed it to Saturday and Monday specials.

The dry goods stores, in particular, are now leaning toward the Monday specials and are carrying their advertisements on Friday in order that the readers over the trade territory may have time to decide on their purchases over the weekend if they desire and at the same time those who are regular Saturday shoppers may secure the same bargains on Saturday.

Accused of Trunk Murders

Mrs. Winifred Ruth Judd, above, wife of a Los Angeles physician, is reported to have confessed to her brother that she murdered Miss Agnes Ann Leroy, an X-ray technician, and Miss Hedwig Samuelson, a school teacher, with whom she had been living in Phoenix, Ariz. The victims' dismembered bodies were found in two trunks Mrs. Judd had shipped from Phoenix to Los Angeles and the alleged murderess is being hunted throughout the Southwest.

Wife Named As Slayer

Dr. William Judd, Los Angeles physician whose wife, Mrs. Winifred Ruth Judd, is accused of the trunk murders. Dr. Judd was questioned by police, but could shed no light on the crime.

Government To Plant 8,000,000 Trees This Fall

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Eight million trees will be planted on 12,000 acres of federal forest lands in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota before the ground freezes this fall, H. Basil Wales, assistant regional forester, has announced here.

Wisconsin's share is 770,000 trees on 1,100 acres in the northern section of the state.

Since July tractors have traveled 12,000 miles plowing furrows in which the small, two-year-old trees will be planted. These furrows are eight feet apart and the trees will be planted at intervals of eight feet in the furrows.

The infant trees were procured at nurseries in East Tawas, Mich., and Cass Lake, Minn.

Texas University To Use Old Rules

AUSTIN.—When more rules are made, collegians will break them, reason University of Texas authorities. So the "eds" and co-eds here will have to get along under last year's rules.

And the only oddity on the list of rules is one forbidding girls in the dormitories to bathe after 11 P. M.

Smoking by girls in their rooms, which recently prompted results in several middle western universities, is permitted here, except at the Scottish Rite dormitory.

COWBOY IS KILLED IN NEW YORK

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A western rodeo performer was shot and killed by a policeman today during an argument that started over a taxicab fare.

Owen Crosby, 25, of Carlisle, N. M., was the victim.

After the performance at Madison Square Garden last night he drove in a cab from Times Square to 48 street, a few blocks and objected to the fare. John Quigley, policeman, intervened.

Crosby, according to Quigley, attracted attention of other performers and swung a cane. A tussle followed and Crosby's friends joined him.

The policeman said his own arms were pinned behind him and he was struck before he fired. The cowboy staggered and fell dead.

James Rock, Fort Worth, an other performer, was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Eastland County Wins the Flag at Red Cross Meet

Eighteen representatives of Eastland county attended the Red Cross meeting at Abilene Thursday, at which 86 were present from 30 counties.

Field Representative Baker of St. Louis made an interesting talk in which he pointed out phases of the Red Cross work that is generally unknown to the average person. Mr. Baker did work during the World War and was present when the Porto Rico hurricane devastated that area.

He said that West Texas was in much better condition than other sections of the state and that the state as a whole was in far better conditions than the average. He urged the representatives to push the annual roll call as much as possible, explaining that from every one dollar membership half went to the national chapter but for every membership of more than a dollar 50 cents was all that went to the national chapter and the other 50 cents stayed in the county for relief work.

He spoke pointed out that this was the first year the Red Cross had attempted economic work and he had been limited in the past to disaster where relief was needed, but that the national chapter believed that the drought of 1930 was a disaster and had given relief wherever possible.

The meeting was instructive to those who were present and Eastland county, with 18 present, had the largest representation of any county and was given a silk flag. As Rising Star had 11 of the 18 present, J. E. Spencer, county chairman, gave them the flag.

W. C. Hickey, represented Ranger at the meeting.

Dallas Man Dies of Gunshot Wounds

By United Press.
DALLAS, Oct. 23.—Clifford Swift, 22, died today from gunshot wounds received at the hands of a woman, said to be his wife. Officers stated that the woman said she entered the room of another woman and found her husband lying on the bed with his head in the woman's lap. She fired at him and left the room.

Charges of assault to murder were filed against the woman and these will doubtless be changed to that of murder following the death of Swift.

French Premier Visits Hoover

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Premier Laval of France was expected to reach the climax of his visit to America today when he reached the white house, where he will spend tonight and where he will have a conference with President Hoover in regard to matters pertaining to the economic conditions of the two countries.

SENTECE DELAYED.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 23.—Sentence of Al Capone, gang lord recently convicted of evading the United States income tax and given a 17-year-term in the federal penitentiary, was delayed today until 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Erath County Man Is Victim of Grade Crossing Accident

Trueman Reeves, 22, of Victor, Erath county, sustained a fractured leg and arm and a wound in the head at 2:25 this afternoon when he was struck by a passing freight train in the Texas & Pacific yards in Ranger. The wounded man was placed in a Killingsworth-Cox ambulance and rushed to a local hospital where medical aid was given him. The extent of his injuries had not been fully ascertained an hour after the accident. Dr. A. K. Wier, who was at hand when the accident occurred, made a limited examination of the man.

According to W. W. Wilcox, also of Victor, who was with Reeves, the two had been picking cotton in the country west of Abilene and were en route home. There were two freight trains in the yards headed in opposite directions. Reeves and Wilcox, eye-witnesses said, were standing at the crossing on Main street watching the eastbound train and apparently did not see the other.

Eastland Not Pleased Over Brooks Bill Veto

Keen disappointment was felt here when news that Governor Sterling had vetoed the Brooks bill reached the city. At a recent meeting of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, a resolution asking Governor Sterling to approve the measure was drafted and sent to the governor by wire, and while there were those who believed the bill would be vetoed, others were hopeful that it would not be.

Representative Tom J. Cunningham, who was one of the sponsors of the bill, was in Eastland this week and expressed the opinion that the governor would not allow the bill to become a law, at least not at this time.

The Brooks bill proposed to take one cent of the state gasoline tax money and appropriate it to the retirement of road bonds in counties that had heavily burdened themselves with bonds to build a state-wide highway system that has since been taken over by the state.

Brother of H. R. Pafford Killed By Hijackers

MONROE, La., Oct. 23.—M. D. Pafford, 50, grocer, died of a fractured skull inflicted by an unidentified assailant who crept upon him from the rear and struck a blow with a hammer.

After rendering the grocer unconscious his assailant robbed a cash register of about $15. Pafford later regained consciousness but was able to say only that he was struck from the rear as he was bending over a can of kerosene.

Pafford's body was taken by train to Stephens, Ark., for burial. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Scott Christie, of Junction City, Ark.

M. D. Pafford was a brother of H. E. Pafford, superintendent of the Eastland county farm.

38th Grand Jury to Close Monday

The 22th district court grand jury, which is in recess, has been called to reconvene again Monday, Oct. 26. The personnel of the grand jury is as follows:

J. F. McCallister, Clisco; A. D. Anderson, Clisco; Bob Gage, Carbon; T. B. Garrett, Carbon; John D. Seale, Eastland; Tobe Morton, Eastland; M. D. Joyce, Rising Star; Mark Pelfrey, Rising Star; M. W. Capers, Gorman; B. W. Hooker, Gorman; H. M. (Harry) Carter, Rising Star; H. C. Nix, Olden.

Fire Destroys a Canadian Theatre

CANADIAN, Texas, Oct. 22.—A fire that for a time threatened an entire business block destroyed the Queen theatre, one of the O. K. theatre chain.

Quick work by the volunteer fire department confined the flames to the theatre building, though nearby buildings were threatened when the flames were noticed. The damage was estimated at $25,000.

HUSBAND BEGS KILLER-WIFE TO RETURN TO HIM

Reported Seen in Oklahoma City By Man Who Says She Wanted Driver.

By United Press.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd continued today to evade peace officers of several states who are seeking her arrest in connection with the California-Arizona trunk murder. Her husband asked newspapers to broadcast his plea to her that she return to him, assuring her that if she would do so she would be given protection. Notwithstanding this was done, Mrs. Judd has not as yet revealed her presence.

An Oklahoma man told officers today that while he was loitering about a filling station in that city last night a sedan driven by a woman who resembled Mrs. Judd very much and who was dressed as Mrs. Judd was reported to be dressed, drove into the station. The woman stated she was very tired and asked the man, who gave his name as Tom Lewis, if he would drive her car for her through the city, as she desired to get to Illinois within a short time and did not wish to take any chance on losing her way and being delayed. Lewis declined to drive the car.

STATE PROBE REVEALS FAT SHERIFF FEES

AUSTIN.—Fat fees for Texas sheriffs have been revealed by a state investigation into claims against the state for their payment.

Chief fee producer for the sheriffs has been collection of "multiple mileage." The practice, once held lawful by the court of civil appeals, has been banned by a supreme court decision.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were collected under it before the ruling.

As explained at a trial conducted with the cases, the multiple mileage system works this way:

A man is indicted 12 times for bootlegging. The sheriff makes one trip to arrest him. Then the sheriff turns in a fee claim for arresting him in each of the cases. It includes charges of mileage for the distance traveled, 12 times, though the trip was made but once.

It is possible for a sheriff to travel over 600 miles in a straight line in Texas without crossing the state line.

Summoning the same witnesses repeatedly is another method that has produced fat fees. No court ruling either for or against this has been found. It has been allowed in some courts. Others bar it.

In a recent trial it was testified the same witnesses were collected upon as summoned for two terms of court. But the sheriff's fee claim put them living in different directions and at different distances from the courthouse each time. It was testified one summons is sufficient. Later attendance can be enforced by mail notice.

IMPROVEMENT TO AID EMPLOYMENT.

A recent conference on unemployment, attended by official representatives of cities and states, urged the speeding-up of public improvement of a permanent nature, with local communities assuming the task as much as possible. About three-fourths of the cost of such works, it is said, goes to the pockets of labor.

These recommendations are in line with those of other similar communities which have been studying the employment problem and are seeking to solve it as far as possible this winter. Many communities are going ahead and following the suggestions. Public buildings, streets and bridges are being built, along with the most important of all public works—roads.

For the last few years there has been renewed agitation for year-round roads in rural sections to connect with main highways. Modern developments have made it possible to build such roads, with bituminous bound surfaces over a base of local materials, at an extremely low cost. Present conditions, with low construction prices and a plenty of labor, are further reduced costs.

States and countries can now provide themselves with good feeder roads they need at less expense than ever before—and at the same time do much to mitigate their unemployment problems. During 1930 the states surveyed 27,464 miles of highway—and we should equal or surpass that record this year, with particular attention paid to farm-to-market "food" roads.

MANUFACTURING CRIMINALS.

The United States has made an enviable record in promoting the "manufacture" of criminals, on a mass-production basis.

It has not done this, of course, with malice aforethought, but it has been done, so far as results are concerned, through an institution which is supposed to promote security and stability—the law.

Individual liberties have been abrogated while passing through a veritable orgy of law-making. Red-tape and a ponderous judicial machine have been created that allow the law-breakers to often escape from justice, even when there is no doubt whatever of their guilt. Contempt for law has been caused to grow in the minds of millions of otherwise good citizens.

Too much is as bad as no law at all.

MUSCLE SHOALS BOBS UP AGAIN.

President Hoover appointed a commission to solve the Muscle Shoals problem. That commission reported and the report favored the manufacture of concentrated fertilizer and fertilizer materials and recommended private operation of the costly plant under the lease contracts. The governors of Tennessee and Alabama and representatives of the legislature of the two states are members of the Hoover commission. This places all responsibility or most of the responsibility on Southern democrats.

OIL DICTATOR.

According to a Tulsa newspaper a plan is under way whereby Vice-President Curtis will resign his office to become the czar of the oil industry, a position analogous to that of Will Hayes in the movie business. The paper terms it the most important story that has ever been announced about the oil industry—if true." According to the story the vice-president, as dictator, would have the power to limit production, restrict importations and regulate prices to consumers.

The constitution of the Roman republic some thousands of years ago provided that in times of national danger the republican form of government should be displaced during a period of danger by an absolute dictatorship. Human nature is pretty much the same today as it was then. Hence when we get in a tight place, to a point where conflicting opinions or influences cannot be readily adjusted our first thoughts are for some absolute power to come along and unangle the mess for us. The motion picture industry, rejecting moral obligations, found itself in some such mess several years ago and established a quasi-dictatorship with Will Hayes on the throne. Politically the move has been an access, although there are critics who openly doubt that the moral obligations of the flickering sheet have been honestly served. Nevertheless there has been a noticeable improvement in motion picture standards, although this is not so much due to the influence of Mr. Hayes' dictatorship as to the effect of competition and an increasing sense of responsibility on the part of the producers and a growing awareness in the public mind.

The institution of a dictator in the oil industry may, if his post is honestly administered, serve to focalize scattered remedial activities and set up generally observed operation standards through which some relief may be realized. But the inauguration of a central control factor within the American industry would be vastly more effective through the use of a tariff to equalize American conditions of competition with those in foreign fields of lower lifting costs.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

PAUL IN CORINTH

Text: Acts 18:1-11. Comment on the International Uniform Sunday school Lesson for Oct. 25. Paul in Corinth. Acts 18:1-11.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist. Corinth was an important place in Paul's ministry as it was in the ancient world. Paul spent long periods at Corinth, much longer than he seems to have spent at any other point in his missionary journeys.

Corinth was called "the eye of Greece." It was a busy and prosperous city, magnificent and luxurious, a center of learning and worldly culture, and also a city of licentiousness. "To live as they do at Corinth" became a byword for luxurious and licentious living. Such a center undoubtedly offered Paul a great challenge, and he was evidently further moved to make a long stay there by his happy situation in the home of Aquila and Priscilla. Jews who had come from Rome when the emperor, Claudius, had expelled them from that city, Aquila and Priscilla were of the same trade as Paul, tentmakers. He supported himself in his trade and discussed religion in the synagogue every Sabbath.

Paul's ministry was further inspired when Silas and Timothy came to Corinth from Macedonia. Opposition developed among the Jews, and Paul, conscious that he had done everything to win them, turned to preach to the Gentiles. Leaving the synagogue he found a place in the house of Titus Justus, a devout man whose house was next door to the synagogue. Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, was among those who believed Paul's message, and he and many of the Corinthians were baptized.

Here again Paul had a vision in the night encouraging him in his ministry, urging him to be faithful and brave. In this vision he had the assurance that his ministry would have success, and he stayed a year and six months in Corinth, teaching day to day. It is no wonder that this great and substantial ministry had its effects. Apparently many of those who were won to the Christian way were men and women to whom religion had meant little before. They had been pagan. Roused by the new faith their sincerity was manifested in the midst of considerable ignorance.

In some cases they sought to carry over into the new way of life practices that had been in accord with their licentious surroundings. Others felt the absence of the practice of eating anything offered to an idol, and they wanted to make their rule of life apply to everybody else.

With all such questions Paul had to deal from a Christian standpoint. Many things that he has written in the epistles to the Corinthians have been seriously misunderstood or wrested out of their proper meaning. The important thing to grasp is that Paul sought to deal with all these problems in the light of the Christian law of love.

The high point of the epistles is the thirteenth chapter of the first epistle in which we have Paul's marvelous eulogy of love. He analyzes its contents and profoundly sets forth love's manifestations and effects. It is one of the noblest passages in all literature. That is Paul's great message; that was the highest and noblest point in his contact with the Corinthians; that is the point at which all great religion issues and where its truest import is brought to bear upon life. A loveless religion can never be a true religion or a religion that is worth while at all.

Expert Declares Animals Wiser In Love Affairs

By United Press.

PARIS.—Animals are wiser in matters of love and sex than mankind, it was stated by Dr. Pierre Barbier, noted French scientist, in an address before the International Psycho-Therapeutic congress.

According to Dr. Barbier, civilization has made the mistake of setting up false values with regard to the physical emotions. He declared that many criminal perversions are the result of the suppression of natural instincts and desires. Modesty and fidelity, he characterized as artificial virtues, interfering with the completeness of life. "Man originally was the same as an animal," he said. "But later he broke away from the animal rhythm of life. The result is that he has complicated existence with a matter that should be as simple as it is normal and necessary. "Animals have no conception of charity, modesty, or infidelity. Neither have they any sensation of voluptuousness. Many has created this with the evolution of a moral and mental attitude towards sex. The result, as we see it today in crimes makes it very difficult to pronounce upon morality."

3 RULES big help to BOWELS

What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:

1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.

Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! This year the teachers of all the schools in the county will take part in the work of the institute and an attendance of 300 teachers is expected.

The general sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Eastland High School, while the section meetings will be divided between the High School and the Junior High School near by.

At the general session on Friday morning, the 30th, the Rev. W. T. Turner, pastor of the Eastland Baptist church will conduct the devotional service with S. Ozell Murdock of Pleasant Hill as the song leader. Other speakers who will present phases of educational work at this session are Supt. N. S. Holland of Brockbridge, Pres. Lee Clark of Randolph College, Cleo, and H. F. Alves, director of the Division of Research and Service of the State Department of Education.

Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30 will be devoted to section meetings with section in Primary work. The time to be spent in section meetings will be divided in such manner as to give time for superintendents and principals to have a conference with the representative of the State Department of Education and to provide a rural school section. The programs for these meetings have been arranged in such manner as to present practical teaching problems and give ample time for their discussion by those taking part in the meetings. For the Primary Section, Mrs. Mabel Craven, supervisor of Primary Work in the Mineral Wells Schools, will lead the discussions and present methods of work.

Saturday morning the various intermediates and High School sections will meet from 9:00 to 11:00 in a continuation of the work begun Friday afternoon. Those meetings will be followed by a general session lasting until 12:30 at which time the institute will adjourn. At this session the organization of the Inter-educative League will be perfected and the officers and directors chosen for another year. Representatives of both the Texas State Teachers Association and the Oil Belt Teachers Association will be present and urge a full enrollment of Eastland county teachers in those associations. A small registration fee of 25 cents will be paid by each teacher to cover the expense of the institute. Registration cards will be furnished each of the schools in the county. Those who are desirous of attending the institute will be advised by the Eastland High School and Abilene Junior High School and will likely be advised on Friday afternoon at 5:30.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES

BY THE time this goes to press and is distributed the Ranger Bulldogs will be out on the playing field at Abilene playing the Eagles in the second conference game for each team. Both teams have won one game—the Eagles from Brownwood and the Bulldogs from Eastland, and both teams will be playing to stay on top of the Oil Belt standing column. One or the other will come out on top and we have a feeling that it will be the Bulldogs. Were we followers of the Eagles we might be feeling that they would win—which is another way of saying that the game will probably be close.

And when this goes to press we will have boarded the special with our two passes that were finally secured after much discussion and will be ready to see what we can do to report back to those who cannot make the trip.

One other big game is scheduled for this afternoon. Cisco invades

A Laxative

for people of all ages

Take Black-Draught for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headache and other symptoms of temporary constipation.

"I used to suffer from constipation which caused me to have a tired feeling, severe headaches, bad taste in my mouth and gas pains," writes Mrs. R. L. Freeman, of Galveston, Tex. "I would not feel equal to my work. I wouldn't have an appetite. I found Black-Draught quick to relieve, so I have used it. It is easy to take."

the Buchanan stadium to take on a team that is rated as one of the strongest in the district. Cisco has not been as highly advertised this season as in years gone by, but there is no mistaking the fact that they have a ball club that will be well along toward the top when the seasons close. The Lobos have lost two of their outstanding players and another is probably headed to the team, though we have heard no definite ruling on his case. The three players lost are the two Messers, Messengale and Mr. Wilkins. We refer to them in this formal manner because it was found on investigation that they were born too many years ago to be classed as high school students and therefore are worthy of the title usually given to grown men. Having gained their majority they were ruled from the playing field of the high schools and have turned in their suits.

When the Bulldogs return to night they will be facing a period of rest until Nov. 11, when they play the Cisco Lobos in Ranger. This rest period may be broken with a non-conference game on Oct. 30, though to date there has been no game scheduled as far as we have been informed.

Eastland's Mavericks are playing the club at Cleburne in a non-conference tilt and it is expected that the two teams will be about evenly matched in some department of the game, though Cleburne is rated as a pretty strong team.

The game between Cisco and Ranger is the only conference bout to be played in the Oil Belt on that date and the ancient rivalry between the two teams is apt to draw fans from the surrounding countryside.

Ranger will be endeavoring to blot out the black mark left on her record last year when Cisco won on a muddy field by the field goal route.

Abilene's attempt to have the game today postponed on the grounds that the field was muddy was looked upon in Ranger as an attempt to get more favorable playing conditions for the Eagles because they feared the outcome of the Ranger game.

Though the team has become generally known as the Elephants they have a light backfield that depends largely on speed and deception to get it across the goal line and in a muddy field the fast and tricky backfield men would be at a greater disadvantage than on a dry field where they could whip around the ends and cut back through holes in the line—if any—for substantial gains.

Reports of the game will be received by The Times after each quarter and anyone wishing to keep up with the game can get this information by calling 221 and asking the score. The first reports should come in around 4:15 or 4:20 and come in regularly from then on.

Cooper School Is Defeated By Young, 30 to 6

Cooper and Young schools of Ranger played football on Thursday afternoon, the Young Youngs defeating the Coopers by a score of 30 to 6.

Weason played an excellent game at quarter while Bratton, captain and right half was an outstanding player for the Youngs. O'Keefe intercepted two passes tossed by the Coopers and played a good game at right end. Reese, who substituted for Bratton, intercepted one pass and played a good game while he was in the line-up. Choate and Boney at tackle positions broke through the line to make good tackle plays and spilled the opposition time after time.

Cooper played a good game. Dick Fox threw some excellent passes while Bobo Fox was on the receiving end of the passing combination. Mooney made some nice gains through the line and the entire Cooper team played good ball throughout the game.

Muddy Field Awaits Bulldogs In Game With Eagles Today

Ranger's Bulldogs are expecting a muddy field when they play in Abilene this afternoon reports from the home of the Eagles say that 2.56 inches of rain has fallen there during the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. Thursday and that during Thursday and until midnight another big rain fell.

Since Abilene officials tried to have the game postponed on account of the rain, it is almost certain that the two will be staged in a field of mud and water.

They'll Never Forget This One

Hurling a Bomb Into Army's Defense

It was Harvard's aerial attack, directed by Captain Barry Wood, that turned back the West Point warriors on their own field by the narrow margin of 14-13. And this picture shows one of the thrilling moments of the spectacular game as the Crimson star, right, well-protected from the Army's rush, hurled the ball to White, the fullback, for a 30-yard gain. Passes such as this opened the way for both Harvard touchdowns, and both of them were scored by White. Wood, outstanding star of the contest, accounted for the extra points for goal.

County Notes

account of the heavy rains, started back by way of Gorman but had to spend the night there on account of the Leon being flooded. Hundreds of people drove out to the river or as near as they could get to it on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning of last week to see the highest water mark since 1923. The mail which comes from Eastland every morning at 7:30 did not reach here until Wednesday afternoon. A truck with large gasoline tank on it touched the bridge between here and Gorman but could not go forward or backward, so the driver and his wife stayed there all night and until afternoon. G. S. Bruce rowed out there in his fishing boat and carried breakfast to them and would have brought them to town but they were too frightened to get in the boat. The current was so strong and there was so much brush, etc., that rowing a boat was rather dangerous. A part of the paved road near the bridge was almost ruined.

convenes at Lubbock the second week in November. The program was the 3rd of the course, "Seeing America First." Mrs. C. C. Richardson was director of the program. The first number was a vivid description of Edward Bok's "Bird Sanctuary and Singing Tower" given by Mrs. Roy Ashburn, who spoke almost entirely without notes, telling minutest details of the Sanctuary and Tower so her hearers felt they had almost been there, even before seeing the picture of the beauty spot. The next number was a visit to Cuba as told by Mrs. A. C. Robert, who sketched not only the most interesting historical events of the island, but told of the most beautiful cities and towns. She also told of some of the peculiar customs of the natives of Cuba. In the absence of Mrs. Hugh Roe, who was to have talked on the eastern coast of Florida, South Carolina, and other South Atlantic states, Mrs. Aaron Hendrix read some facts in regard to that section. A number of questions were then asked by Mrs. Richardson and the answers brought out a lot of information in regard to the section studied. A "Better English Drill" was then conducted by Mrs. Plummer Ashburn. Mrs. W. W. Mitchell came over Saturday from her farm near Lindaleville and is spending this week with her niece, Miss Wallace, which is having a special week at her beauty shop. Mrs. E. E. Sester (nee Connie Mae Nabers) of McCamey, arrived Friday and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nabers.

Mourning Throngs at Edison Bier

Filing silently into the ivy-covered laboratory where the body of Thomas Alva Edison lay at rest among the symbols of his life's work, mourners are pictured here as they arrived in quest of a last glimpse of the great inventor. Famous men and women mingled with lesser folk in the throngs that passed the bier in the red brick building at West Orange, N. J., where Edison had worked for the last 45 years.

On Sunday Mrs. Guy Patterson, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nabers, and her family, came down from Eastland for a few days visit. On Monday eighteen of the nineteen members of the Methodist Missionary Society drove over to De Leon to attend the meeting of the Cisco district Missionary Societies. Mrs. W. E. Barron, of the Desdemona society is corresponding secretary of the district—an office ranking with that of president in other organizations, and she presided very efficiently, although she was hardly able to stand on account of a sprained back. Mrs. J. N. Williams of the Desdemona society, gave the response to the address of welcome with some well chosen words. Others from Desdemona who took active part were Mrs. Roy Ashburn, president of the society, who gave the report. Mrs. H. E. Parks, who served on resolutions committee, and Rev. D. A. Walker who offered the closing prayer.

CHEANEY NEWS

CHEANEY, Oct. 22.—Everything is lively around Cheaney. Lots of rain and now those that did not get to thresh their peanuts in the first round are threshing in the second round, as the threshers have begun to hum again. Mr. Ables of Saleza was around Cheaney of late making arrangements for an evaporator to make his syrup crop. W. C. Wisdom of Saleza was at Cheaney this week and says peanuts and cotton are very sorry in his community. Commissioner Cooper has had our roads dug this week and it sure does help them, as the rains had cut them up quite a bit and they were very rough. Thanks to Mr. Cooper.

Eastland and Cheaney-Alameda played ball at Cheaney Friday evening. The game was no good, as no one got a tally. Nothing to nothing is the way it was reported. A social gathering at Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Browning's home Saturday night was enjoyed by a large crowd and lots of games were indulged in until a late hour. Mr. Luther and Perry Bingham and families, Vernon Bingham, Ned Castleton and H. M. Mason of Kennedy, spent the night with R. E. Browning Sunday night and went west Monday to the cotton fields.

Some are sowing grain for winter pasture around here and all kinds of grain are being sown, oats, wheat, barley and rye, so we will have a chance to see which makes the best. We are all proud of our county agents and the showing they made at the state fair and hope they keep up the good work, as such does not happen by chance. Dave Hamilton and family of Ranger are visiting their grandfather and family, H. D. Browning this week. E. M. Campbell and family attended a 42 party Saturday night at Mr. Browning's and had a nice time. Some are digging peanuts this week and lots of them are sprouting since the rain. Wash Walton and wife of Cross Roads were around Cheaney Monday doing some trading. Van Minyard of Ibox was at his ranch Friday looking at his new fish pond. "Kid" Moseley has moved his threshing north of Cheaney and will begin threshing tomorrow if the weather permits. O. S. Melton and son, Jerd Hale and son, have gone to the cotton fields in West Texas to pick cotton. A surprise birthday party at Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Browning's in honor of their daughter Deah, was enjoyed by her friends Thursday night. Gordon Sellers and wife, and mother of 7, visited Mrs. L. Browning Wednesday.

That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors, mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. Gems of Peril

HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY Rich old Mrs. Jupiter is robbed and murdered during an engagement party she is giving for her secretary, Mary Harkness. Mary's scapegrace brother, Eddie, is supposed to have been in the house at the murder hour. Dirk Ruyther, blue-blooded young lawyer, Mary's fiancé, advises her to keep silent about having arranged to meet Eddie secretly, until he can locate the boy. Eddie has disappeared. Mary prevents a maid, Bessie, from telling Bowen, police reporter for the Star, about Eddie's supposed visit. Dirk telephones that he has found Eddie and will take her to see him that afternoon. Dirk oversleeps and Bowen drives Mary to the rendezvous. Eddie is run down by a car as he crosses the street to meet Mary. Delirious in the hospital, he mumbles about a fly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX Eddie did not recover consciousness sufficiently to tell his version of the story before he died. There were hours of suspense, for he was young and dying did not come easy to him, even with a fractured skull. But he was weak—he hadn't eaten much for days, according to the examining doctor, who was also puzzled by the presence of dark bruises on his body. But in the absence of any other information he attributed these to his fall. Sometimes he moved restlessly and babbled. "Maybe he's trying to tell us something," Mary suggested. But the others did not believe it; they were pityingly silent. Bowen drew Dirk aside out of Mary's hearing and let his wrath explode. Dirk blamed himself miserably for his failure to reach the rendezvous at the appointed time, and what the reporter had to tell him did not make him any happier. "I tell you I saw it! It was murder—pure murder! Two feet further over, and they'd have got me, too. By God, to get that guy I'd turn this town upside down!" "Get away!" "Clean. I tell you it was all carefully calculated to the minute. Whoever it was took a big chance, swinging around under those L. pillars. Just as he turned the corner he flooded the carburetor and the number-plate was hidden by smoke." "But why should anyone want to kill the boy?" Bowen shrugged. "I've got an idea he's something about this Jupiter killing." Ruyther looked at him sharply. "Ah, the kid didn't do it, I don't mean that," the reporter answered. "I'll bet my hat this was a professional job. Somebody did the Jupiter job and hung it on Eddie. And when he went to tell, they got him. That's how I figure it." "Perhaps you're right," Dirk rejoined stiffly. He did not want to talk to Bowen, but one thing bothered him. "What time was it when you and Miss Harkness reached the corner? Did you notice anything?" "I looked at my watch before I hunted a telephone to call the office." Dirk turned away, savage with regret. If he'd been punctual, Eddie might have been living yet. He was convinced the thing was an accident. Newspapermen lived with sensation until they saw it where it did not exist. If he had been disposed to think that someone had wished Eddie's death, the antagonism he felt for the other man made him veer to the opposite view. He could not have explained the stiffness that came into his manner when talking to the newspaperman but it was strongly rooted and came from two causes. An aversion to publicity was bred in the conservative bones of the Ruyther clan. And there was something more, something about the way the absurd fellow's gaze followed Mary that stirred all that was proprietary in Dirk's love. There is a mysterious telegraph by which men in love with the same woman recognize each other. Ridiculous as the idea was, Dirk felt constrained. Bowen pursued his questioning, too absorbed in speculation to notice the other's stiffness. Already a plan was forming in his mind, and if he had enough confirmation of his suspicion, well—he might be on the trail of a bigger story than he had thought. "How did you get in touch with Harkness, by the way—do you mind telling me?" he asked thoughtfully. "I confess he had no good, so he answered court-possibly enough. "I got the impression he didn't want to be overheard, perhaps. I couldn't say there was anything more than that in his manner. Nothing very damning in that, I should say. Quite natural under less peculiar circumstances than these. I was just about to ask him for an explanation when he seemed to—become hurried, suddenly. He said 'I can't talk now,' and added what sounded like—the fly's buzzing around—and hung up. Sounded rather silly. I wonder what he meant?" He broke off suddenly, remembering that he was talking to a reporter. "Some kid stuff, probably. Very likely meant nothing at all." Bowen masked the interest this information had for him. "Oh, very likely. Funny, though—he's been talking about a fly in there." The door of the boy's room opened a crack, and a nurse beckoned. "Mr. Ruyther? Please!" Dirk pushed hurriedly inside, where there was the sound of hushed sobbing. The nurse closed the door, shutting herself and Bowen out. "He's gone," she said. Bowen said, "Where's the nearest phone?" and bolted. In the weeks that followed Eddie's death the one thing happened that Mary had never dreamed could happen—that was that nothing happened at all. The days went by as usual and there was no news of the sort she wanted to hear. Day after day her hopes rose, only to crumble again. The big black car had got away clean; no one—but Bowen and herself—apparently witnessed that lightning swerve that had killed as neatly and deliberately as a bullet, and the speeding car had swung around the corner before anyone thought to look at the number. In no time at all it had turned into Fifth Avenue, apparently, and in the late Saturday afternoon crush of traffic been effectively concealed. At first Mary was incredulous. It wasn't right or possible that such a thing could be. Complete immunity of such a affair and murders upset all her ideas of justice and led her to think not quite kindly of a Providence that let such things be. The private investigators hired by Mr. Jupiter to study his wife's murder—if they were the two men who had been hired to protect her and had failed so dismally—were joined by two of their conferees. But the search led nowhere. There were numerous Lorimers in town, even a few aluminum-fitted "special jobs," but they were all in the neighborhood of well-to-do citizens with the most unassailable reputations. The car that had dealt the death blow had vanished off the face of the earth. Probably, they reckoned, locked in a private garage somewhere, where it would remain until the affair should have been forgotten, whence it would emerge repainted. And, unless there was a tip-off, might go undetected altogether. If it had been a "hot" car (that is, stolen), it would have been found deserted. The fact that it was privately owned added to the strength of the rapidly growing theory—now that the first flush of indignation had passed—that Eddie's death was an accident, and not, as George Bowen had insisted, a "murder car." At last even Bowen bowed to the strength of opposite opinion, apparently, for he stopped chiding the police department for its embeccility, and even stopped writing any more about the case. None was happier at his sudden silence than Inspector James Kane. Mary had fed her starving hopes on his persistently optimistic stories. When they stopped, she felt alone as the champion of a lost cause. Mr. Jupiter was preoccupied, living withdrawn from all contacts except his daily consultation with the private detectives. Dirk was kindness itself; there was something so gently protective, almost paternal, in his attitude toward her nowadays that she was deeply touched by every new manifestation of his tenderness. But he was trying a case in court and had no time to give to a personal investigation. He was loath to talk about the subject, even. His whole intention during their brief hours together seemed to be to draw her mind away from past grief. He wanted to abandon their plans for a formal wedding, and be married at once. "But Mary shook her head. "Wait," she counseled. "You don't want a weeping bride. And I can't forget—Eddie—just yet." He has to be content. He was no more successful in inducing her to leave what Bowen's somewhat lurid newspaper persisted in calling the "Murder Mansion," and come to stay at his mother's house until the wedding. "I've promised Dr. Jordan to stay until Bruce Jupiter comes home," she said. Presently the daily "conference" with the detectives stopped, and one day there were no stories in any of the papers relating to the Jupiter murder, except one small routine item, headed "Jupiter Murder Probe Lags, No New Developments Expected," Says Kane. "Mary knit her brows over this. She resolved to go to see the inspector herself, and ask him what it meant. Up to this time the newspaper stories had given the impression that the murderer was just about to be caught. "Solution of Jupiter Murder Mystery Near," said the headlines, and "Kane Promises Quick Justice for Killer of Multi-millionaire's Wife." This sudden change of attitude amazed her. Kane greeted her as usual. He was walking up and down, looking out the window, now and then pausing to look at her expectantly. That air of his puzzled her; it had from the beginning. He sat down opposite with an air of "Well, what have you to tell me?" She showed him the newspaper article. "Oh, sure," he said. "We never had a chance from the beginning. Nothing much we can do but wait." "But you kept telling the newspapers that you were about to find the murderer?" she reproached him. Disappointment made her bold. "Why did you say that, if you didn't think so?" Kane struck the newspaper contemptuously with the back of his hand. "Oh, you've got to give 'em something to chew on," he said. "Far as I'm concerned, the case is closed. We don't know the whole story, but we know—enough." (To Be Continued)

Beautifully Appointed Tea Honors Patrons of Music Class.
 With every detail arranged in a very striking effect helping to form one of the most beautiful affairs of the month, Mrs. Newham entertained yesterday with a tea, honoring the patrons of her music class, with the colorful function held at her attractive home during the mid-afternoon hours. Decorations were in shades of yellow throughout the rooms pointing to Hallowe'en so closely approaching.

The center of the dining table was that of a cut glass flower container filled with cosmos and green fronds.
 Miss Hazel Mae Ervin and Miss Nannie Katherine Newham poured tea, frocked in costumes of the color motif used in table accessories, tray of colorful appetizers, a plate of sandwiches, cakes, salted nuts and mints by Miss Mildred Moorman and Miss Katherine Wheatley. This musical tea was carried out and entirely arranged by the class of piano students of Mrs. Newham. Every number was rendered with ease, grace and a thorough competence of hymn, together with the general technique of music, Misses Maxine Wheatley and Cecelia McDowell, two of Ranger's most talented dancers favored the occasion with specialty numbers both in tap, toe and acrobatic.

Honor guest for the hour was Mrs. Mary McCutcheon of Hallettsville, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Newham, who will be a Ranger visitor over the week-end. Those invited included Mmes. R. S. Black, B. T. Tamm, J. S. McDowell, J. L. Wheatley, C. E. Stewart, E. A. Grigoliet, A. J. Ratliff.
