MRS. FRANKLIN ACQUITTED OF MURDER

SHE COLLAPSES WHEN VERDICT IS RETURNED

Jury Had Been Thought To Be Deadlocked By A Disagreement.

By United Press. ABILENE, Oct. 24.—A district court jury here returned a verdict at 2:30 today of not guilty in the case of Mrs. A. R. Franklin, mid-aged plumber's wife, tried for the murder of Mrs. Leslie Wilcox, son, 26, beauty shop operator here in September.

The jury had deliberated since Thursday evening and it was feared it would be unable to agree. Mrs. Franklin collapsed when it reported it had decided to free her. Mrs. Wilcox was shot four times as she stood in her apartment.

Mrs. Franklin's husband was in the apartment, and Mrs. Franklin testified she and her husband had had trouble for a year and a half over an "affair" with Mrs. Wilcox. The Franklins had been married 20 years.

By United Press. HARVARD DOWNS TEXAS LONGHORNS

By TOM MAHONEY. United Press Staff Correspondent. HARVARD STADIUM, Oct. 24.—Captain Harry Wood and Harvard continued their triumphant way here today with a smashing 55 to 7 victory over a tall University of Texas eleven. A crowd of 40,000 witnessed the fourth triumph this season for the Crimson.

The issue was in doubt after Crickard scored the first touchdown near the middle of the first quarter and Eddie Casey, Harvard's new head coach, gave a dozen substitutes a chance before the half ended.

Coach Clyde Littlefield also used substitutes freely in an effort to halt the Harvard march.

Harvard's superiority was demonstrated by 21 first downs made to Texas' 10 and Harvard gained a total of 387 yards against Texas' 94.

The Crimson completed only five of 12 passes attempted while Texas completed 15 of 23 attempted. Bright spots for Texas were a touchdown and a heroic goal line defense in the third quarter. The Longhorns made 66 yards on a single play to score. Fagan, a substitute quarter, passed to Burroughs, who tossed the ball to Clewis after running a few yards. Clewis then crossed the Harvard goal line just out of reach of Wood's clutching fingers.

Huey's Happy

NEA New Orleans Bureau

Governor Huey Long of Louisiana isn't worrying about the efforts of his arch foe, Paul Cyr, to take the governorship away from him. As this picture was taken, Long roared "Paul Cyr has kept me fenced in long enough. Now he's out of a job and pretty soon you'll see me vaulting this fence and going places and doing things."

AL CAPONE GIVEN 11-YEAR TERM

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Al Capone was sentenced today to face the stiffest sentence and fine his conviction permitted.

U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkerson sentenced the major gangster of the decade today to 11 years in prison and a fine of $50,000. Capone may leave Monday for the Leavenworth prison. He spoke of the prospect as "one hell of a long journey."

Capone was sentenced today to 11 years in prison and a fine of $50,000. He spoke of the prospect as "one hell of a long journey."

The gang leader, who has been pictured as a cold-blooded killer but never convicted, seemed to sag but he realized the full import of the sentence and denial of a writ of superseas that came immediately.

His attorneys filed notice of appeal immediately. Nervous and silent, Capone was led away to the county jail to await transportation to the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan. He probably will start the trip tonight if the necessary details can be arranged.

Arkansas Officials Flippant About 'Duck Pond War'

Mexican Pupils in Schools Show Gains

SAN ANTONIO.—Although the exodus of Mexican families to Mexico is general throughout South Texas, enrollment of Mexican pupils in the local school system shows an increase in comparison to a year ago. In Harlingen, six miles away, officials report a reduction of about 50 per cent in the Mexican population, with about 2,500 having moved away during the past year.

Here's a New Type of Airship

NEA Los Angeles Bureau

This weird device is a cross between an airplane and a helicopter and is called a "mobliopter." Harry Cordy of El Monte, Calif., seen at its side, is its designer. The wings fold in and flatten out as the ship rises and descends. Those air screw discs on the top pull it upward, and the propeller pulls it forward. Cordy expects to test it soon.

Eastland County Potato Patches Inspected By State Department

In order that potato growers of Eastland county may produce and sell certified seed potatoes or plants the State Department of Agriculture sent to the county inspector, T. A. Fritts, who, in company with County Agent J. C. Patterson, inspected 20 fields of 94 acres of potatoes this week. Diseases to be found in the field are Fusarium wilt or stem rot and other rot. Small percentage of wilt was found in several fields and it was recommended that potatoes from infected hills be dug out before harvest and used or kept separate from seed potatoes. Eighteen fields were recommended for certification.

Last spring over two cars of seed Porti Rio potatoes were shipped in and if proper care is given to harvesting curing and storing of seed this fall we may produce our own seed potatoes estimated and better than that shipped in. It is possible that another inspection will be made of vines in the field if there are additional requests for such inspection. Anyone desiring this inspection should notify the county agent at once so that request may be made for an inspector before frost. There is no cost for this inspection and certification. A second inspection is to be made of potatoes in storage, probably in January. Even if no seed is found in the field it is necessary to have the field inspected to insure good disease free planting seed for home use.

Fusarium wilt is easily recognized by the characteristic enlargement of the stem just at the ground and the rotting of the stem. The rotting of the stem is black and rotted inside. All potatoes from such hills should be removed before others are dug. This disease cannot be discovered in the field. This being the case, it is necessary through the plant bed to the field and widely scattered just from one diseased potato. Due to the late rain it is probable that there will be an abundant crop of small potatoes that are not certified. Seed potatoes in the spring are usually more valuable than table stock at harvest-time.

Mr. Fritts advises that in all probability the law prohibiting the sale of seed potatoes and plants not certified will be enforced next spring. This having not been done in the past due to the lack of sufficient supply of certified stock. Such enforcement would give Eastland county potato growers a great opportunity to cash in on their seed potatoes and plants and probably bring in more money than a good crop of table potatoes would have done.

Japan Rejects League Ruling On Her Dispute

GENEVA, Oct. 24.—Japan rejected the League of Nations formula for settlement of the Manchurian dispute. Delegates told the council the government was unable to accept the resolution which was made public yesterday. It recommended that China and Japan appoint representatives to arrange details of evacuation of Japanese troops to within the treaty zone in Manchuria and that they begin negotiations as soon as evacuation was completed.

Announcement of World Importance Is Expected Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—An announcement of world importance is expected later today as the result of conversations between President Hoover and Premier Laval during an overnight stay at the white house. It was thought this would deal in general terms with the possibility of radically reducing both reparations and war debts. A formal statement was to be made at the white house this afternoon.

MRS. JUDD CONFESSES 2 MURDERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Composed and defiant, Winnie Ruth Judd, comely blonde, was held today on a charge that she murdered two former roommates.

Selecting a funeral parlor as a scene, she surrendered last night to peace officers who had sought her for almost 100 hours. She told them she shot Miss Hedvig Samuelson, 27, and Mrs. Agnes Lerol in self-defense.

Chief of Detectives Joe Taylor said she admitted directing the body of Miss Samuelson and shipping both bodies from Phoenix to Los Angeles. Since finding the baggage containing the bodies Monday and while thousands of police hunted her from Mexico to Canada, she stayed "here and there in downtown Los Angeles."

She showed a bullet found in her left hand to support her contention that the killings were in self-defense. Her story as repeated to Taylor was that she started the fatal argument when she made a remark about Mrs. Lerol while visiting the two girls Friday night. "I killed them after Miss Samuelson shot me in the hand," she was quoted as saying.

"I sufficed with Miss Samuelson. Mrs. Lerol hit me on the head with an ironing board. I fell to the floor. I picked up the gun, then I shot them both." Fearful of being detected if she appeared at a physician's office or hospital, Mrs. Judd had suffered the wound for a week with only applications of "home remedies."

Knowing that her husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, had engaged attorneys to represent her, she telephoned him several times yesterday and said she was willing to surrender. She disappeared of every meeting place until a funeral parlor of a friend was mentioned. This location is one of the busiest in Los Angeles and in view of hundreds of passersby and many police who were looking for her.

RENO, Nev., Oct. 24.—William Conrad, prominent contractor, was held on a murder charge today with the "unwritten law" invoked as his defense for the slaying of his wife, Mrs. Joyce Conrad, and Fern Morley, 30, handsome young Idaho rodeo performer.

Conrad gave himself up to police after he had crashed into the home occupied by his estranged wife and found her with Morley. Morley was killed instantly and Mrs. Conrad died of her wounds. Before she died Mrs. Conrad told police Morley came to visit her and found her in bed.

"I must have fallen asleep," she said. "I don't remember anything after that."

36th Division Holds Parade During Reunion

DALLAS, Oct. 24.—Fighting men of the Thirty-sixth division marched through the streets of Dallas today to receive the homage of thousands of persons along the line of march along the business district.

The parade that opened a reunion was received by Major General W. R. Smith, superintendent of the United States military academy at West Point, and Major General John A. Hulen, commander of the division. The crowds that thronged the streets were disappointed because they were not afforded the spectacle of the governors of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico riding horses at the head of the procession.

ALLEGED SLAYERS ARE HELD

By United Press. OKLAHOMA desperadoes whom Oklahoma said broke jail Sept. 6 at Muskogee, Okla., while being held for a federal assault to murder a woman companion, have been captured and held here for their lives.

The men are William Carl, alias Nelson, 24, and Robert Lee Taylor, alias Leo White, 23. Assistant District Attorney Milton H. Johnson announced the decision to try the men on charges of robbery with firearms today. They were indicted after their capture at Kilgore Tuesday with a woman companion.

Each is named on two counts in indictments of robbery with firearms. They were indicted with a woman, Bernice Thorpe, for carrying whisky and narcotics. Carl and Nelson were captured by peace officers in the heart of a field town when a train wrecked their car. Both the men and a woman drew pistols and a battle appeared imminent and a deputy appeared from behind and got the drop on them.

They were riding in a sedan carrying the same license plate number as a small coupe occupied by two men who robbed and held captive for five hours Miss George Bellide, Gladewater city secretary, and Paul Kitchens, Tidal Oil company employe, the night of Oct. 27.

Edward Harrison, operator of a roadside cafe between Gladewater and Kilgore, also has identified the men and woman as the trio who sold him up last Sunday. A department of justice agent said the men were held in Oklahoma under $25,000 bonds when they participated in a jail break. They were charged with assault to murder Osaige Indians on a government reservation. Each is said to have a long criminal record.

New Equipment To Send Divers 2,000 Feet Deep

By United Press. WASHINGTON.—The heroic efforts of divers to reach the muddy bottom of the gold laden Egyptian sea, which has been brought to notice by the construction of new types of diving apparatus.

Engineer Giovanni Galeazzi is perfecting the finishing touches on a new kind of diving tower, with which he expects to reach a depth of nearly 2,000 feet, many times deeper than man ever has gone before. Engineer Galeazzi already has invented a diving tower, which reaches nearly 1,000 feet under water.

Galeazzi has overcome the immense water pressure by making the diving towers of light steel, produced under a secret process. Properly speaking, they are not diving suits, since the man within the tower is only an observer and cannot walk or use his hands. The tower resembles a huge cylinder, in which the diver is screwed into the interior in rubber covered to protect the diver.

By means of a telephone the diver-director directs the movements of the tower. Six unbreakable glass windows provide eyes, through which he reports his find to the surface. His observations permit the surface crew to direct grappling hooks and other devices for salvaging to the proper depths. Glass windows are also provided on the bottom. To penetrate the darkness of deep sea, a red light of 20,000 candlepower is used. The chief advantages of these new towers, according to the inventor, is their ability to reach depths never before explored.

WILDOGS LOSE TO EAGLES BY 12 TO 0 SCORE

Blind Sam Jones, Abilene full-back; Glenn Wyatt, Eagle quarter, led a couple of officials defeated the Bulldogs Friday afternoon at Abilene by a score that is down in records as being 14 to 0.

The Bulldogs played a wonderful game from start to finish and could have come out of the game with a better record had they received an even break on the offensive, but under the circumstances they were working under a handicap.

In the first quarter a pass, never to King, carried the ball on the Ranger 44-yard line to within three yards of a touchdown, here King was thrown out of bounds. The ruling on the play caught the ball back to the 44-yard line on the grounds that Steve King had caught the ball first and it is King.

The entire Ranger team played end-up football, which threatened several times to produce a touchdown.

One pass, Weaver to Stevens, was completed for 46 yards which carried the ball to the seven-yard line and the Elephants stopped the Rangers and the ball went over.

Twice Abilene got within the 10-yard line but on both occasions in Bulldog defense tightened and prevented scoring.

In the last quarter the ball went over to Ranger on the three-yard line and Stevens attempted to kick out to the King.

The first touchdown came through the line-plunging ability of Sam Jones during the second quarter.

The ball was wet and soggy during the game and was hard to handle. Fumbles on both sides were numerous but the breaks favored Abilene because a man was usually near to cover the ball.

Stevens and King played the end game at ends that has been seen in the Oil Belt in many years. Ed Eames, Abilene end-running, who was stopped short through to the end and consistent work of the Bulldog ends, who followed the interference through to the gains to almost nothing.

Abilene's chief ground gaining was done by Sam Jones through the line.

Weaver played the best game at quarterback he has shown this year and would have gone far with his passing had the ball not been too slick to hold.

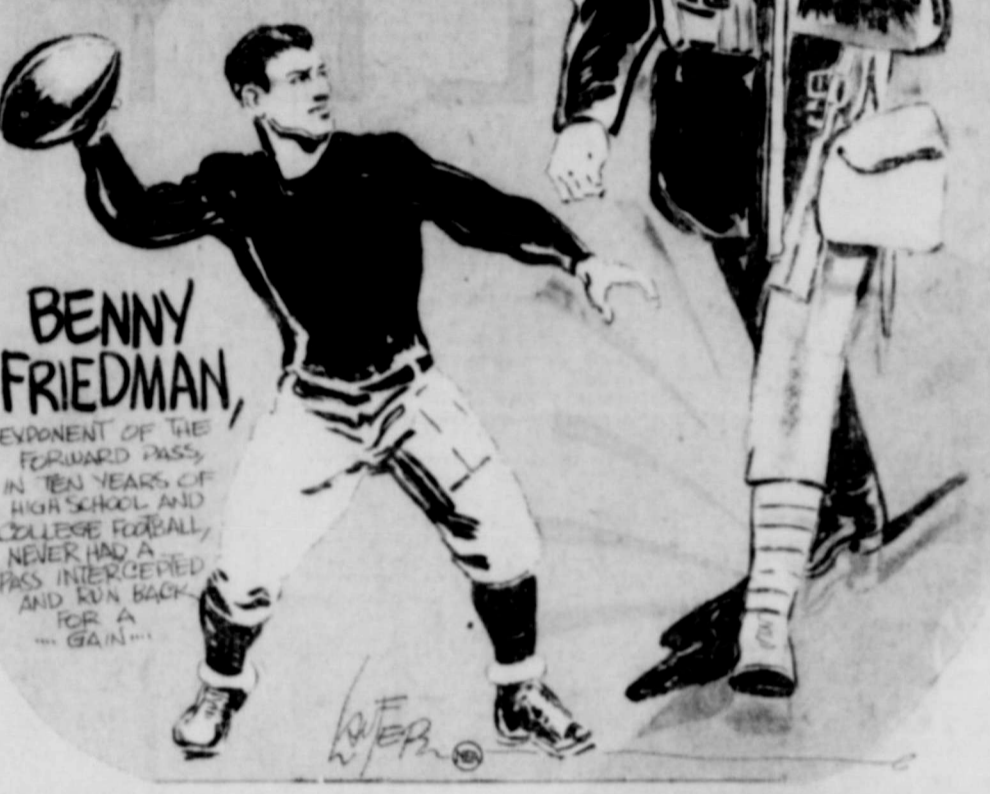

Jones, playing at full on the offense and a tackle on the defense, showed up well in every play. He gained considerable ground through the Abilene heavy line.

Confidence

BEFORE the world series Pepper Martin was not a great ball player. After the series he was. Many commentators will tell you he was lucky to be on a hitting spree when the series started. But the answer, I think, is his self-confidence.

On the eve of the sixth game of the series, a game in which Martin went hitless and failed to break the record of 12 hits for the world series, this writer talked to Pepper in his little furnished apartment in St. Louis.

"Are you going to hit tomorrow and break that record?" I asked him.

"I sure hope I am," replied the Oklahoma mustang.

"I'll make you a little bet you don't get a hit if Earnshaw pitches," I told him.

"That may have sounded tactical, but I had known Cardinal pretty well in the Cardinal training camp and thought I could get away with it."

"If I thought I couldn't hit Grove or Earnshaw," said Pepper sincerely, "without a trace of his usual smile, 'I wouldn't go out to that ball park.'"

"As a matter of fact he didn't hit Grove in the sixth game or Earnshaw in the seventh."

But down in his heart right now he believes that he merely suffered a sudden run of hard luck, and that he can hit both of those gentlemen right back into the International League if given one more chance.

Martin has confidence that has no element of boastfulness in it. He is a quietly stubborn young man. Mrs. Martin told me he was "set in his ways."

On a look at the chap reveals that. He would be a pretty hard gee to embarrass.

With Clairbert will appear Carl Achatz, the only living flutist that orchestra uses as a soloist. He is being brought from Sweden by Charles L. Wagner especially for this tour with Clairbert.

Doris Kenyon will be in Abilene Nov. 4. Many people know Doris Kenyon as a motion picture actress and as a singer. But Doris Kenyon has always wanted to sing. She went into the pictures more as a means to become a great singer than to make it her career. She has lately returned from her successful tour of Eastern cities and Europe. Europe was so pleased with her, they wanted to keep her. But she has lately returned to her beloved California. Doris Kenyon's concert is novel in that she does sang interpretations in the different costumes and languages of the countries.

With her appears San-Malo, the violinist of Panama who has received so much attention in Europe.

Mary Garden closes the festival Nov. 6. This well-known prima donna is not only the world's most vital woman but a glorious example of ambition realized and paid for. GRIPINGS

This column is published as a daily feature and may not be considered as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought of the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind concerning any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

Now comes ye erstwhile Griper to establish residence among you, chronicle the happenings of your city and assist you in giving due publicity to those things which should be publicized and putting the damper on those things which should be squelched. The editorial "we" will be left for such timid folks as Lobby Campbell and Boyce House and references to the writer of this so-called column will be made by use of the pronoun "I."

After having read the remarks that have passed between certain columnists on the one side and certain sports officials on the other, I shall refrain from making any mention of my lack of passes to football games in the district. That in itself is unimportant. The important thing with me is transportation to and from the scenes of conflict. If I get to a game and can't get in, I can reap some enjoyment from merely listening to the cheers of the crowd and at least keep up with the important features of the game, to-wit: who's winning.

New for a word in private to the Eastland people. This column is primarily for Eastland people. It is my method of communication with my customers, and being a reader of this paper you are my customer. If I take a pot-shot at somebody in Ranger or Cisco it is more or less broad acquaintance in the county. The regular charge for getting your name in this column by request is three dollars, payable in advance. I also charge ten dollars for leaving your name out of the column by request. So much for that.

What I'll need most will be operation from my customers in getting news items. Phone them into the office or hand them to me on the street, any way to get them. If you folks will give me a little help, we'll all have one of the newest little daily papers in the world. If you have an opinion you'd like to see in print, just write it and send your name to it and fire it in. If you want your name withheld I'll do it for you, but I can't accept anonymous contributions. If you are one of a poetic turn, put your thoughts in verse and I'll have it put in print. If you catch me making mistakes in the use of correct English, jerk me up on it.

In that way we can all get our minds off our troubles and things might work out to where we can all eat turkey for Christmas. In the meantime, if any of you all happen to have turkey and can't eat all of it, I can easily scare you up a dinner guest or two and save your throwing your turkey away. But I digress.

It is no uncommon thing these days to hear it said that the present conditions were forecast by the Biblical prophets. They were. And today being Sunday, I shall go to some church and see if the preacher doesn't take that prophecy for his text. And if he does I shall tell you Monday what he said about it. If he doesn't I might tell you what I think about it. At any rate it will be a good subject for a column and if I stir up an argument with someone who really knows, the effort will not have been wasted.

And don't forget . . . I'll appreciate any suggestions as to how to run a newspaper. I don't have to take them, of course, but I want to give you folks here whatever you want in the way of a paper and the only way I can find the limitation of your desires is by your telling me what you don't want.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES

A letter from a former Ranger High school student, now living in Wink and who is still following the Bulldogs, writes in a letter concerning the protest rules used by the Oil Belt district and the habit of waiting until the last minute to decide whether a player is eligible. There is also a protest voiced that one of the lettermen of 1930 has not been given due consideration.

We pass the letter on to the readers in full without comment: Wink, Texas, Oct. 12, 1931.—Ranger Times, Ranger, Texas, Mr. Bill Mayes: Dear Mr. Mayes: I am a former student of the Ranger High school, and a booster for the Bulldogs. So I take this opportunity to express my opinion toward the "protest" situation.

As we look back over the past years of the Ranger football games we notice that about each year the team has been crippled by the loss of players who have been protested the last minute. These players, which have been kicked off have always been the best players. Also the players on other teams which have been kicked off have not been so numerous. Bud Hammett, in 1928, was declared ineligible. A meeting was called in which he was protested, and this time he was kicked off.

We need no proof to what I have said because we all know that this is true.

Why couldn't these boys have been declared eligible or vice versa at the proper time, so that the team wouldn't be crippled in a critical moment?

Again we notice that a certain player who lettered last year is not in the lineup this year. It is true that there are better players, who are able to play the same position better than he. This player only weighs about 135 pounds. Has this player had a chance to show what he can do? No! We all know who this player is. Two weeks ago this same player asked Curtis if he would get a game with Thurber so that he could play on Ranger's third string.

I am for the Bulldogs, but not for the protest team, which can whip any team in the world if it is given a chance. I cut out your column in the Times of Oct. 21, and will frame it. Boy, I am right behind you, and for you. A BULLDOG BOOSTER AND TIMES READER.

And after seeing the Bulldog-Elephant game at Abilene Friday, we believe that there should be a ruling that officials of the game could be protested either before or during a game. We talked to several Abilene fans who admitted that Ranger was not given as square a deal as she could have received and admitted that partiality was shown to the Elephants throughout the game.

Cisco's defeat of Breckenridge does not put Breckenridge out of the running, but it does put Cisco in a new light. Evidently the Loboes are much stronger or the Buckaroos are much weaker than had been advertised. Cisco plays Ranger next on Nov. 11 at Ranger and the game will probably decide which of the two teams will remain in the Oil Belt race.

Loboes Defeat Bucharoos By 12 to 7 Score

Special Correspondent

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 24.—Ted Jefferies opened his bag of tricks, a razzle-dazzle array that completely and decisively passed, literally, the Breckenridge Buckaroos out of the district picture here this afternoon, 12 to 7, as 3,000 fans watched.

The Loboes led by the great Chuck Van Horn, routed the Shotmen in every department. They outpointed them, outpassed them, outsmarted them, outran them and outscored them, the latter being very important indeed.

The Hokies were unable to hold to a seven-point lead established in the first quarter when McFall tallied and Hinrichs kicked goal. It was the grand finale in the Buckie scoring department. Had not McCall, Cisco guard, been offed two times while the green shirts were pointing the goal line they probably wouldn't have made it. Twice they were penalized half the distance to the goal, the total penalties amounting to only three yards.

After that it was Cisco and Jefferies system. There were those who doubted the former Contentar Gentleman when he first moved into this district, but they respect him in Breckenridge tonight. They admit he wasn't any gentleman to the Buckies' percentage average, but he has one good ball club that has more tricks than the farmer had stoned oats.

Cisco scored in the last of the period after a brilliant air attack had clicked. Hightower passed to Blackburn for a first down and to the four-yard line, and Hightower went over. McCall's placement punt hit the crossbar and flopped. With the score, 7 to 6, the Buckaroos tried to stave off the inevitable and didn't, the Loboes took things in charge, they still have them that way.

They put over the winning tally in the fourth quarter when Hodges' kick was blocked on the two-yard line, and Van Horn converted for the touchdown. Spain, Breck center, blocked McCall's placement punt.

An idea of what Cisco did to Breckenridge in tipping over the dope bucket and emptying contents therein is found in statistics: Cisco 12. Passes: Breckenridge completed one out of 15 for seven yards; Cisco completed 14 out of 24 for 147 yards. Van Horn, Hightower and Little glittered for the Loboes, while Willie White, guard; Spain, center; Sutphen, end, and Martin, guard, shone for the Buckaroos.

Oil Production Shows Decrease In September

AUSTIN—Daily average production of crude oil for the United States reached the lowest level in years during the first week of September, according to the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

In spite of the production allowed in East Texas, the daily average production for the United States during the last two weeks of September and the first three weeks of October is considerably below what it was during the comparable period of a year ago.

Stocks of crude oil on Sept. 1, 1931, amounted to 476,135,000 barrels, whereas stocks on Sept. 1, 1930, amounted to the considerably larger figure of 526,785,000 barrels.

On Oct. 10, all the oil fields of Oklahoma were opened to production in Oklahoma had been held in since Aug. 4, when it was either shut in or curtailed by executive order of the governor of that state.

The East Texas oil field limit was decreased from 185 to 165 barrels daily per well, effective Oct. 13 by order of the railroad commission of Texas.

The commission also announced a 10 per cent reduction of the allowable production for West Texas and other Texas fields except the coastal fields, although the allowable for the Panhandle has not been agreed upon.

The reserves to supply this line amount to about 300,000 acres of well-distributed gas leases in the gas area north of Amarillo.
