ARM SEIZES FREE BRIDGE

ABOUT THIS AND THAT.....

The rains of two weeks ago have swept away the first that have been seen around the town in many years. In the past few days, since the beginning of winter, a weed-cutting campaign, carried on chiefly through the efforts of Fire Chief G. A. Arpy and his street and fire department, kept the numbers of weeds from increasing. The city is now in a better position to meet the winter weather. The time for the weeds was long ago passed, they have been cut.

The editor, either as the peeper through the knot-hole or as a news hunter for the town, has not set itself up as the official critic for the town, as some have come to think, but is always ready to listen to any suggestion on any subject of interest to the people of this paper.

Since writing a tirade a few days ago against one of the officials of a school, several have come forward and asked us to jump on some or some concern. Any article on any subject that might be of interest to the readers or of benefit to the community will be received and printed where the editor's name is signed. This name will not be used if it is so desired.

The main object of a newspaper, we use it, and we may say, is to chronicle the happenings of the town, the county, the state and the nation, not to mention foreign countries.

In order to get local news it is necessary that someone tell us what has happened or let us know how we can get information about any news. Anyone can see that it is impossible for anyone to be present at every accident that happened, every fire that burned down a residence or to know about everyone who was out of town on a visit. Some of our time is taken up in the office writing just such things as this and if something should happen on a right now we might not know about it unless someone who did know of it let us in on it.

If every reader of this paper could bear that in mind and realize that without co-operation no real news could be found, they would be doing the people of this town by taking a minute or two to telephone the paper. Then you could get the best paper it is possible to publish and your friends and neighbors would appreciate it.

Until recently we did not know where any business a man would go into where he would receive half as much criticism and a little praise as in the newspaper business. Not long ago we talked for a long time with a man who runs a business and he told us the troubles and the criticisms he got and we decided that, in a very small way, he could appreciate that we were up against.

Let me tell you that he heard a complaint about the paper and took time to explain a few things and the man decided he had nothing without thinking and had not realized the situation clearly. This is a fine spirit of co-operation which we hope someday to be able to return.

Wednesday will be another trader day. The weather was not only a small crowd was present, but with better weather conditions the crowd this week should reach larger numbers than has been present at the Second Monday, which have been held once a month for several months and which have brought from 500 to 1,000 additional people to town or the day.

The Trades days will be held until a month until Christmas. The last will be held just after Christmas in order to accommodate those who make purchases in the stores during the week before the holiday.

Al Capone was sentenced to 11 years Saturday and was ordered to Leavenworth prison "forthwith."

Now we are wondering how long it will be before Al really goes to prison and if he does how long it will be before he owns the place.

MRS. JUDD TO RETURN TO PHOENIX

By United Press.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—A startling new theory as to how Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd received a pistol wound in her hand was advanced today as the "nervous blond" from Phoenix, through her own defense camp into confusion by agreeing tentatively to return to Arizona and face murder charges.

While her husband and attorneys made frantic effort to prevent extradition and to support her claim that she killed two of her friends in self-defense, she told Sheriff James McFadden of Phoenix she was ready to go back "whenever he said."

It was McFadden who advanced the new theory regarding the heart of Miss Samuelson, who received in defending herself against Miss Hedvig Samuelson and Mrs. Agnes Leroy, the two women she is accused of murdering and whose bodies, one dismembered, were shipped here as luggage.

The bullet that passed through the heart of Miss Samuelson was the same slug embedded in Ruth Judd's hand, he declared.

Neff Objects To Highly Paid Men Of Department

By RAYMOND BROOKS.
AUSTIN, Railroad Commissioner P. M. Neff, former governor of Texas, has filed a written protest with Chairman C. V. Terrell of the commission asserting numerous high-salaried employees have been put on the commission's payroll without his knowledge or approval.

He said he did not approve of the "method used in the selection of our employees, which improper and politically-minded practice can have no other result than to make out of the commission a political machine."

When Governor Neff's letter, charged that in September a new bus and track inspector was hired, and had worked a month before Neff knew he was on the payroll.

He charged the chairman had appointed a new director of the gas utilities division at a $4,500 salary, and that the first Neff knew of it was reading it in the newspaper. That an assistant director, at a $3,300 salary, was appointed by the chairman, and a stenographer, without Commissioner Neff having been consulted about any of the appointments.

During September, his letter said, the chairman named a new insurance expert in the motor truck division at $3,600 salary; a chief clerk at $3,600 salary, a new stenographer and a new clerk, without his having had a chance to share in the responsibility of the appointment. Recently three stenographers were added to the oil and gas division, he said.

Mr. Neff said that he would not "at this time discuss methods used in making the 54 appointments for work in the East Texas field, except to say that not one of the new deputy oil and gas supervisors—the important and high-salaried places, was appointed at my suggestion."

"I filed with you a written protest against two of the appointments," he added, "and while there were hundreds of applicants for these positions, both men went on the payroll."

R. B. Walthall, Mr. Neff's former private secretary, was made an assistant in the oil field, in charge of one of the division offices under the deputy supervisor.

Root, the pianist, is very efficient and always on time while Miss Wilda Drago and ensemble are very liberal in giving of their talent and skill by furnishing violin numbers. The class feels very grateful to them.

Chaplain Says Milky Way Is Rainbow

AUSTIN, Rev. John W. Holt, six-foot chaplain of the Texas house of representatives, has his own theory of the milky way, acquired as he slept under the stars when he was a circuit rider on the frontier.

He has concluded the milky way is not a myriad of distant stars, as astronomers suggest, but a glorified night rainbow.

Points he cites to support his theory are:
The position of the milky way constantly is in accord with the angles of incidence and refraction of sun rays.
Dark spots in the milky way could be caused by pockets in the ether such as cause airplanes to drop.
Lack of color is explained, he says, in the same way that moon rainbows lack color.

Relief Expected On War Debts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Prospects of further relief for war debts and reparations opened up today as a result of the visit of Premier Laval, just ended. It is a move aimed at the heart of the world-wide depression.

Laval further relief was necessary through the period of the depression. It was agreed, however, that Germany must take the initiative under the Young reparations plan by asking appointment of an allied commission to investigate her situation.

When the allies have granted relief President Hoover will ask congress to create a new debt commission to consider reduction of war debts.

Premier Laval was told the United States believes France as the leading continental power, should take the leadership in settling irritating political controversies in Europe standing in the way of disarmament and recovery.

WHO WILL PAY.

If there is in public office anywhere a man who should command the respect of every person who admires honesty and courage and real sportsmanship it is Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain. Deserted by his party in a crisis, the doughty Scot sticks to his principles and with his back to the wall, is fighting an unrelenting fight for the success of a program to which he has committed himself and which he sincerely feels means the salvation of his distressed country from the throes of economic depression. Fearless in the prosecution of his duties, earnest in his search for the right methods and firmly loyal to the responsibilities that have been imposed upon him, the premier has turned his back upon personal compensations, keeping the ideal of his country's good above the storm of partisanship that beat upon his rugged frame.

Utterances of the premier, reflecting as they do not only the sentiment of the harassed British government but a large segment of turbulent world opinion, are attractive. Particular interesting to Americans are statements made by him in a recent address.

Speaking of the World war, he said the Hoover moratorium would never be heard of again and that cancellation of all war debts was certain to take place. It is interesting to us for the reason that if war debts are cancelled American tax-payers will be holding the bag for something like $11,000,000,000.

This debt represents the $11,000,000,000 in liberty bonds which must be paid by the American regardless of moratoriums or debt cancellations. It also serves to remind the intelligent who are informed on this side of the Atlantic that more than $40,000,000,000 has been invested by this government in European countries or loaned to European governments or individuals since the United States entered the war on the side of the Allies in the long ago.

Billions of dollars are represented in the flotation of liberty bonds in the United States. These bonds will not be repudiated by the American people. If war debts are cancelled who will pay the price? That is something for the statesmen, the diplomats and the bankers to think about.

A CALIFORNIA INDUSTRY GIVEN A JOLT.

Federal District Judge Merrill E. Otis, holding court at Kansas City, held that the sale of unfermented grape concentrates designed for the manufacture of alcoholic beverages to be a violation of the national prohibition law. It was a test case to determine the legality of the sale of grape concentrate which may turn into wine. The case was submitted on points of law, both sides having agreed to the general fact. Attorneys for the convicted persons announced an appeal. Now the supreme court will say the last word.

Prior to 1920 the California grape growers were wet. Then concentrates appeared and unfermented wine it is said after a matter of three weeks would turn into wine with a vigorous kick with an alcoholic content of 10 to 15 per cent. Ever since the California grape growers have been reaping a rich harvest. Since the coming of concentrates they have been as dry as the Sahara desert. Mrs. Mabel Wildebrandt has been their legal voice. She was a pro and prosperity crusader for Hoover and Curtiss in 1928. Wine drinks are sold the country over and it is a matter of record that the federal farm board advanced a large loan last year to these very-efficient and very intelligent grape growers of the Golden Coast state. Grapes sold at the price of $12 per ton in 1920. In 1930 prices range from $90 to $100 a ton. There must have been money in grape juice.

IS IT RICH PICKING OR STARVATION?

Is it rich picking or starvation for county office holders? This is the indictment returned by Senator George Purl: "It has cost the state of Texas over $5500 apiece, in fees of local officers alone, to send each convict to prison during the past five years."

This is the Purl statement of facts. "The state spent $6,257,338 in five years in fees and sent 11,837 persons to prison."

This is the Purl comments, "The $6,000,000 did not include the salary of judges, the pay of jurors, feeding or transfer of prisoners or the construction and upkeep of jails and courthouses. It represented fees paid out to county and district officers in collection with felony cases."

Then read this news dispatch from Fort Worth: "Administration of the criminal law in Texas faces a breakdown if the sheriffs are not allowed mileage for going after fugitives, as has been the practice for 75 years, officers attending a called meeting of the Texas Sheriffs association declared."

"Away back in springtime Assistant Attorney General Bruce W. Bryant made a ruling that sheriffs could not collect mileage on transporting persons either charged with or indicted for criminal offenses."

According to the state senator the pickings have been rich. According to the sheriffs administration of the criminal law in Texas faces a breakdown. "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

GARNER STOCK IS PICKING UP.

It must be true that the man with the scythe is ever busy. Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman of the fifth New Jersey district is dead. He was republican, had served seven terms in the house and was 68 years old. He was very wealthy. He had made more than 50 trans-Atlantic voyages. For 50 years he carried an umbrella constantly, he possessed the third largest and most valuable stamp collection in existence and he had traveled one million miles. His passing has tied the republican and democratic party strength. Each has 214 members. There are six vacancies caused by death. Four of the districts are normally republican and two are normally democratic. Governor Larson of New Jersey, under the law, can call an election to be held at the end of 30 days, to fill the new vacancy in the fifth district of the state. Since the elections of the new senate and house in November, 1930, 12 house members and three members of the senate have passed away.

Atlantic liners are making one-day joy ride excursions to the 12-mile limit. When a merry-maker comes back, he'll still be sea.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE
 Shawnee, Okla.

Governor Stanley C. Wilson of Vermont, says:

"Some of you can double your wealth within a year. If you will. This sounds like the statement of a stock salesman two or three years ago. But let me explain.

"Wealth is a relative term. A man may have a million dollars in gold on a desert island and still be starvation poor. On the other hand, he may have little money or property but have health, a happy and comfortable home, and the esteem of his associates and be rich indeed.

"Some of you in the city are dependent on an income from investments shrunken to a point where it is extremely difficult to live respectably. If you can secure with that income twice as much in living comfort or live twice as well on your income, you can fairly say you have doubled your wealth.

"A family can live much more cheaply in the country than in the city. Comfortable homes with lawn and garden can be bought or rented for less than half city prices. This leaves more money for clothes, food, medicine, magazines, books, radio and automobile and other things that most class as necessities or semi-necessaries.

"In the country nobody considers manual labor demeaning. The wife is the housekeeper, just as the husband is a worker. Clothes are bought in wear and not to display a few times. There is no wide spread between city and country prices for milk, eggs, meats, vegetables and other farm produce.

"A man and wife with an annual income of $500 to $1000 a year can live comfortably and respectably in the country. With an income of $1000 to $2000 in the country, they can be comfortably well off.

"So, if you want to double your wealth, move to the country. In addition to financial betterment, you will find real neighbors, people who will really care for you."

Ex-Bad Boy At Columbia Today

Universal's long-heralded comedy "Ex-Bad Boy," opened an engagement of three days at the Columbia theatre yesterday, and fully lived up to all the complimentary reports which have preceded it. The picture is literally a comedy gem.

Much has been said of the impossibility of many screen comedies, which have thus lost much of their force. But here is a story which is altogether within the range of possibilities, depending for its humor on its situations and acting rather than on more or less ridiculous comedy action.

Briefly, the story is this: The proprietor of a paint firm in a moderate-sized town sees his daughter falling in love with a young man whom he considers totally unworthy, and in an effort to break up the match induces his junior partner to pay court to the daughter. But the partner, a young man named Chester, is so bashful and so retiring that the girl utterly fails to become interested in him. However, the father arranges to have the news spread about that on a recent visit to Hollywood Chester has had a passionate love affair with a famous picture star, and the daughter immediately changes her views regarding the young man.

OX CARD WEDDING RE-ENACTED

By United Press.
 BATTLE CREEK, Mich. — A wedding of the ox cart days of 1831 was re-enacted here in the recent centennial celebration. Bridesmaids in sunbonnets and calicos and belles in silk and velvet were there for the "wedding." Guests arrived in old-fashioned carriages, or on horseback.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES

When Ranger's Bulldogs played in Abilene Friday they were cheered on by a large number of telegrams delivered to them during the intermission between halves. These telegrams, expressing confidence in the team and the players, were delivered by Fire Chief G. A. Murphy and were sent by many of the fans who could not get away to make the trip and root for the team.

Coch Curtis said today that the splendid showing made by the team against great odds was, no doubt, prompted to some extent by those words of confidence sent by the Ranger fans.

The defeat of Breckenridge by Cisco puts a new light on the Oil Belt race and it may end in a tie and another play-off necessitated.

It is expected now that Ranger will be able to take Cisco on Nov. 11 and Breckenridge on Turkey Day, thereby eliminating the Buckaroos from the picture entirely. This is doped out by some of the fans who believe that Cisco will win from Abilene and that Ranger, Cisco and Abilene, each with one game lost, will be in a three cornered tie for first place.

That is possible, as is anything in a football game, much less in a season's schedule, but from this distance it look like taking a lot for granted.

Breckenridge fans say that the Lobes showed more trick plays than has ever been seen at Buckaroo stadium. They say the trick plays demonstrated by Chapman in years gone by are as nothing compared to the tricks Jefferies has developed for the team this year.

And the Breck fans are reported to be predicting that it will be the district champions who will defeat the Lobes in any game this season.

The Bulldogs will play the Gorman High school team at Ranger on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It was announced today by Coach Eck Curtis.

He said that the admission charge for the game would be two bits and four bits.

The Gorman team scored twice on the Cisco Lobes early in the season to hold the Lobes to a 31 to 12 win and to score twice as many touchdowns as did the Buckaroos, who were able to punch the ball across the goal line only once. By this comparison it will be seen that the Gorman team is no set up for any Oil Belt team.

The Bulldogs looked more like Oil Belt contenders in the Abilene game than they have since the opening of the season. There was never a time during the game that they were not playing the better all-round game of the two teams, though the Elephants did have a bruising fullback and a fast quarterback who did the major portion of the Abilene ground gaining.

The way Bob King and Roy Stevens played the two end position Friday was a treat for any football fan. They may have played better football in some games but it is doubtful if their game could have been improved upon. The defensive work of both was enough to delight and cheer anyone, even though the team was not winning.

Weaver played a good game for the Bulldogs at quarter, though the wet ball made his efforts at passing almost impossible. His handling of the team from the start to finish of the game could hardly have been improved upon.

Although he got off to a more or less bad start this year in the pre-season games and thereby came in for a good bit of criticism, he showed Friday that he is much better at the position than many gave him credit. This writer included. Our hat is off to anyone who can play under the adverse conditions Weaver has faced this year and come through as he did

WRITING ABOUT RIVER.

THIS CURIOUS WOMAN

Second 'Chute Saves Life of Jumper

By United Press.
 MOUNSVILLE, W. Va.—Charles "Chilly" Thomas, Greensburg, Pa., parachute jumper, owes his life to the vigilance of E. R. Scroggs, of the aviation division of the United States department of commerce.

Thomas was preparing to go aloft for a jump recently when Scroggs noted that he was wearing only one chute. The official refused to permit the flight unless an auxiliary parachute was procured. The jumper complied.

Up 2,000 feet, Thomas bailed out. His first chute failed to open and he dropped to within 600 feet of the ground before the auxiliary parachute unfolded, landing him safely.

Texas Town Tests Cotton For

Nearly 300 feet of paving in front of a Goman cotton mill was under test.

A layer of gravel was first laid, a layer of cotton. After applied, tamping completed.

Certificates Offered By Southern Ice, Utilities Company
The Southern Ice and Utilities company of Ranger, with E. L. Fontaine as manager, is offering the public 6 1/2 per cent convertible certificates of the Associated Gas and Electric company as an investment for the general public.
These convertible certificates offer interest at 6 1/2 per cent in addition to safety of investment.
In explaining the strength of the Associated Gas and Electric company, Mr. Fontaine said today:
"The Associated Gas and Electric System was organized in Ithaca, N. Y., on Oct. 25, 1852, now 79 years old. The population of the United States at that time was only 24,000,000 people. Today nine Southern states, namely North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Texas have as many people as the entire United States had in 1852."
"The cotton production for the entire United States in 1852 was 3,000,000 bales. Today Texas alone produces almost twice that amount. The Santa Fe Trail was one of the principal highways. Today there is more than 16,000 miles of railroad in Texas. More railroad mileage than any other state in the Union."
"The national wealth of the United States in 1852 was only about seven billion dollars. Texas wealth today alone reaches about 12 billion dollars. In 1852 Texas had only 200 business establishments which furnished our annual payroll of $125,000. Only about one-half million dollars invested in the Southern Ice and Utilities company a part of the Associated Gas and Electric System have more invested in plants, etc., in Texas today than the entire firm investment in 1852."
"The Associated System is a growing company, expanding each year. Now operating in 26 states in the United States, in Maritime Providence in Canada, and Philippine Islands."

British King Returns White Staves To Trio
By United Press.
LONDON, Eng.—Ex-solicitor Jack Hayes, ex-taxi-driver Ben Smith and ex-ship's carpenter Tom Henderson recently called on King George at Buckingham Palace to relinquish their posts in the Labor government.
When the government was formed in 1929, Hayes was appointed vice-chancellor to the royal household; Smith, treasurer to the royal household, and Henderson, comptroller to the royal household.
The posts are traditional, and in these days practically only formal. The insignia of the offices are white staves, and it was these that the three Labor men went to hand over.

Facts..FACE-UP

Let's talk Straight from the Shoulder

WHAT you want in a cigarette is taste. You want mildness... smoothness... and satisfying pleasure when you smoke.
All right then... get this straight.
CHESTERFIELD pays top prices... yes, and a premium for the ripest, mellowest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows.
The curing and conditioning is done by specialists... men carefully trained in handling these fine tobaccos.
IN BLENDING, also, Chesterfields are different.

Instead of merely mixing the tobaccos together... we cross-blend them. It's like making a new and better-tasting kind of tobacco. That's how we get that Chesterfield flavor. Milder... and a more pleasing aroma.
Cigarette paper? Only the purest that's made is good enough for Chesterfield.
PICK UP a package. Note its clean appearance... free from heavy inks. It's moisture-proof, too.
And three big factories at Richmond, Durham and San Francisco—

operating under the strictest standards—rush them first because they're made that way. Good... they've got to be the most important of all... taste this goodness in the smoke. You can tell it in the smoke. Light up, Mister! Try Chesterfield. Let the cigarette do its own talking. You'll get the whole truth in just two words... "Yes Sir—Mild yet they Satisfy"
