Grand Jury To Consider Many Cases Monday

ABOUT THIS AND THAT

By W. H. MAYES Jr.

This is the week for Fred Hightower, probably the most discussed football player in the Oil Belt, to be ineligible to play in the Breckenridge game last October. That sounds silly, but it is more or less true.

The district athletic committee met at Abilene Friday night and after reading more of the evidence in the case decided that Hightower had not been in the Cisco high school 30 days prior to the Breckenridge game. The young man was declared ineligible for that game, the game was declared a forfeit and the team went home to await another call for a committee meeting to decide who won the Cisco-Breckenridge game. The decision throws Cisco and Ranger in a tie for third place, which means little.

About the most important thing decided at the meeting, as we see it, was that it was absolutely impossible for Hightower to attend classes in the Tyler and Cisco schools on the same day. We had worried about that part of it considerably and now that it has been proven by the committee that he didn't go to both schools the same day we feel rather relieved.

But pitty poor Mr. Hoover. He has to write a message to a democratic congress. The Republican congress was more or less in the Democrats are any harder on him than the Republicans were he has a hard job ahead of him.

The Red Cross drive for funds is to start on Monday morning in Ranger and an attempt is being made to have the campaign over as soon as possible.

Workers have been selected to canvass the town and to secure the memberships as rapidly as possible and it is hoped by the committee that the work may be completed in short order.

Since the members of the committee and the ones who are carrying the burden of the work helped uncomplainingly in the Child Welfare drive, an invitation to extend the Red Cross membership drive by riding in the collection of the Red Cross membership. It is believed that their aid will be of material benefit to the cause.

The Christmas shopping season is to be officially ushered in at Ranger on Monday night when Santa is to pay a special visit to the town to see the kiddies.

The merchants are to keep open house and will have their Christmas wares on display until 9 o'clock.

Those who have not planned their Christmas shopping can simplify matters Monday by visiting the stores and selecting the presents they are to give this year.

The high school band is to give a concert in the street and a general good time is planned for all. This promises to be one of those occasions that were once advertised with the phrase "You'll miss it if you miss it."

We have received so many invitations to attend Sunday school classes at different churches this week that we are not going to be able to get around to all of them, but we have about decided that we will try to attend one each week and then some. We think it is better after saying we think one is better than the other, but we have taken chances before.

This week Jeff Anderson has asked us to the Central Baptist class, Meroney has asked us to the class at the Church of Christ, and R. F. Holloway has asked us to come over to the First Christian and visit his class. We probably won't be able to get to any of them today because of a bank cold, but a previous engagement, but will be showing up one of these Sundays real soon. We hope the teachers all have good talks to make to the classes the days we pay our visit so we won't be able to decide which is the best. That might be a task.

We worked so hard most of this week that we more than filled this column each day and some of it spilled over on to page two, so we are going to quit right here before we cause the make-up man more worry today.

BANDIT IS KILLED BY MESSENGER

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—Gunfire at the threshold of a bank here today prevented a robbery and left one of the bandits dead on the sidewalk while a second fled.

The slain man was identified as Richard Lohman, 24.

Kellogg Sees No War Signs In Europe Now

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The man whose name will go down in history as co-author of the world's first unilateral declaration against war, sees only peace on Europe's horizon.

"I see no danger of war in Europe," Kellogg said. "Moreover I don't believe that Japan and China will fight over Manchuria."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—The mighty Gaels of St. Mary's, fighting as they never fought before, triumphed over the unbeaten Southern Methodist Mustangs, 7 to 2, in a great inter-sectional battle here today.

Utterly contested from the first kickoff, the game belonged to anyone until the final period.

The game measured up to predictions as the greatest aerial exhibition in the far west this season. The Mustangs brought a new and puzzling aerial attack, which would have defeated St. Mary's had it not been for the Gael's forward wall.

GARNER NOMINATED AS SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The fighting Democratic leader, John M. Garner of Texas, was nominated formally today for speaker of the House of Representatives, to step Monday into the place of honor.

After nominating Garner, the Democratic House caucus selected a northerner, the veteran Henry F. Rainey, Illinois, as floor leader and lieutenant of the Texasan.

Exultant, the Democrats met in the House chamber to take over for the first time in 12 years and to sing out their challenge to Republican forces for the national campaign next year when they hope to capture the presidency.

Garner will oppose the Republican candidate, Bertrand S. Snell, New York, at the election held when the House convenes Monday.

Democrats now have a majority of five over Republicans and Garner's election seems assured.

Garner was placed in nomination by a colleague from Texas, Representative Hatton Summers of Dallas.

He refused to say whether he would be present at the hearing. The suit will be directed against the state election board and the state auditor to prevent them from having titles printed on the election ballots, attorneys for the Citizens' league, formed to fight the election, announced.

He refused to say whether he would be present at the hearing. The suit will be directed against the state election board and the state auditor to prevent them from having titles printed on the election ballots, attorneys for the Citizens' league, formed to fight the election, announced.

Mother Demands An Apology For Son From U. S. C. Head

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Declaring that her son William Hawkins, substitute center on the University of Southern California football team, was unjustly accused of giving away his team's signals to Notre Dame, the youth's mother, Mrs. Thomas P. Finn, today requested a public apology from the president of the university, according to an article appearing late today in the Evening Express.

The Express said Hawkins was accused of trying to ascertain what defense U. S. C. would use in voluntary imprisonment in a collared cottage and was then exonerated by Coach Howard Jones, who refused to apologize for the investigation, however.

Committee Finds Hightower Was Ineligible; Breck Game Forfeited

At the request of Breckenridge the football committee of District No. 3 met in Abilene Friday night for a reconsideration of the Fred Hightower case, who recently was held eligible at a meeting of the committee in Cisco. Additional evidence had been furnished by the Tyler High school with a view to vindication of their claims that Hightower was in the Tyler school on Sept. 23 and the rest of that week rather than in the Cisco high school as claimed by the school authorities in Cisco.

All schools composing the district were represented at the meeting except Cisco—a sort of wedding without groom.

At the former meeting affidavits were presented from the Tyler high school to the effect that Fred Hightower was in the Tyler high school on Sept. 23, the pivotal date. Cisco's rebuttal was four counter affidavits showing Fred Hightower to be in Cisco high school on said Sept. 23, pivotal date.

After hearing the evidence the committee reversed its decision which would automatically give the game to Breckenridge.

It was voted that a minute of the committee's action together with a brief of the evidence be furnished the papers of the district, the Tyler high school, and Tyler newspaper and also to Roy B. Henderson of the Inter-school League.

R. F. Holloway and O. G. Lanier represented the Ranger school at the committee meeting.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED IN MARYLAND

SALISBURY, Md., Dec. 5.—A mob late last night invaded a local hospital, abducted a wounded negro and hanged him in the public square. Then they soaked his body with gasoline and burned it.

The negro, Max Williams, shot and killed his employer, Daniel J. Elliott, 67, then shot himself. He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.

A mob of 4,000 stormed the hospital, guarded by deputies and then lynched and burned the negro.

While the main body of the mob threatened the sheriff and his deputies in front of the hospital, six leaders slipped in a side door, took Williams from his bed and hauled him to the courthouse plaza.

One of the mob tossed a rope over a tree limb in the yard, and the other end was fastened around the negro's neck. Volunteers hauled him off the ground.

The body was cut down and carried to the edge of the negro district. Gasoline was poured over it and ignited. The crowd cheered as the flames leaped against the sky.

Two other negroes are in jail as the result of mob threats.

One Otis Yuell Lee, charged with murdering a family at Snow Hill. The other is accused of assault on a white woman.

Two Women Attack Girl ON SICK BED

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 5.—Despite insistent denials, police tonight declared a woman attacked this morning by two others as she lay in bed at the home of Mrs. A. B. Leigh, was Miss Aiyta Terrell of Dallas.

Mrs. Terrell is a daughter of former State Comptroller H. B. Terrell, who died several years ago.

The woman attacked had several teeth knocked out by two women who struck her with a piece of iron. Mrs. Leigh had gone to a store. She insisted the woman attacked is not Miss Terrell but a visitor from Chicago.

Mrs. Leigh laid the attack on her visitor to a mistake on the part of the intruders. She said she had told police someone stole her watch and had named a suspected person. She intimated that the intruders intended to beat her for this action.

Man Drops Dead After Saving Girl

HOUSTON, Dec. 5.—E. Borrello, 49, dropped dead with a big smile here today of overexertion in saving the life of Betty Gertrude Kindard, 5, a neighbor's girl, two hours before.

Doctors said the excitement of being out flames in the girl's clothing was too much for Borrello's weak heart. Her clothes caught fire as she watched him burn trash in his back yard.

Chinese Minister Cables Resignation

NANKING, China, Dec. 5.—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to London, who has been leading the Chinese fight for settlement of the Manchurian dispute by the League of Nations council in Paris, telegraphed his resignation to the national government today.

Dr. Wellington Koo, new Chinese foreign minister, also submitted his resignation, but Chinese overseas were demanding that China withdraw from the league and that their demands were conflicting with instructions from Nanking.

John Harrell, disabled World War veteran of Eastland, left Friday for San Antonio, to enter Fort Sam Houston hospital. Through the efforts of the local American Legion Mr. Harrell was admitted in the hospital. He was taken to San Antonio by his brother, Tiff Harrell.

SANTA TO MAKE VISIT ON MONDAY

Santa Claus in all his glory will visit Ranger on Monday night and the children and adults both will be on hand to give him a rousing welcome, it was predicted today.

The arrival of Santa will be a signal for the opening of the Christmas shopping season in Ranger and the merchants will be prepared to display their wares to the buying public in large quantities and at prices never seen in Ranger before.

Special window decorations are being planned by many of the merchants and some have already begun placing their Christmas displays in the show windows along the streets. Special displays of Christmas goods will be out in all the stores and the public is invited to make a tour of inspection of the stores from 7:30 until 9 o'clock that night.

The Ranger High school band will be on hand to make the welcome of Santa more appropriate and to add to the festivities in connection with the official opening of the Christmas season. A short concert will be rendered on the streets for the entertainment of the visitors who take advantage of this opportunity of viewing the wares displayed in the stores.

Young Convict Makes Good His Escape Threat

McAlester, Ok., Dec. 5.—Charles Stanley, 23, old-convicted kidnaper, has made good his threat to escape from the Oklahoma penitentiary within a year after his commitment.

Standing before Judge Sam Hooker at McAlester City six months ago Stanley said after he had been sentenced to life imprisonment, "If I escape before I get there if I can and I won't be in that jail more than a year."

Last night penitentiary officials reported D. D. Bryant, convicted automobile thief, had escaped by climbing over the prison wall. When guards inspected the cells last night Stanley's cell had an occupant. Bryant's was empty but he was supposed to be on kitchen duty.

Warden Sam Brown found Bryant in Stanley's cell today. He was to charge the convict with aiding an escaped man.

Stanley had painstakingly constructed a ladder from a piece of lashed by nailing cleats on it. He called up the ladder to the top of the wall where two guards were standing. They opened fire on him but he reached the ground and ran out of range. The guards were discharged today. No trace of Stanley had been found tonight.

Expert Estimates 80 Million Pecan Trees Are in State

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 5.—There are over 80,000,000 pecan trees in Texas, according to the estimate of Dr. C. S. Smith, director of the Pecan Research Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture. This laboratory was established at the Little Campus of the University of Texas in 1930, in consideration of the rapid growth of the pecan industry in the state.

Dr. Smith was formerly professor of plant physiology at the University of Maryland.

The greater number of these 80,000,000 pecan trees are native seedling trees which grow on the lowlands along streams, he pointed out. However, more and more trees of improved varieties are being planted each year, and many native trees are being topworked to improve the variety. The Texas pecan crop this year, it is estimated, will reach approximately 32,000,000 pounds.

The Pecan Research Laboratory is devoted to the conducting of experiments relating to the growing of pecans in cooperation with individual pecan farmers throughout the various parts of the state. Problems of biochemical and physical nature relating to moisture, pathology, breeding, variety standardization, and quality, are studied in efforts to promote the industry.

FRANK H. SIMONDS' NEW BOOK.

Frank H. Simonds is a famous writer on war and peace and economic topics. He is almost alone in his class. He has sent from the press a new book. In that book he says only the accommodation of seemingly irreconcilable policies can prevent a new war from becoming inevitable. He is neither a pessimist nor an optimist.

In 1914 war came he says not because any people desired it but because the policies which all people were pursuing and the objective which they were seeking could be realized only through victorious conflict. His new book has a title, "Can Europe Keep the Peace?"

He reminds the reader that "in 1932 the situation is unchanged." In other words it is the same as in 1914. This famous war historian and chronicler of world events reaches the conclusion that war debts and operations will never be paid and that President Hoover is unwittingly responsible for their cancellation; that the league of nations has failed; that Germany committed suicide with American money; that France caused the downfall of the first MacDonald ministry and the English financial collapse and that France has exploded all disarmament conferences.

He makes bold to say that Germany never had intended to pay war reparations; that Hoover did not save Germany from bankruptcy or the world from the consequences of that disaster by his moratorium gesture; that as a result of the Hoover moratorium all of the war debts and at least the greater part of reparations are dead. His viewpoint is that the moratorium must be extended automatically, "but not for one year but indefinitely."

Historian Simonds may prove to be a false prophet. He may be unnecessarily alarmed. He is correct in his conclusion that man has ever been a fighting machine and that to have and to hold has been the motto of individuals as well as of nations. Another World War, precipitated by European nations would be in the nature of a conflict involving the elimination of the white race as the conquerors and rulers of the world. There is a Napoleonic spirit in France and the soul of the Corsican goes marching on.

EIGHT PRINCIPLES.

Eight principles are suggested by County Agent J. C. Patterson as underlying a sound farming plan for 1932. They are principles that should be carefully studied by every farmer as he begins his preparations for planting next year's crops.

The first principle suggested by Mr. Patterson is "Selling the Home Market First." The home market was twice the size of the cotton market in 1931, the county agent points out.

Produce a small surplus of food to sell, is the second reminder. While producing the home living—it is unnecessary to re-emphasize the principle that the farmer should live at home—it is easy to raise a little extra.

Use care before planting new cash crops, some may prove profitable but plunging is dangerous.

Plant feed to sell through livestock, demonstrations point the way and landlord-tenant leases may help.

Cut cost of production to the limit, yields above average and costs below average bring profits.

Raise prices by producing quality goods, high quality, strict grading, alert marketing bring premiums.

Preserve the land by terracing and wise utilization! Present and future profits depend on building up the soil.

No two farms are alike—visit farm and home demonstrations or the farm and home demonstration agents.

BILL AND MABEL FACE TO FACE.

William H. Murray is governor of Oklahoma, Mabel Bassett is state commissioner of charities and corrections of Oklahoma. Governor Murray used his veto knife on her appropriations. His secretary, former Congressman Claud Weaver, announced as a candidate-at-large. Mrs. Bassett is a grandmother and a fighter. She led the democratic ticket in Oklahoma at the last two general elections. She announced as a candidate for congressman-at-large and her gauntlet or challenge hit Governor Murray in the teeth. She charged that the governor had wrecked her department. Now she is out for revenge and a seat in the house of representatives. She is going to ask her friends and followers to send her to Washington next year and keep Governor Murray's secretary at home. Governor Murray is a very wise man. He is a deeply read man. He knows constitutional law. William G. Sheppard, a correspondent for Collier's Weekly, introduces Governor Murray to the American reading public as one of the outstanding figures, hitting his brogans on the stage of action. All this may be true but Governor Murray should remember, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," and it must be admitted that the governor did some active scorning when he eliminated $18,000 from the appropriations for Mrs. Bassett and advised her to get along with fewer clerks and servitors.

A MACHINE COTTON PICKER BOBS UP AGAIN.

According to the labor department of the federal government, a machine practical and money saving is ready to take the place of the negro cotton picker in the cotton fields of the South. Indeed, the head of the labor department says it will do the work that used to take one man 77 hours in less than three hours. Four out of every five persons formerly needed to harvest the fiber as it burst from the bolls will have to find other work in picking time. It is said mechanical experts of agricultural experiment stations volunteer in the information that practical perfection of cotton harvesting machinery has arrived and they say it is the first improvement in methods of handling cotton since Ely Whitney invented the cotton gin more than a century ago. This is the verdict of the expert: "Not only has the machine for picking arrived but the cotton gin has been more fully perfected to prevent loss of quality by machine picking." "If all this happens to be true what will happen to the negro cotton pickers of the South? Ten thousand Mexicans hiked over the river at Laredo bound for interior Mexican points in the month of November and more than 100,000 in the 11 months of the dying year. It was back to Mexico or starve. It will be impossible for the negro to sound the slogan, "Back to Africa." In that far off land the white man rules the roost.

"The Time, the Place, and—"

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By EDSON R. WAITE
 Shawnee, Okla.

That every citizen should have faith in the home city and show their faith by both words and actions.

Men who express doubt about the future of the home city are not usually the men who are best able to gauge its future.

The citizens who push the home city to the front are those who have unbounded confidence in its ability to forge steadily ahead in the years to come. Cities peopled with this class of citizens always move ahead.

Some men with highly imaginative minds who spend their time building air castles should stop dreaming. Dreams never build cities.

People of the home city should not be discouraged because some dreamers wish to wait and watch to see results secured by progressive citizens—so they can reap some benefits from their neighbors' work. Every city has dreamers.

Dreamers should wake up and and become a wide-awake, active part of the home city and do their full share towards its upbuilding.

A city must have the thorough, energetic and practical cooperation of all its citizens in order to keep in the march of modern progress.

Eagles Win From Sweetwater 21-6

The Abilene Eagles again proved their prowess over the teams from the neighboring cities when they eliminated the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday by a score of 21 to 6.

There was never any doubt about the ultimate outcome of the game, but Mike Hicks, Mustang flash, got away early in the game and made a touchdown to place his team in the lead over the Eagles making the first time this year the Eagles have been trailing in score. Hicks' 83 yard run for a touchdown was a thrill to the crowd, but before many minutes had passed Glenn Wyatt and Sam Jones had gotten their scoring combination oiled up and earned the right to call the Eagles champions of West Texas.

The Eagles will meet the Chapman coached team from Lubbock next week-end, the winner of that game will probably be the 1931 state champions.

You Expect Your Doctor to KNOW When, How, and Why You are Sick

The years of preparation by the Doctor are simply and solely to fit him to diagnose your case, make and keep you well.

The Doctor is not a super-human, with super-natural powers. Scientific methods, precedent, personal experience, and the experience of others, necessarily limit the Doctor's powers to human capacity.

However, your Doctor brings all these available sources of information to bear on diagnosis and treatment. Your Doctor wants to make and keep you well. Nine times out of ten, if instructions are followed, prescriptions carried out, if you cooperate with your Doctor—you will be better off physically and mentally. Give your Doctor a chance to check up on you regularly and keep you well.

You Owe It To Your Family To Pay Your Doctor First

Is the modern woman going Antique?

YES, the girls wear Empress Eugenie hats—but that seems to be the only noticeable tendency that the modern woman is going antique.

Isn't it rather hard to imagine yourself tearing down the street in an old surrey, say at 5 miles an hour? Picture, if you can, a modern woman reading a true story by the light of a kerosene lamp.

No, you wouldn't want to live like they used to.

Perhaps one of the things you would miss most would be the telephone. Wonder what Grandma did when these things happened: pouring down rain, and not a grocery in the house; no way to order quickly . . . friends, haven't seen them for days; no way to reach them . . . noise in the basement; burglars, maybe! . . . no telephone book with the names of friends, relatives, business houses . . . relatives in a distant city; are they well? . . . a child's face, pale against a pillow; a doctor, quick!

It is hard to do without a telephone. Why should you, when the service costs so little?

LETTERS FOR SANTA CLAUS

Dear Santa Claus: Please bring me a drum, a football, a pair of button-leg breeches, a pair of black boots and a leather book satchel. Roy McCleskey Jr., Strawn Road.

Dear Santa: For Christmas I want a doll, a set of dishes and some doll clothes. I also want some fruit, nuts and candy. That will be all, thank you. Your sincerely, Billie Lawson.

Dear Santa Claus: I want an electric stove, with two pans, that really will cook, a doll, a wardrobe trunk with two coat hangers, dishes, table little bigger than those in town, some candy, apples, oranges and house shoes, a story book and a Bible. Hope it don't snow too much so you will be sure and get here. Love, from Muri Dean Murrell, 1001 Vitalious, Ranger.

Dear Santa Claus: I want a flag of our country. I love you. I want a car that I can get in. I want a windmill, a little train that can run, a big bicycle, a six-wheel tractor that can run, a bookcase, a board with A, B, C's. How are you? I want your picture. I am going to leave you a big apple. Lots and lots of love. John Lee Bow.

Students Hear Hoover Praised On Dry Stand

DELAWARE, Ohio.—President Hoover was declared the first chief executive of the United States, who has made a real effort to enforce prohibition laws, in a speech before Ohio Wesleyan university's class in "Prohibition as a Governmental Problem."

Charles W. Melick, former federal enforcement officer and now a professor at the University of Michigan, blamed "laxness of enforcement" under Presidents Wilson and Harding for the growth of bootlegging.

"If Theodore Roosevelt, or Hoover, had been in the white house when the prohibition law went into effect," he said, "we never would have had the bootleg problem."

He declared that in 1926 about 20,000 cases of liquor and beer entered this country daily at Detroit and that in 1929 only about 12 cases daily entered.

Melick cited statistics, which he said, proved fines and property

Frisco Restores Palace of Arts

SAN FRANCISCO.—Sixteen years ago throngs of tourists from all parts of the world walked through the buildings of the Panama Pacific exposition, and remarked at their beauty. Some of the structures—the Tower of Jewels, the Court of the Seasons, the Palace of Fine Arts—became world famous.

Today, a small group of workmen labored where hundreds once were, restoring the Palace of Fine Arts. The edifice never was destroyed, and finally acquired by the city.

Restoration of the great rotunda, which still impresses the visitor with the height of its interior, is in progress. Virtually all of the classic columns supporting the adjoining structure have been recast, and are once more intact.

Britain has raised a tariff fence to American goods. So any hope we have of business over the fence is out.

Fox Terrier Is Killed By Squirrel

PORTLAND, Ore.—Lady, a fox terrier on a 170-acre farm near here nobly performed her duties as official rodent exterminator. But one day she failed to return from her wanderings and her owners set out to find her. Suddenly they came upon a strange sight. In the midst of a blood-soaked battlefield was the missing hunk and her quarry—a huge grey squirrel.

Agricultural Extension News

From the Office of the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent

Preparing Soil for Rose Garden
 By Dist. Secretary American Rose Society.
 The first important step in planning a rose garden is its location. First, it must not be near shrubs or trees, as the substance of the soil will be taken from the roses, and roses are at all times gross feeders. Yet, the protection of a hedge or trees—at a distance—will aid in making a good wind-break, especially against the high winds in the spring. No matter how beautiful rose blooms may be, the wind can soon whip them until they are not worth cutting. But with the protection from winds, the roses must also be assured of at least a half day, or preferably a full day, of sun.
 Roses will grow in any good soil but virgin soil is always best. If planted in virgin soil, they will not need fertilizer the first year. If one has decided sandy soil, some black soil added will give the proper food for roses. If one has a poor soil it is best to take out about 12 inches of the top soil and put it aside and put in about six inches of rich, black soil or a heavy black sand (leaf mold is good), if possible, then mix back part of the surface soil and spread it up. If one is preparing a rose garden six months or a year before planting, four inches of barnyard manure may be added and thoroughly mixed. The best soil for rose growing is a top sandy loam with a good clay subsoil as a base. This is perfect for cultivation; retention of moisture and food for the deep growing roots.
 The time to fertilize is after the roses are planted, and the fertilizer is placed on the top of the soil, around the plant, so that the water will cause the fertilizer to leach down and feed the roots a little at a time, and yet not come in direct contact with any roots of the plant, as it will burn the green stem. A good way I have found in placing fertilizer is to dig a very shallow trench, eight or ten inches from the main stem, around the bush, and fill this trench with fertilizer and cover with a little top soil.
 For virgin soil, one should dig the soil to a depth sufficient—12 to 16 inches—to rid it of all roots, weeds, etc., then break clods carefully and see that the ground is level. In a bed previously used for other gardens, it is well to dig the soil, break carefully and level off. These directions have been given with the idea of a level garden. However, one can plant a rose garden on a hillside, with just as good results as level land, if one takes care to terrace it. One terrace should be a bed, the next a walk, or the walk could be on the side of the terrace.

Green Tomatoes
 Recipes are given below for using green tomatoes in ways other than the usual chowchow.
 Green tomato mincemeat—1 peck green tomatoes, 5 cups of brown sugar, 4 cups raisins, 2 cups beef suet, 1-2 cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt; 2 tablespoons cinnamon; 1 teaspoon ground cloves; 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups, chopped apples.
 Slice the tomatoes thin or put them through a food chopper, allow to drain, cover with cold water, place over the fire, boil for five minutes. Drain well, add suet, vinegar, fruit and seasonings, simmer for thirty or forty-five minutes. Pack in hot jars and process for 25 to 30 minutes in boiling water.
Green Tomato Pickles
 1 gallon green tomatoes, 1-2 dozen large onions, 3 cups brown sugar, 1-2 lemon, 3 pods red pepper, 3 cups vinegar, 1 tablespoon whole black pepper, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 tablespoon celery seed (crushed), 1 tablespoon mustard seed, 1 tablespoon ground mustard.
 Slice the tomatoes and onions thin, sprinkle over them 1-2 cup salt and let stand over night in a crock or enameled vessel. Tie the pepper, cloves, allspice and celery seed in a cheese cloth bag. Slice the lemon and chop the pepper pods very fine. Drain the onions and tomatoes well. Add the seasonings, except one pepper pod, to the vinegar, then add the tomatoes and onion. Cook for one-half hour, stirring gently at intervals to prevent burning. Remove spice bag to prevent burning product.
 Among other things found inside a shark caught in Hawaii were two bathing suits. Emphasizing that when people go bathing they should not get too far away from their suits.

How to Locate a Gas Leak

WITH the arrival of real winter weather, gas cocks, tubing and hose connections are being pressed into daily service for the first time since last spring.

IT IS always possible, after such a long period of disuse, that small leaks may have developed. And, since even the smallest leaks may run up large gas bills, it is a wise plan to check over your plumbing at this time.

LEAKS may be located easily by brushing hose connections, joints, and hose cocks with soapy water. The escaping gas will form bubbles and thus reveal the location of the leak. DO NOT, UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES, USE AN OPEN FLAME IN SEARCHING FOR GAS LEAKS AS THIS IS EXTREMELY DANGEROUS, AND MAY RESULT IN SERIOUS INJURY.

SPECIAL attention should be given to hose and hose connections made of rubber or rubber composition, as these crack and deteriorate with age. Permanent cast iron or copper connections are recommended.

IF YOU need any assistance in locating leaks or in adjusting your gas appliances, please feel free to call on us. We will be more than glad to assist you.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT, United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS.—The handsome gown worn by one of the most beautiful Parisian mannequins exhibited at the Colonial Exhibition hall, was designed by Worth. It is made of fabric that has threads of pure gold woven into it in a brocade pattern on a heavy silk ground of white.
 The gown is made on old-fashioned lines with six tiers of ruffles graduating in width from three to six inches, beginning at the front above the knees and swerving toward the point of the décolletage in the back. A train of wider ruffles in a cascade effect trails the floor the distance of a yard or so.
 Designed to be worn with it is an elegant set of jewels—a huge diamond bracelet, worn over white kid gloves, a sun-burst effect on the front of it; long earrings, nearly touching the shoulders, a short necklace of the glittering stones, and a large pendant attached to the center front décolletage and from which two strands of pearls extend to the waistline.
 Clarence Chamberlin brought down a flying hippopotamus! But it was rubber, so it wasn't stretching a point.

Gems of Peril

HAZEL ROSS HAILEY
GEM OF PERIL
GEM OF PERIL

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
Mary had taken place as the rest. He had lain down to rest with his clothing on, weary from the unaccustomed amount of exercise he was getting in his daily bouts with the kingfish. He had roused at the first crash of the storm, taken off his clothes and hung them up, almost without waking, and fallen asleep again immediately.

The necklace! Had he locked it up before going to bed? No, he hadn't. It was there, in his coat pocket. Well, if it wasn't, then The Fly had taken it.

"But why did you carry it about so carelessly?" Mary could not help asking. "See, what's come of it—Bruce shot!"

The old man sat bolt upright. "Eh? Bruce? Where is he?" There was a depth of terror in his voice such as she had never heard there. He snatched up a robe and slipped his feet into slippers. Before she could restrain him he had jerked the door open and rushed out into the hallway. Mary hurried after him, fearful that he might not be able to make it on the slippery deck.

Bruce's stateroom opened on the passage between the two buildings and was sheltered somewhat from the storm. Mary was whirled around the corner by the beating rain just as Bates dashed up, breathless, and leaned against the forward bulkhead out of the wind. Sheets of rain were driving past on either side, but here they were fairly out of it.

"Eh? Bruce? Where is he?" There was a depth of terror in his voice such as she had never heard there. He snatched up a robe and slipped his feet into slippers. Before she could restrain him he had jerked the door open and rushed out into the hallway. Mary hurried after him, fearful that he might not be able to make it on the slippery deck.

It seemed like hours that the couple on the deck watched and it began to appear that the man was winning—at any rate, if he had survived thus far, it was likely he could hold out until the heavy seas subsided and set his course again.

Then they lost him. He seemed to have vanished from the face of the sea, though they played the telescope carefully over the very spot where he had last been seen. Minutes went by. Bates at last put the glass down and gave it up. "Well, he's gone," he said. And as one speaks of the dead he added, grudgingly, "It was a game fight he put up—the louse!"

Mary pointed suddenly and cried, "Look, what's that?"

"Where?" Excitedly Bates threw the glass up to his eye.

"Over there. By the prison. Just at the point where the land and water meet."

It was merely a moving white speck to her eye, but Bates exclaimed, "By George, he made it! He's trying up at the old pier! What do you know about that?"

"But where has he been? Why didn't we see him?"

"I don't know—unless he—oh, I

Safety Contest For America Starts Jan. 1

By United Press.
CHICAGO.—Every American municipality will be urged to participate in the First Annual Traffic Safety contest, starting Jan. 1 and continuing throughout the year 1932, sponsored by the National Safety council and a group of leading organizations interested in the very vital problem of automobile accidents.

Plans are now being perfected for the greatest peace-time war on highway accidents ever attempted and the contest will be open to every city, town and village in the country. Six classifications have been made, depending on population. The winner in each of these groups will be suitably rewarded early in the spring of 1933. The United States census bureau will assist council statisticians in making computations.

A definite program of safety achievement, not only in definite highway accident reduction but also in engineering progress, educational work and traffic law enforcement will form the basis of the awards and the "safety city" in each of the six groups will be named at the conclusion of the 12 months' contest. If results justify a continuance of the program it will be made a yearly event.

Each city entering the contest will be asked to name an official body, preferably selected by the mayor, to handle details and keep the local safety fires burning throughout the year. This steering group will be the police department, the automobile club, the American Legion, or some other local civic group, or if preferred the local safety council.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS By Blosser

Nevadans Still Carrying Guns

By United Press.
RENO, Nev.—Many Nevadans still retain at least one habit as a throwback to the old West—gun totin'.

The custom of carrying a six-shooter in an armpit holster, or in the hip pocket, is general to a surprising degree among the native Nevadans. The law prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons is strictly enforced against the idler and the stranger, but the bona fide resident seldom is taken to task for totin' a gun.

He is often prone to use it in jest, or sometimes in earnest when he is angry. Belle Livingston, "Empress of the Barnyard," famous for her night clubs in New York and Paris, was quite surprised one night at her resort here when a skunk walked into the dining room and men started pumping lead at it.

An oil painting which hangs in the bar of her club in Reno exhibits a number of bullet holes made by some of her playful customers.

Police Judge Bryson, recently fined the sum of $10 as the penalty for each shot fired at a human being in anger.

Nickle Back In Family After A Sojourn of 30 Years

By United Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y.—Almost 30 years ago, Albert G. Northrup carved his initials on a new five-cent piece, and passed it into circulation.

Recently, his granddaughter, Esther Northrup, 13, received the nickel from a store owner as part of her change.

Charles L. Northrup, the girl's father, remembered the incident when his father carved the initials on the coin. The initials were clearly visible, although the rest of the coin was worn and tarnished.

French Planning An Invention Bill

By United Press.
PARIS.—A new law to protect French inventors and inventions has just been proposed to the senate by M. Frey, under-secretary of state for commerce.

If the bill proposed by the Frenchman becomes a law, the duration of patent rights will be increased to from 15 to 20 years, and henceforth a patent can be taken out only by the inventor and those upon whom these rights devolve following his death.

The cost of a patent to be paid by the inventor will be reduced if the new bill goes through. At present these expenses consist of a tax of $14 and annual payments of $12 for five years, $16 for another five years and, lastly, of $20 for the remaining five years. Failure to pay any one of these annuities entails the loss of the patent right.

According to the tenets of the Frey bill, this system would be en-

Scranton Plans a Big Christmas Tree

By United Press.
SCRANTON, Pa.—One of the largest Christmas trees in the country, if not the largest, will be erected here early in December by the local chamber of commerce.

The tree will consist of a 65-foot pole as the "trunk," and nearly 700 evergreen trees as "branches."

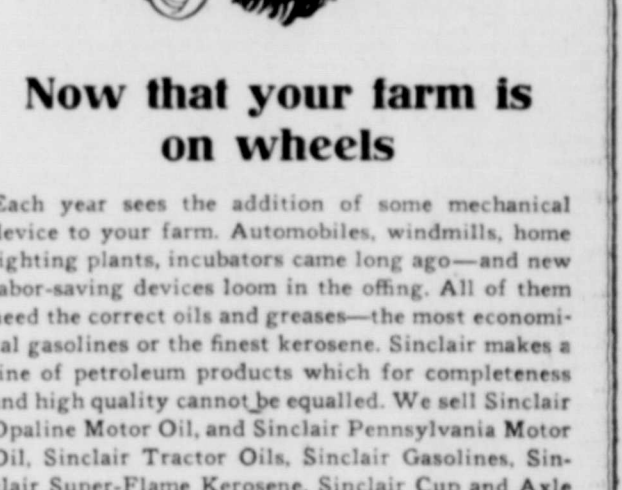

Thousands of colored electric lights will be used to decorate the tree.

It is planned to switch on the lights about Dec. 10.

GAME OF POOL COSTS ONE YEAR IN JAIL

By United Press.
DETROIT.—Two strangers walked into the billiard hall operated by Duzan Kesar. They bet Kesar a drink of whisky he couldn't beat them in a game of pool. The proprietor agreed and produced the whisky. He played the pool game and won—a year and a month in Leavenworth penitentiary. The strangers were federal prohibition agents.
