THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving

WE thank Thee, God, that harvests never fail us,
And men responsive to the need today
Are closer drawn as they give from their bounty
To hungry ones who have no homing way.

WE thank Thee, God, that Thou who led the Pilgrims
Across dim seas, and made a nation rise
Triumphant where a wilderness had flourished
Will keep us still beneath Thy guiding eyes.

AND that the spirit of a generous giving,
The cornerstone on which our ideals stand,
Deep-planted in the soil with every seed-time
Shades benedictions on a sharing land.

RED CROSS DRIVE IS PLANNED

A meeting of citizens of Ranger held at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, J. E. Meyer was elected as chairman of the Red Cross drive to be staged in the city and dates for the drive were selected.
For some discussion it was decided that the most convenient and all dates for the drive would run from Dec. 7 through Dec. 12.
It has been the custom in the city to divide the drive into ten sections and a committee appointed to work each section for funds.
The citizens of Ranger and various civic organizations of the Child Welfare drive re-organized to invite the city of that organization to assist in the Red Cross drive, it was thought that with support the drive could be held more successfully and a number of workers are to be detailed at a meeting some time next week and the final plans for the drive completed.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON.

The Christmas season is almost upon us. One more week and the turkey, the roast, the beans or whatever we are fortunate enough to have for the physical emptiness within us, will have been stowed away and Thanksgiving 1931 will have passed into the limbo of bygone days.

Those of us who have grown worldly-wise and skeptical should read and re-read the editorial reply of Frank Church in the New York Sun of 1897 to little Virginia O'Hanlon who had written the Sun the question: "Is there a Santa Claus?"

"Santa Claus exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence.

GRIPINGS

BY GUS This column is published as a daily feature and may not be construed as representing the editorial views of this paper.

My knowledge of the law is somewhat limited. I barely know the difference between habeas corpus and corpus delicti and don't think either are connected with Corpus Christi.

The powers of the city of Eastland in its dealings with public utilities are clearly set out in the charter and were delegated to the city by the state legislature.

There are probably columnists who would see in this situation a fine opportunity to take up the cudgel on behalf of the people against the gas company and the city commission.

Interesting people I've talked to recently include Cecil C. Boles, former member of the marine corps, who served in China with Smedley D. Butler.

And today is Thanksgiving. I'm thankful I don't have a bank account to worry about.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—Old Ironsides threatened since 1797 with fates that seemed worse than death—and only recently doomed to be moored indefinitely in Washington navy yard.

In her visits to other cities, 350,000 people have inspected her.

There is something rather impressive about the fact that this old frigate was the nation's pride in George Washington's time, led our fleet in the first wars we undertook as a nation.

OLD IRONSIDES fought in 42 battles and never suffered defeat. She licked the British and the Barbary pirates. She won her nickname after she sailed away from Washington in the War of 1812 with 44 guns and among other things so wrecked the sternwheeler in a 25-minute engagement that the British frigate wouldn't be towed into port.

Eight years later she was recommended as a target for the North Atlantic fleet, her usefulness again considered ended. But the Ladies of the War of 1812 fomented another great public upheaval at the plan to sink her so ingloriously.

The navy was through trying to get rid of her and when in 1921 she was found in such bad repair as to need complete restoration it was decided to spend a half million dollars and do the job.

THANK GOD FOR THE BRAVE LITTLE MAYFLOWER!

Travel Club Banquet Is Feature
Occasion Of Season's Affairs.
Marking an outstanding feature of the many social affairs composing the society calendar for students of Ranger high school was held in a brilliant manner this week when the Travel club celebrated its annual event with a banquet. Decorations for this function were carried out in colors of yellow and white, displaying the real beauty of enormous chrysanthemums combined with their own foliage.

The table was a scene of unusual loveliness, covered with linens of fleecy white, and centered with a mound formed of white and yellow chrysanthemums arranged in a T-shape. The top part of the letter "T" was embossed with blossoms designed to spell the word "Thanksgiving," flanked on either side with the letters "T. C."

This beautifully appointed table was graciously presided over by home economics teacher, Miss Adriaan Hagaman, and assistants were girls of Miss Hagaman's class. These co-hostesses were frocked in colonial costumes wearing blue bonnets to complete their costumes in true fashion. A three-course dinner, the top part consisting of salad cocktail, turkey, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie with hot chocolate.

A well-arranged program was combined with the banquet feast, adding more enjoyment to the hour.

Brooks Gilmore acted as master of ceremonies, offering the Thanksgiving prayer while the guests stood.

A toast to the president was given with the response made by Elvon Rapp. Toast to the past president was given by Roy Lee Segura.

"My Appreciation to the Travel Club" was appropriately given by Mr. Von Roeder, followed with "Value of High Schools Clubs," most interestingly given by Prof. R. F. Holloway.

Resume of the club was summarized in a detailed and enjoyable way by Buron Clemmer.

Sponsors of this well-organized and active club are Mrs. W. Wagner and Miss Gladys Pinson.

This annual affair will long live in the minds and hearts of each member as one of the most successful and happy events of the school season of 1931.

Now for the Feast of Thanksgiving

We can thank our Pilgrim forefathers for originating one of the best holidays of the year—Thanksgiving, the day when nobody has to apologize for enjoying good living and everyone can celebrate with the grandest feast of the year. And, thank the brotherly spirit that prevails on this day, we need go hungry, no matter how humble his lot—those with plenty are glad to share their Thanksgiving abundance with those who have but little. Let us give thanks that we have such a worthy holiday to observe. In good years it's an occasion for reveling in the bounty of our good fortune. In unfavorable years it's a good time to give thanks our lot is not so bad, after all!

men are again in the limelight as the result of the first of the trials resulting in the bloody riots in the coal miners' strike at Harlan county, Ky., last summer. First to be held at Mt. Sterling, Ky., will be followed by that of eight other men accused of ambushing (killing four deputies. Pictured here are: (1) Marion "Two-Gun" Allen, bodyguard of Deputy D. C. Jones who granted a request by the state for a change of venue from Harlan; (2) E. S. Ward, acting secretary of the Harlan County Coal Operators' Association, who is looking the interests of the operators at the trial; (3) J. H. handiwork of many varieties to while away the dull hours behind prison bars. With a population varying between 400 and 500, the jail brings together people of a thousand emotions, talents and temperaments, with an amazing result of productivity. A recent prisoner spent his time building tiny chairs inside glass bottles. Each piece was whittled out, let into the bottle and then put together with specially designed tweezers. Another man fashions beautiful trays for knickknacks from playing cards. Artists, singers, craftsmen and tradesmen of every description come and go, and a majority of them leave some reminder of their jail term making quilts, fashioning

OUT OUR WAY

Courtroom in Kentucky Mine War Trial

Here is a scene from the trial of William Burnett, 34-year-old Harlan county, Kentucky, miner, for the slaying of Deputy Jesse Pace last April in the war which followed a strike in coal fields there. No. 1 is Burnett, No. 2 is Judge Henry R. Prewitt, No. 3 is the witness and No. 4, the jury. The trial is being held at Mt. Sterling. Burnett and his wife are shown on the right as they appeared in court for the trial, the first of 34 growing out of the mine strike war.

talent. Long-termers and prisoners under death penalties specialize in writing poems of the "dying cowboy" type. A negro man spends his long time on fankwork, turning out patterns that would make any woman's eye sparkle. A young woman already has made ten of the fashionable hooks rugs. A number of the women prisoners spend their time on fankwork, turning out beautifully worked bedspreads, pillow slips and other linens. It's a cinch that it will not take Gene Junney Jr. long to learn to count up to 14.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

The warden of Sing Sing prison has boosted the price of seeing his football team from 50 cents to a dollar. That's some inducement for these "amateur" college stars who will soon be out of "work." Science says our blood might have been green. Green, perhaps, with envy, wanting to be blue. Louisiana is not going to oust Huey Long as governor. No, Cyl!

GEMS OF PERIL
arranging of places and setting of wraps. It was impossible to see who they were, for they were in semi-darkness while a broad amber glow from a huge spotlight made the dance-floor a colorful mélange of moving figures.
Something about the new comer reminded Mary of Dirk . . . her heart plunged wildly. She touched De Loma's arm.
"Over there—someone I want to see." Obligingly he turned about and led her past the table she indicated. Almost immediately they were abreast of it. She did not really expect it to be Dirk . . . she had been seeing him in various total strangers ever since she learned he was in the hotel. This no doubt was just another optical illusion.
Then suddenly she was looking directly into his eyes. For a long moment they saw no one else, he and she—just that long plunge of eye into eye while mixed emotions swept over them both.
There was a girl's surprised cry, "Why, Enrique!" It was Ethel, gazing at the man she believed to be in South America. De Loma barely nodded. Cornelia's face stared at them frigidly—white, angry, stunned.
Then in the space of an instant Dirk's face changed as if a mask had slipped over it. With a look of stony recognition, he turned away.
