NOVEMBER TIES UP TWO, ATTACKS GAR

GRIPINGS

By GUS

This column is published as a daily feature and may be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper. What follows is merely what one man thought at the time it was written, and the writer reserves the right to change his mind, explaining any subject, without notice, explanation or apology.

In connection with the story in this paper pertaining to a 50-year-old goose, what I want to know is this: Who was it from the Prairie office who went hunting last week and returned from a westerly direction with three geese? While on the subject of hunting it would be well for me to acknowledge a few favors in connection with a venison dinner last evening. Verne Hart furnished the deer meat, the chef at the Connelley looked it up, Mrs. Bush served it, Pete Woltz and Gripin' Gus did most of the eating and Steele Neely was for the dinner check. It was wonderful meal and I am mighty thankful to everybody who had anything to do with it. Any further invitations will be considered.

Interesting people I've talked to recently include Mr. Gus L. Coleman, editor of this paper and author of this column. I told him several things I've said as my mind for a long time, for instance, a smart man like him, being out an existence in the egg basket of Texas when the New York papers are said to be clamoring for talent. A man of timid and emperate nature gorging himself in deer meat to the extent of causing him to dream about pink elephants and cockroaches that carry pistols. But all those things are a part of the newspaper business and that's why us guys what gets into it get so much out of it that we never want to get out of it as long as we can find a paper to print our junk.

Tonight will find me associating with the sons of the best people in town. I am going to attend the meeting up at the Masonic lodge. Of course, my visiting will be limited to the social session which allows the regular meeting on account of my having overlooked the details of paying my dues, however, I am going to disguise as a member of the Tickville Band, in case you folks didn't know it, I am the originator, instigator and organizer of that famous musical organization and I feel free to join any time or place I suspect there is a free feed in sight.

With a very little urging I'd get a similar organization here in Eastland. It would probably sound rotten as the Ranger band, but certainly not any worse, and I'd be invited out. Probably we'd throw out of a few, but that's all along with entertaining my dear public. Any of youse guys that can play a little country fiddle and a reasonable amount of swell house guitar can get in with me and we'll see what can be organized. I don't know, but I'll bet Virge Foster is a country fiddler. He wears his hat that way.

I am supposed to attend Lion's high today and be officially welcomed into that high powered organization. So I'll just put in here now that I did attend in the hope that I'll find somebody between noon and noon who will offer to say for my lunch. If they think I'm going to pay for my own lunch, they can accept my resignation in advance. Ask any restaurant in the county if they've ever heard of my paying a dinner check.

BANK IS LOOTED OF $1,200 CASH

By United Press.

ATHENS, Texas, Nov. 24.—A lone, unmasked bandit today locked the First State bank of Larue, 12 miles southeast of here, in the vault and escaped with $1,200. It was the third attempted robbery of the bank in a year. Glenn escaped from the vault and described the bandit as rather small and wearing a yellow sweater and cap. In November last year five masked men took Glenn from his home at midnight. They carried him to the bank and held him captive an hour before he convinced them the safe could be opened only by a time clock. On Dec. 5 burglars attempted to burn their way into a safe with a torch.

Alvin S. Moody Takes Up Fight Against Wets

HOUSTON, Nov. 24.—Alvin S. Moody, unyielding champion of prohibition, who in 1928 led the fight against Al Smith in a campaign that split Texas democracy, has again taken up the cudgel against the wets. This time he is making his plea to Houston youths in a drive to acquaint young people's religious organizations with the benefits of prohibition. Moody is chairman of the Harris county of a nation-wide campaign instituted by the International Council on Religious Education, working through its joint committee on the liquor problem. Political gains of the wets in recent elections do not alarm Moody. "They might as well not in their efforts to return beer and light wines to the nation," he said, "but there's one thing they can't do, and that is to erase the one great lesson of temperance taught by prohibition. And because that lesson has been learned I am in no fear for the continuance of prohibition for all practical purposes. The people have seen the actual benefits of prohibition. That is why I say the 'good old days' the wets are fighting for will never return." Moody's views upon statements that students, especially those in college, are drinking freely. He says the drinking student is the exception rather than the rule.

RECORD OF FARM BOARD IS GIVEN

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The federal farm board will stand up its record, the senate agricultural committee was told today. It desired no change in the law under which it operates. It believes its operations have benefited the farmer. The annual report revealed loans to farmers' co-operatives and purchases of wheat and cotton as follows: Wheat—Total purchases 329,641,952 bushels for $270,204,503, of which 189,656,187 bushels remained on hand Nov. 1. Cotton—Total purchases of 1,319,509 bales for $107,533,246, of which 1,319,789 bales remained on hand Nov. 1. The whole story of the frequently spectacular operations of the board was revealed at a dramatic session of the senate agricultural committee. Superintendent E. F. Holloway and Roy Gilbreath spoke briefly on the subject and all showed a keen interest in the question under discussion. Following the meeting held Monday night a short session of the permanent committee was held, at which time it was decided that a meeting be held at 11 o'clock Tuesday. A report of this meeting will be found elsewhere in the paper today.

A CHALLENGE!

The recent congress of the National Safety Council was opened with a written admonition from President Hoover that our 33,000 annual deaths due to automobiles, "is a challenge to the efforts of the safety organizations and the cooperation of every motor vehicle operator."

It is good to hear that from a high source. There is no more tragic phase to our life today than the needless and wanton destruction of life on the public highways. There is no work of greater value than that of the safety organizations which are laboring to prevent carelessness and recklessness.

During the National Safety Council's meeting, Samuel Insull Junior was appointed chairman of a national advisory committee on safety in industry, homes and on the streets and highways. Mr. Insull said: "The general public still believes that accidents are mainly accidents of God, beyond human control. As we progress with our studies, however, we learn that each accident has many causes, and these are closely interwoven with the physical conditions under which we live, with our subconscious reactions and habits."

When the general public finds that out, and takes it to heart, there will be a general reduction in accidents—and not before. The entire problem, and particularly that of automobile accidents and accidents in homes, is largely up to the individual.

CRUISING IN THE WEST INDIES.

New Yorkers and the pleasure seekers of the north and east are not going abroad this winter. A New York paper estimates that more persons than ever before will pass winter vacations this year cruising in the West Indies. Before the winter is over 270 West Indies cruises will be conducted by steamship companies and more than 60,000 reservations have been made to date. Last winter 40,000 sailed. On these cruises an additional 25,000 went during the summer. This winter the wise ones predict that 75,000 people will go to the picturesque islands of the Caribbean, to Havana and Panama and all the romantic ports of that part of the world. There will be stopovers for the horse and dog races and other sports and pastimes for the benefit of the Florida cities. Down here it is on to Mexico, using motor vehicles instead of ocean liners for transportation purposes.

UVALDE—About 50 men will be employed in construction of two large bridges near here.

LEVELLAND—14,414 bales of cotton ginned here up to recent date.

COLLEGE WILL CHECK LIVES OF LAB STUDENTS

By WILLARD R. SMITH
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 MADISON, Wis.—Although the University of Wisconsin experimental college may be discontinued after this year, statisticians will follow the career of its students for the next 15 years to determine its effect.

Results of the unusual freedom and liberal methods of the two years of preliminary work in this institution will be closely observed and contrasted with corresponding students of regular courses.

John Bergstresser, a university statistician, has matched Jew with Jew and Gentile with Gentile of like background and circumstances in the experimental and other colleges. He has selected 75 men in each group, whose achievements will be followed, tabulated and contrasted for the next decade and a half. That final comparison is expected to reveal what, if any, advantage was derived through study in the experimental college.

Placing the experimental college students on their own initiative in studying attracted a different group to the institution from that in the other departments of the university.

The proportion of Jewish students was three times as great as in the university as a whole. The entire experimental college enrollment represented a greater geographical distribution. More of its entrants were from larger cities.

Experimental college students revealed marked superiority in the psychological tests, but they did not show any superiority in high school records.

These comparisons were more pronounced between the freshmen and have become less marked as the college continued.

Radical Element.
 Radical elements among the small group drew more attention than they would have received in the mass of the university. Their activities, plus the unusual setup, gave it a reputation for radicalism that may have hastened its end, however unwarranted.

Lysistrata, Greek comedy of women who withheld their favors from the men to end war, was translated and presented in a stock pavilion by students of the college, long before it appeared as one of the "principal 'dirt' plays on Broadway."

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, whose liberal views cost him the presidency of Amherst college and gained him the opportunity of creating the experimental college here, is writing its history in these, its last days.

In the opinion of some associated with him in the college, that report may sound a note of martyrdom, in the swan song of an educational trend too liberal for even the University of Wisconsin.

Are Your Windows Helping You Sell?

EVERY merchant in town maintains displays of his wares in his windows. Every merchant expects his window displays to attract attention and to create sales.

A most important point—proper illumination—is often overlooked. Without doubt, the most effective windows in town are the best lighted windows. Passers-by just won't stop and look at a window dimly lit. Make sure your windows are well lighted—poor light, poor results.

MAKE YOUR WINDOWS SELL

Good lighting makes window displays an actual sales force. Many windows need almost as much artificial lighting in the daytime as they do at night. Lighting is too important to guess about. Hundreds of stores have seen "sales out of the window" increased 20 to 30 per cent when window lighting was bettered.

Speed up the Hesitant Buyer

Good lighting means good seeing. Much of the indecision of shoppers is due directly to poor seeing. The merchandise does not reveal its texture, shade or workmanship, clearly and instantly. But wholly apart from the difficulty of good seeing, poor lighting is depressing. Good light is stimulating—it creates the buying mood.

Well Lighted Stores Are Busy Stores

People instinctively shun gloom and seek brightness. Asked why they prefer one store to another, they may give every reason but the right one—but the fact remains that the busiest, most popular stores in every community are the stores that are best lighted. Perhaps this only means that the cleverest merchandisers understand the value of good lighting.

Amarillo Also Asking For School Tax Payments

AMARILLO, Texas.—An appeal has been made to citizens of Amarillo to pay their 1930 and 1931 school taxes now in order to relieve the financial embarrassment of the Amarillo public schools.

When October salaries had to be paid this month, there was sufficient money to pay only half the teachers' salaries, George M. Waddill, business manager of the schools, reported.

In an appeal for early payment of 1931 taxes, approximately $45,000 has been collected within a short period.

The school board, in order to pay off final salaries last spring and to date this year has been forced to borrow a total of $142,000 from Amarillo banks.

Country Club To Entertain With Dance Dec. 7.
Elks To Celebrate Thanksgiving With Dance
 Again this holiday season will be filled with gala affairs given by various clubs and individuals celebrating the colorful holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas.
 The usual excitement that always precedes this season apparently is in full swing and ears of society's curious are pricked to the n'th degree of pointedness in hopes of catching an advance twitter about what's to take place to help open the events in true fashion.
 Thursday evening, following the game between Ranger and Breckenridge, the Elks club will entertain with a Thanksgiving dance in their club with dancing beginning at 9 o'clock. Plans are being made to make this affair one of the most successful this fall.
 The Ranger Country club will be brightly decorated and lighted on the evening of Dec. 7, when members entertain friends and their families with a dance. Music for this brilliant occasion will be furnished during the gay hours which promise to go winging by Ray Costlow, who has made a former visit to the club as a delightful entertainer.
 These two functions will be closely followed with others, many of which will honor the host of home-coming college students.
 Soon the streets of Ranger will be aglow with a ceiling of brightly hued lights, diffusing colors suggestive to the Yuletide season. Windows throughout the city will be decked and attractively dressed to further emphasize the period of the year and bid with many tempting suggestions.

 Other announcements which will be included in the whirl of gaiety dotted down in the society calendar will be named in the near future.

Smart SHOPPING

"How good is it?"
 That's it!

ABOUT anything and everything they buy, smart shoppers like to ask one question—"How good is it?"

Chesterfield welcomes smokers who buy their cigarettes that way.

OUR tobacco buyers are smart shoppers, too. They "shop" for the ripest, mildest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows. And they won't take anything else.

"How good" are Chesterfields? Well, consider their blending.

Blended and cross-blended... not merely mixed together. Blended first by crops and countries... then cross-blended again and again... to produce a flavor and aroma that are Chesterfield's alone.

That's how we get that better taste... that's why Chesterfields are milder. Even the paper they're rolled in is the whitest, cleanest and purest that money can buy.

And the package... clean, bright, fresh-looking... see how easily it opens, yet how tightly it's sealed.

OPEN a package. Note the aroma... delicious foretaste of pleasure ahead.

Now—pull out a Chesterfield... round, firm, well-filled.

"HOW good is it?" Light up... then you tell us!

Milder? Right! Taste better? You bet they do! They're pure, too—and they certainly do satisfy!

Good... they've got to be good! There's value here. We know, because we put it in... and you'll smoke it out with every one you light.

"Sure I shop for cigarettes - Chesterfields satisfy me"
